Successful 34th Annual Chicken Broil

Sunny skies and temperatures in the 70s helped to make the 1987 Chicken Broil one of the most successful ever, according to Ron Mann, Co-Chairman of the Chicken Broil Committee. Although all the tickets have not been turned in yet, he estimates that approximately 12,000 dinners were served and that the profits may possibly be the highest in the history of the annual event.

Weather plays a large part in the success or failure of the Broil, and the group has always jokingly employed the local clergy as a "Weather Committee." "This year," says Mann, "John Swainson predicted we would have sunshine and 74 degrees, and that's what we had." "Maybe," he added, "that shows that politicians have more control over the weather than the clergy."

Regardless of who or what is responsible, the weather was perfect, the chicken cooked to a mouth-watering tenderness and the cole slaw, rolls and chips were as good as ever. In fact, nothing went wrong. The chickens cost a little less, the Committee used less charcoal and profits could turn out to be a record.

Those profits this year will be used to buy 5 additional Life Line units to finish the project, bringing the total purchased to 15 units. These allow seniors and other medically needy citizens to instantly access emergency help without having to dial a telephone. In addition, the Broil plans to purchase shelving units for the Historical Room at the library. Any excess funds after these projects are completed will be put toward an undetermined project for next year.

In all, it was a very satisfying day, both for the Chicken Broil Committee and for the thousands of hungry guests.

Hand Or Machine Made Wagons

Manchester Enterprise
April 23, 1903

Editor Enterprise:--As you are well aware, there are certain stores in the different villages where men congregate each evening to discuss and decide matters both important and trivial. It was in one of these in the village of Brooklyn during the summer of 1901 that I heard an animated discussion on the subject of wagons. Several were claiming superiority for the old handmade wagon, while as many more were earnestly presenting the merits and claiming superiority for the modern or machine made wagon.

Thinking that I knew something about wagons and believing the subject worthy of investigation, I have taken considerable pains to collect a little information along this line.

About 1850 or 60 the late A. G. Burton of Clinton began making iron axle wagons.

A practical wagon maker by the name of Griffith had charge of the wood-work and Fred Mahrie did a large share of the ironing. The first of these wagons brought into this section was purchased by Columbus Aulls in 1861 at a cost $125. The year following, James T. Aulls, James Stewart, Junius Short and G. D. Kies each brought home one of these new departure wagons. The five wagons I have mentioned are all in active use and apparently good for a long time yet. Four have been cut down and wide tires substituted. Of these four, the one now owned by Wilbur Short has doubtless drawn the most heavy loads, but the one owned by C. Aulls has stood the most wear as for many years it was his only wagon. The one purchased by James T. Aulls has never been changed or repaired in any way and as it has had a varied history we will note some points which may be of interest.

In 1869 James Benham leased Mr. Aulls' farm, where Mr. Rawson now lives, purchasing the tools, etc. At the expiration of the lease in 1872 he had an auction and this wagon was sold to T. J. VanGieson for $90, which was the price of a new Jackson wagon at that time. After Mr. VanGieson's death in 1899 the wagon was again sold at auction this time to Ira VanGieson for $22.50.

In 1835 a young man by the name of Henry Stoehr came to Clinton and commenced the manufacture of wagons which gained steadily in popularity until his wagons were sought after by every teamster in this section of the state because, as the late William Baxter expressed it to me, "they could talk."

In 1852 James T. Aulls who was then living on the farm now occupied by Mrs. James Kress, purchased a light weight lumber wagon of Mr. Stoehr. In 1854 and 1855 it was used to draw gravel, to grade what is now known as the Jackson branch of the Lake Shore railway, which is considered one of the hardest tests a wagon can be put to.

In collecting the points for this bit of wagon history, I unearthed some interesting facts not directly connected with wagons.

The $35 note give for the Stoer wagon at Mr. Aulls' sale was not paid when due and in time outlawed, but 20 or 25 years later the maker voluntarily paid it with interest amounting in all to an even $100.

Mr. Stoehr, the wagon maker mentioned here, had a wedding journey worth recording. He walked to Ann Arbor--at that time the road was mostly through forest--was married and with his wife walked to Clinton again the same day. Alonzo Clark informs me that he remembers the circumstance well.

