Nine Tips to Help You Safeguard Your Savings

A Monday in mid-October. If those words make your heart beat just a little faster, you are probably one of the millions of investors who watched the stock market crash 508.92 points almost a year ago, on October 19.

Black Monday, as the fateful day was subsequently dubbed, sent people leaping out of the market in droves. Unfortunately, many of the first to jump were small investors who panicked at the thought of losing their savings. By pulling out too soon, many turned their paper losses into actual losses. Indeed, just six days later, the market recovered a record-breaking 186 points.

For the small investor still reeling from last year's plunge, the Michigan Association of CPAs offers nine tips that can help safeguard your savings.

Build a Strong Foundation

Don't put a single dime in any moderately risky investment until you have built a solid savings foundation. Most financial experts recommend that you keep enough funds in an insured money market account to cover at least three to six months of living expenses. Remember that your savings base must be able to cushion the blow from a sudden recession, unexpected unemployment or other personal crisis.

Choose Investments That Match Your Needs and Resources

If your life savings amounts to $1,000, investing in the stock market is about as wise as betting on the weather.

How you invest what you have is one of the most important financial decisions you can make. Assess your situation honestly. If your savings is small, risk terrifies you and security ranks as one of your most important objectives, you should probably stay clear of the stock market.

The risk-shy investor should investigate safer options, such as Treasury bills, which are backed by the U.S. government and are virtually free from the possibility of default.

Choose Investment Advisors You Can Trust

Most people shop around for a doctor or lawyer. Do the same for your financial advisor. If you have a stockbroker, make sure that he or she is readily available and is willing to listen to and understand your financial goals.

Diversify

No matter how much money you have, avoid putting all your eggs into one basket—they become too easy to trample. Spread your savings among different types of investments. The reason why this strategy works is simple: in general, when one segment of the financial world suffers, another prospers. For instance, when interest rates fall sharply, bond prices soar.

How you diversify your portfolio again depends on such factors as your age, your ability to sustain risk and your financial position. In today's volatile market, however, most individuals should maintain at least a portion of their funds in insured CDs, money market accounts or government securities.

Buy What You Know

Capitalize on your own expertise when choosing stocks. If, for example, you work for an airline and part of your job is staying on top of the industry's problems and opportunities, you are in an excellent position to select securities in that market segment.

Look For Reasonable Gains

We all dream of the million-dollar investment, the one smart tip that makes a fortune overnight. Keep dreaming. In reality, look for investments that yield reasonable gains—say, a few percentage points above the current inflation rate. Accounts paying eight percent will double your savings in approximately nine years. An 11 percent yield will double your funds in just six-and-a-half years. To figure how long it will take for your money to double, use the financial advisor's "rule of 72": divide 72 by the rate of interest on your savings.

Take The Long View

The worst victims of Black Monday were the ones who couldn't see past the day's closing prices. If you do invest in the market, you have to be willing to ride out the roller-coaster days. In general, the longer you hold onto an investment, the more likely you will be able to minimize your overall losses.

Some people, however, follow this advice a little too closely. They become attached to a favorite stock and won't sell it—even when it has become a clear loser. Remember, if a stock loses half its value, its price will have to double for you to break even.

Try Dollar-Cost Averaging

One often-recommended plan for people interested in making long-term market investments is called "dollar-cost averaging." According to this strategy, you invest a set amount of money in a security or a mutual fund at regular intervals. For example, you invest $100 in a mutual fund every two months. As a general rule, you will end up buying more shares at a lower price and fewer shares when the price is high. The primary advantage of dollar-cost averaging is that it tends to smooth out the devastating lows of stock-market investments. Unfortunately, you may also miss the spectacular heights.

Stay Involved

A frightening number of people fail to monitor their investments regularly. Imagine buying a house, walking away and then waiting some 15 years to check on its condition. You would un-

Diabetes Sharing Group

Immediately return to find your house a weather-worn shambles. The same can happen to your financial investments.

When you make an investment, you make a commitment to your own financial future—and your success or failure will depend, in part, on the degree of your involvement.

Stay in touch with your broker or financial advisor, track the performance of your investment and keep attuned to major economic events.

CPAs advise investors to pay especially close attention to such factors as the rate of inflation, consumer spending and the federal deficit.

Investing is always a bit of a gamble, but staying informed can help move the odds in your favor.

A diabetic sharing group meets the second Wednesday of each month at 3:30 p.m. at Chelsea Community Hospital in the private Dining Room B. Individuals with diabetes and their family are invited to attend. We hope to give support and help with educating ourselves about diabetes.

