Girls State Representatives

Beth Fahey

Beth Fahey has been chosen as Manchester High School's representative for the American Auxiliary Girls State to be held on the campus of Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant June 9-17. Beth is the daughter of Richard and Judith Fahey of 19200 Lemm Road. Chosen as the alternate to Beth was Lou Anne Krzyzaniak, daughter of Richard and Shirley Krzyzaniak of 12600 E. Austin Road, Manchester. Manchester's representative is selected and funded by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Both girls have been selected on demonstrated qualities of leadership, interest, character, and potential ability. Both have served in leadership roles as well as participating in extra curricular activities. Beth has participated in track for three years (this year as captain), is a member of the National Honor Society, cheerleading, student council, and was elected vice-president of her class for next year. Outside of school she is president of St. Mary's Church youth group. Lou Anne has participated in basketball, volleyball, softball, cheerleading, student council, National Honor Society, and has been elected secretary of her class for next year. She is also Treasurer of St. Mary's Church youth group.

Girls State was established by the American Legion Auxiliary in 1941. The 1984 Girls State annual program will be designed as a practical experience in the problems of self-government as operated in Michigan. It is limited to girls in their junior year of high school who are returning to complete their senior year. The purpose of Girls State is threefold: (1) To emphasize the importance of government in modern life; (2) To stimulate a deep and lasting interest in government; and (3) To enlarge our understanding of governmental process. This is achieved by designing the Girls State program so that all girls will experience actual participation in the political and governmental process.

The Broil Started Small

by Lucy Feldkamp

In 1954, Luther Klager and Dr. Howard Zindell of MSU, put their heads together and came up with a way for the Exchange Club of Manchester to earn a little money for the town. They proposed putting on a chicken barbeque. Little did they know that thirty years later, Manchester would still be holding chicken broils and that what started out as a town picnic would have grown into a famous summer feast for the whole Washtenaw County area.

The first annual Chicken Broil fed about 1500 people and cleared a profit of just over $1000. This money went toward the purchase of a new chain link fence for the athletic field. Since then, the Broil has grown steadily bigger until now, when Manchester serves up about 14,000 chicken dinners between 4:00 p.m. and sundown every third Thursday in July.

The profits of the Broil for all those years total up to around $100,000, pretty good for a town of 1600 people. The Broil has benefitted the village and the school system in a variety of ways, from building an announcer's booth at the football field to providing a library card filing system to improving public parks. Carr Park, Kirk Park, and now Chi-Bro Park have all been built up or built outright with Chicken Broil money. The athletic field has received a concession stand, storage shed, ticket booth, and two generations of lights, the first set in 1959 and replacements in 1977. The track by Klager School was also built in part with Chicken Broil profits. In 1982, the Broil made a major donation to the Manchester Historical Society, which had just purchased the old blacksmith shop on East Main St. The smithy is now a working museum open with demonstrations on special

Panther On The Loose?

The quiet village of Manchester has been the focal point of ABC, CBS, NBC television news, UPI, as well as several radio stations, after five sightings of an animal resembling a panther were made public.

According to Village Administrator and Police Chief William Zsenyuk, the first of the five sightings was May 23 at 7:15 p.m. Police officer Kevin Deacons, parked at the Middle School on City Road, spotted the animal going from the Scully residence, crossing the yard of Lorenzo Steele, and heading towards the river.

The second person to see the cat was Phylis Koernke at 6:45 a.m. on the 24th. She stated that the animal was loping down Division Street, going south towards the river. Later that morning, at 9:05 a.m., Mr. Nabeach was on the roof of his house on City Road when he saw the animal in a field behind his home.

On May 25th at 7:05 a.m. Mrs. Nabeach caught sight of the elusive animal in the same field.

At 3:00 a.m., on the 26th, officers John Minzey and David Ritz, spied the panther behind the Kuntz residence on Furnace Street. They had their spotlight on the cat, but it again got away.

Dr. Steve Schiffer, of the University of Michigan, has been acting as advisor and has provided tranquilizers in an effort to capture the creature alive.

Dee Gibson of the Washtenaw County Humane Society has assisted by setting traps baited with fresh liver in an attempt to entrap and not harm the animal.

One radio station broadcast a warning to drivers returning from Chicago not to stop at I-94 and M-52 as there was a wild panther on the loose! And this is 12 miles north of Manchester!

