A Perfect Day

The 31st Annual Manchester Broil was an outstanding success. There was just a bit of trepidation before the big day, considering the adverse conditions of last year. But the Weather Committee composed of all the local clergy, came through with a near perfect day. There could have been a bit more of a breeze to disperse the smoke from the pits, but no one is complaining.

Everything went smoothly, and the lines, both the serving line and the take-out line, moved very well. The wait averaged about twenty minutes, and that was greatly appreciated by the many visitors to Manchester. The experience of the serving crew, and all concerned with the Chicken Broil, showed throughout the day, and congratulations are in order.

Ron Mann, co-chairman of the Annual Broil, said all the chicken ordered was sold. There were between 13 and 14 thousand dinners sold, and some halves that remained were eagerly purchased by persons waiting to enjoy that beautifully broiled chicken at home.

The Chicken Broil sold out of pop and ice cream, and even ran out of radishes, which is not easy to do when you consider how many pounds of radishes are available.

"Fat Bob" Taylor and his lovely wife Carol, were the honored guests of the Manchester Chicken Broil, and were presented with a gold card designating them Honorary Manchester Citizens. "Fat Bob" has been one of the strongest supporters of the Manchester Chicken Broil for a number of years, and always mentions it favorably during his broadcasts on radio station WJR! He also received a beautiful picture of the Manchester Panther drawn by Carolyn Tanner, a talented local resident.

John Kosirnik, associated with our local Blacksmith Shop, fashioned an original weather vane for the occasion. The "sail" of the weather vane was made to depict a panther stalking a rooster perched on a fence, and besides being original, was very handsome. "Fat Bob" assured us that he would mount the weather vane on his garage and send us a picture.

Carol Taylor also received a gift, a fire tool made at the John F. Schneider Blacksmith Shop. When she attended last year, she indicated that she could use such a handy well-constructed tool, but in last year's confusion, we were unable to get it to her. Carol was most appreciative that we remembered her this year.

All in all, this year's Annual Chicken Broil was a great success, and after last year's disaster, we needed that.

Priorities Set For Capital Improvement Millage

At its regular meeting on July 16th, the Manchester Board of Education approved the recommendations of Superintendent of Schools Gene Thompson for the use of a special 1.5 mill levy approved by Manchester voters for building improvements for the next four years. The special tax levy is expected to provide the school district with approximately $140,000 in revenue to be used to improve facilities in each of the next four years.

Thompson's recommendations for the current school year include the following: Interior painting in the High School, recarpeting the Middle School, replacement and installation of office carpet and drapes, repair of the athletic field fence, renovation of high school locker rooms, renovation of high school lavatories, repair of the Nellie Ackerson entrances, electrical work in the high school shop and general electrical renovation in the high school.

During discussion Board members commented that it would be necessary to continually examine the list of priorities and to consider changes as new developments and information are received. Trustee William Broucek recommended that a study of the high school heat pipes be conducted and received consensus support from the Board for his suggestion. Trustee Jim Samonek commented that to his knowledge the only way to conduct such a study would be to take samples of the pipe from selected locations.

Superintendent Thompson commented, "We are definitely making progress on the renovation of our buildings. This special millage together with the $350,000 energy retrofit program will accomplish many of our goals. Everyone should be aware however, that these two programs will not be enough to completely carry out the program. At some point the district will need to consider a bond issue. With interest rates remaining high, however, we will have to delay that part of the program."

Horning Elected Board Of Education President

At an organizational meeting on July 2nd, the Manchester Board of Education elected Earl Horning of Pleasant Lake Road as President for the 1984-85 school year. Horning, a graduate of Michigan State University, owns and operates, with his wife Diane, the family centennial dairy farm. He had indicated that he will schedule special meetings of the Board within the near future in order to establish long range district goals.

William Broucek, who is beginning his second term on the Board, was elected Vice-President. Broucek is employed as Senior Vice President of Citizens Bank in Ann Arbor.

Kent Talcott, an Ann Arbor attorney, was elected to serve as Secretary.

Ronald Mann, owner of Mann's Feed Mill in Manchester, and also a Michigan State University graduate, was elected as Treasurer.

In other recent action the Board voted to extend the contract of Superintendent Gene Thompson for an additional three year period. Thompson's contract is now in effect until June, 1987.

Hit Or Miss

One writer has asked "What gift does one give the man who has fabulous wealth but who paradoxically is deeply in debt." The answer is yes. Last year the government received $911,179.48 in voluntary contributions to reduce the national debt. More than $300,000 of that amount was submitted along with the tax returns from 3,500 individuals in the previous fiscal year amounted to $901,136.37.

The IRS is trying to make it easy for citizens and companies to set aside a little something to help the federal debt currently at $419 trillion.

For the second year in a row information as to how to make these voluntary contributions was included in federal income tax instructions. Those mailed between last December and January to 175.3 million businesses and individuals contained these instructions, and the contributor was informed that the form of giving was tax free, which was very nice of them. I haven't become in this plan to reduce the federal debt and I don't think any of my friends have. But if you sincerely want to help your needy Uncle Sam even if Father's Day is past, just send your check to the IRS, at Washington, D.C. at once. They certainly can use it.