The next meeting will be October 12th. Kris Hora, B.S.W. at Chelsea Community Hospital, will be our guest speaker. Kris will lead the group in an exercise to identify stress and support in your life.

Youth Week October 23rd - 29th

The week of October 23, 1988, will be declared YOUTH WEEK in the Manchester area. Phil VanDop, Youth Director at the United Church of Christ initiated the idea for the youth of his parish and contacted the COMMUNITY RESOURCE CENTER for ideas. Thus the involvement of the community. The focus for YOUTH WEEK will center around youth as they relate to their families. Churches, schools and other organizations will be encouraged to plan their own program to implement the theme.

INDIVIDUAL SUGGESTIONS TO HELP STRENGTHEN YOUR FAMILY UNIT:

FOR THE YOUTH: Remember to thank Dad or Mom when they took extra time for you for a ballgame, work or talk; they included you on family discussions; they treated you to a new outfit while it really wasn't needed; they helped you with your homework; when Dad or Mom cooked you a special meal when they were "really too tired"; they said "NO" when you really wished they would say "YES".

FOR THE PARENTS: Remember to thank that son or daughter when they took responsibility without being asked; when they were sensitive to your needs during a difficult time. Remember to praise - John or Mary when they were truthful when it really hurt.

Remember to provide - a listening ear, especially after school or when you get home from work. Do something special as a family during YOUTH WEEK. PARENTS AND YOUTH - Remember to say I LOVE YOU even when things are not so good.

Main Break Causes Water Shut-Off

by Becky Doyle

Village residents were without water Saturday night following a break in a 12-inch water main near the water tower. A piece of pipe over 10 feet long developed a crack and released gallons of water, washing sand and debris into nearby back yards. Although it is unknown if the tower was full at the time, according to Gary Weidmayer as much as 330,000 gallons may have been discharged.

In addition, the water pressure tore through three electric lines that control another pump on East Main Street.

Residents Jim and Jeanine Uphouse discovered the break when they heard the noise of rushing water.

"We heard the noise—water running—and we went up there and saw water coming out of the ground by the fire hydrant," said Jeanine. They called Weidmayer about 6:30, they said. According to Weidmayer, the tower emptied in about an hour.

Mayer Kallewaard called the Manchester Fire Department and some local businesses to let them know the situation, since some businesses were still open and the Fire Department would have had to rely on other sources for water if a fire had broken out.

The length of pipe was replaced

Trick Or Treat Night

October 31 is the night for us to see witches, robots, bunnies and princes out on the street between 5:00 and 7:00. Maybe even Roger Rabbit will be out trick or treating. Residents, remember, these scarry characters feel more welcome if your porch light is on.

Think a few years back when all the kids gathered in the Middle School or the athletic field for judging of costumes, cider and donuts? By popular demand it is going to happen again.

Manchester Recreation Task Force and the Community Resource Center are coordinating the party.

Prizes for the ugliest, prettiest and most unusual costumes will be given in every age group, pre-school through the sixth grade. One prize will be given for the most outstanding of all costumes.

Kids get your imagination working. Dad and Mom will help with ideas and construction.

Kids - Tax Due To IRS?

"Tax law changes have added more than five million children to the tax rolls this year," said IRS District Director, John Hummel. "Of those five million children, we estimate that as many as 100,000 nationwide may not pay the tax they owe and will receive a balance due bill from us. This means approximately 5,000 Michigan children could receive tax bills," Hummel said.

Sends Letter to Her Sister Describing What She Has Seen While En Route to North

Miss Lydia Kuenkamp, who departed recently for a trip to the frozen North, is evidently enjoying the experience immensely, and writes her sister Ida as follows:

We surely have had a wonderful journey so far. We traveled about 3,200 miles by auto and are now on a C. P. R. steamer in Alaskan waters. There are mountains on both sides of us, some of them snow tipped. In the morning they are usually covered with fog or mist. Yesterday we saw many enveloped in clouds of smoke from forest fires.

The sunset last night was beautiful at 8 o'clock. At Dawson, which is the terminus of our trip they say one can read until 10:30 at night by the light of the sun. We shall soon know whether or not this is true.

