"Project Graduation"

Boxing Champion Michael Moorer of Detroit (right) joins Laura Meister and Lance Fielder of Manchester High School at a recent rally for Project Graduation.

Students from nearly 300 Metro-area high schools, along with parents and other civic volunteer groups, recently kicked off Project Graduation, a series of statewide activities that will promote alcohol-free and drug-free prom and graduation activities.

Project Graduation is a nine year old program conducted nationally to combat substance abuse among teenagers. It also conducts awareness programs in schools that inform students about the dangers of drinking and driving.

Earlier this month, Governor James J. Blanchard declared March as Project Graduation Month, and urged parents and school officials to make students aware that drunk driving is the single leading cause of death among teenagers.

While Project Graduation primarily focuses on year-end activities for students, members also conduct awareness programs throughout the entire year, said Steve White, AAA safety education consultant and chairperson of Michigan's Project Graduation.

Statewide groups supporting Project Graduation include Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), AAA Michigan, Seven-Eleven Food Stores, National Council on Alcoholism, Prevention Network, Delta Sigma Theta sorority, Michigan Junior League.

Pledge For A Safe Prom

Michigan SADD will be sponsoring a pledge sign-up for all Manchester High School seniors Monday, April 10th, and Tuesday, April 11th beginning at 8:00 a.m. at the High School.

A pledge sheet will be available for all seniors signifying that they will not be drinking and driving on prom night, nor will they get into a car with a driver who is under the influence of drugs or alcohol. In exchange for signing this pledge, seniors will be given a free key chain. This is possible through the combined efforts of Michigan SADD, Citizens Insurance Company, and Insurance Women of Washtenaw County.

Sidewalk Ordinance

A Village Ordinance forbids skateboards, bicycles roller skates mopeds and scooters to be used on the downtown sidewalks. Violations will carry a fine of $5 for the first offense, $25 for the second offense and $100 for further disregard of the ordinance within a year. Guardians of the children who break the law will be legally responsible.

Project Health-O-Rama April 15th

Chelsea Community Hospital will be offering Project Health-O-Rama on Saturday, April 15, between 9:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m.

This year the Hospital is working in cooperation with area Community Education Coordinators to offer special transportation for seniors to and from the Hospital. Community Education offices in Dexter, Manchester, Stockbridge, Pinckney and Hamburg will provide transportation for up to twenty-five seniors to participate in Health-O-Rama. Arrangements are pending in the Grass Lake area and will be announced at a later date.

For more information about transportation contact Carolyn Supers, Manchester, 428-7804. Health-O-Rama offers a variety of free or low cost health screenings to adults age 18 and over. A number of health professionals from the Hospital's service area will assist in the screenings and health screening counseling.

Health-O-Rama is sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan, Channel 7 WXYZ-TV, and United Health Organizations. Health screening is not meant to replace a physical examination by a health care provider. It is, however, good medicine to use a screening test so that if a condition is developing, there may be a chance to detect and treat it early. Participants with abnormal test results are referred to their health care provider to receive further evaluation.

Prospecting For Gas Or Oil

Manchester Enterprise
May 26, 1887

Upon beginning operations at Adrian, the Times published an article so interesting and to the point that we here reproduce it: "The three great questions in the economy and progress of this portion of the United States are heat for man's dwellings in the rigors of our semi-arctic winters, fuel for manufactories, and light at night for streets and all classes of dwellings. The failing supply of timber and suitable wood for fuel, the grasping syndicates that control every coal mine, with the accompaniment of strikes and consequent boom in the price of anthracite and bituminous products, added to the monopoly in artificial gas and electric light, has put these problems in the last few years before our people in a light that only grows more startling as they contemplate their large bills. Cheap fuel and light and motive power must be obtained for the great majority or prosperity ends. The great water power sights of the country are all along surrounded by cities, of which Minneapolis and others are a type, and taxed to a capacity that will not admit of another wheel. The solution of the problem must therefore be found in the great natural gas centers.

Around these will gather the paper mills, glass works, the hundred forms of iron products and all those industries that require large motive power and consequent enormous amounts of fuel. Pittsburg and the Ohio town of Findlay are examples of the economic factor that gas is in colossal growth of a mere hamlet to a large and busy town, trebling its inhabitants yearly, as Findlay does, and the saving on the other hand of several millions every year by substituting gas for coal as a fuel, even when coal was cheap, and at the very mouth of the mines, as at Pittsburg."

For years Manchester people have been of the opinion that gas, oil, or mineral of some kind existed in the ground under this village and efforts have been made at different times to ascertain what it was, but the search has been of no account as the drilling was not done in a practical way and a depth of more than 100 feet was never reached.

