Consortium Open House

The South and West Washtenaw Consortium is hosting an open house for all interested community members on Thursday, December 4, between 6:30 and 8 p.m. This event will showcase the newly opened Pleasant Lake Technical Education Center, located at 11700 Pleasant Lake Road.

The South and West Washtenaw Consortium operates vocational education programs for juniors and seniors in the Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan, and Saline School Districts. The Pleasant Lake Technical Education Center houses several "one of a kind" programs, and is centrally located to the five participating school districts. All together, the Consortium offers 15 different vocational classes, located throughout the districts.

The open house will include live demonstrations by students, door prizes, and the opportunity to view displays of many of the vocational classes offered by the Consortium. Student support services available in the areas of Special Needs, Job Placement, JTPA, and Cooperative Education will also be represented. Refreshments will be provided, courtesy of the Consortium's Food Service Program.

The public is cordially invited to learn more about the vocational education programs and career information available to all students in the Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Milan and Saline school districts.

The November 19th meeting of the Manchester Area Chamber of Commerce was enlivened by a presentation of the telephone system status in Manchester.

Jim Mann introduced Marcia Buhl, Manager of Corporate Affairs, and Stephen Vincent, District Manager, of Michigan Bell. Marcia Buhl reviewed recent Bell history. On January 1, 1964, Michigan Bell became part of Ameritech which imposed new rules on what Michigan Bell could and could not do. She said Michigan Bell's goal is to provide service that meets the needs of businesses at a price the customer can afford. There are 3.5 million customers in Michigan. Last year $2 million was spent on new poles and cables in this area. Ms. Buhl said that sophisticated systems using optical fibers and digital switching are being installed in the major industrial corridors in Michigan. This does not include the Manchester area.

Representatives of Double A Products, Johnson Controls, and Mastereo reported their experiences with telephone system problems. Among the difficulties cited were: people trying to call Manchester companies hear a ring but the company phone doesn't ring, calls are misconnected to other Manchester numbers, calls are cut off, dial tone roll-over interrupts call, dial tone present when answering call, lines locked out after call ends and busy trunk line signals during night hours. In addition, it was stated by one Chamber member that only 185 additional lines were available to Manchester users. He, also, observed that increases in demand would soon require new capacity and it would appear to be an opportunity to install modern equipment to solve many of these problems.

Ms. Buhl responded to these comments with a number of observations. She said it is Michigan Bell's commitment to provide service in response to reported problems within 24 hours except in area emergency situations such as storm outages and the like. When such extended area difficulties arise they do repairs as quickly as they can get to them. She observed that the customer should be sure that the appropriate customer service agent or department is notified of a problem. She also said that it was the customer's responsibility to contact Michigan Bell

First Thanksgiving On Shipboard In Year 1629

Manchester Enterprise November 3, 1964

From the beginning, with but few exceptions, Thanksgivings have been kept in the late autumn, owing to the harvest time, of course, and more frequently toward the end of November.

No one knows how the custom of appointing Thursday originated, but some light is doubtless thrown on the subject by a controversy over a proposal to change the day of the week, about 1690, when the dissenters argued that Thursday was preferable, because of the Thursday lectures, or midweek religious services, that took place every week in communities of considerable size, a joint observance of the two days rendering it unnecessary of course for many to sacrifice a day's labor, especially for Thanksgiving.

Although the pilgrims were the first to observe Thanksgiving on this continent, the Salem colonists, on their voyage over here in 1629, observed Thanksgiving on shipboard, in which everybody, passengers, captain and crew, took part, as an acknowledgement of a favorable breeze that had followed a preceding day of fasting and prayer.

Winthrop colony, in 1630, also observed a Thanksgiving, apparently entirely without any inspiration from the pilgrims, but in accordance with their former custom in England, the motive in this case having been gratitude for the safe arrival of their fleet at Charlestown, where purely religious services were held beneath a tree, for it was in hot weather, July 8.

The Winthrop colony's second Thanksgiving here, which is commonly spoken of by historians as their first, was about eight months later, Feb. 22, when having moved over to the peninsula of Shawmut and taken up their abode in log houses, huts, hovels and even holes in the side of Beacon hill, their number sadly depleted by diseases caused by putrid food, and even absolute starvation, the arrival of their fellow townsman, Capt. William Pierce, with a shipload of provisions from Ireland, and best of all, "good store of lemon juice" to arrest the ravages of the scurvy, furnished them with good cause for devout thanksgiving and gastronomic dissipation as well.

The colony probably comprised 200 or less, no church had yet been built, and it is doubtful if there was any public religious observance of the day. Neither can the bill of fare of any of the households have been sumptuous according to our ideas, judged by the record of the ship's cargo, which shows that the best the Boston cuisine could have then afforded was corned beef or boiled salt pork, oatmeal or wheatmeal mush, without milk or syrup, and ship's biscuit with cheese.

Yet who shall say it was not deemed a rich feast, when we learn from one who participated in it that a repast consisting of "meal, water and a little salt boiled together, was so good that none could ask for a better meal."

