

Farmers Watching Massachusetts Referendum

A November ballot referendum to amend Massachusetts' laws concerning the treatment of farm animals is attracting the attention of farmers nationwide. According to Michael Kovacic, director of information and public relations for the Michigan Farm Bureau, passage of the measure could set a dangerous precedent in which non-farmers are allowed to establish farming practices.

The initiative, if approved by voters, would create a five-member "scientific advisory board" responsible for establishing compulsory regulations on animal feeding, housing, transportation, oversight of new or remodeled livestock and poultry facilities, the manner of holding animals at auction facilities and methods of slaughter.

Although the Massachusetts Legislature soundly defeated it, the animal rights group supporting it merely had to get an additional 8,500 signatures to have it placed on the ballot," Kovacic said.

"No one has greater concern for the care of farm animals than the farmer who raises them. A majority of the proponents of the referendum have never even been on a farm and have no understanding of the detrimental impact it would have on the agricultural industry in their state. Farmers here in Michigan and across the nation are very concerned. If the referendum passes, it could set a dangerous precedent for non-farmers to establish farming practices - and we're sure the animal rights group has more than just Massachusetts as its goal," he said.

The Massachusetts Farm Bureau has spearheaded efforts to defeat the referendum. Organized as "The Committee to Save the Family Farm," Farm Bureau and other agricultural groups in the state are attempting to raise a minimum of $2.4 million to defeat the measure. The committee has developed fair displays, produced signs and bumper stickers, placed exhibits in business places, formed a speakers' bureau and engaged a public relations firm to develop strategies.

"The Massachusetts Director of Food and Agriculture says that if the referendum passes, many farms could go out of business. The farmers there are fighting back, but they represent only one-tenth of 1% of the state's population. They realize they must find many allies outside agriculture if they are to defeat the initiative," Kovacic said.

Most Common Tractor Accident

Overtures lead other tractor accidents as the main cause of crippling injuries and death, even though the numbers are diminishing now that more and more tractors are being equipped with roll-over protective structures (ROPS) - reinforced cabs or 2 or 4-post overhead steel frames. Still, the overturn problem is significant, accounting for some 50 percent of all fatal tractor accidents.

"Although more farmers have ROPS, the majority of tractors out there still are not so equipped," said Jack Burke, program manager for agricultural safety at the National Safety Council. "Many of these un-equipped tractors are models that could easily be fitted. Without a ROPS, the chances for an operator to survive an overturn without death or severe injury are poor."

The National Safety Council urges farmers always to buckle their safety belts. Farmers without ROPS should consider fitting field or chore tractors with them.

Reduced Crop Output Impacts Program

The biggest implication for farmers of the reduced crop output due to the drought will be its effect on the acreage reduction program, according to Bob Craig, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's Commodity Activities and Research Department. Craig said the wheat set-aside requirement already has been announced at 10% of base acreage and that figure is even being challenged as too high.

"Corn acreage cutback must be no higher than 12.5% in 1989 and it could be set at 10% or even lower," Craig said.

Farmers wishing to remain eligible for farm program benefits on their 1988 crops had to idle 20% of their base corn acreage. "This week's crop report points out that while things have not declined, as some earlier predictions said they would, we still have a much smaller crop than we had thought earlier in the summer. We have to deal with that and one way to do it is to increase the acreage we plant next year," Craig said.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's forecasts for 1988 U.S. grain crops released this week showed only minor reductions of corn, soybean and wheat output from its August projections. Corn output is pegged at 4.462 billion bushels, down from 4.479 in the Aug. 1 forecast; soybeans at 1.472 billion bushels, down just 2 million bushels from August; and wheat at 1.810 billion bushels, 11 million bushels under the August forecast.

A fine quality Persian rug may contain as many as one million knots in every three square feet.

Greenhouse Effect May Change Agriculture

According to scientists meeting this week in Chicago for a conference on the impact of climate change on the Great Lakes region, farmers should get ready for a warmer and drier climate. Michigan Farm Bureau economist Bob Craig, who participated in the conference, said this "complicated phenomenon" could change the state's agricultural industry.

"Depending on the growing season, which we think will be longer as this greenhouse effect takes greater impact, we could see a number of different crops that we grow very well in the lower peninsula, particularly corn, soybeans, and wheat, being raised in the upper peninsula and in Ontario where they're not that dominant now, particularly soybeans," Craig said. "The other thing that's widely expected is that there is going to be an increase in irrigation of all different types of crops, whether they're field crops or horticultural crops."

The first known sewing needles were made of bone and they are over 30 thousand years old.

The greenhouse effect could be beneficial to Michigan's fruit and vegetable industry, Craig said.

"We see the industry continuing but, again, there may be some changes in location. We could also see an even more important fruit and vegetable industry in Michigan with the potential of increased production in the state," he said. "It's going to be very important that farmers seriously look at irrigation because we're going to see more fluctuations in the environment."

Craig said the scientists are looking at the impacts of climate change for the long term, for the next 75 years.

"If farmers are going to cope with the impacts, they are going to have to know more about controlling their environment," he said.

The first known sewing needles were made of bone and they are over 30 thousand years old.

OUR UNION SCHOOL
Its Twentieth Anniversary Occurs
Friday, November 4

It has been said that good schools lay the foundation for a good and wise government. The American people understand this, and go where you will east or west, and you will find good schools. Michigan early made provisions for the establishment of district schools, and in every village and city union schools were organized and costly structures erected, which are the pride of her people.

In 1866 an effort was made here in Manchester to consolidate districts No. 1 and 2, which after much parley, was accomplished, and money voted for the erection of a central school building. Some of our readers will remember the long continued contest over the selection of a suitable site for the building. Some wished to place it on the "square," others would carry it to the top of Ann Arbor hill, others preferred the site where Lovejoy's poultry house stands, and the elevated grove near N. S. Cases's residence was also admired, but it was finally decided, everything considered, that the present location was the best, and the contract was let and work commenced.

The building is almost an exact counterpart of the Tecumseh school building, though it is an improvement in its interior construction.

The building cost $21,000, and who can say it is not a beauty?

The first school opened on Monday, Nov. 4, 1867, under the direction of Prof. Olney, with E. C. Olney, Miss Mary Hitchcock and Viola Gordon as assistants. The exhibition at the close of the school year, like those which have since been held, was a great success, and the hall was packed with enthusiastic citizens.

There have been some 80 graduates from the high school and nearly every profession and honorable vocation claims one or more for a member.

As a rule the school boards have been wise in their selection of teachers and generous in the matter of salaries paid. Our citizens have been fortunate in the selection of school officers and the reputation of the school has been first class, which has induced many foreign scholars to seek education here.

The number of children in the district has nearly doubled in the 20 years, and the chapel and basements have been fitted up to accommodate the increasing numbers, and finally a ward school has been established in the old brick building on the "square," where many of our older inhabitants received their education.

The present school year has commenced quite auspiciously, and with Prof. W. A. Phillips and his corps of assistants, we expect a great advancement will be made the coming year in the matter of education.

Woman Honored by Zoo

Margaret Hanks is one in 999,999. Her granddaughter is one in a million.

As soon as Mrs. Hanks and her 12-year-old granddaughter, Kristin, entered the Toledo Zoo on Friday, October 7, they were besieged by reporters, television cameras and zoo officials.

Kristin was the one millionth visitor to the Zoo since the giant panda exhibit opened on May 24, 1988. While Mrs. Hanks wasn't the lucky one millionth visitor, she did get to enjoy some of the gifts and attention showered on her granddaughter.

Kristin, of Downingtown, Pa., received several gifts from the zoo in honor of her timely visit, including a five-year family membership to the Zoo, panda commemorative poster, autographed by the pandas' Chinese keepers, and a commemorative panda book signed by Zoo Director Bill Denler.

A special behind-the-scenes tour of the panda exhibit, and VIP viewing of the pandas was also a part of the Zoo's celebration.

The arrival of Miss Hanks was a historic occasion at the Zoo. This is the first year visitation to the Toledo Zoo topped one million. The increase was due to the excitement generated by this summer's pair of panda visitors, Le Le and Nan Nan, who returned to China after the exhibit closed on October 25.

Academic Boosters Committee

World Community Day

World Community Day, observed on Friday, November 4, is an annual event that unites Protestant, Roman Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women in a common worship experience. This year's theme is "Everywoman's Ministry," and the service will be held at the Sharon United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m.

Included in the special program will be pictures of a trip to China presented by Mrs. Lili DeHart of Chelsea.

All are invited to attend. An offering will be received for Church Women United to be used in its work with the poverty of women and children.

