TAX STRATEGIES FOR THE SELF-EMPLOYED

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants)

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 is now very much a reality — all 300-plus pages of it, and whether you're self-employed or run a sideline business for extra income, there are a number of tax-saving strategies you can follow.

First of all, you should know that if you are self-employed, you stand to benefit from the lower individual tax rates, reports the Michigan Association of CPAs. Because your self-employment profits are included in your personal income, they are subject to the same lower tax rates as individuals. You pay tax on your business profits only at your personal income tax rates. All in all, the self-employed should fare quite well under tax reform.

Because the ordinary and necessary costs of operating a business are tax-deductible, the self-employed individual gets tax breaks that now carry restrictions for the employed worker. For employed workers, most business-related expenses are considered miscellaneous itemized expenses and as such, are now deductible only to the extent they exceed two percent of a taxpayer's adjusted gross income. Not so for the self-employed worker.

Other tax reform changes that apply to individuals do not apply to businesses. For example, the interest costs of financing a car bought for business remains deductible, even though the corresponding deduction for interest charges is being phased out for individuals. And although individuals can no longer deduct the sales tax paid on a car, the businessperson can add the sales tax to the purchase price and depreciate the total amount.

Beginning this year, self-employed workers get a new deduction. Twenty-five percent of the amount paid for health insurance coverage for themselves and their families can be deducted so long as the deduction does not exceed the business' net earnings. In most cases, if you have employees, you will also have to provide coverage for them to qualify for the new deduction. The law says you cannot qualify for a deduction in any year you are eligible to participate in a subsidized health plan of another employer or through your spouse's employer. This 25 percent deduction is due to expire at the end of 1989.

Consider, too, the tax benefits of opening a Keogh. Keoghs are tax-deferred pension accounts for those who are self-employed either full- or part-time. Keogh contributions are tax-deductible and earnings grow on a tax-deferred basis and are not subject to income tax until withdrawal.

Many self-employed workers take advantage of home-office expenses which continue to be deductible under the 1986 Tax Reform Act, although with a new restriction. As a general rule, to take a tax deduction for using part of your home for business, that part must be used exclusively and regularly as:

* the principal place of your business or

* a place where you meet or deal with your clients, customers or patients.

Under the new law, deductions for business use of the home are allowed only to the extent of the taxpayer's net income from the business — that is, gross income less deductions attributable to the business. Expenses that would be deductible irrespective of business use, such as mortgage interest and property taxes, are disregarded for purposes of this calculation. Thus, expenses for items such as depreciation and utilities are subject to gross income limitations. If deductible expenses exceed gross income, a carryover is provided. The net effect of this new limitation is that home office deductions may not be used to create or increase a net loss from the business activity conducted in the home.

The complicated tax laws governing home office deductions are closely scrutinized by the Internal Revenue Service, so you may want to consult with a knowledgeable tax professional before proceeding.

Business equipment can still be depreciated over a number of years, although the tax act generally stretches out the depreciation terms of most equipment. But the lengthened periods are somewhat offset by the new law's increased acceleration method, allowing you a faster rate of depreciation in the initial years. In general, automobiles, which were depreciated over three years under the old law, now use a five-year depreciation period. For other depreciable business assets including machinery, equipment and office furniture, the write-off period generally extends from five to seven years, while the depreciation period for computers remains at five years. Other business assets may be depreciated over a longer period of time.

Some business owners forgo depreciation and choose "expensing" instead. With expensing, you take an immediate tax deduction for equipment purchases, writing off up to $10,000 worth of equipment the first year. This $10,000 cap became effective on January 1, 1987; prior to that, $5,000 was the most that could be expensed. The $10,000 limit applies as long as your business equipment purchases are less than $200,000 for the year. The $10,000 amount is reduced dollar-for-dollar where the cost of equipment put into service during the year exceeds $200,000. For example, if you purchased $205,000 worth of equipment, the most you could "expense" would be $5,000. The amount eligible to be expensed is limited to taxable income from the active trade or business in which the property is used.

Another tax strategy you may use as a self-employed worker is to hire your spouse and/or children. If the work they perform is legitimate and the amount you pay is reasonable, you can deduct the amount of their wages on Schedule C. And you don't have to make Social Security payments on behalf of your spouse or children under 21. Be aware however, that beginning in 1987, an individual who is eligible to be claimed as a dependent on another taxpayer's return will no longer be allowed to claim a personal exemption on his or her own return.

Workers with net self-employment earnings of $400 or more must pay self-employment tax — a Social Security tax for self-employed individuals. Your self-employment tax payments contribute to your coverage under the Social Security system. For 1987, the maximum amount subject to self-employment tax is $43,800.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 is sweeping, to say the least, making it more important than ever for the self-employed to have a good professional support group to assist in creating a comprehensive financial plan that minimizes taxes.

Early Morning Visitors Last Friday Carry Away Perhaps $1,800 Worth Of Clothing

Prying open a window in the rear of Yocum & Marx's clothing store early Friday morning, thieves entered and made away with about $1,800 worth of men's suits and overcoats and women's coats and dresses.

