Tax Reform and Deductible Travel Expenses

If you travel for business purposes or participate in trips arranged by a nonprofit environmental organization, you may be swimming in opportunities for tax deductions - and not even know it. The Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you make the most of the tax deductions available for legitimate business travel and charitable deductions. "TIS BETTER TO GIVE"

Charity may begin at home, but if you participate in scientific research expeditions sponsored by nonprofit organizations, it can also take you around the world. If you meet all of the IRS requirements, you may be able to deduct travel expenses to exciting and unusual locales: from excavating an ancient Indian village in New Mexico to studying ecological damage in the Transylvanian Alps of Rumania. These costs - including air fare, meals, and lodging - can generally be deducted as contributions to the expedition's tax-exempt sponsor as long as the expenses are reasonable.

Before you sign up for an exploratory expedition of Hawaiian volcanoes, however, take a long look at the IRS eligibility requirement: to be deductible, the trip cannot include any "significant element of personal pleasure, recreation or vacation." In other words, you have to work for the deduction by actively participating in the research project.

Adventure and certain tax advantages are also found in organized tours in the rugged outdoors, such as rafting through the Grand Canyon, mountaineering in Alaska or paddling through the swamps of Georgia. If the tour's operator is a nonprofit environmental organization, you may be able to factor its membership fees into your deductions as well as participate in its special travel offerings.

BUSINESS CAN BE PLEASURE
If paddling through swamps is not your idea of a good time, try taking advantage of those tax deductions available to people traveling for business purposes. For example, for each day of business travel conducted on some cruise ships, you may be able to deduct up to twice the highest per diem sum paid by the federal government to its employees traveling in the United States. As of August 1, 1987, that figure was $136 - meaning that you could possibly deduct as much as $272 a day. If your cruise company itemizes food and beverage expenses separately, these costs will be only 80 percent deductible.

If the cruise offers a convention directly related to your trade or business, you may be able to deduct up to $2,000 of the cost of attending. To win the IRS' nod of approval, the cruise ship must be registered in the United States and sail to ports of call in the United States or its possessions. You may also have to document the length of the trip, the hours of actual attendance and any related business activities.

Likewise, unreimbursed expenses for traveling to foreign conventions directly related to your trade or business may be deductible to the extent that they exceed two percent of your adjusted gross income. In addition, you must meet the general eligibility rules for business trips. Don't plan to write off the cost of attending your local association's convention in Tahiti, however. Under tax law, you can deduct travel expenses to a foreign convention only if it is as reasonable to stage the meeting outside of North America as it is to hold it within.

In addition, if you mix foreign business travel with pleasure, you will have to divide expenses between business and personal activities to calculate the amount of your deduction. Determining the number of nonbusiness days is not as easy as you may expect. There are different rules governing weekends, transportation days, side trips and business trips lasting under one week. Many of these eligibility rules also apply to business trips within the United States.

DNR fire crews are still mopping up a 1,500-acre blaze which destroyed a cabin and trailer near Damon in Ogemaw County, Monday and Tuesday. Thirty persons were evacuated from Damon but were allowed to return to their homes between 11 p.m. and midnight Tuesday.

Statewide DNR personnel responded to more than 100 fires Monday and Tuesday and while some rain showers were moving through northern Michigan, not enough rain is expected to substantially reduce the fire danger. Hales said the Department has been assisted by local fire departments and the U.S. Forest Service.

News From The DNR Office

Governor James J. Blanchard has banned all open burning in the Upper Peninsula, all of the northern Lower Peninsula and two southern Lower Peninsula counties as Department of Natural Resources (DNR) fire fighters continue to battle wild-fires caused by the severe drought.

The emergency measure takes effect at noon, Thursday, but Director David F. Hales of the DNR is urging immediate voluntary compliance with the ban. "This is serious business," Hales said, "one property owner already lost his life, and we've lost close to 10,000 acres to wildfires this spring. The drought has turned land into a tinderbox and the 20 mile and hour winds we've been experiencing are a very serious threat."

Hales said DNR firefighters have worked 55 days straight without a day off. "They're all that is standing between us and disaster," he said, "we have 144 fire personnel protecting 20,600,000 acres of land. They're mighty tired."

Included in the burning ban are all 15 Upper Peninsula Counties; Muskegon and Ottawa counties in the southern Lower Peninsula and the following 33 northern Lower Peninsula Counties: Alcona, Alpena, Antrim, Arenac, Bay, Benzie, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Clare, Crawford, Emmet, Gladwin, Grand Traverse, Iosco, Isabella, Kalkaska, Lake, Leelanau, Manistee, Mason, Mecosta, Midland, Missaukee, Montmorency, Newaygo, Oceana, Ogemaw, Osceola, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle, Roscommon and Wexford.

Persons with information on fire violators should call Michigan's toll free arson control hotline 1-800-44-ARSON.

The emergency ban applies to all open burning of: *flammable material including refuse, debris, brush, stumps rubbish, grass, stubble, leaves, crops or crop residue; *all campfires except within containers or fire rings at authorized campgrounds and places of habitation. A campground is considered 'authorized' where continuous on-site supervision (park ranger, park manager, campground owner) is provided. This includes all State Parks, most private, county and township operated campgrounds. State forest and national forest campgrounds are NOT considered authorized; *pipe, cigar or cigarette smoking, EXCEPT at places of habitation, authorized campgrounds or in an automobile or truck and using the ashtray.

A willful, malicious, wanton violation during this ban or anytime, is a felony and carries penalties of up to 10 years in jail and fines to $10,000. "Accidental" fires are a misdemeanor with lesser fines.

Persons with information on fire violators should call Michigan's toll free arson control hotline 1-800-44-ARSON.

Chicken Broils of Yesteryears

Chicken Broil Set For July 14

Reprint, July 1960
By Marie Schneider

Manchester's famous Chicken Broil will take place this year on the Manchester Athletic Field, Thursday, July 14th. On that day approximately 5,000 hungry people from half a dozen states will gather round the long charcoal pits to watch the cooking and enjoy the results.

This is Manchester's seventh annual broil, during which time attendance has climbed from 1,500 to 5,000. Cooking is under the supervision of Dr. Howard Zindel, Poultry Department of Michigan State University, whose staff designed the special broiling equipment for community dinners. The cook, waiter, and hosts will be businessmen and farmers, many of them members of the Optimist Club and Jaycees, who are sponsoring the event to raise money for the improvement of Carr Park.

