Hit or Miss

by Farley

The number of serious problems that arise in this world nowadays is astonishing. It's hard to see how we can cope with many of these problems. For instance, the other day, we were alerted to the fact that there was a difference of opinion about the pictures in Paulding, Ohio's water treatment plant.

Nowadays, as you know, we have inspections and regulations concerning everything and the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency says that it is not "professional" to have these pictures in a public building and they threatened to not renew the plant's certification until they were removed. I suppose that they in some way affected the quality and purity of that community's water supply.

Harry Wiebe, the village administrator, says however, that he is not certain that the removal of the pictures will improve the operation of the plant.

The artistic pictures which are causing all this turmoil are 18 photos of women clad in bikinis, taken from a Rapid Tool

Company's calendar of some years ago. They are displayed very prominently on work benches in the one-man office. Tom Colley who works there, could not be found in order that he might make a comment.

This earth shaking condition came about a month or so ago, when Dr. Kenneth Applegate, EPA's water quality inspector checked the laboratory and found several violations of the state code, one of which was the offensive pictures.

He said he told village officials that it was not professional to have such pictures on display in a public building and that certifying such a facility would be "tantamount" to condoning and supporting such facilities.

Mr. Wiebe, however, says he does not think that the pictures are such a big deal - he's never before heard a complaint about them. But he also says that he can't argue with Applegate, so by now I suppose that the questionable art display has been dispensed with and that Paulding's water is once again pure and sweet. So may we wish that nothing more serious happen to the municipality of Paulding.

Michigan Receives Bald Eagle Restoration Grant

The state of Michigan received a grant for American Bald Eagle restoration at the recent meeting of the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (IAFWA) here. Thirteen other states shared in a $50,000 contribution from Miller High Life beer, founding sponsor of Save the Eagle Project (STEP), which is dedicated to preserving the American Bald Eagle. Some of the funds were raised through the sale of full-color posters, one of which is displayed by Miller representative, Dan Tearno. The eagle portrait was done by noted wildlife artist, Guy Coheleach. Accepting the Michigan grant was Jack Bails, right, deputy director of the state's Department of Natural Resources. At left is Charles (Chip) Collins, executive director of the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation which is working with IAFWA on this project. IAFWA has applied to Congress for additional funds to supplement these Bald Eagle Grants.

Blood Donation Reminder

Now's the time for people who have never donated blood before to do it, says the American Red Cross Blood Services. Red Cross also reminds previous blood donors that blood can be donated every eight weeks, up to five times a year. One blood donation can help as many as four people live, a good reason for making a commitment to donating blood on

On Thursday, we visited Napoleon and left victorious, 16-6. The first quarter ended in a scoreless tie, but the Little Dutch scored twice in the second stanza. Quarterback John Korian tossed to Bryan Barnard who went out of bounds after scampering 47 yards. This set up Jamie Darrow's first of two touchdown runs. John again hooked up with Bryan for the 2-point conversion. Soon after, Napoleon fumbled inside their 5-yard line. Jamie plowed into the endzone for the TD and did likewise for the conversion. Jamie finished the evening having collected 102 yards rushing, while Allen Carson had 75. John had a big night defensively, as he snared 3 interceptions.

On Friday, the 4 and 0 and top-10 ranked Napoleon Pirates came to town. Unfortunately, when the battle concluded, Napoleon remained undefeated, with a score of 13-7. We kicked off, they failed to move, so punted, giving us possession at midfield. Quarterback Tom Mann lofted the ball down the east sideline to the waiting arms of Brian Gebhardt, who ran it across the goal line. Bart Rickelmann toed the extra point, leaving the score 7-0. The Pirates then started to drive and soon found themselves one yard from pay dirt. The next play would have scored but their halfback fumbled, ending the march. The second quarter supplied Napoleon with their winning margin. They scored on a 4-yard run, then soon after, ran back our punt for 74 yards. There was no scoring in the second half, leaving the final 13-7.

Consumers Will Lose Interest Deductions

One of the goals of the most recent federal tax reform bill is to make the tax code more fair by repealing most of the deductions that greatly reduce or eliminate the tax liability of the wealthy. If this bill passes in Congress, this bill will also repeal deductions for interest on car loans, credit cards or any other consumer loans. These provisions are expected to change the buying habits of Americans.

