Understanding The Not So Simple World of Interest Rates

In today's financially complex world, nothing is simple any more—not even interest rates. If you think differently, try selecting the best interest rate simply by scanning the local newspapers. Advertisements fight for your attention by boldly announcing annual rates that vary by fractions of a percentage point based on how much you deposit, what type of accounts you choose and whether the yield is tax-free, tax-deferred or taxable. Convicted?

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, a little knowledge can go a long way in helping you choose the right money market account or certificate of deposit (CD) for your investment. To make an informed decision, you must understand how interest is compounded, evaluate the annual yields offered by various accounts and investigate the type of fees the institution can charge.

Imagine you have only two possible choices for your investment: a CD with an annual rate of 8 percent, compounded monthly and a CD with an annual rate of 8.1 percent, compounded semi-annually. Which is the better investment?

If you think that the 8.1 percent CD is better because its annual rate is higher, think again. In this case, the account offering the lower rate of 8 percent will actually earn more because of the power of compounding.

Most people actually choose to deposit their money in a bank or other savings institution by virtue of newspaper advertisements that proclaim "the highest available interest rates." But, in fact, those impressive interest rates advertised in one-inch print and with slick Madison-Avenue style, may not always be the best available. Under federal regulations, any advertisement that lists an interest rate for a savings account must also disclose the annual rate. The annual rate alone tells you very little. To really understand the investment value of a savings account, you have to know how often the interest earned on your money is compounded.

Compounding means that your interest is periodically added to your savings so that your interest earns more interest. Interest can be compounded in any number of ways: daily, monthly, semi-annually or annually. In general, the shorter the compounding period, the more total interest you earn on the account.

Look at the difference compounding makes. A one-year CD advertising a 10 percent "simple" interest rate would earn $100 in interest on a $1,000 deposit at maturity. By comparison, the same 10 percent compounded daily would be equivalent to an account earning 10.52 percent—for a return of $105.20 on the same one-year CD.

Now, that extra $5.20 may not seem a lot to you, but those dollars can add up faster than you might expect. In the above example, an account earning a non-compounded interest rate of 10 percent would double in value in 7.2 years. If compounded daily, the same account would double approximately one and a half years earlier.

Although the Federal Reserve Board does not require bank advertisements to disclose the compounding period applied to an investor's deposit, many ads do volunteer this information—often in fine print, located beneath the interest rate figure.

Another number that is frequently trumpeted in ads is the "effective annual yield," which provides a more accurate gauge for those shopping for the best savings account. This figure reflects the impact that compounding has on the annual interest rate. By comparing effective annual yields between two or more accounts, you can get a fairly accurate idea of how hard your money will be working for you in the account.

A simple comparison of yields may not work, however, if you are comparing taxable investments to those exempt from taxes, such as a municipal bond. The actual yield of a tax-exempt account depends not only on the account's interest rate and compounding method, but also on your tax bracket. If you are in the 33 percent bracket, a 5 percent tax-free yield is really the equivalent of a 7.5 percent taxable yield.

In a tax-deferred account, such as an IRA or 401K plan, the tax is not eliminated; rather, it is merely postponed until a later date. The primary advantage of such investments is that they allow you to build assets at a faster rate by dramatically enhancing the effect of compounding.

A few other wrinkles must be smoothed over before you can rest assured that the account with the highest annual yield will actually provide you with the best bottom-line earnings. For instance, some accounts require you to deposit a specific amount in order to get the advertised yield. While the boldly printed rate and yield numbers may catch your eye, the ad may make no mention about any minimum deposit.

Another factor to consider when choosing a savings account is whether the institution imposes restrictions on or charges fees for establishing, maintaining or terminating your account.

According to a Federal Reserve Board study, some depositors are paying fees as high as $60 a year. Some banks that offer the convenience of automatic teller machines charge as much as $1 for each transaction conducted at one of their machines. Other fees that take a bite out of your savings include penalties for low balances or early withdrawals.

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, the best way to avoid any surprises is to ask your banker to calculate how much will be in your account after a specific period of time. If you are shopping for a two-year CD, for example, find out how much money you will be able to withdraw when the CD matures.

