

Farm Bureau Praises Department Of Agriculture

The head of the state's largest farm organization this week praised the Michigan Department of Agriculture for its recent action regarding the safety of the state's food supply and especially apples. "The Michigan Department of Agriculture has taken a responsible position in this highly emotional issue," said Jack Laurie, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau. "By conducting its own tests, the department has confirmed that Michigan growers are marketing an apple crop that is safe for consumers." On March 17, MDA Director Paul Kindinger issued a statement which said test results showed the state's apple supply is safe. Tests of apple products showed residues of the growth enhancer Alar far below the government's recommended levels. "It is the role of such agencies as the federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and the Michigan Department of Agriculture to assure we have a safe and wholesome food supply, not groups such as the Natural Resources Defense Council," Laurie said. Laurie also praised recent actions by U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yeutter, FDA Commissioner Frank Young, Surgeon General Everett Koop, and Environmental Protection Agency Acting Deputy Administrator John Moore in assuring the public that it is safe to consume apples and apple products. The American Farm Bureau Federation's board of directors, of which Laurie is a member, issued a statement on March 17 charging that the Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC) acted irresponsibly by knowingly using data rejected by a scientific review panel as the basis for its attack on apples and apple products. The board also criticized CBS for further misleading the public by failing to include the views of leading members of the health community who disagreed with the NRDC report on its "60 Minutes" show. "We implore the anti-chemical critics to address the food safety issue in a completely honest and forthright manner," the Farm Bureau board concluded.

Here's a sharp idea: cover a piece of steel wool with cloth to make a pin cushion. It keeps the pins and needles well-honed as well.

Tragedy In Bridgewater

A Fatal Quarrel Between Father and Son

Manchester Enterprise
April 18, 1989

A shocking tragedy took place in our neighboring township of Bridgewater on Saturday last.

A good many of our readers remember the Linsley family who lived near Parson's saw mill near Saline, but who lately moved onto a small farm south-east of Bridgewater station. They are a hard lot and have become somewhat notorious for drunkenness and quarreling, in the surrounding villages. However, they have not troubled Manchester of late.

On Sunday word was brought here that the old man, David Linsley, had shot and killed his son on Saturday afternoon.

It appears that the old man has been divorced from his wife several years and lived with his son and wife. A few days ago he dislocated his shoulder and has worn his overcoat continually since, even sleeping in it. In his pocket was a revolver of the small bull dog pattern.

The two men went to a saloon on Saturday afternoon and filled themselves with beer, when a quarrel sprang up between them, and the old man claims that the son struck him in the face with a mop, that they then clinched and son reached around and took the revolver out of his pocket and as he was trying to get it away from him it was twice discharged, one shot taking effect in the young man and he died in about 15 minutes. The wife did not see the shooting but reached the men after the second shot was fired and took the revolver away from them. The young man accused his father of shooting him saying, "You have killed your only son. You have threatened to do it a good many times and now you have done it." The father made no reply, but assisted in carrying him into the house and sent for a doctor.

The hall entered the abdomen on a line with the navel and about five inches to the right, taking a downward course. It was not found at the post-mortem examination.

The father is about 60 and the son was 30 years of age.

The coroner's jury gave a verdict that David Linsley, Jr., came to his death from a pistol shot wound, but whether the pistol was in the hands of his father at the time it was discharged, the jury were unable to say.

The funeral was held on Monday.

On Tuesday, Linsley and his daughter-in-law, went to Ann Arbor where they held a consultation with the prosecuting attorney which resulted in the old man being arrested and placed in jail, on the charge of murder. His examination was to take place today before Justice Pond.

George Washington To Arrive

-Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

While we usually think of New England when we hear "Bicentennial Village," in fact our little community can officially boast that title. Manchester was so designated by the Michigan Commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution because of our participation in the five-year-long event.

On Sunday, April 30, at 4:00 p.m., the celebration continues when "George Washington" arrives by horse-drawn carriage at the Gazebo on Main Street, marking the 200th anniversary of the Inauguration of the First President.

