House/Senate Override Veto: Manchester May Benefit

by Becky Doyle

Last Tuesday the House voted 401-26 to override President Reagan's second veto of the Clean Water bill. Wednesday the Senate followed suit with an 86-14 vote.

The bill authorizes $18 billion in federal aid to build wastewater and sewage treatment facilities over a 7 year span. President Reagan called it a "budget-buster".

Manchester is in line for some of the money if their application is approved, according to Dan Naimowicz, Village Manager. The village has been cited by the DNR for noncompliance with EPA regulations governing wastewater treatment.

In a bond issue approved by voters last December 9, the sale of $500,000 in bonds was approved for operation and maintenance of the sewer and water system, and an additional $2,200,000 was approved to bring the water treatment plant within EPA standards.

The second part of this issue is the portion that would be eligible for federal funding, but local officials are waiting for the July 1, deadline to hear whether the allocation will be approved.

"If that should happen," said Naimowicz, "we could get as much as 70% funded." That would be about $1.5 of the $2.2 million. But he cautioned that there is a possibility that only 55% of the total may be approved, or none at all.

The DNR has told local officials that they are in violation of EPA standards and set deadlines for the village to meet. The first phase has now been completed, said Naimowicz, except for spring clean-up. In addition to the separation of the storm and sanitary sewers, the village crew has replaced 175-180 non-functional water meters at a cost between $7,350 and $10,800.

Also included in Phase 1 is a second installation of an iron filtering system at the water treatment facility at a cost of $38,000. The first system failed due to improper installation, said Naimowicz, although the failure was not apparent for about a year. Litigation is pending against the company that installed the system, said Naimowicz, and he could not comment further on the situation.

If federal funding is approved, the bonds for both phases of the project would be much easier to sell, said Naimowicz. Funds that have been borrowed from the

Historical Society Seeks Funds

Contributions for microfilming The Manchester Enterprise passed the half-way mark in January, when Manchester Plastics and the Manchester Area Historical Society joined the Herrick Foundation and the Manchester United Way with contributions. To complete the project an additional $3,000 is needed to provide a reader/printer and storage facilities. Residents are again reminded that contributions to the Library qualify as itemized deductions for Federal Income Tax and as 50% deduction from Michigan State Income Tax.

The Manchester Township Library Board is currently budgeting funds to microfilm annually the Enterprise. The Enterprise is the basic local document used frequently in tracing events and family histories. The library staff recently made copies of the Oak Grove Cemetery records and of a notebook compiled by Sarah Lovejoy which included many items of historic importance.

General Highways fund to complete the first phase would be replaced at that time.

If no funding is approved, village residents - who have already approved the bond issue - would pick up the tab in increased sewer charges of about $20.00 and all residents would pay an additional 3 mills in village taxes for the next 27 to 30 years.

"That's the 'worst case' picture, in our opinion," said Naimowicz. If even partial funding becomes available, the cost would be much less, he said.

The new treatment plant would be in the same location and utilize some of the existing structure, but would have completely new equipment, according to village officials.

The DNR, which is the enforcement agency for EPA mandates, has so far allowed the village to delay actual construction of the treatment facility. Local officials would prefer not to begin construction of the new plant until October 1, if the DNR will allow that much delay. Once begun, completion of the new facility will be expected within 18 months.

Optimist Club Basketball Contest

The Optimist Club of Manchester will hold a Tri-Star Basketball skills contest at the Middle School on February 14, at 9:30 a.m. The contest is composed of three basic skill tests aimed at evaluating a contestant's skill in passing, shooting and dribbling.

Boys and girls will compete in six age groups, 8 - 13, against youth of their own age. All that is needed to compete is the desire and a pair of gym shoes.

First, second and third place trophies will be awarded to winners in each age group. A total of eighteen impressive trophies will be awarded.

Entry forms are available in the office at both the Klager School and the Middle School.

Utility Changes To Monthly Billings

by Becky Doyle

This month village residents will begin to see the first changes in their water and sewer bills.

Beginning in January, billing for these services will evolve to a monthly bill instead of the former quarterly statements. Residents will receive bills for January and February in one statement and will thereafter be billed monthly, said Naimowicz.

"Right now it is not our intention to change water rates at all," said Naimowicz. But rates for sewer service will probably increase soon, although action on that issue has been postponed by the Village Council until a review of the new budget has taken place.

About 95% of the village is currently hooked into the sewer system, and although the Department of Public Works currently has no plans to connect the remainder, increasing service to the entire village is a possibility.

"The DNR could make it a requirement as part of the sewer treatment plant grant that we connect those people," said Naimowicz.

Manchester Marble Works

cannot fail to attract and draw customers. We observed a few of his fine specimens, and speak of them as deserving special mention.

The "Crown of Glory," (of which we have before spoken), lately set up in the cemetery at Clinton, is one of the finest works we have ever seen. A gothic stone for the cemetery at Ypsilanti, and others for Brooklyn, Napoleon and Saline should receive their proper amount of praise. Calls have come from all of these places for more work, and thus gradually these young men are working their way up. They have sent out over $1500 worth of work already, and have orders for several hundred dollars worth in the shop. Specimens of their work can be seen in the cemetery of our village, among which is a beautiful slab at the grave of Lawson W. Leap. They obtain their American marble from the celebrated quarries of Vermont, and in many instances the American Italian, (so called from its close resemblance to the Italian) admits to as high a polish as the Italian itself, and not every eye can distinguish one from the other when placed side by side. We advise those who want anything in the line of monuments or tomb-stones to call and see these gentlemen, and assist in building up a large trade that will add immensely to our friends future wealth. May prosperity be theirs.

