Fishing Events Scheduled in Michigan

A $2,000 brown trout, at $1,000 coho, a $500 steelhead and the chance to win $5,000 in gold should help lure anglers to 73 fishing events scheduled through September in Michigan, reports AAA Michigan.

AAA Michigan's 1987 Fishing Events Guide lists 73 fishing activities which should appeal to sportsmen as well as provide excitement and entertainment for family outings. There are 25 events in East Michigan, 22 in West Michigan, 12 in Southeast Michigan and 11 in the Upper Peninsula.

Activities range from one-day contests such as Cass Lake's Bass Blastoff June 13 in West Bloomfield Township near Detroit to summer-long events like the Sesquicentennial Fishing Gold Rush that concludes September 13, on Lake Huron.

The Gold Rush, in which a lucky angler will take home $5,000 in gold coins, offers prizes for the heaviest chinook, coho, steelhead, lake trout or brown trout. A drawing among the top winners will determine the gold winner.

The 265-resident town of Honor will swell September 4-6 for the 22nd anniversary of the first coho plants on Labor Day weekend. Honor's fishing contest offers $1,000 for the largest coho caught.

Individuals who would rather eat than fish can join some 10,000 persons to munch fish sandwiches at Bay Port August 1-2.

Michigan's productive lakes and streams will be even more attractive on Michigan's Free Fishing Days June 6-7 when anglers can fish without a license.

Additionally, anglers who put in their boats at state facilities or fish from state parks will have a free day, June 7, when all daily mooring or launch fees will be waived at the 11 state-owned harbors and 26 state public access sites.

The biggest fresh water fish ever recorded as having been caught with a rod and reel was a 468-pound sturgeon caught in California in 1983.

Heritage Day — Thursday, July 16th

Heritage Day will be celebrated in Manchester on Thursday, July 16, beginning at 1 p.m. on the Commons on West Main Street between South Washington and South Macomb Streets. The Manchester Area Historical Society would like to encourage everyone to wear clothing modeled after that worn during the early days of Michigan's statehood.

As in any period, styles varied with the person's taste and economic status. In general, women's dresses were full skirted and usually had leg-o-mutton sleeves. The waist appeared very small because the skirts were full and the cape-like appearance of the bodice gave greater breadth to the shoulders. Boning or padding was used in the sleeves to produce the desired effect. Tightly laced corsets were worn, but women were advised on how to create the illusion of a small waist without the "agony as well as injury of tight lacing." Most dresses fastened down the center back with buttons, lacing, or concealed closings of hooks and eyes. Bonnets were worn, but larger brimmed hats trimmed with ribbons and flowers also became fashionable. Wadded, quilted petticoats provided warmth and width to support the full skirts. Bustles were also worn during the period.

As part of Michigan's Sesquicentennial Anniversary, a Sesquicentennial Covered Wagon Train has been organized to travel from Jackson to Detroit. This Wagon Train celebration will be in Manchester on June 25, at the Klager School about 5 p.m.

Wagon Train Arrives!

You are welcome to join in on the trek to Chelsea if you have a wagon or saddle horse. Contact Jake Haag at 517-536-4486 or 517-536-8311.

The Wagon Train will start its journey on June 21 in Jackson, with stops in Michigan Center and Napoleon on the 22nd, Norvell and Brooklyn on the 23rd Onsted and Adrian on the 24th.

On the 25th they will embark for Tecumseh then Clinton and on to Manchester. On the 26th they will leave for Chelsea, then Saline on the 27th. All are welcome.

Dress clothing for men followed the same contours as women's clothing. Coats with tails and waistcoats (vests) were double breasted and fitted at the waist, thus emphasizing the shoulders. Waistcoats went to the waist or just below and overlapped the trousers. They were fastened by lacing them in the back. Some had shawl collars that further emphasized the shoulders. Fancy cravats or ties (similar to bow ties) were popular. Men's shirts had full sleeves (some nearly as full as the women's) and separate collars. An ingenious blacksmith's wife is credited with the separate collars when she became tired of providing her fastidious husband with a clean shirt each day. Men wore top hats. All of the clothing

A Ride of 6,000 Miles

First Train From New York To California Direct.

Manchester Enterprise April 29, 1869

On Thursday the first consignment of six first-class passenger cars arrived in Detroit en route by Blue Line, for California direct. They are from the Mason Manufacturing Company of Springfield, Mass., and are admitted by railroad men on the different lines of road over which they have passed, to be the finest coaches that ever went West. They are certainly very elegant cars, and make up a splendid looking train. The interior appointments are all that can be desired for ease, elegance and convenience. The wood-work is very beautiful, made up of black walnut, birds' eye and curly maple, ash and satin wood, and beautifully inlaid. The painting and decorations are chaste and beautiful. The elliptic top windows are of elegantly cut glass. The ventilating apparatus with the latest improvements. Windows with double blinds; and the seats, which are of Burton's patent, are cushioned with the Wasson patent, and are certainly all that can be desired for comfort, or as they will be designated on the plains, "high for comfort." The cars are furnished with all the conveniences desirable for a long journey. The trucks are of the latest make and with three springs, and the cars are supplied with Crean Patent Safety Brake, the same as used on the New York Central. The train is in charge of Mr. Robert Knox, the gentlemanly agent of the Central Pacific Railroad of California; and we should say that the company had made a happy choice in selecting him as their first conductor from New York to California. We wish him a pleasant trip. The train left Thursday noon for Chicago; from thence it goes to Omaha via the Northwestern Railroad, and from Omaha to Ogden, the terminus of the Union Pacific, 900 miles further west.