The program will continue with a modern translation of Washington's rather flowery rhetoric. Also on hand: Scouts leading the Pledge of Allegiance; the High School Band playing music of the time; a ceremonial planting of a cherry tree to mark the event, and the placement of an inscribed marker.

The gathering is then invited to move across the street to Emanuel Church for the dedication of their new official State of Michigan Historic Marker, which designates the Church as an historic site and building. Then finally, relax with friends, and enjoy homemade cherry pie and ice cream in the Church Hall.

Senior Citizens News

I heard a giggle when I asked for the small print on our choir music to be enlarged. I said "Flow it up!" (It was also a difficult piece of music and I guess she took it literally - thus the giggle.) The jargon of newspapermen and printers still flows in my blood, along with mats, cuts, forms, presses and linotypes. On an Ann Arbor News tour some time ago, I discovered they do most of their manual labor these days by computer, but it was fun to watch the big presses still at work. Printer's devils are probably archaic, too - so where does that leave me? No matter, I still enjoy our local paper down to the last line. Thanks.

No senior meal on Thursday, April 20.

Chore Day is scheduled for Saturday, April 22 from 9:00 a.m. to noon by members of the National Honor Society. They will help you with spring chores around your home, but you must call Rubena Boelter (428-8655) to place your name on the list of seniors who wish help. At 5:30 p.m., pickup begins to go to Chelsea for the Kiwanis Travelog: "Spectacular US '89, Canada to Mexico." Call Erma Alber at 428-8707.

Tuesday, April 25: Blood pressures will be taken by one of our nurses at 11:00 a.m. Jan and crew will serve veal Italian at 12 noon. At 12:30, a health talk will be given on "Exercise for the Heart" and Center activities will follow.

Wednesday, April 26: Seniors will leave at 11:30 a.m. for Whitmore Lake Convalescent Home and take lap robes and walker bags which have been prepared. Give Erma a ring and go along. The green, green everywhere heralds the arrival of spring in earnest and the trip will be more worthwhile by your presence.

Thursday, April 27: Chuck roast is on the menu (who doesn't like this, especially when Jan is nearing that magic one hundred meal mark?). Bingo will be enjoyed, too. Come one and all to Freedom Township Hall at 8:00 p.m. for the senior sponsored card party on this date and enjoy, enjoy!

EYE FACTS

How often should you have your eyes examined? If you are over 50, in your teens or a school-aged child, you should have an annual eye exam. Once every two years may be all you need if you are in your twenties, thirties, or forties. Children should have their first eye exam before entering school. Since vision may change rapidly during the school years, annual exams make good sense. After the age of fifty, yearly exams are needed to detect signs of eye disease early and keep pace with changes in vision that occur naturally with age.

The Manchester Township Library's third book discussion program was held at the Blacksmith Shop last Thursday evening. The lively discussion was led by Manchester resident, Dr. Martha Goff-Stoner of the University of Michigan English Department. She was able to provide many insights from her reading of other books and writings of the author, Zora Neale Hurston, whose autobiography, "Dust Tracks on a Road" was the evening's fare. Since the book was not a typical chronological account of the author's life, it was helpful to have hand-out photocopies of a chronology taken from her literary biography and to learn that she had not wanted to write her story but had felt pressured to do so, perhaps because her life so aptly illustrated the rewards available to those who pursued "the American dream." Born in an all-black community in northern Florida in 1901 and orphaned at 15, she nonetheless persevered in her writing and studying until she graduated from Barnard College in 1928 and became prolific author and respected anthropologist. However, she died in poverty in 1960 and was rediscovered and republished in the 1970's and 90's before reaching a wider audience and becoming an inspiration to a new wave of black women writers. One of them, Alice Walker, was quoted as believing that in her autobiography she was writing for, even preaching to, a white audience. When the book was first published in 1945, she had been required to rewrite two of the chapters which were considered by the editors to be too radical. The chapters as originally written are included in the appendix of the recent edition. It appeared to be the consensus of the score or more present that the original versions might better have been restored to their intended place and the rewritten ones relegated to the appendix. Not only had they become less controversial in the intervening forty-plus years, it was agreed they provided a continuity felt to be missing in the book as printed. The discussion continued as refreshments were served by members of the Library Board.