The boat passes mainly through narrow channels, called the "inside route," with islands on either side. Sometimes it is fun to try to guess which channel we will next pursue—and we often guess wrongly. They tell us the best part of the scenery is still ahead, in some places there being glaciers, waterfalls and rugged mountains. In the passage we are traversing the water is very still and we scarcely know that we are moving. Only three times have we gone outside into the Pacific ocean properly speaking—but that was three times too many. The first time it lasted about three hours and I tried hard not to be seasick, but it was a little too much for me so I helped feed the fish along with many others. But I made up for it by eating a big dinner at night.

As we are on a Canadian boat, we find the English cook a little differently than we do in the States. Their so-called pies are nothing but a dish of cooked fruit with a square pie cracker on top, and their cakes are out about the size of a calling card and but a little thicker. But they are very generous and allow you to eat as many of them as you like. We certainly get good "eats" and we can have anything we want on the menu—even two or three desserts if we want them. Besides three

Senior Citizens News

We have some "Pied Pipers of Manchester" who furnished a whole carton of orange oranges to help rid us of spiders. Thanks to Lehman Wahl who formally introduced me to one. Was beginning to think that the oranges also were driving away our water supply on last Saturday evening when the faucets barely dripped. Bless those fellows who fixed the broken water main near the water tower (on Saturday night when they could have been doing most anything else). We had running water again before bedtime, thanks, guys.

Senior exercise is back. Thursday, October 20: Exercise by Sarah will begin at 11 a.m., come swing your arms and legs a little. Cabbage rolls are being served at noon lunch and bingo is on the program afterwards.

Saturday, October 22: Seniors will leave the Center at 5:30 p.m. to head north to Chelsea and stop for a bite to eat before attending the travelog on "Yugoslavia". Call Helen Knickerbocker at 428-7239, as there is still room on the bus to go along and enjoy the beauty of an European country.

Tuesday, October 25: One of our nurses will take your blood pressure beginning at 11 a.m. Jan will prepare and serve fish for lunch (good and good for us). Barbara Zaret plans to be present to talk to us about the changes in Medicare that have recently been made. This is of utmost importance to our age group, come and hear. Center activities will follow.

Thursday, October 27: Exercise at 11, pork milano at noon (what is that? let's go see), and bingo follows. Maybe Rubena will be back in time to eat from her senior leader's meeting at 9 a.m., she was curious too about pork milano. A busy day for seniors as this is the evening of their monthly sponsored public card party which will begin at 8 p.m. at Freedom Township Hall. Come all who wish an evening of fun and light refreshments and see if you can beat those pros.

Klagger students visited cities in Italy, Spain and Portugal during a slide show presented by Fuzzy Bear the Puppet and Mrs. Henry. Christopher Columbus history was the focus of the program.

Fuzzy Bear returned to Klagger School last week. Many children recognize Fuzzy as an experienced traveler and lecturer. This year Fuzzy shared his adventures of Spain, Italy and Portugal with assembled Klagger children. He donned his sombrero and together with Mrs. Henry, his traveling companion and mentor, they talked about Columbus' adventures. They showed slides of some of the places Columbus had actually been. Fuzzy appeared in many of the slides, had many tales to tell and souvenirs to show.

Scholarships Available

High School seniors looking for ways to help finance their college engineering education can apply to the Ann Arbor Chapter for one of over 100 scholarships and grants available from the National Society of Professional Engineers. Applications are available now until November 15, 1988 and must be submitted by November 21, 1988.

Applications are judged from national standard test scores, essays, transcripts, and extra-curricular activities. Scholarships are available for specific colleges of engineering and, in addition, NSPE offers separate scholarships in each of its six geographic regions and memorial and minority grants. All national finalists will be nominated for Who's Who Among American High School Students.

In our 1988-89 scholarship cycle, NSPE will award scholarships and grants ranging from $500 for one year to full tuition for four years. The NSPE sponsored program is the largest of its kind in the United States sponsored by an engineering society with annual disbursements exceeding $1 million.

The NSPE Education Foundation raises funds from engineering schools, businesses, the NSPE Auxiliaries and individual donors. The Society has assisted some 6,000 students and offered $9 million in aid since initiating the program in 1958.

WHEN THE SNOW FLIES WILL YOUR CAR BE WINTERIZED?

Inspections of the Cooling System are Crucial to the Engines Health

How To Prevent Car Heart Attacks.

Unfortunately, most car owners don't realize that cooling system parts should be replaced before they fail. Like heart attacks in people, car heart attacks can often be prevented with regular inspections of the cooling system.