Local Recycling Would Save Money and Resources

A group of township residents is working with Washtenaw County and the Ecology Center of Ann Arbor to determine the feasibility of establishing a recycling station at the Refuse Transfer Facility in Manchester.

The fees now being charged at the transfer site make the success of such a project more likely. Local residents now have an economic incentive to recycle in order to reduce the amount of refuse they must pay to have disposed of.

The costs of refuse disposal have increased in recent years for several reasons. Regulations to protect the environment limit potential landfill sites and increase the costs involved once a landfill is approved. Wetlands, once the first choice for landfills, are now recognized as beneficial for flood control, water quality and wildlife habitat. Few people want landfills near their homes in rural areas where there used to be only a few farm houses, yet more refuse is being generated by a growing population.

Reducing the amount of refuse which ends up in landfills can keep these costs under control. Recycling is one of many methods of achieving this. Others include composting, donating appropriate materials to organizations which can use or repair them, reusing items which are generally considered disposable and avoiding products with unnecessary packaging.

Recycling has the advantage of helping to pay the cost of disposal of other refuse by the sale of the recycled materials. When recycled materials are used to make new products, valuable resources and energy can be conserved for future generations. Commonly recycled materials include glass, tin, aluminum, newspaper and cardboard. Presently newspaper is collected by the Boy Scouts at the transfer site. All other materials must be taken to the Recyclery in Ann Arbor. This is too great an inconvenience for many people. Are the people of Manchester, Bridgewater, Sharon and Freedom Townships willing to make some minor lifestyle changes to support such a facility? Recycling requires bundling of newspapers, cleaning and flattening of tin cans, rinsing and sorting of glass by color and separation of all these materials. Volunteers would also be needed to help run the facility.

This project cannot succeed without an indication of strong community support. Any comments on this matter should be directed to Sybil Abdul-Baki at 428-8108 or Lois Jewell at 428-7609.

MHS Students Attend SADD Conference

Sara Corwin, Kim Lockridge, and Matt Royale of Manchester High School attended a SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk) kick-off conference held at Domino's Farms in Ann Arbor on November 8. SADD is a national student organization dedicated to saving lives by preventing alcohol related traffic deaths. SADD relies on student initiative to organize local student chapters and activities.

Lisel Brunvand welcomed the students to Domino's Farms. Washtenaw County Sheriff Ron Washell described Washtenaw County's drunk driving prevention program which is one of the few in America that employs a Deputy full time as program coordinator. Sara, Kim and Matt, with students from 22 other area schools, discussed strategy issues such as SADD chapter success factors, goal setting and SADD promotions both within the school and within the community.

The keynote speaker was Steve Frazer, the Olympic Gold Medal winner who was the first American to win an Olympic Medal of any kind in Greco-Roman wrestling. Steve assured the students that they could achieve any goal which they could envision and encouraged them to work toward both SADD and personal goals every day, starting now.

The power of goal setting groups such as SADD was stressed by Larry Rotta, Michigan SADD Chairman, when he noted that alcohol related deaths among 15 to 19 year olds had dropped 88 percent since 1981 the time about which SADD was founded.

The conference ended with a stirring session in which the students and advisors formed concentric circles and met students from other schools while "We Are The World" played in the background. Suddenly an on-pa-pa resounded, the conference room doors burst open, and a ten piece band, provided by Robert Albritton and Ann Arbor Pioneer High, marched into the room and led the students to a pizza party sponsored by Domino's.

The SADD conference was sponsored by S.M.A.R.T., the SADD Mentors and Rescue Team. S.M.A.R.T. is composed of community agencies that support busy putting the final touches on the $690,000 film in the editing room. The last leg to completion will entail sound editing, optical effects, titles and the composition of the musical score by Detroit's Joe LoDuca (currently scoring the $6 million Dino DiLaurentis production "Evil Dead Part II"). At this point in time, several distributors are actively pursuing "The Carrier" for marketing rights, and it looks like all of White's perseverance may soon earn him box office receipts. Along the road to completion, "The Carrier" has suffered some delays due to problems in editing, special effects shooting, and scheduling.

SADD as a way of saving lives. For more information, contact Peggy Campbell, U of M M-Care Health Center, Public Relations Director, at 768-7008 or Deputy John Hitler, Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, at 971-8400, ext. 580.

The film itself, however, ranks well above the average Hollywood low budget horror flick. Recently shown to a group of investors and reviewed by Chris Potter of THE ANN ARBOR NEWS, he writes, "...many of the plague-deaths are hilariously imaginative, the acting is several cuts above standard horror fare, and Peter Deming's nighttime camera work is often spooky beyond belief. If "The Carrier" looks this good in a raw-bones auditorium screening, just imagine how terrific it's gonna look in a movie theatre!" Not without a hint of Hollywood glamour, a gala premiere of Ann Arbor's first locally produced feature length film is slated for early spring at The Michigan Theatre, and of course, a Manchester showing will still take place.

"What Ever Happened To 'The Carrier'?"

