Manchester's Teacher of the Year

At Monday's Board of Education meeting, Middle School Math/Computer teacher, John McGuire was selected Teacher of the Year for the entire Manchester District.

Mr. McGuire was nominated by Rod Morrison, Middle School Principal, and portions of his nomination included the following excerpts:

In the classroom, Mr. McGuire places the needs of his students first and has developed a positive and warm relationship with them. He treats his students with dignity and is sensitive to their individual needs. Mr. McGuire is respected and admired by the entire student body, not just those in his classes. He is fair and consistent in directing daily activities which lends itself to excellent classroom management.

During the delivery at instruction, Mr. McGuire exhibits enthusiasm and a unique ability to convey difficult concepts. His lessons are highly organized, evidence of extensive planning and preparation. He attempts to make every student feel successful in their classroom experiences while providing positive reinforcement for good behaviour and achievement.

Mr. McGuire does not hesitate to put in "extra hours" for the school and community. A great deal of effort has gone into an integral part of that development. You will often find him after school hours assisting students in computer programming, word processing, etc. Computers are his forte and he is recognized as a leader in the computer education field. John is devoted to transferring this knowledge to his

Respect for Law Week

RESPECT FOR LAW WEEK was celebrated by the Manchester Optimist Club on Monday, May 12, 1986. Featured speaker was Sergeant Chris Spork of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, who recently has had major supervision of Manchester's police protection. Pictured are County Sheriff Ron Shiebel, Sgt. Chris Spork, and Optimist Club host for the evening, Mr. Mark VanBogelen.

Manchester High School Election Monday, June 9th

On Tuesday, evening, May 27, 1986, over 100 Manchester High School students were honored at an "Awards Program" conducted in the high school study auditorium. The Master of Ceremonies for the program was Senior Class President, Cheri Verhines, who introduced over 20 people who presented the various awards. These awards included Presidential Academic Fitness Award, Perfect Attendance Awards, National Honor Society Stoles, United States Marine Corp Distinguished Athlete Award, The Army Reserve National Scholar-Athletic Awards, Various Art Awards, Academic All-Conference Awards, Academic A/B Awards, Band Awards, Departmental Awards, Vocational Educational Awards, and finally the Salutatorian and Valedictorian Medals.

Unfortunately, there were two oversights in the awards program. Steven Samonek, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Samonek, of Lamb Road, should have received the A/B Honor Award, signifying that he earned all A's and B's during his Freshman year. The other oversight involved Heidi Haselschwerdt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Haselschwerdt of Chelsea Road. Heidi should have received a Perfect Attendance Award for not having missed a day of school for the 1985-86 school year. This is Heidi's third consecutive Perfect Attendance Award.

One of the most dramatic awards was presented by High School Counselor Richard Parson to the recipient of the Washtenaw Community College Scholarship. The recipient, Andrea Vassoff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Vassoff of Bethel Church Road was not aware until the announcement was made that she had won this scholarship.

In summary, the students, parents, and community of Manchester should feel proud of the many honors and awards our students have earned this school year. They have continued to display excellence in their academic achievements.

The annual school election will be held Monday, June 9, 1986 at the Manchester High School. The polls will be open from 7 A.M. until 8 P.M. Voters will be asked to vote on the following millage proposals as well as electing two new members for the Board of Education. Don't forget to vote!!

Senior Art Student Wins Gift Certificate

The variety, quality, and volume of Andrea Vassoff's work impressed the judge of this year's exhibition of Manchester High School senior art student portfolios. The body of work was displayed at the school's annual Spring Arts Festival, May 14. The Manchester Art Guild, sponsors of the annual award, presented Vassoff with a fifty dollar gift certificate for art supplies during the Awards Ceremony Tuesday evening, May 27.