Since the discovery and development of gas wells at Findlay and other places in Ohio, there has been more talk about the prospects of finding something valuable here, but very little is accomplished by talk and a number of our leading citizens have finally agreed to take steps to ascertain if possible what there is and in what quantities it exists.

Bank deeds or grants have been printed and if our land owners will give them encouragement by granting them the privilege of operating on their lands, it will not be long before we will know the secret. The company are securing leases this week and everyone should take hold and assist as it may be the means of booming the town. Of course nothing will be done until the land is leased as this company nor any other will attempt to invest money as long as there exists a chance for outside parties to come in and thwart their efforts.

Training Scheduled For Spring Special Olympics

Washtenaw County Special Olympics has scheduled four training sessions to prepare individuals with mental impairment for participation in the 1989 Special Olympics Spring Games. The training sessions will be held Saturday mornings from 9 am to 11 am at the Ypsilanti High School gym, beginning April 8th.

New athletes and their parents are encouraged to attend. This is the first real opportunity for those special athletes, 8 years and older, living in Washtenaw County, to participate in training and the Spring Games.

All athletes participating in training or competition must have a current Special Olympics Health Appraisal and Application for Participation on file with the Special Olympics office. Contact the Special Olympics area director at 482-5965 to receive forms and information regarding completion of the Health Appraisal.

The Washtenaw County Special Olympics Spring Games will be held Friday, May 5, 1989 at Bowen Field House on the campus of Eastern Michigan University. Entry forms to participate in the Spring Games will be available at the training sessions. The Spring Games registration deadline is Tuesday, April 18, 1989.

Order Of The Purple Heart

The Military Order of the Purple Heart, Washtenaw County Chapter 459 will meet at the Emil Jacobs Legion Post 117, 208 Adrian Street in Manchester, on Thursday, April 11, at 7:30 p.m. We would like to invite all Purple Heart recipients to our meeting. It will be an important meeting because we will elect our new officers for the coming year. We need your support, anyone who is a Purple Heart recipient.

The chapter also is running Iver Schmitt for Department senior Vice-Commander for the coming year and Gene Brown will be the up-coming National Commander, a Department of Michigan past Department Commander.

Cassidy Lake Fence Bids

State Senator Lana Pollack (D-Ann Arbor) announced Monday that the drawings for the fence to be constructed around the Cassidy Lake Technical School are done, and the specifications will be completed this week. The decision to fence the minimum security prison camp, Michigan's only unfenced prison facility, was announced by Pollack and Department of Corrections Director Bob Brown earlier this year.

The fencing job will be advertised for bids beginning April 8 with bids due on April 26 at 2:00 p.m. A walk through the premises is required of all prospective contractors. The contractor selected will then have two to three weeks to comply with the specifications after which the construction would begin. The target date for the completion of the fence is early August of this year.

Between January and mid-December of 1988 45 prisoners escaped from Lake Cassidy in spite of hourly head counts. "A fence will not completely eliminate escapes, but it will cut down on their number. Not only will the facility be more secure, but the townspeople will also feel more secure knowing that escapes will be more difficult and less likely to occur," said Pollack.

The necessary work preliminary to the construction of the fence is already underway at the camp. Three of the 10 cabins to be demolished are down.

"I am pleased with the rapid progress of this project. The people of Chelsea have tolerated escapes for far too long, and now they can look forward to some relief in the very near future," Pollack concluded.

Plans were made to have the April club meeting at Andrea Clark's home so we can observe her goats and also work on leatherscraft projects. We will also be attending the Lenawee County 4-H Style Show in the evening. The meeting will be on Saturday, April 15th from 3-5:00 p.m. and then we'll go to McDonalds for supper and on to the style revue in Adrian. Arrangements still have to be made for car pooling and those mothers who would like to attend with club members are asked to call Elaine Feldkamp to make arrangements.

There was no leader's report. We'll receive our evaluation sheets for judging at the Mother's Tea on Wednesday.

There were no demonstrations and we adjourned the meeting to work on our modeling. Jennifer Bailey gave us a handout to assist us with modeling.

Refreshments were served by Casey Widmayer and Jennifer Bailey.

The next monthly club meeting will be April 15 from 3-5:00 p.m. at the home of Andrea Clark. Demonstrations are to be given by Joelle Armentrout, Sharon Goodell and Andrea Clark. Refreshment committee chairperson is Andrea Clark. If you can drive to Adrian on the 15th of April please call Elaine.

"You cannot know today what will be significant tomorrow," began Sandy Balkema, writing instructor at Ferris State University and guest lecturer last Thursday at the Manchester Township Library's most recent meeting of the Spring Reading and Discussion Series. She continued, "And when you read diaries and letters from the past, you see what people thought was significant then."