So far, all of the endeavors have been fruitless. Whatever the animal is, it is still prowling the area. Homeowners are advised to keep all out buildings locked.

David Simpson, a gentleman from Traverse City, called Chief Zsenyuk and reported seeing a panther like animal 2 years ago off Schleweiss Road. "I didn't have to call you," he stated, "But those people know what they are talking about."

On page 11 there is a street map of Manchester which shows the five different locations where the panther has been spotted.

Manchester Area Chamber Of Commerce Formed

The Manchester Area of Chamber of Commerce held its first organizational luncheon meeting at the Mill on Main Street on May 23 with 60 area people representing business, industry, professional and community residents attending. Fred Barkley, assistant director of the Washtenaw County Planning Commission, was the guest speaker. Sue Hamilton was selected as temporary chairperson until a formal board of directors is elected in the fall. The Steering Committee has received membership commitments from 51 of those attending.

The Chamber participants each agreed to work in one of the four proposed divisions of Chamber concerns. The Organization Relations division will work to strengthen the over all organization and work of the Chamber including membership-building, budget, public relations and meetings. The Community Betterment division will work to fulfill the cultural, social and civic needs of the community. This division may include such areas as schools, recreation, city planning, youth activities, health and housing, fire safety, and resource development. The Business Relations and Development division has as its goal to stabilize, stimulate, improve and expand community business by working in such areas as market development, merchants activities, industrial development, tourism and service to existing industry. The Legislative Action division will deal with local and state legislation, governmental relations and political awareness.

The Steering Committee expresses its thanks to Don Limpert, Deneine Schaible, Eunice Scully and Sue Koebe for their efforts in making this first gathering a great community success story.

The next meeting of the Chamber will take place on June 20 at Noon. This will be a working lunch during which the various divisions will establish their goals and projects for the upcoming year. Any other business or community resident interested in joining with their friends and neighbors in the Chamber may contact Dave Little (428-8379) or Sue Hamilton (428-8395).

Hit or Miss

by Farley

The other evening friends of mine were hosts to three industrial executives, two of whom had been here before and one of whom had never been here. During the evening a very interesting discussion developed concerning the similarities and differences between their home countries, Thailand, Burma and Australia and, of course, the system of our caucuses and primaries and elections came up for comparison and consideration.

The chap from Australia spoke of their city, province and national elections and added the information that there voting is required by law. One either casts a ballot if he is on the registration list, on which he is placed when he is old enough to vote, or he is summoned to appear in court before a magistrate and explain why he did not and if the offender doesn't have a perfectly valid excuse he is fined for not doing his duty and exercising his right of franchise. This procedure is followed in all elections local, provincial or national.

The chap from Australia admitted that he had missed the last three elections in his native land and appeared in court each time but was able to "beat the rap" in two of the three instances. The first time he was in these United States on a business trip for his company, the second time

State Launches Search For Outstanding Seniors

The Michigan Office of Services to the Aging (OSA), in cooperation with the Michigan State Fair, launched this week their annual Senior Citizen of the Year Awards competition. The awards, one in the category of Service; the other for Leadership, will be presented at the Michigan State Fair on Senior Citizens Day, Monday, August 27, 1984.

The campaign, while not only a fun activity for these agencies to be involved with each year, "is something the seniors have come to look forward to," says OSA Director Olivia P. Maynard. "It's a way of recognizing that older people are a vital and integral part of Michigan communities."

According to O.J. Scherschligt, Acting General Manager of the Michigan State Fair, "this awards program has always drawn a big response. And, we hope the number of entries this year will far surpass that of last year."

Only organizations may submit an application. Copies of application forms can be obtained through the Office of Services to the Aging or regional Area Agencies on Aging. Anyone 60 or older is eligible as a candidate for the awards.

For more information, contact the Public Affairs Section, OSA, P.O. Box 30026, Lansing, Michigan 48909, or call 517-373-0049.

Students from Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline schools rightly take pride in the construction of their recently completed house. The students are enrolled in the South & West Washtenaw Consortium Building Trades Vocational Program - one of fifteen vocational programs available to students in the five district consortium.

The ranch style house constructed by students, is the result of year-long work by Senior and Junior students, as active advisory committee, and the instructor Mr. Greg Briggs. The house features a "Great Room" with cathedral ceiling and field stone fireplace and is a three bedroom and two bath structure. With many years of experience as home builder and teacher (Dexter High School), Briggs is proud of the students' work and the quality construction of this house.