However public spirited the intent of such contributors such contributions are dwarfed by the

Will You Marry Me?

Manchester Enterprise
April 18, 1869

There is no affinity, as a Spiritualist would say, between Hymen and Winter. There is always an icy coldness between them. Look at the marriage column of a newspaper during the winter months. Hardly a single marriage. None but desperate young men, or flashy young men, or young men of the ugly and forlorn kind marry in the winter. Young ladies would always marry. They will venture as readily on a March morning as on a genial one in June. Courageous, willing, venturesome creatures. But the young man who must provide potatoes, and bread, sugar and soap, wood and blankets, discover that the where-withall is a scanty article in hyperborean regions where old winter drags his slow length along, during six or seven months of the year. Rich and generous prospective fathers-in-law might stimulate many a timid young man with courage. But fathers-in-law, generally speaking, are poor, old and stingy.

We would cheer a host of sighing maidens by telling them that Spring is coming. Young men will be likely to whisper very soothing words ere long.—White kids will be in demand, and Editors will be looking out for rich pieces of cake!

We have been lead to make these preliminary remarks by the perusal of a pamphlet issued by the Secretary of our State at Lansing, entitled "Duties of persons authorized to Solemnize Marriages."

The first article demands, (for the parties to be married be

Prevent Farm Falls

Work falls account for many fatalities, as well as a long list of disabling and sometimes crippling injuries. Nearly a quarter of the work injuries reported in the National Safety Council's farm accident survey were the result of falls. Here's how to stay on your feet:

•Wear comfortable shoes or boots with soles that provide good slip resistance for the walking and working surfaces you'll be on. Safety shoes with metal toe caps provide extra protection when operating farm machinery, using power mowers, handling animals, carrying heavy materials, etc.

•Keep walks, aisles and working surfaces clear of ice, snow, mud, manure, grease and spilled grain.

•Keep work areas, passageways and steps in the shop and barn free of clutter and unnecessary tripping hazards. Provide ample storage space for tools, utensils and supplies when not in use.

•Clean off footwear before climbing on ladders or farm equipment.

•Keep extra riders off of farm equipment.

•Install rollbars on tractor, fasten seat belt and stay off slopes if you can't be sure of tractor stability.

•Use only sound ladders properly set-up for maximum stability. Climb and work with care. Don't overreach.

•Carry a bulk or heavy object with care. Hold it so not to block your view. Watch your step and take your time. Get help if necessary.

TRACTOR SAFETY HINT

Install rollbars, fasten seat belts! And stay off slopes if you can't be sure of tractor stability. Same advice goes for ditches, gullies and ditches. When going downhill, use lowest possible gear. Space wheels as wide as possible. And, wear your seatbelt.

This Tractor Safety Hint is brought to you as a public service by this publication and J I Case Company.

The monkey wrench is named after its inventor, a London blacksmith named Charles Monck.

Will You Marry Me?

examined under oath. Think of it! A nice young man, with his hair perfumed, with a magenta tie on his bosom, and with a pair of the whitest kids on his digits, called aside in a solemn manner, by the officiating clergyman, and with closed doors becoming subject to the swearing and searching process! As we have never lifted our hand nor subjected ourself in that way we cannot tell what kind of questions are directed toward the innocent victim. But such is law; and woe to the Justice or clergyman who neglects it. So, young gentlemen, prepare yourselves for a little swearing and catechising as you march to the music of "Two young things going to the moon."

We find also that the small sum of five hundred dollars must be squeezed out of somebody if boys under eighteen, or girls under sixteen undertake to play husband and wife.

This same law is also very explicit on the subject of choice. It says that no young man shall marry his "grandmother, grand-daughter, grandfather's wife, wife's grandmother, nor his mother's sister," besides many other relations, such as "his own mother" etc.

Furthermore, let me enlighten the young ladies on the point of law, namely, that they are not allowed to marry their "grand-fathers, step-fathers, grand-mothers husbands, husband's grandfather," and so on; for the sum of five hundred dollars must be forthcoming for any such misdemeanor!

Young people, (or old people for that matter), who desire to marry in a very sly manner, without a "single soul knowing it" must bear in mind that the state demands the presence of two witnesses at the solemnization. The inevitable $500 will intrude itself here also, unless this be complied with!

It is expected of every Justice or Minister to furnish the bride with a certificate of the marriage, adorned with fiery cupids and already for framing, or plain and unartistic, with the name of her dear one, herself the two witnesses and the solemn affirmation and signature of the officiating gentleman, and all duly sealed and stamped.

The act does not actually state how much a young man must slip into the hand of the man who does the work.—Every bridegroom feels exceedingly good-natured and honorable on that eventful day, consequently he is expected to be honorable also in this matter.