Whatever happened to "The Carrier"? Did the film hit it big time, tour the country and somehow lose sight of the town of its genesis? Well, for those residents of Manchester who are anxiously awaiting the town's screen debut, you can still look forward to "The Carrier" playing at a theatre near you.

The art lesson viewed by the third graders included step by step instructions on sketching a turkey shape and using sponges in a variety of ways to dab, dot and brush paint onto the basic form. The result: bright colorful turkeys bearing each artists individual stamp and students who now know a great deal more about how paintings are made.

The M-Star video series included tapes on a wide variety of areas such as literature, problem solving, social studies, health and more.

Young Republicans Hold Food Drive

The Washtenaw County Young Republicans will join with other community organizations across the county in Republican Care and Share, a unique nationwide food drive aimed at filling the pantries of needy people during the holiday season.

Approximately 30 volunteers will take part in the local drive, which began with an official White House kick-off on Monday, November 24. Distribution of the donations is planned for the week of December 14, through 20.

This is the third annual Care and Share program sponsored by the Republican National Committee's Working Partners Division, in cooperation with the White House Office of Private Sector Initiatives.

People can drop off canned or dry goods at the Republican County Headquarters located in the Georgetown Mall on Packard Road. Cash donations will also be accepted.

Horse Owners Urged To Test Animals

Reported cases of Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA) increased 75 percent this year from 1985 totals and Michigan Department of Agriculture officials are urging owners to test their horses for the disease and observe quarantine of infected animals.

Despite a healthy appearance, horses which recover from the disease continue to harbor the virus and may suffer stress-related relapses and infect other horses.

"Successful reduction and elimination of the disease requires identifying and isolating the carrier," Muir said. "MDA recommends destroying all EIA-positive animals to eliminate any chance of spreading the disease."

The virus is spread through infected blood and the most common carriers are horseflies or mosquitos. MDA officials indicate syringes, surgical instruments, dental floats and stomach tubes can also transmit the disease if not properly cleaned and disinfected between uses. A mare can also transmit the disease to its foal.

Anyone with questions regarding the disease should contact their local veterinarian.

Homecooked Thanksgiving Dinner Still A Bargain

The traditional Thanksgiving Day meal of turkey, dressing, sweet potatoes, peas, rolls, cranberries and pumpkin pie will cost $2.84 per serving, based on a meal prepared for 10, with ample leftovers, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation. The dinner will cost more this year than last due to higher costs for turkey, cranberries and pumpkin pie filling.

"Dinner for 10 will cost $28.74 for those who prepare and serve it at home," said Marsha Purcell of the American Farm Bureau. "That amount covers the costs of the entire meal, and most families will have a lot of food left over."

In the markets surveyed, the average price for a 16.5 pound self-basting tom turkey was 89 cents per pound compared to 82 cents last year. The wholesale price for tom turkeys this past week ranged from 79 cents to 89 cents per pound, 10 cents to 20 cents higher than last year.

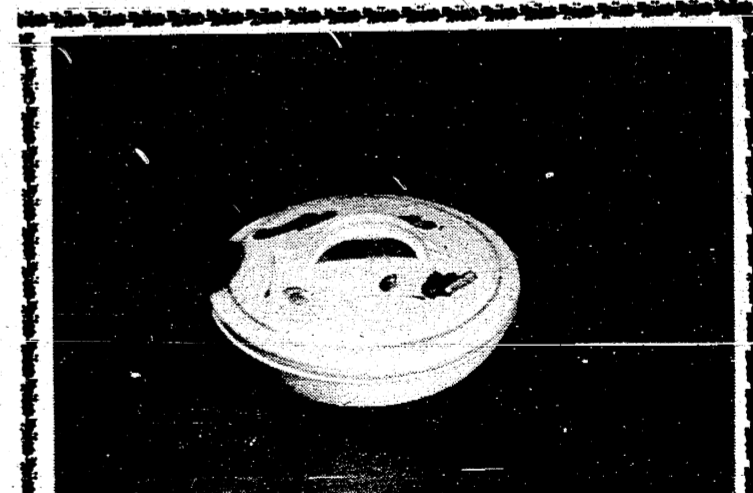

Other products that rose in price were fresh cranberries, at an average price of $1.04 per 12 ounces, 25 cents higher than last year. Pumpkin pie mix rose 37 cents, now selling for an average price of $1.36.

Preschoolers Visit Library

November 17-24, was designated as National Children's Book Week by the libraries across the country and the students at the Manchester Cooperative Preschool observed this week with two special activities.

The first was on Tuesday and Wednesday when each of the four classes made a walking field trip to our own Manchester Township Library. At the library, librarian, Margaret Goodrich, showed the students their own children's section, explained the book check out system and told them about the card catalogue system. She then entertained the classes with a special puppet show: "Kermit, the Great Animal Hunter" to which the children enthusiastically responded.