Today's cars operate at higher engine speeds with more equipment under the hood, smaller engine compartments, and reduced radiator size. So the cooling system — particularly the thermostat, which constantly opens and closes to regulate coolant flow — is under a lot of stress. In fact, the cooling system removes twice as much engine heat as the exhaust system.

FOR ONLY $39.00

COMPLETE INSPECTION INCLUDES:

1. Flush Cooling System
2. Check Operation of Thermostat.
3. Test Battery and Charging System.
4. Clean Battery Cables.
5. Inspect Radiator Cap, Belts and Hoses.
6. Fill System With Up to 2 Gallons of New Antifreeze.

Manchester Historical Society The Manchester Area Historical Society met at the Blacksmith Shop on Monday, October 17, 1988.

The program, "Postcard Tour of Old Ann Arbor," was presented by Wyrstan Stevens. He has been collecting postcards since 1962 and has about 3000 from Ann Arbor, 1000 from Ypsilanti, and a few hundred from other communities in the area including 160 of Manchester.

The postcard craze swept the country between 1902 and World War I. Many of the cards were made in Germany and the war put an end to our getting them in this country.

Prior to 1907 people were not allowed to write a message on the back with the address so a white space was left on the side with the picture. Around 1917 cards had a white border around them. They continued into the 1920s.

Wyrstan presented a very informative and interesting program which included scenes of old Ann Arbor, beautiful old churches and schools, scenes on the Huron River, and some scenes of The University of Michigan.

good meals a day, they serve tea at 3:30 in the afternoon and a lunch at 10:30 at night for those who wish them. We had turkey for dinner tonight and yesterday we had duck. Anyone ought to get fat on such a trip but what we need is more exercise.

We stopped a few minutes at Alert Bay where the inhabitants are mostly Indians. It is a great salmon canning town. We also stopped at Prince Rupert today long enough to look around the town and watched them unload some large fish which had just been caught. This is a great fishing community.

Have met a lot of nice people on the boat, most of them going only as far as Skagway and not through to Dawson as we are. We are now approaching a little place named Ketchikan, where I want to mail this letter, so must close.

Tax Tips For The Disabled

If you are a disabled or handicapped person seeking work, here's a fact that may help sway a potential employer to your side. Business owners who hire a disabled individual may not only gain an excellent employee, but may also earn a valuable tax credit for 1988. And if they go further and make their office more accessible to the disabled or handicapped, they may also deduct up to $35,000 of the cost.

As part of National Disability Employment Awareness Month, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that disabled individuals take the time to learn just how the tax laws can work for them. If You Are Disabled and Employed

According to the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities, there are more than four million disabled people currently working in the United States. If you count yourself a member of this group, the first thing you need to know is that your earned income is not necessarily taxable.

For example, if you are a disabled person employed in community service activities under the Employment Opportunities for Handicapped Individuals Act, you do not have to report your wages as income. Included in this category are such jobs as reading for the blind or interpreting for the deaf. Similarly, if a state public welfare agency pays you for participating in a work-training program, you can generally exclude the payments from your gross income. On the other hand, compensation paid by a state or local work-training program is treated as wages.

If your job does produce taxable income, make sure that you keep track and take full advantage of what tax law calls "impairment-related work expenses." In simple terms, this phrase refers to any product or service that you purchase for the sole purpose of performing your job satisfactorily. Depending on the circumstances, you can sometimes claim these costs as business, miscellaneous or medical expenses. Let's look at some examples.

John is blind and works as a psychotherapist, counseling private clients. Three times a week, he pays someone to come in to read professional journals and research papers to him. In this case, John can deduct the reader's fees as a business expense.

Ann is a commercial artist confined to a wheelchair. Occasionally, she travels out of town to visit clients. If a friend accompanies her to assist in such tasks as carrying luggage or maneuvering up ramps, Ann can claim the cost of her helper's travel, meals and lodging as miscellaneous expenses. But if the helper also distributes daily medication, Ann may instead claim the costs as a medical deduction.

Since the reporting guidelines can be confusing, you may want to consult a tax expert on the best way to handle any impairment-related work expenses.

If You Are Retired on Total Disability

What if you simply cannot work? If you retired on total disability you may be entitled to a tax credit of as much as $1,125. Of course, we're talking tax law here, so the eligibility requirements cannot be easily stated. To summarize, if you are over age 65, you qualify for the full credit. If you are under age 65, the credit amount generally depends on the amount of your adjusted gross income and your nontaxable disability benefits. In addition, the disability must last at least one year and must completely prevent you from engaging in substantial "gainful activity," that is, any duties for which you are paid wages or which normally result in wages being paid.