The made their escape without being caught and left no clue that has led to their capture. On the window sill was left plainly the mark of some tool used to pry up the window and on the display case in the store was left an impression of a hand, but after attempt by a Lansing expert to transfer the impressions to paper, it was found to be blurred, probably from pressure, and could not be used for purpose of identification.

Tracks in the street running back of the stores showed where an auto had been turned around and backed conveniently in to receive the load. About 10 to 10:30 o'clock a Packard sedan was observed parked on the west side of the M.E. church, and in it were seated two people, but nothing in particular was thought of it. Between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning members of the Staib family observed what was thought to be the same car come quietly down "Kief's hill" and turn south to Jackson street. It is now thought this was the car bearing the stolen goods.

Examination of the store disclosed that two racks of about 30 suits in the display case had been taken, also the contents of one rack of men's and young men's overcoats. A vest and pants, the coat of which was in the front window, was cast aside. Then stepping into the dry goods department, a rack of women's and girls' coats was gathered in, also several silk and wool dresses on a nearby rack.

That the robbers were intent on getting some women's goods along with the men's is evident to some who have looked over the job, as the car was parked back of Weurthner Bros. clothing store, which would have meant a shorter carry, and the matter of entry would have been the same.

County Historical Society

During World War II a rural area in Washtenaw County with a meandering stream named Willow Run was hurriedly turned into a huge bomber plant turning out a B-24 an hour around the clock.

Ms. Flavia Reps, a history teacher at Washtenaw Community College, will give a slide-tape show about the bomber plant at 2 p.m. Sunday, November 15, at the Washtenaw County Historical Society meeting at the American Legion, 1035 South Main, Ann Arbor.

Ms. Reps headed an oral history study of the plant in which she sought interviews with persons who had had any connection with the plant. The study title was "The Impact of World War II on Willow Run."

Ms. Reps, who has a master's degree from Georgetown University in Washington D.C., came to WCC when it started in 1966 and temporarily occupied some of the old Willow Village buildings. That gave her the idea for the study.

The meeting is open to the public free of charge. Refreshments will be served. There is free parking and handicap access.

Federal Foods Distribution

Federal Foods will be distributed in the Manchester area Friday, November 20, at the Manchester United Methodist Church, 501 Ann Arbor Street (M-52) from 10 to 12 noon. Families and individuals who are receiving assistance from the Department of Social Services, Supplemental Security Income (SSI), or whose income meets the following criteria are eligible for Surplus Foods from the government.

Eligibility for the Federal food program is determined by income levels set by the Federal government. Those levels are as follows: for households in which the head of the family is under 60 years of age, the annual income from all sources for all in the entire family must not be more than: family of 1 - $7,150; family of 2 - $9,620; family of 3 - $12,090; family of 4 - $14,560; family of 5 - $17,030; family of 6 - $19,500; family of 7 - $21,970; family of 8 - $24,400. Add $3,008 for each household member beyond family size of 8.

For households in which the head of the family is 60 years of age or over, the following applies: family of 1 - $8,800; family of 2 - $11,840; family of 3 - $14,880; family of 4 - $17,920.

If you have any questions call 428-8852 or the Community Service Agency in Ann Arbor at 994-1650.

MHS Players Present "BONE-CHILLER"

This Friday and Saturday night the Manchester High School Players will be performing in BONE-CHILLER - a comedic mystery thriller. Thirteen people, on the night of Friday the 13th, gather at the Travers mansion in New York City for the reading of the late Joshua Travers' will. The will turns out to be a wall chart - and it is rendered in the form of a rebus (one of those part-word-part-drawing puzzles) that almost defies solution - and instead of designating an heir, it offers the estate to anyone who can solve the will! To make things tougher, the lights keep going out and people keep getting murdered. The audience will have a ball trying to untangle the puzzle faster than the hapless characters - this is not only a very funny farce - it is also a superbly crafted mystery.

Performances are November 13th and 14th at 8:00 p.m. in the High School Auditorium. Tickets are $2.50/students and $3.00/adults. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. For more information call the High School office at 428-7333. Don't miss this evening of fun and laughter.

Seniors Urged To Talk About Prescriptions

By the year 2000, there will be about 35 million older citizens who will take about half of all prescription drugs dispensed, according to the National Council on Patient Information and Education (NCPPIE). Older Americans currently make up about 12 percent of the population and use about 25 percent of all prescription drugs.

Now is a good time for Michigan citizens to review their prescription usage records. You may want to do a self-check on whether you are using prescription drugs correctly and ask your doctor or pharmacist to review instructions for taking your medications.

The Michigan Office of Services to the Aging, in conjunction with the Michigan Office of Substance Abuse Services, have information materials on wise drug usage available to the public. Two of the booklets - Using Your Medicines Wisely: A Guide for the Elderly and Passport to Good Health Care - contain information of particular interest to older adults. The latter, "Passport..." is intended as a convenient record guide for keeping track of the drugs you are taking. The size of a passport, it outlines the information needed for good communications between doctor and patient and includes space for recording the name of each drug prescribed and other pertinent facts such as the color, shape and strength of the drug, directions and cautions.