Scholarship Semi-Finalist

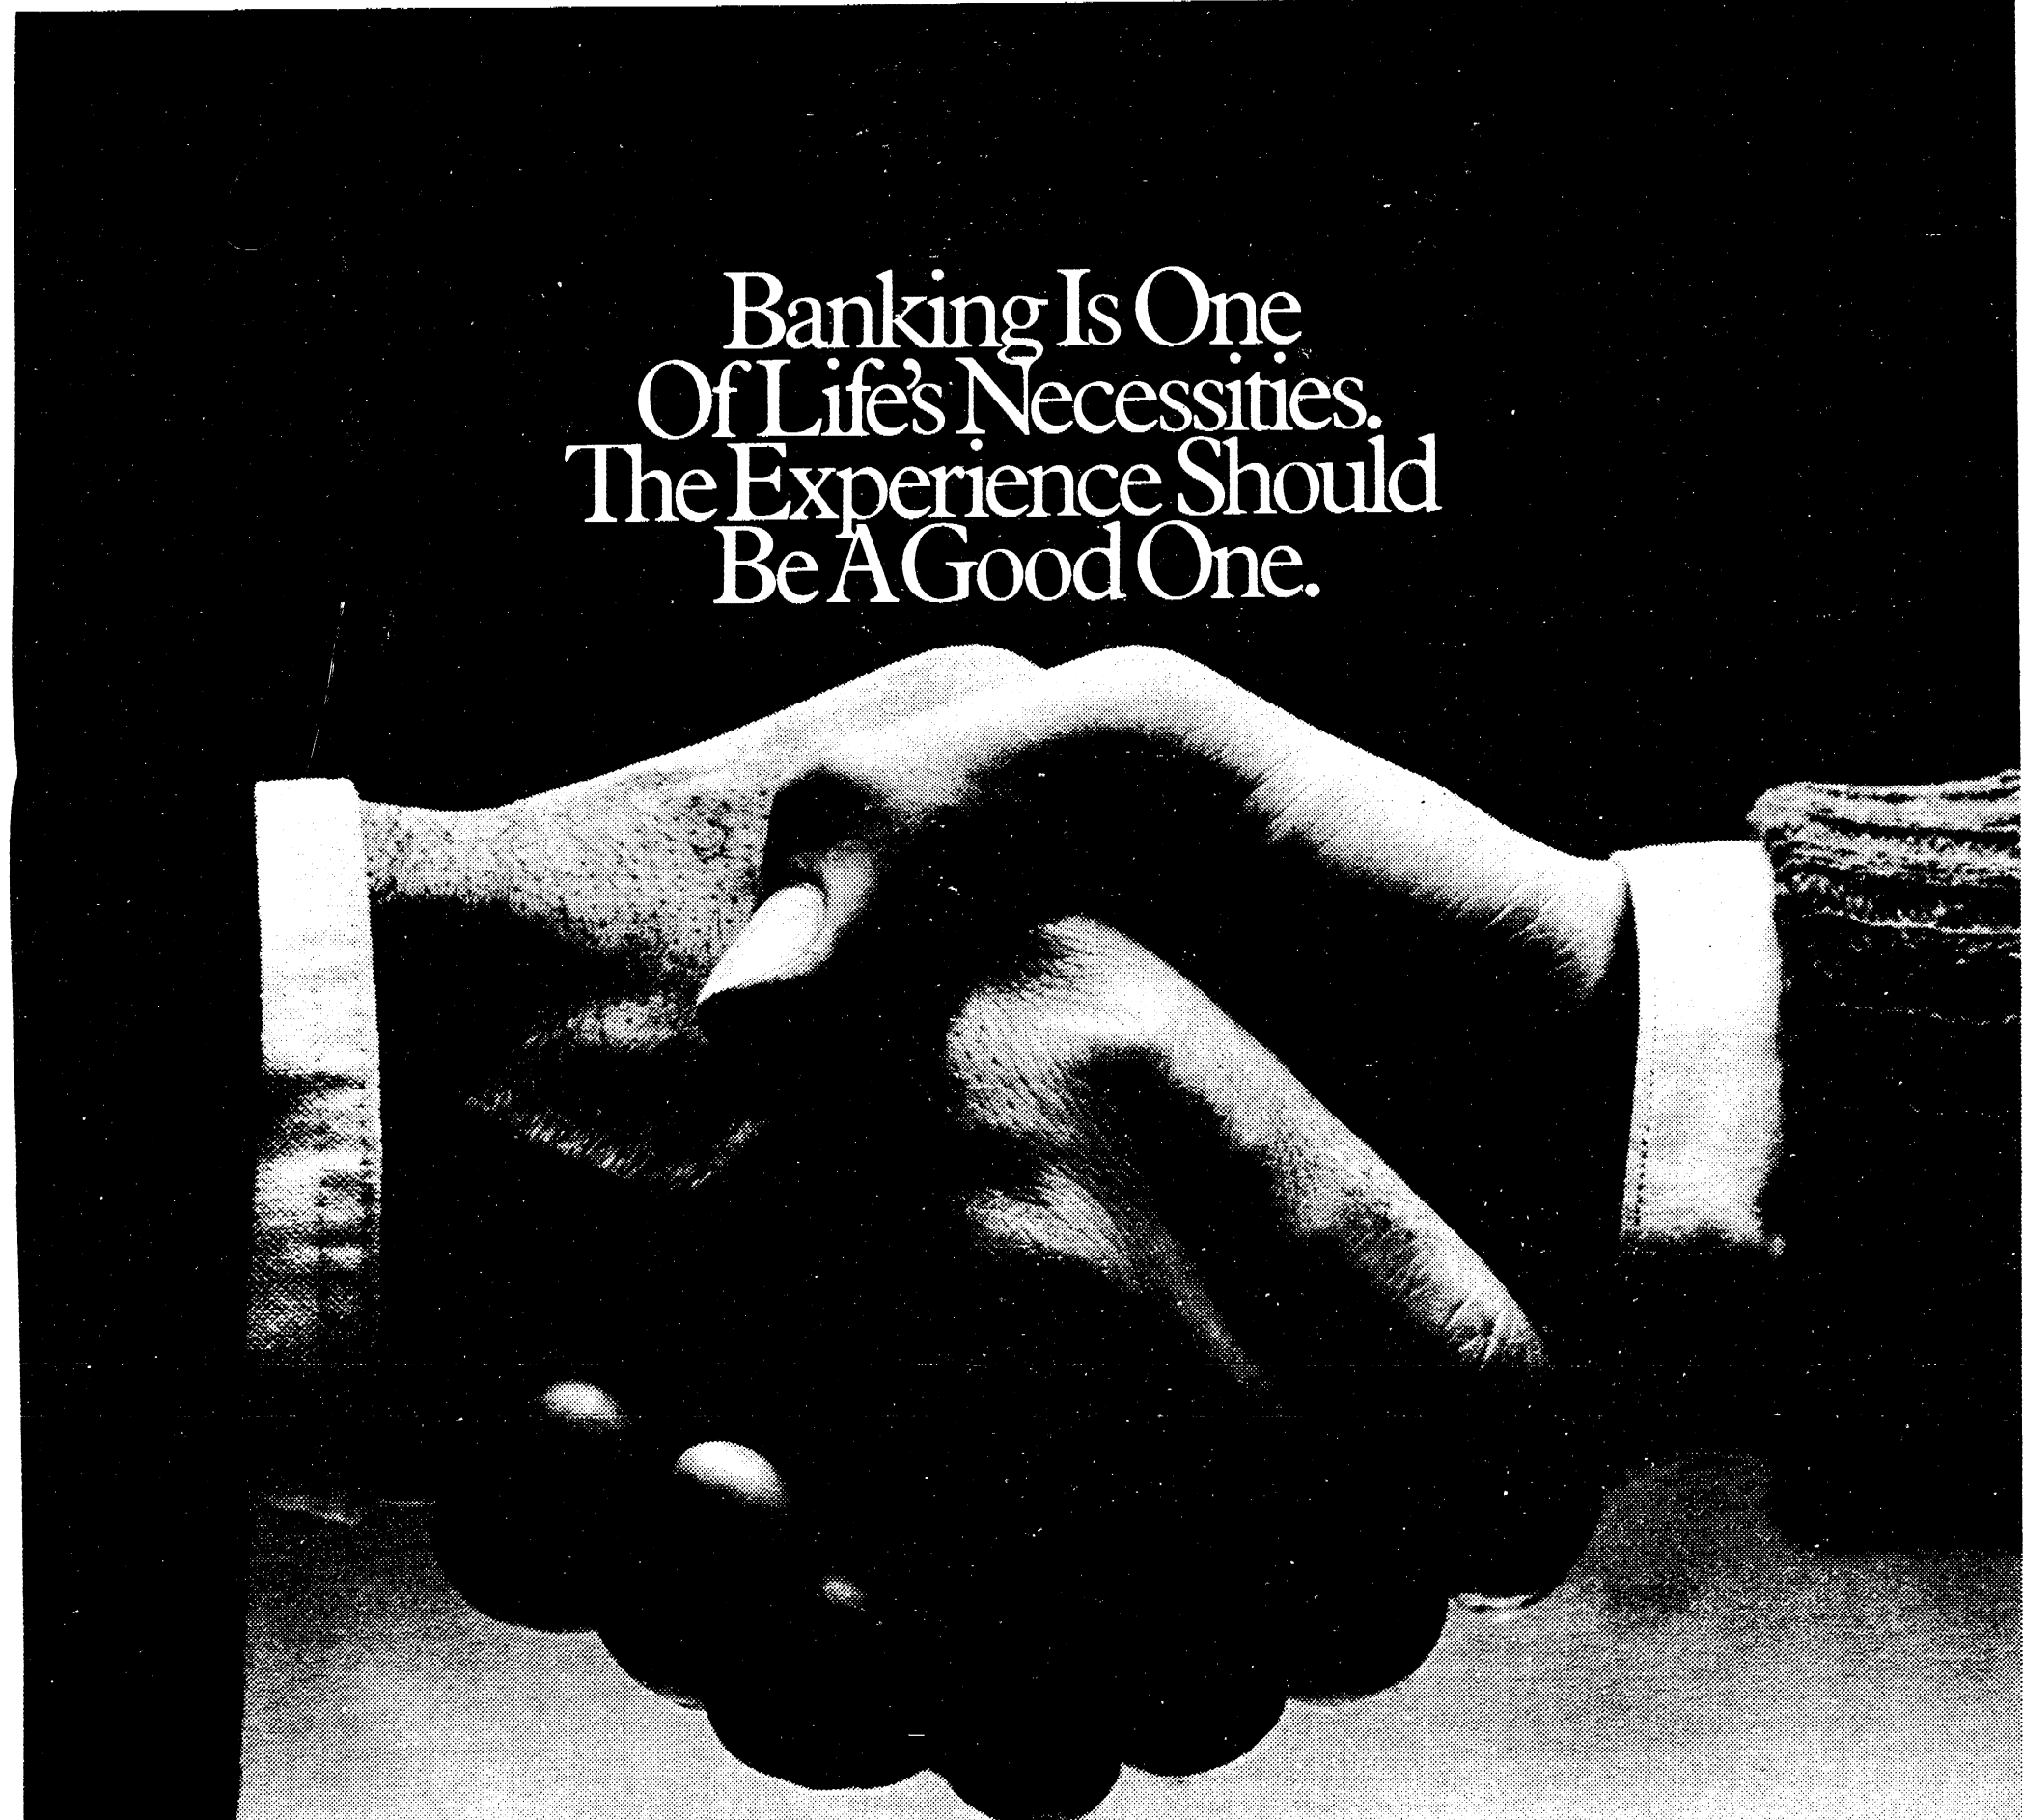

Jacqueline Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller of 10955 Hieber Road has been selected as one of eleven semi-finalists in the Japan - U.S. Senate Youth for Understanding Scholarship Program. Jackie, who is a junior at Manchester High School, competed against hundreds of other students from all over the state for the privilege of being one of two Michigan students to spend this coming summer in Japan.

The Japan-U.S. Senate scholarship winners are selected through a rigorous two-step evaluation process. Each fall all written application material, including essays, are reviewed by a selection committee in Washington D.C. The top students in each state are selected as semi-finalists. At the end of January these semifinalists were interviewed, both individually and in a group, by a State Selection Committee. Convened in each state, the committee is composed of representatives of the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the National Council for Social Studies, the U.S. Senate, and Youth for Understanding. The committee selects two scholarship recipients, who are then officially appointed by their respective U.S. Senators in late winter or early spring.

Selection criteria include: demonstrated leadership abilities, demonstrated evidence of the qualities essential for adjustment to another culture, and written and oral communication skills.

While in high school Jackie has participated in numerous extra-curricular activities including National Honor Society, Quiz Bowl Team, band, varsity choir, and the Academic Games English Essay Team. She has been a member of the drama club where she has served as an actress, a member of the stage crew, and as an accompanist. Outside of school, Jackie has been a member of her church choir, operetta, and youth group.

Banking Is One Of Life's Necessities. The Experience Should Be A Good One.