The chicken halves, dressed and iced, will be placed on the long charcoal pits for a slow-broil process that takes almost two hours to cook. Three pits, each 100 feet long, will accommodate 1,200 halves at a time. The halves average over 17 ounces.

Diners who come early to watch the cooking will also see the crew of cabbage slicers converting hundreds of heads of cabbage into mounds of pearly white slaw on traditional German cabbage slicers.

Tickets may be obtained in advance from any Optimist Club member or Jaycee or bought at the gate. Price: Adults $1.50; Children $1.00; and Takeouts $1.50. Tickets will also be available at most stores in Manchester. Seating capacity will be 1,000 this year and extra serving lines will hold delay to a minimum.

Service will begin at 4:30 p.m. and continue until all have been fed. On display during dinner will be the famous 7 foot Paul Bunyon Skillet, large enough to cook eggs for 500 people at one time. This skillet developed by the Poultry Department, was used in the breakfast to celebrate Michigan Week this May. There will be a fast softball double-header after dinner, played under the lights.

July 3rd At The Park

The Manchester Men's Club will hold their annual 4th of July Community Picnic on Sunday, July 3rd, starting at 1:00 p.m. [THERE WILL BE NO FIREWORKS DISPLAY] a baseball game is scheduled in the afternoon. Brad Frey's Band will be playing at the pavilion. Refreshments may be purchased from the Men's Club.

Early Deadline

Due to the 4th of July weekend we will have an early deadline for The Manchester Enterprise, Thursday, July 7th edition.

All display ads must be placed by 5 p.m., Friday, July 1st. All news articles and classifieds by 10 a.m., Tuesday, July 5th.

Farmers Warned On River Use

The River Raisin is extremely low because of the spring drought and that may lead to aspiring salesmen knocking on the door of desperate farmers, warned Lenawee county drain commissioner Don Mitchell.

Mitchell said that some salesman may try to cash in on the farmer's bad luck with Mother Nature by selling expensive irrigation equipment even though there is no guarantee he will be allowed to use it.

"The rights to draw the water out are questionable," he noted.

In a written statement, Mitchell explained that only riparian landowners, those with property frontage on the river channel, have certain rights to "reasonable use" of river water.

Neither the drain commission nor the River Raisin Watershed Council can issue permits or grant permission to irrigate from the river, he said. Also, negotiating permission from a riparian owner's land does not grant a right to the water.

"There's an assumption that if you can get to it, you can take it," Mitchell said. "That's not necessarily true."

There are no problems yet, but increased usage may cause the rules to be enforced. If the level goes down much more "it could seriously deplete the flow of the river to municipalities like Blissfield, Deerfield and even Adrian," he said.

Mitchell admitted that local crops are "suffering very seriously" and also pointed out that the lack of precipitation had caused more water to be used to water lawns and wash cars.

Manchester Designated Bicentennial Community

The Manchester Historical Society in cooperation with the Michigan Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution has sought and received for the Village of Manchester the designation of "Bicentennial Community." This was done at the suggestion of Former Governor John R. Swainson who has been appointed by Governor James J. Blanchard to serve as a member of the Michigan Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

The purpose of the Commission and the designation is to develop a sense of awareness on the part of the citizens of our state of the 200th Anniversary of the United States Constitution, the only document of its kind in existence, and from which we derive the freedoms of which we are so proud.

The Constitution is the supreme law of the United States, and each of the state constitutions is patterned on its provisions. The United States Constitution was ratified in 1788 when New Hampshire became the ninth state to approve it.

As its project to draw attention to the 200th Anniversary of the Constitution, the Manchester Historical Society has decided to hold a "subscription quilt raffle." A quilt is now being made by Beth Donaldson of Lansing, and features the logo of the Bicentennial Commission on a field of white, with an inside border of red, and an outside border of blue with stars. The quilt will be of double bed size, and for each person who purchases five chances, THEIR NAME WILL BE EMBROIDERED INTO THE RED INSIDE BORDER. The chances are one dollar, and the

Achievement In Education Award Presented

Optimist member Robert Ross and Margaret Hurbis

Margaret Hurbis, a teacher at Manchester Community Schools, has been selected to receive the Manchester Optimist Club's Achievement in Education Award. Ms. Hurbis is presently in her third year of teaching music and band at Manchester.

Presenting the award to Ms. Hurbis, Optimist member Mr. Bob Ross noted that the Optimist's slogan of 'Friend of Youth' is certainly an appropriate phrase to use in describing Ms. Hurbis. "Margaret Hurbis has accomplished a great deal in increasing the level of student interest in music here at Manchester," Mr. Ross explained, "and this achievement is ongoing as more and more students participate in the music education programs. The level of performance of our students at concerts and marching events is steadily increasing; band performances at district festival and solo and ensemble events are rated number one. Ms. Hurbis continues to do many things for the youth of this community in fine arts education, and we are very appreciative."

The Optimist Club's Achievement in Education Award is presented to a person who has made a substantial contribution to the community in the area of education. We congratulate Margaret Hurbis and salute her for her contribution of her talents to the ongoing improvement of our school programs.

Mass of the Resurrection was held Saturday, June 25, 1988, at St. Mary's Church. Reverend Father Raymond Schlinkert officiated. Burial followed in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Senior Citizens News

Ah, this cooler weather! Amazing how the temperature can drop from 104 to 58 in less than 12 hours and just when you think you can't stand it one more day. We've been watching Rubena's weather predictions for the maple leaves turning their backs for our much needed rain which works. We must engage her as our official Manchester weatherperson.

Nothing scheduled until after you all have a most glorious 4th of July for the seniors. Your typist made another goof on the news-letter, sorry. The trip to Warren and the Elias Brothers Tour will be made on Wednesday, at 8:30 a.m. July 6th instead of the 5th as published. Attends Seminar

Constable Lyle L. Moore, attended a Michigan Constables and Court Officer's training seminar, held in Cadillac, this past weekend.

An update session in Liquor Law Enforcement was conducted, and also many things pertaining to law enforcement in general were reviewed.

Constable Moore qualified on the shooting range with two handguns and a Police Riot Gun, and later was awarded a third place Expert Trophy for his service revolver shooting.

The Michigan Constables and Court Officers Association has been conducting at least two training sessions a year for the past 29 years.

along on this trip.