The term "gainful activity" is the trap door you need to keep your eyes on. In an example supplied by the IRS, a sales clerk who retires on disability can lose the tax credit if she starts working as a full time babysitter for a rate of pay equal to the minimum wage. Even if you are not paid for your services, you may have to sacrifice the tax credit if your activities prove that you could engage in "gainful activity."

For many people, though, becoming ineligible for the tax credit is more than a fair exchange for the satisfaction of working and earning income.

Your Medical Deductions

Whether you are employed or retired on disability, you may still be able to reduce your tax liability by claiming medical deductions. Unfortunately, many people mistakenly believe that tax reform has more or less eliminated this deduction. Compounding this error, few individuals are aware of the full range of deductible medical expenses.

Now deductible to the extent that they exceed 7.5 percent of your adjusted gross income, unreimbursed medical expenses include payments for the diagnosis, cure, treatment and prevention of disease. You can even include your bus, cab or train fare to a doctor's office.

Some commonly overlooked expenses include costs for the following: wheelchairs, crutches; a guide dog; hearing aids, including special telephones for the deaf; an adaptor that enables a regular television set to display subtitles; wigs (if essential for one's mental health); courses taken to learn braille; and eyeglasses. If you have to widen doors in your home to accommodate a wheelchair or remove other physical barriers in your personal residence, the costs are likewise considered a medical expense.

To insure that you are taking full advantage of all the tax benefits to which you are entitled, the Michigan Association of CPAs advises you to consult a tax expert.

Manchester Band Boosters Carwash

Attention music fans, friends, supporters, and all people who appreciate a clean car. The Manchester Band Program is attempting its very first "pledge" car wash this Sunday, October 23, at the high school from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The car wash itself is absolutely free, no charge for the actual wash. Our money is made from pledges per car, which come from you, the community. Band students will be out and about during these next few days collecting these pledges. We ask that you pledge one penny per car, if you are so inclined, no more and no less. Therefore, if we wash 500 cars, we collect $5.00; if we wash 1000 cars, we collect $10.00; etc.

It is our belief that door to door fund raising sales take from the community without giving back. We chose this fund raiser because it represents good hard work on our part as well as a free car wash for anyone in the community.

You do not need to pledge in order to have your car washed, although if you do pledge we urge you to take advantage of your money by showing up for your free wash. Obviously, no one is limited to one wash per household. We will wash whatever vehicles you have, including vans, tractors, trailers, trucks, etc. Just bring it and we will wash it for free.

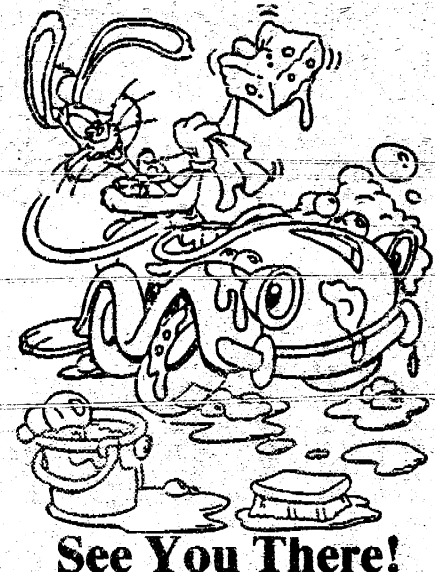

The proceeds from this car wash will be used to support a $15,000 instrument purchase for the band program as well as a trip to Northwestern University in Chicago for the high school band. We have been invited to do a clinic there with the Director of Bands. This is quite an honor.

Earnings for these washes range from $9,000 to $20,000 depending on the number of pledges collected. This will be a quality car wash with equipment run by professionals. If you're unsatisfied we will wash your car again.

Help us make a go of this, our first year. If you wish to make a pledge and have not yet been contacted by a band student, please feel free to call 1-481-0279 and pledge by phone. (Only after 5 p.m. or leave your phone number for a return call.)

Warm Discussion At Blacksmith Shop

Discussion continues with Isabel Yingling, MTL's Dorothy Davies (Project Director), and guest lecturer Martha Stoner.

The discussion of THE LOON FEATHER, the novel by Iola Fuller, written in the 30's while she was a student at U of M, took the form of a consideration of Native American culture during the meeting last Thursday of the Manchester Township Library's Reading and Discussion Group.