Interest deductions are not totally eliminated until 1991. Under the tax reform plan, 65% of consumer interest will be deductible in 1987, 40% in 1988, 20% in 1989 and 10% in 1990. Mortgage interest on first and second homes will remain deductible under this bill. Homeowners are allowed to deduct interest from borrowing against their mortgages only if the proceeds from the loan go toward home improvement, medical costs or educational expenses.

BARRON'S Magazine points out that homeowners can tap the equity in their homes to purchase consumer items. With this provision, homeowners can deduct the interest on a home equity loan, thus circumventing the loss of the consumer interest deduction. The taxpayer can deduct the interest on a home equity loan only if the loan, plus the latest mortgage, does not exceed the purchase price of the home plus any improvements. Home equity loans can then be used to purchase cars or other consumer items, with tax-deductible interest.

Since consumer interest deductions will be reduced next year, tax experts are advising those thinking of purchasing cars, boats or other big-ticket items to buy them this year while the interest is still fully deductible. It is predicted that the tax law will affect 1988 model year auto sales, since more consumers may buy 1987 cars this year in order to get the full interest deduction.

Analysts speculate that because of the new tax rules, consumers will curtail credit purchases of big-ticket items and save until they have accumulated enough for a cash purchase. However, credit card companies do not believe that credit card use will decline. Richard Woods, vice-president of MasterCard Corp., claims that consumers are not concerned with interest rates but with the services and value that credit cards provide. There could be problems for people who use credit cards frequently. They may find that losing the deduction for an 18% credit card interest rate makes a big difference in their tax liability.

Wagon Train Salutes 150th Birthday

Michigan will roll back in time next summer when wagons roll forward on the 1987 Sesqui-centennial Wagon Train's 10-city tour.

Sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, the "SesquiTrain" of horse-drawn wagons and accompanying outriders will leave Lansing on June 15 and travel south, with nightly encampments at Charlotte, Olivet, Marshall, and Albion, pausing midway through its trek for a three-day stopover in Jackson on June 19, 20, and 21.

"The SesquiTrain will be a family event and should be especially popular with children."

said Dr. Paul Kindinger, Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. "Therefore, all of the accompanying events are designed to be educational, entertaining, and exciting - a rolling, two-week birthday party!"

A Michigan history pageant will be performed for the public every evening after the wagons are circled, and each community will add to the entertainment with local productions. Historical displays and exhibitions are also planned for each encampment.

Thousands of birthday cards, each with room for approximately 40 signatures, will be circulated throughout the state early in 1987, so all residents, including children, can become a part of the SesquiTrain. The cards will be signed by school classes, organizations, community groups, neighborhoods, or family groups. They will be collected and delivered to the SesquiTrain by Pony Express riders from all over Michigan.

"We invite every other state in the nation to participate in SesquiTrain by sending a wagon and/or riders. We've already had inquiries from horse people in several states and Canada about traveling with us," Kindinger said. "Communities throughout Michigan are also encouraged to sponsor a wagon for the trip," he said.

Leaving Jackson on June 22, the SesquiTrain will encamp at Stockbridge, Pinckney, Brighton, Fowlerville, and Williamston, then return to Lansing on June 27, for ceremonies on the Capitol lawn. Planned ceremonies include a presentation to the Governor from representatives of the other states riding with the train, a delivery by the Pony Express, and the formal presentation of several thousand birthday cards from Michigan citizens.

Individuals wishing more information on the project may write to Judy Class, Director of the Michigan SesquiTrain at 5485 Kinneville Road, Onondaga, MI 49264 or Jerry Dunn, Michigan Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing, MI 48909.

PREVENT FIRE

Fire Prevention Week October 5th - October 12

There are two lifesaving steps you can take to avoid the tragedy of fire. First, you can learn to prevent fires by keeping areas around the home, farm and business uncluttered. Storing chemicals carefully. Keeping matches away from children. The second step is to know what to do in case you're caught in a fire. Plan fire drills. Install smoke detectors. Learn escape routes. Because careless fires can cost lives, knowing what to do can save lives. It's that simple ... and that smart.