Ms. Vassoff's artwork included a large amount of weavings and spun yarn in addition to drawings, paintings, and a furnished doll house. Carrying some of these skills outside of school, she has

I drove down Manchester's Main Street (formerly for many years known as Exchange Place) not long ago and parked in front of the Sutton Insurance office which was formerly The People's Bank (until the depression of 1929-32) and then looked at the first building west of there and remembered that for a great many years it was the busiest place in town - The Post Office - and then my gaze traveled to the next store building to the west which for many years was the home of "Pete" Johnson's Candy Kitchen and which was for a long time the social center for the teenagers of the thirties and forties. As I gazed at the stairway which ascended to the second floor just west of the Post Office my memory went back to the days when Bob Merithew had an insurance and real estate office on the second floor above the Candy Kitchen.

Bob and greatly enjoyed his company. In a corner of this office there was an old desk and chair which was the property of Bob's father Frank, who was known far and wide as the area's foremost auctioneer. For a long time anyone who had an auction in the Manchester area had Frank as their auctioneer and his jovial manner and wide knowledge of the area assured the success of a sale. However, Frank finally was unable to stand the rigors of the

Local Red Cross Launches $1 Million Capital Campaign

The Washtenaw County Chapter of the American Red Cross will launch a $1.1 million capital campaign this spring to expand and renovate its 25-year-old facility on Packard Road in Ann Arbor. This announcement was made by David McAllister, local Red Cross board member and chairman of the chapter's Facilities Research and Development Committee, at the Red Cross annual meeting on Wednesday, May 21.

"This is the first capital campaign our chapter has conducted since 1961. We have tripled the amount of services and number of people we have served in the past two decades. Our volunteer force has grown to more than 2,500. To keep up with the community's demands and meet the future needs of Washtenaw County, we must expand our facility," announced McAllister to the more than 100 members gathered at the annual meeting held at the Campfire Restaurant in Milan.

Called the Leadership Fund, this capital campaign will provide the finances to add a new community services center to the current site. The addition will triple the amount of education classroom space and provide working area for the chapter's growing volunteer staff. The new center will also include interview rooms for Red Cross representatives to meet with disaster victims and other clients in a private setting. A supervised child care area is planned which can be used by volunteers, blood donors and clients.

Other features in the expansion include new radio broadcast facilities and communications tower, a retail store for educational supplies, a library of self-help and health-related materials, a printing and duplicating area, volunteer lounge, and shelter for emergency vehicles. The current Red Cross building will be renovated to be used as an administrative and teaching wing of the new center.

The local Red Cross chapter has been designated a Key Resource Chapter by the American Red Cross, an honor which puts it in the top 10 percent of all chapters in the nation. Last year it provided 64 first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) certificates for every 1,000 residents. The national average is 22. The local Red Cross, a participating chapter with the Southeastern Michigan Blood Region, provides 100 percent of the blood supply to Washtenaw County. In total, the Red Cross touches the lives of more than 100,000 area residents.

Comparing Red Cross statistics from the early 1960's to the present shows the need to expand its facilities. From 1961 to 1985, the number of Red Cross volunteers has increased from 1,350 to 2,500 and the total number of volunteer hours worked has gone from 35,238 to more than 100,000. In 1961, 3,480 residents received Red Cross certificates in first aid and swimming. In 1985, more than 22,000 certificates were granted. Units of blood annually collected by the Red Cross has grown from 3,867 to 31,000 in the past 25 years.

Two local firms have been hired to develop the community services center. Anderson Jacobs Architects have designed the renovation and addition. O'Neal Construction will build the center.

Campaign co-chairmen for the Leadership Fund are Doug Ziesemer, president of Gallup-Silkworth, Inc., and Robert M.

This rendering shows the exterior of the renovated and expanded Red Cross building on Packard Road in Ann Arbor. Construction will begin in the summer of 1987.

Harrison, Washtenaw County Community Services Center is absolutely necessary to meet the increasing demand for educational, health-related and emergency relief services the Red Cross provides. It will meet the needs of Washtenaw County residents through the twenty-first century."