Suppose you did not know this letter would be kept, saved and published in 50 years. Then what would you write? About the flu your children just got over? About the High School play? About a special person's recent passing?

"Letters of a Woman Homesteader" may or may not have been so self-consciously written. The readers present last Thursday differed on this point. However, you may judge. The book is still available from the Library even though the group discussion of it has been completed.

Available too are copies of the next book in the Series, "Dust Tracks on a Road", the autobiography of Zora Neale Hurston. The guest lecturer will be Martha Stoner, instructor at the University of Michigan - and Manchester resident.

All are welcome to join in the reading and discussion of this work. The group will meet Thursday, April 13th, at 7:30 p.m. at the Blacksmith Shop, 324 East Main. Attendees change with each meeting so no one need feel strange. There are always some new faces and always many familiar faces. The Manchester Township Library urges you to enjoy an evening of listening and discussing with your friends and neighbors - and an informed lecturer - when the group next meets.

The lecturer concentrated most of her comments on the subject of writing journals and letters. Dr. Balkema encouraged us all to keep diaries in order to place ourselves in history.

Supposing you knew that a letter you were planning to write was going to be kept, saved for 50 years, and then it would be published. People reading it then would receive an impression from it of what life was like in the last part of the 20th century in this part of America.

Would you tell about the drought last summer? Would you talk about the upcoming celebration the Historical Society is planning to remember George Washington's Inauguration 200 years ago? Would you describe the businesses on Main Street and the possibility of growth in Manchester?

At times the letters read somewhat like a political treatise. "To me, homesteading is the solution of all poverty's problems, but I realize that temperment has much to do with success in any undertaking, and persons afraid of coyotes and work and loneliness had better let ranching alone." But her message seemed to have enchanted all at the Discussion meeting.

AUTO ADVICE

If the thought of buying a used car leaves you in a cold sweat, there are several steps you can take to help you get the best possible car for your money and quite possibly a lot more car than you expected. According to Thomas Knighten, resale operations manager for BMW of North America, Inc., buyers should remember the following tips when purchasing a pre-owned car:

- Buy from a reputable dealer, preferably one that sells and services new cars. Those dealers usually have the facilities to ensure that the car is in good condition, and can handle any problems that arise after you've driven the car off the lot.
 - Look for signs that may indicate that the car has been in an accident or is beginning to rust. Look under the hood and check for excess oil in the engine compartment—it signals that the car has an oil leak. Also look at the ground underneath the car for any signs of fluid leakage.
 - Check the interior to make sure that all accessories, such as power windows and air conditioning, are in good working order. Finally, take the car for a test drive before buying it.
 - Read the warranty carefully to see what the dealer's obligations are, as well as your own.
- According to Knighten, buying a used luxury automobile is a good way to get the car you really want while staying within your budget. "There are many quality pre-owned

Health Alert: Rabies

Although rabies is traditionally thought of as a disease that plagues wild animals and stray dogs, hundreds of pets die from rabies every year.

Over 500 of the 4,729 cases of rabies reported in the U.S. during 1987 were found in domestic animals, including 336 cats and dogs, according to Dr. John Briddell. Dr. Briddell is a veterinarian with Pitman-Moore, Inc., one of the world's largest producers of animal health products.

Those infected pets and livestock, in turn, expose owners, families and friends to rabies, a disease not only fatal to the animal, but also to people.

An immunized pet population creates a protective barrier between rabies-infected wildlife and people, Briddell explained.

"Rabies may be spread readily from infected wild animals to unimmunized domestic pets and then to humans. The virus is transmitted through saliva. Having an open scratch and being licked by an infected animal leaves a person exposed," he said.

Vaccinating pets costs only a fraction of what it might cost to luxury cars available, and a program such as BMW's Quality Continuation Plan assures buyers of select BMWs that they are purchasing a car in top condition," he said.

Any current model BMW or any model up to five years old with fewer than 75,000 miles is eligible for the comprehensive 12-month/12,000-mile limited warranty program. Before a car is accepted into the program, it must pass a thorough 42-point check that measures everything from cylinder compression to the percentage of brake pad and lining remaining.

"The limited warranty coverage is included in the price of the vehicle and differs from a service contract, which is purchased after you buy the car," stated Knighten. "There is no deductible, and coverage includes parts and labor. And all parts are replaced with genuine BMW parts or remanufactured parts," Knighten added. Other benefits include compensation for a rental car, towing, roadside service and trip interruption benefits, should your BMW require service when you are away from home.

All the benefits of the warranty can be transferred to another owner, should you wish to sell your BMW. The coverage also can be extended to 36 months/30,000 miles for an additional charge.

If you're an alert consumer, you can purchase a good used car. In fact, you may even be able to purchase the car of your dreams.

treat family members and others who may come into contact with the rabid pet.

