Would Have Legislature Meet
Only Once In Six Or Eight Years
In Future

Lawyer Martin Cavanaugh of Ann Arbor in welcoming the state bar association to the city last Friday spoke in part as follows:

"In saying a word of welcome to you here today I hope you will not consider it out of place if I give it, as my opinion, that it is the duty of the state bar association, if it is to serve any good purpose, to use its influence to prevent unnecessary legislation. The members of this association can win signal honors by encouraging lawyers and laymen to co-operate in the preparation of the best legal instruments, by making the fact known that they are encouraging the settlement of disputes out of court as far as practicable; by urging the bar and business men generally to co-operate in each locality for the prevention of unnecessary litigation. In this way the lawyer will become the friend and advisor of trade and industry; he will stand then in the community as the leader of thought in business as well as in his profession. No man can expect to succeed in the legal profession who encourages petty litigation.

"The lawyer must have the confidence of the community in which he practices his profession if he is to play an important part in the development of his community. He must never permit an idea of his personal convenience or profit to influence him in obstructing requisite reforms. Because he may have learned to practice under one scheme of procedure he must not be unwilling to adjust himself to the demands of the new generation. The days of the retainer may come again and the contingent fee and the negligent specialist largely disappear, but it is clearly to the interest of the legal profession in the last analysis to minimize the time between the summons and the judgment.

"I think another important function for the association to perform is to initiate legislation on subjects that are constantly coming before the legislature at its biennial sessions. Our legislature has passed so many statutes that the active painstaking lawyer can hardly find time to read them and when he does read them, it is almost impossible to understand what is meant. I think it would be much better for the state if the legislature did not meet more than once in every six or eight years. The idea of constantly making new laws for the administration of justice that does not require legislation is nonsensical and should not be permitted. I am well aware, however, that many good laws have been suggested by this association and that many of them have been enacted. Should we not use our influence to its utmost in shaping the legislation, not only in the state, but also in the nation. The possibilities of the lawyers in shaping legislation are great. It, therefore, behooves every member of the bar to see to it that his profession exerts its influence with the legislative bodies so that just and humane laws may be put upon the statute books; laws that will reflect the brains and ability of the best men of the country."

During Advent the Christian Church rejoices in receiving the prophecy of the birth of the Messiah. The Church hears the promises of a Savior who is born from the root of Jesse, a shepherd who will gather us to Him like lost sheep, a rose of Sharon, a lily of the valleys, a bright and morning star. We hear, from the Yeoman's Carol:

"Let Christians all with joyful mirth, Both young and old, both great and small, Now think upon our Savior's birth, Who brought salvation to us all."

On Advent Sunday, December 1, we were pleased to have as our guest, Miss Kristina Steffenson, who played carols on the Harp. Sunday, December 8, we welcome the Emanuel Bell Ringers, playing "Veni Emmanuel" and the Choir will offer music from Handel's MESSIAH, "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted," and "And the Glory of the Lord" with Sheryl Adrion as soloist.

Organ Prelude for December 15, is "Awake! Hear the Call of Watchmen" by J.S. Bach. Alice Swainson sings the Introit, "Sleepers Awake" also by Bach. The Bell Choir will play "Sheep May Safely Graze," and the Cherub and Children's Choirs will sing.

Christmas Sunday, December 22, is "Cantata Sunday" with the Organ Prelude being "How Brightly Shines the Morning Star" by Buxtehude. The early 9 a.m. service will feature music on the Harpsicord. The later 10:30 a.m. Service will sing the cantata "For Us A Child Is Born", accompanied by a string quartet and harpsicord.

On Tuesday evening, December 24th, Christmas Eve, Emanuel Church offers two services, 7 p.m. and 11 p.m., with Carols, Candles and Communion. "A Service of Lessons and Carols" will be led by the Bell Choir at 7 p.m. and the Adult Choir at 11 p.m.

Ban On Throwaway Wine Cooler Containers Underway

By adopting an administrative rule requiring deposits on wine cooler containers sold in Michigan, the state can take a giant step toward ensuring a clean, litter-free environment in the future, Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC) President John B. Eichinger told the Michigan Liquor Control Commission today.

Eichinger, testifying in support of the administrative rule, said that since the rule was proposed by Attorney General Frank Kelley and MUCC in July the idea of a ban on throwaway wine cooler containers has received significant support across the state.

"It is clear to me that the Michigan public has been persuaded that a ban on throwaway wine cooler containers in our state is only a logical extension of the principles of our 'bottle bill,'" Eichinger declared.

Adopted by a 2/1 margin of state voters in 1976, the bottle bill is widely supported by Michigan citizens.

"Public opinion surveys taken after the law was adopted indicate that some 90 percent of Michigan citizens believe that the law is working," Eichinger noted, "and nearly 80 percent would vote for the law if it were on the ballot again."

The Holland resident reminded the commission that Michigan has derived three major benefits from the bottle bill: litter reduction, solid waste reduction and job creation.

Citing studies conducted by the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Eichinger told the commission that: -Total litter was reduced by 41 percent after the deposit container law took effect in 1978. -Beverage container litter dropped from 220 bottles and cans per mile of highway in 1979.

-As a result of the bottle bill, 600,000 tons or six percent of the state's total volume of solid waste has been removed from the state's waste stream each year.

-Since the cost for disposing of solid waste is estimated to be $35 per ton, Michigan's bottle bill is saving taxpayers and citizens $21 million in disposal costs each year.