On Monday next there are expected here two locomotives for the Central, and during the next week two baggage cars and four more coaches. There are sixty cars now ready for use, and will be sent on as soon as they can be got out of the works.

The first regular trains are expected to commence running on the 10th of May.

How The Broil Began

With Sesquicentennial reminding us of historical matters, now is a good time to recall the past of Manchester's most famous local event - the Chicken Broil.

In 1954, Luther Klager took some suggestions from Dr. Howard Zindell of MSU and presented them to the Exchange Club of Manchester, the fore-runner of today's Optimist Club. The idea was for a modest fundraiser, an outdoor chicken barbeque whose profits would go to a worthy local cause. Club members thought it was a good enough plan to put into action, and in July of that year, barbeque pits went up at the Athletic Field for the first time. The men of Manchester cooked enough chicken to feed about 1500 people, and the broil cleared about $1000. This money went to the first of many public improvements funded by the broil - a new fence for the Athletic Field. That first broil was sufficiently successful to repeat the next year, and the next, and the next...

33 years later, the broil is headed for its 34th go-round. Like most successful enterprises, it has both changed and stayed the same. The broil now feeds 12,000-14,000 people, several times the population of Manchester, and with the growth in volume have come improvements in efficiency, so all those hungry mouths can be fed as quickly as possible. For example, a conveyer belt now speeds the assembly of take-out dinners, themselves one of the broil's first innovations, and the butter used to baste the chickens in now sprayed on instead of dabbed with a brush. Each committee has its separate task polished to a skill. The basic recipes, however, have not changed. The chicken still roasts slowly for two to two and a half hours for maximum tenderness, flavored only with butter and a dash of salt. The cole slaw is still assembled according to the secret recipe of Dr. Jones, who was Manchester's dentist back in 1954. The rest of the meal is the same good old American fare as always - potato chips, radishes, and dinner rolls.

In the 1970's when the energy crisis was pinching fuel tanks, a new tradition began - the horse and wagon shuttles from the High School parking lot. The sound of big hooves clopping and the jingling of harness has become as much a part of the broil as the sight of men in white caps turning racks of golden chicken in a haze of fragrant smoke.

By now, some Manchester families are introducing a third generation to working at the broil. This year's broil takes place July 16, starting as usual at 4:00 p.m. at the Athletic Field. Come on out to enjoy some chicken and celebrate this part of Manchester's heritage. Tickets are available at many local businesses or from broil volunteers for $4.50 before the broil, and $5.00 at the gate.

Arts in the Park

The Manchester Recreation Task Force Committee on Summer '87 is planning as one of its activities - ARTS IN THE PARK for ages K thru 8th grades. The dates will be August 3, 5 and August 10th and 12th, Monday and Wednesday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m.

Saturday-Night Vandals

Saturday night, June 6, 1987, was a sad night for the people in Manchester, where the pride and respect for our American Flag is very evident. It seems a few, be it boys or girls, thought stealing American Flags would be an attention 'getter' - well it did. About seven flags were found in the river behind 200 Riverside Drive, near the Duncan St. Bridge. Isral Clouse and John Uphouse found them Sunday. The boys took them to the police station which was closed at that time, and then to the Johnson Control office, whose flag had their name on it. Two flags had part of their poles still attached. Perhaps the flags can be restored by cleaning.

Lets talk "Flag Pride" with our young flag stealers and destroyers. If any of you, (and I'm betting you have) a brother, father or a best friend involved with one or more of our recent wars, what would they say and think of your deed? What do you think about, or do when on Memorial Day our Manchester great band members strike up the Star Spangled Banner, the Marine Hymn, Anchors Aweigh, in honor of all the brave men who LOST their way of life and FREEDOM to make a free America for you and me. I know what I do - I cry.

So young people, the next time you want some fun, don't choose to dishonor our beautiful American Flag, and Country.

Some day in your future you will know what I mean and I'm sure you will be sorry for what you have done.

Too bad, The Old Soldier in the cemetery is made of stone - just when he was given the American Flag to keep his history and honor alive, it had to be taken away from him June 6.

Senior Citizens News

Now the grass can turn green again, wasn't it nice to have rain? Hope it didn't spoil Father's Day celebrations (and it will be back to mowing for some of them). Better than shoveling snow! The men will enjoy putting around the greens on Thursday, June 25. And some of them will convene at Pleasant Lake at 8:00 p.m. for the monthly Senior Citizens Card Party, also on the 25th, come one and all and join them.