You flip a switch and the lights go on. Start your car and go your way. Day in and day out, so long as things work like they should, you never give them a second thought. It's the same with banking. You, along with the rest of us, fully expect your bank to work right. The first time. And every time. From our point of view, that isn't an unfair expectation. In fact, living up to that is the best explanation of how and why we run First of America Bank the way we run it. So in nearly 200 communities across the Midwest, our bankers are reminded that, even though they're part of a major bank company, they should play a major role in the community. They're encouraged to make loan decisions locally. Which has made us one of the region's biggest lenders. They're given all the resources of a big bank company to draw on, so they can offer customers a more resourceful bank.

And, since our bankers are asked to handle customer matters on a local level, they're as accountable to you as they are to their bank. It's made us not only one of the Midwest's biggest bank companies. It's made us one of its most dependable companies. Something that's as good for you as it is for us.

Letter To The Editor

Band Boosters would like to make special note of a mistake in our published minutes of January 28th. Instead of reading that the Board had decreased the band budget, they should say that the $1700 was a proposed request and the $1000 was the same as budgeted for last year. Also, the fees for upcoming functions, such as District Solo/Ensemble, have been paid for this year. Our apologies to all.

We would also like to mention that we had problems getting our raffle tickets out to band students that they will be selling, due to the school closing. We would like to invite anyone interested in purchasing a ticket to contact a High School Band student or call 428-8715, or 428-8787.

Michigan Stamps
 Any philatelist knows that the popularity of their hobby is growing at a tremendous rate - but there are many who have no idea what it is that a philatelist does. Philately, more commonly known as stamp collecting, is on the rise, and it is estimated that there are over 90,000 philatelists in Michigan alone. In honor of the Michigan Sesquicentennial a stamp commemorating the occasion will have a first day of issue in Lansing. In addition to this stamp, there have been many others honoring the state of Michigan, its people, places and products. The following is a list of stamps with Michigan themes:
 1927 - air postage stamp issued to commemorate the Spirit of St. Louis, the airplane that Detroit-born Charles Lindbergh used to make the first solo transatlantic flight.
 1929 - Edison's Electric Light, issued to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the invention of the light bulb. Edison grew up in Port Huron.
 1935 - statehood stamp, introduced two years ahead of Michigan's actual 100th birthday.
 1937 - ordinance of 1787 stamp, marking the sesquicentennial of the opening of Michigan and the Northwest for settlement.
 1938 - Northwest Territory Settlement issue, celebrating the settlement of Michigan and the rest of the Northwest Territory.
 1947 - Thomas Edison stamp, a late edition to the "Famous Americans" series.
 1951 - a Detroit stamp, marking the 250th anniversary of the landing of Cadillac in Detroit.
 1955 - Land Grant College stamp, issued on the centennial of Michigan State University, the nation's first land grant college.
 1958 - Mackinac Bridge issue, commemorating the completion of the bridge between the Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula.
 1958 - Horticulture stamp, honoring Liberty Hyde Bailey, a former Michigan State University professor.
 1959 - St. Lawrence Seaway issue, celebrating the opening of the seaway. It was also one of the first 4 c. commemoratives.
 1960 - Wheels of Freedom issue, centered around the National Auto Show at Detroit.
 1968 - Henry Ford and his Model T were featured in this 12 cent stamp, as part of the Great Americans series.
 1968 - Father Marquette issue, a 6 c. commemorative of his Upper Peninsula explorations.
 1976 - Commercial Aviation issue, honoring the 50th anniversary of the world's first contact aerial flight.
 1976 - State Flags issue, containing the Michigan flag, in honor of the United States Bicentennial celebration.
 1977 - Sound Recording issue commemorating the 100th anniversary of Edison's Tin Phonograph and the Centennial of Sound Recording.
 1977 - Talking Picture issue, featuring the golden anniversary of the "Talkies", another Edison invention.
 1977 - Lindbergh Flight issue, commemorating the 50th anniversary of his transatlantic New York to Paris flight.
 1978 - American Trees issue, featuring the White Pine, Michigan's state tree.
 1980 - Ralph Bunche issue, from the Great Americans series. This statesman, born in Detroit, was the first black to win the Nobel Peace Prize, which he did in 1950.
 1982 - State Birds and Flowers issue, which includes Michigan's Robin and Apple Blossom on our state stamp.
 1985 - Michigan was the scene for first day ceremonies of both Christmas stamps, The Madonna and the Poinsetta.
 Additional Facts:
 Michigan was the first state in the Union to obtain a state centennial postage stamp with its first day cover on November 1, 1935. The total number of First Day Cover cancellations in the Lansing Post Office was 176,962, breaking all records for any special postage stamp.
 Our state's centennial stamp was available for popular usage one year and three months after the usual two to three week life span of special postage stamps, giving an idea of its uniqueness. The Michigan centennial commemorative stamp of 1935 is printed in light purple with the wording "1835 Michigan Centenary 1935" across the top in white. The subject of this 3 c. stamp is the state seal draped by the Michigan State banner and the Nation Emblem on each side.

Manchester Area Historical Society

"The Great Game of Book Collecting" will be the topic of the next meeting of the Manchester Area Historical Society which will be held on Monday, February 16, at 7:30 p.m. at the Blacksmith Shop, 324 East Main Street. The speaker will be Robert Iglehart, Professor Emeritus of Art and Art History, The University of Michigan.

Books are the most important objects in our civilization—they make it possible for the present to learn from the past. Reading books is one of life's great pleasures and collecting them is one of the most ancient hobbies. It is not just a hobby for the wealthy, but a game which can be enjoyed by those with modest purses. The only requirement is that you love books, bookstores, and book sales wherever you find them.

Our speaker will tell us of his own adventures in collecting books of the eighteenth century. He will also discuss what is worth collecting, how to start, how values are determined, what is a "rare book," and why "first editions" are important. There will be a display of a few books from Professor Iglehart's own collection.

The public is invited to join us and bring an old or unique book to share.

Great Lakes Vessels Sought

The Michigan Sesquicentennial Office is searching for unique, unusual and antique Great Lakes Vessels to participate in the Sesquicentennial Sailabration 150 scheduled for July 25, at Traverse City, according to Sesquicentennial Director of Special Events, Hal Dittenber.

Sailabration 150 will be one of the highlights of the year long Michigan Water Festival, and will be held in conjunction with the National Governors' Conference at Traverse City that week.

"Our goal is to make this the most spectacular and largest gathering of vessels in the history of the Great Lakes," Dittenber said. "We're searching for all types of boats or ships, powered or sail, to participate."