Concluding his remarks, McAllister stated, "This new interest rate list." A "no annual fee list" is also available for $1.95, which tells you which institutions are not charging these fees.

Tips For Credit Card Users

Debit cards have hit the American scene.

If you strung every credit card that Americans own back to back, they would stretch one and a half times around the world. More than 700 million credit cards have been issued by card companies, banks, savings and loans (S&Ls) and retail stores. Each year Americans seem to get a bigger charge out of using their credit cards. Here are some tips from the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants on how consumers can use credit cards to their advantage.

Rates are dropping. Competition is forcing some banks to lower their interest charges. Many consumers who are unhappy paying rates of 18 percent or more on some cards are seeking lower rates from out-of-state institutions. While some institutions say they are fearful of granting cards to out-of-state customers because bills may be harder to collect, other institutions are issuing cards to consumers in all parts of the country. Some of these banks are charging as little as 12.5 percent and do not charge an annual fee for their cards. For a list of banks offering the lowest finance charges, send a $1.00 check or money order to BankCard Holders of America, 333 Pennsylvania Ave., S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003. Request their "low your checking account ledger yourself. If you're not a responsible record keeper, you could wind up bouncing some checks.

Fraud can be minimized. There is no sure way to keep a crook from getting your name and charge account number because the average card is used hundreds of times a year either for charges or for identification. Each time, a paper trail is left behind. But here are a few ways to minimize chances of fraud artists using your account.

First, be sure that when tearing off your copy of the multilayered invoice, you take your carbon papers and tear them up. These carbons, often found in the trash, are as good to a counterfeiter as if he had your credit card himself.

Second, keep an eye on your card when you give it to sales people. Be certain they use it for your transaction only, and then be sure the card you receive back is yours. A dishonest employee can easily slip you a stolen or expired card if you're not checking.

Third, never give out your account number unless you are actually making a purchase. Don't believe that a phone or a mail solicitor needs your number simply to qualify you for a mailing, a contest or a prize.

Fourth, examine your monthly bill carefully. A surprising number of heavy card users unwittingly pay charges they haven't even authorized. If you report unauthorized charges promptly to the card issuer, it's not likely you'll be charged the $50 per card maximum liability.

While trends in the use of credit cards continue to change the way Americans use plastic currency, credit cards will probably continue to grow in popularity.

students. Recently, Mr. McGuire entered a team of computer students in the Lenawee Co. computer competition. This team, under his direction, placed second and brought home several medals, a credit to their "coach".

Mr. McGuire has assisted with the middle school newspaper and newsletters; offering suggestions, designing layouts and, of course, processing it with the computer. He is currently working with the P.A.C.E. committee, acting as a resource person and assisting in the storage of data, etc. His contributions to school and community are always of high quality. John is the type of person you can count on to get the job done.

Congratulations to John McGuire for his dedication to the youth of Manchester.

Letter to the Editor

I am writing to pay tribute to a dear lady who passed away recently, Mrs. Orville (Louise) Way. I was a child growing up in Manchester in the 1930's and was greatly affected by her wisdom. Most of us at that time lived very sheltered lives in what I call our "marshmallow world". We spent our time pretty much within the confines of Manchester and everything centered around the town's activities. Jackson, Ann Arbor, or Detroit seemed far away. Life in the "home town" in the 30's would be a good background for a book all in itself. However, I am writing about Mrs. Way. She was a wife and mother way ahead of her time. Her children - six sons and a daughter - were her very life, and she tended to them well. For them she and her husband set long term goals, realizing there was a big world away from home into which they would enter. They worked hard at the family bakery and their earnings were put away for college. They attended St. Mary's Church regularly, applied themselves well at school and learned life's social graces. To assist in this they were taken to Jackson weekly for elocution lessons. Upon graduating from high school, during which time most of them played in the band, in sports and other school activities, each was ready for the world beyond our little town. All of them have gone perhaps even beyond their parents' expectations.