The second special activity was on Thursday and Friday at the preschool when the students welcomed the opening of their own preschool Teddy Bear Library. Each child selected a book from the shelves, stamped the card to check it out, and then took the book home. The Teddy Bear Library Center provides a special place for just a quiet time with "Bear Buddies" and books for our preschoolers.

Hit or Miss

catalogs and letters that our desk gets piled up with and which every so often we have to sort out and chuck out, we find, for example, a very ornate quite thick catalog from a "Crafters Gallery", the cover of which bears a very nice picture of good old Santa Claus and his reindeer and his sleigh bearing several well filled sacks of toys and holiday decorations.

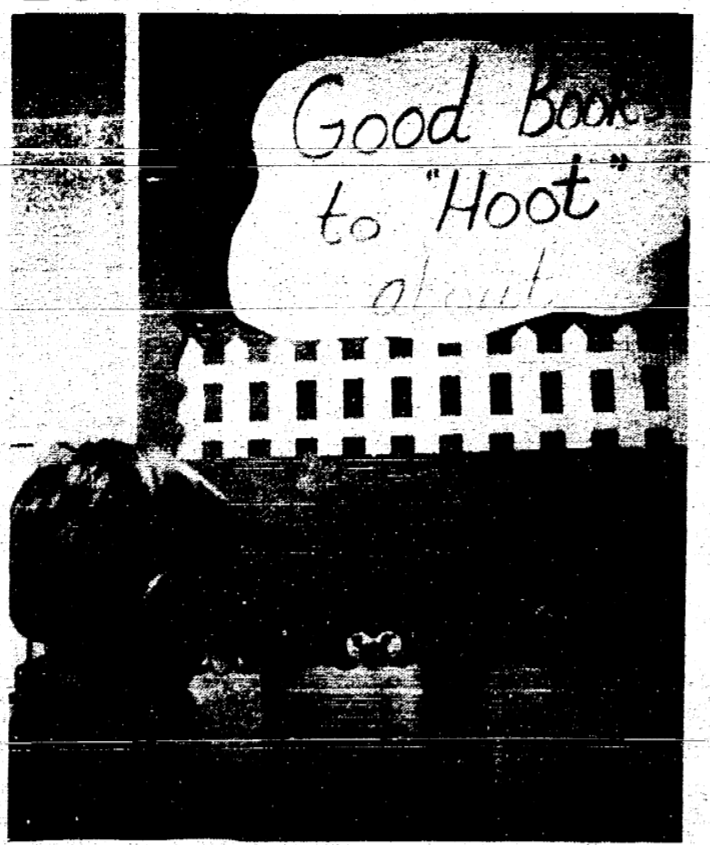

This ornate catalog was addressed to me by name, followed by the admonition "or Current Occupant". On the catalog cover it says "price $1.00" but I'll bet like ours, it came free. The first item listed on the first page of the catalog tells of the wall-hanging for your door or wall - which brings the spirit of Christmas to your home - but I for one can't quite become saturated with the Christmas spirit in September. According to reports the number of folks who are being driven over the wall by the stresses of Christmas increases each year and I wouldn't be surprised to learn that someone is suing a catalog company that has been putting pressure on them for several months before Christmas.

There's a sinister aspect about this July-to-December pitch for Christmas and the January-to-April or so pitch for the flowers and seeds. Psychologists tell us that many shoppers are afflicted with the "compulsive shopper" syndrome. These poor afflicted folks are given an excuse for their guilt. They appeal to American greed and to those of us who will set the moment they receive a catalog and who succumb to the phrase "call free and charge to your major credit card."

Books To "Hoot About"

SPECIAL ELECTION VOTE ON THE FUTURE OF YOUR COMMUNITY

DATE: DECEMBER 9, 1986

Re: New Treatment Plant and Public Works

DECEMBER 9th You Can Make A Difference

WASTEWATER TREATMENT FACILITIES
FACILITIES PLAN AMENDMENT
RESPONSIVENESS SUMMARY TO COMMONLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Question: What has prompted the need for improvements at the Village Wastewater treatment plant?

Answer: The Federal Clean Water Act requires all communities to be in compliance with their NPDES permit on or before July 1, 1986. The MDR issued new permit limits for the Village in November 1985 requiring a greater level of treatment performance. The existing Village wastewater treatment plant is not capable of meeting the new performance standards and therefore modifications or improvements to the treatment facility are required.

Question: What is the purpose of Phase I Sewer System Improvement?

Answer: The Phase I Sewer System Improvements are intended to remove dry weather inflow sources, reduce the frequency of combined sewer overflows and to reduce potential basement flooding in certain areas of the Village. The improvements will also provide a separation of storm and sanitary sewage flows to relieve surcharging conditions of existing major interceptor sewers.

Question: Will additional improvements to the wastewater collection system be required in the future?

Answer: Combined sewer overflow control will be required based on recent action by the Water Resources Commission. The combined sewer overflow control policy would require primary treatment and disinfection of combined sewer overflows as a minimum level of treatment. As a result, future sewer separation projects are being proposed for the Village to limit combined sewer overflows to wet weather conditions greater than a 10 year frequency event. The timetable for these future sewer separation projects will be developed in the near future following receipt of an implementation plan from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Question: What improvements and modifications are proposed for the wastewater treatment facility?