Inadequate communication is a serious problem with older adults. According to a U.S. Food and Drug Administration survey, one half of the older population receives no drug use counseling from doctors or pharmacists, which appear to result in part from ageist attitudes of providers and a lack of assertiveness of older adults.

To obtain a copy of either booklet, write to the Michigan Substance Abuse and Traffic Safety Information Center, 925 E. Kalamazoo, Lansing, MI 48912. For more information contact: Larrestine Trimm 517-373-4081.

Manchester Recreation Area Task Force

What is a Futuring Session?
A Futuring Session is an activity during which the group identifies strengths and weaknesses and then projects future images of the Manchester area.

Futuring Sessions were conducted with community groups and the Manchester High School Leadership Class.

The first meeting of the Manchester Recreation Task Force was January 14, 1987.

The Task Force works in co-operation with the community schools, the Village Council and the Summer Recreation Program.

Projects that have been planned and carried out to this date are as follows:

April 23 - RecRap at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Futuring Session held for 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th and High School Students. 85 students attended the session. Many ideas were shared by the group.

July 10th - Manchester Task Force sponsored 1st teen-age dance at the basement of the Black Sheep Tavern.

July 24 - Teen Dance at Black Sheep Tavern basement.

August 7th - Teen Dance at Black Sheep Tavern basement.

August 21st - Teen Dance at Black Sheep Tavern basement.

August 16th - MTF co-sponsored with the Manchester Summer Recreation, using Manchester Schools bus for transportation, a trip to the Michigan Theater to view "The Carrier". 40 adults and children enjoyed the activity.

September 19th - Beginning of school dance on the tennis courts for 6th, 7th and 8th graders.

October 3rd - Junior High Dance at Emanuel Church Hall.

October 31st - Halloween Dance for Junior High at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

November 7th - Ribbon cutting for the Manchester Walking and Jogging Trail. 22 Manchester residents walked the 3.5 mile trail for the first time.

Many ideas are being discussed and planned for the near future.

Some of them are: a community Ski Club, roller skating parties, community walks, shooting range at the Sportsman Club and a Day Camp for Summer 1988, planned with Huron Valley Girl Scouts as a pilot program.

For many years a concern of Manchester residents has been for lack of activities for youth in our community. The Manchester Recreation Task Force is providing the opportunity to help accomplish this task. However, many citizens are needed as co-ordinators, chaperones and sponsors for activities. Several people and organizations have started the ball rolling. To keep it rolling, we need more players on the team.

For more information, call Carol Potter, 428-7074; Dianne Schwab, 428-8976 or Boots Puscus, 428-7660; or join the group at the meeting November 18th.

News From Rep. O'Connor

State Representative Margaret O'Connor (R - Lodi Township) has introduced legislation protecting a person's right to privacy.

The Privacy Act (HB-5100) would allow, with some exceptions, a person to receive their file from any governmental agency and have any inaccurate or irrelevant information removed from that file. The bill also calls for a list of any person or agency who has been given the questionable information.

"If a government agency keeps a file on any citizen, it should keep only accurate and relevant information," O'Connor said. "My bill allows a person to correct any misinformation in their file."

The O'Connor bill also calls for no governmental funds being used. The person requesting their file would be charged the actual cost of reproducing it.

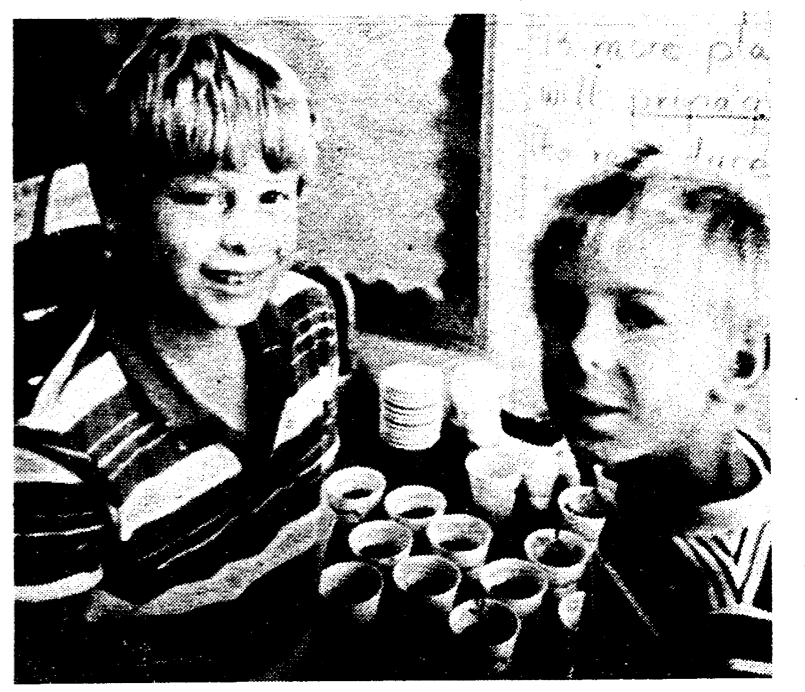

O'Connor said she was pleased that 88 other members of the House joined to co-sponsor her Privacy Act legislation. The bill is expected to be considered by the House Judiciary Committee later this fall.