According to Dittenber, the Sesquicentennial Office is searching for vessels that are unique, unusual, antique or with historic significance for the event. He listed sailing boats, wooden boats, classics, working and pleasure craft, steam vessels, fire boats, canoes, barges and freighters, as being sought.

"We're looking for all types of craft which can show the diversity of the Great Lakes Vessels," Dittenber said.

The Sailabration 150 will be held on the west arm of Grand Traverse Bay, and will feature a spectacular fireworks display as a grand finale, he said.

Anyone with a vessel who is interested in participating, may obtain more information by writing Hal Dittenber at the Michigan Sesquicentennial Office, Department of State, 300 S. Washington, Suite 201, Lansing, MI 48933.

Never A Dull Moment

There has never been a dull moment in Michigan's history, and the month of February is no exception.

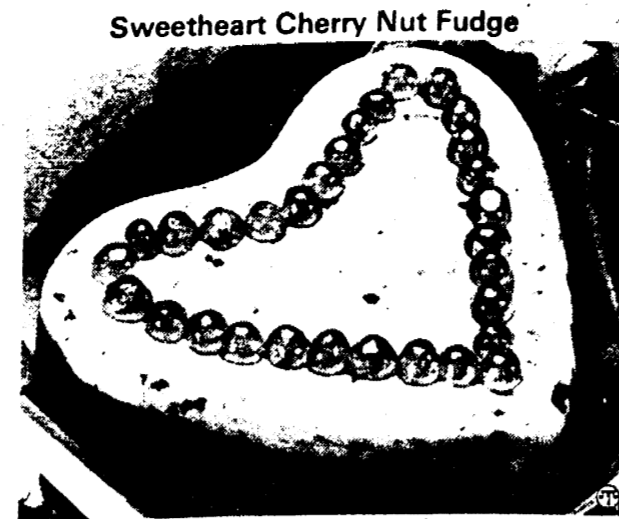

On February 12, 1781, Niles (then Fort St. Joseph) was captured by a small force of Spanish, French, and Indians. During the occupation, which lasted one day, the Spanish flag was raised. Thus, Niles has the distinction of being the only Michigan city to be ruled by four nations - France, England, Spain, and the United States.

The most celebrated day in Michigan history during the month of February was February 9, 1837, when a grand illumination lit the skies. On that day the citizens of Michigan heard the news that their state was now one with the Union. Although it was January 26, 1837, that Andrew Jackson signed the proclamation that accepted Michigan into the Union, it took two weeks for the news to reach the state's citizens by horseback.

On February 10, 1922, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra gave the nation's first complete radio performance; and three years later, on February 13, 1925, WWJ and other stations formed the first radio network.

Trapeze artists flew through the air to bring Detroit the nation's first Shrine Circus on February 26, 1906. The nation's first airmail flight from Dearborn to Cleveland was completed on February 15, 1926.

Detroit's Ty Cobb made his mark by being the first player named to Baseball's Hall of Fame on February 2, 1936.

Getting to the heart of the matter can be a sweetheart of a task with the help of this recipe for a dessert that can make any day feel like Valentine's Day. The confection makes a marvelous gift, when you feel it's time to give your heart away.

SWEETHEART CHERRY NUT FUDGE
(Makes about 2-1/2 pounds)

1-1/2 pounds white confectioners' coating* or 3 (6-ounce) packages semi-sweet chocolate chips

1 (14-ounce) can Eagle® Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk)

3/4 cup chopped nuts

1/2 cup coarsely chopped maraschino cherries, well drained on paper towels or

1/2 cup coarsely chopped red candied cherries

1 teaspoon almond extract

Lightly grease 9-inch heart-shaped cake pan or 8- or 9-inch square pan; line with wax paper. Set aside. In heavy saucepan, over low heat, melt coating with sweetened condensed milk. Remove from heat; stir in nuts, cherries and extract. Spread evenly into prepared pan. Chill 2 hours or until firm. Remove from pan; peel off wax paper. Garnish as desired. Store loosely covered in refrigerator.

MICROWAVE: In 2-quart glass measure, combine coating and sweetened condensed milk. Microwave on full power (high) 3 minutes or until coating melts. Stir. Add nuts, cherries and almond extract; mix well. Proceed as above.

*White confectioners' coating can be purchased in candy specialty stores.

To form heart shape without pan, draw 9-inch heart shape on wax paper; spread mixture to edge.

Republican Whip Trent Lott announced the appointment of Congressman Carl D. Pursell of Michigan as one of five Deputy Whips.

Pursell, R-Plymouth, was selected to represent the midwest region within the House GOP leadership.

"It's indeed a privilege to appoint Carl to this position," Lott said. "Carl's past work and contribution as an Assistant Regional Whip certainly warrants this promotion."

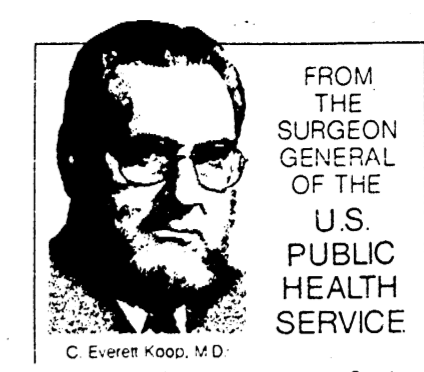

"I have found Carl Pursell to be a respected spokesman for both his home state and region. He has proven himself an effective legislator with a reputation for building bipartisan coalitions," Lott said.

"Congressman Pursell will be a valuable member of our leadership team during the 100th Congress."

Pursell, now entering his sixth term, said he looked forward to working in this new leadership role.

"I'm honored by Mr. Lott's selection. This new post will provide both a new challenge and the chance to advocate a balanced regional perspective," Pursell said.

"Michigan's Second Congressional District now will have a stronger voice in recommending public policy," he said.

Adults Need Immunizations, Too

Immunizations are not just for children. While it is true that the vaccine-preventable diseases of childhood, such as measles and diphtheria, have been brought to record low levels, there is no reason to assume, as many people do, that adults no longer suffer from these and other contagions. The fact is that a large proportion of the deaths and serious illnesses that we are seeing today and that could have been prevented are occurring among older adolescents, adults and the elderly. Many of those affected either escaped the disease or were not immunized against it in childhood. Others require immunizations because of their special health conditions, occupations, behavior or increasing age.