Without meaning to detract from my own parents' loving care of me, I would say that people like Mrs. Way, Nellie Ackerson, Marion Dammon and a host of others back in those earlier days, certainly enriched our lives. They provided us with those special incentives we needed to achieve our own life's goals.

The Way family has lost a mother and a friend. Those of us who knew her also mourn her passing.

Sincerely,
Virginia (Kulenkamp) Proctor

Budget Battles: Taking the Easy Way Out?

Last week's U.S. House of Representatives vote on a Fiscal 1987 budget could result in a higher tax bill for most Americans.

By a vote of 245 to 179 on Thursday, (May 15), the House approved a $998.7 billion budget written by the Democrat-controlled House Budget Committee.

Congressman Carl D. Pursell voted against the Budget Committee plan and opted for a budget introduced by the Republican leadership.

In comments made on the House floor, Pursell said the House Republican budget was the best option because it offered "lower taxes, a moderate number in defense and a reasonable freeze in discretionary programs, along with some terminations."

The Budget Committee bill calls for some $54 billion in new revenues over the next three years, opposed to the GOP plan which calls for only $22.2 billion over three years.

In defense spending, the Budget Committee bill calls for $276.2 billion in Fiscal '87 - almost $6 billion less than the Senate-passed budget plan. The House GOP plan, which Pursell supported, calls for $280 billion.

"Unfortunately the members who drafted the Budget Committee plan failed to understand the point of our earlier-passed deficit reduction legislation (Gramm-Rudman)," Pursell said.

"The purpose of that bill was to force Congress into taking deliberate actions which will reduce spending. Instead, the committee bill relies on increased taxes to achieve its deficit reduction."

"By taking this approach, the Budget Committee failed to consider funding reductions on a program-by-program basis. On the other hand, the GOP plan calls for varying levels of spending reduction, based on each program's importance and need," he said.

"House GOP members invested a considerable amount of time and effort to achieve program revisions that don't just go through the forest with a broad-axe but rather selectively cut here and there, with an eye towards what can be cut without harming our basic role and with preserving programs that contribute to this nation's growth," he said.

The next step in the federal budget process is a conference between the House and Senate to hammer out differences in the House-passed and Senate-passed budgets.

"Because the House GOP plan - which I helped draft - falls between the House and Senate approved plans, I would expect it to become the basis of the compromise to be reached in conference," Pursell said.

Michigan's Teacher of the Year Visits Klager

Friday, May 30, was a big day at Klager School. It was the last day of Young Author's Week at Klager School. Using the theme IMAGINATION CELEBRATION each student in Klager became an author and wrote a book which they shared with their classmates. The final event of the week was a balloon launch on the playground at 2:30 on Friday. Each balloon carried the child's name and favorite author, favorite book and a request that the finder contact Klager School.

The 1985-86 Michigan Teacher of the Year, Jacquelyn Sweetner Caffey, was the guest of honor at Klager's Celebration. She shared with the children some of her books and talked about her experiences as an author.

In the May 1986 "Good Housekeeping" magazine, she was quoted as saying: "We in America are so lucky," Jackie enthuses. "Every child has a teacher."

She has found that one of the best ways to teach children to read is to get them to write - about their families or whatever subject fascinates them.

"To keep my students interested in writing, I have to write too," she says.

Her advice to Klager students was to keep a journal and to write in it everyday.

Energetic, enthusiastic and positive Mrs. Caffey's message was perfect for Manchester's Young Authors'.

Clinton Library Support Group To Meet June 12

A meeting to discuss establishing a support group for the Clinton Township Library will be held at 7:00 p.m. at 11691

Hogan Road, Clinton, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Fish. Built around 1832, the house is one of the oldest in the area.

"Friends of the Library" organizations exist throughout the country and are a source of funding and community support for libraries. Because of the cramped space in the present library, critical decisions about its future will be made soon. There is a growing feeling that a "Friends" organization might offer a source of widespread community support for the library. The Clinton Township Library serves several townships other than Clinton, including Saline, Manchester, Bridgewater, Franklin and Tecumseh. People from all the townships involved are urged to attend. Please call Wanda Fish at 456-4842 to tell her you plan to attend or to express interest in joining the effort to support the library.