2nd Grade Science Project

Ryan Ganzhorn and Adam Corwin observe the growth of their marigold plants.

Second graders in Mrs. Susan Ediger's classroom are participating in a county-wide science program. They are piloting a science unit on propagation of plants. They planted marigold seeds on September 30th. Five days later on October 5th, 18 plants appeared. One October 6th one more plant came up. They hope that 13 more plants will propagate. They also planted 30 crocus bulbs on October 2. They know that the bulbs need soil, water, sunlight and air. Children are patiently waiting for the bulbs to sprout.

"My Body And How It Works"

Summer Nickerson and Eli Bragg

Boys and girls in Mrs. Groeb's 1st grade classroom have been busy doing a variety of classroom activities for a science unit, "My Body and How It Works". Summer Nickerson is wearing a special apron that displays the major organs. Eli Bragg has "the pump" (heart) ready for Summer to add.

Children are also learning short songs that describe the function and organ. Their favorite one is to the tune of "The Farmer in the Dell."
The Heart is like a pump,
The Heart is like a pump,
Pumping blood to help you grow,
The Heart is like a pump.

Lady Dutch Have "Super Week"

Renea Drouare hits for 20 points Tuesday.

No. 44 Dawn Brady, scores 22 points in two games for Dutch Varsity.

On Tuesday, we visited Warrior-land in Grass Lake. The Lady Warriors hadn't lost a League match-up since the 1981 season until tonight. We found ourselves down 12 points at half time - 31-19. It was in the 3rd quarter that we really fired back as we outscored them 24-11 to take a one-point edge. In the final stanza we held a 7 point lead with 2 minutes left. Grass Lake rallied and hit the go-ahead basket at the buzzer, but the zebra-shirt signalled the final horn had sounded before the shot.

therefore we were victorious 59-58. Renea Drouare led all scorers, popping for 20, as Dawn Brady posted 11 points. Thursday night again saw us on the road against Napoleon. It was a relatively easy win as everyone played and we won 45-26. Dawn Brady was high scorer with 11 points. Our JV squad split this week as they beat Grass Lake but fell to Napoleon. Next week Thursday, the 19th, the High School Basketball Districts begin, hosted by Addison. Hudson and Addison play on that date, with the winner facing us on Saturday the 21st. This is a single game elimination, so if we win Saturday, we play again Tuesday, the 24th.

If you reside within the village limits, you may even have your meals delivered (if you are over that magic age of 55). She states that take-outs are not just for shut-ins only, but anyone aged 55 or over who wishes. Also there are times when you want more than one lunch for company or a special treat for a neighbor. Democrats Target GOP Legislators Over Tax Stand

Richard Wiener, Chair of the Michigan Democratic Party, today unveiled an advertising campaign directed at several Republican state legislators who recently voted in favor of keeping tax loopholes for Michigan insurance companies and against property tax relief for state homeowners.

"I've always felt that Democrats had the obligation to stand up to special interest groups," Wiener told a Lansing news conference. "But when I see state insurance companies strive to continue what Governor Blanchard calls 'a legalized tax evasion,' it makes me mad."

"Continuing the glaring tax loophole that big insurance companies enjoy and forcing property tax payers of this state to bear the burden of balancing

"How Telescopes Work"

"How Telescopes Work" will be the subject of November's AstroFest film and lecture presentation at The University of Michigan. The free public program is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., November 13, in Auditorium 3, Modern Languages Building.

Jim Loudon, a staff astronomer at the U-M's Natural Science Museums and AstroFest director, says he will explain the subject in detail, but in terms requiring no previous technical background. "It is just the thing if you're considering giving or getting a telescope for Christmas," Loudon says.

AstroFest is sponsored by the U-M's Department of Aerospace Engineering and Natural Science Museums. The issue is stalemate agreement on a state budget, as the Republicans are refusing to work on a compromise which fairly taxes insurers and guarantees revenue for the coming year. Wiener said.

Midwest Ford Inc.

MANCHESTER, MICHIGAN

Is Pleased To Announce The Appointment of A New Service Manager,

JIM KARPUS

JIM HAS:

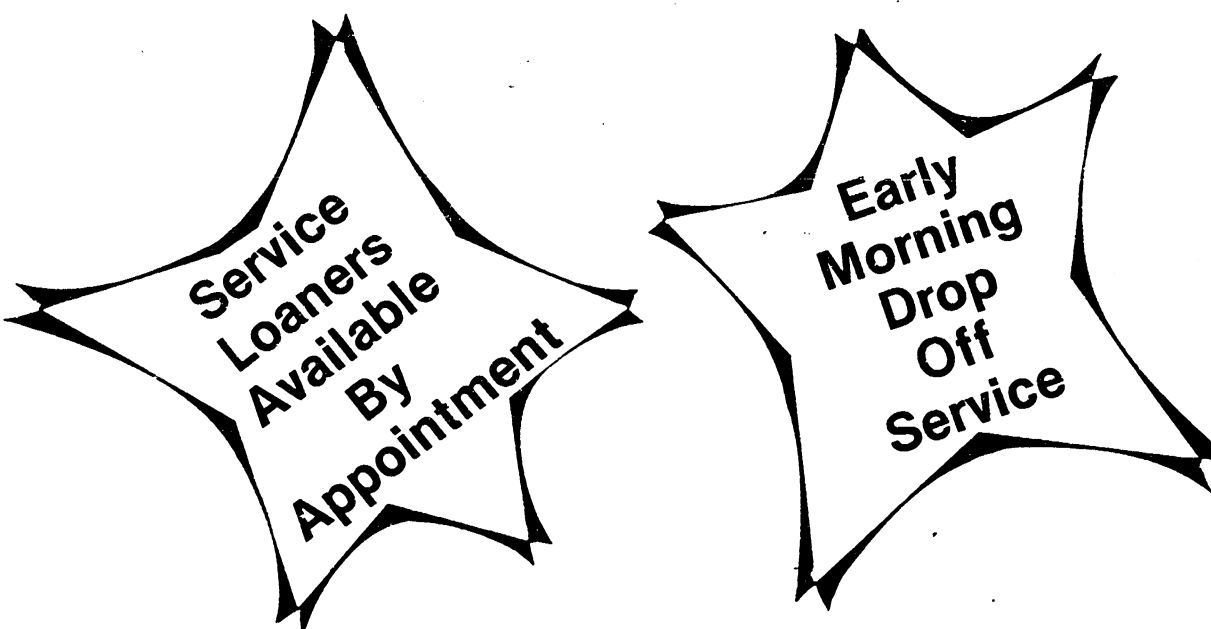

Twelve years background in automotive service. Achievements include after market parts consultant, licensed automotive master mechanic, and automotive equipment specialist.

I came to Midwest Ford, Inc. after setting up the service department with all new equipment and a new approach to servicing automobiles. Evidently the management was so pleased with what I did they asked me to come aboard and direct the service department.

New service equipment includes CPS (Comprehensive Performance Service) where the mechanic uses the computer equipment to go in and diagnose the problem instead of replacing parts that he thinks are causing the problem. The advantage of this is lower repair bills, fixing it right the first time and finally a satisfied customer. This system has been implemented for engine service and also wheel and chassis service. Our goal is to give the best service and to guarantee satisfaction to our customers.

Breathe Easy Workshop

Smoking Policies That Work: A Breathe Easy Workshop

WorkWell, the Health Department's worksite wellness program is offering its fourth Breathe Easy workshop to public and private organizations. Breathe Easy focuses on helping companies design and implement smoking policies for their own worksites.

The workshop will be held on Tuesday, December 8, 1987, from 8:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Ann Arbor Inn, downtown Ann Arbor. Personnel directors, health and safety officers and managers are encouraged to attend.

Business, health, legal and ventilation experts will discuss problems and solutions related to smoking on the job. Topics will include: the risks and costs of worksite smoking, legal questions and answers; how to choose a designated smoking area, and how to get a policy on track - and keep it there.

The three Breathe Easy seminars held in 1986 were deemed a success by participants recently contacted in an independent phone survey. 33% reported the seminar was their "prime motivation" for implementing a policy; 86% had a policy in place 3-6 months after attending the workshop; 94% would highly recommend Breathe Easy to other employers.

Spaces at the Breathe Easy workshop are limited. For more information or to register, contact Dr. Elizabeth Barkan, Washtenaw County Health Department, at 971-4741.

Money Management

Personal Debt: Are You In Over Your Head?

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants)

"Only a small amount each month on our EASY payment plan."

If you have succumbed to that seductive phrase only to learn that the payments are easy for them to receive, not for you to make, you may be one of an ever-growing group of Americans who take on more debt than they can afford.

But it doesn't have to be that way. According to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, you can head off credit problems by identifying in advance just how much debt you can afford to take on.

The first step you need to take is determining your "safe" level of debt. Debt includes not only credit cards, but all credit obligations except your mortgage. This would include any student loans, car payments, etc.

For most people, the safe level is no more than 20 percent of their monthly take-home pay. But even that may be too much. If your annual gross income is $20,000 or less or you make $40,000 a year but have two or more children, you may not be able to handle above 15 percent.

It's important to emphasize that the 20 percent figure is based on your take-home pay - not your gross pay before deductions. Remember that if you are single, a minimum amount due on your credit card balances?

* Does owning or using a credit card make you feel powerful or important?

* Do you have trouble imagining life without credit cards?

The more "yes" answers you have, the more you need to stop and review your spending habits and debt load. If you are already having trouble paying bills each month, you probably need to take some additional steps.