Friday, June 26 - Seniors will have potluck at the Center at 12 noon. Bingo will follow. It has been reported that they're having lots of fun at these Friday get-togethers, come on out.

Saturday, June 27 - There is the Mich-Con production at the Michigan Theater which our seniors plan to attend and will leave the Center at 12:30.

Sunday, June 28 - Seniors will leave at 2:00 for the Crosswell Theater in Adrian and sat at Jonathan's afterwards.

There is a need for volunteers to 'man' the Center on Mondays and Wednesdays this summer. Also needed is one person to stay at the Center on July 10 (Friday), if you are not going along to Monroe. Volunteers are also needed for registration for the Mill Run on Saturday, August 1. Would you please call Rubena Boelter - 428-8665, to help on one of these days?

Trip Director, Helen Knickerbocker, reminds us of the following July trips for your consideration: MANCHESTER BUS - July 10: Floral City Festival at Monroe, leave at 9:00; July 12: Crosswell Theater "A Chorus Line" in Adrian, leave at 2:00; and July 20: Shopping at Briarwood, leave at 9:00. AMERICAN TOUR CLUB - July 15 & 16: Chesaning (overnight); July 16: Chesaning (1 day); July 25: Pat Boone and Anita Bryant Show; July 30: Bob-Lo Island; and July 31-August 1: Bob-Lo Island. You are urged to call Helen at 428-7239 to reserve your spot on any or all of these trips. She can also provide information, so call her soon.

Minutes of Meeting June 8, 1987

The meeting was called to order at 8 p.m. by Gerald Marion, Chairman. The Minutes of the May 11th Meeting were read and approved as read.

Roll: Present: Gerald Marion, Karen Weidmayer, Gabe Dull, Victor Mann, Mark Iwaniki and Louise Fraumann. Absent: Deanna Becklehamer. Attending: Doug Parr, Supv., Harlin Fraumann, Zoning Inspector, L. Dayss, Trustee. Lucille Blumhardt, Historian and 12 Electors.

OLD BUSINESS:
The Zoning Inspector reported that the property at the corner of U.S. 12 and Willow Road, zoned commercial, now has a retail furniture business there. Although it is compatible with business noted in our Zoning Ordinance for Commercial Zoning, it does not comply with the wording of the ordinance. It was voted, unan., on a motion from Mark Iwaniki, seconded by Victor Mann, to permit the business on a "General Retail" description. When the Zoning Ordinance and the Zoning Map are adjusted to bring the language of each into compliance with the other, a Public Hearing will be held, with a conditional use possible.

NEW BUSINESS:
The new business was a discussion of the possibility of an extraction operation on 80 acres of the Barbour-Tirb Gravel Pit. Mr. Fred Pentara offered to bring in affidavits showing that the pit has been in continuous use since before October 21, 1957, in which case it will be under the "Grandfather Clause", and the "non-conforming extraction operations" Section 11.10 of our Zoning Ordinance will apply. Mr. Pentara will deposit these proofs and affidavits with our Township Clerk. He expressed willingness to be a good citizen, and to conduct the extraction operation in a reasonable fashion. He offered to put up a bond for the roads, for restoration, and to provide a written plan and the sketch of proposed operations.

The Meeting was adjourned at 10 minutes of 10 p.m. on motion from Fraumann and Mann. The next meeting will be on July 13, 1987.

Respectfully Submitted,
Louise Fraumann, Secretary

June Newlyweds

On Saturday, June 13, 1987, Gail J. Liebeck became the bride of Gregory A. Kuhl both of Manchester. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz Wackenhut of Chelsea. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Kuhl of Hendersonville, N.C., formerly of Chelsea.

The Reverend Erwin Koch officiated at the ceremony which was held at St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Chelsea, MI.

The bride was attended by Michelle Kuhl of Manchester, daughter of the groom. The best man was James Diedrich of Manchester, brother-in-law of the groom. Melody Liebeck, daughter of the bride, was flower girl.

A reception was held at the Chelsea Rod and Gun Club. Following a brief honeymoon in Indiana the newlyweds are making their home in Manchester.

Heritage Day

was made by hand. The first patent on the sewing machine was not obtained until 1846 by Elias Howe, Jr.

Heritage Day festivities will begin at 1 p.m. on the Commons on West Main Street between South Washington and South Macomb Streets with demonstrations of crafts of the 1830s. The new gazebo will be dedicated by State Attorney Frank J. Kelley at 2 p.m. and the Washtenaw County Historical Society will present Manchester Township with a certificate in recognition of its founding on March 11, 1837. Entertainment types "O" and "A+" are will be provided by the Glen Erin Pipers. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

Summer Bloodmobile

The regular summer Bloodmobile for the Manchester Area will be July 20, at the American Legion Hall in Manchester. The American Legion Auxiliary will host this open clinic from 12 noon to 6 p.m. The Auxiliary is furnishing the canteen as well as workers for the clinic.