Special Tribute To Claire Reck

State Senator Lana Pollack, Linda Reck Wakefield, Mac Hardenbergh with Claire Y. Reck at the presentation of the state's award to Claire.

by Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

A deeply moved crowd joined State Senator Lana Pollack on Heritage Day last Saturday in presenting a special "Tribute" to Claire Y. Reck.

At the Gazebo ceremony during which she presented legislative honors to the Manchester Township Library, Senator Pollack took the microphone for a second time. She began with a personal account of her first meeting with Mrs. Reck whose daughter, Sarah, was Senator Pollack's roommate in college.

She then read the formal "Tribute" from the Michigan Senate to Claire Y. Reck, a citizen whose tireless and selfless service to the people and the community of Manchester have certainly made Manchester a "finer place."

Mrs. Reck was taken by surprise with this Tribute, and the gathered crowd rose to offer sustained applause as Senator Pollack moved from the podium into the crowd to present to her the framed document.

Mrs. Reck has lived in Manchester since 1941. Almost immediately upon moving here, Claire Reck became involved in community service. She joined the Library Board in 1943 and has served continuously as a Board member until the present. Perhaps her best known work is with the Manchester Family Service which she was instrumental in founding and of which she has served as Chairman from its beginning until the present.

Although Mrs. Reck has been honored with numerous awards including most recently the Governor's Minuteman Award, it was obvious that the audience felt included in offering this "Tribute" as many came forward to shake Mrs. Reck's hand, and many were dabbing tears from their eyes when Senator Pollack read the beautifully worded tribute. Once more is perhaps not yet often enough to say "Thank You" to Claire Y. Reck.

See You At The Fair!!

Hinkley Named Hearing Officer

Village Council unanimously voted to name John Hinkley as Hearing Officer to deal with violations of the village's new Dangerous Building Ordinance. The ordinance enables the village to act when there is a structure considered dangerous by the local building inspector or other local official.

Hinkley's job will be to conduct hearings and decide, based on evidence presented by both the officials and the property owner, what action should be taken. Property owners who are unhappy with Hinkley's determination may appeal the decision to the Village Council.

Recreation Task Force Receives Grant

Manchester's Recreation Task Force will again be the recipient of a $2,000 grant from the Washtenaw County Community Services Board.

"The money will be used to provide programs for young people as an alternative to substance abuse," Dianne Schwab told the Village Council.

Last year the Recreation Task Force organized dances and activities for area youths, mostly in the evenings and on weekends. This year the activities will be much the same, except that the program will be starting later and the Task Force will coordinate their activities with the schools, said Schwab.

MEA Responds To Board

On August 8, 1988, a media release was issued by the Superintendent of the Manchester Community Schools regarding bargaining of a new teachers' contract.

While there was no prior agreement between the parties prohibiting the issuance of such releases, the WLEA/Manchester Education Association was/is more than a little surprised that Mr. Niedzwiecki has elected to go public relative to the status of negotiations. Ordinarily, "negotiating in public" is recognized as not being in the best interests of either party to the bargaining process.

However, since this is the course the Manchester administration apparently wishes to follow, by virtue of this first volley, the Association feels obligated to respond.

Mr. Niedzwiecki's August 8, 1988, statement to the media can be found on page 11

Library Honored

Governor Swainson, Howard Parr, and Maggie Gisting at the unveiling of the Historic Marker for the Manchester Township Library, August 13, 1988.

by Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

The Manchester Township Library which is this year celebrating its 150th anniversary was honored during the Heritage Day ceremonies last Saturday when State Senator Lana Pollack presented a Resolution from both Houses of the Michigan State Legislature recognizing the Library's history and contributions to the community.

The framed document was received by Ron Mann and Clarence Fielder, who both have served as Township Supervisor during this anniversary year, and by Ann Fowler, treasurer of the Library Board.