A study by the U.S. General Accounting Office acknowledged that although approximately 400 jobs were eliminated after the bottle bill was passed, another 4,900 new jobs were created - a net increase of 4,500 jobs.

"Those three positive benefits - reductions in litter, reductions in solid waste, and an increase in employment are now threatened by a new and unforeseen entry into the Michigan marketplace - wine cooler containers," Eichinger declared.

According to the industry's own figures, 37 million gallons of wine coolers were sold nationally last year. That equates to nearly 300 million throwaway containers nationally, or approximately 10 million throwaway containers in Michigan, Eichinger said.

"That's enough containers to cover every inch of Michigan shoreline from Monroe to the Straits of Mackinac."

Eichinger answered opponents of deposit requirements who claim that a ban on throwaway wine cooler containers will put a "fledgling" industry out of business.

"Contrary to the impression that opponents try to leave, this is not a cottage industry run by mom and pop out of the back of their garage," Eichinger said. "The big names in the wine cooler business are Seagrams, Heublein, Gallo and Schenley imports. Those national companies can hardly be equated with newly hatched businesses just getting off the ground."

"We are convinced; Governor Blanchard is convinced; Attorney General Kelley is convinced; and a growing number of other statewide and local organizations are convinced that the time has come to protect the significant gains our bottle bill has given us by requiring a deposit on all wine cooler containers sold in the state," Eichinger testified. "We urge that you expeditiously adopt the rule before you - a step that will lead to a cleaner, greener, and better Michigan for all of us."

Should I feed wild birds only in the winter?

DNR Administers Environmental Youth Awards Program

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is administering a new Governor's Environmental Youth Awards competition, geared to promote environmental education among Michigan's youth, starting November 15.

Coordinated by the DNR Public Affairs Offices, the Governor's Environmental Youth Awards will give kindergarten through twelfth grade-level students in the State's 4,466 public and private schools a chance to compete for awards by actively participating in local environmental projects.

Any student enrolled in a Michigan school is eligible. Program entries must create and implement an environmental program that would benefit their community. Projects may range from cleaning area creeks and lakes to investigating environmental problems and seeking solutions through the local political system.

Through the new program Michigan can recognize its youth for their efforts in helping to keep the State's environment clean, says DNR Director, Ronald O. Skoog.

"The program will serve as an important learning tool for participants, and I think students will get as much out of it as they put into competing," Skoog says. "Only by working directly in the environment can today's children develop a sense of how necessary and valuable the State's resources are and will be in the years to come."

Each year, the awards program will highlight a different aspect of Michigan's environment. The 1985-86 theme is "Water," which coincides with the "World Conference on Large Lakes," May 18-21, 1986, at Mackinac Island.

The program is based on local, DNR Regional, State levels. Nine Regional Finalists will be chosen in February - three from each DNR Region - and the State's best three groups will be selected in April by a panel of DNR personnel, a Natural Resources Commissioner, State conservation group members and community leaders. The entire awards process would be completed by the end of the 1985-86 school year.

All program entries will receive specially-designed DNR arm patches, and Regional Finalists will receive commemorative award ribbons. The three top competition groups will be presented first place awards by Governor James J. Blanchard during the "World Conference on Large Lakes."

Sponsors are to notify the DNR of their student group's participation in the program by submitting an enrollment card by the December 9, deadline. Only one entry may be submitted per school, and a school-wide competition must be held in the case of more than one competing group in a school. Sponsors are to apply for the Regional competition by February 28, 1986.

President Announces 1986 Volunteer Awards

President Reagan has announced the fifth annual President's Volunteer Action Awards to honor outstanding volunteer achievement by individual citizens and organizations.

The awards are co-sponsored for the fifth year in a unique cooperative effort between the private sector and government by ACTION, the national volunteer agency and by VOLUNTEER - The National Center, a private, non-profit volunteer support organization.

The President will present the awards at a White House ceremony in April. Award categories include arts and humanities, education, the environment, health, human services, international volunteering, mobilizing volunteers, public safety, youth and the workplace. Award nomination forms are available at all ACTION state and regional offices.

Following the President's announcement, ACTION Director Donna M. Alvarado commented, "President Reagan's strong personal interest in the annual awards underscores his deep commitment to volunteers and the spirit of neighbor helping neighbor."

Funding for the awards program is provided by corporations and foundations.

Nomination forms are available from: ACTION, Office of Public Affairs, Washington, D.C., 20525. Deadline for submitting nominations for 1986 awards is January 25, 1986.

News From The Michigan House

The Michigan House missed an excellent opportunity for fiscal reform Thursday when it defeated a resolution petitioning Congress to call a constitutional convention to draft a balanced budget amendment, said an area lawmaker who supported the proposal.

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-Saline) said that the balanced budget amendment is an appropriate long-term response to the nation's fiscal problems.

"Even with strong public pressure to do so, Congress hasn't been able to balance the budget. We should join the other 32 states that have already approved resolutions. Today Michigan missed a chance to join these states in a call for reform," O'Connor said.

The resolution was defeated in the House on a 51-56 vote.

O'Connor said that many lawmakers voted against the resolution because they were afraid of a runaway convention.

"Those fears are unfounded. There are several safeguards built into the Constitution. First, if the convention strays from the balanced budget amendment, Congress can refuse to submit its work to the states for ratification. Secondly, 38 states must ratify the work of the convention. Even in the unlikely event of a runaway convention, these provisions protect the Constitution and the American people.

"The mounting federal deficit is more likely to hurt our country than these other remote possibilities. I strongly support a balanced budget amendment and will continue to work for its passage in Michigan," O'Connor concluded.