According to Jenell Joiner, associate director of Donor Resources Development, our community can expect another shortage of blood this summer. One factor that contributes to the shortage of blood in the summer is that individuals who usually donate blood throughout the year are not available to donate in the summer. "A large part of our donations come from individuals who attend high school or college, but these institutions are closed in the summer months. Auto plants are often shut down for retooling, and church blood drives decrease due to the heat and summer vacations," explained Joiner.

A critical shortage of blood could result in the cancellation or postponement of elective surgery. Cancer patients who have an ongoing need for blood may not be able to progress in their treatment, and individuals who are victims of automobile or other accidents may not have the necessary blood available that they need for surgery.

Your local Red Cross Bloodmobile coordinators are encouraging first-time donors and "Dormant" donors who haven't donated blood recently to give recognition to this summer. Individuals with March 11, 1837. Entertainment types "O" and "A+" are encouraged to make an extra effort to donate blood this encouraged to attend.

summer. Known as the universal blood type "O" can be transfused to patients with other blood types under certain medical conditions. It is also the most common blood type, with "A+" being the second most common.

Every day the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Services must collect 1000 pints of blood to provide an adequate supply for members of our community. Bring life to a hospital patient whose summer may be marred by sickness or accident.

MICROWAVE BASICS

Picnic Fare Microwave Easy

A picnic is not complete without baked beans on the menu. And your microwave oven can make preparing them a cinch. The usual long hours of baking in the conventional oven has been cut to just minutes in the microwave oven. Try this new recipe for Barbecue Beef 'N Beans developed by the Banquet Foods Test Kitchens just in time for the picnic season.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 green onion, sliced (about 1/4 cup) | 1 can (8 1/4 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained |
| 2 packages (4 oz. ea.) Banquet Cooking 'N Bake Barbecue Sauce with Sliced Beef, thawed | 2 tablespoons bacon bits |
| 1 can (8 oz.) pork and beans in tomato sauce | 1 tablespoon molasses |
| | 1/2 teaspoon chili powder |

In medium microwave-safe bowl, combine green onion, barbecue sauce with sliced beef, beans, crushed pineapple, bacon, molasses and chili powder. Heat, covered, on HIGH 5 to 7 minutes or until mixture is hot and bubbly, stirring occasionally.

With most pre-teens, it is hard to tell when they have tried alcohol because they do not drink enough to have noticeable effects. But while your child may not show signs of alcohol experimentation, your refrigerator or liquor cabinet may be watered or going to fast, may alert you to a problem.

If you suspect your pre-teen has experimented with your liquor, you can immediately lock up or remove your supply. Next, talk with your child. I was scanning the TV dial the other evening when I came across on PBS from Boston a presentation of the best in figure skating from Boston. The affair was a show offered to a large audience of the best from the world of figure skating. The participants were all Olympic medal winners from the Olympic games of the past several years and the group consisted of participants in their late teens and early twenties and the various numbers they presented were out of this world. They were perfection itself and showed that the participants had spent many many hours perfecting their routines.

We hear much about the present conditions prevailing among our youngsters and it seems to me their sins are given a great deal of publicity in the media, while accomplishments by many of our youngsters which make this world a better place in which to live are sadly neglected.

For example the recital which was given was a benefit for the "Jimmy Fund" which during the past few years has raised some $600,000 in this manner for this fund which is used to detect and treat cancer in children.

It is very evident that the participants in the above event had no time even if they wanted to participate in the world of drugs or alcohol. Their entire energies have been devoted to useful and rewarding pursuits. May we thank all of those who participated.

Then we idly scanned the Enterprise and therein this issue found the Honor Roll for the current marking period at the local high school and were quite surprised at the percentage of the enrollment in each grade was named as honor students. They must have spent most of their energies in scholastic pursuits and as a result we are certain will help to make this old world a better place in which to live. Let's give much more praise to those who in their quiet way, are doing much for a bright future for their world.

A world traveler told us the other day that knives are not readily available in Russia. Diners pick up the entire piece of meat with their fork and nibble around the edges.

You say you're depressed. Then write yourself a letter. List all the dumb things you ever did so say students of mental disorders. Then forgive yourself one by one for each. For paper and pencils see a local wholesaler.

We see where a minute of TV time during this year's Super Bowl game sold for a half million dollars.

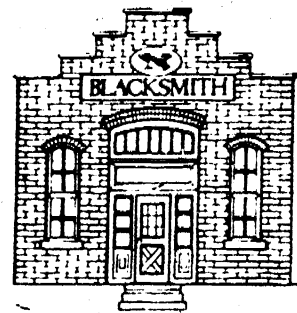

The Greek mythology a statue of Diana stood in a grove at Ephesus. The reeds hereabouts made music in the winds. If a chaste maiden entered the music was pleasant. If an unchaste gal showed up the music was harsh. It was not a place you went to study harmony.

Remember back when the $10,000 you spent for a car included a chauffeur for a few years?

I am one of the fortunate who some time ago quit smoking. The urge occasionally returns but what keeps me from smoking cigarettes is the price of a package.