The ceremony began with a very inspired invocation by Father Raymond Schlinkert which reminded us of the importance of knowledge and books. The Girl Scouts then led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by some opening remarks by Village President, Mary Kallewaard. The Honorable John B. Swainson introduced the almost two dozen Library Board members and staff, past and present, who were on hand to share in honoring the Library.

After a very special tribute to Claire Reck, the assembled crowd made a procession across the street to the Library itself where, on the lawn in front, the new official State of Michigan Historic Marker was formally dedicated. Governor Swainson, the President of the Michigan Historical Commission, offered some very eloquent thoughts on the Library being a window, much larger than that of a television screen, to the world. And he discussed the long and unique history of our Manchester Township Library. He then unveiled the Marker.

The marker is nearly two feet by three feet and stands on a pole almost seven feet high. It is made of bronze and has text on both sides. Governor Swainson read the text, one side being the history of the Manchester Township Library and the other the history of the building itself, the James A. Lynch House. The marker was a gift to the Library arranged for by the 150 Committee and funded by the Manchester Area Historical Society. All are certainly invited to stop at the Library to view the marker.

The interesting ceremony was concluded with a thoughtful benediction by Father Schlinkert. And the crowd was invited into the Library for refreshments and a look at the most recent renovations.

This ceremony to formally and officially mark the Library's 150th anniversary is part of the many activities which have taken place and are still planned for this 150th year. As a part of the Summer Heritage Celebration, it was categorized as "Pomp and Ceremony" - and more interesting, inspiring, and meaningful "pomp and ceremony" would be difficult to find.

River Raisin Clean-Up

Last week a work crew spent four days winning the large logs out the Raisin River from Fellows Bridge to the Sharon Mill in Sharon Hollow. This project was sponsored by the River Raisin Watershed Council. The Watershed Council is a voluntary group of municipalities and townships that border the River. Their purpose is to clean-up the river, improve erosion control and synchronize water-control on the many mill ponds along its 135 mile length. Manchester Village and Township and Washtenaw County are members of the Council. The council hired a two-man crew with a log skidder to haul out over 100 logs from this section of the river.

Tom Walton, Jim and Bill Mann helped skid the logs out. The intent is to clear the river up to the Sharon Mill so that we can start the canoe races from there. We plan to have another clean-up on a Saturday to get small logs and trash out of the river. If you would be interested in helping, please contact Jim Mann or Tom Walton. We will be contacting the local organizations for assistance on this project. We appreciate the assistance of Tri-County Logging for donating their truck, and all the property owners and the River Raisin Watershed for their financial assistance and coordinating the clean-up.

Heritage Day A Success

Heritage Day on the Village Commons Saturday, August 13, 1988.

Puppet Show on the Library lawn Heritage Day, August 13, 1988.

by Janet LaBean Shurtliff

A Summer Heritage Celebration took place last Saturday on the lawn around the Gazebo and in front of the Library. In spite of the heat, the crowds came, and the festivities were indeed "fun for the whole family all day long." The event was sponsored and coordinated by the Manchester

Area Chamber of Commerce - but it really was a collection of efforts by various groups including the Manchester Area Historical Society, the Recreation Task Force, the Manchester Township Library, the Fireside Heritage Crafters, and numerous other groups and individuals.

The Old Village Commons looked beautiful and festive. The Gazebo was draped with red, white, and blue bunting, and the Heritage Crafters with their spinning wheels and blacksmith forge were nestled picturesquely under the huge trees just south of the Gazebo. Exhibiting artists and crafters had all manner of booth displays near the corner of W. Main and Washington. In the shade at the corner were several booths of farm goods, fresh and delicious, and the Girl Scouts and Brownies sold lemonade and cookies just across the street. In front of the Library was the mysteriously draped historic marker which was undraped during the 2:00 ceremony. Also a puppet theater and book sale shared the front space of the Library. All the lawn around had children's game booths set up for sack races. It was beautiful.

Some of the most popular attractions were certainly the tours provided by the Historical Society. Hoot 'n Holler made available wagons drawn by huge mules, Howard Parr took the microphone and escorted groups on a route around town, pointing out buildings and locations of historic significance and providing commentary about them. The children bought nearly 1000 five-cent tickets to play the old fashioned games the Recreative Task Force organized. Although only $48 profit was realized (to be used for future kid's activities), the fun was beyond value.