"There is no cure for rabies, only prevention. Once an animal is infected and develops symptoms, it is only a matter of time until it will die. In the meantime, if your pet is infected, your family, neighbors and friends may be exposed."

"Vaccinating your pet is the most effective way of preventing rabies from coming into your home," Briddell said. "It's as simple as taking your cat or dog to your local veterinarian for its vaccination. It's not just for the pet's protection, but for yours too," he said.

Easter Celebration At Preschool

Dyeing Easter eggs with the M-W-F p.m. class

Zig Zag, the giant angora bunny with M-W-F a.m. class

Easter celebration at Manchester Preschool contained a varied assortment of fun activities. Each class had a great time dyeing their own Easter eggs. One class had an Easter egg hunt which was exciting and rewarding. The classes also made their own Easter baskets to take home. They decorated their baskets and filled them with treats, supplied by preschool parents, and with their freshly dyed eggs.

Two of the classes had a surprise visit from the Easter Bunny! Annie Wiley and her mother, Susan, brought in ZigZag, a giant angora bunny, plus three baby angora bunnies to show the M-W-F classes. Susan also demonstrated how she trims ZigZag and then spins the fur to use for making warm clothes like mittens and scarves. The children had a wonderful time throughout their Easter Party day and were especially fascinated by ZigZag and in seeing how clothes were made from bunny fur.

Resignation from Chris Deacons, Varsity Girls Track Coach was accepted.

Coaching appointments of Craig Rathon; Varsity Boys Track Coach; Ross Gilmore, Varsity Girls Track Coach; and, Elvin Johnson, 8th Grade Volleyball Coach were approved.

The Board approved a three-year agreement between the Manchester Community Schools and Michigan Association of School Boards for labor relations service at a retainer cost of $6,700 per year.

The superintendent was authorized to negotiate the sale of school district property described as Lot 4, Block 5 in the Village of Manchester to R.D. Kleinschmidt, Inc.

Distributed for Board members to review were Superintendent Appraisal forms.

Anne Gordon was appointed to the Finance Committee and Tom Golding will serve as alternate on the Executive and Finance Committees.

Pointers For Parents Camping: Selecting A Location

If your youngster likes to be in on the planning, then he or she will enjoy the hunt for a location when choosing a campsite. The first thing you'll need is a good topographic map.

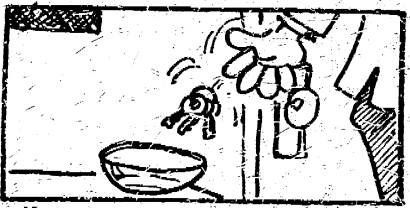

Look for a campsite on high, level ground that's sheltered from the wind.

The U.S. Geological Survey points out that a topographic map tells you where things are and how to get to them. These maps describe the shape of the land and locate such natural and man-made features such as woodlands, waterways and bridges. Here are some tips on selecting a location:

- If you're not staying at a campground, look for a site on high, level ground that is uncluttered and sheltered from the wind.
- The campsite should be at least 200 feet from hiking trails, scenic attractions and water.
- The tent should be pitched in sandy soil that is firm enough to hold the stakes securely but still supply good drainage.

With a good map, which you can find at your nearest map dealer, and a good campsite, your camping vacation should be fun for the entire family.

If you tend to misplace door keys, put a hook right near the door or keep a small bowl on a table near the entrance. Drop the keys there as soon as you come in.

TIPS ON TRIPS

"Getting away from it all" is something Americans will be doing in increasing numbers in 1989. This spring and summer more than 70 million people are expected to visit America's national parks to escape the stresses of everyday life and to enjoy the majestic scenery of the great outdoors.

But how do you get away from it all without taking everything but the kitchen sink? Campers and backpackers often use easy to prepare items like dehydrated fruits and vegetables, but many are discovering that a product they use at home is also great for the campsite.

Besides being great-tasting and easy to prepare, products such as Nissin's Cup O'Noodles are easy to carry and easy on the pocketbook. They provide a quick, hearty meal in seconds by just adding hot water. No additional ingredients or preparation is necessary.

Because it comes packaged in its own container, there is no need to take along bulky mess kits or heavy cooking utensils. And anyone who has hiked carrying canned foods in a backpack will appreciate that a package weighs just over two ounces.

This year, Nissin is a charter sponsor of California's Yosemite National Park and will be contributing to its preservation and upkeep throughout 1989. Nissin also is sponsoring Grand Canyon National Park in 1989 and will be prominently featured in the 1989 issue of Grand Canyon Magazine.