An Open House will be held Sunday, June 3 from 12:00 to 4:00 p.m. to which parents, school officials and the community are cordially invited. Interested buyers should take this opportunity to tour the house, and talk to the young builders. The house is located three miles west of Saline in a spacious subdivision directly off Noble Rd. Visitors can take Weber Road from Ann Arbor-Saline Road to Noble and turn left.

Local Youth Receives Scholarship

Jonathan Arney, son of Kenneth and Cheryl Arney of Manchester has been selected as a recipient of a special scholarship which will enable him to spend two months this summer living with a family in Germany. Jonathan was selected from a field of applicants competing throughout the Chelsea area for scholarships sponsored by the Chelsea Community Hospital. The program is administered by Youth for Understanding, one of the largest international high school student exchange programs in the world.

Jonathan, a freshman at Manchester High School, was awarded the scholarship based on YFU's standard selection criteria of academic achievement, personal maturity, the quality of his responses to essay questions, personal interview, involvement in extracurricular, volunteer and/or employment activities evidenced in his written application as reviewed by YFU's independent Scholarship Selection Committee.

Jonathan is very interested in the field of computers and plans a career as a Computer Programmer. He is a member of the school's Computer Club, a scout patrol leader, and former captain of the track team. In his spare time, Jonathan enjoys role-playing "games" such as Dungeons and Dragons.

Jonathan will be one of more than 1,200 American YFU students who will depart in June to spend two months living with specially-selected host families. YFU offers a host family living experience in countries located in Europe, the Far East and South America. The purpose of the homestay experience is to encourage a deeper appreciation and comprehension of world cultures through firsthand and reciprocal exposure.

Washtenaw County Resident To Seek Congressional Seat

James L. Hudler, of Sylvan Township, near the Western Washtenaw County city of Chelsea, has become the third person to declare his candidacy for the 2nd Congressional Seat now held by Republican Carl Pursell, of Plymouth. Hudler was nominated by District Caucus at the Libertarian Party's state convention held in Ann Arbor May 18th, 19th and 20th. Two people have filed to run as Democrats, and Mr. Pursell will probably be the Republican candidate. The 2nd Congressional District covers parts of Branch, Jackson, Lenawee, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties and all of Hillsdale County.

Hudler sees government-caused unemployment, spiraling taxation and dangerous military adventures abroad as some of the major issues of concern to district voters. "I do not intend on being the kind of Representative who answers constituents' letters with a thank-you form letter," Hudler says, referring to the responses several adversaries of MX funding have received from Rep. Pursell's office. In connection with the MX missile funding (passed recently in a reduced form), Hudler says that he is opposed to any funding. Furthermore, he would seek to halt all deployment of land-based missiles in the U.S.

He would also institute legislation to immediately recall all military personnel, including "advisors" from Central and South America. On the issue of taxation, Hudler says, "I am going on record that as a member of Congress I would never vote for any imposition of a new tax or the increase of any taxes now in existence, and would vote to decrease or abolish any extant tax."

Hudler sees both his candidacy and the candidacy of other Libertarians as the alternative to the welfare-warfare policies of the Democrats and Republicans, a common ground for those concerned with crippling taxation and those concerned with a possible nuclear holocaust. Hudler, 32, a native of the South Jackson township of Summit, has a degree in zoology from the University of Michigan and is also a Master's candidate in biochemistry. He has been a laboratory technician at Chelsea Community Hospital for five years and taught biology at Jackson Community College before that. A political activist for many years, he has previously run for State Senate, UM Regents and for Congress from the 2nd District. In the mid-1970s he was state chair of the Libertarian Party.

All students should bring with them a Michigan High School Athletic Association physical card. These cards are available at the Middle School or High School office and should be signed by parent or guardian before you report to the office. Students should be sure to report at the time assigned or they will be charged for the physical. The doctors ask that you use the back entrance (with the ramps). Remember, physicals are required for all athletes who wish to participate in any sport during the 1984-85 school year. If you have any questions, please call Rod Morrison, Athletic Director at 428-7333.

The universal favorite, scrambled eggs, takes on a new appeal when bolstered with cottage cheese. Cottage cheese scrambled eggs can be held in a "warm" electric frypan during serving, without becoming overcooked or watery. Cottage cheese scrambled eggs also makes a great light supper entree. Escalloped Apples, a marvelously versatile dish, can appear solo as a simple dessert for this brunch, or paired with ice cream or pound cake. Whatever way you decide, always serve it warm.