Martha Stoner, the guest lecturer from University of Michigan, was rich with information about the author, about Tecumseh whose fictional daughter was the story's main character, and about Indian culture in general. The gathering of about two dozen had a thoughtful ambience which paralleled the narrative of THE LOON FEATHER. The discussion turned often on words like "respect" and "culture."

The Library stresses before each new book that ALL in the community are welcome. And for this discussion there were indeed new voices offering different insights and opinions.

Much of the discussion centered on the author's decision to write fiction using so much historical detail while at the same time being so free with historical accuracy. There were strong differences on the wisdom of Fuller's decision to give Tecumseh a daughter (history says he had only a son) and to make him of a different tribe. These literary questions could have led to profound theoretical considerations had they not arisen so near the end of the evening. And so the discussion had to

Twelve Together Begins

The Twelve Together program will begin its second year at Manchester High School. The program has been designed to help teenagers improve their grades and develop self esteem through peer group interaction.

Students in the program are asked to make a thirty meeting commitment to the group. This includes a weekend retreat, weekly meetings, and a monthly Saturday activity. Last year's group was one of the most successful groups in Washtenaw County. Their grades improved, their attitudes were positive, and they developed leadership skills.

Each group is facilitated by two adult volunteers. These volunteers are the key to a successful program. They provide a positive role model image, a support system within the school, and encouragement for group development. If you would like to be a part of helping young people in the community, please call Beth Robertson at 428-7333 during school hours.

Bloodmobile Wrapup

The American Red Cross bloodmobile held at the Knights of Columbus Hall on October 17th added 97 pints of blood to the supply for southeast Michigan Bloodbanks.

Thanks go to Ella Landini who was the chairwoman of the day and the success was due to her leadership. St. Mary's Church of Manchester was the host of the clinic and we thank them for the fine job. It takes a numerous group of volunteers to assist the professional staff that comes from the Red Cross, Mrs. Landini's staff included: Prescreeper-Mary Diver, Prieststrars-Rosanne Hawk, Linda Priests and Marja Warner, Pack-table-Amanda Schiable and Lillian Scott, Escorts-Denise Dresch and Virginia Moulack. Chairwoman of the canteen was Mae Panches and her helpers were: Helen Wahl, Helen Benedict, Jeannetta Kirk, Florence Tomko, Ginny Wallace and Eleanor Ball.

In charge of recording donor's names and pins to gallon donors was Ruth Oates, she will be in charge of this job in all future clinics.

The following area persons have attained our honor gallon list: One gallon Roy Pratt, Janet Binder, Two gallon Scott Allen and Kathleen Hakes, Three gallon Susan Lobbestall. We had three first time donors. They were: Peter Rorabacher, Kevin Bater and Kay DuRussel. A big salute to these people and all the rest that continue to support the bloodbank.

Young Lady Writes of Delightful Ocean and River Trip From Vancouver, B.C. to Dawson

Miss Lydia Kulenkamp, who is just getting back to the States from a trip to Alaska, has written to her sister Ida, from which the Enterprise has been favored with excerpts as follows. Miss Kulenkamp's previous letter was published a few weeks ago. In this letter she tells of the trip on the Yukon river.-Ed.

Between Dawson and Skagway, on the Steamer White Horse.

August 10, 1922
 This boat trip certainly has been "some" trip! We were on the Princess Alice between Vancouver and Skagway four days, then got on the train at Skagway last Sunday and rode to White Horse and there took the boat White Horse bound for Dawson, which trip took about two days. We spent a day in Dawson and are now on our way back to White Horse. It takes about four days to go back because we are going up stream.

Of course the Princess Alice was a much larger and nicer boat, and they served better meals, too. I met some fine girls on that boat and we had some good times together, then when I just got nicely acquainted we left and only a few took this boat on farther. There are a few of the younger girls and we have some fine times, and now I like it better than on the larger boat, because there are only 72 on this and there were nearly 300 on the other, so we get to know each other pretty well and can have some good times. We read, play cards and almost everything you can think of. Last night we went down stairs where they let us have the stove and make some taffy, but it wasn't very good, too much molasses.

Evenings they sometimes dance. Tonight they are going to give a party for Governor-General Byng of Canada and his party.

We went through three of the four towns outside of Vancouver, which are in Canada, then got to Ketchikan which was the first town in Alaska, and of course a part of the U. S. After stopping at several towns including Juneau and Skagway, we entered Canadian territory again, in which Dawson is located. This is Yukon Territory, or the great Klondike region, where so much gold was found following the great rush in 1898. At that time they say there