Dried fruits and nuts are great snacks, but outdoor activities often work up an appetite too big for a snack to satisfy. So pack plenty of Nissin's Cup O'Noodles for your next camping outing, it's an ideal meal for the great outdoors.

Consumer Protection Law

A new consumer protection law designed to further reduce odometer fraud takes effect April 1 and Secretary of State Richard H. Austin is urging buyers and sellers of used vehicles to become familiar with its provisions.

Under Public Act 470 of 1988, odometer tampering is upgraded from a misdemeanor to a felony. This change increases the likelihood that prosecutors will be willing to bring charges against individuals accused of odometer tampering.

"Over the past several years, we have enjoyed tremendous success in detecting and acting against odometer tampering and misrepresentation," Secretary Austin said. "This new law provides another enforcement tool which will allow the Department of State's Bureau of Automotive Regulation, the Attorney General, county prosecutors and other authorities do a better job of eliminating odometer fraud."

In addition to making odometer fraud a felony, the new law requires persons selling a used vehicle to a dealer or another individual to write in the vehicle's mileage, as shown on the odometer, when completing the title statement on the back of the vehicle's title. Failure by the seller to fill in the mileage statement on the title could make them subject to a misdemeanor charge.

Finally, as of April 1 automobile dealers must show the purchaser a used vehicle's title and any title reassessment documents belonging to the vehicle, marking the first time that buyers will have easy access to a vehicle's title history before they purchase it. Currently, dealers are only required to give mileage disclosure statements on separate forms.

Ten Free Blue Spruces

Ten free Colorado blue spruce trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during April, 1989.

"Colorado blue spruces were selected for this campaign because of their many uses in the home landscape," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. "They lend beauty to their surroundings with their silver blue-green color and compact conical shape. They can be used as individual ornaments, an energy-saving windbreak, a privacy screen, or as living Christmas trees."

The trees will be shipped postpaid in April or May with enclosed planting instructions. The six to twelve inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to TEN BLUE SPRUCES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by April 30, 1989.

Early Identification of Hearing Problems in Children Essential

The harmful effects of childhood deafness are given little thought by many people because deafness is largely an invisible handicap. Most deaf infants are otherwise healthy-looking babies who develop relatively normally during the first year of life. But if deafness is not discovered in that first year... it can interfere tragically with the ability to learn to speak, to do well in school and to contribute productively to society. Helen Keller, who was born without sight or hearing, observed that she regretted her deafness more than her blindness.

Deafness in infants is a serious concern because it interferes with the development of language—that which sets humans apart from all other living things. The longer a child's deafness goes undiscovered, the worse the outcome is likely to be. Language remediation, which is what specialists call the process of teaching hearing impaired children to communicate, must begin as early as possible, because language develops so rapidly in the first few months of life. For example, by six weeks, a normally hearing infant is more attracted to human speech than to any other sound. A six-month-old baby already has an ability to analyze language—to break those parts back together again and to store language in its brain and retrieve it. By 18 months, most children are producing simple sentences.

Fortunately, many of the negative results of deafness in babies can be prevented or substantially lessened. Many research studies have demonstrated that early intervention with hearing impaired children results in improved language development, increased academic success and increased lifetime earnings. Early intervention actually saves money, since hearing-impaired children who receive early help require less costly special education services later.

If it is to be effective, early intervention with deaf children should begin before the child's first birthday. Unfortunately, we are not doing a very good job of detecting infant deafness in the United States. A recent report to Congress and the President by the Commission on Education of the Deaf pointed out that the average age at which profoundly deaf children in this country are identified is 2 1/2 years. In contrast, the average age at which such children are identified in Israel and Great Britain is 7 to 9 months.

Clearly, we must do a much better job of early identification if we are to reduce the unnecessary suffering, poor educational performance and lack of productivity that so often accompany deafness. Three groups of people must work together.

Parents are in the best position to identify their child's hearing difficulties. We need to do a better job of making parents aware of the danger signals and of the sources of help that are available to them.

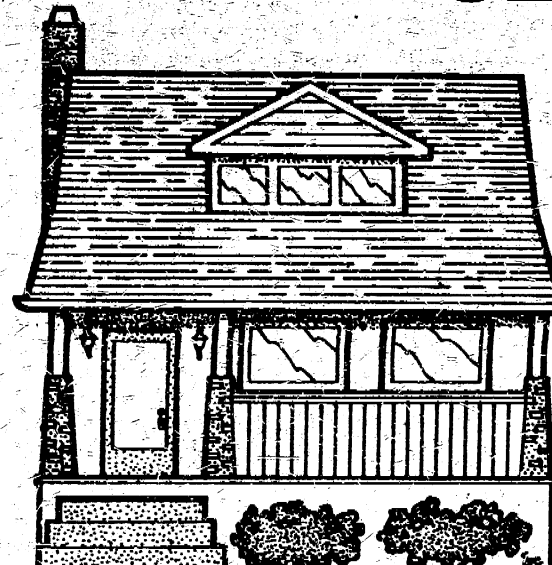

Physicians need to become more responsive to parents' concerns about their child's hearing. Too often, those concerns are brushed aside or ignored. A recent study found that parents of hearing-impaired children knew about their baby's hearing loss an average of seven months before it was diagnosed and that almost half of them were given poor advice, such as "don't worry about it" or "wait until the child starts school," when they told their doctors about their concerns.