To Change or Not To Change

Manchester Area Chamber of Commerce contacts are sending out feelers on the subject of changing the date of the Manchester Street Fair. Previous years have placed it on the second Saturday of August. Unfortunately, the Mill Run, a major event associated with this day, is in conflict with the very popular "Hell Run". Strong feelings on this matter should be expressed at the next meeting of the Manchester Art Guild. If you can't attend, call Jo at 428-8798 for your comment. Your input is needed whether a Guild member or not!

The next meeting of the Manchester Art Guild will be Tuesday, October 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the High School art room. Planning Ahead:

In many ways, the upcoming meeting will be one for looking ahead. Not only will Street Fair dates be considered, but planning for election of new officers and for the possibility of an exhibition of members' work.

Also, preliminary work on guidelines of eligibility for the art scholarship to be awarded next spring will need to begin. This award is made possible because of a $225 donation from First of America's Pancake Breakfast served during the Manchester Street Fair last August.

In addition to this, a local group may involve the Manchester Art Guild in a program of "futuring". This will involve activities to aid our group in identifying ideas for Manchester's future.

As always, new faces are welcome to any Guild events.

Senator Pollack Guest At Open House

Governor John Swainson, State Senator Lana Pollack, Theodore and Nancy Sippel.

State Senator Lana Pollack greeted Manchester area residents on Sunday afternoon, October 5, 1986. Friends gathered at the home of Theodore and Nancy Sippel for an Open House co-hosted by John and Alice Swainson, Roger and Mae Hardenbergh, Claire Reck and Don and Ann Fowler.

The Open House provided an opportunity for Senator Pollack to respond to questions and to convey her philosophy and goals regarding state government.

Following an introduction by Governor Swainson, Senator Pollack discussed issues and responded to questions highlighting her positions on state taxation, education and environmental issues.

She emphasized her belief that Michigan lawmakers should revise the property tax, one of the higher in the United States. Since education depends heavily on this tax, alternative sources of revenue need to be found.

Complaint Issued Against Chelsea Company

A criminal complaint and warrant has been issued against a Chelsea company for violating Michigan's water pollution prevention statute.

The Department of Natural Resources is seeking criminal sanctions against the company, Federal Screw Works, which was the site of an unauthorized discharge of oil waste into Letts Creek on July 20.

The company moved to correct its procedures to prevent unauthorized discharges, however, the DNR is also asking the court to impose a fine, which is authorized under Public Act 245, The Water Resources Commission Act.

In an effort to emphasize the seriousness of violations of environmental protection laws, the DNR has adopted a vigorous enforcement posture to reduce such incidents statewide.

The company can be held both criminally and civilly liable, with fines up to $25,000.

The violation was discovered by DNR enforcement officers following a tip from a local resident.

Right To Farm Hearings Scheduled

Michigan residents will have an opportunity to voice their opinions on the draft report of the Right To Farm Task Force during a series of public hearings to be held across the state in October.

A total of seven public hearings are scheduled throughout the month of October for the purpose of receiving public feedback on the proposed recommendations in the report.

The Right to Farm Task Force was established by Michigan Department of Agriculture director, Dr. Paul E. Kindinger, in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources director, Dr. Gordon Guyer, to address the growing number of concerns relating to changing and/or expanding farm operations. The purpose of the task force is to formulate recommendations that would enable residents and the agriculture industry to favorably coexist and to allow for a process of agricultural development with adequate protection of public health and environment. When implemented, the recommendations will determine the future course of agriculture and the Right to Farm Act in Michigan," Schaner said. "Interested citizens are encouraged to review the report and give us their thoughts."

Copies of the report can be obtained by calling or writing Donald Schaner, Michigan Family Farm Development Authority, P.O. Box 30017, Lansing, MI 48909, (517) 373-3898. Those unable to appear in person at the hearings may send written comments to the address above no later than November 5, 1986.

A public hearing for this area will be held October 28, 1986, at 7:30 p.m. in Howell, at the Highlander Middle School, 511 Highlander Way (1 1/4 miles east of M-59 - Grand River intersection - first building south on Highlander.)

Bulletin.....