Cinderella Receives Rave Reviews

Over 1,000 people enjoyed Klager Elementary's musical production of Cinderella last week. The cast included 135 kindergarten through fourth graders who were transformed into ladybugs, mice, frogs, crows, flowers, birds, dancing laundry, coachmen and even ladies and gentlemen.

The students sang, danced and acted out their parts professionally. The costumes were sensational, Cinderella's coach a marvel, and the music cute and bouncy.

Behind the scenes every Klager staff member took responsibility for an area such as tickets, scenery, props, music, dancing, costumes, publicity and makeup. All of the students who were not in the play participated by working on the "behind the scenes" committees and participating in the program design contest.

The Klager staff would like to thank all of the parents who made the beautiful costumes and cooperated with all of the rehearsals. They also express appreciation to the high school staff for the use of their facility and the Manchester custodial and transportation units for all of their assistance.

Home Enterprise

Foundry And Machine Works

Manchester Enterprise August 5, 1869
Among the first in importance of our many home enterprises, the establishment of A. Dickerson should be ranked. The business is one which brings a name to the community in which it is carried on, and we gladly chronicle the establishment and the prosperity of its proprietor in a trade that is fast increasing.

A few days since we visited these works which are situated in the eastern part of the village, on the east bank of the river Raisin, commanding one of the finest water privileges on the river, and with a small out-lay could be made very much better. We were shown about the works by the gentlemanly proprietor and found the workmen of each department busily engaged in their respective duties.

At this establishment are manufactured the celebrated "Champion" and "Curtis" Plows, (of different sizes), which are acknowledged to be "the best in use." The proprietor has sold a large number of these plows this season, and expects to sell many more. They manufacture a number of styles of corn Cultivators, which are really a good farming implement, and the proprietor informs us that the superiority of these cultivators are giving them immense sale, not only at home but abroad. They have sold over 500 this season, and we saw stacked up large numbers of them ready for shipment. We noticed a three wheeled Roller which is certainly the most "pliable" implement of the kind we ever saw, and we see no reason why they should not have a large sale.

We should mention here that there is a shingle machine in this establishment where 35,000 oak shingles have been sawed this summer, which are receiving a ready sale. At the moulding rooms are a sufficient force to carry on that branch of trade, and the quality of articles are proof of the materials used, and the capability of the workmen. There is also a Blacksmith shop in connection with this establishment where the ironing of these Agricultural implements is done, also repairing of all kinds of machinery etc.

There are many other articles manufactured at this establishment of which we will speak at some future time.

We feel assured in advising those who desire an implement of any kind or repairing work to call on Mr. Dickerson, and give him a trial. His work we are confident will give satisfaction, and his prices are reasonable. Prompt attention is given to orders.

August 26, 1869 - ATTENTION FARMERS: To an investigation of Taft's Flexible Land Roller, Patented August 26, 1867, which far supercedes any Roller in use, as there is no other Roller but what the tongue is placed in a position that in turning the whole side draft is on the team. The forward section of Taft's Patent Roller with the flexible tongue, entirely obviates the side draft. The hind section, in a flexible frame, conforms to all uneven surfaces, so that there is no part of the ground untouched after passing the Roller over it:

1. This Roller is less in draft than any other that has been presented to the public.

2. It covers all the ground and makes a smooth surface and leaves no ridge between the sections, as all other section Rollers have done.

3. This Roller works admirably and will give universal satisfaction, and it is considered the cheapest in use.

4. The forward section can be used, by taking off the clevis, for rolling gardens or small pieces of ground.

All orders promptly attended to. In construction of the roller, either iron or wood Heads, as preferred by parties.

Manufactured and sold by A. Dickerson, Manchester, Mich.

September 9, 1869 - Zeigler's Patent Cultivator And Shovel Plow Combined.

Patented February 9th, 1869
All the parts are patented; five claims are allowed, and any infringement will positively be prosecuted.

Directions For Its Use. - First loose the nut which holds the front shovel standard in its place, set to suit depth, then turn the shovel so as to cut and throw the earth from the plant; then set the middle shovel to throw back sufficient earth to answer for first plowing. After first plowing, set all the shovels to suit the work to be done.