Huge Jack O'Lantern

Bryan Piendel grew a huge jack-o-lantern for his classmates this year. The giant pumpkin weighs approximately 275 pounds. The Piendel family has provided Klager School with a giant jack-o-lantern since Bryan was in kindergarten. The third grader and his family carved a "not too scary" face on the pumpkin.

Michigan-Ohio Blood Drive

While Michigan and Ohio-State football teams gear up for the annual Big 10 confrontation, another kind of competition will be going on off the field. From November 7 through 18, Michigan fans, friends, students and alumni and their Ohio State counterparts are out to see which school can recruit the most blood donations.

At stake isn't the Big 10 title. Instead, the winning school will claim possession of the Blood Drop trophy. The winner will be announced during half-time ceremonies of the Michigan-Ohio State football game on November 19 at Columbus.

The real winners in the blood battle are the patients who benefit from the blood that is donated. Nearly 70,000 units of blood have been collected since the competition was initiated in 1982. Last year, Michigan donors gave 6,773 units of blood against OSU's 5,843.

Alumni and friends of Michigan who would like to make a donation of blood for the donor battle can do so at any Red Cross regional donor center from November 7 through 18. Sign-up sheets are located on the canteen table. Oh yes, Ohio State friends can donate at a Michigan Red Cross donor center with appropriate "credit" going to the scarlet and gray.

State Officers Compensation Commission

The State Officers Compensation Commission (SOCC) wants advice on pay and expense levels for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Legislators and Supreme Court Justices. The seven-member panel must decide by December on how much the top elected officials will receive during the next two calendar years.

Allowed by law to meet in even-numbered years to establish pay, the Commission held its 1988 organizational meeting Wednesday, October 19 in Howell. Besides setting November 9, 1988, for a day-long information-gathering session and an evening public hearing in Lansing, the Commission elected Peter B. Fletcher, of Ypsilanti, as chairperson, and Sharon McPhail, of Detroit, vice-chairperson.

The SOCC will attempt to make sure all interested individuals and organizations have a chance to schedule an appearance, and that private citizens are informed they can come and talk or send in their comments. A second meeting, to receive expert economic advice, was set for November 30, also in Lansing.

Fletcher said that another meeting will be scheduled, to accommodate substantive comments or for further Commission deliberations, if necessary or if decisions cannot be arrived at by the first of December.

In addition to Fletcher and McPhail, SOCC members are: Deidre E. Etue, Birmingham, Charles N. Inniss, Detroit, Barton LaBelle, Mt. Pleasant, Darryl Cochrane, Muskegon, Burton H. Schwartz, West Bloomfield.

By law, Commissioner appointments are for a single four-year term. Fletcher, Inniss and LaBelle served when the Commission last met, in 1986. McPhail, Cochrane and Schwartz are scheduled to serve again in 1990, while Etue serves the remainder of the term vacated by Sandra G. Silver, who became a circuit judge.

The Commission was created by Constitutional amendment in 1968.

Commissioners stressed they are open to all comment, but they are particularly interested in views on what level of pay is needed to attract the best people to the offices, and pay levels that guarantee excellence on the job. They will also consider comparisons with other public sector and private sector jobs, and comparisons with other states, as well as economic conditions of the state.

To schedule an appearance contact: Edmund Perkowski, State Officers Compensation Commission, Michigan Department of Civil Service, Lewis Cass Building, Lansing, MI 48904, telephone (517) 373-3072.

Written views should be directed to Perkowski, or any Commissioner. After the Commission makes its determinations and reports them, the Legislature has until February 1, 1989, to reject them. Lawmakers cannot otherwise change the SOCC decisions.

Current annual salaries are: Governor, $100,077; Lieutenant Governor, $67,377; Justice of the Supreme Court, $100,000; Legislator (State Senator or Representative), $39,881. Certain leaders of the House and Senate receive salary supplements ranging from $5,000 per year to $23,000 per year.

Fletcher pointed out that comments having to do with persons serving in particular offices subject to Commission action are less helpful than views about how much the jobs themselves are worth.

"This Commission establishes pay and expense levels for the offices of Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Supreme Court Justice and State Legislator," he said. "It is the job of the people to elect those who fill the offices."

Commissioners also have nothing whatever to say about pay for judges of the Michigan Court of Appeals, Circuit Courts, Probate Courts or District Courts. These pay levels are set by law. The Legislature has established and can change by majority vote—schedules relating lower court pay to the Supreme Court, but SOCC has responsibility for the Supreme Court only.

Kindergarten Halloween Parties

The Kindergarteners in Miss Rose and Mrs. Hankamp's classroom had a "frightfully" good time at their first school Halloween party. Children decorated real pumpkins, had a parade, played games, made decorations and ate treats.

Spirited Holiday Feastings

The holidays have a special way of bringing family and old friends together. Every event, from Thanksgiving to New Year's, seems to center around good food.

Few holiday entrees equal a standing veal rib roast for sheer elegance and delectable eating. A veal rib roast contains ribs six through 12 and the rib eye muscle, making it one of the most tender and flavorful veal cuts.

A veal rib roast is best roasted, and roasting is a simple, convenient way to prepare meat. Once in the oven, a roast needs no attention until it's time to check for doneness. A thermometer simplifies this task. Use either a traditional meat thermometer or one of the instant-read types. For accuracy, insert the thermometer into the thickest part of the roast, not touching bone or fat.

The roast will be most juicy and flavorful when cooked to the medium stage of doneness (160°F). Because the temperature will rise about five degrees while the roast stands prior to carving, it should be removed from the oven at 155°F.

Fresh bread crumbs combined with herbs, garlic and butter give Veal Rib Roast With Cranberry-Port Sauce a golden crusty exterior. A layer of Dijon-style mustard beneath the crumbs enhances the slight sweetness of the sauce.

Veal Rib Roast With Cranberry-Port Sauce

Preparation time: 15 minutes
Cooking time: 2 hours 5 minutes to 2 hours 15 minutes

- 4 to 5-pound veal rib roast (cap removed)
- 1-1/4 cups fresh bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons minced parsley
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1-1/4 teaspoons marjoram leaves, crushed
- 2 medium garlic cloves, minced
- 2 tablespoons Dijon-style mustard
- 1 cup Ruby Port
- 1 can (16 ounces) whole berry cranberry sauce

Place veal rib roast resting on bones in shallow roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part, not touching bone or fat. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in slow (325°F) oven until meat thermometer registers 150°F, approximately 1 hour and 30 minutes to 1 hour and 40 minutes. Shortly before roast will be removed from oven, combine bread crumbs, parsley, butter, marjoram and garlic; set aside. Remove roast from oven. Spread top surface evenly with mustard. Cover top of roast with crumb mixture, patting firmly in place. Return roast to oven and continue roasting until meat thermometer registers 155°F, about 25 minutes. Do not overcook. Allow roast to "stand" 15 minutes in warm place before carving. Roast continues to rise about 5° in temperature to reach 160°F for medium. Meanwhile, add Port to roasting pan, stirring to scrape browned bits from bottom. Add cranberry sauce and cook over medium-high heat, stirring frequently, until sauce is thickened, about 10 minutes. Remove back bone from roast. Carve and serve with sauce, 8 to 10 servings. 346 calories per 3 ounce, cooked, trimmed serving with one serving sauce.

Note: Ask meat retailer to loosen the chine (back) bone by sawing across the rib bones. When roasting is finished, the back bone can be removed easily by running carving knife along the edge of the roast before the meat is placed on the platter to be carved.

LEADERS MAKE FUTURES HAPPEN

COMBATTING DRUGS AND CRIME

DRUGS have become public enemy #1 in America. Congressman Pursell has proposed a five-point plan to intensify the war on drugs, including an expanded role for the military, coordination of all federal agencies, and a tough policy toward drug-producing nations which are closing their eyes to this deadly export.

Carl is no newcomer to this battle. Over a decade ago, when some public officials supported relaxing drug enforcement, then-State Senator Pursell was responsible for placing a modern crime lab in our district to help police fight drugs and other crimes.

Congressman Pursell has also supported: The death penalty for drug-related murders; Expanding the Crime Victims' Fund; Anti-child pornography and child abuse legislation.

THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

A Report from
The National Institutes of Health
Bethesda, Maryland

Should You Take Estrogen?

During menopause, the amount of estrogen produced by the body declines. The loss of this female hormone may cause troublesome symptoms such as hot flashes (sudden warm flushes of the face, neck, and chest), excessive sweating (especially at night), and vaginal dryness. Although most women have little or no difficulty with these symptoms, some experience severe discomfort.