Right-To-Know Law

The Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Act (MIOSHA) has been amended to include the new Michigan Right-To-Know Law which is now in effect. Application to various industries will be phased in during the next year.

The Right-To-Know Law immediately requires all chemical manufacturers, importers and distributors to label containers of hazardous chemicals prior to shipment. They must also provide Material Safety Data Sheets (MSDS), which identify the hazardous materials, its chemical characteristics and other information including health effects and necessary protective work measurements.

By May 25, 1986, the law requires all manufacturers of hazardous materials to design a written communication program to safeguard the handling of hazardous materials (physical or chemical) in the workplace. Employers must also make available to their employees MSDS's on each hazardous material on hand, and provide training and informational programs for employees exposed to these materials. Employees are protected from discrimination or discharge resulting from the request for information on hazardous materials which they handle in their workplace, under the Right-To-Know Law.

By February 25, 1987, all employers in Michigan, including non-manufacturing and public employers, will be required to comply with the Right-To-Know provisions listed above.

Both the Michigan Departments of Public Health and Labor will enforce the Right-To-Know Law through activities similar to the enforcement of other MIOSHA rules and practices.

The State Right-To-Know Law will pre-empt the Washtenaw Community Right-To-Know regulations until the State Right-To-Know Law will be renewed or a new one will be passed in its stead. As long as the State Right-To-Know is in effect, the Washtenaw County Community Right-To-Know as a whole will not be enforced.

Renovations Fund More Than Halfway Toward Goal

The campaign to restore and renovate the historic Chelsea Courthouse is over halfway to its financial goal, according to Mark Gistingier, campaign treasurer and local attorney.

Black & Gold lapel pins bearing the courthouse logo are being awarded to donors.

The reconstruction will leave the exterior of the old building virtually intact. At the same time, it will provide a dramatically changed interior which will have room for jury panels, client-attorney conference quarters, more space for service to court patrons and adequate work areas for the court's administrative and clerical staff. Noteworthy architectural changes will be the restoration of plaster adornments, the arched central dome and oak flooring.

The building formerly housed the Chelsea State Bank which donated the structure to the community in 1967.

The list of supporters includes financial institutions, businesses, members of the judiciary, lawyers and citizens.

All gifts to the courthouse are tax deductible. Contributions can

News From State Representative O'Connor

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R-Ann Arbor) voted against the recently adopted state supplemental appropriations package because the bill (SB 129) contained "intolerably frivolous expenditures."

The legislation calls for $129.6

million in spending for a wide range of state projects. The majority of the monies for the projects will be drawn from the state's general fund.

O'Connor opposed the bill because of what she described as $18.6 million of "ridiculous" expenditures.

"The bill had a few strong points such as the $25.2 million for the Department of Corrections but those funds should have been provided for in the state's budget," she said. "This bill is a classic example of pork barrel legislation."

Among the expenditures O'Connor objected to were the allocation of $115,300 for teachers to study Japanese prior to embarking on Japanese exchange programs, $52,000 to restore Gerald Ford's home, $300,000 to promote golf in Northern Michigan, $400,000 for a ski jump or luge run in the Muskegon State Park and $360,000 to cover operating expenses at the Northern Michigan Olympic Training Center. O'Connor said the state has already spent $1.5 million on the training center this year.

Perhaps Governor Blanchard was listening because these are the items he vetoed.

Lawmakers had originally approved $132.9 million in supplemental aid but Governor Blanchard used his line-item veto to kill approximately $3.3 million in spending projects.

"Once again our lawmakers have shown complete disregard for the taxpayers of this state," O'Connor said. "The degree of fiscal irresponsibility demonstrated in this instance is a case study for students of government waste."

Representative O'Connor has compiled a "list of expenditures" which she has targeted for reduction. Anyone interested can write for the list.

