Hit or Miss

by Farley

The Teddy Bears are back in the news again. Some two or so years ago we wrote of the resurgence of their popularity and of their history from the days of Teddy Roosevelt. He was, of course the chap for which they were named. This animal has never lost its popularity since its birth and now it can yet be seen in various forms and sizes in most all toy and gift stores. There seems to be no substitute for the tubby little fellows and it seems that every child of the last generation or two has had at one time or another during their growing up days, owned one. Recently too there has been a rapidly increasing popularity of collecting various types and sizes of the various antique fellows belonging to the antique members of this family.

Last summer there were, in various places, teddy bear picnics which were very successful and which attracted large numbers of the faithful and these gatherings have greatly increased in number

Volunteers Recognized

The American Red Cross Washtenaw County Chapter, a United Way agency, recognized its many volunteers at an awards ceremony recently at the Pioneer High School Little Theatre in Ann Arbor. WUOM, morning host Peter Greenquist was master of ceremonies for the event. 'Mutual-A-Cord,' a local barber-shop quartet, provided the program's entertainment.

The Honorable Carl Pursell, United States House of Representatives, made a special presentation of the highest award given by the American National Red Cross, the 'Certificate of Merit.' This award is given to a person who saves or sustains a life by using skills and knowledge learned in one of the volunteer training programs in first aid, small craft or water safety offered by the Red Cross. This certificate bears the signature of the President of the United States, Honorary Chairman, and George F. Moody, Chairman of the American National Red Cross. This year's recipients were Ellen Gold, Maureen Collins, Margaret Min and Mary Jean Schumann, all of Ann Arbor and Nancy Moss of Ypsilanti.

Six Manchester residents received special recognition at the awards ceremony. Genevieve Wallace received a twenty year pin; Jean Little, Dianne Schwab and Lillian Uphaus received the three twenty-five year pins presented this year and June Jenter and Ellen Pratt received the two thirty year pins.

The volunteers make the American Red Cross programs and services possible. Not only do they teach CPR, and other lifesaving techniques, they provide the staffing for first-aid stations at community events such as the Ann Arbor Art Fair and the University of Michigan football and hockey games. Volunteers staff the over 500 annual local blood clinics and deliver blood products to local hospitals. Volunteers serve on the board of directors and planning committees. Volunteers provide American Red Cross disaster relief and caseworkers for local community emergency services such as 'Heat Bank.' Volunteers are involved at every level and in all services of the Red Cross.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

United Way Tops Goal: Local Industries Help

With contributions still coming in, the United Way campaign has surpassed its goal again this year. Over $42,000 has been donated or pledged so far by Manchester's citizens, the people employed in Manchester, and the businesses and industries doing business here. While some of this has been designated for other communities, or to the Washtenaw United Way, at least an equal amount will be returned to Manchester which has been designated by our residents who work in other communities.

Manchester's industries each have reported successful drives. All together, Manchester's eight local industries and their employees will contribute approximately 80% of the total contributions collected for Manchester United Way.

According to Kim Horning, the campaign chairman for Johnson Controls, Plastics Machinery Division, employees there nearly doubled their goal, pledging 196% of the target amount. The number of employees who participated also increased, from 72% last year to 92% this year. Johnson Controls has matched the employee donations.

John Sauter reported that the residents of Manchester employed at Chrysler Proving Ground have pledged 10% more than they did last year. He also said that overall, the Proving Grounds have collected pledges for 104% of their goal, with 80% employee participation.

According to Ron Fielder, Industry Chairman for Manchester United Way, Double A Products has exceeded their goal once again, as they have done each year. Manchester Stamping Corp. and Manchester Tool and Die also exceeded their goals. Michigan Gas Storage and Pinnacle Engineering Corp. have met their goals. The drive at Manchester Plastics is not yet complete, but company president Emory Jonas anticipates it will conclude successfully this week.

Mark Twain's Accordeon

MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE
August 6, 1968

Mark was, as many other young men are at some period of their lives, anxious to learn music. He first tried one instrument, then another, till he finally settled down on the accordeon. On that soul-stirring article of music he learnt to play that melodious and popular air, "Auld Lang Syne." For about a week he continued to torture his unwilling hearers, when, being of an ingenious turn of mind he endeavored to improve upon the original melody by adding some variations of his own. But who has ever seen a real genius succeed yet? Just as Mark had finished his only tune, and wound up with an admirable flourish, the landlady rushed into his room, and said she:

"Do you know any other tune but that Mr. Twain?" I told her, meekly that I did not. "Well, then," said she, "stick to it just as it is, don't put any variations to it; because it is rough enough on the boarders the way it is now."