As to the point in controversy it may take some years to decide, as machine made wagons have been manufactured for but comparatively few years.

Sincerely Yours,
HENERY R. PALMER

Volleyball Clinic Successful

Rockie Weber

Last weekend the volleyball team had a very successful clinic for those girls who participated in the serve-a-thon. Two head coaches Frank Fristensky and Kim Berrington came from Eastern Michigan University to conduct the clinic and even though we had 90 degree weather the girls still were put through a very intense six hour workout each day. The coaches kept girls busy with a variety of conditioning drills, skill and technique drills and even fun game drills. Each day Frank and Kim choose two girls who had worked extra hard that day through out the workout. Dawn Leach and Stacey Wilde were chosen first and Vanessa Salyer, Connie Zimmer, Jennifer Barnard and Sherry Ricklemann were chosen the other two days.

A few of the mothers were a great help by providing our lunch for us, those mothers were: Karen Wagner, Karen Leach, Terry Baran and Kathy Zimmer.

All of the girls who attended worked very hard during the clinic and surely this should help our up coming season. Thanks for the great effort girls!

Manchester Township Board Meeting

Regular Meeting
July 13, 1987

Report on property at 599 Valley Ct. given. Appears neighbors will purchase it.

Various correspondence presented.

Michael Lowery must have his grain bins moved by September 1, 1987, or the Township has authority to have them moved at Lowery's expense, as per Court judgement.

Approved firemen's pay for $8.00 per hour.

Approved Lyle Moore's fee for Constable work for $350.00 per month and $100 per month for zoning for fiscal year July 1, 1987-June 30, 1988.

Approved Earl Alber's fee for Constable/Zoning services, minimum of 520 hours, for $1,000.00 for fiscal year July 1, 1987 to June 30, 1988.

Approval granted for Lyle Moore to have four weeks vacation and maximum of 60 days sick leave with pay. Report given on Court case, Manchester Township versus Huron Valley Night Hawks.

Judge Conlin granted an injunction to limit the number and types of motorcycle races the HVNH can have. He said there would be no more races until Constable Moore and the Constable from Augusta Twp., that the Night Hawks hire, are satisfied that the fences meet the criteria of the 1969 Court Order. Also he would allow the Night Hawks to hold three more scrambles and the dates must be agreed upon by the two attorneys. (However, the Night Hawks held a race July 12, 1987, according to Constable Moore.) Judge also stipulated other regulations that must be followed.

We have the latest in 4 wheel alignment equipment
6 important facts about wheel alignment

- 1. Extend tire life
It's happened to almost everyone - buy a set of tires and before long one or two tires are wearing out before the others. On today's cars, this applies to the rear tires as well as the front tires. The most common cause of unusual tire wear is improper alignment. Over the years a properly aligned vehicle can save hundreds of dollars in tire wear.
- 2. Spot problems early
A suspension system inspection is an inherent part of the wheel alignment operation. This gives the mechanic a chance to spot worn parts that would affect vehicle alignment. It also gives him an opportunity to spot small problems before they become big, costly ones.
- 3. Ensure safe driving
A periodic four wheel alignment makes sure your car handles properly and, more importantly, provides an opportunity for inspecting the suspension system for defective parts. In some ways, the safe driving aspect may be the most important benefit of wheel alignment.
- 4. Stretch fuel mileage
Fuel mileage increases as rolling resistance decreases. Proper wheel alignment sets all four wheels parallel which in turn, assures minimum rolling resistance. This plus proper tire inflation provide top efficiency for maximum mileage.
- 5. Improve handling
Does your car pull to one side, does the steering wheel vibrate, do you have to constantly move the steering wheel to keep your car traveling straight ahead? These and other handling problems can generally be corrected by four wheel alignment.
- 6. Get a better ride
Proper alignment helps the front and rear suspension systems do their job. With all the system components in proper relation, road shock is efficiently absorbed, so the vehicle is more stable and you get a smoother ride.