The seven public hearings scheduled throughout the state in October for the purpose of discussing the Right to Farm Task Force draft report have been CANCELLED.

Michigan Department of Agriculture Director, Dr. Paul E. Kindinger, said the continuing severe flooding conditions throughout Michigan have made it necessary to cancel the hearings because it would be difficult for farmers to participate and a full discussion to be held.

Any recommendations pertaining to the Right to Farm Act will be considered by the legislative subcommittee Multi-Disciplinary Evaluation Team, investigating the animal waste issue.

"Golden Bulldog" Award

Presenting the award to Pursell this year was Watchdog sponsor William LaMothe, Chairman of the Kellogg Company.

Congressman Carl D. Pursell has been awarded his third "Golden Bulldog" by the Watchdogs of the Treasury.

The award was based on Pursell's voting efforts to cut federal spending, eliminate waste and reduce the national deficit.

"While I'm proud to receive another 'bulldog', I am more proud of the fiscally-responsible voting record it represents," Pursell said when accepting the award on October 1.

According to the Watchdogs, the award is presented to "those members of Congress who vote to contain unnecessary government spending at least 75 percent of the time," based on a compilation of selected votes on economic and fiscal issues published in the "Economy Voting Record." Pursell scored 75 percent in the most recent "Economy Voting Record" ratings.

According to the experts it's title is "Liberty Enlightening the World", but the people, bless 'em, still call it the "Statue of Liberty."

Michigan Pharmacist Week

Without your pharmacist, your prescription is just another drug," the theme for this year's 12th annual Michigan Pharmacist Week. Through special proclamation from Governor James J. Blanchard, October 12-18, 1986, has been declared as a time to increase public awareness of the role the pharmacist has taken on in the 1980s. Today's pharmacist is a highly trained and knowledgeable professional; capable of providing patients with the most accurate-personalized medication information.

Through information provided by your local pharmacist, you can become more knowledgeable about your prescription and over-the-counter medications; including cautions you should be aware of, drug interactions, storage and labeling information, and the importance of following your prescription schedule.

After five years of study at an accredited college or university, fulfillment of internship requirements, and successful completion of a licensure examination, your pharmacist is declared qualified to practice by the Michigan State Board of Pharmacy. A pharmacist is also required to complete 30 hours of continuing education every two years. And Remember... "Without your pharmacist, your prescription is just another drug."

A BETTER WAY TO KEEP TRASH IN ITS PLACE.

MODERN DISPOSAL AND

INTRODUCE
The Mobile Toter System

IT'S EASY TO USE! Keep your Mobile Toter in a convenient place for loading. Then on collection day, just roll it to your curb. Even loaded with a week's accumulation of trash, it rolls easily and there's no lifting.

IT'S ATTRACTIVE! The smartly shaped, subtly colored Mobile Toter replaces those unsightly 20-gallon trash cans. The tough shell and cover keeps stray animals from spilling your trash and never dents or rusts.

LARGER VOLUME! 90 gallons.

IT'S MORE SANITARY! The Mobile Toter has a tight, latching lid that keeps trash and odors locked inside and animals locked out. It's easy to periodically hose out the Toter.

IT'S ECONOMICAL! Just dump the trash directly into the Mobile Toter. You'll save on expensive plastic trash bags — and won't have to buy or repair a trash can ever again.

IT GETS YOU BETTER SERVICE! Trash pickups will be quieter because the Mobile Toter doesn't clank or bang. Collection people like it because they don't have to handle trash directly — risk cuts — or lift heavy cans either! And, incidentally, the Mobile Toter is great help in collecting leaves in other yard work.

...AND, now you can have the convenient Mobile Toter collection system at your home.

40th Anniversary

Do you recognize this fun-loving couple? They were married forty years ago on October 12, 1946, in Plymouth, Michigan, and have always resided at Pleasant Lake near Manchester.

They have five children: Jan Lamey of Onsted, Gloria Mann of Manchester, Karl and Bob of Manchester, and Barry from Huntington, Indiana. They also have three grandsons and two granddaughters.