State agencies can help by initiating high-risk screening programs, such as those currently in operation in Utah, Colorado, Oklahoma, Tennessee and several other states. Research indicates that such programs are able to identify up to 75 percent of infants who are born deaf or with hearing impairments.

Many others can help, too, of course, from older brothers and sisters to grandparents and baby sitters. We in the federal government are committed to doing our part. The 1986 Education of the Deaf Act, which authorized the creation of the Commission on the Education of the Deaf, was a first step. At the National Institutes of Health, a new research institute, the National Institute of Deafness and Communication Disorders, has been authorized and is now in formation.

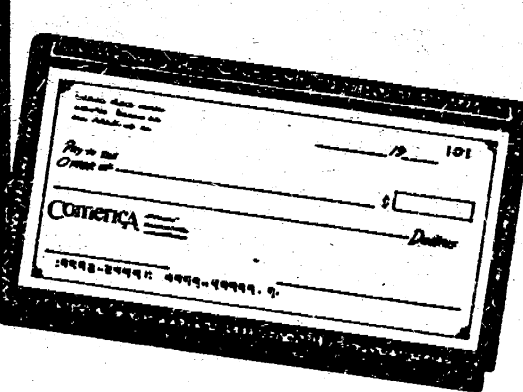

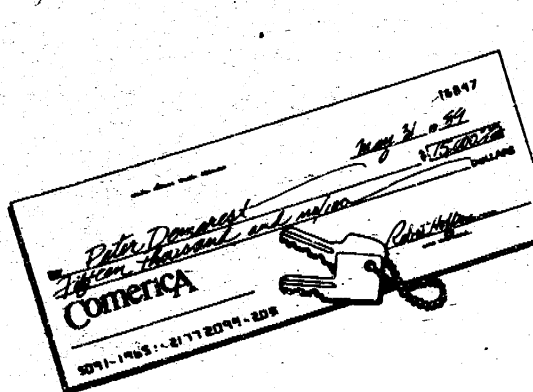

I am optimistic. I foresee a time in this country, in the near future, in fact, when no child reaches his or her first birthday with an undetected hearing impairment. It's a tall order, yes, but if we all work together, I believe we can fill it.

IF YOU CAN'T FILE ON TIME, REQUEST AN IRS EXTENSION

The good news is that the deadline for filing your tax return this year is April 17, two days later than usual. The bad news is that the due date is only two weeks away.

If you are still rushing to put your tax records in order, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you consider applying for a filing extension. After all, deadline anxiety can make you sloppy and careless—and even small mistakes, like failing to sign your tax return, can be costly. In most cases, the average taxpayer will benefit more by applying for a filing extension than by filing a hastily prepared return.

Don't worry that an extension will increase your chances of an audit. CPAs say that such fears are not based on facts. On the other hand, they warn that the IRS may pay closer attention to a return that lacks proper documentation, such as a W-2 form, or is fraught with mathematical errors.

How do you request an automatic extension? The process is fairly simple. All you do is submit Form 4868 by April 17, 1989, remember to submit Form 4868 if you can't file your tax return before you leave. The key term here is file, not pay. While the IRS allows an extension for filing completed tax forms at a later date, any tax due must be paid at the time you request an extension or you will face interest and possible penalty fees, including a 0.5 percent per month penalty on the net amount of tax not paid by the due date. However, the overall penalty cannot exceed 25 percent of the tax due. In addition, the IRS will charge 11 percent interest (the rate changes on a quarterly basis) on back taxes.

To avoid the penalty, carefully calculate whether you have paid at least 90 percent of your tax. This can be tricky, especially if you have many deductions and several income sources. However, if you have only a few deductions and one principal source of income, the calculations are relatively simple.

To estimate whether you met the 90 percent requirement, you'll need a 1040 or 1040A form at your side. Check the W-2 mailed to you by your employer to see how much tax was withheld from your paycheck and how much income you received. Total any additional sources of income and then calculate your adjusted gross income by subtracting such items as deductible IRA contributions. Refer to your tax form and follow the next three steps.