The law does not say who shall be the first one to kiss the bride, or who may first squeeze her hand, nor how good the supper or dinner must be, nor how rich the ice cream and cake, nor how late they must stay up, nor many other things far too numerous to mention. We advise all good, courageous, enterprising young men who can afford it, to marry.

Library Book Reviews

THE HANGING TREE
by Bill Knox
Garden City, New York: Doubleday and Company, 1984. 179 pgs.

A dull mystery story is almost a contradiction in terms but as this book illustrates it can happen and has here. There are a lot of things wrong with this book. First, the setting in the industrial city of Glasgow in February during the current recession is simply grim.

Secondly, the crime is feeble. As mystery readers know, what interests us about crime is that we could do it ourselves but think we wouldn't. It also helps to have an attractive or helpless victim. The crime here is the pirating of videotapes. The victim is the Hollywood movie industry and it really was hard to work up a lot of sympathy for that one. Too, most of us routinely copy things—including tapes of various kinds for our own use if not for that of someone else and since we don't think of this copying as terribly awful, it is difficult to get worked up against these "bad guys."

Third, the characters are astonishingly dull. The chief good guy is a police superintendent, Colin Thane. He has a wife and two children at home who do nothing except be there when he arrives. They are as wooden, as devoid of humanity as Thane himself. Thane has two young lieutenants, Francey Dunbar and Sandra Craig whose digs at one another provide the only real fun in the book. There is also a bad guy called the Glassman, so-called because of his favorite weapon but there is barely a glimpse of any real person behind that name. Similarly, there are a few murders—and murder is a nice crime—but because they happen to people we don't care about anyway, they simply seem pointless.

Fourth, the dialogue is a disaster. At one point, Thane meets an old girlfriend and they agree to get together sometime "to talk about old times," a line so threadbare it wouldn't even be heard on prime time television. Perhaps the poor dialogue tires the reader because the characters themselves aren't flesh and blood human beings.

Fifth, the plot is not all that well put together. It is the strongest point in the book but only the most naive of amateur sleuths would not be able to figure out "whodunit" before half the book is finished.

The Hanging Tree is a Crime Club selection which is somewhat unaccountable. A good book whether it is written for a child, an adolescent or an adult is a joy to read, a veritable treasure. This one is not. Its chief merit is that it is short.

KING OF THE CATS
A GHOST STORY
by Joseph Jacobs
Retold and illustrated by Paul Galdone. New York: Houghton Mifflin, 1980. 29 pgs.

Well, what on earth would you do if one evening when you were out just going about your job, digging graves, as usual, you suddenly saw nine black cats marching slowly and solemnly toward you? Nine cats, mind you! And what if they were carrying a coffin draped in a velvet pall? Yes, a coffin! And on top of the coffin was a gold coronet like kings wear. And what if their eyes all shone with a kind of scary green light? Would you get scared?

And what if at every third step the nine cats all stopped and cried "Miaow!" all together? Would you get really scared then and maybe even want to cry a little? And what if they did it over and over, every third step, as they came closer and closer and closer? Do you think your little sister might get scared? Would she hide? Would she maybe yell for Mom?

And what if suddenly all nine black cats stopped still and looked straight at you and then the one who wasn't carrying the coffin came forward and stared straight at you and said—and he said—Oh dear, I can't tell you what he said!

I know you wouldn't get scared because big 7 and 8 year old kids like you are brave but you wouldn't let your scardy-cat little sister read this book. She'd even get scared of the big pictures in it. And you sure wouldn't let your mom or dad read it because even one little panther gets them worried. Only the most fearless people in the whole world would read this book. by Joan Gaughan

Negotiations Produce School Calendar

Negotiations between the Manchester Board of Education and the Manchester Teachers represented by the Washtenaw-Livingston Education Association have produced a calendar for the coming school year. The calendar which was agreed upon at a recent negotiation session was formally approved by the Board of Education at its regular meeting on July 16th. Calling for 181 student attendance days the calendar is very similar to that followed during the past school year.

Superintendent of Schools Gene Thompson commented, "One of our chief concerns was to minimize the number of half days for students. We are well aware of the problems caused by half days for working and single parents. Also, we wanted to be certain that sufficient time was available for parents to make appointments to visit the schools beyond the normal school day."

Asphalt Playground Installed At Klager Elementary

Manchester's Klager Elementary School recently received a new asphalt playground. Approximately 14,500 square feet of asphalt was installed at a cost of $8,000.

The new playground treatment will permit students to use the playground in all weather conditions. Previously it had been necessary for the students to either stay inside or play in the driveway for recess during wet periods.

As mud was tracked into the building, extra custodial time was required to maintain cleanliness. In addition there was concern that the carpeting was receiving excess wear.

Superintendent Gene Thompson commented, "This new playground is long overdue. The playground was a mess after a rain. Students were covered with mud which was then tracked into the building. I am pleased that we are able to continue to provide this kind of facility improvement using part of the special millage approved by voters a year ago."