The upshot was, that its "roughness" was soon made manifest, for half the boarders left, and the other half would have left had not the landlady discharged Mark. Then, like the wandering Jew, Mr. Twain went from house to house. None would undertake to keep him after one night's music; so, at last in sheer desperation, he went to board at an Italian lady's Mrs. Murphy by name-and he says:

"The first time I struck up the variations, a haggard, careworn, cadaverous, old man walked into my room and stood beaming upon me a smile of ineffable happiness. Then he placed his hand upon my head, and looking devoutly aloft, he said with feeling uncton, "God bless you, young man! God bless you for you have done that for me which is beyond all praise. For years I have suffered from an incurable disease, and knowing that my doom was sealed, and that I must die, I have striven with all my power to resign myself to my fate, but in vain-the love of life was too strong within me. But heaven bless you, my benefactor! for since I heard you play that tune, and those variations, I do not want to live any longer-I am willing to die-in fact, I am anxious to die. And then the old man fell upon my neck, and wept a flood of happy tears. I was surprised at these things, but I could not help giving the old gentleman a parting blast, in the way of some peculiarly lacerating variations, as he went out of the door. They doubled him up like a jack-knife, and the next time he left his bed of suffering and pain, he was all right in a metallic coffin."

Girl's Basketball Update

by Jan
Tuesday, our girls visited the East Jackson gym. Both the varsity and JV squads suffered losses at the hands of the Trojans. On Thursday, Parents' Night, we hosted the Michigan Center Cardinals. The Little Dutch contest was a real thriller as we rallied from behind to win by four-35-31. In the varsity matchup, we fell short 60-47. Sherry Rickelmann had a big night as she gunned for 12 points. Tracy Schuler also hit in double figures with 11. This game concluded our Cascade Conference play of the season, leaving us with a record of 6 and 6. Three non-league games remain before the district playoffs. Thursday we host Whitmore Lake at 6 p.m. - Varsity Only.

Varsity Golf Wrap up

Varsity letter winners were Rob Gillow, 12th grade; Jeff Mann, 12th grade and Eric Alstrom, 12th grade. Heading up the four juniors was captain Brad Uphaus, along with Rob White, Nick Miller and Matt Royale. Completing the list of winners were three freshmen: Dave Mitchell, Tim Burkhardt and Dan Weber.

again, for Lake Huron. "This finding is most encouraging, given that lake trout were once extinct in Lake Huron due to lamprey predation and commercial over fishing in the '40s," said John Weber, Department of Natural Resources (DNR) fisheries biologist involved in the survey sampling.

"Since 1973, we've (DNR) cooperated with U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in stocking about one million lake trout yearlings annually in Lake Huron to reestablish the lake trout fishery; we did not expect to see any results (reproduction) for at least 10 years," added Weber. Lake trout generally take five to six years to mature and will interact with three or four different age groups before natural reproduction generally occurs.

Though Weber stresses this project is still in the early stages and that stocking will continue, he feels the program could duplicate the DNR's revival of Lake Superior's once depleted lake trout fishery.

In 1966, the DNR began an annual stocking program of fin-clipped lake trout into Lake Superior. Today, anglers and biologists report over half of the lake trout taken from Superior are native (unclipped) stock; enabling the DNR to discontinue stocking of the lake trout in some areas completely, and greatly reducing it in other areas of the lake.

In August, 1984, nine native lake trout were first encountered in Lake Huron during a DNR sampling survey; none were found in 1985. Not until this year, during four separate samplings from July through October, did a significant number of lake trout fingerlings appear.

Young-of-the-year whitefish and forage species were also found to be very abundant during the lakewide survey. Young-of-the-year whitefish were 10 times more abundant than lake trout on three of the four sample dates. The area appeared to be a rich nursery grounds for several other fish species too.

Wedding Bells Ring

Lori Lynn England, daughter of James and Donna England, was united in marriage to Michael Merrick Crooks, son of Robert and Dorothy Crooks of Battle Creek, Michigan.

This candlelight ceremony was officiated by Rev. Robert Macfarlane at 5:00 p.m. on September 6, 1986 at Emanuel United Church of Christ in Manchester.