And, of course, the ceremony to honor the Library, including the special tribute to Claire Reck and the dedication of the official State of Michigan Historic Marker drew a large crowd.

At the Gazebo, all the various events, even the specials at the stores downtown, were announced and blended together by the Master of Ceremonies for the day, Manchester's own Jim Linebaugh.

This year's Summer Heritage Celebration took its form in Wurster Park as a blending of previous year's Street Fairs and the Heritage Day Gazebo Dedication last year. Because the idea was new, it was not certain how it would turn out. There were some just concerns. And certainly the weather wasn't as friendly as one might have hoped. But all who attended seemed to enjoy themselves greatly. Manchester has a rich heritage, and this Summer Heritage Celebration was indicative of how that heritage has shaped the spirit of the town today. A good time was had by all!

Day Camp A Success

The Recreational Task Force sponsored the Manchester Day Camp last week in which 80 children between the ages of 5 and 12 were emersed in activities that aroused the interest of our whole community. People that passed Carr Park noticed that excited groups of children were cheering and laughing while participating in parachute games and relays taught by Sharon Anderson. The 50 foot sprinkler hose created the most refreshing excitement, thanks to the Village DPW. We are very lucky to have an excellent facility like Carr Park in our village. The covered shelters, bathrooms, water faucets, and electrical outlets, as well as the well groomed and tree-shaded rolling land make this spot ideal for such an activity as the Day Camp without making the campers travel any distance to attend. I am sure this is appreciated by the parents. The workers of the DPW, Gary Wiedmayer and his staff, are commended for their willingness to make camp more enjoyable and run smoothly. What passers-by may not have been able to see were the imaginative Back to the Future vehicles that were created out of appliance boxes and the other crafts taught by Ann Kornow. The team work exhibited by each group when they painted their trash barrel will be visible when they are distributed around the village. And next year when the flowers that were planted by each child start blooming in the Kirk Park flower garden the community will be reminded that the Back to the Future Day Camp accomplished its goal, which was to share special skills and knowledge, assist with community projects, and explore our Village under the guidance of trained, caring adults.

It is only due to the interest and commitment of these truly selfless adults that an activity of this magnitude could ever have taken place. The positive comments given by the children and the joy on their faces is really all the gratitude that any volunteer needs to feel satisfied, but I, Patty Swaney, would like to express my personal thanks as the director of this years day camp. Linda Arnsdorf, Lucille Bruner, Carrie Funk, Kathy Jefferson, Bill Griffin, Pam Heidenescher, Astrida Panches, and Janet LaBeau Shurtliff were all advisors that spent all three days in charge of 10 children; a responsibility that is not easy to volunteer for in the middle of summer vacation. Pat Sabakian was in charge of the First Aid Station with the help of Kathy Thornton. Cindy Sewell was registrar and treasurer; as well as all around helper and along with Marikay Kennedy, Sherry Barker, Charlene Miller, Rose Grenier and Barb Hollosy who all helped at camp. Nearly all the parents volunteered to help at camp in some capacity which was one reason for its success. The teenage helpers, Mara Bragg, Angie Eiss, Sharon Fielder, Jennifer Hampton, and Michelle Mann were indispensable and hard workers. Tod Armentrout and Diane DuRussel along with Tootie and Robert Armentrout were much appreciated for their careful planning and carrying out of the flower garden planting and rescue of tired hikers. Bill Schwab and Leonard Bruner along with others were invaluable in the running of the camp. The generous donations of the Bakers Dozen, The Flower Garden, Gisting and Gisting, Kleinschmidt's, and the Farmers Market as well as the Recreational Task Force and the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council were noted and appreciated by the entire staff. The community participation and interest makes us happy to be living in a small town.

Many citizens noted the merry hikers as they followed the walking trail through town picking up trash for the "scavenger hunt". Their personally designed camp tee-shirts were admired by all and identified them as special people. These special people will long remember these day camp activities and it is my wish that they will grow up wanting to share their experiences with the children of the future.