Washtenaw County Council On Aging

If you are a senior citizen with Medicare as your primary insurance, chances are you have questions and could use help in understanding your Medicare benefits, as well as concerns about co-insurance to pick up what Medicare does not.

Medicare itself is very complicated for the best of us to understand. Part A is automatic and covers inpatient hospital care. Part B is optional and must be purchased, which covers doctor expenses. And then there is a deductible and 20% which is not paid by Medicare. What is available to cover these expenses? The Washtenaw County Council on Aging, with the help of other groups and organizations, has implemented a new program to deal with these issues. Volunteers have been trained to meet with Senior citizens, by appointment, to help them understand regarding co-insurance coverage. Appointments are made by calling the Washtenaw County Council on Aging at 665-3625.

Join Lungnet-And Become More Influential

Do you know how important you are in the political process? Your letter or your phone call to the right person at the right time is such a key ingredient when lawmakers consider legislation to protect healthy lungs and to clean up indoor and outdoor air.

Because citizen involvement is so crucial, the American Lung Association of Michigan (ALAM) has established a network called LUNGNET to fight for better respiratory health. LUNGNET is a computerized service available free to citizens and organizations in Michigan. It focuses on three different subjects: SMOKING OR HEALTH, OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH, AND AIR POLLUTION AND TOXICANT CONTROL.

LUNGNET can help you by providing timely and pertinent information on issues you care about. As an active participant in LUNGNET, you can become as involved as you want by choosing "Citizen Activist" or "General Interest Involvement" in each of the three subject areas.

LUNGNET is open to any person who supports the American Lung Association's goal of the prevention and control of lung disease. We invite you to be a part of it.

For further information on how you can become registered on the LUNGNET mailing list, write ALAM, 403 Seymour Avenue, Lansing, Michigan 48914, or call toll free at 1-800-292-5979. In the Greater Lansing area, call (517) 484-4541.

IF YOU'RE HOLDING BACK ON HOME IMPROVEMENTS, CHARGE RIGHT AHEAD.

Maybe traditional loans keep you from making all those home improvements you've been meaning to do.

Well, now you can charge right ahead with them. With the Home Improvement Loan Account from your First of America bank.

It's the revolving line of credit that works just like a charge account. You apply just once, then use it as often as you like for planned improvements or unexpected household repairs.

That's because First of America's Home Improvement Loan Account is accepted by many participating merchants and contractors in your area. What's more, with good budget planning, you can keep your interest rate lower. Because you pay interest only on the amount you owe, with no prepayment penalty.

So drop into your nearby First of America office to apply for the Home Improvement Loan Account. Or call us at (313) 995-7781 for more information.

When we work together, home improvements are really something to get charged up about.

NEWS From the office of THE GOVERNOR

The long awaited return of rail passenger service through west Michigan from Grand Rapids to Chicago will occur August 4 when a special inaugural train makes its way southwest from Grand Rapids, Governor James J. Blanchard announced. Special ceremonies will be held in five Michigan cities.

"This new passenger route will not only boost tourism in western Michigan, it will serve as a catalyst for greater economic development in this important region of our state," the Governor said. "I am pleased that our efforts to restore service after an absence of 13 years have been successful."

Ceremonies hosted by each of the communities along the new route will enable residents to welcome the new train and learn of its services. Ceremonies will take place in Grand Rapids at 9:15 a.m. Holland at 10:45 a.m., Bangor/South Haven at 11:45 a.m., St. Joseph/Benton Harbor at 1 p.m., and New Buffalo at 1:50 p.m. on August 4, 1984.

LOANS AND GRANTS
$60,000 grant to Seney Township to restore jobs at Superior County Wood Truss, Inc. "Superior is a new company which will be taking over the machinery and equipment of McMillan Wood Truss and restoring workers' jobs," the Governor said. property taxes, and excludes equipment used in retail sales operations on farms from exemption. The legislation also exempts all equipment used exclusively in wood harvesting.

thirteen figure of the deficit. Just the interest payments on this debt are nearly a million dollars every three and a half million.

The debt itself has grown nearly 50% in the past few years. It passed the trillion dollar mark in the fall of 1981—temporarily on October 22 and permanently November 10 says the editorial research service.

If donations don't appeal to taxpayers to reduce the public debt, they may choose to donate to any of about forty categories of federal programs. They may for instance donate to the Treasury Department which reported more than $20.4 million in voluntary contributions for specific programs in fiscal 1982.

Donations they said include $93,818 for the Canal Zone Biological Area Fund and $103,000 for the advancement of the Indian Race. About half of the funds went to the National Science Foundation. However the NSF said that the greater portion of the money came from contributions from foreign governments working with the United States on such projects as ocean drilling. While taxpayers may earmark their income tax payments—that is, they cannot specify that their taxes are to be used as a protest against some form of government spending they do not like.

Voluntarily making the government one's favorite charity obviously has some appeal to some people, groups of businessmen have repeatedly urged the Government to mount a massive campaign to widen the popularity of this kind of giving, especially in regard to lowering the national debt.