Estrogen loss is also the leading cause of osteoporosis in older women. Osteoporosis, a bone disease that produces fragile bones, affects 24 million Americans. A fall or minor accident can cause bones weakened by osteoporosis to break easily.

Although some degree of bone loss can be expected in the course of normal aging, some women are more likely than others to develop osteoporosis. Women at highest risk are those who have an early or artificial menopause (when both ovaries are surgically removed or caused not to function). White women, women who are extremely inactive, take corticosteroid medicines (drugs used to treat arthritis and other inflammatory diseases), or have a slight build also are at risk of developing osteoporosis. In addition, women who have a low intake of calcium in their diet, smoke cigarettes, drink an excess amount of alcohol, cannot absorb calcium, or have thyroid or kidney disease have an increased risk of developing this bone disease.

Some women take estrogen to replace the natural estrogen lost during and after menopause. Estrogen replacement therapy (ERT) may be given to women with severe menopausal symptoms and to those at high risk of developing osteoporosis. Although experts believe that estrogen is an effective treatment for osteoporosis, it is not recommended for all menopausal women. Each woman and her doctor must consider the benefits and risks of ERT.

About 10 percent of women who take ERT have side effects such as headaches, nausea, and vaginal discharge. Fluid retention, swollen breasts, and weight gain also may result from ERT.

Estrogen use has been linked to an increase in endometrial cancer (cancer of the lining of the uterus). This cancer has been found more often in women who use ERT containing estrogen as the only ingredient. Most women today take a combination of estrogen and progestin, another female hormone. This combined treatment appears to reduce or eliminate the risk of endometrial cancer. In addition, women who have had a hysterectomy (removal of the uterus) are in no danger of developing endometrial cancer.

Studies of a possible association between ERT and heart disease show contradictory findings. A Harvard Medical School report indicates that estrogen may reduce the risk of heart disease, while the Framingham Heart Study reports that heart attack and stroke are more common in women using estrogen. To resolve this controversy, the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute, the National Institute on Aging, and several other Institutes within the National Institutes of Health will soon study the effects of estrogen on the cardiovascular system.

Caution is warranted when considering ERT for women with high blood pressure, liver disease, diabetes, thrombophlebitis (blood clots in a vein), seizure disorders, migraine headaches, gallbladder disease, obesity, or cancer. Daughters of women who took diethylstilbestrol (DES) during pregnancy may have reproductive system changes that make the use of estrogens dangerous.

All women taking ERT should be examined once a year. This check-up should include a blood pressure reading, breast and pelvic exams, and a re-evaluation of the usefulness of ERT. Unusual vaginal bleeding should be reported to a doctor at once.

For women who cannot or choose not to take estrogen, there are other ways to deal with menopausal symptoms. For example, one simple way to lubricate the vagina is to apply water-soluble surgical jelly (not petroleum jelly). Certain health habits can help strengthen bones, particularly when started early in life. All adult women should get 1,000 mg of calcium daily, and postmenopausal women not taking ERT should get 1,500 mg each day. Milk and dairy products are the best dietary sources of calcium. Other foods high in calcium include dark green leafy vegetables, salmon, and tofu (soybean curd).

Vitamin D is necessary for calcium absorption, and 400 international units of this vitamin are recommended daily. Brief, daily exposure to sunlight (which causes the body to manufacture vitamin D) and eating a balanced diet usually are enough to ensure an adequate intake of this vitamin. Finally, weight-bearing exercise—walking or jogging—strengthens bones and helps prevent osteoporosis.

Many menopausal and postmenopausal women benefit from ERT, but it is not for everyone. To learn whether this treatment might be effective for you, talk with your doctor.

Community Service Announcement

TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE EDUCATION OF MANCHESTER'S YOUNG PEOPLE:

A group of parents will be meeting at the Blacksmith's Shop at 7:30 on Wednesday, November 16th, to brainstorm about ways we might supplement our children's educational experiences through a cooperative effort on the part of Manchester Community adults. Whether your child is home schooled, attends the public schools, or attends a private school, this community effort could be of value to you.

We are imagining courses for any children or young people who are interested. Possible topics include: foreign languages, mathematics, music, history, English, creative writing, drawing and painting, pottery, basket making, dance, woodworking, quilt making, knitting and sewing, gymnastics, yoga, drama, baking, square dancing, gardening, preserving and canning, animal care, etc.

This might be a wonderful opportunity for Manchester's older citizens to become involved in the growth of the community's children. Everyone has experienced the special quality of the relationship between grandparent and grandchild, yet not every child has grandparents in this community, nor does every Manchester grandparent have grandchildren living close by. This would also give parents the opportunity of becoming directly involved in their children's education. We may even find that adults wish to become students and learn from other adults—the possibilities are endless. Anyone who is curious, or who might have talents to share, or who might like to have their children taking such courses, please meet with us on Wednesday the 16th to help us imagine new possibilities for our community. Questions, call Janet LaBeaux 428-9462 or Martha Stoner 428-9472.

"Rest Assured" To Be Performed At Manchester High School

Next weekend the Manchester High School Players will be performing the comedy "Rest Assured." The story centers around Mr. Morlock (Tim Fenelon), a fidgety, nervous grouch, who doesn't like anything but money. He won't let his family do anything, always gripes about his pains and aches, and argues with everyone. In addition, he won't let his daughter Mary (Melanie White) become engaged to Joe Lanconi (Lance Fielder) because Joe's papa is poor. When Joe's papa Luigi (Ryan Burkhardt) comes over to plead his son's case, he is practically kicked out of the house. Mr. Morlock says if Mary weds Joe it will be over his dead body. Luigi says if they don't it will be over his. From there, the play charges ahead with one hilarious scene after another. Performances are November 11 and 12 at 8:00 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Tickets are $2.50/students and $3.00/adults. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. For more information call: 428-7883. It is sure to be a fun-filled evening for the entire family. Don't miss it!

Burn Statistics

Burns are the number one cause of accidental deaths in children under 2 and the second-leading cause of accidental death in children under 14. One of every nine children will start a fire with a cigarette lighter or matches. Three-fourths of all burns result from the victim's own actions; among the elderly, 81 percent of their burn injuries are caused by their own actions.

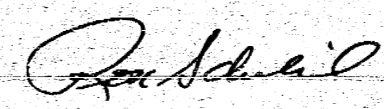

A man met a woman carrying a bucket of water with one hand and a torch with the other. "What are you going to do?" he asked. "Put out the flames of hell with the water," she answered, "and burn up the glories of heaven with the torch." "Why?" he demanded. "That men may love God for what He is," she explained, "and not for what they escape or receive when they believe on Him." Many are more in love with the gifts than the Giver. Once it was the blessing, now it is the Lord; once it was the feeling, now it is the Word; once His gifts I wanted, now Himself alone. O, love Him for what He is, not for what He gives.

'Steerable' Catheter Tip Key Advance: A Look at the Angioplasty Procedure.

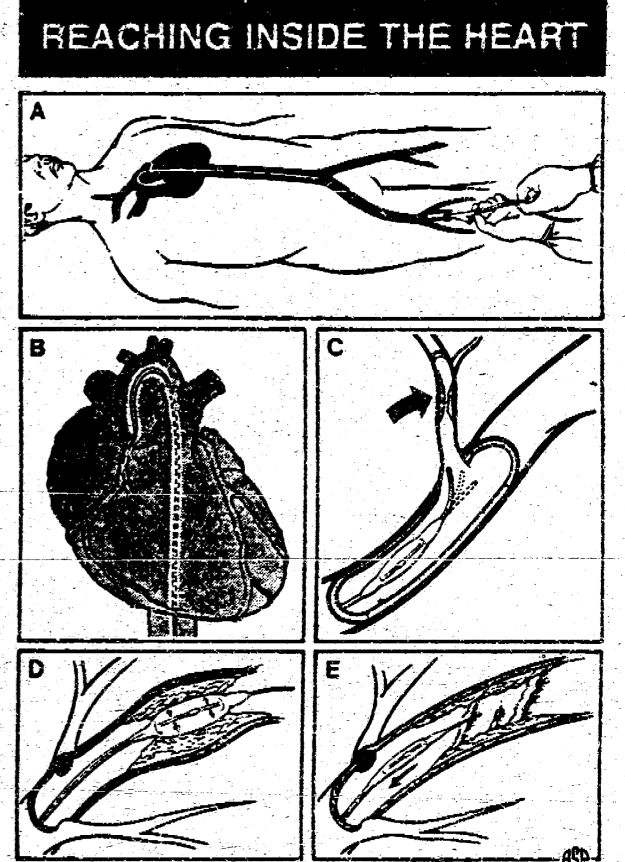

Here is how a typical non-surgical angioplasty procedure for opening a clogged artery is performed using an Omniflex catheter:

A physician introduces the catheter in an artery in the arm, or in this case, the inner thigh. He or she then maneuvers it through the arterial system to the clogged coronary artery.