The idea of teacher's competency tests seems strange to us who think that those of us who show a willingness to be cooped up all day with 25 kids is a conclusive proof of incompetency.

Mutual Funds: A Primer For The Uninitiated

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.)

Open-end or closed-end? Front-end load, back-end load or no-load? Aggressive growth or growth plus income? To the uninitiated, the world of mutual funds may, at first, seem mind-boggling. But the concept is actually quite easy to understand, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs.

But simply, a mutual fund is a financial service that pools the money of individual investors, or shareholders as they are called, to purchase a specially selected group of investments. Fund managers invest the shareholder's money according to the objectives of the particular fund. Mutual funds are designed for both large and small investors, with many funds accepting minimum opening deposits of $500 or $1,000 or even less. And you can sell your shares quickly, often by just making a phone call.

The mutual fund industry has given small investors the opportunity to participate in big-ticket markets such as mortgage-backed securities or the common stock of major corporations with stable records of earnings and dividend payments. Buying shares in a mutual fund gives you the chance to have a wider selection of investments than would normally be possible for a small investor. And this allows you to spread your risks - one poor performer isn't going to drag down all the rest.

A mutual fund also gives you the advantage of having your money invested and managed by a team of professional managers who study the investment market every day.

The majority of people invest in open-end funds which create new shares for investors as money comes in. The price is set daily by the funds net asset value per share - a fund's total assets after deducting liabilities, divided by the number of shares outstanding. Closed-end funds issue a fixed number of shares which are then traded either on an exchange or over the counter. The price of the shares may sell above or below the net asset value, based on supply and demand.

Mutual funds can be differentiated by the way they charge. You should be fully informed as to how much you will be paying to have your money managed. All funds charge investors for brokerage commissions and daily management fees, usually in the form of an annual management fee collected from the fund's assets.

"Load funds" are sold through brokers who charge a "load" - or sales commission - when an order is placed. These up-front loads vary - but generally range between four percent and eight and one-half percent of the total price of the shares you buy. "Low-load funds" refer to funds that charge an up-front fee of one percent to two percent. In return for the load charge, you should expect advice as to what fund is the most appropriate for your financial objectives.

Yet another type of load fund is the "contingent deferred" or "back-end load fund" which has no up-front load but, instead, charges a redemption fee. Back-end load funds charge a certain percentage if you redeem your shares within a certain period - similar to the "early withdrawal penalty" charged by banks for CDs that are redeemed prior to maturity.

"No-load funds" are marketed by the funds themselves. When you purchase a no-load fund, there is no sales charge. The management of no-load funds will provide information on the types of funds offered, but you will not have the personalized attention of a broker to assist you, as is the case with load funds. It is up to you as a prospective investor to select a fund, write for a prospectus and contact the fund to place an order.

To be fully informed as to what load, brokerage and management fees you will be paying, it is essential that you carefully read the fund's prospectus and Statement of Additional Information.

HOW DO I CHOOSE?

At last count there were well over 1,600 different funds to choose from. Most funds fit into basic broad categories distinguished by their investment objectives. Among the most common are Aggressive Growth Funds, Growth Funds, Income Funds, Growth Plus Funds, Balanced Funds, Bond Funds, International Funds, Money Market Funds and Specialty Funds.

Before you begin the process of selecting a fund, you must know what your objectives are and how much risk you are willing to take. If you're looking for capital growth and have no need for current income, perhaps a growth fund could meet your needs. If you're a very conservative investor dependent on current income, an income fund might be your best bet. If you're well versed in a particular field or industry, a specialty fund investing in your area of expertise might appeal to you.

Because individual investors may have several needs and because the economic environment changes, most funds are part of diverse fund families. This means that you can move your money from one fund to another with just a phone call and sometimes no charge. For example, you can start off with half of your money in a money market fund and half in a growth fund. Then, if the conditions seem right, you can switch part of your funds to a growth plus income fund.

If you wish to open a front-end or back-end load fund, you may want to turn to a broker. If you wish to open a no-load fund, you might consult the many mutual fund performance rating charts appearing in various publications such as FORBES and MONEY magazines. Don't be tempted to look for the fund with the highest annual performance. Instead, consider a fund that has performed respectably over the last five or ten years. In either case, read the prospectus carefully before investing.

WHAT ABOUT TAX REFORM?

The new tax law, which eliminates the preferential treatment of capital gains, is likely to have an impact on investment strategies. Beginning in 1988, income derived from capital appreciation will be taxed the same as that from interest and dividends, eliminating one of the key tax advantages of growth funds. At the same time, lower tax rates give new luster to income-producing investments.

Beginning in 1987, you will have to pay taxes on your share of the fund's management costs or advisory fees. In the past, these charges were deducted from earnings before the fund's results were reported to shareholders. Beginning in 1987, this figure will show up on your 1099 form and you will have to report it as income. And since the new limits on the deductibility of investment expenses will apply to mutual fund shareholders, you will be able to offset the amount with a deduction only if management fees and other itemized miscellaneous deductions add up to more than two percent of your adjusted gross income.