At the Senate committee, charged with Congressional oversight of the public debt, a staff member said that he was unaware that any of the Senators on the committee had been persuaded to champion this movement.

Extension Asked For Park Tax

Washtenaw voters will be asked to keep on paying a .25 mill special tax for the county park system. The income is used to buy, maintain and operate park and recreation lands.

The tax extension will appear on the November 6 election ballot, by order of the Board of County Commissioners.

The extended levy would begin in 1987 and go on through 1996. The present .25 mill parks and recreation tax is scheduled to expire in 1986.

Based on the average assessed valuation of $40,000 (half of $80,000 market value) for private properties in the county, Washtenaw owners would pay $10 a year for the park system. At present assessment rates, the park tax would yield about half a million dollars a year.

Elegant Main Event Sandwiches With Fresh Apple Appeal

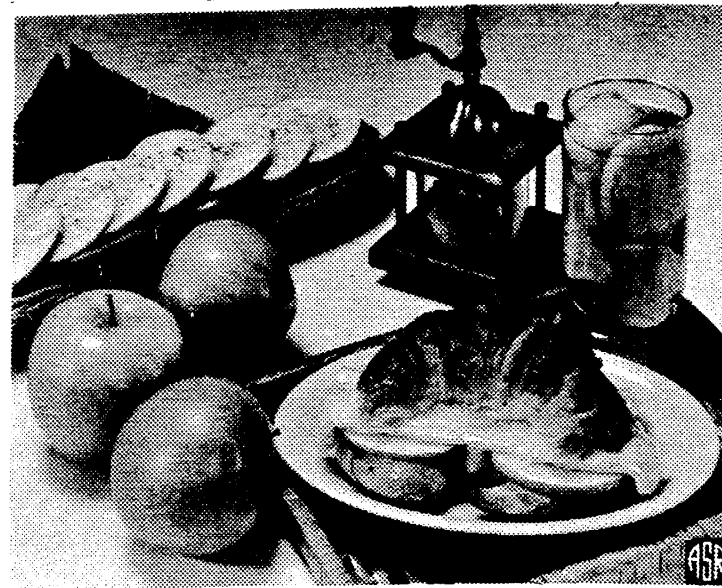

When it's summertime and the livin' is easy you want to keep the cookin' easy, too. Make elegant, fresh tasting sandwiches the main event at your meals, a nutritionally sound idea, especially when a fruit are included.

One winning combination tops crusty French baguette halves with slices of Cape Granny Smith apples, grated Gruyere cheese and coarsely ground black pepper. Broil this sophisticated lengthy sandwich for a few minutes to create an elegant light meal or sumptuous snack.

The crisp, tangy-sweet Cape Granny Smith, unlike most other apples available in the summer, are being picked right now in the Southern Hemisphere. They are fresh and in-season, so they hold their shape and texture during quick broiling. The apple's unique tart taste is a natural complement to the Gruyere as well as Brie.

Creamy Brie, in fact, paired with piquant slices of apple on airy croissants is baked to make the perfect sandwich for a company brunch or lunch. The contrasting textures of the silken melted cheese and crisp apple slices will intrigue your tastebuds.

When sliced, firm-textured Grannies look fresh longer than other apples. Because they don't turn brown quickly, Granny slices can be used as the "holders" for sandwiches — either "openface" or two slices held together with a filling. Grannies also store well in the refrigerator for four to six weeks.

Eating sandwiches that include apples lend a good source of energy in the form of complex carbohydrates. In addition, they provide fiber and work as a natural toothbrush, because they help remove small particles of food caught between the teeth.

A Cape Granny Smith apple, cheese and a loaf of bread add up with the smallest effort into a summer of nutritious and delicious eating.

Gruyere and Grannies

- 1 slender French baguette, about 15 inches long
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
- 2 Granny Smith apples, cored and thinly sliced
- 1 cup shredded Gruyere cheese
- Coarsely ground black pepper

Split bread in half lengthwise. Broil each half until golden; spread with butter. Overlap apple slices on bread halves. Sprinkle with Gruyere and pepper. Place bread halves on a baking sheet. Broil 4 to 5 minutes, about 8 inches from heat, until cheese melts.

Apple 'N Brie Croissant Sandwiches

- 4 croissants
 - 2 Granny Smith apples, cored and sliced
 - 4 ounces Brie, sliced
 - Slice croissants in half horizontally; place apple slices and Brie on bottom half, top with croissant top. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet in a 350°F oven 5 to 7 minutes or until lightly toasted and cheese melts.
- YIELD: 4 sandwiches.

An 11-week timetable was developed by the Auto Club Life Insurance Company to help runners get in shape for the Oct. 14 International Marathon in Detroit. It is designed for persons now able to run five to six miles daily. It begins at the 35-mile-a-week level and builds to a 50-mile-a-week pace. One long run and a rest day are included each week to develop a runner's stamina. A runner should consult a physician before beginning. The Automobile Club of Michigan is a co-sponsor of the marathon organized by the Detroit Free Press.