Quilt Project Update

by Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

The Bicentennial Quilt which the Manchester Area Historical Society commissioned to be made and which will be raffled off this Saturday at the Community Fair is definitely in the home stretch now.

As you recall, this project was originated as part of the Historical Society's work to have Manchester Village designated a "Bicentennial Village." The quilt features the logo of the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution on a field of white with red and blue borders. Embroidered into the red border will be the names of 200 friends and neighbors who purchased five tickets for the raffle. Only the first 200 could be included (in keeping with the bicentennial theme), and that number has already been reached. However, the raffle still remains, and tickets for the raffle itself are certainly still available! You may purchase them at the Bakery, the Library, Great Lakes Savings, the Iron Horse Antiques, from members of the Historical Society, and at the Community Fair.

The quilt is beautiful, and anyone would be happy to win it. The Historical Society will have a display at the Fair where you may see a sample of the quilt. The quilt top which was recently on display at Great Lakes and at Heritage Day is now back at the quilter where the names are being embroidered, a process which will take several weeks.

However, the raffle WILL be held this Saturday at the Fair. So be sure to get your tickets now for this beautiful Bicentennial signature quilt!

Llama Show At The Fair

On Friday evening at 7:00 p.m. we will have Llamas presented by Bill & Sue Griffin of Lost Kettle Llamas. Llamas are new to this area. The Griffins have been breeding and raising Llamas for about a year and a half.

Raising Llamas takes no special expertise. They eat very little and are virtually disease free. Llamas are easy for anyone, including children to handle and train. Llamas are very curious and friendly animals. Be sure to come and meet the Griffins on Friday, August 19th, at 7:00 p.m.

Attending Republican Convention

A Manchester resident is attending the national Republican Convention in New Orleans this week as an alternate delegate. This is the first national convention for former Washtenaw County Republican chairman Jane Talcott.

"My experience at many state conventions leads me to believe I'll wait hours for elevators and buses, spend more money than I expect to, and come home exhausted and exhausted," she noted.

Active in Republican politics since 1962, she has served on the Second Congressional District Republican Committee as well as the county committee.

"I'm proud to be from Manchester, and I know I will be glad to get back to it," Talcott stated. She currently serves on the Republican Finance Committee for the county, and is a precinct delegate from Freedom Township. Her only regret is having to miss the fair this year.

The Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988 was recently signed into law with a five year phase-in period. The act makes major and far-reaching changes in the Medicare program and has been described as the most significant federal health insurance legislation since the enactment of Medicare and Medicaid in 1965. The final impact of this new legislation is not yet fully known. State governments must address those major provisions relating to Medicaid.

Following are highlights of some of the expansions of the medical coverage for the elderly with long-term illnesses. The major benefits provisions: extended hospital coverage under Medicare to 365 days per year (current limit is 90 days, plus 90 day lifetime reserve); limit hospital costs to one deductible per year ($534 in 1989); limit yearly out-of-pocket payments for Medicare-covered physician charges ($1,370 in 1990); add coverage for prescription drugs, after $600 deductible, with 50 percent coinsurance payment, effective 1991, 40 percent in 1992, and 20 percent thereafter; provide up to 80 hours of respite care per year for home-bound persons who reach physician or drug payment limits; allow individuals with spouses nursing homes to maintain a minimum level of income and assets and still qualify for Medicaid coverage of long-term-care expenses; require Medicaid to pay Medicare premium deductibles and insurance costs for elderly and disabled individuals with incomes below poverty level. These changes will benefit about 8 million people when fully implemented in 1993. It is estimated that the cost will be about 10 billion dollars. The legislation is budget neutral, meaning those who will receive the benefits will pay for them. The Medicare benefits are financed by a new income-related supplemental premium paid by Medicare beneficiaries who pay federal income taxes and based on income tax liability, and by an increase in the current Part B premium paid by all Medicare recipients. The maximum supplemental premium cost will range from $800 in 1989, to $1050 in 1993. In 1990 the increase in the Part B premium will be $4 per month, increasing, with the phase-in of new benefits, to $10.20 in 1993. Changes In Home Canning

There are new varieties of fruits and vegetables, a new generation of canners...and new cases of botulism. These facts persuaded the USDA to take a good look at canning recommendations for the first time since the 1940's.