There are more Life-Line Units available for any senior citizen who resides in our Manchester School District. Call Ted Tapping, Jr. at 428-8478 to have one of these units installed. They could be a lifesaver to those seniors living alone by direct help from the Chelsea Hospital.

Looking ahead: Come play bingo on Fridays, the 8th of July would be a great starting point.

Tuesday, July 12: Seniors will leave at 9:30 a.m. for the Turkeyvill Tent Show. Call for your reservation to Helen.

Saturday, July 16: Please get your reservation in by July 11 to attend the Michigan Theater Entertainment Spectacular in Ann Arbor. Departure time will be 12 noon. A pit stop to eat will follow the show. Don't miss out, entrance is by ticket only, call Helen or Rubena soon.

Another month has rolled around, do you know it is less than six months till Christmas?

Declares Second Quarter Dividend

Directors of Great Lakes Bancorp (NASDAQ-NMS: GLBC) today declared a dividend of 15 cents per share for the second quarter of 1988.

The dividend will be paid July 15 to recordholders as of July 1, 1988. It will be the bank's 14th consecutive dividend.

Careless Smokers Cause Road Fires

Small brush fires are breaking out with increasing frequency along roads and highways across the state, and officials believe careless motorists are the cause.

"Ground cover is tinder dry and we think most of these fires are caused by cigarettes being tossed out of car windows by motorists," said Maurice Witteveen, chief of maintenance for the Michigan Department of Transportation. "One careless gesture can cause severe damage to roadside vegetation."

"We ask all motorists to be especially careful in how they dispose of matches, cigarettes or any other lighted material," he said.

Usually, roadside ground cover is green and growing at this time of year, but lack of rainfall has turned it prematurely brown.

Governor James J. Blanchard last week banned all open burning throughout the Upper Peninsula, and the northern Lower Peninsula and in Muskegon and Ottawa counties in southern Michigan.

Requests Pour In For "Special Cancellation"

There has been somewhat of a "stir" at the Manchester Post Office, all brought about by the Manchester Township Library! What has occasioned this is the special stamp cancellation which the Library requested to honor its 150th Anniversary and which was granted by the Postal Service and went into effect on June 1st.

This special cancellation means that mail which is canceled by our local post office (that is, mail posted in Manchester and going to a Manchester address) will have the stamp canceled with cancel bars containing the message "Manchester Township Library 150 Years, 1838 - 1988." This is instead of the plain wavy line cancellation we are used to seeing.

The "stir" is that collectors from around the country have been sending letters to our Post Office containing self-addressed stamped envelopes and asking that they be canceled with the special cancellation and returned to them.

According to Postmaster Jacob Houck, this is a well-known practice among those stamp collectors who specialize in unusual stamp cancellations. The requests have come from Arizona, California, Pennsylvania, and Canada, to name just a few. Jake says he carefully cancels each letter and puts it into the mailbox to be sent back to the collector.

Neither Jake Houck nor postal clerk Jean Alber could recall ever having used a special cancellation stamp before. Jean can speak for her 18 years in our post office, and Jake for his 2 plus here and also for his years at the Gregory post office before he came here. A quick check with former postmaster Marvin Kirk indicated that he too in all his years could not recall ever having had a special cancellation at the Manchester post office.

The postal service provides for special cancellations to be applied for to mark significant events of interest and import to the public at large. The Board of the Manchester Township Library applied for the cancellation and it was granted to be used for a six month period, from June 1, 1988 through November 30, 1988. The expense for creating the die for this special cancellation is covered by the organization requesting it, in this case the Library. But the cost is minimal when compared to the official prominence the Library's anniversary now has. Just ask the folks from all around North America who now know Manchester, Michigan and know that the Manchester Township Library is 150 years old!

Although only mail posted at our post office to be delivered in the Manchester area is usually canceled here, any piece of mail MAY be canceled using this cancellation upon request. If you would like to send a piece of mail out of the area, or out of the state, simply ask the clerk if they would cancel it here with our special "Manchester Township Library, 150 Years." They are glad to provide this service.

All-Time Travel Record Predicted Over July 4th

It's gonna be a record bust. The Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) is predicting that a record-breaking number of miles will be logged by Michigan motorists over the Fourth of July holiday period.

MDOT predicts drivers will wheel in 910 million vehicle miles from noon on Friday, July 1, through noon on Tuesday, July 5. That would be the most ever for a holiday in Michigan, topping last year's record of 870 million miles set over the same period by 40 million miles.

Forecasts are made using traffic trends established from traffic count data and general economic conditions.

John Savich, Michigan Travel Bureau Director, said Michigan is breaking all travel records for the fourth year in a row.

"A growing national awareness of Michigan as a travel destination (now the eighth most popular in the nation), and a widening search by vacationers for a clean, uncluttered natural environment, a quality resort experience and world-class urban attractions have pushed us to new heights every year since 1984," he said. "This 40-million-mile increase is just the latest indicator that 1988 will continue the trend."

State Transportation Director James P. Pitz has ordered the suspension of all construction activities except emergency work on state highways from 3 p.m. on Friday (July 1) until normal start of working hours on Tuesday (July 5).

Pitz has also ordered special inspections by traffic and safety engineers to assure that detour and slowdown lighting and signing are in place and operating. "We're working hard to improve our roads this summer, but we don't want our progress to slow you down," Pitz said.

Pitz urged all motorists to buckle their seatbelts and observe the 45-mile-per-hour speed limit through construction zones.

THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

A Report from
The National Institutes of Health
Bethesda, Maryland

running (with a closed vent). Electrostatic air filters and similar devices may also help. For people whose active lives keep them outdoors much of the time, the best solution may be one or more of the available allergy medications. Antihistamines are usually effective, but can cause sleepiness. Nose drops or sprays work for a while in relieving nasal congestion but then backfire, leading to an increase in congestion. Consult your physician so that the best drug or combination of drugs can be recommended.

The situation for sufferers of perennial hay fever is more complex. As a rule of thumb, it's good advice to keep the house clean and well dusted and to search in nooks and crannies for offending molds. And as with seasonal hay fever, an air purifier helps. Here are some other hints for minimizing indoor hay fever attacks:

- * In humid weather, use a dehumidifier.
- * Don't smoke.
- * Ask others not smoke in your home or office.
- * Avoid rugs, feather pillows and fabric curtains.
- * Store paints, cleaning fluids and other chemicals away from the living area.
- * Keep ventilation ducts clean.
- * Do not keep a pet if you or other household members are allergic to it.