On Thursday, April 27, the book to be discussed will be "My Life" by Isadora Duncan, pioneer in the field of modern dance. The discussion leader will be Harriet Berg, teacher of Dance History at Marygrove College in Detroit and president and founder of the Isadora Duncan Centennial Society. She will be bringing letters, pictures and slides to further illustrate the author's life. Copies of the book are available at the library for those who wish to read it before attending the program. However, it is not mandatory that attendees have read the book to be discussed.

Badge Day At Klager

While Kevin Sahakian-1st grade, Lori Anderson-2nd grade, Jon Pilarski-3rd grade and Tonya Ward-4th grade wore the most badges (approximately 250 between the four of them) many Klager students enthusiastically participated in the annual Chapter One Badge Day.

Klager Elementary students came clanking down the hall last Friday morning with some of them slightly dragging from the weight of the many badges they wore for Chapter One's badge day. Many shapes, sizes and colors were the background for a variety of slogans which kept students and teachers busy reading.

Gardening Hints Help Your Back

The sunshine may have you ready to take your shovel in hand and spend the day in the yard, but don't let your weekend gardening plant the seed for aches and pains.

Dr. Gary Golden, Alexandria, Virginia, and Dr. Michael Zeigler, Silver Spring, Maryland, warn that trimming your bushes and tending your plants may not be as risk free as you think. Muscle injuries can easily occur if you overexert after months of winter inactivity or use the wrong kind of tools.

Keep these safety suggestions in mind as you start spring planting:
• Use long-handled tools to keep you from bending while raking, digging or mowing. Pushing or pulling in a bending position can strain shoulders and lower back.

• When lifting dirt and debris, let your knees help carry the load. Keep your back straight and bend your knees when shoveling.

• Switch hands frequently while raking, hoeing, or shoveling. This prevents prolonged strain on one side which can cause muscle spasms.

• Pace yourself. Don't try to do too much in one day.

• Don't work too long in any one position. When your muscles feel tired, stop and take a rest or leisurely walk.

Just remember, give yourself the same care you give your garden, and you will be in great shape when it blooms!

FB Opposes Wage Hike

Congress should reject legislation increasing the federal minimum wage because it would eliminate jobs, increase unemployment and raise the cost of food to consumers, according to Michigan Farm Bureau's director of public affairs, Al Almy.

The House and Senate labor committees have approved similar versions of Farm Bureau-opposed legislation (S. 4 and H.R. 2) raising the federal minimum wage from $3.35 an hour to $4.65 an hour. Almy said the increase would eliminate jobs, particularly for low-skilled, inexperienced and minority workers. It would produce upward pressure on all wages paid and that will increase prices of agricultural products, he said.

"The national average hourly wage of $4.87 that farm workers receive is already above the proposed increase," Almy said.

"Raising the minimum wage would have a serious impact on agricultural employment, where four-fifths of those employed are in seasonal jobs, and where the piece-rate system of wages is common. If piece rates have to be increased substantially to make it possible for the less-skilled, less-experienced workers to earn the new hourly minimum, farmers will look for workers with greater skills and experience and decrease the number hired."

Almy said Farm Bureau has asked U.S. Representatives, "if an increase in the federal minimum is inevitable," to support amendments that would reduce the amount of the increase proposed by the committees and provide for a training wage considerably less than the new minimum.

IRS Audit? Know Your Rights!

In 1988, Congress passed the Technical and Miscellaneous Revenue Act (TAMRA) to correct some provisions in the Tax Reform Act of 1986. The TAMRA provides a "Taxpayer's Bill of Rights" which protects taxpayers when they are called by the IRS for an audit.

Manchester Township

Special Board Meeting
April 3, 1989

If you are audited this year, you should know that you have these rights:

- If you are called in to explain a certain deduction, you must answer questions pertaining to that deduction only. If the auditor asks you questions regarding any other part of your return, you do not need to answer.