Village Managers Report

Since I have started as Manager, I have tried to document the small details that assist us in better managing the Village. One area that I'd like to tell you about is "the book". Summer Migrant School Program

Arts And Crafts Day
On Wednesday, July 15th the children in the Summer Migrant School Program had the opportunity to choose and make a special project. The preschoolers in the day camp made yummy necklaces. They strung Apple Jacks and Froot Loops cereal on Licorice ropes. Older children were able to make bird feeders with the help of Mr. Jay Wilde. Some children made potholders under the direction of Ms. Kristina Hunt. Mrs. Kay Miller shared how to make counting ropes that are a form of an abacus. Mrs. Yvonne Henry helped children construct game boards to reinforce math skills. Projects were shared and proudly taken home.

Daniel Maldonado and Jose Barrios play their first game on Jose's gameboard.

Preschool Day Camp

Can Two Live As Cheaply As One?

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.)

Probably not, says the Michigan Association of CPAs. But, chances are most newly-married couples really wouldn't know.

That's because they haven't devoted enough time to financial planning. Many young couples think that financial planning is something for the very rich and very old. But the truth of the matter, say CPAs, is that financial planning should be an integral part of every family's life right from the beginning.

In planning their financial future, there are some financial matters a couple should consider even before exchanging rings-like questions about the ownership of property brought into the marriage. If one partner enters the marriage with not much more than a sleeping bag and a guitar and the other has an investment portfolio worth $300,000, a legally binding contract, often called a premarital agreement, can outline what each partner owns and what will become of the property in case of divorce or death.

As a married couple, your tax liability is one of the first matters you'll want to examine. If you're both working, CPAs say you can count on your marriage to put you into a higher tax bracket. And since the Tax Reform Act eliminated the so-called marriage penalty deduction, beginning in 1987, two-earner couples will no longer be able to deduct a portion of one spouse's income. In most cases, married couples pay less tax by filing jointly but, in certain circumstances, filing separately may reduce your total tax bill. A CPA can help determine which filing method will better suit your particular situation.

Setting up a budget forms the groundwork for your financial plan. But before undertaking this task, it is important that both partners work together to formulate short-and long-term financial goals.

You need to know where you want to go before you can plan how to get there. So give careful thought and discussion to determining your objectives.

Although there are countless ways to set up a budget, the basics of every budget are the same. There are two sides - one for the money coming in and one for the money going out. But the most important thing to keep in mind is that, to be successful, a budget must reflect your lifestyle. If you both love to ski, by all means, budget for it, piling down expenses in some other area, if necessary. If your budget is too rigid, you probably won't stick to it.

These days, when most married couples have two incomes, the 'if and 'how' of merging two paychecks is another question you'll have to resolve. Some couples prefer to pool all their income together, using one source from which to pay bills, save money and draw spending cash.

Others prefer to maintain two separate accounts with each partner taking responsibility for certain expenses. Maybe he pays the mortgage and utility bills while she takes care of food, household expenses and charge payments. Still others like to set up a joint account for fixed expenses and separate accounts for other expenses and individual use.

Whatever way you decide is best, each spouse should maintain at least a small separate account as well as some form of credit in his or her own name. If you find that you and your partner have duplicate charge accounts or just too many, you may want to close some. But when doing so, be sure to structure your credit accounts so that each of you will have a credit history to fall back on in the event of a divorce or a spouse's death.

Although, in the past, you may not have given a lot of thought to insurance, marriage tends to get you thinking about the effects of loss, disability or death. You'll want to be sure you have adequate insurance - both on your lives and on your home or apartment.

You'll need to review the many types of life insurance that are available before determining what is best for your circumstances. "How much do we need?" and "How much can we afford?" are the two key questions you'll want to address. Cash value policies, like whole life or universal, allow you to build up savings but cost considerably more than term insurance which gives you the greatest amount of protection at the lowest cost. Consider, too, your need for disability insurance, which provides you with an income should you be unable to work because of sickness or injury. In making decisions on insurance, you have to balance your needs with your resources.