First, draw up a budget - an austerity budget - to see if you can squeeze more cash free to pay your obligations. If that's not enough, contact your creditors to see if you can work out an agreement, such as paying just the interest for a few months. While this may seem intimidating, remember that your creditors want their money and may be willing to wait if you convince them you want to pay your debt.

However, there is always the chance that they won't listen to reason. If that is the case, you will probably need help from a credit counselor. There are almost 300 nonprofit credit counseling services that belong to the National Foundation for Consumer Credit and can help you work out a payment plan with your creditors. These nonprofit

MAMMOGRAPHY CAN GIVE YOU PLENTY TO SMILE ABOUT.

Thank goodness for mammography. It can help save your life.

You see, mammography is the most effective way to detect breast cancer early. While it's still a tiny spot. And nearly 100% curable.*

Without early detection, the spot can grow into a lump. Then the cure rate is only 60%.*

That's why it is recommended every woman between 35 and 40 have a baseline, or first, mammogram. Then every year or two afterwards. At age 50 and older, annual mammograms should be done.

Ask your doctor about scheduling a mammogram. It's safe, easy and quick. If you don't have a doctor, we'll be glad to refer one. Just call us at (313) 429-1555. At your request, we'll also send you our free brochure on mammography.

Remember, mammography is a simple precaution that can help save your life. And that can give you plenty to smile about.

Affordable Home Improvement Loans

Modest-income Michigan homeowners will be assured of affordable home improvement loans this fall from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA), Governor James J. Blanchard announced.

The Authority has sold $5.9 million in bonds to finance approximately 1,000 home repair loans, he said.

Interest rates on the loans will vary from 1 to 9 percent, depending on the homeowner's income.

The Authority will loan up to $15,000 with 15 years to repay.

The maximum annual adjusted income of a borrower cannot exceed $20,000 (gross annual household income minus $750 for each family member.) In certain neighborhoods targeted by cities for revitalization, the maximum adjusted income is $23,999.

A wide range of permanent improvements can be made with MSHDA loans, including: roofing; siding; storm windows and doors; upgraded electrical, plumbing and heating systems; energy conservation equipment; room additions and garages; painting; and adaptations to make the home accessible to a handicapped family member.

The home being improved must be at least 20 years old, unless the loan is to be used to repair serious hazards to health and safety, carry out energy conservation measures, improve handicapped accessibility or repair damage from a declared natural disaster.

For the first time, the Authority also will make home improvement loans to owners of

Some 1986 Tax Refunds Undelivered

The Internal Revenue Service is trying to locate Michigan taxpayers who are still due tax refunds from their 1986 federal income tax returns.

Internal Revenue Service believes most of these taxpayers moved or changed their last names during the year, and failed to notify the Postal Service or IRS.

When a refund is returned by the Postal Service, the IRS attempts to locate the taxpayer by follow-up mail; "but there are always a small number who cannot be found," Hummel said.

Nevertheless, most taxpayers, about 3 million in Michigan, have received their refunds, he said.

If you are due a refund from your 1986 federal tax return but have not yet received it, contact the IRS.

Taxpayers should call the IRS at 1-800-424-1040 for information.

Mary Margaret Collins and Joel N. Struble, Jr. are listed as Manchester residents who have undelivered tax refunds.

Weekend Deer Opener Means Heavy Traffic

Highway and freeway traffic from south to north in Michigan is expected to flow heavily late Thursday and all day Friday and Saturday prior to the opening of Michigan's 1987 deer hunting season Sunday, November 15.

Traffic technicians of the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) said past experience indicates that when deer hunting season begins on a Sunday, that weekend is similar to a summer holiday weekend for traffic.

Motorists also are warned to be especially alert for deer running across the road in front of their vehicles.

The number of deer-vehicle collisions in the state reached a high of 32,746 in 1986. They cost a total of $52 million.

The accidents included five fatalities and 1,469 injuries.

Safety officials advise drivers to slow down immediately if they spot a deer because others are probably nearby. Tooting the horn may help turn them away from the road.

Drivers also are advised to use safety restraints and to buckle their young children in legally mandated child restraint devices.

Support Groups Available

Anne, a single mother who lives in an isolated, rural area, is looking for emotional support.

Jim, an executive for a major firm was devastated over the death of his two year old son. Steve feels alone in the task of caring for his 85 year old mother. Anne, Jim and Steve called the Clearinghouse seeking others with similar concerns.

Referrals to self-help groups all over Michigan are now available through the Michigan Self-Help Clearinghouse. This new statewide information and referral service can help individuals find groups that address a particular concern. People looking for a self-help group anywhere in Michigan can call 1-800-752-5858 between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. The service is a free prevention program funded by the Michigan Department of Mental Health, and located within the Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service.

Research has made it clear that individuals who have the support of such groups are much better off emotionally than those who face their problems alone. Many people are unaware of the great variety of self-help groups that address a wide range of concerns. Groups generally fall into four categories:

- groups for people with physical and mental illness;
- groups for reforming addictive behavior;
- groups for coping with crisis or transition;
- groups for friends or relatives.

WHAT CAN I DO to support my fire department?