Answer: The sequencing batch reactor process, an innovative biological treatment system, is proposed to replace the existing trickling filter biological treatment process. The SBR system offers advanced wastewater treatment capabilities, processes lower annual operating costs, and provides convenient expansion to accommodate future growth within the Village. Other improvements include final effluent dechlorination and additional sludge storage volume to accommodate a land application program for sludge residuals. The improvement program has maximized the use of existing facilities to reduce improvement costs and to optimize space requirements on the existing treatment plant site.

Question: What is the proposed schedule for Phase I wastewater collection and treatment system improvements?

Answer: Phase I sewer system improvements will be under construction in August 1986 with improvements operational by September 30, 1986, with final site restoration expected by November 1986. An EPA construction grant offer is expected for wastewater treatment facility improvements after October 1st, 1986. Treatment facility improvements would be initiated in March 1987 with liquid treatment systems operational in June 1988. Compliance with the new NPDES permit limits would be accomplished by July 1, 1988. Sludge handling improvements and final site restoration would be completed in September 1988.

Question: What are the expected user costs for a typical homeowner on a monthly basis?

Answer: Currently a typical homeowner's monthly cost for sewage service is approximately $10.00. Without grant assistance a typical homeowner would pay approximately $39.00 per month upon completing the proposed improvements. With an optimum level of grant funding, a typical homeowner charge would be approximately $27.00 per month.

Question: Will Township residents be expected to pay a higher user charge than Village customers?

Answer: All user costs will be based on the quantity of wastewater generated. User wastewater flows will be estimated based on metered water use. Ad valorem tax may be levied on Village properties as part of the improvement financing plan. Township customers would therefore be subject to a multiplier factor to account for this difference. All customers, however, would be charged an equivalent value per unit of wastewater flow.

Question: Has future growth been considered in developing improvement plans?

Answer: A limited amount of growth has been factored into the improvement program. Removal of existing dry weather inflow sources would enable approximately 240 residential equivalents to connect into the system. This provision would enable currently planned developments to proceed. An annual growth rate of 2% is also anticipated in the improvement design. The implementation of future sewer separation projects will also offer the potential for future growth.

Question: Has the service into the Township been considered in the improvement plan?

Answer: The improvement plans do not consider extension into the Township beyond current service area limits. Should Township residents request public sewer service in the future, the Township would be required to petition the Village and request such service.

Chelsea Community Hospital will be serving a traditional Thanksgiving menu on Thursday, November 27. Roast turkey with stuffing, cranberry sauce and a pumpkin pie will be included in the delicious menu planned for the day. While no one enjoys the thought of being in the hospital on Thanksgiving, patients may be cheered by the hospital's invitation to have them invite a guest for the noon meal, free of charge.
The noon meal is served between 11:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Staff, as well, will be invited to enjoy a meal free of charge if working that day. To everyone from Chelsea Community Hospital - Happy Thanksgiving!!

Ginny Schwab at 12:30 p.m. Please call in your name ahead, so she may plan.

Claire Reck reminds us that the bonus point cannister is back again at the IGA Store. There are also cannisters at the Fellowship Hall of Emanuel Church and at the Center for depositing Bill Knapp's bonus points. You may also give them to a Senior Citizen Council member.

Jan Barbour requests that you bring in any Schwan ice cream pails that you may have when you come to meals, as there is a shortage of them at present. You may drop them off on Tuesdays or Thursdays when she is preparing our senior meals. Thanks.
Looking ahead - Don't forget the meeting of 'Futuring of Manchester' on Saturday, December 6.

A shopping trip to Jackson is planned for Monday, December 8, leaving the Center at 9:00 a.m.
Nearly forgot December 4th's (Thursday) activities - Exercise at 11:00, lemon baked fish at noon and bingo. Anyone 55 or older is invited to Senior Citizens luncheon on Tuesday and Thursday at noon. Between 40 and 50 area folks have been enjoying the nutritious and attractive meals each serving day. Do come and join them at Emanuel's dining room.

1942 Michigan-Built Ford Jeep Donated

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin is in the 1942 Ford jeep donated by Ken Stevens, left, and his son Craig (right) to the Michigan Historical Museum. The jeep will greet visitors to the "Arsenal of Democracy" exhibit in the new Michigan Heritage Center when it opens in 1988. The $43-million structure, three blocks west of the State Capitol, will house the State Historical Museum, Archives and Library.

A 1942 Michigan-built Ford jeep is the first major item from a long wish list of artifacts donated to the Michigan Historical Museum for use in the Michigan Heritage Center, a $43 million state library-archives-museum structure under construction three blocks west of the State Capitol in Lansing.