There are seven diseases for which millions of adult Americans should be immunized. They are influenza, pneumococcal disease, hepatitis B, tetanus, diphtheria, measles, and rubella. Influenza and pneumococcal infections pose particular problems for the very people who are least able to cope with the disease, such as the elderly or those with chronic heart or lung diseases. The influenza virus can cause major epidemics of respiratory disease, as we see nearly every winter, and it is responsible for thousands of excess deaths in this population. Ten thousand or more deaths have been associated with influenza epidemics in 17 of the years from 1957 to 1984. More than 80 percent of the excess deaths attributed to influenza epidemics occur among persons 65 years of age or older. Attack rates during outbreaks in nursing homes are as high as 60 percent, with fatality rates of 30 percent or higher.

Pneumococcal infections are important causes of severe illness and death in the same groups threatened by influenza. About a half million cases of pneumococcal disease are estimated to occur annually in the United States. The case rate increases with age and the fatality rate in those 60 years old and older is 25 to 35 percent. Safe and effective vaccines are available for both of these diseases. Flu shots are needed annually by this group. Only one shot is needed to provide protection against pneumococcal disease. Appropriately used, these vaccines could prevent literally thousands of deaths each year. Unfortunately, available data indicate that very few adults in the target populations have been immunized.

Younger and currently healthy American adults also are at risk of being unimmunized against vaccine-preventable diseases. About 85 percent of all hepatitis B cases occur in persons 20 years of age or older. The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) estimates that about 180,000 or more cases of hepatitis B occur in adults in the U.S. each year, and more than one million people are chronic carriers of the hepatitis B virus in the United States. About one-fourth of these chronic carriers can be expected to die of chronic hepatitis, cirrhosis or liver cancer. Groups at greatest risk of acquiring hepatitis B include homosexually active males, and users of unlawful injectable drugs. Health care personnel, because they care for people with the illness, also are at greater risk than the general population. Unfortunately, data indicate that no more than 20 percent of the people in these two high-risk groups have received hepatitis B vaccine. A fear of AIDS may have contributed to its low use, but such fears are unfounded. Studies have clearly shown that hepatitis B vaccine does not contain the AIDS virus.

Jayhawks Beat Dutch, 75-55

by jon

We bused to Vandercook Lake on Friday and came up short on the scoreboard. We had problems getting the ball to fall through the hoop in the second period, allowing the Jayhawks to go up by 12 points at the intermission. They increased their lead by 8 in the final two stanzas to win.

Brian Gebhardt led our scorers, popping for 12 points. Bryan Barnard and Jason Van Deven contributed to 10 and 9 points respectively.

The Little Dutch snapped their losing streak by downing Vandy 63-54.

Denise Spalding

by jon

Denise is a Junior at MHS and is in her third year of Volleyball. She was a setter on the JV squad, but has changed over to a hitter and strong server on the Varsity level. She has worked very hard to improve her skills and has a promising strong spike. In the future, as we change our offensive structure, she will be called upon to use her strong spike more and more. She has served six perfect matches this season. Denise also enjoys bowling, carrying a 166 average, and will be seen on the baseball diamond this Spring.

If you want to diet don't eat in front of the television. So say authorities on the matter. They claim that people who munch while watching television keep on munching until they run out of something to eat.

Nothing soothes a male than a female. Six females work even better. That is how the Portugese calm down a hostile bull - the bull into which they throw darts but never kill during the bullfights. They send in six female critters and surrounded by them the infuriated bull settles right down and while his neck looks like a pincushion it doesn't seem to matter. He's got his troubles.

We seem to have an unbreakable habit of collecting paragraphs from here and there which seem to us at the moment to be interesting, and when we see the box in which they repose is getting full we take out a handful and share them with you. How long you sleep at night suggests something about how long you will live. Or, so recent studies indicate. People who sleep less than four hours at night have nearly a threefold chance of dying at an early age and people who sleep more than eight hours a night have a chance of dying at an early age.

Owning A Home Is Still A Good Investment

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants).

Homeowners, take notice. After December 31, 1986, the tax reform act will take away the opportunity for all taxpayers to fully deduct their interest payments on personal credit debts. But, you have an option. By using the equity in your home, you will still be able to finance a new car or your child's education, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs, and take a full tax deduction for the interest payments.

Beginning in 1987, taxpayers will lose one of the most frequently used deductions on their tax returns - the personal interest payment deduction. Next year, interest payments on personal loans, student loans and credit cards will be only 65% deductible on your income tax. In 1988 they will be only 40% deductible, 20% in 1989 and 10% in 1990. By 1991, taxpayers will not be able to take this deduction at all. As a homeowner, however, you may be able to use the equity in your home to refinance these personal loans and still fully deduct the interest.

Equity is defined as the market value of your home after subtracting what you owe through outstanding mortgages. By borrowing against that amount, you can use the money to finance just about anything. As long as the amount you borrow does not exceed the original purchase price of your home, plus improvements you have made, you can take a full deduction for the interest on your tax return.

How does this work? Here's an example. Suppose Mr. and Mrs. Smith own a house worth $150,000 which they bought for $120,000 a few years ago and they still owe $70,000 on their mortgage. Since most banks will limit borrowing to 80% of market value, we can figure the additional amount they can borrow by taking the market value of the house and multiplying it by 80%, then subtracting the amount they still owe on the mortgage ($150,000 times 80% equals $120,000 minus $70,000). Therefore, the Smiths can borrow up to $50,000 in equity on their home.

One important exception in the new law would allow the Smiths to borrow more money and deduct the interest under certain circumstances. If their daughter, Mary, was ready to go to college, they could borrow in excess of the original purchase price of their home, plus improvements, as long as the money that exceeded that amount was used for her education. They could also use this excess money to pay medical expenses. Taxpayers who refinanced their homes before August 16, 1986, can still fully deduct interest up to the amount borrowed, even if it exceeds the purchase price of the home.

As with borrowing any amount of money, there are risks if you find yourself in a position where you can't pay it back. If you default on a consumer loan or if you run up a bill on your credit card, you risk losing your good credit reputation. However, if you find you can't pay back your home equity loan, you could risk losing your home.

People who bought their home many years ago may find that they do not have the same deductibility benefits, dollar for dollar, that newer homeowners have.

If the Jones family bought a home similar to the Smith's ten years ago, the cost would have been considerably less and they would probably have a larger portion of their mortgage paid off. But, the difference between the original purchase price of the house, plus improvements, and its present market value will limit their tax-deductible borrowing power. They can still borrow in excess of the original purchase price of their home, but the money can only be used to pay for education and medical expenses if they want to take a deduction for the interest payments.