- If, during the interview, you feel you must consult with a tax advisor, the auditor must stop the interview and allow time for you to seek advice.

- You are allowed to make an audio recording of your audit interview, as long as both you and the auditor are aware that a recording is being made.

- If you prepared your return based on inaccurate written information from the IRS, you are not required to pay interest and penalties for the error.

- TAMRA now requires a 30-day waiting period before the IRS can put a lien on a delinquent taxpayer's property; the old law allowed only ten days' notice.

- Before the audit begins, the IRS must inform you of these rights.

The IRS audits millions of returns annually; the General Accounting Office notes, however, that 31% of these notices are sent erroneously. If you receive an audit notice, check with a tax professional who can review the IRS notice and your return.

Special meeting of the Manchester Township Board was held on the above date. Meeting opened at 7:42 p.m. with all Board members present.

Reasons for meeting: 1. Extended planning and possible determination for roads; 2. Discussion of policies and procedures.

Mann explained meeting he and Widmayer attended at the Washenaw County Road Commission. He requested a cost for 3" gravel, leveled, and brine water per mile. No information has been received yet.

Much discussion took place. The Board intends to use the entire $11,010 matching funds for 1989.

Projects I.D.#1 English Road Sharon Hollow to Noggles and I.D.#7, Tracey Rd. between Kirk and Boetger, are being considered for 1989.

Mann will check with the County Road Commission about various items.

Moved by Widmayer, supported by Uphouse to be adjourned at 9:01 p.m.

Library Friends Awakening

- Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

The "Friends of the Manchester Township Library": a quiet group, demonstrating almost imperceptible activity; a phantom-like image, based on love and good intent but limited by busy schedules and more pressing demands.

Citizens take note: the "Friends of the Manchester Township Library" is stirring, assessing its responsibilities, considering action.

Its immediate calling: continue the effort initiated by the 150 Committee to get the two Manchester Township histories (one by Annetta English, the other by Jane Palmer) into print and eventually into the hands of the many people of our community who are curious about their heritage.

Bulletin: the "Friends" group is murmuring. Speaking. Appealing. "New members - new 'friends' - old 'friends' reunited." It appears to be a simple request for any and all who love and care for our Manchester Township Library to be a "Friend."

Friendship can be demonstrated in a variety of ways, from a financial contribution to volunteer energy and activity.

The Library is a community resource of unlimited proportion: from the books on the shelves to the endless book possibilities by request through "the system".

Local leader is Marsha Chartrand, 428-9831. If you have questions or problems, please feel free to call.

from video tapes to encyclopedias; from Manchester historical papers to Used Book Sales; from the Pre-School Storytime to the Reading and Discussion Groups.

Consider being a "Friend." Either call the Library (428-8045), or simply send your name to the Library (202 W. Main) and indicate how you would like to participate. Let us know your name.

Help rouse the slumbering "Friend." And in doing so, support one of the best deals in town!

LaLeche League

Nutrition and Weaning: Breast-feeding and Beyond will be the topic of the LaLeche League of Manchester meeting on Tuesday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Debbie Spring, 105 E. Duncan St.

LaLeche League is a non-profit group of women organized to support and encourage mothers who choose to breastfeed their children. Meetings are open to all women who are interested in nursing, and help is available at all times from a trained leader who can give advice, support and information.

Local leader is Marsha Chartrand, 428-9831. If you have questions or problems, please feel free to call.

Band Boosters

Band Boosters will meet Wednesday, April 26, at 7:00 p.m. at the High School Band Room.

MANCHESTER AREA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Manchester Area Historical Society held its monthly meeting on Monday, April 17, 1989 at the Blacksmith Shop.

Everyone is invited to join us on April 30 at 4:00 p.m. to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington.

The speaker for the evening was Mr. Lee Pickitt, owner of Campus Jewelers in Ann Arbor and third-generation watch maker. He gave some interesting facts about the history of watch making in this county and showed slides of many beautiful old watches.

American watches were the best watches made and the Europeans copied them. Watch movements were made by some companies and watch cases were made by others. People picked out the movement and the case to put in. They were standardized so any movement would fit in any case.

