Furnace Street Bridge Closed

A structural inspection of all Village bridges was conducted on Tuesday, November 30. The Main Street and Duncan Street bridges were found to be in good condition, but supports of the Furnace Street bridge were found to be very badly deteriorated. As soon as the Village Council received the engineer's report, the bridge was closed in the interest of public safety.

Annual Luminaria

As Christmas fast approaches we think about the Annual Luminaria and the idea conceived by Karen Hinkley 11 years ago. The first year Karen talked to her neighbors on Ann Arbor Hill about placing these unique lights in front of their homes. As people drove by on Christmas Eve, they were entranced by the beauty of flickering candles all along the street. Her idea spread throughout the village and now almost every home displays the candles on Christmas Eve.

Over the years The Manchester Enterprise has received many letters from strangers passing through our village on that night; they are awed by the sight. Karen's novel display of lights is rapidly expanding to other towns: Clinton, Chelsea, Saline and Brooklyn.

The Annual Luminaria is now sponsored by the Manchester Historical Society. To Karen Hinkley, a very, very big thank you for starting a grand tradition.

Supplies for our Annual Luminaria will be available at the Blacksmith Shop on East Main December 21, 22, 23, 3 p.m. - 7 p.m. We welcome all to participate. For more information, you may call Forest Walz, your candleman, at 428-8234.

Linda Hansen In Math Competition

Linda Hansen, a senior at Manchester High School, has just learned that she has qualified for the second part of the 32nd annual Michigan Math Prize Competition sponsored by the Michigan Section of the Mathematics Association of America. Students qualified for the second part by placing among the top 979 out of 19,652 participants in an examination given at 500 schools across the state of Michigan last October 12. The qualifiers will compete by taking the second part of the exam this December 14. The 100 students with the highest combined scores will be invited to a banquet in their honor at Eastern Michigan University next February 26, and approximately the top 50 will receive college scholarships ranging in value from $250 to around $2000.

Prevention

Programs, Resources, Education, Volunteers, Energy, Needs, Teamwork, Interest, Opportunity, Network. The SUBSTANCE ABUSE AWARENESS COMMITTEE (SAAC) provides the network for needed programs, resources, education. It's an opportunity for interested volunteers, with energy, to work as a team toward the prevention of use and abuse of drugs. The SAAC meeting is open to anyone in the community. Plan to take part in the group December 12, 7:30 at the Community Resource Center. For more information call 428-7722.

"Tying One On"

The Manchester Township Police Department is "Tying one on" this holiday season. They are working with other law enforcement agencies across the state to visually remind motorists to drive sober. They're joining the national campaign encouraging people to tie a red ribbon on their car antenna or outside rearview mirror in support of a safe and sober holiday. This campaign is to run from November 28th through January 2nd, 1989.

Receives Optimist Award

The Optimists awarded the honor of Outstanding Student for the month of November to Michelle LaRue. Michelle is the daughter of Karen and Brian LaRue. She is a sophomore, an all A honor roll student and Class President. In her freshman year she was elected Class Treasurer. Last year, Michelle was Fair Queen 1st Runner-up and this year was Fair Queen Alternate. She has played volleyball and basketball since 9th grade and is currently co-captain of the 10th grade basketball team. Michelle also plays in the Jackson Area Volleyball Association and made the All-Star Team at Michigan Volleyball Camp. She belongs to the Senior High Youth Group at the Emanuel Church and plans to go into International Business in college. Optimist John Savage presented the award to Michelle and her parents.

John Bunting Found

Manchester Enterprise
 July 26, 1888

We received word yesterday noon that the body of John Bunting, of Franklin, the man who attempted to shoot his mother-in-law and his neighbors, and whom it is supposed burned Cromwell Eddy's barns, on the night of the 10th, was found in the forenoon by his son, who was reaping grain on his farm. His attention was attracted by a fearful stench and on investigating the cause he was horrified to find the fast decaying remains of his father. It was a westerly course from his late residence in a low place in the woods on G.W. Allen's farm and back of Mrs. Pawson's. It was partially concealed by the tall grass, etc., and was lying on the left side the right hand thrown across the body, and a revolver lay as though it had slipped from the hand.