You can help by preventing fires at home:

- HAVE YOUR HOME INSPECTED by the fire department for fire hazards.
- MAKE A FIRE ESCAPE PLAN and practice it with the whole family every few months.
- POST THE FIRE DEPARTMENT'S NUMBER by every phone.
- INSTALL SMOKE DETECTORS and fire extinguishers. Ask your fire department for help in placing smoke detectors.
- OTHER HOME FIRE SAFETY TIPS:
 - Dispose of cigarettes and ashes properly.
 - Check wires and cords for breaks and wear.
 - Keep your house free of clutter - especially the basement and attic.
- MAINTAIN HEATING EQUIPMENT - Have it checked and cleaned yearly by a qualified professional.
- STORE FLAMMABLES SAFELY - Gasoline, kerosene, paints and thinners should be stored outside your home, in approved containers.

Remember: contact your fire department if you have any questions about fire safety.

For those of you who burn wood, remember you need to CHECK and CLEAN your chimney once a month.

Transportation In Michigan's History

Poor Signing Made It Tough To Get From Here To There
By Edward J. Boucher

Prior to 1927, Michigan motorists — or motorists in any other state — could never be sure of reaching a destination over unfamiliar roads.

Educated guessing and cross-examining local gentry were part of every trip. The reason: lack of standardized road signs and few, if any, accurate highway maps.

What happened in 1927 and why did it take so long for the nation and the states to coordinate something so seemingly simple as standard highway signing and numbering and printing accurate highway maps?

The preamble of the U.S. Constitution mentions promotion of post roads as a federal responsibility. Roads for defense and moving goods and mail were one of the first concerns of the emerging American nation.

Immediately after the Federal Revolution, the federal government voted funds for construction of "military" roads in Michigan territory. It wasn't until 1905, however, that the Michigan Legislature enacted legislation to oversee road building in the state. Previously, construction, maintenance, signing and mapping of roads was mostly an uncoordinated effort. It involved townships, counties, cities, villages, public roadbuilding "bees" and private touring associations, including the Dixie and Lincoln Highway associations and the bicyclists who formed the League of American Wheelmen.

The trouble was that the same organizations that helped construct highways also helped name and number them. The result was a mass of different and sometimes conflicting colors, numbers, bands and names painted or attached to roadside rocks, barns, telephone poles, buildings and posts of all lengths.

Earlier and slower horse-drawn traffic was not seriously bothered by lack of consistent signing and maps, but by the 1890s the Wheelmen who rode the newly-invented bicycles farther and farther from home began to demand better roads and signing.

Appearance of the automobile after the turn of the century compounded the problem and by the 1920s, the owners of horse-drawn traffic and more than one million registered motor vehicles in Michigan had serious problems finding their way over unfamiliar territory.

Actually, the state got into the highway signing and map-making business under Michigan Act 19 of Public Acts of 1919. Among other things, the new law directed the state highway commissioner to "cause all state trunkline routes to be distinctly marked by signs and guideposts of a uniform design as may be deemed necessary for the public convenience and to cause to be published a map of the State of Michigan showing thereon the state and county road system."

The act also called for numbering state highways and showing the numbers of the map. The State Highway Department, now the Department of Transportation, designed a diamond sign 15 inches in length and 13 1/2 inches wide with the words STATE TRUNK LINE and carrying an M and a route number. But that only worked in Michigan. Interstate travel was another matter.

By 1925, the volume of complaints over confusion in highway signing reached Washington and the American Association of State Highway Officials (AASHO).

AASHO then petitioned the Secretary of Agriculture, who then supervised public roads in the U.S., to name a joint board to develop an interstate numbering and marking system covering the principal highways of the nation.

One of those serving on the board was Michigan State highway Commissioner Frank Rogers. His suggestion and rough drawing of a shield displaying the letter "U.S." and a number was adopted as the official road marker for all routes throughout the country.

A lot of study, controversy and compromise went into the board's recommendation to number principal east-west routes across the nation in multiples of 10 — even numbers — and north-south routes in multiples of five — odd numbers.

States were free to number their own remaining internal routes with their own individual state logo and number, as Michigan did under Act 19 in 1919.

AASHO was to have control over all future numbering and changes in interstate highway routes. The entire plan was voluntary but was adopted by all states and the federal government in 1925.

On the night of May 2, 1927, temporary card markers showing the new U.S. routes in Michigan were placed over existing signs.

The following morning motorists awoke to a new era of standardized highway signs with consistent numbers throughout Michigan and the United States.

The system was so well designed that it continues in use today with only slight modifications. When the nation's new Interstate system of freeways was begun in 1956, the original AASHO numbering system, together with Frank Rogers' shield, was used to designate the entire 42,500-mile system.

Today, all that's needed to get across the state is an accurate map and a tank of gas.

Dear Friend:

I just get so angry when some Lansing legislators vote with the special interests and big corporations, don't you?

And I get even more angry when those same legislators vote in favor of keeping tax loopholes for Michigan insurance companies but against property tax relief for you.

Why am I telling you this?

Because that's exactly what your state representative, Margaret O'Connor did!