Twentieth Century Club

We met on April 11 at the home of Jean Alber with 20 members present. New officers were voted for 1989-90: Virginia Fielder, President; Marge Scully, Vice-President; Mary A. Krzyzaniak, Secretary; and Ann Fowler, Treasurer. Our annual gift to the Manchester High Community Scholarship was agreed upon. Mary Blossom and Liz Beuerle gave an interesting program of "Household Hints" starting with some from an old southern remedy book and continuing with some that seemed more practical in today's world. Dessert was served by the hostess and Virginia Fielder.

Money Management

PUT YOUR TAX REFUND TO WORK

You may be surprised at just how many taxpayers mail their tax returns with a smile. The reason: the bottom line on their returns adds up to a tax refund. In fact, tax refunds are more common than you may think. In 1987, 75 percent of all taxpayers were whistling "I'm in the money" as they mailed their tax returns. According to the Internal Revenue Service, the amount of the average refund that same year was $904.

For some, a tax refund is an open invitation to spend recklessly. But, used properly, a tax refund can go a long way toward improving your financial fitness. Here, then, are some tips from the Michigan Association of CPAs on how to make your refund dollars count.

Pay Off A Credit Card Bill

Take a look at your credit card balances. If you have outstanding debt, one of the smartest moves you can make is to use your refund to pay off all or part of your credit card bills. The average American owes $1,600 in credit card debt. At 19 percent interest, that level of debt can cost up to $304 a year. To make matters worse, only 20 percent of the interest is tax deductible in 1989.

CPAs point out that you save more money by paying off outstanding debt than by placing the same amount in an average money market account. If you have any doubts, consider the following example. Mark plans to deposit $1,000 in a bank account earning eight percent interest. By the end of the year, he will have earned $80 in interest. However, since Mark is in the 28 percent tax bracket, that $80 will be worth just $58 after taxes. On the other hand, if Mark pays off $1,000 on a credit card bill charging 18 percent interest, he will save $180 in annual interest payments. Thus, Mark can actually save $122 more by paying off his debt rather than banking the $1,000.

Start A College Fund

For parents planning for a child's education, a tax refund can be the first step toward building a college fund. For example, you can purchase U.S. Series EE Savings Bonds for as little as $25. At 7.35 percent, the going rate until April 30, 1989, a $50 bond will double in 10 years.

Build On It

If you have already cut your credit card bills, it's time to start saving. But don't settle for an account paying six to seven percent interest. At those rates, you will barely keep up with inflation. Instead, comparison shop for an investment that offers the best yield—and the best match for your risk tolerance. With $1,000, you can begin investing in many all-weather, no-load mutual funds. For a more secure return, consider investing in a certificate of deposit with an effective annual yield of at least eight to nine percent.

Make A Contribution To An IRA

Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs) are alive and well—and may be just the place to stash your tax refund. By contributing to an IRA, you can fortify your retirement nest egg. In addition, you may still be able to deduct the contribution on your 1989 tax return if you (and your spouse) do not actively participate in an employer-sponsored retirement plan. If you are covered by a retirement plan at your job, all is not lost. Single taxpayers with an adjusted gross income (AGI) of $25,000 or less may continue to deduct up to $2,000 for an IRA. Likewise, married taxpayers with an AGI of $40,000 or less can still deduct up to $4,000 if both spouses work and each earns at least $2,000. A partial deduction is allowed for single taxpayers with an AGI between $25,000 and $35,000 and married couples with an AGI between $40,000 and $50,000. However, bear in mind that the break is phased out for joint filers with an adjusted gross income (AGI) of $60,000 to $90,000 and for single filers with an AGI of $40,000 to $55,000.

Educate Yourself

If the lack of funds has prevented you from enrolling in a course that could help further your career, your tax refund can help you scale that obstacle. In fact, enrolling in an educational course related to your current work may yield more than knowledge. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, you may be able to deduct your expenses if you meet the guidelines specified by today's tax laws.