Word flew from mouth to mouth, and soon the roads were filled with teams bringing people from every direction. The officers at Adrian were notified, and a post mortem held, and it was decided that he came to his death by his own hand, a bullet mark having been found near his right temple.

Owing to the high state of putrefaction, the body having been dead already 14 days, the flesh fell from the bone and it could scarcely be recognized, except by the clothes. When being rolled into a blanket the head and one arm became detached from the body. It was buried at night in the cemetery at Clinton. General satisfaction was expressed by the people at the result, and now that the mystery is cleared up the people can retire at night as of old in the full confidence of peaceful slumbers, so far as John Bunting is concerned.

Christmas Seals' A Holiday Tradition

A familiar holiday tradition - Christmas Seals from the American Lung Association - was born in 1907 with the sale of the first 3,000 Seals to combat tuberculosis. Today Christmas Seals are mailed to millions of households nationwide. Donations to this year's Christmas Seal featuring Candy Claus*, Santa's daughter, will help support the American Lung Association's research and public health education programs to prevent, cure and control all lung disease.

Plastic Bags Made From Cornstarch?

Michigan Farm Bureau's senior legislative counsel, Robert E. Smith, says passage of a bill introduced by Senator John Glenn of Ohio would mean a new market for the nation's corn growers. Glenn's proposed legislation encourages the federal government to use biodegradable plastic bags made from cornstarch. "It would create an entirely new market for corn and could be considered a long-term solution to our normal overproduction of corn," Smith said. "We're behind in the world on this particular environmental issue. Several European countries are already using biodegradable plastics." The National Corn Growers estimate that more than 19 million bushels of corn per year could be used if cornstarch penetrated only 5% of the plastic packaging market.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

- help the American Lung Association
- support research on lung disease
 - teach children never to smoke
 - fight for clean air
 - prevent occupational lung disease
 - campaign for nonsmokers' rights
 - teach smokers to quit for good

Hospital Mammography Recognized

Recently, a great deal of media attention has been focused on the lack of availability of high quality, low-dose mammography in the state of Michigan. A recent Detroit News article indicated that of the 425 mammography units currently in operation in Michigan, only 49 of these meet the standards set by the American College of Radiology for accreditation. In addition, radiologic technologists operating the equipment do not have to be licensed or trained to work in Michigan.

Chelsea Community Hospital has an accredited, dedicated mammography unit and employs only trained radiographic technologists, certified by the American Registry of Radiologic Technology. The hospital's mammography unit, a Thompson CGR Senegraphe 600T, is one of only two such units in the State of Michigan. "The unit improves our ability to detect abnormalities and to resolve whether the abnormality is significant," states David E. Baker, M.D., Radiologist and Medical Director of the Diagnostic Imaging Department. "The unit insures that a woman will receive the best possible diagnostic results with as little discomfort and the lowest dose of radiation possible."

Dr. Baker and the other radiologists on staff at Chelsea Community Hospital are members of Huron Valley Radiology, a group of board-certified radiologists with expertise in mammography and many other specialties.

Mammography is one part of a three part approach to breast cancer detection recommended by the American Cancer Society. The other components are breast self-examination and examination by a health professional.

"Mammograms are an important part of women's healthcare today," says Kathleen Raymond, R.T.R., Technical Director of Diagnostic Imaging. At Chelsea Community Hospital we use the best equipment available and a small staff of specially trained technicians to perform mammogram, breast examination and instruction on self-breast examination in a warm, supportive environment.

Referrals for mammogram may be made through a woman's personal physician or through the hospital's Women's Health Center.

Inspections of the Cooling System are Crucial to the Engines Health

How To Prevent Car Heart Attacks.

FOR ONLY $39⁹⁰

COMPLETE INSPECTION INCLUDES:

1. Flush Cooling System
2. Check Operation of Thermostat.
3. Test Battery and Charging System.
4. Clean Battery Cables.
5. Inspect Radiator Cap, Belts and Hoses.
6. Fill System With up to 2 Gallons of New Antifreeze.