Allergy Shots May Help Some Sufferers

Another option exists—immunotherapy. Commonly known as allergy shots, this treatment desensitizes the body's immune system to the substances that provoke an allergic reaction. However, a complex and often expensive set of diagnostic tests must be carried out to identify the specific offenders. Injections must be given weekly for many months, even throughout the year in some cases. Immunotherapy doesn't always work, but for some it is the only way to achieve a bearable life. While for the majority of individuals hay fever is relatively benign, causing discomfort rather than serious disease, the toll paid by the U.S. economy is staggering. Estimates from various federal agencies indicate that five million workdays and 1.5 million schooldays are lost each year, with a monetary loss of over $300 million. And even if a sufferer does not stay home, his or her productivity tends to be lower because of the discomfort of the allergy.

What Causes Hay Fever?

Recent studies have shown that when an allergen is inhaled by a sensitive person, the body produces millions of molecules of IgE, a specific type of antibody. IgE binds to mast cells, which are found in the mucosal tissues lining the nasal passages and other parts of the respiratory tract, as well as in other body organs. Subsequent exposure to the same allergen leads to the release of chemicals that act as irritants in the nose and surrounding areas. One such chemical—histamine—has been known for decades. More recently, a class of chemicals called leukotrienes have been shown to play a prominent role in hay fever, asthma and other allergic reactions. Leukotrienes are several thousand times more powerful than histamine in producing symptoms of hay fever and asthma.

Because antihistamines do not counteract the effects of leukotrienes, these drugs can never be completely effective for the treatment of hay fever. With the identification of leukotrienes as important contributors to allergy symptoms, it should soon be possible to prepare drugs that prevent the effects of these substances.

A YEAR-ROUND "PAIN"

Still Sneezing? Pollen Not The Only Cause of Hay Fever

Hay fever is not only seasonal. Up to 40 million Americans suffer from it — and as many as 20 million of these sufferers are afflicted with hay fever symptoms throughout the year.

According to the American Lung Association of Michigan—the Christmas Seal people—seasonal hay fever only occurs during the early fall, spring and summer when plants are shedding pollen into the air. Perennial hay fever, however, is a year-round sensitivity to a myriad of other airborne particles, many commonly found in the home or workplace. These particles can also cause the typical symptoms of hay fever—sneezing, a running nose, teary and itching eyes, uncontrollable sneezing, nasal stuffiness, and a tickly throat.

The typical home is a virtual treasure trove of allergy-provoking particles. People with perennial hay fever are allergic to one or another of the hundreds of different types of microscopic airborne particles that fill the home and, for some, the workplace.

Common house dust contains tiny fibers of wool, linen and cotton shed from clothing, rugs, and other items made of these fabrics. Dust also frequently contains living creatures: the small house mite has attained a certain notoriety among allergy doctors as a potent instigator of hay fever attack.

Other household triggers include human hair and skin as well as animal dander, which includes the skin sheddings and saliva of a household pet. Feathers, glues, plaster, newsprint, and insecticides are also on the long list of potential allergy triggers in susceptible people. Finally, molds growing in dark, humid recesses throughout many houses can shed spores that, like pollen, provoke an attack.

Sufferers from perennial as well as seasonal hay fever know all too well that tobacco smoke and chemical fumes can aggravate their symptoms, as can drafts, chilling and sudden temperature changes.

Hay fever, also known as allergic rhinitis, occurs because of an inherited sensitivity of the nasal tissues to inhaled particles called allergens. These particles set off reactions resulting in the release of chemical irritants, including the recently discovered class of substances called leukotrienes.

During hay fever season (which includes early fall), the best advice is to stay indoors as much as possible, keeping windows closed and the air conditioner

Kristin Miller is among the entering freshmen who have been selected to receive a share of $1 million in academic scholarships from Western Michigan University this fall.

The awards are part of WMU's Medallion Scholarship Program. The recipients were among nearly 580 leading high school seniors from 11 states who competed for the funds during events this past winter at WMU.

The Medallion Scholarship events included written testing and oral problem solving activities for students and information sessions for their parents.

To be eligible, participants had to be admitted to Western by January 10 with at least a 3.7 grade point average in high school, or at least a 3.5 GPA and an American College Test score of at least 30.

Thirteen of the students were awarded Medallion Scholarships. Valued at $22,000 over four years, those scholarships are among the largest merit-based awards in American higher education. In addition, 22 of the students won

A Message From Tom Marshall At Midwest Ford

After a long absence, I have returned to Midwest Ford, Inc. Manchester, to sell the fine line of new Ford cars and trucks along with a nice selection of used vehicles.

As you may know, I stayed with Midwest Ford after they purchased Widmayer Ford. Three months later I became disenchanted with the managements business ethics and the image they were creating in our community, therefore I left the dealership.

I am happy to tell you this has all changed since the new managers took over recently. I see a tremendous improvement in the quality of workmanship in the service department and the continued perfection of Larry and Don in the body repair shop.

The new Midwest Ford is very community minded and dedicated to excellence in both the sales and service of our Ford products.

I am very pleased to have been asked to return to this dealership as a sales representative. Please stop in and see me.

Sincerely,
Thomas Marshall

Sponsors Drought Assistance Bill

Congressman Carl Pursell has co-sponsored legislation designed to assist farmers impacted by the ongoing drought.

"Today I have joined as an original co-sponsor of HR 4896 which would make disaster assistance loans available through the Farmers Home Administration to farmers who lose more than 50 percent of their crop due to drought," Pursell said.

"I also have sent letters to the President and Agriculture Secretary Lyng asking them to take whatever steps are necessary to assist farmers during this crisis."

"Last weekend I toured Second District farms and plan to do so again this coming week. I have been dismayed to see the results of the heat and lack of rain to our agricultural lands and crops."

"We must make sure everything is being done which can be done to assist our farmers at this time."

"As a Congressional leader, I am continuing to participate in meetings with the President's Interagency Drought Task Force," said Pursell, who serves as Deputy Republican Whip.

"Together, Congress and the Administration, are monitoring the drought and continuing to explore options."

Among its provisions, HR 4896 would provide:

* Disaster assistance in direct

* The term of the loan repayment cannot be less than 3 years, thus providing farmers with recovery time.

* Payments to farmers must be made within 45 days after the application for assistance is received. The application deadline would be June 30, 1989.