On October 21, 1987, Representative O'Connor voted against forcing Michigan insurance companies to pay their fair share of taxes. Believe it or not, 65 of this state's 85 insurance companies paid no single business taxes at all last year. That's right -- not one dime.

That's bad enough -- but that's not all. The plan that Representative O'Connor voted against would have taken at least $65 million -- the amount raised by closing that loophole -- and put it into property tax relief for you and your neighbors. Like you, Governor Blanchard and the Democrats in the legislature are trying to close tax loopholes like this one so that they can roll back property taxes. But your State Representative voted no.

The bottom line is this: until Representative O'Connor votes to make the insurance companies pay their fair share, you'll pay their share for them. And that's not right.

Let me raise just one more question with you: When people like Representative O'Connor vote against you like this, why do they keep getting reelected?

I'll bet you're asking that question, too. And you've got exactly one year to ask Representative O'Connor that question.

Sincerely,

Richard Wiener, Chair
Michigan Democratic Party

P.S. To make matters even worse, let me tell you this: with all the money your representative spends on newsletters, I'll bet she hasn't even told you about this vote. She probably wouldn't dare!

Watermarks On Paper

Manchester Enterprise
October 19, 1922

What They Mean and How They Are Made

Have you ever noticed the patterns on writing paper? They can be seen by holding them up to the light. Some marks are distinct and can be made out quite clearly, but others are so faint that one has a difficulty in tracing them at all. Hardly any are visible when the paper is put down flat on a blotting pad; in order to see them it is generally necessary to hold them up to the light.

These marks have puzzled a good many people. We wonder what use they are and why they are there. They are called "water marks," which is really not a good name, because water has nothing to do whatever in making them. It is the pattern on the wire cloth mold on which the paper hardens from the pulp, which produces them. But they have always been known as "water marks" and the name remains.

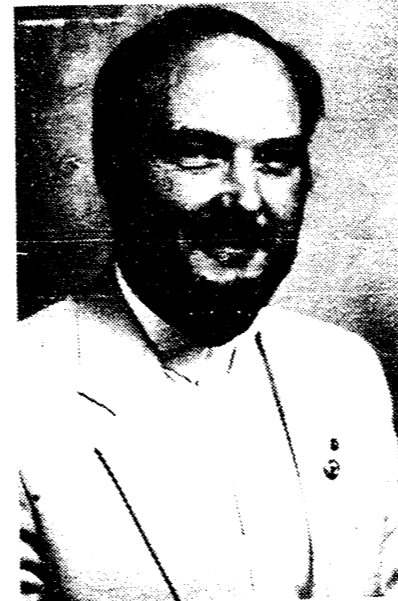

These water marks are found in the earliest writing paper ever made. Before people knew how to make paper, all handwriting was done on vellum or parchment. Paper and printing were invented about the same time, paper a little earlier than printing; and, of course, as books increased, more and more paper was required. It is believed that these water marks may have been used in the first instance for the purposes of advertisement. Nowadays if a man makes anything he puts his name or the name of his firm on it so that everyone knows who the manufacturer is. But there was no use doing that when no one could read. So each paper maker adopted a device which appeared on his own paper. One of the earliest of these is a jug or pot, and anyone who liked that particular paper and wanted it knew exactly what to ask for. He would describe it as a paper with a water mark of a jug or pot.

Almost all the old writing paper had a water mark and so, of course, there are a great many of them. Some of the water marks represented animals, birds, fishes, flowers, home objects; in fact, there are so many that it would be impossible to describe one-half of them. Each maker kept to his own special device and sometimes it happened that the paper came to be called after its water mark. For instance, there was one of which for a long time the water mark was a fool's cap - a kind of by Julie Nathan J. White, Executive Producer/Writer/Director, headed the news conference with great enthusiasm. A native of Detroit, Michigan, Nathan graduated from the University of Michigan where he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in film and video.

"THE CARRIER"

Miss Stevie Lee, Manchester's local star, says she intends to try out for the drama club at Manchester High School this coming year, and will pursue her career through her future college studies.

The theatre was dressed elaborately for the occasion and the crowd awaited the arrival of the stars. As the long white limousines arrived the crew and stars entered for the preview. Long evening gowns and tuxedos were the dress for the evening.

Nathan started with a brief introduction to the film and an explanation for why he made it. The movie was generally good. It was quite funny in spots which did give it a twist. The acting was sore in areas but considering the low budget it is good. The best however was Steve Dixon who played Dr. Anthony King. He seemed to have the conviction of this part which the other actors lacked. Another local, John Dwyer should get credit for his parts. He played one of the Jones clan and also several vocal supports. The movie is lacking in history and "what about the disease? Where did it come from?" Being one who enjoys "B" movies it's OK! But I think I'll wait until it's on T.V.

The Nectarine Ballroom was the scene for the after movie gathering, with Punk Rock music and videos as entertainment. The ballroom is very nice with balconies overlooking the large dance floor, which was continually filled with the younger crowd. It was a nice evening, with everyone reminiscing about all the work and fun they had in the making of the film.