Lori's gown (of an ivory creped-back satin material) was designed and sewn by Rosa Meyers. Hand-tatted lace adorned Lori's veil and gown, which was made by her grandmother, Alma Wahl, of Saline, Michigan.

The bridesmaids wore rust satin street-length gowns and carried candleholders surrounded by silk floral arrangements designed by Julie England. The maid of honor was Julie England and other bridesmaids were Brenda Eggleston, Dawn England and Jennifer England.

Michael was attired in an ivory long tailed tuxedo with satin lapels. The best man was James Scales, and the groomsmen were Randy Smith, Denny Bice and Ken Delaney.

Senior Citizens News

The sky is so blue and the sun so bright, if there were cowbells, we'd wonder if the Alps weren't right around the corner. We will settle for our beautiful Michigan Fall days and get out and enjoy the old fashioned chuck roast at noon on Thursday. Exercise at 11:00 a.m. and bingo follows the meal.

On Saturday, November 15th, Chelsea travelog will take you from "Yellowstone to Sun Valley." Departure time is 5:30 p.m.. Call Helen if you wish to go.

Tuesday, November 18th: Clergy presentation will be given by Pastor Booth at 11:00 a.m. Swedish meatballs will be served at noon. At 12:30, come and learn how to make a 'crazy quilt' and volunteers are needed to knit or crochet items (plenty of yarn on hand). You are invited to come help on these projects any weekday that the Center is open (Monday through Thursday from 1:00-4:00 p.m.). You are not only invited, but encouraged!

Wednesday, November 19th: A trip is planned to visit area folks who reside at Chelsea Home and Cedar Knoll Nursing Home, leave at 12:30 p.m.. Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting will be held at 12 noon.

Thursday, November 20th: Exercise at 11:00, turkey "Fest" at noon and bingo at 12:30. Come one and all to the public card party at 8:00 p.m. at Freedom Township Hall. There will be no party in December (you'll have to hone up' for all the euchre coming over the holidays with family and friends).

Looking ahead: November 24th (Monday), leave for Ann Arbor shopping trip at 9:00 a.m.. Call Helen Braun, 428-8966, for your spot.

On Tuesday, November 25th, Barbara Zaret from Washtenaw County Council on Aging will speak on Nursing Home Insurance. An article taken from the Ann Arbor News, October 2nd, "Growing Fast: Insurance for Nursing Homes Takes Off" produced calls from people who have paid premiums on expensive policies only to find they could not collect any benefits when they were in a nursing home. Because people are rightfully concerned about nursing home costs, they can be susceptible to buying policies that may not meet their future needs. All seniors are encouraged to understand fully the benefits and the limitations of nursing home policies before buying. Be at Emanuel's fellowship hall on November 25th for detailed information from Ms. Zaret. Medicare Counseling Coordinator, Council on Aging.

There is a wonderful opportunity for Seniors to spend one hour a week or one hour a month at Emanuel Church on Wednesdays from 11:30 to 12:30 with Sandy Alber and her Daisy Girl Scouts (six kindergarten girls). This is better than the Fountain of Youth and you will have the joy of sharing with little girls who will return love and appreciation for your help. Either women or men are needed. Please call Sandy at 428-7758 or Lucile Bruner at 428-8605 if you or someone you know would be able to help. If we do not find volunteers, the little girls will not be able to meet this year.

Astrofest Presentation

"Halley's Comet: What We Learned" will be the subject of the 165th AstroFest film and lecture presentation at The University of Michigan. The free public program is set for 7:30 p.m. November 14th in Auditorium 33, Modern Languages Building.

Jim Loudon, AstroFest director and staff astronomer at the U-M Exhibit Museum, says, "Although this year's appearance of the comet was disappointing to the general public, it provided a bonanza to astronomers." Loudon will describe their discoveries in terms requiring no previous knowledge of science in his three-hour presentation.

AstroFest is sponsored by the U-M's Exhibit Museum and Department of Aerospace Engineering.

Money Management

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants)

When starting a small business, people sometimes overlook one important question: What legal form should the business take? Knowing the difference between a sole proprietorship, a partnership and a corporation, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs, is critical if you are to choose the structure best for you. As you plan your business and choose its structure, ask yourself these questions:

* Are you going into business alone or with others?

* Will you be personally responsible for debts or claims against the business?

* How much control do you want over the operation? Your answers will guide you in selecting one of the following business structures:

A SOLE PROPRIETORSHIP is an unincorporated business owned entirely by one person. In this situation, you have total control over the business. However, it may be difficult to go it alone. You must provide all the capital to operate the business and are personally liable for all claims against it.