* Authorization for the Agriculture Secretary to use existing Commodity Credit Corporation funds for disaster assistance.

Basketball Tournament

This past Friday and Saturday twelve Manchester boys from next seasons Varsity Basketball team participated in the Washtenaw County Coach's Basketball Tournament.

The tournament was held at Eastern Michigan University with fourteen teams from throughout the area competing.

Manchester finished a very successful two days with a 5 win and 2 loss record. This was good enough for a second place losing to class "A" Ann Arbor Huron 61-49 in the Championship game, which was heard on radio WPZA Saturday afternoon.

Manchester was very well represented throughout the tournament as they beat Ann Arbor Greenhills, Ypsilanti High, Dundee, Milan, and Pickney. The team members were Tom Mann, Bryan Barnard, Jason VanDeven, Tim McGinn, John Korican, Mike Brokaw, Matt Knul, Jim Dierick, John Golding, Brad Hayden, Marcus Bristle, Stefan Knul, and Coach Curt Fielder.

Manchester Board of Education

Budget Hearing
(Unofficial Minutes)
June 27, 1988

The Budget Hearing was called to order by President Gary Davis at 7:35 p.m. Members present: Kluwe, Gaughan, Davis, Golding. Members Absent: Samonek, Sahakian, Kemner. Also present: Superintendent Niedzwiecki.

State law requires school districts to conduct Budget Hearings and the adoption of the next year's fiscal budget before July 1 of each year. Therefore, the purpose of the meeting was to present and discuss the 1988-89 budget. President turned the meeting over to Superintendent Niedzwiecki.

Superintendent Niedzwiecki advised the audience the budget meeting was held to afford an opportunity for the public to ask questions concerning the budget. Discussion took place with the audience.

Budget Hearing was adjourned at 7:55.

Costs Inch Upward

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported that prices received by farmers for agricultural commodities remained unchanged in April compared to March, but remained 4% above a year ago. However, farm production expenses have increased 1.8% since the beginning of the year and are 3.7% above a year ago.

Items that led the rise in production expenses included feeder pigs, fertilizer, ag chemicals and farm machinery. Fertilizer and feed were the biggest items in the increased costs from a year ago, both up by about 10%.

Academic Boosters Committee

A committee of interested community members is being formed to survey the special needs of students in the Manchester school district. Community support is important to assure that the needs of all students in the district are being adequately met at all levels in our schools.

If you are interested in becoming part of this effort, please contact Charlene Miller, 428-7102 or Marsha Chartrand, 428-8831, for further information.

Acres Enrolled In Program Down

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported that producers have enrolled 187.5 million acres in this year's acreage limitation programs. The department's preliminary sign-up report shows 83.4% of the nation's 225.2 million acres of total crop acreage bases as enrolled in the program, down 3% from last year. Land actually idled from production of grain and cotton under the programs totals 54.1 million acres, 5.7 million less than farmers idled last year.

Hurrah For The 4th of July Wampler's Lake 1851

Manchester Enterprise
July 14, 1914

One of the most delightful and natural summer resorts in southern Michigan and also one of the oldest of the "resorts" for picnic parties, is to be found on the northeast shore of Wampler's lake.

From the earliest records of pioneer days are to be found accounts of hunting and fishing parties to this region. The old settlers tell wonderful stories of their success in shooting bear, deer, turkeys and other game in the tamarack swamps surrounding this beautiful sheet of water.

L. D. Watkins, a pioneer in that township which claims part of the lake, was among the most skillful marksmen of the early days and his love for sport has lead him to seek new and greater laurels in the swamps of Florida as well as on the western plains. He and others of our old pioneers delight in telling of the surprising catches of fish from the waters of Wampler's lake. In those days they did not waste their time in "still fishing" but with long seines drawn by many men from the surrounding country, they scooped up monstrous pickerel, bass and other varieties of fish, almost a wagon load in a single day. From the specimens taken from these waters in recent years we may rightly say that this was a favorite resort of the early pioneers as well as of the wild indian who inhabited this region.

But we started out to speak of Wampler's lake as a picnic resort. In the foundation of the residence of the editor of the Enterprise will be seen a brick with this inscription written upon it, probably with a nail before it was burned in the old Carr brick yard:

Hurrah for the 4th of July at Wampler's lake 1851.

That is a pretty good assurance that Wampler's lake was a popular resort at least 63 years ago and it has grown in popularity ever since.

Charles W. Atkins who owns the beautiful and popular resort on the north side of Wolf lake, once kept the Wampler's lake house about a mile west of "the farm." He also started the first public resort in the grove where a hotel was afterward built by our venerable townsman, James Moore, and which was burned a few years afterwards. George Crow an experienced hotel man started and named "the farm" and conducted it until he sold out to George J. Nisle, the present proprietor. "Beech's grove" was the mecca for picnickers in the early days and it is so today. But the trusty housewife has learned in these modern times that to prepare grub for a family picnic, arrange it on the ground or on tables in a grove and then wash all the dishes after returning home, may be a picnic for others but for her it is often drudgery.

So it comes about that she takes a day off with the rest of the family and enjoys a square meal at "the farm" chucking to herself "this is a picnic for me."

Mr. & Mrs. Nisle, in fact the whole Nisle family are born entertainers. They do not despise work but strive to give their guests the best service and see that they "have a good time." The meals they furnish are such as are procured in the best hotels and are served as well. Since automobiles have come in fashion it is nothing for a party to drive 25 miles to take dinner at "the farm."

"The farm" has been greatly enlarged this season so that many more guests may be comfortably cared for by day or week. They have good beds and everything is kept neat and clean.

There is an excellent dancing pavillion and regular dances Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings with special dances every two weeks with such music as Fischer's orchestra from Kalamazoo, Fischer's orchestra of Ann Arbor, Wright's saxophone trio from Columbus, Ohio and others.

With such excellent surrounding with "the farm" added and the score of beautiful cottages scattered along the shady shores, no wonder that Wampler's lake is popular and is growing more so with people from neighboring towns as well as from as far away cities who wish to make life worth living by escaping the heat, noise and business cares for a week or two of recreation in this delightful retreat.