First compare your total itemized deductions with the amount of your standard deduction (formerly called zero-bracket amount) and determine which is greater. Second, add to the higher figure the monetary value of any personal exemptions to which you are entitled. Finally, subtract the total arrived at in step two from your adjusted gross income. The amount calculated in this step will be your taxable income. Check the 1988 tax table to estimate what your tax bill will be and compare this number to the amount you have already paid through withholding or estimated tax payments. If that amount is at least 90 percent of the figure in the tax table, you are safe from the penalty.

What if you simply cannot afford to pay your tax liability at the time you file for an extension? In such cases, you can submit a second form: Form 1127. Unlike the form requesting a filing extension, this one requires you to document the details of any

 - Preliminary review by the Subdivision and Condominium Advisory Committee (WCMP).
 - All developers are required to obtain all necessary State, County, and local approvals prior to recording a master deed.
- To be considered also is the adoption of the Model Subdivision Regulation Ordinance, as proposed by the Washtenaw County Metropolitan Planning Commission. (Dated Dec. 1970, and Revised 1971). (With the deletion of Paragraph 300.3, Subdivision Advisory Committee, and 301.3, Review Procedures, and the deletion under Paragraph 303.1 of the words "County Planning Commission".)

Also the addition and substitution of the 301.31 as follows:

"If the Planning Commission determines that there is substantial conformance, it shall transmit, after tentative preliminary plat approval, eleven (11) copies to the Subdivision Condominium Advisory Committee for technical review, and information about the preliminary plat to the Superintendent of Schools of the school district in which the proposed subdivision is to be located."

Written comments may be sent to Gabriel Dull, Chair, Bridgewater Township Planning Commission, at 12650 Clinton Road, Clinton, MI 49236, prior to the Hearing.

extraordinary hardship preventing you from paying your taxes on time. In other words, if you don't pay on time, you have to provide that you do not have the cash, capital or assets needed to pay the amount of tax owed. Arguing that you cannot pay your taxes because you need the money to purchase a new car or a trip to Hawaii will not win you a delay.

Now, let's assume that you apply for a filing extension and when August 15 rolls around, you are still unable to prepare your tax return. You can request a second extension by filing Form 2688. If granted, the second extension buys an additional two months, making the filing deadline October 15. But don't assume the second extension is automatic—this grace period is granted only to individuals proving hardship or reasonable cause. Incomplete reasons such as "illness" or "practitioner too busy" are not acceptable. You will have to supply detailed explanations, so don't count on a second extension unless you have a legitimate claim.

Remember, filing extensions are intended to help people who cannot conveniently file a return by April 17. If you are a chronic procrastinator, however, postponing the tax deadline is simply impractical. CPAs say that if you can calculate where you stand in relation to the 90 percent requirement, filing a 1040 may require just a bit more time and effort than the extension form.

Klager 20th Anniversary

Noah Gordon and Jon Pilarski stand by the school plaque of Luther C. Klager Elementary School. The 20th year celebration of the school will be held on April 16th from 2:00 to 4:00.

In 1969, Luther C. Klager Elementary School opened its doors to students for the very first time. Many students, parents, teachers, community members, administrators and board members have since walked through those doors. In honor of this special twenty-year anniversary, an open house is being planned. The Klager 20th Anniversary Open House will be held on Sunday, April 16th from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. at the school. All community members are invited to attend. Guests will have the opportunity to visit the classrooms, tour the school, see displays of yearbooks, pictures and awards and chat with former friends. Many memories of the past 20 years can be shared.

Health-O-Rama April 19 - Saline

Saline Community Hospital will present Health-O-Rama from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Wednesday, April 19, at Dimensions Fitness and Education Center, 400 Bemis, Saline.

Health-O-Rama offers a large number of health screenings for such factors as blood pressure, diabetes, cardiopulmonary function, vision, nutrition and blood cholesterol levels. There's also information on health-related topics.

No appointments are necessary. The tests are free with the exception of blood analysis, $10, and colo-rectal cancer self-test kit, $3.

If you plan to have the blood analysis, do not eat four hours prior to the test for best results. You may have water, plain tea or plain coffee. Continue taking all prescribed medications.

Health-O-Rama parking is available at Dimensions. Additional parking with shuttle bus service to Dimensions will be available from the rear parking lot of Leutheuser's 413 E. Michigan, from 7:00 to 11:00 a.m. and 4:00 to 7:00 p.m.

The V.I.P. Advantage van will provide door-to-door transportation service for seniors. Reservations must be made in advance. For van service, call 429-1511 or 1-800-622-5592.

Lin Fox Heads Family Program

Lin Fox has been named director of the family program for Greenbrook Recovery Center, the chemical dependency treatment program at Saline Community Hospital.