To qualify for the deduction, you must meet one of two requirements. One, you must be required by your employer or by law to take the course in order to maintain your salary, status or job. If this is the case, make sure the educational course actually serves a business purpose. Technically, the IRS can disallow a deduction if the education qualifies you for a new trade or benefits you personally, rather than the business itself. Two, if your studies will maintain or improve skills related to your present work, the expenses are generally deductible.

CPAs EXPLAIN TAX WITHHOLDING

Eric and John earn the same salary and claim a comparable level of tax deductions and personal exemptions. In fact, the only significant difference between their tax situations is the number of withholding allowances they claim on their W-4 forms. Yet when last April rolled around, Eric received a $2,500 tax refund while John had to pay $300 in taxes.

Who is more skilled at tax planning? If your answer is "Eric," you have a lot to learn about tax withholding, says the Michigan Association of CPAs.

Withholding enables the federal government to collect your income taxes on an installment basis. The key to this process is the "Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate," more commonly known as Form W-4.

To complete this form accurately, you must estimate your annual tax liability and determine the number of withholding allowances you can claim. This year, each allowance you claim reduces the amount of income on which your employer bases your taxes by $2,000. For taxpayers in the 28-percent tax bracket, each withholding allowance translates into approximately $560 in take-home pay a year, or $47 a month.

Your goal when filling out Form W-4 is to match the amount of tax you will owe at the end of the year as closely as possible. Unfortunately, many people fail to do this. Too often, taxpayers misunderstand the purpose of withholding, fail to update their W-4 when their tax situation changes, dread estimating their tax liability, or simply cannot follow the sometimes complex instructions on the form itself.

Too Little, Too Late

Another mistake taxpayers make is asking their employers to withhold too little from their paychecks. For example, Ed and Anne bought their first home last year. To help them meet their mortgage payments, they increased their withholding by ten, which increased their monthly take-home pay by about $47. But they overestimated the tax benefits of owning a home and ended up owing more than $1,500 in federal income tax.

If your 1988 tax return socked you with an extra-large tax bill, don't let history repeat itself. This year, if you fail to set aside at least as much tax as you owed last year, or at least 90 percent of your 1989 tax liability, you will be hit with a 10 to 12 percent nondeductible penalty on the underpayment due. In other words, if your total federal tax bill comes to $10,000 but your withholding adds up to just 80 percent of that amount, or $8,000, you will have to pay the federal government $2,000 in tax plus a penalty of approximately $100 to $120 on the $1,000 underpayment.

Check Your Withholding
Accurately estimating the amount of federal income tax you need to withhold does not require the mathematical wizardry of Einstein, although Form W-4 may make you feel that way.

Too Much, Too Soon

One mistake taxpayers often make is using tax withholding as if it were a forced savings plan. Eric, for example, deliberately claimed less withholding allowances than he was entitled to so that he would receive a hefty tax refund. If you overwithhold for the same reason, you should re-think your strategy.

A big refund means you have overpaid the government and, in effect, provided Uncle Sam with an interest-free loan. What's worse, by having too much withheld from your paychecks, you may have missed an opportunity to invest that same money in an interest-bearing account. Remember, a tax refund is not a reward-it is simply a repayment of money you never owed the government in the first place.

Adjust Your W-4

If your withholding figure is way off the mark, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you update your W-4 right away. You can obtain a copy of Form W-4 from your company's payroll office, your CPA, or the IRS by calling 1-800-424-3676. To have more tax withheld, you should claim fewer allowances than you are entitled to or ask your employer to withhold more tax. Married individuals can also check the box "Married, but withhold at higher Single rate" on Form W-4. If you collect income not subject to withholding, such as interest from investment holdings or earnings from a home-based business, you may also need to make quarterly estimated tax payments.

To have less tax withheld, you should claim all the allowances to which you are entitled. If both you and your spouse are employed, you can divide the allowances between you, but be careful that you don't claim the same allowances twice. Similarly, if you work for more than one employer, don't claim the same allowances more than once.

Filing a new Form W-4 may not be on your top-ten list of fun activities, but remember this: an accurate W-4 can be the key to an anxiety-free return.