Hit or Miss

auction circuit and he retired and shortly afterwards, passed away.

His son, some time after his death, decided that he should eliminate Frank's desk and chair from the office and sadly had it carted away. We went to Bob's office one morning shortly after he had made this decision and remarked that we were saddened by its passing.

There was a small room at the back of the building which we had assumed was used for storage and we found that it was. Bob walked to the door of that room and called to us, "Come here", which we did. We entered the room and he pointed to a fairly large cardboard box sitting in the corner and invited us to inspect it. Stacked in the box were a considerable number of whiskey bottles and picking one up we found that the label read "Rock and Rye", a blend of excellent Canadian Rye Whiskey and pure rock candy.

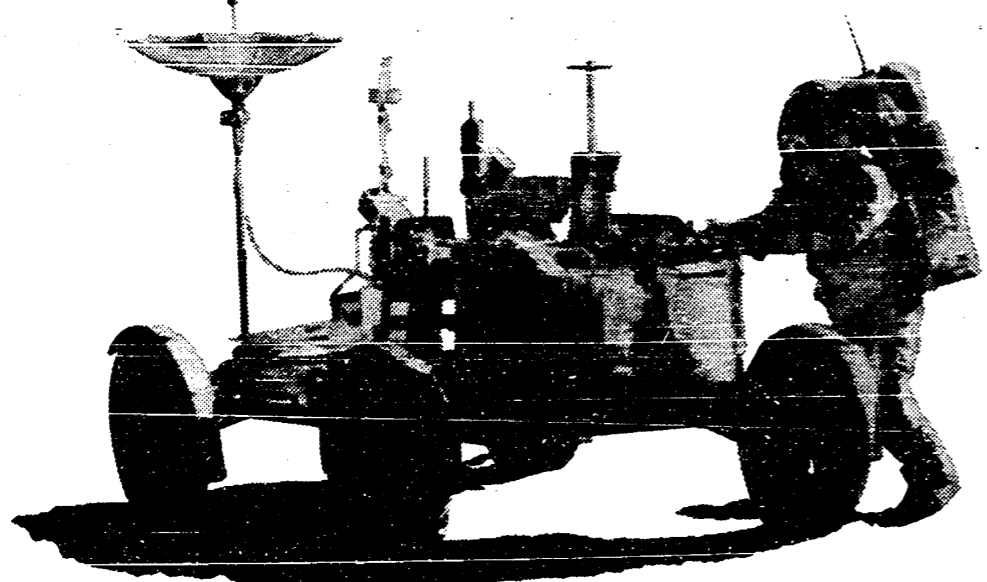

After thinking about it for a short time, we both laughed heartily - pleased to have discovered the secret of Frank's phenomenal success as an auctioneer. No one ever saw Frank when he seemed to be in any way under the influence of the alcoholic content of any of those bottles, but it was very evident that, taken in the proper dose at the right time, this was the secret of Frank Merithew's success as one of the premier auctioneers of this area for many years.

Several years later, Bob Merithew and his wife went down to the Texas - Arkansas border country where he became an insurance and real estate salesman.

Then there is the chap who the other day told me that he and his wife were getting a divorce after many years of storm and strife. He said the kids were now grown and he wanted some peace and quiet and he said that when he and his wife quarreled they always sent the children out for a walk and boy were those children healthy!

Prenatal Poisons

Beginning in 1959 an unusual birth defect began showing up in Europe. Children were being born with no arms or with only flipper-like stumps. In severe cases the legs were similarly affected. The abnormal births continued. What was causing this sudden outbreak of phocomelia? Doctors began to look at the mothers of these children to see what they had in common. By 1961 they had tracked down the cause - thalidomide. Thalidomide was a sleeping pill first marketed by a West German pharmaceutical firm in 1957. To the mothers who took it, it was a mild sedative. To their unborn children, it was a disaster. More than 5,000 thalidomide babies were born in West Germany alone. Thousands more were born in other European countries. Fortunately, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration did not allow thalidomide to be sold in this country.