Fox has been with the Greenbrook program for five years, first as a therapist then as a clinical supervisor. She has a masters in social work from the University of Michigan and is a state certified social worker.

In her new position, Fox said her first priority will be to strengthen the present family program which provides education and treatment for the family and close friends of those enrolled in the Greenbrook. She predicts there will be more interaction with the families of the chemically dependent people in treatment.

Claire Reck Memorial Scholarship Founded

In honor of Claire Reck, Wayne and Sue Hamilton together with the Manchester Stamping Corporation have begun a new scholarship fund. The Claire Reck Memorial Scholarship, in the amount of $2500, will be funded by the Manchester Stamping Corporation. It will be given to one graduating senior each year at Manchester High School who best fills the following criteria: 60% consideration will be given for service to the community of Manchester and 40% consideration will be given to high school academic performance. The scholarship must be used for attendance at a four-year college or university.

Claire Reck was a model and inspiration to all of us in Manchester. This scholarship is founded on the belief that it is important to encourage our young people to reach out beyond themselves as Claire did. We cannot exist just for ourselves. It is hoped that this educational opportunity will be a vital sign of the importance of sharing life generously with others.

Applications for the scholarship can be picked up in the high school guidance office. They are due back in the guidance office no later than Friday, April 28th. The award will be presented at the graduation ceremonies on Sunday, June 4th.

This is the beginning of what we hope will be a long standing and important scholarship program for the students of Manchester. If any other area business or organization, in the spirit of Claire Reck and community service, would like to contribute a matching amount to enhance this scholarship fund you are asked to call Wayne Hamilton at Manchester Stamping.

A German School

Manchester Enterprise
October 29, 1874

Many of our German fellow citizens have long felt the need of a school where their children could acquire a thorough German education. They feel that it is very important that they should first learn the German as they will naturally take up the English. And they accordingly held a meeting and find that they can obtain about forty scholars to attend their school, each being assessed to pay the expense.

A meeting of the school board was held a few evenings since, which was attended by two or three of the prime movers in the matter, who asked the privilege to repair the old school building, on the public square, and use it for that purpose. The Board granted their request, provided they pay the expense of all repairs.

We understand that they met with some opposition, that the property holders near the building object to the building of out-houses as they will be so near their residences. In view of the objection, the Germans have proposed to buy a corner lot near the German Lutheran church, and the church society have held a meeting this afternoon to take action in regard to assisting in the matter.

We learn that the parties have engaged a gentleman as teacher, should they go ahead with the movement, at a moderate salary, and he has been a teacher in Germany for some thirty years. No doubt, they have done remarkably well. As we understand it, any one can send their children to this school, if they live up to the rules and pay their proportion of the expense. We think this is a good movement, as there are plenty of our children who are graduating every year, with no knowledge of German language which is so essential to the qualifications of a business man at the present day.

(Dec. 17, 1874) The German school has commenced and is now in fine running order. They occupy the Lutheran Church.

Benefit Banquet Wednesday, May 10

Two things often make our world a better place to live in: first, people who give of themselves unselfishly for some common good - not as a job or duty, but simply because they care; and second, giving recognition to the good another has done and honoring them for it.

On Wednesday, May 10, a Benefit Banquet for the Community Resource Center will be held at which "Outstanding Community Volunteers" will be honored. Organizations, churches and clubs throughout the area have been sent letters from the CRC asking them to nominate that person within their organization whom they feel deserves recognition for their volunteer work.

If you feel strongly that someone's tireless efforts should be recognized in this way, make sure you contact a board member of the group you are involved with. Ask them about nominating that individual for Outstanding Community Volunteer.

All those nominated are to be honored. In addition, a screening board headed by Gov. John Swainson will review the list of nominees and select one to receive the "1989 Outstanding Community Volunteer Award."

Organizations have received all the information about the procedure for nomination. The Banquet will be held at Webers and will include dinner, an awards ceremony and entertainment by musicians from the High School band. It is hoped participating organizations will sponsor their nominee's attendance. More details on the Banquet will be forthcoming.

But now is the time to let your Board know if there is a particular person you think they should remember for their outstanding volunteer efforts. The deadline is April 21 for returning the Outstanding Volunteer Nomination forms to the CRC. Think about it.

Historical Society

James W. Craven, book and paper conservator at the University of Michigan's Bentley Historical Library, will speak at the next meeting of the Washtenaw County Historical Society, Sunday, April 16, 2:00 p.m. at the Bentley.

Craven's presentation will focus on the disastrous fire at the U of M's Economics Building during the 1981-82 Christmas break and how they retrieved and preserved the papers and books involved in that fire.

The Bentley Library is located at 1150 Beal on U of M's north campus near Veterans Hospital. The meeting is open to the public and free of charge. Free parking is available across the street.