Unfortunately, most car owners don't realize that cooling system parts should be replaced before they fail. Like heart attacks in people, car heart attacks can often be prevented with regular inspections of the cooling system.

Today's cars operate at higher engine speeds with more equipment under the hood, smaller engine compartments and reduced radiator size. So the cooling system - particularly the thermostat, which constantly opens and closes to regulate coolant flow - is under a lot of stress. In fact, the cooling system removes twice as much engine heat as the exhaust system.

Go ahead...tie one on!

MADD and Michigan law enforcement agencies want you to "tie one on" this holiday season. But let's change the meaning. Tie a bright red ribbon on your door handle, antenna or outside mirror. Let your car serve as a visual sign that you want to stop drunk driving in Michigan.

"Red Ribbon" a holiday campaign from Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), the Office of Highway Safety Planning and Michigan Law Enforcement Agencies.

because there's no place like home!

If you have loved ones who are elderly, or handicapped, you're probably concerned about their well being. Although they can live happily on their own, one day they might have an emergency... and you may not be there to help.

That's why this holiday season you should give your loved ones Lifeline - the push button emergency response system that puts help at their fingertips.

With Lifeline, when someone has an emergency, they simply push the Help Button worn on a necklace, belt loop or wrist. It immediately signals our staff of highly trained professionals who will identify the emergency and send help to them fast.

Lifeline is the perfect holiday gift. It will give your loved ones greater security, freedom, and the flexibility to lead a more fulfilling life.

What's more, it gives you the peace of mind that comes from knowing that they can always get help... 24 hours a day.

Call the number below for more information about Lifeline. And give your loved ones the gift that lasts a lifetime!

Manchester Community Band To Debut

Personal invitations to the event have been sent to all Chamber members as well as to others in the community who may have an interest in Chamber of Commerce activities. If you did not receive your invitation but would like to attend this annual affair, please know it will be held on Thursday, December 15th at the Knights of Columbus Hall on Madison, from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m., and you are invited.

The party will include light refreshments and an opportunity to meet and chat with old friends and new who all have a common interest in Manchester.

To Be Decided By Court

After hearing legal arguments this week, the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals must now decide whether a district court decision banning the above-ground use of strychnine to control rodent damage will be allowed to stand.

The American Farm Bureau Federation joined with the U.S. Justice Department in appealing an earlier district court decision.

Farm Bureau contended the lower court decision failed to conform to the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), the federal statute which governs registration and cancellation of agricultural chemicals.

The lower court order followed a lawsuit brought by environmental groups which claimed that strychnine use violated various wildlife laws. The Environmental Protection Agency subsequently cancelled all above-ground use of the chemical agent.

"The Court of Appeals must judge the case strictly on the basis of whether the district court correctly applied the law," said Al Almy, director of public affairs for the Michigan Farm Bureau. "If this decision is allowed to stand, it would strip FIFRA of any continued viability as a means and basis for pesticide regulation. The primary issue in this case is the integrity of FIFRA as a viable and enforceable federal statute."

"U.S.D.A. has also said that corn with more than 20 parts per billion may be considered as zero production in computing crop disaster payments under this year's drought relief act," Kirk said. "Farmers should have their corn tested, not only to see if it can be put under loan, but also to determine if it can be safely fed to livestock."

Guidelines Issued

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has issued new guidelines for the interstate shipment of corn containing aflatoxin, a common fungus that has sprung up in drought-stressed crops this year. Michigan Farm Bureau commodity specialist Kevin Kirk said the FDA action comes in addition to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's prohibition against placing under loan any corn that has more than 20 parts per billion of aflatoxin.

THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH
A Report from The National Institutes of Health Bethesda, Maryland

A Vaccine Against Hemophilus Influenzae Type B (HIB), the Leading Cause of Bacterial Meningitis
Although many of the childhood diseases that have plagued people for centuries can now be prevented, until recently there was no vaccine for the childhood diseases caused by a bacteria called Hemophilus influenzae type b (Hib). Now a vaccine against Hib, the leading cause of bacterial meningitis in children aged 10 years and younger, is available.
The new vaccine can protect children between the ages of 2 and 6 years from Hib diseases. Since the organism is transmitted through respiratory secretions in the air, Hib infections are most common in children who have frequent close contact with other children. Therefore, it is recommended that all children in the high-risk categories be immunized at 18 months and all others at 24 months of age.
High risk children include those in day-care centers, nursery schools, or in households with many children. Also at high risk are American Indians.
The vaccine is not effective

ESKIMOS, blacks, people with no spleen, and those with sickle cell anemia or Hodgkin's disease.
Hib causes approximately 20,000 cases of childhood disease each year. These include epiglottitis, which is a severe throat inflammation; recurrent ear infections called otitis media; occasionally pneumonia, arthritis, and cellulitis; and the most serious, bacterial meningitis, which accounts for 60 percent of Hib cases.
Bacterial meningitis is an inflammation of the meninges, the membranes that surround the brain and spinal cord. About 70 percent of meningitis cases occur in children under 5 years of age.
Of the 20,000 children each year who are infected by Hib, meningitis occurs in an estimated 12,000 cases. Close to 10 percent of these children die, while 20 to 50 percent of the survivors are left with neurological damage such as partial paralysis, loss of hearing, seizures, or behavioral and learning disabilities. Bacterial meningitis is also the leading cause of acquired mental retardation.

Bacterial meningitis is an inflammation of the meninges, the membranes that surround the brain and spinal cord. About 70 percent of meningitis cases occur in children under 5 years of age.
Of the 20,000 children each year who are infected by Hib, meningitis occurs in an estimated 12,000 cases. Close to 10 percent of these children die, while 20 to 50 percent of the survivors are left with neurological damage such as partial paralysis, loss of hearing, seizures, or behavioral and learning disabilities. Bacterial meningitis is also the leading cause of acquired mental retardation.

Hib causes approximately 20,000 cases of childhood disease each year. These include epiglottitis, which is a severe throat inflammation; recurrent ear infections called otitis media; occasionally pneumonia, arthritis, and cellulitis; and the most serious, bacterial meningitis, which accounts for 60 percent of Hib cases.

Have It Your Way; A Guide To Smart Mail-Order Shopping

The rush is on. Every year after Thanksgiving, malls across America begin filling up with frantic shoppers carrying frayed Christmas lists. If you're looking for a way out of the holiday shopping maze, why not try your mail box?

Not only can you save yourself a great deal of time, but you may also be able to save some money. Since mail-order companies frequently have lower overhead costs than stores located in ultra-modern malls, they often sell comparable products at better prices, explains the Michigan Association of CPAs. As a result, you may be able to make your holiday shopping dollars go even further.

Chances are that you have a catalog filled with gift possibilities sitting right at your fingertips. But before you start writing out order forms, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you learn how to shop smart.

The wisest consumers don't plunk their hard-earned dollars down at the nearest bank without considering interest rates and options. In the same way, smart mail-order shopping begins with a little bit of research and a lot of common sense.

Start by learning about a company's reputation. Some firms, such as J.C. Penney and Sears, have been around for decades and have proven themselves to be honest and reliable vendors. Other mail-order companies, however, are as financially unsound as a wooden nickel.

Perhaps you've seen the ads and have been tempted. After all, a $5 diamond ring or a $20 designer dress appear to be amazing bargains. But what is really amazing is that, year after year, sham companies get away with ripping off consumers with these very same gimmicks. While you can undoubtedly purchase greatly discounted quality merchandise through the mail, you should beware of any mail-order advertisement that offers name-brand merchandise at remarkably low prices. If the offer sounds too good to be true, there's a good chance it is.

In some cases, the merchandise may be counterfeit or a "gray market" product, one that was imported outside the normal channels of distribution. Counterfeit products often feature shoddy construction and no warranty. In contrast, gray-market goods usually are legitimate name-brand merchandise, but they too generally come without a manufacturer's warranty.