*Indicates miles

You can't run a marathon the day after you decide to try it, but you can run one if you're willing to invest 11 weeks in training, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

That long-range schedule is the philosophy behind a marathon training guide developed by the Auto Club Life Insurance Company. "Our program is based on two fundamental concepts in training for a 26.2-mile run," stated Auto Club Life Director Jim Zwick. "To complete a marathon, you should be running 50 miles a week, but building to that level gradually.

"Eleven weeks is just about the minimum anyone can train and still complete a marathon," said Zwick, who emphasized the guide is designed for the novice marathoner, but not the novice runner.

"Before attempting this intensive schedule, a runner should consult with a physician," he said. "This is especially important for someone over age 35."

The Auto Club is a sponsor of this year's Free Press International Marathon, to be held in Detroit on October 14th. Runners planning to enter should begin training immediately.

"You must be able to run five or six miles to start the program," said Zwick. "If you are not at that level, forget about the marathon this year."

The marathon guide begins at the 35-mile-a-week level and builds to a 50-mile-a-week pace. Each week includes one long run, followed by a day off.

A 20-mile run is included twice during the cycle to get the runner ready for the mental and physical challenge of a marathon. The guide is flexible, and the daily routine can be re-arranged to accommodate work schedules and personal commitments.

"The specific days you run are not that important," he said. "What matters is that your total 11-week mileage is in the 500-mile range, with at least two 20-mile runs."

• Develop a comfortable pace and stick to it. Do not try to go too fast at the beginning.

• Take liquid at every rest stop, even if thirst is not obvious.

• Be aware of "the wall," a physical and psychological barrier where runners feel they cannot take another step, which often occurs at about the 20-mile mark. If runners are aware of the potential problem, they are better equipped to intensify their effort so they can run "through the wall," get a second wind and finish the last few miles of the race.

Before running, a person should do stretching exercises to get muscles limber, especially the calf and lower leg.

In addition to co-sponsoring the International Marathon, the Auto Club will staff several of the rest stops for runners along the 26.2-mile route. The marathon is one of several projects the Auto Club is involved in to promote fitness.

FOR WOMEN

Today's economic realities often mean young mothers are working to provide an extra paycheck. Current job market statistics indicate more than 50 percent of mothers with children under six years old are now employed outside the home.

Projections at the Bureau of the Census suggest that there will be more than ten million preschoolers with mothers in the work force by 1990.

Quality child care centers enable mothers of young children to return to work.

The result of this is that child care has become a modern necessity. Before working parents feel secure leaving a child in a daily care situation, they should be confident the youngster is safe, loved and learning.

Parents need to take the selection of child care seriously, according to experts at Kinder-Care, a worldwide quality child care provider. Careful observation of center alternatives helps you select the right program for your youngster—and continuous involvement with the teaching staff and director assures you and your child a healthy, developmentally sound situation.

Red Cross Report

The July 16th Bloodmobile was outstanding for several reasons. 177 were registered in advance but there were 181 pints of blood donated and 190 attended. There were also no reactions. The walk-ins and the very small number of people who were able to come after they had registered made the difference. The weatherman cooperated (Manchester was favored all week) and the air conditioning in an extra large building made it very comfortable for all at the American Legion Hall, the host for the clinic.

The winners of the day were thirteen gallon donors who received their milestone pins: a 5-gallon pin was presented to Elizabeth Gonyer; 2-gallon pins were earned by Terry Gill, Mark Rutherford, Charles Goldsmith, Genevieve Walkowe, Robert Hudler, and Ron Rodriguez; and 1-gallon pins were received by Robert Mann, Harold Kunzelman, Robert Joseph, James Mattes, Bonnie Mitchell and Michael Fry.

Two dozen volunteers worked throughout the day assisting the professional staff from Southeastern Michigan Blood Center: Mrs. Del Ludwick, chairman-of-the-day, Mrs. Gary Brokow, prescriber and registrars - Mrs. Ronald Jenter, Mrs. Russell Hosmer and Mrs. Mara Rigg; pack table, Mrs. Russell Van Smith and Mrs. Lauren Huber; escorts, Mrs.

Marvin Oates, Mrs. Russell Middlemiss and Mrs. Frederick Wurster; observer, Mrs. Ronald Rigg; canteen, Mrs. John Rigg, Mrs. Stephen Carson, and Mrs. Claran Knauss; donor-bus drivers, Robert LaRock, Russell Middlemiss, Mrs. Jack Weir and Edward Steele, Jr.; nursery, Mrs. David Chartrand, Mrs. Charles Schiel and Mrs. Michael DuRussel.

Two other Bloodmobiles were served in June for the American Red Cross by the local volunteers at the Hydromatic Plant in Ypsilanti. On June 22, Mrs. Aaron Nathan was chairman-of-the-day and observer (RN) for a crew of nine workers: Mrs. Hazel Walker, Mrs. Maynard Blossom, Miss Amanda Schaible, Mrs. Vada Ridge, Mrs. Jean Wheeler, Mrs. Millard Uphaus, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. Mary Kirk and Mrs. Roscoe Lannom.