The catheter enters the clogged area and its tiny deflated balloon is positioned across the troublesome plaque that is restricting blood flow.

At this point, the doctor has three methods of telling if the balloon has been positioned properly:

- 1) Measures blood pressure in the artery. There can be a significant drop in pressure when the catheter is in the blocked area.
- 2) Inserts a harmless dye into the bloodstream. The dye indicates exactly where the artery narrows.
- 3) Looks for the radiopaque marker. A small metal band located in the center of the balloon appears on a fluoroscopy screen, indicating the catheter's location.

Modern steerable angioplasty equipment enhances the physician's skill in improving blood flow in the heart. In this case, the physician introduces a catheter in a thigh artery and, watching on a fluoroscope, maneuvers it into the heart (A, B). From outside the body, the physician flexes the Omniflex catheter's tip and steers it toward the troublesome lesion (arrow, C). Safely in position in a coronary artery, the balloon is expanded, compressing plaque and widening the blood channel (D). Balloon is quickly deflated and withdrawn (E).

presses the plaque and enlarges artery walls, thereby creating a larger opening for blood to pass through.

To verify the success of the angioplasty procedure, blood pressure is again taken or the dye procedure is repeated.

When Other Methods Have Failed

Veterans Day Parade Sunday November 6th

The Washtenaw County Council of Veterans is pleased to announce the appointment of Mr. Ivan Richardson as Parade Marshal of the 1988 Veterans Day Parade. Mr. Richardson is a veteran of World War I having entered the military on July 23, 1918. Although he served primarily in Luxembourg, he was also in France and Germany with the 33rd Division of the 131st Infantry. He is currently the Commander of the World War I Veterans Barracks No. 2150 and is active with the Dexter American Legion Post No. 557. In addition, he has provided public service as the World War I representative on the Washtenaw County Soldiers Relief Commission. He lives with his wife, Florence, and is an expert bee-keeper having tended the hives for 39 years.

Because the Washtenaw County Council of Veterans is made up of representatives from the various veterans' posts throughout the county, their annual Veterans Day parade rotates among the various communities. The parade will begin at 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, November 6th, in Dexter. In addition to the parade marshal, there will be floats, bands, and various marching groups. Everyone participating in the parade is invited back to the Dexter American Legion Post No. 557 for refreshments immediately following the parade.

Any questions concerning the parade or participation in it can be addressed to the Veterans Services Division at 971-8600.

On Veterans Day, the DAV asks you to remember that veterans paid the price of peace.

Voters going to the polls on November 8 will be given an opportunity to declare their political party preference as part of the Presidential Primary Law which took effect on September 1. Under Public Act 275 of 1988, Michigan will hold a closed presidential primary to allow voters to participate in the presidential nomination process. The new law requires voters to declare a political party preference to be eligible to vote in the presidential primary.

Implementation of the law began September 1 when voters were given the opportunity for the first time to complete a Political Party Preference Form when registering to vote.

Voters going to the polls on November 8, and during each election up until February 15, 1992, will also be given an opportunity to declare their political party preference for the presidential primary.

presidential primary. Voters who choose not to declare their political party preference will not affect their eligibility to vote in any election other than the presidential primary.

In addition to having the opportunity to declare party preference when voting, the option will be incorporated into the voter registration form used by city and township clerks and in Secretary of State branch offices.

As part of the Presidential Primary Law, the Secretary of State will be offering voters the right to register to vote and declare their political party preference when renewing their driver license by mail beginning March 1, 1989.

Burn Statistics

The United States leads the world in fire- and burn-related deaths with more than 2 million reported injuries each year and more than 20,000 deaths.

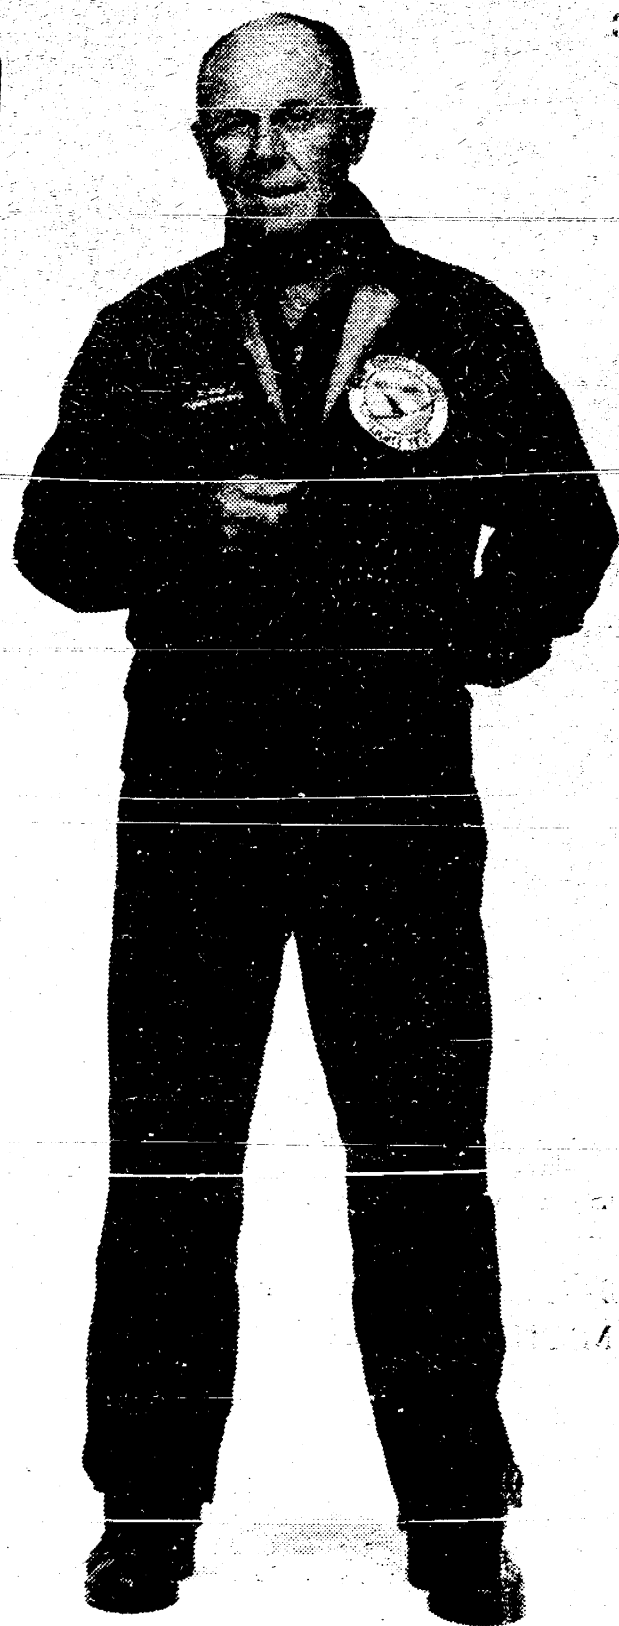

Each day 55 people die as a result of burns; 2,740 are injured each day, and 371 require hospitalization.

Want AG Representation On MSU Board Of Trustees

Representatives of the state's agricultural groups met at Farm Bureau Center in Lansing on September 23, and came to the unanimous decision that as a land-grant university, founded to provide research and teaching for agriculture, Michigan State University must have representatives on its Board of Trustees who understand the industry. According to Michigan Farm Bureau President Jack Laurie, who hosted the meeting, the farm, commodity and agribusiness groups will now launch a cooperative effort to re-elect MSU Trustee Tom Reed and elect candidate Ed Liebler, both with farm backgrounds and involvement in the agricultural industry.

"Michigan State University today is a multi-school university and has been very successful in a number of areas beyond just agriculture, where it really began, and we think that's great," Laurie said. "It's good that our university is recognized for its position in the medical field and in engineering and the school of business and other areas."

"However, when a university becomes multi-faceted, it tends to perhaps lose sight of what it originally intended to accomplish and that was to provide research, training and education for agriculture."