The Ford jeep, donated by Ken Stevens of Grand Rapids and his son Craig, was built when Michigan factories were converted during World War II to support the war effort. The jeep will greet visitors to the "Arsenal of Democracy" exhibit in the Heritage Center when it opens in 1988.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin who accepted the jeep from the Stevens family said, "The new museum will be filled with historical proof of how Michigan residents have overcome adversity with hard work and ingenuity."

"The jeep is not just a product of war but is symbolic of what the people of Michigan can do," said Austin who is the state's chief historian.

The Stevens purchased the Ford jeep in 1966 as a recreational vehicle. "It was in rough shape," said Ken Stevens. "Then, as we started to fix it up, we thought we would restore it to its original World War II condition."

Through the late 1960s and early 70s, the pair searched for authentic Ford replacement parts and spent hours restoring the vehicle to 1942 Ford specifications.

"I still can't believe its going to be a museum piece," said Craig Stevens, now an aerospace engineer in Colorado.

As a Sesquicentennial project, the Michigan National Guard will do further restoration of the jeep including the addition of authentic World War II military markings.

Many other artifacts are being sought as the Michigan Historical Museum staff attempts to fill in the blanks of Michigan's past. Among the artifacts sought are the nose section of a Ford-built B-24 Liberator bomber; a pre-Civil War farm plough; an early 1900's gasoline motor of the type used in shops and factories; a 1909-1910 "Model T" Ford and a 1927 Packard or LaSalle; World War II "K-rations" from either Kellogg or Gerber foods; and items from the Michigan Suffragette movement, such as dresses, sashes, banners or posters.

Contributions to the Michigan Historical Museum can be claimed as tax deductions. Persons cleaning out a garage, barn or attic who wish to make a contribution of historic artifacts should contact the Michigan Department of State, Bureau of History, Lansing, MI 48918 or call 517-373-1904. Financial contributions to help fund exhibits in the new 27,000-square foot museum can be sent to the Michigan Department of State, Executive Office, Lansing, MI 48918.

Disaster Payment Rules Announced

Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng late last week announced preliminary provisions for recently enacted 1986 disaster payments for farmers. Robert Craig, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's Commodity Activities and Research Department, said that in the case of wheat and feed grains, only those farmers who participated in the 1986 production adjustment program for the crops are eligible for the disaster payments.

"Non-program crops must have suffered losses from natural disasters sufficient to create economic emergency for the producer," he said. "Producers who request relief for non-program crops will be required to furnish acreage and production reports on forms provided by their local ASCS offices."

Disaster payments will be computed on the basis of 50% of the disaster payment yield multiplied by the eligible acreage, minus the actual 1985 production, then multiplied by the payment rate.

Payment rates will be the county loan rate of program crops and average market prices for crops without loan rates. Payments will be in generic commodity certificates and will be limited to $100,000 for program crops and $100,000 for non-program crops.

First Thanksgiving

Digestion was facilitated by copious drafts of ale, if it could be had, from a single large pewter or wooden tankard, which has passed around from one to another at the table, after the fashion of the modern loving cup.

The household environment of these early Boston martyrs who had come 3,000 miles into the savage wilderness, to escape persecution, was as rude and as simple as their bill of fare.

Household furniture there was practically none, save a table of rough boards or planks, and enough three-legged stools to accommodate the members of the family. There were tablecloths of very coarse linen, but neither table knives nor forks, the fingers and spoons of either wood or iron meeting all the requirements of the then prevailing table etiquette; china was unknown, and as tea and coffee had never been heard of, the cream pitcher and the sugar bowl were not needed. Trenchers, used for plates or platters, were made by scooping out a hollow in a piece of plank, about 10 or 12 inches square.

For sixty or seventy years, if not longer, the religious phase of Thanksgiving differed in no appreciable way from Sunday, from six to seven hours having been spent in church, divided between forenoon and afternoon. It is evident that in those days the dinner must have been decidedly a minor affair. It was not till 1721 that the afternoon service was abolished, against a vigorous protest from some of the church members, although the change was brought about by fear of the smallpox, then prevalent in the

A third Thanksgiving was observed in the Massachusetts colony Nov. 11, 1621, to express the popular joy at the arrival of Gov. Winthrop's wife and another shipload of provisions from the old country. Whatever may have been the bill of fare of the average Boston family on that day, one family, at least, must have enjoyed a bountiful and variegated dinner, for the country people who poured into Boston on the arrival of the ship, a few days before Thanksgiving, were overwhelmed the governor and his wife with gifts of fat hogs, kids, poultry, venison and other kinds of game.

During the succeeding years there appears to have been Thanksgiving about once in two years, and appointed to mark some specific or remarkable event, as a victory in the Indian wars, or a happy solution of some troublesome problem, either religious or political. During all those years, and for many afterward, fast days were even more numerous than Thanksgivings, because the trials of the Puritans far exceeded their blessings.

In some instances there were several differences between the general court, which then appointed Thanksgivings, the magistrates and the ministers—for the latter always advised in the matter—as to which was proper for the occasion, a thanksgiving or a feast. It is to be noted that the custom of appointing a Thanksgiving simply as an annual custom, and without regard to any specific or important occasion was almost unknown until well into the last century and was never habitual till within the last thirty years.