People who own condominiums can take advantage of a home equity loan, but people who live in a cooperative apartment can't. Co-op owners don't actually own their home. Rather, they own a share of the corporation that holds the title to the apartment they lease. There are several lenders, though, that offer these investors a similar loan opportunity with similar tax benefits.

Usually, there are fees involved with taking out an equity loan just as there are fees for a mortgage - title insurance, attorney's fees, appraisal and application fees - which in some cases can equal 5% of the approved line of credit. In this case, it might be more economical to take out a regular consumer loan, pay a higher interest rate (which is usually the case) and lose part of the interest deduction over the phase-out period of the tax reform law.

What about your original mortgage? Under the new tax laws, you will still be able to take a deduction for your interest payments on a mortgage for your primary residence as well as for a mortgage on a second home. A house is deemed to be a second home as long as you use it for at least 14 days a year.

What other tax benefits do you get from owning a home? The deduction for property taxes will continue to be available under the new tax laws. Also, if you plan on selling your home, you will still be able to defer the taxes on the profits from the sale if you reinvest the proceeds within two years in another home which costs at least as much as the one you sold. If you are 55 years or older, you can also take advantage of the one-time exclusion of $125,000 on your profit.

If you find that you are not eligible for the exclusion or if you plan to rent or buy a less expensive home, any recognized tax gain you make on the sale will be taxed at a maximum rate of 20% this year, but that will rise to a maximum of 28% in 1987.

Under the new tax law, your home will provide a substantial line of tax deductible credit, if necessary. It will offer a full deduction for interest paid on this credit, in most cases, and it will still be a good investment for the future.

"Wait And See" Says Farm Bureau

Farmers will have to "wait and see" how agriculture might fare under the governor's proposed 1987-88 state budget, according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"The governor's proposed budget appears to have agriculture faring about the same as the other budget areas," Nelson said. "We do have some concerns, however, that there may be some impact on agriculture that is disproportionate to the impact on some of the other areas. Farm Bureau will be thoroughly reviewing the proposed budget to see if those concerns are warranted."

The governor's proposed budget for the Michigan Department of Agriculture is $27.1 million in general revenue sharing dollars, up 6% from the 1986-87 MDA budget.

Major Changes In 1987 Fishing Guide

The 1987 fishing license guide, available from Department of Natural Resources (DNR) offices in February, will include three major changes this year, the DNR reported.

The changes include an earlier season opener in the Lower Peninsula for Walleye, Sauger, Northern Pike and Muskellunge; an increased catch limit on Atlantic Pink Salmon; and an increase in the minimum size limit on Muskellunge taken from Lake St. Clair and Chicago Lake in Iron County.

Anglers in the Lower Peninsula will enjoy a 20-day head start over last year for fishing Walleye, Sauger, Northern Pike and Muskellunge. The season will open April 25, and run through September 30.

"This will be a shot in the arm for Southern Michigan Walleye anglers, particularly," commented John Scott, DNR Fisheries Division Chief. "Walleye are found in abundance in streams in April, just after spawning. We expect to see some really great Walleye fishing in rivers, including the Muskegon, Grand, St. Joseph, Clinton and the Saginaw River System and its tributaries, such as the Tittabawassee, especially," he added.

The popular early spring Walleye opener was changed to mid-May in the late 60's when Walleye populations in Michigan declined sharply, a result of degraded water quality. With the enforcement of tough water quality laws and the elimination of commercial harvest, followed by intensive Walleye rearing and planting by the DNR, the Walleye population has rebounded, with Michigan touted as one of the finest states to fish for Walleye today.

Another significant change this year, allows anglers to take an additional five Pink Atlantic Salmon from streams during the April 25-September 30 season, in addition to the regular daily catch limit of five Pink Salmon.

"There is an abundance of Pink Salmon in Michigan waters, with good fishing particularly in our Great Lakes tributary streams," said Scott. "This increase in the Pink Salmon catch further enhances recreational fishing opportunities for our anglers," he added.

To allow for natural reproduction to occur and to provide for a better quality fishery, the Department took steps this year to increase the minimum size limit on Muskellunge taken from Lake St. Clair and Chicago Lake in Iron County. The size limit was raised from 38-40 inches on Lake St. Clair and from 30-36 inches on Chicago Lake.

"We've noticed reductions in both the number and average size of Muskies in Lake Chicago," said Scott. "Increasing the minimum size limit will allow the fishery more favorable reproduction and provide a finer trophy fish in the end."

Continued Scott, "Research studies on Lake St. Clair have shown that continued harvest of Muskellunge by anglers here is enough to pose a potential risk to Muskie stocks. The province of Ontario in Canada concurs with us, and also has increased the previous 38-inch minimum size limit to 40 inches on Lake St. Clair," he added.

To obtain the free 1987 Michigan Fishing Guide, persons may contact the DNR's Information Services Center at 517-373-1220. Fishing guides should be available at all DNR Regional, District and Field Offices by mid-February and will be available from fishing license dealers when fishing licenses are mailed to dealers the first of March.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Manchester Industrial Park

Mark VanBogelen opened the February 11, 1987, meeting of The Manchester Area Chamber of Commerce by the introduction of guests. Stan Gilbert introduced Alex and Josie Santiago, who recently opened A & J Travel Service. Other guests were John Vecchioni, who is in real estate; Cynthia Hudgins, from Carl Pursell's office; John Savage, Sharon Township Supervisor; and Tony Eichmuller, from Manchester Stamping.

Stan Gilbert reported for the Business Development Division. There are some prospective new businesses. He thinks '87 will be a good year for The Village and he is working to increase membership in the C of C. Neta Mills reported that there is the prospect of a new antique shop next to the Black Sheep Tavern.

David Little reported that he has formed a Blue Ribbon Task Force to make an assessment of the Double A situation. He sent out 22 letters to local business leaders, Village officials, local schools, and Washtenaw Community College. Dan Naimowicz said that he has been receiving 2 to 3 calls per week about the Double A buildings. The Task Force scheduled a tour for February 14th. They hope to come up with some good ideas on how to replace Double A but not compete with the Industrial Park. Washtenaw Community College would retrain local people.