CPAs suggest that you give careful consideration to your financial needs and objectives before investing in a mutual fund.

It must be hard for baseball players to understand people who have to work all year without spring training.

When you put something aside for a rainy day keep your umbrella handy.

Oil Overcharge Refunds Available

Between August 19, 1973 and January 27, 1981, when crude oil was under government price controls, oil companies overcharged consumers for petroleum-based products. Farmers will be able to get millions of their fuel dollars back by applying for a refund from a crude oil overcharge fund administered by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE). Farm Bureau, working with the DOE, has developed a form to help farmers apply for their refunds. These forms will be available through Michigan Farm Bureau's 69 county Farm Bureau located throughout the state. Using this form, farmers can total all of their gasoline, diesel, kerosene, motor oil, heating fuel oil, propane and grease purchases from independent sources for each of the years covered by the overcharge settlement. Refunds are available for the total gallons of petroleum products purchased in the period, whether for on-or off-farm uses. For information on the oil overcharge fund and what it means to farmers, contact Michigan Farm Bureau President Jack Laurie, 517-323-7000, Ext. 500. If you'd like a copy of the form, we'd be glad to send you one upon request; call 517-323-7000; Ext. 508.

Questions And Answers About T.I.N.'s For Dependents

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 includes a provision that taxpayer identification numbers be provided in most cases when a dependent is claimed on a tax return. The following questions and answers have been prepared to address this new requirement.

 Q. My wife and I claim our three children as dependents on our return. Must we do something different when we list them on our tax form for 1987?
 A. Yes, if they are at least 5 years old. Beginning with your 1987 return, you must include the taxpayer identification number of any dependent you claim on your return who is at least 5 years of age. Usually, this is your dependent's social security number.
 Q. I intend to claim my daughter as a dependent on my 1987 return. She does not turn five until the beginning of December. Must I still provide her social security number?
 A. Yes, if the dependent reaches the age of five by the end of the tax year, a number must be provided.
 Q. I claim my mother-in-law as a dependent on my return. Does this new law affect my return?
 A. Yes. The reporting requirement affects any dependent, not just dependent children.
 Q. If I need more information on this new law, what can I do?
 A. You can obtain a copy of the free IRS Publication 501, "Exemptions," by calling the IRS Tax Forms/Publications number listed in local telephone directories under U.S. Government. If you need information on obtaining a social security number for your child, ask at any Social Security Administration Office for the free leaflet, "Applying for a Social Security Number."

An Old Crop - Potential New Crop?

You are invited to attend a Twilight Tour featuring Winter Canola (rape seed) plots at the Alvin Ernst Farm, 9440 Spies Road, Ann Arbor. The tour (7:30 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.) will be held Thursday, July 2, 1987, and is sponsored by the Clayton Ernest Family and the Washtenaw County Cooperative Extension Service. Rape seed is an old crop dating back to the 20th Century, B.C. It's traditional use has been for industrial lubricants and for livestock feed. The Canadian's have developed rape seed varieties that have low levels of erucic acid (important to oil quality) and low glucosinolate levels. The pungent odor and better taste is important to livestock meal consumption. These new double low varieties carry the trademark of "Canola". The Canola oil is in demand for use in margarine, shortening, mayonnaise, salad and cooking oils. This is the second year for Winter Canola on the Ernst Farm. You will be able to view the plots and hear from experience how the crop has been raised, harvested and marketed. Special guests for the evening will be Tom Bloomer, Dexter Mill, discussing the marketing of Canola and Dr. Larry Copeland, Extension Crop Specialist, Michigan State University. For further information please contact Joseph W. Ames, Extension Agricultural Agent at 313-973-9510.

no inoculant or preservative can increase the quality of haylages. They only help reduce loss in storage, according to Robert Patton and Herb Bucholtz, MSU Extension Dairy Specialists. These are some of the products available to producers: Propionic acid. It's a very effective preservative, but it is expensive and quite corrosive. Sodium diacetate. It's quite effective, but it is corrosive to feeding equipment. Anhydrous ammonia. Field experience has shown good results when 5 to 7 pounds anhydrous ammonia are added to each ton of haylage. Experimental evidence about its effectiveness is lacking, however. Exercise caution when using any of these preservatives to prevent chemical burns to the eyes, hands or skin. Microbial inoculants. At least 100,000 live lactobacillus bacteria per gram of haylage should be present, or 91 billion per ton. MSU research shows that the most effective inoculants are those sold as frozen liquids or freeze-dried products. These inoculants are thawed in water just before being sprayed on the haylage at the chopper or blower. The problem with all preservatives, even those that are effective, is that they are not cost effective. They also lack consistent results. One of the better ideas for preserving haylage quality is spraying water on the alfalfa just ahead of the chopper. The wetting helps prevent alfalfa leaf loss. For some producers, this has resulted in a 2 percent increase in crude protein. Two to three sprayer nozzles delivering 20 gallons of water per acre are attached to the pickup head on the chopper. This does not increase haylage moisture content, but it does save leaves and suppress dust. About 20 gallons are required per chopper load. The tank can be carried on the tractor, on the chopper or on the wagon. You can use a recreational vehicle-type electric water pump with the pump switch installed in the tractor cab. Avoid using tanks that have contained pesticides, fertilizer or herbicides. Purchase new tanks instead.