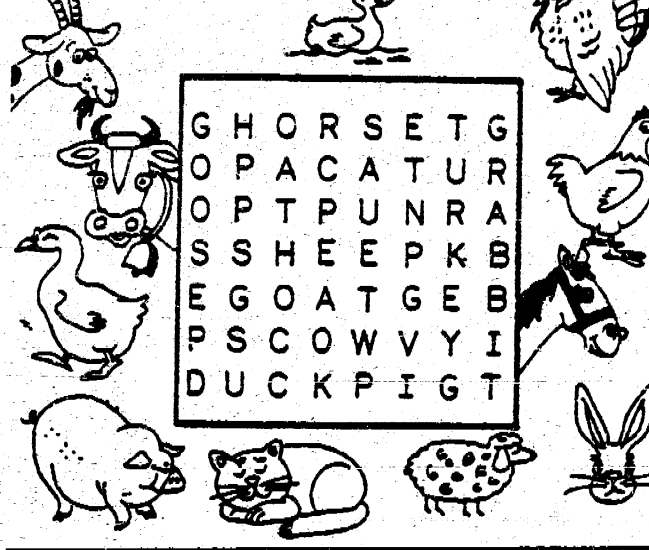

"We want to instill upon the citizens of Michigan and the university leadership that agriculture is now more important than ever and they need to recognize that. The best way we know to do that is to assure that there are people on the governing body, the Board of Trustees, of the university, who understand agriculture, who are players in the agricultural game and who can see what's needed on the part of the university to provide the greatest service to the farmer that they can," he said.

Laurie said the need for new ideas, research, market development and new technologies for agriculture is increasing every day, and that these areas fall within the responsibilities of a land-grant university.

HAROLD OWINGS ASKS WHY?

- Why are fatal accidents up 70% over last year?
- Why are there law suits pending for unfair labor practice?
- Why are there law suits pending for sex discrimination?
- Why does it take 1 1/2-2 hours for a sheriff's car to respond to a call for service?
- Why was medical treatment denied to a female inmate who later died in custody?
- Why is the closure rate for serious crimes only 12% (same as the city of Detroit)?
- With 82 sworn positions in the law enforcement division why do we need 27 command officers?
- With 13 top command (1 sheriff-1 undersheriff-3 commanders-8 lieutenants) why are there no females, no blacks, no minorities?
- Why did the tax payers spend $1.5 million dollars for a new radio system that does not work?
- Why does the sheriff wash your car for $3 and send the patrol cars to a commercial car wash?

Don't you really think it is time for a change?

Senior Citizens News

I love being back on slow time again. As his dad is setting the clock back, Dennis The Menace asks, "Where's that hour been that we're going to get back tonight?" Good question, aren't you glad you don't have to try to answer that one? Let's spend that hour exercising before the monthly birthday bash on Thursday the 3rd. Come all you November birthday "senior kids" to your free dinner of pork chops, cake and a recorded picture of you all.

Wednesday, November 9: Bus pickup begins at 10 a.m. to go to the Saline Hospital Health Program. Visits will be made to our area folks who reside at the Saline Home, too, so come along, they make you feel better.

Thursday, November 10: There is no exercise planned as the dining room will be occupied from 9-Noon with lines of area folks getting their annual flu shots. Cost is $3.00 and are available to all who are 18 years of age and over who are not allergic to eggs, not ill with fever and/or have a temperature and do not get a reaction from flu shots, courtesy of the County Health Department.

If you wish to eat following your shot, you must call in a reservation to 428-8359 the day before, or call Jan at the kitchen number (428-7630) before 10:45 a.m. the day of all meals. Soup and salad will be served and bingo is planned for afterwards.

The November-December Trumpeter is available for you to pick up at either the Senior Center or at a Tuesday or Thursday meal.

Saturday, November 5: For those going along to Livonia and The Joy of Christmas, bus pickup begins at 2 p.m. for the 4 o'clock performance.

Tuesday, November 8: Election Day-VOTE! This gives you the right to gripe afterwards. Senior Citizens Council meeting begins at 9:30 a.m. Veal Italian is planned for noon lunch (we were surely glad we came for the other Milano dish, yummy). We do not have to hum food with Jan Barbour at the helm, come try it. Center activities follow and there is always a project that needs working on, come and help.

Property Owners Meet

The fourth Annual Meeting of the Iron Creek United Property Owners Association was held Sunday afternoon October 23 at the home of Maan and Sybil Abdul-Baki, 11677 Noggies Road.

The purpose of this organization is to control hunting on their lands through a network of communication between members and the constituted authorities of the Department of Natural Resources and the Washtenaw Sheriff's Department. In the three years the organization has existed much success has been noted through these efforts.

"No Hunting" signs are posted at prescribed intervals on all lands, which are identifiable by their red letters and the ICU logo on a white background. Members are provided with printed cards which give permission to hunt on their property and must be carried by hunters at all times for identification.

The success of this organization is attributed to the intention of its members to prosecute when necessary, its co-operation with existing authorities and its awareness of close unity among members. When would-be poachers are cognizant of the possibility of being observed, they tend to stay away from the properties belonging to members. The area covered by the ICU is in the southwest corner of Washtenaw County and lies within and surrounds the areas of Wellwood, Noggies, English and Sharon Hollow Roads.

Dutchmen Conclude On High Note

Mike Brokaw bruises his way toward his 134 yards

Friday night we visited the Concord Yellowjacket football field and departed victorious, 8-0. First of all, defense was the name of the game, as both squads played well throughout. The yellowjackets did slip late in the third quarter, allowing Steve Samonek to barge in from ten yards out. Mike Brokaw ran for the two-point conversion completing the necessary scoring for the win. Our defense continued to stonewall Concord, and the end result was the fifth shutout of our opponents this season. Although Mike never hit paydirt for a TD in this game, he motored for 134 yards in 20 attempts.

New Regulations To Reduce Emission of VOC's

The Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission approved five new regulations to reduce the emission of volatile organic compounds (VOC's).

The rules were developed as required by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to meet commitments in the 1982 Ozone State Implementation Plan for attainment of the federal ozone standard in southeast Michigan.

The rules provide for: Monitoring and repairing of leaks on equipment used in synthetic organic chemical manufacturing and natural gas processing facilities; establishing operating practices at paint manufacturing facilities in order to reduce evaporative losses of VOC's; establishing allowable levels of VOC emissions from resin manufacturing operations; establishing limits on the amounts of VOC's that may be emitted from the coating of automobile, truck, and business machine plastic parts.

EPA currently requires that the rules be applied, at a minimum, to Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties to insure these counties meet the ozone standard. The Commission voted to extend the rules to eight counties in southeast lower Michigan and three counties in western Michigan. These counties are Kent, Lapeer, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Muskegon, Oakland, Ottawa, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne.

The rules, as approved by the Air Pollution Control Commission, will be submitted to the Legislative Service Bureau, the Attorney General and the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules.

Changes In Hunting Regulations

Firearm deer and waterfowl hunters should be aware of major changes in this fall's regulations, which are not reflected in the 1988-89 Michigan Hunting Guide.

In addition, all hunters born on or after January 1, 1960 are reminded that before they can purchase a Michigan hunting license, they must 1) present a Hunter Safety Certificate showing they have completed a hunter safety training course or, 2) have proof of purchase of a previous hunting license from Michigan or any other state or, 3) must sign an affidavit stating they have completed a hunter safety course or previously possessed a hunting license.

A list of all major waterfowl/firearm deer hunting changes for 1988-89 follows:

FIREARM DEER

1. Black-powder substitutes and the use of mini- and maxi-balls have been legalized for the December muzzleloading season.

2. Black powder handguns, .44 caliber or larger, have also been legalized for hunting during the December muzzleloading season.

3. Persons hunting with any centerfire or black-powder handgun during the November 15-30 firearm deer season, must now have a firearm deer license and a valid kill tag in possession.

4. Non-residents must now have concealed pistol license to carry a handgun issued by their state that permits use for hunting. A safety inspection certificate alone will not suffice. See page eight of the Michigan Hunting Guide.

5. An amendment to the Off-Road-Vehicle (ORV) law now allows persons with a permit to hunt from a standing vehicle to operate their ORV or snowmobile during the normal closed ORV hours of the firearm deer season, 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

WATERFOWL
1. The point system has been eliminated for duck hunting this year and replaced with a conventional bag limit. Daily limit is 3 ducks (excluding mergansers), no more than two of which may be mallards (one female), 2 wood ducks, 1 black duck and 1 redhead. Effective September 2, 1988, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service approved 1 pintal daily throughout the season, included in the daily bag. Canvasbacks may not be taken. Merganser limit is an additional 5, only one of which may be a hooded merganser.