Dan Naimowicz then discussed The Manchester Industrial Park. The Village has annexed the three parcels of land and now owns two of them. The next step is to bring utilities to the northern boundary of The Park site. It would be desirable to have someone construct a building on the southwest corner of the southern parcel; then utilities would be run down to it. The Village would like to acquire the central 10 acre parcel. It is estimated that six to eight 25,000 sq. ft. buildings could be built in The Park.

Earlier Jim Hendley offered to match $15,000 of Village funds to develop The Park. The Village accepted his offer. Dan invited Jim Hendley to speak. Jim introduced Alfred Strang, who was with Double A from 1936-78, and mentioned Robert Diferderfer, another long time Double A employee. Jim then presented a history of the formation of Double A Products and how the Manchester plant came into being. In 1939 Jim heard that Double A, which was in Tecumseh, was looking for a location for a new plant. He promoted the funding of a building. Members of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce chipped in money to put up the building. In 3-4 years, the local people got their money back in cash or in Double A stock. Since then the value of the stock has multiplied 40 times. Double A was incorporated in 1934 and has been in Manchester 47 years. To start new projects, local people must be enthusiastic and willing to put out effort. It was true when Double A started, when The Village raised $60-70,000 to bring the railroad into Manchester, and it will be true for The Industrial Park. Jim said that the closing of Double A could signal the beginning of new activity in Manchester. Jim reminded everyone, "If you want to sell peanuts, popcorn, and candy, don't get at the end of the parade."

During the Question and Answer period, Dan reviewed next steps in The Industrial Park development. The running of utilities to the northern boundary will be done this spring. The Village will publish a quality brochure describing The Park. The permit for development will be arranged. Financing for the acquisition of the remaining 10 acre parcel could be accomplished by the selling of some Village owned land for senior housing. Since The Park is a little small to receive state certification, The Village may ask Johnson Controls for permission to include their plant in The Park boundary.

Ash Wednesday Joint Worship

Sharon United Methodist Church will host an interfaith service of repentance and forgiveness Wednesday, March 4, at 8:00 p.m. It will be a joint worship with St. Mary's, Emanuel United Church of Christ, and Manchester United Methodist. Each of the pastors from these churches will participate in the imposition of ashes.

The churches welcome all to join in this spiritually renewing experience. Ash Wednesday marks the beginning of the forty days of Lent.

Banking Is One Of Life's Necessities. The Experience Should Be A Good One.

You flip a switch and the lights go on. Start your car and go your way. Day in and day out, so long as things work like they should, you never give them a second thought. It's the same with banking. You, along with the rest of us, fully expect your bank to work right. The first time. And every time. From our point of view, that isn't an unfair expectation.

In fact, living up to that is the best explanation of how and why we run First of America Bank the way we run it.

So in nearly 200 communities across the Midwest, our bankers are reminded that, even though they're part of a major bank company, they should play a major role in the community.

They're encouraged to make loan decisions locally. Which has made us one of the region's biggest lenders.

They're given all the resources of a big bank company to draw on, so they can offer customers a more resourceful bank.

Make Each Day An Eternity

Manchester Messenger
October 20, 1905

Young men and women sometimes start in life with good fortunes in their path. Early fortune is a bad thing for anyone. Better to meet a failure now and then and learn through experience than to grow ignorantly successful and lose without warning.

The person who gazes into the future and neglects the present would succeed if he became industrious and economical. Half the world leans. Less than half are burden bearers. The remainder are about capable of carrying their own loads.

All there is in life is happening now. Whether the future is previously formed or not we can not say. What the past has been is dead. We are concerned with neither extreme. Our life is being lived now. Live, therefore, in the present. Make each day an eternity. The opportunities that come in your path this day will never come again. The favorable conditions that are formed about you now may never again be at your command. We are wont to look into the past and think it a pathway of roses because we know how each thing turned out. We look into the future and think of what may come to pass, and as we dream we walk and crush fragrant flowers under our feet.

Yesterday is a burial ground. Tomorrow is a new country. To-day, with its trials, its hardships and its successes, is worth living. If you learn no lessons before the sun sets at night, count a day against you-a debt that you can never pay. If you have done nothing toward your improvement you have wasted the most valuable gift of creation time. Each tick of the clock, each monotonous swing of the pendulum brings you so much nearer the day of your death. No matter how much alone you may be, some one has builded hopes on you. Succeed, therefore, even although it be little at a time.

The fastest growing metropolitan area in the United States is said to be Phoenix, Arizona.

From 150,000 during World War II to more than two million expected fairly soon. It is said that the average nightly temperature has gone up there by eight degrees since 1948. Because of more buildings and paved streets.

Did you know that a king died in the United States? Peter of Yugoslavia did in 1947. He came here and got a job as a public relations man, but lost more money than he made. At age 47, he failed to survive a liver transplant and is buried in Libertyville, Illinois.

The expression "An apple a day keeps the doctor away" is said to have originated in Devonshire, England where it was said "Ate an apiel avore gain to bed makes the doctor bed his bread."

There is a word in the English language which contains all six vowels. Unquestionably.

Most of your childhood fears go away as you get older. But some get more intense. One such is

Manchester Family Service

Manchester Family Service, Inc. will hold the agency annual meeting on Friday, March 6, at 7:30 at the Manchester Township Hall. This is an open meeting to the public with special invitation to friends of the organization who have participated in its activities this past year. Refreshments will be served.

Three of the nine board members are elected each year. Anyone interested in being on the ballot for this election may contact either member of the nominating committee - Mrs. Willis Uphaus (428-8403) or Mrs. Jean Wheeler (428-8790). There will be a board meeting following the annual meeting, for election of officers and planning.

Daverman Named Corporate VP

Bob Daverman has been named Corporate Vice-President of Fry Associates, an Ann Arbor architectural design firm. "He's helped lead the firm through the successful completion of over seven million dollars in design and construction projects in 1986," said President Dick Fry in making the announcement.

Some of Daverman's projects include the Great Lakes Environmental Research Lab and the recently-completed North Campus Plaza in Ann Arbor, and renovations of the Michigan League Buffet and the Beta Theta Pi house on the University of Michigan campus.

Daverman, a native of Grand Rapids, now resides with his wife, Kathleen, in Manchester, where he serves as Planning Commissioner. He is also assistant chairman of the Manchester Historic District Study Group. The group's goal, says Daverman, is to incorporate the city's central business district as a State Historic District of Michigan, thus helping to preserve its architectural character.