4-H Outdoor Adventure Club

Boys and girls in grades 7-12 are invited to join in the fun and high adventure of backpacking, camping, wilderness survival, wildlife study, canoeing, forestry, first aid and more! A 4-H Outdoor Adventure Club is forming in Washtenaw County. An introductory meeting will be held on July 12, 1988, at the Washtenaw County Farm Park, 2960 Washtenaw, Ann Arbor (enter through parking lot on Platt located 1/4 mile south of Washtenaw) at 7:00 p.m. Parents or another adult must attend the first meeting with the youth.

The leaders of the group are 4-H certified challenge outdoor leaders, climbing leaders and leader instructors. Skills learned at the monthly meetings will prepare youth for monthly outings. For more information contact the 4-H Office at 971-0079. Adults interested in working with youth in adventure activities are also encouraged to attend this meeting for more information on 4-H programs.

Search Continues For Outstanding Older Adults

The search continues for nominees for the 1988 Senior Citizen of the Year Awards, sponsored by the Michigan Office of Service to the Aging and the Michigan State Fair.

Presented to two nominees, one in the area of leadership and one in the area of service, this award recognizes the invaluable time, effort and skill that Michigan's older adults give back to their communities, says OSA Director Olivia P. Maynard.

"Michigan citizens benefit in many ways from the volunteer work of older adults," says Maynard. "This award is our way of saying thanks and heightening peoples' awareness that there are many ways to give of yourself, to your community and to the fact that older adults are active and fully contributing members of society."

Only organizations are allowed to submit nominations for these awards. Those who believe they know a person who would be a good candidate for the award in either category should solicit the sponsorship of a community organization and submit a nomination form by July 29. Nominees must be 60 years of age or older by July 29 in order to qualify.

Nomination forms can be obtained by contacting your local Area Agency on Aging or by writing or calling the Michigan Office of Service to the Aging, P.O. Box 30026, Lansing, MI 48909, (517) 373-8230.

Farmers Can Harvest Pasture Set-aside Acres

Haying and grazing restrictions on set-aside acreage have been lifted for farmers in at least 49 Michigan counties to help the forage shortage caused by the drought.

These counties have received the special approval under an emergency provision of the 1985 farm bill.

"Under normal conditions, farmers are not allowed to harvest haylage or pasture set-aside acres," says Jerome Gerszewski, U.S. Department of Agriculture ASCS program specialist. "But because of the droughty conditions, we have processed and received approval from the secretary of agriculture for haying and grazing privileges for 49 counties."

Gerszewski emphasizes that this special provision applies only to set-aside acreage - land that is idled under the annual wheat and feed grain acreage reduction program. The emergency haying and grazing provision does not apply to land enrolled in the 10-year Conservation Reserve Program.

For farmers to qualify for this special provision, county ASCS representatives must document that they have suffered from a natural disaster, in this case a drought. During this growing season, precipitation for much of the state is about half that of a normal year. Reports from the 49 counties state that haying or grazing acreage has been reduced by 40 to 80 percent because of the hot, dry weather.

Hay that is harvested from these set-aside acres must be used by the farmer or given away - it cannot be sold. A farmer can pasture his/her own animals on set-aside acres or provide free grazing to another farmer.

Farmers who elect to bale the hay and give it away can charge the going rate for the baling service but not for the value of the feed. A farmer who allows other farmers grazing rights can charge for installing fence around the area.

Fund Drive Tops Goal

Roman Catholics of the ten county Diocese of Lansing pledged $2,441,426 to the 1988 Diocesan Services Appeal, the major fund raising effort of the ninety-two parish diocese.

The results of the successful drive were announced here this week by Fr. James A. Murray, Diocesan Chairperson.

"Our goal this year was $2,410,400," said Fr. Murray. "We exceeded that by $31,026 which is a real tribute to the faith of our people."

The DSA (Diocesan Services Appeal) funds over forty offices, programs and projects of the diocese. Included in the budget are allocations for Catholic Charities which has offices in seven cities of the diocese; Education, including grants to students in catholic schools; and the Administrative Services of the 216,113 member diocese.

The DSA this year received a total of 33,416 pledges from catholics and the average pledge was $73.06. This represents a slight increase from last year when 31,671 pledges were received for an average $69.27.

"As is always the case the generosity of the people is outstanding," said Fr. Murray, "and there is the awareness that none of the money will be wasted. I think that that is key to our effort."

Summer Community Band

COME JOIN THE FUN! Let us have some music in the air!

After High School graduation many people may have put their instrument in the case and on the shelf. Now there is an opportunity to bring it off the shelf and renew the interest you had in music. Talk to your friends and let us see what a balanced group of instruments we can bring together.

Margaret Hurbis, High School Band Director is looking forward to directing the program.

Please call the Community Resource Center 428-7722 or Grandma Gilloy 428-9175 by July 11th. Leave your name, phone number and instrument that will be played in the band.

After July 11th we will contact each person with time of first practice, place and any other information necessary.

LET'S GET TOGETHER AND STRIKE UP THE BAND!

Before You Buy A Condominium

Condominiums, and their maintenance-free lifestyles, have traditionally attracted singles and busy professionals who don't have the time or desire to mow lawns or shovel snow from their driveways. Just as often, individuals opt for a condo rather than a conventional home because of price. But condos are not for everyone. The Michigan Association of CPAs advises prospective buyers of condominiums to review carefully the various pros and cons before leaping into a purchase.

In many ways, owning a condominium is not very different from owning a conventional, single-family residence. You secure a mortgage, pay real estate taxes and gain many of the same tax deductions as other homeowners. But don't be fooled into thinking that both types of ownership are one and the same.

In a condominium, you own an individual unit as well as a share of the development's common property and facilities, such as a swimming pool or tennis court. However, you generally do not own the property surrounding your home and you may not even have final say on the look of your home's exterior. While operation and maintenance of the condo's common property are not the owner's concern, the fees for such services are. In some developments, monthly maintenance charges can run as high as several hundred dollars - in addition to mortgage payments.

Consider, too, that most condo owners not only have close neighbors but also have to abide by numerous community association rules on decorating home exteriors, landscaping and using the development's common grounds and facilities.

For the most part, condominium owners do get the same tax treatment as other homeowners. You are entitled to deduct mortgage interest, property taxes and any casualty losses you may incur. In addition, all the rules relating to the sale of a principal residence apply to condominiums, including the once-in-a-lifetime $125,000 exclusion of profits to anyone 55 or older who meets the ownership and use requirements.