2. Steel shot requirements are in effect this year for the entire Lower Peninsula and surrounding waters and also for the Munuscong Waterfowl Area and the Potagannising Flooding in the Upper Peninsula.

3. For the first time since 1977, there will be a quail season this fall for 19 counties in the Lower Peninsula. The season will run from October 28 to November 11, with a 5 quail daily bag limit. Open counties and other details are listed in the 1988 Waterfowl Hunting Guide. (Due to printing schedules, quail areas and bag limits were excluded from the 1988-89 hunting/trapping digest and placed in the Waterfowl Guide.)

The 1988-89 Michigan hunting and trapping guides may be obtained from DNR offices or from any of the 2,500 hunting license dealers statewide. For more information on hunting rules and regulations, contact the DNR's Law Enforcement Division at 517-373-1230; DNR Wildlife Division, 517-373-1263, or DNR Information Services Center at 517-373-1220.

Letter To The Editor

To the voters of Manchester Township:

In the upcoming General Election, to be held Tuesday, November 8, you will also have the opportunity to vote on two local millage proposals.

The first proposal will be a request to increase the property tax by $0.50 per $1000.00 (0.5 mills) for 10 years to provide funds to purchase a new fire truck. Ten years ago voters approved 1/2 mill for a new fire truck (#702), this millage expires this fiscal year. This new millage would replace the previous one.

The proposed fire truck would be a 2500 gallon tanker truck. As the great majority of our township is without a central water supply system, water needed to fight fires needs to be hauled to the scene. Presently our fire department has use of a military tanker truck (1200 gallons) on loan to us from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. This truck is quite old and not entirely dependable mechanically. Our other fire trucks consist of; a 1986 pumper (#701, 500 gallons), a soon to be in service 1975 tanker (#703, 1300 gallons) which has been purchased and is being remodeled by the men of the fire department without the use of any tax dollars, and two (2) old army Jeeps which are used only for grass fires.

From a safety as well as an insurance stand-point it is necessary to keep our fire trucks as up to date as possible.

The second proposal is for $0.25 per $1000.00 (0.25 mills) for the purpose of improving and maintaining our township roads. While the County Road Commission does provide basic maintenance (scrapping, brush control and mowing) any further maintenance and/or improvements are done only on a matching fund basis. This means the County Road Commission will match any money that this township is willing to spend up to a set allocated amount. Other townships have taken advantage of this program to maintain and improve their roads. This millage will provide approximately $13,000.00 of township money and with matching County money allow us to use app. $26,000.00 to maintain and improve our roads. Although this is not enough to do all work needed, over a five year period we should be able to make a good improvement in our roads.

However you vote, be sure and vote Tuesday, November 8th. Thank you.

Ronald Mann
Supervisor
Manchester Township

To The Editor:

Killing is killing whether the Mafia takes out an expensive contract to have someone gunned down in the street or the state takes $300 of our tax money to pay an abortionist to kill an innocent baby in the womb. Every year in this state about 19,000 babies lose their lives through abortion at a cost of nearly $6 million ($100 million since 1973). The costs are staggering in lives lost, in the psychological damage done to women, and in the money spent that could be used for such things as mental health, the environment, the handicapped, police protection, or improved roads.

Paying for the birth of a child to a poor woman does not automatically commit us to 18 years of support. The state's Department of Social Services reported that the average person is on welfare for only two years. According to an article in the Wall Street Journal, welfare costs have not risen in the states that do not pay for abortions. Michigan is one of only 14 states that pays for abortions. Of the 12 states with the highest abortion rates, ten of them pay for abortions. Free abortions mean more abortions.

Another concern is postabortion syndrome. Many women have not been able to put having had an abortion behind them. They suffer from postabortion syndrome. Groups like Open Arms and Women Exploited by Abortion help these women come to terms with what they have done, to grieve, and to forgive themselves. We are not doing women any favors by encouraging them to have abortions.

In just 83 days in the spring of 1987 almost half a million people signed petitions calling for an end to tax-funded abortions. Public Act 59 was enacted by the Michigan Legislature as a result. Proposal A asks if this law should be approved. Please take a stand for our children and for our future. Vote YES FOR LIFE on Proposal A on November 8.

Foldable Lens Implant Reduces Recovery Time!

Paul H. Ernest, M.D., is implanting Foldable Intraocular Lenses! Dr. Ernest is one of the few surgeons practicing phacoemulsification (small incision cataract surgery) today. He has been using this procedure for over eight years and is nationally recognized for his technique. By using a foldable lens, Dr. Ernest has taken his expertise a step further and now closes the incision with a single stitch. This single stitch means far less trauma to the eye during surgery and a much quicker recovery time.

Q What advantages does the foldable lens provide?

- A
- No restriction of activities after surgery, except swimming.
  - With micro incision technique (Figure A), patients receive glasses in four to six weeks. This compares with nine weeks using small-incision technique (Figure B), and twelve weeks with conventional technique (Figure C).
  - Minimal to no induced astigmatism (an irregularity of the cornea produced by the stitches).

Q Why does using the foldable lens make such a big difference?

- A
- Most cataract surgeons today use eight to twelve stitches to close the incision (Figure C). Using small-incision surgery, Dr. Ernest has been using only three stitches (Figure B). Now with the new foldable lens, he uses only one stitch (Figure A).

Trail Walks At Botanical Gardens

The University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens invites the public to come along on a search for the fruits of the season. NUTS, BERRIES, AND SEEDS is the focus of a free, monthly trail walk on Sunday, November 6th at 2:00 p.m.

Fall is the time when most plants disperse their seeds to ensure species survival. Fruits, which were well hidden during the summer, are more apparent now. Bright berries adorn the branches; numerous nuts litter the ground; parachute seeds drift along in the slightest breeze; stick-tights hitch-hike in the fur of the family dog.

Participants will have the opportunity to look at many of the fruits and discover the dispersal mechanisms, to figure out which are popular foods for wildlife and which are starvation foods, and to learn of human inventions which were patterned after some fruits.

Families and nature enthusiasts are welcome to join in this 1 1/2 hour walk along the trails, which wind through the natural areas of the Gardens. Docents will meet visitors at the front steps of the Conservatory at 2:00 p.m. sharp.

The Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 N. Dixboro Rd., Ann Arbor, 1/4 mile south of the Plymouth Rd. intersection, on the left hand side.

Hemingway Discussion

The "penultimate" gathering of the Fall Reading and Discussion Series sponsored by the Manchester Township Library will meet this Thursday, November 3rd, at 7:30 p.m. at the Blacksmith Shop, 324 E. Main, to discuss THE NICK ADAMS STORIES, a collection of Ernest Hemingway's short stories.

All in the community are heartily welcome to come and join in the discussion or simply enjoy listening. Especially urged to come are: Hemingway fans, Hemingway detractors, avid readers, secret readers, opinionated critics, insightful gleaners, people who liked the movie "The Sun Also Rises," men with beards and red plaid jackets, and others.

Discussions are always interesting, informative, and entertaining. The guest lecturer for this meeting will be Lawrence Berkove, English professor from U. of M. Dearborn. (Please note this is not MSU!) Prof. Berkove's specialty is Hemingway's Michigan writings.

Books and more information are available at the Library. Start November right - with the unique perspective offered at the Library's Reading and Discussion meetings!

Inspections of the Cooling System are Crucial to the Engines Health

How To Prevent Car Heart Attacks.

Unfortunately, most car owners don't realize that cooling system parts should be replaced before they fail. Like heart attacks in people, car heart attacks can often be prevented with regular inspections of the cooling system.

Today's cars operate at higher engine speeds with more equipment under the hood, smaller engine compartments, and reduced radiator size. So the cooling system - particularly the thermostat, which constantly opens and closes to regulate coolant flow - is under a lot of stress. In fact, the cooling system removes twice as much engine heat as the exhaust system.

Know The Candidates

This is the second of a two-part series on "Know the Candidates for the Manchester Township Library Board of Trustees." The information below was written by each of the candidates in response to a questionnaire sent to them by the "Friends of the Library." The questions each candidate received were identical, and a limit on length was required.

Last week the first four candidates' responses were printed in this newspaper. Those were from Bertha Briggs, Ann Fowler, Joan Gaughan, and Susan Gleason. Below are the responses of the other four candidates: Barbara Parker, Patricia Swaney, David Arnsdorf, and Olga Nickels.