Consumers who are in the market for electronic products should consider another drawback of many gray-market goods. Often, the instruction manuals are written only in a foreign language. Certainly, learning how to program your brand-new VCR can be enough of a headache without having to first translate a Korean user's guide.

If you have questions about a catalog company's reputation, you may want to contact your local Better Business Bureau before ordering from them for the first time. Your local Better Business Bureau will contact its counterpart in the city in which the mail-order house is located to see if consumers have registered complaints about the company. Remember that most companies will have at least a few complaints filed against them. But if complaints are numerous and if the company has not made any effort to resolve them, you may want to spend your money elsewhere.

Now, look at the catalog itself. Check for disclaimers, such as "all sales are final" or "we are not responsible for the quality of the advertised merchandise." The best and most reputable catalog companies stand behind their products and abide by very fair return policies. Be wary of mail-order companies that expect you to pay for unseem merchandise, but do not specifically state that you have the right to return or exchange inferior, unsatisfactory or damaged goods.

Read the fine print beneath product descriptions and illustrations. Some firms will use an "artist's rendering" or misrepresent the product's size, manufacturer or basic design. Others reserve the right to substitute merchandise "of equal value and quality." Another common ruse is to picture merchandise with a product name differing from a top-quality brand by only a slight variation of spelling.

You should also be suspicious of a company that lists its address only as a post office box. While many fine mail-order companies have set up post office boxes for orders, just as many fly-by-night operators set up post office boxes, take your orders and your checks and then disappear without ever shipping the promised merchandise. If you have doubts, call the mail-order firm and request a street address. If they are reluctant or refuse to provide the information, take your business to another company.

When you call to place an order, ask questions about the product as well as the company's service policies. If the clerk is surly or cannot answer your questions, think twice about ordering from them.

If everything checks out and you decide to place an order, don't pay for your purchase with cash. With a check or credit card, you may still be able to stop payment if the merchandise is faulty or isn't delivered—and both forms of payment give you a tangible receipt.

If you don't receive your merchandise within the stated delivery time or if you have another problem with the company, contact both the Better Business Bureau and the Postal Inspectors Office at your local post office. The Postal Inspectors will look into the possibility of mail fraud and the Better Business Bureau will record the complaint for use in future consumer inquiries about the company. While neither organization will get your money back immediately, contacting them is your first step to resolving your complaints.

The Michigan Association of CPAs points out that, with a little common sense and consumer savvy, mail-order shopping can be a first-class experience.

"Tie One On"

"Tie One On" is a national MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) campaign to increase public awareness of drunk driving. The campaign runs from November 29 through January 2. Thanks to our local law enforcement agency and national MADD, the Manchester High School SADD chapter will be distributing red ribbons to Manchester area students this week. The ribbons are to be tied on car antennas, the left door handle, or outside rear view mirrors in support of a safe and sober holiday. We hope to encourage and promote the importance of not drinking and driving during the holiday season.

Ribbons will be tied on cars by SADD members Saturday, December 17 in the IGA parking lot and Main Street downtown. SADD students will also be on hand during the Klager Christmas Program, December 21st. Be sure to show your support by "Tying One On."

Swainson Re-Elected Trustee

Former Governor John B. Swainson, of Manchester, was re-elected to the forty-five member Board of Trustees of Greater Michigan Foundation. The Foundation's annual meeting took place on Thursday, December 1, at Ann Arbor's historic Kempf House.

Headquartered in Lansing, Michigan, the Greater Michigan Foundation was founded in 1954 by a statewide group of leaders under the direction of the late G. Mennen Williams. The organization's purpose is to generate knowledge about Michigan's history and culture among the state's residents. For the 36th year the Foundation will be the moving force behind the state's annual Michigan Week celebration to take place next May 19-27. Former governors John B. Swainson, George Romney and William G. Milliken are the Foundation's Honorary Chairmen.