Some special tax considerations exist solely for condo owners. In rare instances, part of the monthly maintenance fee may be deductible on your federal income tax return. Occasionally, you may also be able to deduct property taxes assessed on the development's common elements. When a share of your maintenance fees is used to pay taxes, for instance, you may be entitled to a deduction. Similarly, you can often deduct any mortgage interest on your share of common property, such as a social hall where residents gather. Another advantage can be found in developments that use reserve funds for improving and replacing structures in common areas. In such cases, an individual owner may be able to add his reserve contributions to the condo's original cost and thus trim capital gains when he decides to sell the home.

Before buying a condo, you should try to investigate the type of reserve fund offered by the development. Remember not all condos are equal. Your actual financial liability for a condo can vary greatly depending on several factors, the reserve fund being only one.

Mortgage terms, for example, can be confusing. If the condo developers offer financing packages, be cautious. In some cases, a deep discount in loan rates masks steep increases in future payments. If you finance through a developer, note the term of the mortgage and the annual percentage rate. Figure out what your monthly payments will be not only this year, but what they may be five or ten years from now.

When calculating the actual cost of a condo, you also need to determine the exact purpose of the monthly maintenance fees. How much money is targeted for future expenses? Are security or other services, such as garbage collection, included? Are any major repairs pending? Remember that the amount of the fee can change from year to year, depending on circumstances. Shoddy construction on a newly developed condo may result in a substantial increase in fees in just a few years. If your developer has built other condominiums, ask those tenants if their maintenance fees have risen and why.

Find out about the other owners. If some have refused to pay their share of the development's upkeep, you and other owners may have to make up the difference. Ask the association about its priorities and future plans. You may not want to pay more maintenance fees in order to establish a fully staffed day care center, but if the rest of the association votes in favor of such a facility, you'll be obligated to pay your share.

Carefully read the association's bylaws. If you operate a business out of your home, make sure the association permits such activity. Shoddy construction on a newly developed condo may result in a substantial increase in fees in just a few years. If your developer has built other condominiums, ask those tenants if their maintenance fees have risen and why.

CPAs say that if you are thinking about buying a condo, but plan to rent it out most of the time, remember that you may be able to take the numerous deductions available for owners of rental property. Since tax reform has made the rules for figuring these deductions more complicated than in the past, explore the consequences before signing a contract to purchase.

Chiropractic Why Chiropractic? NAGGING BACKACHES

Few ailments can be as aggravating, not to mention painful, as a constant, nagging backache.

Backache may result from a fall, a sudden movement, an accident, a cold, or some completely unnoticed happening.

Whatever the contributing factor, the direct cause of the ache and pain is easily traced to a pinched or impinged nerve. Once the pressure or "pinch" is removed, the pain departs and the normal, healthy glow returns.

Home remedies, sedatives and similar treatments may bring temporary relief, but it remains for the Chiropractor to tract — through clinical procedures — the cause of persistent pain and — through gentle adjustments — remove the cause and bring quick, longlasting, and effective relief.

The Chiropractor, through training and experience, is thoroughly familiar with the spinal column and the nerves which carry vital nerve energy to all parts of the body.

With skillful hands, the Chiropractor aligns the spine, removes the irritating pressures and that exasperating pain is given a new message of glowing health and well being. Try Chiropractic naturally.

Bill Provides Small Claims Access To More People

A bill proposing changes in small claims sessions of district court passed by an overwhelming margin today in the Michigan House of Representatives. Representative Perry Bullard, (D-Ann Arbor), Chair of the House Judiciary Committee and sponsor of the bill, explained that the monetary limit of small claims court would be raised from $1,500 to $2,000. "Since cases are only held in small claims court if both parties agree, there is no reason to have such a low dollar limit," stated Bullard. "If a case only involves a couple thousand dollars, it may be impractical for a litigant to seek a lawyer. The cost of legal services may greatly outweigh any monetary award a person may receive." The bill also allows certain fraud cases to be heard in small claims court. "A primary purpose of small claims to allow consumers access to a simplified procedure to resolve disputes, many of which involve fraud," said the Ann Arbor lawmaker. Another aspect of the bill requires judges to explain orally or in writing what rights are given up by parties in a small claims action. "We must ensure that people make an informed decision about whether their case is best heard in small claims court as opposed to a regular session of district court," said Bullard. Finally, Bullard's bill requires judges to obtain written information from a defendant about assets and income immediately after the defendant is ordered to

Pursell Plans Town Meeting

Washtenaw County residents living in the Second Congressional District will have the chance to share what's on their minds at a town meeting Friday, July 1, with Congressman Carl Pursell. "This should be a very productive session. Obviously there is a lot going on in the federal government these days and people probably have a good number of questions," said Pursell. "It's also a big help to me to hear opinions of the people I represent. I always look forward to the chance to receive input at meetings such as the one planned for Friday morning," he said. The 90-minute town meeting will start at 9:30 a.m. in the Woodlands Room at Chelsea Community Hospital. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

Help for the Tomato Bandit

Dan, our six year old gardener, came running back into the house one June morning last year, tears streaming down his cheeks. His first cherry tomato of the year, ripe on a sprawling bush he carefully tended in the perennial border, had been vandalized by a sloppy eater who hadn't the courtesy to remove the now tarnished prize from the plant. A tomato poacher was loose in our yard!

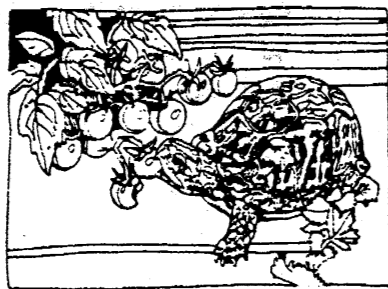

After the anger subsided, we plotted a strategy to identify the culprit. Each morning, Dan made an early visit to the plant, removed any partially eaten tomatoes, and searched for the tomato bandit.

On the fourth day, the morning dawned blisteringly hot and disgustingly muggy, with not a wisp of breeze stirring the trees. Yet from our family room vantage point, we saw the tomato plant quake. Dan slipped out the back door and stalked the intruder, intent on catching a glimpse of it before it fled. The plant stopped shaking as he neared. Dan closed in, pounced... and lifted the culprit high for us to see. The tomato poacher was a box turtle.

Box turtles, small land turtles that range over much of the United States east of the Rockies, might live wonderful lives among people. The mix of habitat they prefer, some meadow and lawn, some scrubby tangles and perhaps a patch of woodland, often abound in new developments, our parklands and stream corridors.