Homeowner's insurance and its equivalent for renters, protects your home and its contents. The amount of coverage you should have depends on the replacement cost of your home and your personal possessions. Like life insurance, your choice of homeowner's insurance will require you to study your particular situation and compare the policies available.

Overlapping employee benefits is an area many new couples overlook. If both partners work, there's a good chance that both employers provide health and other insurance benefits. By examining both policies carefully, you can determine whether it might be advantageous to merge some benefits. If both policies provide free or low cost coverage, it might be best to keep both since many plans allow for coordination of benefits. This means that after you submit your claim to the primary plan, you can submit the claim, along with a record of how much the first plan paid, to the other plan and you'll be reimbursed for some or all of the remaining amount. But if the cost of health insurance to one partner is high and your medical expenses are generally low, you might save by dropping that coverage and covering both of you under the plan that costs the least.

To avoid duplicate coverage, many companies offer cafeteria style benefits which allow employees to pick and choose the benefits they need. For example, if your spouse's company provides health insurance for both of you at a reasonable cost, you might choose to sign up for a dental plan or additional life insurance with your company.

CPAs suggest that financial planning in the early years of your marriage can lay the groundwork for the financial planning process that will take you through your marriage on firm financial footing.

According to Greek historians, kissing began when menfolk wanted to know if their womenfolk had been sipping wine.

In their annual meeting on June 19, 1987, the Board of Trustees of the American Medical Association, Chicago, developed five recommendations concerning alcohol advertisements:

- * More research should be conducted on the effects of alcohol advertisements on alcohol abuse.
- * Alcoholic beverage producers and distributors should stop directing advertisement toward youth.
- * Advertisers and broadcasters should eliminate television depictions of responsible alcohol use.

- * Labels focusing on hazards of alcohol consumption and abuse should be placed on alcoholic beverage containers.
- * The alcoholic beverage industry should label products as to ingredients, preservatives, and ethanol content by percent rather than proof.

THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1987

Village Okays Sale Of $500,000 Bond

$200,000 Authorized for Industrial Park

At a regular Village Council meeting held on July 20, officials authorized sale of $500,000 in general obligation bonds. Voters had approved the bonding proposition at a December 9, 1986, special election.

But did the voting public really understand the issues? Awash in a flow of pre-poll publicity, the $500,000 bond issue that finally emerged read simply "Shall the Village of Manchester, Washtenaw County, Michigan, borrow the sum of not to exceed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($500,000) and issue its bonds therefore in one or more series for the purpose of defraying the cost of improvements to the Village's water and sewer systems?"

Most of the mailings contained an explanation of only parts of the proposed expenditures, or listed all the expenses on both issues in one budget, and none were clearly defined with respect to which funds were spent on what "improvements."

Improvements to the Industrial Park (now a large field of brown grasses) would be to run water and sewer lines the length of the field. It is expected that the cost of this will be just under $200,000, or about 40% of the proceeds from the bond sale. Questions have been raised as to whether the extension of sewer and water services to the far end of the Industrial Park could really be considered an "improvement" of the existing system. Also, minutes of the July 1, Special Meeting state that "Limpert offered a motion, supported by Harris, to sell enough bonds to run water and sewer out to the Industrial Park..." If the Council has changed its mind since this meeting, it is not recorded in the minutes of any subsequent meeting.

At the July 6, regular meeting, Council had approved additional expenditures of almost $200,000 for the following improvements:

- | | |
|----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 1) Macomb Street Water & Sewer | 34,500 |
| 2) Water system valve purchase | 22,000 |
| 3) Water meter replacements | 12,409 |
| 4) Treatment plant filter rehab. | 43,292 |
| 5) Tank painting | (est. at 20,000 6/86) 23,130 |
| 6) Ann Arbor Street sewer repl. | (est. at 40,000 6/86) 44,000 |
| 7) Industrial Park design | 18,000 |

This represents a total of $197,331, and at that time Council deleted a project for replacing mains on East Main, which had been estimated at $100,000.