Blessed are they who pay for and read their home newspaper, for they shall hold their own when the lightning rod and bonded grain swindlers and others of that sort swoop down upon them. The curse of many towns is the number of superfluous individuals who always want to get something for nothing. Notes drawing interest, unless otherwise specified, are at six per cent instead of seven per cent, as heretofore in Michigan. It is not lawful to take a higher rate than 10 per cent, and this rate or any other over six and up to 10 per cent, must be specified.

The announcement has been made that a paper coffin has been invented and put upon the market. A man may now build his house of paper, eat his dinner from paper plates, wipe his face with a paper handkerchief, buy his wife a paper piano and go to his grave in a paper coffin. The coffin may be paid for with a piece of paper and the death notice published on another piece.

The average law breaker never considers how his name will look in print until after he has committed some offense, when he begins to realize that he would rather be overlooked by the reporter and requests or demands that no mention be made of his name. Every third person before the police justice is desirous of saving his friends and relatives the disgrace of notoriety, but he seldom thinks of them between drinks.

To boys commencing business: Be on hand promptly in the morning at your place of business, and make it a point never to be late, and perform cheerfully every day. Be respectful to your employers, and to all in authority over you, and be polite to everyone; politeness costs nothing, and it will help you getting on in the world. And above all, be honest and truthful. The boy who starts in life with a sound mind in a sound body, who falls into no bad habits, who is honest, truthful and industrious, who remembers with grateful love his father and mother, and who does not grow away from his church and Sunday school, has qualities of mind and heart that will insure his success to a remarkable degree, even though he is endowed with only ordinary mental capacity; for honor, truth and industry are more than genius.

Historical Society Christmas Party

by Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

Christmas is a time for friends to get together, and each year at Christmas time the Manchester Area Historical Society celebrates the holiday with a "Christmas Party and Cookie Exchange". Friends invited to attend include Historical Society members and their guests, as well as those of you who may not be on the official membership lists but are "friends" nevertheless. Please join us for this very warm holiday gathering.

The party is also called a "cookie exchange" because that is an equally important aspect of the occasion. Each person attending brings a generous quantity of cookies which are then served at the party. Of course there is a surplus - and those attending are invited to take a plate or two of cookies home with them in exchange for a contribution. The money received is then donated to the Manchester Family Service to make use of as needed.

Music is always an important part of the holidays and also of the Historical Society Christmas Party. There will be the traditional singing of Christmas carols. Also, a special guest will be Marianne Hill, who will provide the music for the evening on the harpsichord. Mrs. Hill is a pre-doctoral student at the U. of M. School of Music and a resident of Manchester. Her husband, Keith Hill, builds harpsichords and owns "Keith Hill Limited." They will bring with them a portable, demonstration model of one of Mr. Hill's harpsichords.

The party will be held Monday, December 19th, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Loring and Linda Ebersole, 19825 Sharon Valley Road. And you are invited. Bring some tasty cookies; bring an enthusiastic singing voice; and bring your warmest Christmas spirit!

First Annual Christmas Sing

Manchester area residents are invited to come to the gazebo, Wednesday, December 21, 7:00 p.m. to sing Christmas Carols. Join in a gathering such as might have been in the Little Town of Bethlehem at Christmas many years ago. As we gather to sing "O Christmas Tree" we can draw our attention to the beautiful decorated tree in the park. The Men's Club will provide gifts of hot chocolate and warmth as did the Wisemen who brought gifts as they celebrated with angels who chanted "The First Noel." Mr. Richard Kuntz will lead the harpsichord. Mrs. Hill is a pre-doctoral student at the U. of M. School of Music and a resident of Manchester. Her husband, Keith

Nicholas Meyer, Jon Way and Chris Gilbert take their turn to paint the "cardboard ring" tree that will be used to decorate the gym for the Senior Citizen Dinner Dec. 16th.

The 3rd and 4th graders at Klager School are preparing for the Senior Citizens' Dinner to be held at Klager School on December 16th. At 10:30 the students will perform selections from the Holiday Program. At 11:30 guests will be given a guided tour of the