Be Careful When Using Chemicals

If you've used a good management practices harvested on time, chopped the forage to about 3/8 inch and packed the haylage well - you probably don't need to use a preservative or inoculant. Although some of these products have proven effective,

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother Tressie M. Nortely, who passed away 16 years ago, June 25, 1971. Like falling leaves, years slip by. But loving memories, will never die. Memories are like threads of gold, They never tarnish or grow old. Sadly missed by Her children Bessie, Arlone, Richard and Grandchildren

Cards of Thanks

Our deepest appreciation and thanks to everyone who helped in making our 50th Wedding Anniversary a very happy and memorable occasion. We were honored to have our family, neighbors, and nearby friends, as well as guests from Florida, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Washington state share in our celebration, despite the oppressive heat and humidity. We also appreciate very much all of the beautiful cards from those who couldn't attend. A very special thank you to the ladies of Manchester United Methodist Church who sacrificed a hot and humid Sunday afternoon to serve our guests.

A million times we missed her. A million times we cried. If love alone could've saved her, She never would've died. In life we love her deeply, In death we love her still. In our hearts she holds a place, No one can ever fill. Wonderful memories woven in gold, Deep in our hearts her memory is kept, to love, to cherish, and never to forget.

May God Bless all of you, Jean and Ethel Wheeler

I would like to extend my greatest appreciation to the American Legion Auxiliary of Manchester, for sponsoring me to attend the very memorable and honorable Girl's State held at C.M.U. these past nine days. While my knowledge of the government grew, I met some very special friends that I will cherish forever.

Thanks again for allowing me this great opportunity. I loved it! Sincerely Yours, Kimberli Lockridge

July Historical Events

The American flag was first raised over Michigan on July 11, 1796, in Detroit when troops under the command of Lieutenant Colonel John Francis Hamtramck assumed control of Fort Detroit from the British.

The distinction of being first also is claimed by residents of Monroe, where, according to Dennis Au, assistant director of the Monroe County Historical commission, "local speculation" assigns July 10, 1796 as the first unfurling of the flag over Michigan soil. The theory is that to get to Detroit, American troops first had to pass through Monroe. A flagpole and a plaque mark the place where the event is thought to have occurred.

Michigan's unique 26-star flag first flew above the state 150 years ago on July 4. This flag, distinct because of its great star shaped field, will be displayed by hundreds of Michigan communities this year in observance of the Sesquicentennial.

On July 2, 175 years ago, William Hull, Brigadier General in Command of the Northwest Army and Michigan Territorial Governor, began the Michigan campaign of the War of 1812 by losing his luggage. The luggage, aboard an American ship was seized by the British at Fort Madlen in Canada near the mouth of the Detorir River.

Lieutenant Porter Hanks, the commander of Fort Mackinac, first learned of the declaration of war on July 17, 1812 when an overwhelmingly superior British force demanded his surrender. Rather than having his men destroyed by the British artillery, Hanks surrendered without resistance. Hanks was killed on August 15, in Detroit by a British shell which exploded as he was being tried by court martial for greatly superior Confederate forces, 1863.

July 8 - The first and only monarchy in American history is established on Beaver Island by Mormon leader James Jesse Strang, 1850.

July 12 - Stevens T. Mason, aged 19, named Secretary of Michigan Territory, 1831.

July 14 - Gerald Ford, nation's 38th president, born in Omaha, Nebraska, 1913.

July 18 - Escape prone Marquette prison inmates begin designing escape proof cellblock in exchange for sentence reductions, 1921.

July 21 - Michigan Senator Zachariah Chandler is among fashionable onlookers from Washington, D.C. who abandoned their picnics during the Union retreat from the Battle of Bull Run, 1861.

July 25 - Michigan's first continuous newspaper begins publishing in Detroit (Detroit Gazette), 1817.

July 27 - Earthquake rocks southern Michigan, 1980.

July 30 - Jimmy Hoffa, former Teamsters Union president, disappears, 1975.

July 30 - Governor John Swainson (1961-62) born in Windsor, Ontario, 1925.

Flags Presented To Library

An American flag, a Michigan flag, a Michigan sesquicentennial flag and two new flag poles were recently given to the Manchester Township Library by the American Legion Auxiliary. Edna Knauss, Americanism chairman, is pictured on the right presenting the flags to librarian Margaret Goodrich.

Chicken Broil Brings More Than Money

Over the past 33 years, the Chicken Broil has given much to the community of Manchester. This article was supposed to tell how much the actual value of those things by today's prices might be.

Instead of giving you cash value, however, this writer would like to remind the public of all the things the Chicken Broil brings to Manchester that have no assigned monetary value.