On June 29, Mrs. William Schwab finished the series of Bloodmobiles at Hydromatics as Chairman-of-the-day for a staff of six: Mrs. June Jenter, Mrs. Lehman Wahl, Mrs. Ernest Boelter, Alfred Sannes, Norman Nollenkopf and Mrs. Alfred Sannes.

The next regular Bloodmobile is in Manchester on October 15th.

Steamtrain Coming Next Week

The week of July 23 - 29 could very well be named "Railroad Week" in Lenawee County. County residents will have five chances to view a large steam locomotive as it traverses the Norfolk & Western Railway main line through Britton, Holloway, Adrain and the southwestern part of the county.

Locomotive 611 built in Roanoke, VI in 1950 by the N & W, was among the last main line, steam locomotives built in the United States. After retirement, it spent more than two decades in a museum before being restored for excursion service two years ago. Since then, it has traveled the eastern part of the Country, calling at towns large and small, allowing residents young and old to experience the excitement of a large steam engine.

On Tuesday, locomotive 611 and train will pass eastbound through Adrian on the "Independence Limited-84" the train will be headed for Detroit on the last leg of a four day trip from Alexander, VI. The train is scheduled to pause briefly at the Adrian N & W depot at 4:40 p.m.

On Saturday and Sunday, the 28th and 29th, the "Ft. Wayne Flyer" will travel through Britton, Holloway, and Adrian twice daily as it makes its trip from Detroit to Ft. Wayne, Indiana. It will pass the Adrian Depot westbound at 9:30 a.m. and eastbound at 6:45 p.m. each day. On Sunday, it will stop at the depot. All tickets to Ft. Wayne are sold out.

The Southern Michigan Railroad Society, Inc. still has some tickets available for a Sunday evening round trip to Detroit. Passengers can ride to Detroit on the steam train, and return on a chartered bus to Adrian. Tickets for this 3 hour round trip cost $22. Anyone desiring tickets or any further information should contact Society Secretary Celia Davison at (517) 456-7029 as soon as possible.

PANTHER PAUSE

Back in the security of my fortress and the comforting atmosphere of the village, I relaxed and sorted my emotions. The call of the wild seemed overpowering at times, but then a painful twinge of loneliness would draw me back to civilization. Often, in the late afternoon, I could hear the distant squealing of little people, to the north of my fortress. Of inquisitive nature I finally had to investigate. I crept slowly, crossed the dirt trail and peered from the thicket that bordered my territory. The little people were running and screaming and chasing a ball, in a caged area not far away. Much the same as I had done during my kitten-hood. However, on this day a strange and unfamiliar sensation rushed through me. The screams and flighty behavior of the little people triggered a chill of excitement that aroused me to an alarmingly dangerous degree. My body became crouched and rigid, my jaw quivered and my claws extended and retracted silently as my paws unconsciously sought firmer footing. But, the distraction of passing machines, on the trail between me and the caged children, was a constant reminder to be wary and I retreated nervously toward my fortress. As darkness descended the smell of man invading my fortress area was stifling. I could hear several voices, and the cracking brush as they groped about in the dark, and their lights flashing periodically through the trees. I watched them and followed them until I became bored and slightly annoyed at their intrusion. I circled to the front of them and they quickly shined a light on me. Then a feeling of warmth and security flowed through my body. Compassion held me in a subdued state while instinct urged me to flee. My tail twitched nervously as my instincts battled and I finally retreated into the brush. I trotted along the river bank to the east until I could no longer hear their voices whispering in the dark. The call of the wild once again overpowering my once domesticated senses.

Midland Power Plant Project Terminated

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley today made the following statement concerning Consumers Power Company's decision to terminate the Midland power plant project:

"Consumers Power Company's Board of Directors made the right decision last night when they decided to terminate the Midland project. That decision reflects the realities of Michigan's business and industrial climate."

"Since March, a coalition—made up of my office, organizations representing industrial and residential customers, and the staff of the Public Service Commission—has negotiated with the utility. Various proposals were considered, but the company and the coalition were unable to reach agreement on a mutually acceptable plan."

"We could not agree primarily because of the company's insistence on a completion plan which would have:

—Imposed an eighty-four percent increase in the cost of electricity to pay at least $6.7 billion for the Midland plant, a facility that is not needed and which, if ever completed, would have added only eight percent to Michigan's generating capacity."

—Forced much of Michigan industry served by Consumers Power to relocate. A Department of Commerce survey released last week found that 29 companies with over 52,000 employees would likely relocate outside Michigan if their electric prices increased by fifty percent over the next five years; a certainty if Midland were completed."

"A.B.A.T.E. (the Association of Business Advocating Tariff Equity) made up of more than 30 of Michigan's largest industrial corporations, also concluded after a thorough study that completion of the Midland project was not in Michigan's best interest."