By changing or reversing the thimble in which the standard or shovel post is held, also the cast block on the beam, the shovels can be set to cut wide or narrow spread. When used for second plowing, the middle shovel should be set with the point directly under the beam. The plow may be used as a double, triple or single shovel, or as a single-horse mold shovel, or, by turning all three shovels to one side, you can ridge or hill-up either as a right or left hand plow. To set deep or shallow, change the iron pin or nail in the cast thimble. For shallow plowing, set the shovel straight; for deep plowing, incline the posts forward on the lower end. Raise or lower the hitching hook by slipping the posts in the band holding them in place.

Manufactured by A. DICKERSON, Manchester, Michigan.

No-Till Planter Program Increases Interest In Parking The Plow

Going into the second season of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District's Saline Valley Project sponsored no-till planter program, Extension Agricultural Agent Ron Struss is noting changes in farmers' attitudes towards no-till. "Interest is definitely up," he said. "Last season I placed upwards of sixty calls to locate twenty farmers interested in leasing a no-till planter. This season we just put the word out, and farmers came to us."

No-till crop production involves no tillage of soil to prepare fields for planting. At planting, fields are found basically in the same condition as they were left following harvest the fall before, with the stalks, stubble or sod of last season's crop still blanketing the field surface. No-till planters are specially designed to cut through this surface material and place seed properly in unplowed soil. By planting without plowing farmers can save time and fuel and reduce topsoil erosion.

A six-row Allis-Chalmers no-till planter with a 30" row spacing and an accompanying tractor is being leased for $15 per acre through the no-till program. Ken Koch, field technician with the Saline Valley Project, accompanies the equipment to assist farmers with planter operation and adjustment.

The no-till planter is being used on twenty farms this season, planting a total of 330 acres of corn and 70 acres of soybeans.

The Washtenaw Soil Conservation District and Saline Valley Project are promoting no-till crop production because it dramatically reduces topsoil erosion and pollution of streams with silt and silt-borne farm chemicals. However, according to Struss, what impresses farmers the most about no-till is the time which it saves. "By going no-till, farmers can cut the time it takes to put a crop in by half. This is real boon to part-time farmers or farmers whose time is better spent with their livestock than pulling a plow," he explained.

A Parent's Guide To Teenage Parties

When your teen is giving a party Plan in advance. Check party plans with your teenager and know the guest list. If you agree who is invited, you can curb the "open party" situation.

Set a time limit. Set a definite start and ending not too long. Consider daytime parties as an alternative to evening ones or plan an activity such as swimming, skating or renting movies.

Agree to rules ahead of time. These might include: No drugs, (including alcohol), no smoking, no leaving the party and then returning, no gate crashers allowed, lights should be left on, some rooms in your house are off limits.

Know your responsibilities. The responsible adult at a teenager's party is visible and aware. Remember it is illegal to serve drugs, including alcohol, to minors. You are legally responsible for anything that may happen to a minor who has been served drugs or alcohol in your home.

Invite another parent or couple over. Other adults are company for you during a long evening and can be of help with problems. Also, if parents have driven teenagers to your house, you might consider inviting them in to meet you, however briefly.

When your teen is going to a party Call the host parent. Make sure that your basic ground rules, such as parental supervision and no alcohol, will be allowed before you give your consent to attend a party. If your teenager complains that you don't trust him or her, explain that the issue is not one of trust but rather an issue of parents agreeing on certain ground rules.

Check the party plans beforehand with your teenager. Know where your child is going and with whom. When taking your teenager to a party, wait to see that he or she is inside the house. If you don't know the host parents, introduce yourself. Make it easy for your teenager to leave a party. If there is drinking or drug taking or any reason that your teenager wishes to leave a party, make an arrangement that your child can call you (or a designated adult) and you will come. Urge your teenager never to ride home with a driver who has been drinking. You might have an understanding that there will be no punishments or restrictions for a call letting you know that things are out of hand.

Be up to greet your teenager when he or she comes home from a party.

Maintenance Millage Provides Funds For High School Roof

Roofers from the Holt Roofing Company have begun work on the re-roofing project at the Manchester High School. The project which is to take approximately 2 weeks will complete the re-roofing of the building which was begun three years ago.

Installed is a single membrane rubber roof manufactured by the Firestone Rubber Company. Underneath the rubber membrane three-quarter inch fiber board and 2 inches of insulation is installed. The system is finally mechanically adhered to the existing roof deck. The intent is to conserve energy through heat loss as well as to provide a water tight roof.