However, during the July 20, meeting, a new estimate from the engineering firm of McNamee, Porter and Seeley listed increases in the items as follows:

- | | |
|----------------------------------|--------------------|
| 1) Macomb Street Water & Sewer | 35,000 |
| 2) Water system valve purchase | 22,000 |
| 3) Water meter replacements | 12,409 |
| 4) Treatment plant filter rehab. | 44,000 |
| 5) Tank painting | (up 14,000) 34,000 |
| 6) Ann Arbor Street sewer repl. | (up 20,000) 60,000 |

The increases bring the total, without the design of the Industrial Park, to $209,000. In addition, the engineering firm listed contingencies, planning expenses, engineering services and legal and fiscal services totaling $96,000 which brings the grand total to an even $500,000 (including the $195,000 estimate for the Industrial Park utilities). Is it a coincidence that this figure is exactly the amount that was asked for in last year's bond proposal?

The tower painting, which has increased by 70% since the estimate 12 months ago, is now in progress.

Council is searching for new engineers, but the questions that are raised by these maneuvers are whether the taxpayers - who have passed their bucks to the local government - are really aware of how the money is being spent; Why did the Village allow the water tank to be painted when the price was so much higher than the estimate? Will the Village officials allow the same thing to happen with the Ann Arbor Street sewer project?

At the present rate of 60-70% increase per year on estimates, improvements that were promised by 1988 could not possibly be completed without an additional bond issue or another millage increase. Will the voters condone that use of public funds?

Village Residents Urged To Limit Water Use

Last week water pressure in the Village dropped to a non-existent level in some parts of town, while other areas experienced a noticeable drop. Many of the downtown businesses were without water Friday afternoon, as was Klager Elementary.

The low pressure is a result of the work currently being done on the water tower. The situation has been alleviated by the use of a temporary portable tower, which is on loan from Lane Northern in Lansing. The temporary tower was erected last Friday in response to the emergency situation.

In addition to the low pressure, residents are concerned about fire protection while the regular tower is inoperable.

Fire Chief Mike Scully responded to questions stating, "We can't get any water out of the hydrants, but we've got plenty of places we can draft water from the river. I'd say there are eight or ten places where we can still get water from the river."

Last Thursday, the water level dropped alarmingly in the River Raisin, and dropped further still on Friday until it reached its present low levels. Speculation is that the drop in water level is caused by irrigation upstream, or the dam at Sharon being raised, but no concrete reason for the sudden drop has been released. There is presently no way to govern the use of water upstream.

When asked what effect the low level of water might have on fire protection for the Village, Scully answered, "We don't think there is any real danger. I wouldn't say there isn't any concern, but there is no real danger." Scully believes that the Fire Department could still handle most any fire without a problem, but admits that it might take a little longer to get the water to the fire. He also said he didn't believe the river could get much lower.

While repairs are being made to the water tower, residents in the Village have been asked to limit the non-essential use of water. Repairs are expected to be completed about August 1.

Red Cross Bloodmobile

Thanks to 162 volunteer blood donors the Manchester Area Bloodmobile increased the needy blood supply by 147 pints. Only 9 people were deferred temporarily and 6 donors were turned away after being pre-screened. Thanks go to Mary Smith and Helen Hosmer, co-chairmen for the day for the fine scheduling and well chosen help. The American Legion Auxiliary was the host for the clinic.

It takes a lot of volunteers to run a Bloodmobile and assist the professional staff that comes from Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Center. The volunteers were: Della Widmayer and Beth Clouse - Registration; TV Ludwick - Observer; Ruth Oates and Helen Rigg - Escorts; Polly Brokaw - Pre-Screener; Marge

Crime And Abuse Workshop To Be Held

The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department today announced they will stage a community wide workshop with the two main topics focusing on Crime Prevention and Child Abuse.

The program, for Manchester area residents, will be held August 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, 501 Ann Arbor Street, Manchester.

The Crime Prevention workshop will deal with the concepts of Neighborhood Watch, home security and property identification as well as personal safety, according to Det. Robert Randolph, Crime Prevention Specialist.

Detective Susan Andersen will address child abuse prevention and give tips on making your child safer. She will also explain the myths and facts of child abuse.

"So often individuals see things that appear strange to them or are suspicious of an incident or person, but don't bother to call the Sheriff's Department to investigate," says Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil.