"While a few believed that the Midland project could be completed and secure the licenses it would need to operate, the nation's financial community would not continue to loan Consumers Power the money it needed for a project 3100 percent over its original cost estimate without absolute guarantees that its electric customers would pay billions of dollars for the plant even if it was never finished or licensed."

"I could not, in good conscience, make that commitment on behalf of the people of Michigan. I could not make Consumers Power's electric customers involuntary investors in a high risk project—one which the nation's banks and financial community have concluded is not a reasonable and prudent investment."

Construction Begins On New Mercywood Hospital

"Mercywood has a long, proud tradition of serving the mental health care needs of this area," Laverty told those gathered at the building site. "This new project will continue that tradition."

Democratic Party Debate

Democratic candidates for sheriff in the August 7th primary will meet in a public debate Tuesday, July 31st, at 8:00 p.m. in the basement of the Ann Arbor Public Library. Candidates participating are: Jim Douglas, Police Chief of Saline; Jim Spickard, Director of Plant Operations and Security at Washtenaw Community College; Bill Zsenyuk, Police Chief of Manchester; and, possibly, candidate Gillis. Questions will be taken from the audience, and City Councilperson Jeff Epton will moderate. The public is encouraged to attend and meet the candidates. This debate will be broadcast live on Cable T.V.

Construction has begun on a new 130-bed Mercywood Hospital on Huron River Drive in Superior Township. The $14.9 million building will replace the 60-year-old psychiatric hospital currently located on Jackson Road, west of Ann Arbor.

At groundbreaking ceremonies, Robert E. Laverty, president of Catherine McAuley Health Center, which operates Mercywood said, "This new hospital is the result of years of planning, that will lead to better mental health care for this area."

He said the hospital, which will be constructed adjacent to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital (SJM), was needed to replace the current aging structure that was unable to meet code requirements, inaccessible to public transportation and detached from the services of the general acute hospital, (SJM).

Laverty said, "The new Mercywood, expected to be completed in late fall, 1985, will contribute to the total health care approach established by Catherine McAuley Health Center since its establishment in 1979."

He added, "The project has received much of its funding from community philanthropy through the Commitment '83-84 capital campaign."

Mercywood, founded by the Sisters of Mercy in 1924, currently serves the needs of approximately 1500 adolescents and adults admitted each year for an average stay of 22 to 26 days.

Laverty said the new Mercywood will have 25 fewer beds, but will continue the comprehensive inpatient, outpatient and day programs already in operation.

"Planning for the new Mercywood has included provisions for the systematic transfer of programs, services and employees to the Huron River Drive site," Laverty said. "The project will also provide approximately 250 construction jobs."

In addition to Laverty, other speakers at the groundbreaking were: Associate Administrator Barbara Hill; Sister Mary Visitation Frank, RSM; Mercywood Food and Nutrition Services employee Mary Fonville; and Mercywood Medical Staff President Dean Carron, MD.

The architectural firm for the project is Harley, Ellington, Pierce and Yee Associates of Southfield.

Serve Wonder Sandwiches In Minutes

Who has enough time on busy days? No one. So, with time at a premium, it's a good idea to have quick, carefree recipes on hand, especially in sandwiches that fill the bill for lunch, supper or quick snacks.

Broiled Supper Sandwiches are five-minute wonders because that's all the time they take to broil to hot, creamy perfection. Another sandwich, Broiled Cheese and Egg Salad Buns, takes only about five minutes, and it's a tasty treat, too.

Since both sandwiches use common enough ingredients, chances are you already have the fixings on hand. Buttered, toasted rye bread forms a base for the savory layers of egg, cheese and tomato in Broiled Supper Sandwiches. Chopped onion gives it zest while mild, creamy Brick cheese melts to the consistency of a smooth cheese sauce.

Hard-cooked eggs, shredded cheese and seasonings such as green pepper, onion and mustard may all be put together in advance for Broiled Cheese and Egg Salad Buns. Spread the buns when you get the folks ready for serving, then "take five," for broiling.

When you merge either of these sandwiches with raw vegetable relishes, glasses of ice cold milk and some fruit, you've balanced the meal.

8 slices tomato

Toast bread on one side only. Combine butter and basil. Brush on untoasted side of bread. Place bread, buttered side up, on baking sheet. Cover each piece with 4 to 5 egg slices; sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste and 1/2 tablespoon onion. Top each with a slice of cheese and tomato. Broil several inches from source of heat until cheese is melted and sandwiches are heated throughout, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately.

BROILED CHEESE EGG SALAD BUNS
8 servings

- 8 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 2 cups (8 oz) shredded Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup chopped green pepper
- 3 tablespoons grated onion
- 2/3 cup evaporated milk
- 3 tablespoons prepared mustard
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 8 sandwich buns, split, toasted, buttered

Combine eggs, cheese, green pepper, onion, evaporated milk, mustard, salt and pepper. Spread each bun half with about 1/4 cup egg mixture. Broil about 5 inches from heat source until hot and cheese is melted, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately.