The Manchester Township Library is a tax-supported institution. Primary funding ($16,000 plus building and upkeep) is provided by the Township of Manchester. The Village of Manchester, while part of the township, also separately contributes ($1500) to the Library's funding. The Library is also used by residents of Sharon, Freedom, and Bridgewater townships. These townships fund the Library on the basis of a fee ($12.50 per year) for each family who uses the Library. Other sources of Library funding include penal fines ($6000), state aid ($3000), and contributions.

Only residents of Manchester Township (including all Village residents) are eligible to vote for the Library Board. There are eight candidates running for six seats on the Library Board. They are elected for four-year terms. Please consider carefully who might best serve the Library needs of the children and adults of the Manchester area, and also who might make the best use of your tax money in providing these services.

If you missed the first four responses (Briggs, Fowler, Gaughan, and Gleason) in last week's paper, back copies may be read at the Library or purchased from the Enterprise office.

BARBARA A. PARKER

I am 48 (49 in December) and have served thirty years as Secretary-Stenographer, Office Manager and Executive Secretary (includes 2 hospitals, one Evangelistic School, one College and one industrial plant). Also, I served three years as volunteer Public Relations Coordinator when my children were in grade school. Recently, I became a Notary Public.

I have lived in Manchester for the past twelve years and have the desire to better serve my community. I'll do my best to learn fast and work hard.

The Library is a place we can go for help and guidance in research, education, and just simply a special time of reading entertainment.

I can tell you more about the future of the library when I am oriented thoroughly as to what is happening at the present. As a new Trustee, I would need to learn quickly so I can do my best to help further the existing goals of the Library.

If I could make one thing happen during my two year term, I would complete the goals and objectives which are for the betterment and fulfillment of the community. I'm sure those goals are already in place for 1989 - I just want to help those goals happen.

PATRICIA A. SWANEY

I graduated from the University of Detroit and worked at the U of M Dental school and private practice. Since coming to Manchester 10 years ago I became a member of the Manchester Art Guild and was chairperson of two Street Art Fairs as well as helping to organize activities and classes for the guild. I am involved actively with the Manchester Recreational Task Force and directed the Manchester Day Camp. I am on the Parks and Recreations Committee; a member of the Shakespeare Club; teach St. Mary's pre-school religious class and I am a Girl Scout Leader for my daughters' Daisy troop.

My reasons to run for the Library Board: The skills that I have developed could be put to use to help maintain the library as a vital asset to our community.

What directions I would like to have the library take in the future: I believe that new trends in communication and education (such as tapes, computers, videos, live programs) indicate that libraries should supplement formal education by providing a well-balanced, unbiased collection of materials in a variety of formats.

What importance I feel the library has to the community: The library has the obligation to broaden the experiences of each member of our community.

If I could make one thing happen at the library during my two year term: The library needs to anticipate the potential needs of the community and if I can increase patrons and their participation then I know that I contributed to the growth and success of the Manchester Library.

Farmer's Lung Has No Cure

Most people imagine the air down on the farm is clean and fresh, but actually it is often laden with lung-crippling dusts and molds.

Those dusts and molds—commonly found in grain bins and hay storages, around livestock and in feeds—can cause farmer's lung disease.

It is a non-infectious condition that, with repeated exposure to dusts and molds, can severely restrict a person's ability to breathe.

"There is no cure for the disease," says Howard J. Doss, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service agricultural safety specialist.

Once a person has farmer's lung, he or she has the disease permanently. Each additional exposure to dusts or molds will aggravate the problem. The individual's sensitivity to the dust or mold is the primary factor in the recurrence and intensity of the disease, Doss says.

The body will provide several signals that a person is in danger of contracting farmer's lung.

The upper respiratory system—nose, mouth and larynx area—will show injury in the form of nosebleeds, coughing and sore throat. Rhinitis, with runny nose and watery eyes, is also a symptom of respiratory tract problems.

The middle portion of the respiratory tract—the trachea and the bronchial tubes and their major subdivision—will show asthma-like symptoms such as coughing, wheezing and shortness of breath.

"Acute symptoms will occur from four to eight hours after heavy exposure," Doss says.

"These symptoms include fever with sweating and chills, a troublesome but unproductive cough, shortness of breath, and a general feeling of malaise with aching muscles and joints. These symptoms may resolve in a couple of days or persist for weeks."

The mold and dust particles that cause the disease are so tiny that the only way a person can prevent inhaling them is to wear a disposable respiratory dust mask, Doss says.

These masks are designed to filter dust and some molds. A box of 15 masks costs under $20. The considerably cheaper "painter's mask" normally provides no protection against the mold spores, dusts and animal danders commonly found on the farm, particularly in confined spaces such as bins, mows and similar structures where livestock and feedstuffs are housed.

"Everyone who is working in these types of areas should be encouraged to wear a mask, and for the mask to be effective, it should be used according to the manufacturer's recommendations," Doss says.

The development of farmer's lung is often confused with other respiratory ailments, he says. By the time it is diagnosed (usually by taking a lung tissue sample), it may be disastrously too late for the victim.

It is a non-infectious condition that, with repeated exposure to dusts and molds, can severely restrict a person's ability to breathe.

"There is no cure for the disease," says Howard J. Doss, Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service agricultural safety specialist.

Once a person has farmer's lung, he or she has the disease permanently. Each additional exposure to dusts or molds will aggravate the problem. The individual's sensitivity to the dust or mold is the primary factor in the recurrence and intensity of the disease, Doss says.

The body will provide several signals that a person is in danger of contracting farmer's lung.

The upper respiratory system—nose, mouth and larynx area—will show injury in the form of nosebleeds, coughing and sore throat. Rhinitis, with runny nose and watery eyes, is also a symptom of respiratory tract problems.

The middle portion of the respiratory tract—the trachea and the bronchial tubes and their major subdivision—will show asthma-like symptoms such as coughing, wheezing and shortness of breath.

"Acute symptoms will occur from four to eight hours after heavy exposure," Doss says.

"These symptoms include fever with sweating and chills, a troublesome but unproductive cough, shortness of breath, and a general feeling of malaise with aching muscles and joints. These symptoms may resolve in a couple of days or persist for weeks."

The mold and dust particles that cause the disease are so tiny that the only way a person can prevent inhaling them is to wear a disposable respiratory dust mask, Doss says.

These masks are designed to filter dust and some molds. A box of 15 masks costs under $20. The considerably cheaper "painter's mask" normally provides no protection against the mold spores, dusts and animal danders commonly found on the farm, particularly in confined spaces such as bins, mows and similar structures where livestock and feedstuffs are housed.

"Everyone who is working in these types of areas should be encouraged to wear a mask, and for the mask to be effective, it should be used according to the manufacturer's recommendations," Doss says.

The development of farmer's lung is often confused with other respiratory ailments, he says. By the time it is diagnosed (usually by taking a lung tissue sample), it may be disastrously too late for the victim.

Make The Most Of Veteran Benefits

You've served your country. Now, how does your country serve you? As Americans all over the nation hang out their flags in honor of Veteran's Day, this is the question you may be asking yourself.

The answer is not a simple one. But with a little bit of research and persistence, you may be surprised at some of the benefits available to eligible veterans. The Michigan Association of CPAs advises you to explore all options, from re-employment rights to VA-guaranteed home loans. Re-entering the Job Market

First off, almost all veterans who are honorably discharged have re-employment rights. What that means is that you have a right to return to whatever job you left in order to join the military service.

As long as you apply to your previous employer within 90 days after your discharge, you are generally entitled to either your former job or one of comparable status. Don't assume that a disability automatically invalidates your re-employment rights. If you are disabled and cannot do the job you were previously assigned, the company must offer you another position of similar quality and compensation.

Reinstatement is just the first of your rights. Your company must also grant you any seniority, salary raises or benefits you would have earned had you remained in your job. For example, if your company awards vacation time, promotions or pension benefits based on the number of years of employment, you must be credited for any time served in the military. In addition, you are protected against being fired or demoted without cause for one year.

What if the company has been sold or has moved to another state? As long as the company remains in operation, you have a right to your former job. And remember, if you have to relocate to a new state in order to return to your job, your moving costs may qualify for a tax write-off.

Now, you may have little or no desire to return to your previous job. In that case, the Veterans Administration (VA) can help you find a job. Disabled veterans get special consideration. If you register at a state employment service, make sure you remind them that veterans are supposed to get preference and priority in both job counseling and placement.

Another option is pursuing an apprenticeship in a trade such as carpentry, plumbing, fire fighting, aircraft mechanics or photography. Working as an apprentice, you will probably earn a minimum salary while learning the business and receiving technical instruction. The payoff usually comes after one to six years, when you are ready to launch a career of your own. As a veteran, you may be entitled to receive monthly training allowances from the VA over and above the amounts you receive as an apprentice. The amount of the allowance will depend on the number of your dependents and the year of your apprenticeship.