Thalidomide is a prenatal poison, a teratogen. Teratogens cause birth defects by somehow interfering with normal development. The effects of most teratogens are severe early in pregnancy, when development is taking place very rapidly. Organs are especially sensitive to teratogens at the time they begin to develop. They can also be affected during a later period of rapid development or at the time they begin to function.

How do they interfere? The picture is not completely clear. Some teratogens appear to slow growth by interfering with the making of DNA and RNA. Others cause mutations, changes in genes (DNA) which prevent proper development. It is thought that still others interfere with the functions of enzymes. Many teratogens are known - viruses that cause german measles, mumps, chicken pox and hepatitis; some antibiotics; some tranquilizers; excessive amounts of vitamins A and D; even aspirin. Radiation from radioactive materials and x-rays are also known teratogens.

The defects from a single teratogen can vary. With german measles, for example, blindness from cataracts, deformed hearts, mental retardation, stunted growth, miscarriages and stillbirths have occurred. Radiation exposure can cause retarded growth, mental retardation, spina bifida, clubfoot and severe brain abnormalities. The particular defect depends on what is undergoing development at the time of exposure.

Alcohol, especially in excessive amounts, causes the fetal alcohol syndrome. Babies do not thrive. They are more likely to be mentally retarded or to have heart problems. From one-third to one-half of babies born to chronic alcoholics show some amount of fetal alcohol syndrome.

Smoking does not appear to lead to defects, but it does have some unfavorable effects. Smokers' children are more likely to have low birth weights, slight decreases in IQ, reading ability and math skills, and increased hyperactivity. The heavier the smoker, the greater the effect.

Exposure of a pregnant female to a teratogen does not guarantee her child will have a defect. Most, in fact, will have normal children.

That is not much consolation to a mother who has just had a child with a birth defect. The best defense a mother has is to find out from her doctor what drugs and other materials are teratogens and to avoid them.

Manchester Fair Plans

It's not too early to start thinking about the Manchester Fair. If you're planning to enter any exhibits, now's the time to plant those flowers and vegetables or start knitting that sweater. The Fair Board announces that this year's festivity will take place August 19-23, and will feature all the regular events - the parade, queen contest, pony pull, tractor pull, 10:00 p.m. drawings, and live entertainment every night.

Merchants who would like space in the merchants tent should sign up now. Kathy Richardson, at 428-8474, would be glad to help you.

The Fair Book should be ready by mid-July and copies will be mailed to previous exhibitors. The Fair Book will also be available at the IGA, all three local banks and at other Manchester businesses. The Fair Board is hoping for good attendance, good support from the community, and good weather. With all three, this year's fair should be a real good time for everybody.

"This Academic Achievement List" designates part-time students who have attained a high level of proficiency in their studies," explained Siena Heights President Dr. Cathleen Real. "It is gratifying to note their success in meeting the challenges of higher education," she said. Included in this list from the Manchester area is Ms. Faye Lynn Reaume of Bethel Church Road.

The Advanced Biology students at Manchester High School have been studying a unit on comparative anatomy. They have been busy learning muscles and muscle actions of the shark, discovered shark eggs, small chthyes and the mudpuppy, a member of the class amphibia. The dissection of the shark and component of their work for the last few weeks. Just recently, they opened the shark to discover the digestive and reproductive organs. Upon close examination, our students discovered shark eggs, small shark embryos still attached to the yolk sac and almost fully developed baby sharks.

Wastewater Treatment Facilities Facilities Plan Amendment Responsiveness Summary

A public hearing was held on March 18, 1986 to receive comments on the Village of Manchester Facilities Plan Amendment. The plan was made available prior to the public hearing for public inspection. The following is a summary of the major issues raised during the public hearing from concerned citizens.

Question: What has prompted the need for improvements at the Village wastewater treatment plant?