One of the major changes of the research contracted by USDA to Pennsylvania State University concerns tomatoes. The new procedure uses the addition of acid, either in the form of bottled lemon juice (2T/qt. 1 T/pint), or crystals of citric acid (1/4 tsp/pint, 1/2 tsp/qt.).

A hot pack, where the tomatoes are boiled for 5 minutes is the preferred method; the jars need to be processed in a boiling water bath, 40 minutes for pints, 45 minutes for quarts.

To obtain information on other tomato products, such as juice, or about other fruits and vegetables, call 971-0079 and request the Addendum to Extension bulletin E-1555, Home Canning.

A Day At The Lakes

Manchester Enterprise
July 15, 1988

About the most enjoyable thing for the business man to do these dull days is to seat oneself in Farrell & Brenner's best double carriage behind a spanking team and drive to the lakes. Accompanied by Mr. & Mrs. Henry Townsend, of Klinger's lake, ye editor and wife indulged in the luxury on Tuesday and we advise our readers to try it, feeling sure that they will be amply repaid for the expense.

A ride through the country at this season, when the farmer is just completing his harvest of golden grain, the barns bulging with the pressure of hay and wheat, the corn-fields green and the fruit laden trees stimulate one with the hope that with the marketing of this, business will revive.

Arriving at "Fair View" farm, the property of L.D. Watkins, we stopped beneath a shady walnut tree and uninvited inspected the mammoth hay and stock barn on the place. As has before been mentioned in the Enterprise, this barn is so arranged that a team drawing a load of hay is driven in at one end and ascending an elevated track to the centre and near the roof, the whole load is dumped into the capacious bays below. There is ample space in which to turn around and drive out the way they entered.

We jogged along at a leisurely pace admiring the ever changing views of hill and dale, until the ringing of the farmers dinner bells warned us of the approach of the noon day hour. Hastening our speed we soon reached Wampler's lake house where mine hoste Moore made us feel at home, and the wants of the inner man was supplied.

The guests at the hotel and campers in the grove were having fine sport boating and fishing, and we learn that on Saturday, wind and weather permitting, there will be a sailboat race for a silk pennant, in which all the boats on the lake and some from neighboring lakes will take part. It will be quite an event as Wampler's lake is a good sailing course.

In the afternoon, we drove over to Sand lake, stopping at the Lake Park house where we found a large number of boarders and cottagers enjoying the beauties of this popular resort, among whom were U. S. Grant and family. The cottages thickly located along the bank of the lake remind one of the famous resorts of Northern Michigan. While strolling along the shore admiring the scenery and watching the sailboats as they flitted here and there before the fresh breeze and the myriad of row boats gliding in and out laden with merry people, we could but think that this was surely a haven of rest and those who are fortunate enough to be able to spend a season here is to be envied. We counted five large sail boats and several smaller ones, most of which were built by S. Hulbut, who, by the way, is a pretty good sailor and understands the shifting winds encountered on the lake. We called at the "Swords Point" cottage, now owned by Mr. Curtis and also at the Clark cottage, at both of which we enjoyed a brief visit. Ground has been broken for two new cottages, just south of the Park house, by Messrs. Tiffany and Hayden of Tecumseh.

We reached the hotel just in time for supper and none to soon to escape being caught in a hail storm.

The departure of the stage for Adrian is one of the events of the day, and it is interesting to watch the people. Some are hurrying to get away, others are busy writing letters to send friends, children are crying, mothers calling, fathers scolding, young ladies laughing, and finally away dashes the stage and we are left standing upon the porch meditating upon the vagaries of life.

As the sun was setting in the west, its bright red light reflected across the bosom of the placid waters, we too took our departure homeward, the pleasure of the journey being much enhanced by the late storm.