Finally, if you are interested in opening your own business, the Small Business Administration has a number of programs to help you transform your business plan into a reality, including financial and management assistance.

Paying for an Education
Depending on your years of service, you may be eligible for one of several different educational-assistance programs. If you served 180 days or more between February 1, 1955 and January 1, 1977, you may be able to receive educational assistance under the old GI Bill. If, on the other hand, you served between January 1, 1977 and July 1, 1985, you may qualify for the Veteran's Educational Assistance Program (VEAP). To be eligible, you had to actively contribute to the fund while in the service. For each dollar you contributed, up to a maximum of $2,700, the government contributes two. At discharge, VEAP provides a tuition nest egg of several thousand dollars. Veterans of such fields as the Infantry may also be entitled to additional bonuses that can add up to as much as $18,300.

The new Montgomery GI Bill covers everyone who has enlisted in the military since July 1, 1985. A contributory program similar to the VEAP, the new GI Bill generally requires participants to contribute $1,200 to an education fund during their first year of service. If you met this requirement, the government will give up to a maximum of $9,600. Again, bonuses may be available if you served in so-called "Military Occupation Specialist."

If you are totally disabled, your spouse and children may also be eligible for educational benefits. In addition, if you belong to such organizations as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars or the Retired Officers Association, you should find out about any scholarship funds available for your children.

Buying a Home
If you are planning to buy a home or condominium, consider applying for a GI loan. If you meet the eligibility requirements, the VA will help you obtain a mortgage with a lower interest rate, a long repayment period and no down payment. (In some cases, however, a bank or other lending institution may require a down payment.) The loan funds can also be used to repair, improve or build a home.

In addition, the VA insures that you have the right to prepay the loan at any time without incurring penalty fees. On the other hand, if circumstances arise which temporarily prevent you from making repayments, the VA encourages lenders to extend forbearance and indulgence.

Tax Benefits
The Michigan Association of CPAs reminds you that most veterans' benefits are not included in gross income. Included in this category are educational allowances, disabled veterans' pensions and veterans' insurance proceeds.

Farm Bureau Opposes Land Acquisition Fund

Michigan Congressmen have been urged to oppose a bill known as The American Heritage Trust Act of 1988 when it comes up for consideration. In a letter to all members of the state's U.S. House delegation, Michigan Farm Bureau's public affairs director, Al Almy, outlined the organization's strong opposition to the proposed legislation.

The bill, H.R. 4127, would establish a dedicated trust fund which would generate $1 billion in interest annually for land acquisition and recreation projects.

"A large, new off-budget spending program outside the regular appropriations process and control of Congress would be created," Almy said. "At the very same time that efforts are underway to reduce the deficit, the direction of H.R. 4127 is uncontrolled spending."

Almy said the organization is also concerned that the taking of private land through eminent domain would be accelerated if the bill passes. "H.R. 4127 contains no provision that we are aware of to require that the land be acquired from willing sellers," he said.

Farm Bureau is also concerned that government land acquisition will create higher property taxes. "Large amounts of land would be transferred from private ownership to ownership by federal, state and local governments," Almy said. "Private property owners would face higher tax burdens by removal of such land from local property tax rolls."

Under the proposed act, 30% of the $1 billion fund would be provided for federal land acquisition, 30% for state and local government land acquisition and recreation projects, 10% for matching federal grants to states, 10% for urban parks and recreation, and 20% for any of those purposes. The fund would be established through federal oil and gas leasing revenues, motorboat fuel taxes and sales of federal real estate.

Aggressive Hunt Best Solution

The increase in car-deer accidents, plus the increase in deer crop damage, indicates there are too many deer in the state, according to Ron Nelson, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau. Statistics from the Michigan State Police show that car-deer accidents have risen from about 20,000 in 1982 to nearly 39,000 in 1987.

"We're well aware that deer are an economic problem for farmers. As the deer population has increased, so has the crop damage. This report on car-deer accidents shows they're also an economic problem for motor vehicle owners," Nelson said. "One might conclude that we've really got more deer than we can accommodate safely and economically in this state."

Kent County led the state in car-deer accidents last year, followed by Calhoun, Jackson and Montcalm. The report showed that the high risk categories were ages 25 to 44, local resident, passenger car, on dry roads, after dark.

"Deer are a valuable resource in Michigan. However, as with any resource, it must be managed and controlled. Probably the best approach to the overpopulation problem is an aggressive hunt," Nelson said. "The Department of Natural Resources has issued its deer hunting regulations for this fall. There will be opportunities to take multiple deer in selected areas that cover a substantial portion of this state. The purpose of that is to reduce the population of deer."

Farm Bureau Testifies On SCC

If the Stockbridge site is selected for the proposed Superconducting Super Collider, sensitivity to the concerns of agriculture must continue, a Michigan Farm Bureau spokesperson testified at the SCC hearing this week.

The amount of prime farmland estimated to be needed for the SSC site is 5,500 acres, but Rebecca Jeppesen, manager of Michigan Farm Bureau's Community Activities Department, says the project will also have an impact on surrounding agricultural land.

Jeppesen said that compensation for farmland is a key concern of Farm Bureau members.

"Public Act 274 of 1988, which was signed into law this past spring by Gov. Blanchard, reflects the policy set by Farm Bureau members in regards to compensation for prime farmland. This legislation takes into account the recent decrease in farmland value, yet also includes the high valuation that this land once held. We support this legislation as the appropriate answer to the question of fluctuating values of one of this state's most valuable resources," Jeppesen said.

The state's largest farm organization last year gave conditional support to the SSC based on the recommendations of members in the proposed site area. The conditions for that support was that the concerns of agriculture be addressed. Those concerns included not only compensation for farmland, but loss of production, access to markets, business interruption allowances, relocation costs, community planning, loss of tax revenue for local governments and schools, maintenance of roads, plus adequate and proper drainage.

"If the Stockbridge site is selected as the home for the proposed SSC, sensitivity will need to continue for those farmers who will be asked to give up their homes, their businesses and watch their communities change," Jeppesen said. "The Michigan SSC office personnel have been very responsive to our questions and concerns. They have willingly met with and listened to members express their feelings about this project that in some cases will take their homes and businesses."

$3,000 Go Up In Smoke

The Wells neighborhood about three miles southwest of Clinton, was greatly excited yesterday, and a representative of the Enterprise drove down to learn the facts for our readers.

On Wednesday morning about 2 o'clock the daughters of Crowell Eddy, Esq., were awakened by a bright light shining into their window, and looking out they found the barns on fire. The household were aroused and the neighbors called, but despite their united efforts nothing could be saved from the barns and they were consumed, together with four horses, four cows, all the farming tools, wagons, about 20 tons of hay, 75 bushels of oats, etc. The house was saved by hard work. The loss is estimated at about $3,000, insured in the Lenawee County Farmers Mutual for $2,000.

The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, and he is A REVENGEFUL NEIGHBOR named John Bunting, who, it is alleged, had a grudge against Eddy, who several years ago had him placed under bonds to keep the peace, he having threatened his wife.

After the fire word was brought that John Bunting had

Alcoholism Awareness Week

Take yourself to a movie during lunch this week in observance of Alcoholism Awareness Week (Nov. 13-19).

Saline Community Hospital will be presenting short films at noon Wednesday and Thursday in the hospital Blue Room. The movies will be "If You Love Me," on Wednesday, Nov. 16 and "Soft is the Heart of a Child," on Thursday, Nov. 17. Both films look at how alcoholism affects the family.

"When one member of a family has a drinking problem, the whole family is affected," said Lin Fox, clinical coordinator at Greenbrook Recovery Center, the chemical dependency treatment program at Saline Community Hospital.

"Some family members may actually be enabling the alcoholic to continue his or her addiction while others are affected by the declining family unit."

Bring your lunch. Soft drinks will be provided.

Fatal Accident On M-52

A 33 year old Fenton woman died as a result of a head-on collision on M-52 north of Pleasant Lake Road last Wednesday.

Helen Spuehler, who was not wearing a seat belt, apparently fell asleep at the wheel of her car and drove left of the center line into a convoy of General Motors test cars.

The first two vehicles of the convoy swerved off the road to avoid the oncoming car but William Lewis of Pontiac and Joseph Moore, also of Pontiac, were both injured in the accident.

The General Motors test cars, under contract to Troy Design, are regularly driven along M-52 by test drivers.