Compared to other forms of business, a sole-proprietorship has the lowest operating costs, fewer regulations and is not required to pay a separate income tax. All income and losses are attributed to the proprietor who combines them with his or her other income, if any, and pays a tax based upon the total taxable income. The proprietor is also required to pay self-employment tax (social security) on net earnings of up to $42,000 and could be responsible for a form of state unincorporated business tax.

Presently, you cannot deduct as a business expense any payments for hospitalization, insurance and medical plan expenses that relate to your personal coverage.

However, the upcoming tax reform act will allow you to take deductions on a limited basis. A self-employed retirement plan can be established allowing you to deduct the contributions from your income.

A PARTNERSHIP, as defined by the tax laws, is an agreement between two or more people who combine both their resources and activities in varying degrees to share in the profits and losses of their venture. All income and expenses are attributed to the individuals involved and are not taxed to the partnership. This business arrangement is limited by the life of the partners. If one backs out or dies, the partnership ends.

The level of financial and managerial participation of each individual determines whether it is a general or limited partnership.

A GENERAL PARTNERSHIP is an association of two or more persons who carry on a business and each is liable for the other's debts. It is typically found in associations that provide a service, such as law, accounting and medicine where an "idea person" and a "money person" often provide the formula for a partnership.

This type of partnership requires no official registration beyond the name of the firm. The biggest disadvantage? Each partner is responsible not only for the liability of the partnership, but also for the personal liabilities of his or her partner(s).

In a LIMITED PARTNER-SHIP, aside from a general partner who could be held liable for the debts of the partnership, there are investor partners whose only liability is the amount of money they contribute to the firm to cover costs. This allows people who are looking for an investment opportunity to become involved only on a profit/loss level to the extent that they "buy into" the business. They may not actually participate in the day-to-day activities associated with operating the business but are still considered partners. This is a good way to bring money into a business without disrupting the balance of power.

It is important to note that, in either type of partnership, there should be a written agreement to thoroughly outline the liabilities and profits each participant is responsible for. This is a technically many people overlook because of close ties or friendships. In the long run, it is a simple way to avoid problems in the future.

A CORPORATION, say CPAs, is a business that exists as a separate entity. It is authorized by a state or U.S. territory. One of its advantages is its unlimited life. Its existence is not dissolved by the sale of stock by any shareholder or even by his or her death or personal bankruptcy. A shareholder is normally not liable for the indebtedness or claims against the corporation. A corporation could be owned by an individual, as a single shareholder, as a way to avoid the liabilities that would be associated with a sole proprietorship or a partnership.

Corporations are subject to taxes on their income. After the tax is paid, if the leftover income is distributed to the shareholders, it is also subject to personal income tax, leading to "double taxation."

In a hypothetical situation, if a corporation were to have a profit of $200,000 and paid $80,000 in taxes, the remaining $120,000 could be distributed to the shareholders. If the shareholders are in the maximum 50 percent personal tax bracket, they will pay taxes of $60,000, leaving them with only $60,000.

A SUBCHAPTER S CORPORATION, named after a subchapter of the Internal Revenue Code, has some tax attributes of corporations and some of partnerships, as well as certain unique features of its own. A corporation that has not more than 85 shareholders and meets certain requirements may elect to have its shareholders taxed on their share of the corporate income instead of being taxed itself. This form of business organization combines the advantages of operating in the corporate form with federal taxation in a manner more similar to a partnership.

Using the same hypothetical situation, if a subchapter S corporation were to have a profit of $200,000, that would be passed directly to the shareholders thereby avoiding a separate corporate tax. They would the pay personal income tax, again, a possible maximum rate of 8 percent or $100,000. That leave them with $100,000.

However, aside from distribution of profits, there are other aspects of each type of corporation that may help you decide which is best.

If you are thinking of starting business, CPAs advise you to study to help clarify the technical aspects of these legal forms of business organization and carefully select the most appropriate one.

Hit or Miss

bidder said "Oh I could never sell my teddy bears or even one of them." She has 75 of them. Another, Kevin Cockburn, said that he felt the same and that he had never parted with a bear. His oldest one is now more than 40 years old and that it was bought in anticipation of his birth.

Evidently a few people grow out of their love affair for teddies but not many. One buyer said she only bought on impulse-she just couldn't help it. She just isn't going to-how could she bear it.