The mystery couple is Vic and Dolores Dettling.

presence in the area, that in 1851, hostilities between the Mormons and the non-Mormons reached a peak. James Jesse Strang had become the first and last crowned monarch in the U.S. when he became the king of the Mormons in 1848. He tried to control the entire county from Beaver Island with his new title. The non-Mormons complained that the Mormon King Strang and his men did not give equal justice to them. So in 1851, the U.S. Attorney General sent the U.S.S. Michigan, carrying a U.S. Marshall and forty deputies and threatened to blow the courthouse down if King Strang resisted arrest. In 1856, Strang was assassinated and the Mormon-non-Mormon conflict ended.

In 1847, the city of Marshall lost its fight to become Michigan's capital city. Today, the city is full of nationally recognized preservation sites, some of which date back to the early 1800s.

Every fall for over 20 years, the Marshall Historical Society presents to the public the annual Historic Home Tour. Many of the homes on display will include Greek Revival, Gothic Revival, Italianate, Queen Anne, Romanesque Revival, and the familiar American Four Square. The tour recreates the ambience and spirit of the 19th Century with band concerts, antique shows, Civil War encampments, strolling musicians, church luncheons and bake sales, and an arts and craft fair. This festive event usually involves the entire Marshall community of Michigan.

Vic was a familiar face at Ford Motor, Saline plant, for 30 years and retired in 1976. In their "spare time" Vic and Dolores were newspaper carriers for several years, delivering the Ann Arbor news.

Currently they are enjoying retirement, traveling and visiting their many friends.

If you see Vic and Dolores, wish them a Happy Anniversary. After all, forty years is a long time with the same partner!

Today, Mackinac County remains one of the Great Lakes area's most popular tourist/resort areas.

increase your earnings. A Certificate of deposit or money market account could increase your earnings without tying up your money for long periods. For instance, you could earn at least $125 more a year if your $5,000 nest egg was earning eight percent interest rather than five and a half. And such accounts are usually federally insured.

Check to see if taxes are being withheld from pension payments. If you don't want those taxes withheld, notify your pension plan administrator.

Take advantage of all the special privileges and discounts available to you as an older American. Your local senior citizens center or office for the aging will have specific information regarding these services. You might also call the nearest area office of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), a national organization headquartered in Washington, D.C., to find out more about these services.

Many localities offer special discounts on transportation, heating oil, property taxes and the cost of other services. You may be asked to prove your need or show an income tax return to receive discounts on certain services, so it's especially important to keep accurate financial records. Nonetheless, many municipal services are offered to older Americans, regardless of income.

Also, many banks offer special accounts as well as customer services, such as financial seminars for older Americans with funds to invest.

Review your investments. If you have stocks, bonds or mutual funds, you may be able to buy, sell or transfer funds. Chances are, you could realize a capital gain or achieve a higher rate of return.

The key to living comfortably on a fixed income, according to CPAs, is having full knowledge of your income and expenses and budgeting for your needs accurately and realistically. Being familiar with those financial details, as well as knowing what community services are available to you, will go a long way in helping you enjoy your retirement.

How to Manage Your Money on a Fixed Income

[Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants].

Just about everyone looks forward to a secure, comfortable retirement. But for many, retirement also means living on a fixed income that must be handled prudently. If you are nearing retirement and expect to have limited resources, the Michigan Association of CPAs has advice that will help you use them wisely.

Financial needs change upon retirement, so you must rethink your priorities. You might need more medical insurance coverage. Your house may be paid for and you will be freed from monthly mortgage payments. You may want to spend more on travel and leisure activities.

First, determine what your income actually totals. List your social security income, as well as income from pensions, annuities or insurance, IRAs, bonds and other investments. In some cases, such as annuities and IRAs, you can choose the way money will be paid to you.

Now, determine your fixed expenses for a specific period of time and compare them against your income for the same period. The difference is your discretionary income. Knowing how much money you have left will help you determine your budget priorities.

Also get a fix on your income tax situation. If your income drops substantially, the good news is that you will be taxed at a lower rate. A CPA can help you determine how your new tax situation will affect your finances.

If part of your income is interest on savings, be sure you get the best return possible no matter how modest the principal. Out of habit, some people keep their savings in low-interest accounts because they prefer the security of bank accounts and the easy access to cash. If you are one of these people, ask your banker or broker about other types of accounts that would