Answer: The Federal Clean Water Act requires all communities to be in compliance with their NPDES permit on or before July 1, 1988. The MDNR issued new permit limits for the Village in November 1985 requiring a greater level of treatment performance. The existing Village wastewater treatment plant is not capable of meeting the new performance standards and therefore modifications or improvements to the treatment facility are required.

Question: What is the purpose of Phase I Sewer System Improvement?

Answer: The Phase I Sewer System Improvements are intended to remove dry weather inflow sources, reduce the frequency of combined sewer overflows and to reduce potential basement flooding in certain areas of the Village. The improvements will also provide a separation of storm and sanitary sewage flows to relieve surcharging conditions of existing major interceptor sewers.

Question: Will additional improvements to the wastewater collection system be required in the future?

Answer: Combined sewer overflow control will be required based on recent action by the Water Resources Commission. The combined sewer overflow control policy would require primary treatment and disinfection of combined sewer overflows as a minimum level of treatment. As a result, future sewer separation projects are being proposed for the Village to limit combined sewer overflows to wet weather conditions greater than a 10 year frequency event. The timetable for these future sewer separation projects will be developed in the near future following receipt of an implementation plan from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Question: What improvements and modifications are proposed for the wastewater treatment facility?

Answer: The sequencing batch reactor process, an innovative biological treatment system, is proposed to replace the existing trickling filter biological treatment process. The SBR system offers advanced wastewater treatment capabilities, promotes lower annual operating costs, and provides convenient expansion to accommodate future growth within the Village. Other improvements include final effluent dechlorination and additional sludge storage volume to accommodate a land application program for sludge residuals. The improvement program has maximized the use of existing facilities to reduce improvement costs and to optimize space requirements on the existing treatment plant site.

Question: What is the proposed schedule for Phase I wastewater collection and treatment system improvements?

Answer: Phase I sewer system improvements will be under construction in August 1986 with improvements operational by September 30, 1986, with final site restoration expected by November 1986. An EPA construction grant offer is expected for wastewater treatment facility improvements after October 1st, 1986. Treatment facility improvements would be initiated in March 1987 with liquid treatment systems operational in June 1988. Compliance with new NPDES permit limits would be accomplished by July 1, 1988. Sludge handling improvements and final site restoration would be completed in September 1988.

Question: What are the expected user costs for a typical homeowner on a monthly basis?

Answer: Currently a typical homeowner's monthly cost for sewage service is approximately $10.00. Without grant assistance a typical homeowner would pay approximately $39.00 per month upon completing the proposed improvements. With an optimum level of grant funding, a typical homeowner charge would be approximately $27.00 per month.

Question: Will Township residents be expected to pay a higher user charge than Village customers?

Answer: All user costs will be based on the quantity of wastewater generated. User wastewater flows will be estimated based on metered water use. Ad valorem tax may be levied on Village properties as part of the improvement financing plan. Township customers would therefore be subject to a multiplier factor to account for this difference. All customers, however, would be charged an equivalent value per unit of wastewater flow.

Question: Has future growth been considered in developing improvement plans?

Answer: A limited amount of growth has been factored into the improvement program. Removal of existing dry weather inflow sources would enable approximately 240 residential equivalents to connect into the system. This provision would enable currently planned developments to proceed. An annual growth rate of 2% is also anticipated in the improvement design. The implementation of future sewer separation projects will also offer the potential for future growth.

Question: Has the service into the Township been considered in the improvement plan?

Answer: The improvement plans do not consider extension into the Township beyond current service area limits. Should Township residents request public sewer service in the future, the Township would be required to petition the Village and request such service.

Manchester Residents:
We are making progress towards implementing the Manchester Wastewater System Improvements.
In anticipation of these projects Village Council has approved a 1.82 Mill increase. This is earmarked for the sewer projects. By Fall we will be implementing a monthly water bill.
After reading the Responsiveness Summary please feel free to contact a Council person or myself with questions or comments.

Respectfully,
Daniel Naimowicz
Village Manager