Indeed, the theory was advanced more than 200 years ago that a too frequent observance of Thanksgiving, and for insufficient cause, tended to make men "Too carnal-minded".

A printed proclamation of that Thanksgiving, the earliest broadside of its kind known to be in existence now, is in the library of the Massachusetts historical society.

The general tone of the composition reminds one of another Thanksgiving, some years later which was observed only in Boston, for the purpose of thanking heaven for sparing Boston, while Charlestown, across the river, was threatened with depopulation by the yellow fever.

A Boston menu of this period which is in striking contrast with the early dinner of corned beef and mush, enumerates roast beef, turkey pie, boiled pork, fowls and tarts.

Plymouth, which was not yet united to the Massachusetts colony, had its Thanksgiving that year Aug. 17, five days after the killing of King Philip in Rhode Island, and it so happened that Major Church and his little band of heroes arrived in Plymouth just at the close of Thanksgiving forenoon services, bringing the great chief's head, which was borne by the major's Indian guide, who had him shoot Philip.

The first federal government pension was established in 1776 to assist wounded and disabled Revolutionary soldiers.

The Poinsettia — A Seasonal Treasure To Last All Year

That exquisite poinsettia you give or receive each Christmas — the one that doesn't come with care instructions — doesn't need to shrivel up and die weeks into the new year. With a bit of knowledge and a little care, this year's gift poinsettia can last for many holiday seasons to come.

A Little Knowledge

The most colorful part of the poinsettia is its leaves. While small flowers do bloom at the base of the plant's uppermost leaves, the poinsettia's brilliant red, pink or white coloring is actually a result of the amount of darkness, not light, the plant receives during the fall and early winter.

A Little Care

The first step to insure a long, healthy life for your poinsettia after the holiday season ends is to place it in a light, cool area, away from radiators and home appliances that generate heat. The soil should be moist, but not soaked, and should be allowed to dry completely between waterings. And be sure to remove the decorative foil from the outside of the pot as soon as possible after the holidays.

Time To Repot

While they will flourish well through the holidays, most poinsettias are potted for greenhouse conditions, not the home environment. So take a tip from the home gardening expert at Garden Scene, and be sure to repot your poinsettia before the end of the winter.

When you repot, be wise. Select a planter that is versatile enough to adapt to any room decor and durable enough to withstand outdoor conditions during the summer.

Garden Scene plastic planters are made to endure all seasons — indoors and out. Available in most flower shops, grocery stores, discount and general merchandise outlets, Garden Scene planters come in a wide variety of colors, shapes and sizes to accent any room decor.

What To Expect As Seasons Change

By April, your poinsettia's leaves will begin to wilt and drop. Keep it in a cool place and let the plant dry out. Water only enough to keep the stems moist.

By May, the ideal time to repot your other house plants, cut the poinsettia stems to 4-6 inches and place the plant in a bright window or outdoors when frost danger ends.

By mid-summer, new shoots will develop. Pinch off the shoot tips. And in late August, to keep the plant from growing too tall, pinch off side shoots as well, leaving about 3-4 leaves on each shoot.

Back Indoors For The Holidays

In early fall, when night temperatures begin to fall below 60, bring the plant indoors. From early October to late November, keep the plant in complete darkness from nightfall to sunrise. This darkness will bring out the plant's brilliant leaf colors — just in time for next year's holiday season.

Be Careful How You Plow Your Snow!

Property owners piling snow high along roadways and shoulders or pushing it into or across the street can cause hazardous conditions for motorists, and the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) warns that it's also against the law.

State law prohibits businesses and citizens from dumping snow on roadways and shoulders or piling it so high at driveway entrances that it obstructs the vision of motorists.

The department recommends residents keep the shoulder in front of their driveways clear and also clear snow for a short distance from the driveway in the direction of approaching traffic.

"That way the view of a motorist entering the roadway from a driveway is not obstructed," explained Maurice E. Witteveen, MDOT's chief of maintenance.

"When clearing your driveway," he said, "push the snow away from the roadway and to the sides of the driveway for its full length and the problem of the high snow banks blocking a driver's view will be eliminated."

Witteveen said large businesses should make special arrangements ahead of time to remove snow from their driveway entrances and driveways. In some cases it may be necessary to truck snow away from parking facilities.

Violators leave themselves open to fines and lawsuits for public liability and property damage. For a charge to be filed, a police officer must witness the violation or a citizen must file a complaint.

All property owners and persons hired to remove snow are responsible for maintaining safe traffic conditions and preventing careless snow-removal techniques.

New Tax Brackets: Where Will You Stand In The Future

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants)

Gone are the days of the 50 percent tax bracket now that the tax reform act of 1986 has been passed. Also gone are the 15 separate brackets in which taxpayers calculate their tax.

But, figuring out your tax return for the next few years is not going to be as simple as Uncle Sam would like you to believe, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs.