At the Chicken Broil, boys learn sometimes for the first time what it means to really work hard to complete a job. They learn that it doesn't matter whether it is hot or rainy, there is still a job to finish. And they can take pride in the accomplishment of that job.

The men learn what it is like to work with friends and neighbors - people they see every day but may never see in the workplace. And they learn what it is like to work hard to put a meal on the table.

Women learn that sometimes men can be just as good or better at barbecuing chicken and it sure is nice to sit back and watch them do it!

As well as all these, the community has learned that it can accomplish more as a whole than as individuals. We have learned that it is possible to make improvements that might otherwise never have been made. The results of the Chicken Broil have given us a pride in the community that we can all feel.

Being a part of that community spirit and being able to contribute to the Chicken Broil effort brings us all together as neighbors and friends, working for one goal. That immediate goal may be serving up a bunch of chicken dinners, but the by-product of the cohesive effort is a proud, independent and closely knit community.

These are the things of value that this writer sees as a result of the Chicken Broil. The annual event is a lasting benefit to the community that draws its people closer together each year in their efforts to produce the best Broil yet. And each year does seem - a little bit - better than the year before.

Hats off to Manchester - may all your chickens be plump and juicy!

Fair Time Is Fast Approaching

Manchester Community Fair time is fast approaching. Are you planning your float or entry for the parade? Come join the fair celebration of "HAPPY BIRTHDAY MICHIGAN" our theme for this year, in accordance with our states Sesquicentennial. Honored as Parade Marshalls for the 1987 fair are Gov. and Mrs. John B. Swainson.

Bloodmobile Reminder

Now's the time for people who have never donated blood before to do it, says the American Red Cross Blood Services. Red Cross also reminds previous blood donors that blood can be donated every eight weeks, up to five times a year.

The summer Bloodmobile for the Manchester Area will be July 20, at the American Legion Hall in Manchester. The American Legion will host this open clinic from 12 noon to 6 p.m. The Auxiliary is furnishing the canteen as well as workers for the complete clinic. The Chairmen for the Day will be Mrs. Mary Smith and Mrs. Helen Hosmer.

Blood can be donated by anyone who is in good health, weighs a minimum of 110 pounds and is between 17 and 70 years old. Donating blood is relatively painless and takes less than 45 minutes from registration to a post donation snack of juice, sandwiches and cookies. The actual donation takes less than 10 minutes. So please mark July 20, on your calendar and BE A SUMMER BLOOD DONOR.

Mill Run Saturday, Aug. 1

On Saturday, August 1st the fourth annual Manchester Mill Run will be held. The races and fun run/walk are being held in conjunction with the Manchester Street Fair. All proceeds will go towards the Manchester Senior Citizens, Manchester Athletic Boosters and Manchester Band Boosters. It is being sponsored by Baker's Dozen, Krauss

Tire Theft Gives Officers The Laugh

Desperate Desparado Deftly Disappears During Day - Sheriff's Sleuths Say He Is Slick

Manchester Enterprise July 28, 1927

There was considerable excitement in town Monday morning when a fellow who has been in and about town several weeks was apprehended and locked up in the village jail for the theft of two tires from the delivery car of G.H. Breitenwischer.

From time to time of late tires have been missed, also other accessories, and gas from the American Oil Truck run by Webster Schill and from Burch's filling station. The latest theft was two new tires from the Breitenwischer car.

Monday morning the fellow was a name that nobody seems to know exactly but is of the "gargle" variety with a strong hint of Polish, drove boldly up through town from the alley alongside the Houck store where he had been parking it for some time, and when he stopped some observing person noticed the two new tires, also two spares where there had commonly been none.

Well there was some reconnoitering while Jack Cathey held him in conversation and Phil finally "pinched" him fair enough and he was in due form placed in the village bastle.

The goods under suspicion were identified and it was ascertained that the car he drove had been stolen at Saginaw or at least one of the two sets of license plates found came from there.

The stage seemed all set to give the "stranger within our gates" a trip "over the road," but wait—this individual with the unpronounceable name must be some observer with an eagle eye and also a dash of inquisitive nature. When he was locked up he undoubtedly observed a key hanging on a perfectly good nail in rather close proximity to the cage door. After he had been left alone that inquisitive pump got to working and he experimented to see if he could reach the key through the bars—he could, and also it fitted exactly the lock that kept him from freedom. Exit unobserved! So when they went to give him a joy ride to court he was evidently far, far away—and had left no thanks for use of the key! Well, Monday night it was reported he was seen near the Bowler barn on Water street and again chiefs, deputies and volunteering assistants gathered with sleuth-like quietness on the spot, but neither the call of "halt in the name of the law" nor a search of the premises revealed him—the bird had flown again!

Tuesday he was reported around Norvell and again at the Wm. Johnson farm. Search was made for him and even the looming ramparts of the would-be cement plant in this village were searched, but not even his shadow was seen around there. And he hasn't been seen since, at least by those who were looking for him.

'Tis said he has a wife and baby in town and some day he may return to see them, then perhaps he may be courteous enough to leave a note of thanks for use of the key.