"We have been extremely pleased with the section of roof which has previously been installed with a rubber membrane," said Superintendent Gene Thompson. "We have experienced no leaks whatsoever in the re-roofed sections. I am convinced that the rubber membrane is the best product available for large flat roofs such as school buildings. The system is a little more expensive but given the 10 year guarantee supplied by the manufacturer, it is my belief that this is the best investment for the school district."

The cost of the project currently underway at the high school is $82,000. This money is part of the 1.5 mills which were approved by Manchester voters at a special election in 1983.

Manchester High School Student Wins Academic All-State

Katie Miller

Selection for this honor is based on students cumulative grade point average, their scores on the SAT and ACT tests, and their involvement in extra curricular high school and community activities.

Katie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of 10955 Hieber Road, in Manchester, was only one of 40 students in the entire state who was singled out for special recognition. She was also honored as this year's senior class Valedictorian and was selected as a National Merit Finalist.

During her four years at Manchester High School Katie has also been involved in a number of activities including track, cross country, band, choir, quiz bowl team, academic games, and National Honor Society. Katie has received numerous other Scholarships and Awards including the Aid Association for Lutherans Scholarship, the Michigan Competitive Scholarship, the Hope College Scholarship, and the Lutheran Brotherhood Scholarship. In addition she was an NCR Scholarship Semifinalist and an Educational Communications Semifinalist.

Katie will attend Hope College beginning this fall.

The Broil Started Small

occasions throughout the year, including the day of the Broil.

In thirty years, a whole generation of Manchester men have grown up working at the Broil, and some families, like the Manns (Willard, Ron and Jeff), now have three generations of chicken cooking experience.

As the Broil has grown bigger, improvements have been introduced to keep up with the increasing number of mouths to feed. There is now a conveyer belt system for the take-out line, to help serve more quickly those taking their chicken dinners home to eat. These days, the butter boys use plastic spray bottles to baste the chicken instead of brushes.

Some things have not changed though, and probably never will. One is the famous secret recipe for the Chicken Broil's coleslaw. This formula is an original perfected by Dr. Jones, a local dentist, who has since retired and moved south. Only a select few know the ingredients and the legend is that each man knows only a part of the list for security reasons.

Another unchanging tradition is the method of broiling the chickens. They cook in special grids designed to be turned easily over the charcoal fires a good two feet below. The grids rest on cement brick pits built the night before on sand beds hauled in and spread for the occasion. The chicken cooks slowly for several hours, with several basting of butter and a slight dash of salt, until the leg bone turns freely in the meat. Then they simmer for an extra 15-20 minutes in special steel pots for finishing touch of tenderizing.

In 1954, the butter that basted the chickens was 59c a pound and Eisenhower was president. Today, inflation has made butter a lot more expensive and we have had six more presidents, but the Broil goes on. Pre-Broil tickets will be available from many local and county businesses or from Broil volunteers for $4.00. They can also be purchased at the gate the day of the Broil, July 19th, for $4.50.

AN ADDED ATTRACTION AT THE CHICKEN BROIL??

The Manchester Chicken Broil may have an added attraction this year—a live panther. If you have been following the stories in the Ann Arbor News, and on Channel 7 on television, it is quite possible that you are aware of the excitement around town about the possibility of a live black panther that has been seen recently in our village.

Maybe the Michigan Panthers need a mascot, (they certainly need all the help they can get), and we will be able to fill that need. An any rate, if there is a black panther loose in this area, and if it is captured alive, what an attraction it would be at our 1984 Chicken Broil.

HIT or MISS

so, it could happen here.

However, I think the above suggestion that we should fine the slackers who don't vote is the simplest and most satisfactory solution to the present deficit problem.

Those of us who still smoke cigarettes—against everybody's better judgement—including ours—are being compared by the doctors to indecisive roosters. You know how indecisive roosters say a friend of ours. They peck senselessly at imaginary kernels of corn or whatever, in misdirection, as though to appear busy instead of dealing with any real matter of the moment. Are you an indecisive rooster?

Television is now supplying us with escapist programs when what we really want is escape from TV.

I'm afraid that too many of us have lost our good opinions of our present day political candidates all the way from the top to the bottom levels and, unfortunately, have decided that it doesn't make a great deal of difference who's running the show and so they take no part in things political but if this trend continues long enough they will find out who is, and it won't be done to their advantage.