By now, you have probably heard that there will only be two tax rates under the new tax reform act. What you may not know is those tax rates are really four and don't go into effect until 1988. Understanding these rates and when they go into effect is the key to understanding the tax reform act.

Your 1986 tax return will still be subject to the current tax law, including 15 brackets and all the deductions you are accustomed to. But, 1987 will be the beginning of the end.

The writers of the tax reform act decided to make 1987 a transitional year between the old and new laws. While the tax rates you will be using to calculate your taxes next year will drop slightly, many of the deductions will be eliminated. The result is that many taxpayers may only feel a slight decrease in their total tax, if any.

The 1987 tax rate schedule will have five brackets: 11 percent, 15 percent, 28 percent, 35 percent and 38.5 percent. Married couples who have taxable incomes of more than $90,000 and single individuals who have taxable incomes of more than $54,000 will be calculating their taxes in the highest bracket. In 1988, they will be calculating them in a range of 42 percent to 50 percent. Married couples who have taxable incomes of less than $3,000 and single individuals who have taxable incomes of less than $1,800 will calculate their taxes in the lowest bracket, fairly close to where they are now. But, those in the middle income brackets will feel little, if any effect at all, because many will stay in the same tax bracket while losing many of their favorite deductions and exemptions.

One of the most positive effects of this legislation is its ability to remove more than six million working poor from the tax rolls. By increasing both the personal exemption and the standard deduction, those taxpayers in the lowest brackets will be able to eliminate their tax liability.

In 1988, the rate schedule will have two effective tax rates: 15 percent and 28 percent. But there is more to it than meets the eye.

Taxpayers in higher income brackets will have to pay an additional 5 percent marginal tax on income that exceeds a certain level and those in the highest income brackets will calculate their income taxes differently than those in the lower brackets.

The 15 percent tax rate applies to all taxable income of married couples up to $29,750; to all taxable income of single individuals up to $17,850; and to all taxable income heads of households up to $23,900.

The 28 percent tax rate applies to all taxable income of married couples making more than $29,750 but less than $71,900; to all taxable income of single individuals making more than $17,850 but less than $43,150; and to all taxable income of heads of households making more than $23,900 but less than $61,850. Taxpayers in this bracket will pay 15 percent on taxable income below these levels and then 28 percent on the remaining taxable income. Taxpayers with adjusted gross income exceeding these limits will lose the benefit of the 15 percent tax bracket and will pay an extra five percent on their taxable income, placing them in the 33 percent "marginal tax" bracket.

Once the taxable income of each of the three taxpaying groups reaches a certain level, it is taxed at a flat rate of 28 percent, the fourth bracket. This applies to single individuals with taxable income above $39,500; married couples with taxable income above $149,250; and heads of households with taxable income above $123,790 exclusive of the rate adjustment due to personal exemptions.

Taxpayers with incomes between the top of the 28 percent effective tax bracket and the starting point for the 28 percent flat tax rate will be taxed at the 33 percent marginal tax rate.

This will apply to single individuals with taxable income between $43,150 and $39,500; to married couples with taxable income between $71,900 and $149,250; and to heads of households with taxable income between $61,850 and $123,790. The additional 5 percent in taxes effectively eliminates the 15 percent bracket for these taxpayers.

Let me give you an example.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have a taxable income of $100,000. On the first $29,750 of that taxable income they will pay 15 percent in taxes ($4,462.50). On the taxable income above $29,750 up to $71,900, they will pay 28 percent in taxes ($11,802). The remaining $28,100 in income will be taxed at 33 percent ($9,273). Overall, they paid $25,537.50 in taxes which actually works out to 25.5 percent. If the Smiths had reached a taxable income of $149,250, they would have paid a flat 28 percent on all of it.

No one said tax reform would be easy! All of this is enough to make your head swim. But, CPAs advise that by carefully reviewing your own financial situation with professional assistance, you should be able to tread water and eventually learn how to swim with the waves of the new tax reform law.

Is YOUR IRA DEDUCTION VANISHING?

Beginning in 1987, persons covered by another qualified retirement plan will have their IRA deduction eliminated or severely reduced. Most wage earners, however, can deduct the full legal amount of their 1986 IRA contribution from their current federal tax return. Talk to Great Lakes Federal Savings about your 1986 IRA contribution. Visit your nearest branch, or open your IRA the easy way, by calling 1-800-DIAL-GLF. It's safe, sure and your earnings will continue to grow tax-sheltered. But hurry. Your IRA deduction may vanish soon.

R LET'S ALL GIVE THANKS!

Many years ago the first settlers on this continent joined with the native Indians to give their thanks for the harvest of food which they shared. They also gave thanks for just being alive although disease and lack of medicines were common occurrences.

Today, most of the diseases that were prevalent at that time have been conquered and it would certainly be appropriate as we continue the tradition of Thanksgiving to express our gratitude for the good health we enjoy. It would also be appropriate for us to express our thanks to all of you for giving us the opportunity and responsibility of taking care of your pharmacy needs.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty. May we be your personal family pharmacy?"