Their lifestyles cause no real damage to the plants we grow. They endure themselves to children of all ages and are one of the most desirable and visible wildlife species in the country. But the fact is that box turtles are on the decline and in many areas, pool, culvert or storm sewer?

Perhaps we need a national campaign to help the box turtles. You can run your own campaign by trying to retain a mix of habitats in your community. You can stop your car and assist box turtles out of the road and into nearby woods or meadows. Fences that reach the ground are turtle roadblocks. If your yard is fenced, one or two turtle openings, five inches high by six inches wide, will allow entry and eventual exit for the turtles. Cherry tomatoes and strawberries, grown on the edge of planting beds, are ideal turtle foods. Brush piles or mounds of wood chips provide overwintering areas and places for them to lay their eggs. Dense, shading shrubbery offers resting and feeding habitat. You needn't do more as a turtle gardener.

In my neighborhood, box turtles still run free. Kids say that they're the best wildlife "show and tell" on the block. That's enough for me to lend a box turtle a hand whenever I can.

Independence Day Celebrations

One of our founding fathers, John Adams, wrote of Independence Day in a letter to his wife, "It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from this time forward forevermore."

The first Independence Day was celebrated on July 8, 1776 in Philadelphia with bell ringing and brass bands.

Raisin River Reveries

Manchester Enterprise
July 14, 1881

"There once was a farmer who lived at North Bend, Esteemed by his neighbors and many a friend. And you'll see, on a time, if you follow my ditty, How he took a short walk-

Not "up to Washington city," as did the - of the Tippecanoe song quoted above, but with your humble scribe, some years ago, along the banks of the Raisin; and as the Hon. Amasa Gillett has long since gone to his reward, perhaps some of the facts I learned from him, and others, may interest the editor of the Enterprise and its readers. Therefore if ye editor will take a seat beside me, either mentally or in Propria person, upon this old road overhanging the river,

French settlers simply dried the grape and made a raisin of it.

We are sitting now directly in the path of the wild savage. Sit still; there have been none along here in-well, several days; but here ran one of those trails, and I have had the fine "squawgrass" growing in it, pointed out to me years ago by a hand that is now still in death. Along this trail trudged the fierce Potawatamies, with all their kettleotamirs lashed upon the Indian's favorite pack mule-his squaw. Stealthily, in newspaper file, on edition after another they went, the gaunt yaller dog bringing up the rear; or, in all the glory of war paint they hurried past till reaching the Huron trail they mingled with the fierce lords that followed the lead of Pontiac, Tecumseh or Black Hawk.

And just to the east of us branched off another trail, which if not the great Indian war-path, at least, led to it; for, passing over the ridge, yonder where the school house now stands, and thence north it reached Paint Brook, where the red-skinned warriors got themselves up on all the glory of red, yellow and black, "regardless of expense."

A few rods to the north of us once stood a house wherein assembled the first women's rights convention ever called in this region. They gathered there to cast, not ballots, but bullets; for there came a rumor of Black Hawk's threatened massacre, when every available man was "at the front," and these "Daughters of the Revolution" were bound to be "armed and equipped." But the rumor proved groundless, and "the convention adjourned."

We are on classic soil "Heavy," did you remark. Yes, "heavy with histories and heaped with reminiscences." "Is that a heap of them yonder?" you ask. Well, yes, a story monument of reminiscences of sore fingers and hard work; but enough of that; strange as it may seem now, this spot was once known far and wide as a goal to the weary travel-worn pioneer; this the famous "North Bend of the Raisin," a river known to the Indians as the "Sho-wa-caemettes," or "the river that the grapes grow on." The early

But I am wearing you. Let us take a drink from yonder spring, where doubtless old Lo, after he had been on a "high," off slacked his burning throat, and -

Word has already been spread, or most likely after fourteen years of sponsoring the most popular event of its kind in Michigan, no one needs reminding that the 15th Annual Charcoal Chicken Broil is upon us. On Thursday, July 18th at the Athletic Field, 3,500 golden brown chicken halves will be ready for the first serving at 4:30 p.m.

Over 10,000 guests are expected again this year and already the 28 committees are preparing for the statewide event. Although the ladies are only to relax and enjoy the evening, they might give a helping hand by sending out, by the 13th of July, the postcards received in the mail. Remind your out-of-town friends and relatives of our goal-the youth who benefit from the proceeds-the delicious charcoal broiled chicken-and the side attractions of exhibits and a softball game.

Co-chairman Ludy Klager reports that there will be designated parking at high school and Double A Products with shuttle service to and from the Athletic Field. This will relieve some of the traffic congestion and parking facilities at the field.

Tickets are now available from the workers or may be purchased at the gate for $1.50, the original price fourteen years ago. Last year's profits of over $4,700 along with some of this year's profits will total a $6,000 pledge to the high school track facilities.

The Prebroil Party for the men workers will be held at Carr Park on Thursday, July 11 at 6:00 p.m.

Any man who has not been contacted by letter and wishes to help may contact Dan Boutell or Rollie Grossman. Ted Tapping is in charge of student help and any boy who would like to help may contact Mr. Tapping. These boys must register with him, the committee stressed. You will be most welcome.

Summer Community Band

We have a core group to begin the SOUND OF MUSIC. Baritone, clarinet, bass, trombone, trumpet saxophone, a tuba and percussion. That's a wonderful beginning of a community band. Now let's find out how many more band members we can add. Is it a little risky to blow on that horn? Maybe the first time it won't sound like it should? That's OK there is still time for practice.

To add your name to the list of musicians, please call Grandma Gillow 428-9175 or the Community Resource Center 428-7722 by July 11th. We need your name, phone number and the instrument to be played with the band.

Could it be that Louis Armstrong, Guy Lombardo and Benny Goodman got started this way!

United Way Wrap-Up Luncheon

Jim Hendley presenting an interesting history of "Charitable Giving" in Manchester through United Way.

President Leonard Bruner welcomed guests and thanked them for helping to surpass our $42,500 goal in 1988. Campaign Chairman, Jim Datsko presented plaques to all divisions. Ron Fielder, Industry Chairman, commended all eight companies which together gave 85% of the total.

The Board of Directors has since met and has approved the 1989 budget at $45,150. Two new board members were elected, Mark Chapin and William Panches. One vacancy remains. We wish to thank Diana Macfarlane, Thelma Stremier and Loring Ebersole for their years of service on the Manchester United Way board.
