

Farmers Cautious About LISA

Farmers are cautious about low input sustainable agriculture (LISA), according to Michigan Farm Bureau's director of public affairs, Al Almy. The Senate Agriculture Subcommittee on Conservation and Forestry held hearings last week on proposals, including LISA, to add to the conservation title of the 1990 farm bill.

"If it were as simple as reducing purchased inputs and reaping the rewards, it would have been in practice long ago," Almy said. "Farmers are willing to adopt proven advances that result from the low input concept, but the technology must be based on more than a whim and a promise. For most farmers, the current LISA concept is too vague to be widely accepted and workable on their farms. Much of the information is anecdotal and not easily or reliably transferred. Farmers don't know whether the techniques are profitable and easily adaptable."

Almy said farmers are concerned that some existing technologies which have proven effective are being ignored.

"There is real danger in diverting funds from research on integrated pest management (IPM) and best management practices (BMP) to support the 'latest solution' to all our problems. LISA is fine for the long term, but what farmers need now are BMPs and more IPM techniques that can be incorporated into current farming operations," Almy said.

In testimony before the Senate Agriculture Subcommittee, Farm Bureau called for a shifting of funds and more research to help American agriculture become more competitive in world markets, while responding to environmental concerns. Almy said Farm Bureau supports the National Academy of Science recommendation for a $500 million competitive grants program within the U.S. Department of Agriculture to boost ag research.

"Farm Bureau also supports the use of biotechnology to help solve environmental concerns, working toward advances such as disease-resistant plants, plants with nitrogen-fixing capabilities and weed-suppressing capabilities," Almy said.

"The Good Old Days"

The Cooperative Extension Service is celebrating its 75th birthday this year and that event has personnel in county Extension offices looking in their old files for a bit of history. Such a search in a Tennessee county office turned up a letter written in 1931 by the Extension agent to 4-H boys about that summer's 4-H camp.

The price for attending camp that summer was $1.50 and each camper had to bring two quilts or blankets, two sheets, towel and tin wash pan, soap, tooth brush and paste, bathing suit if he expected to swim, every day comfortable clothes, drinking cup, knife, fork, spoon and plate.

There were "hard times" on the farm in 1931 and the Extension agent recognized that some families simply could not afford the $1.50 to send their boys to camp. So, he told them they could bring food from home and pay their fee that way. He listed these foods in his letter with credit allowed toward the fee:

Three pounds of Irish potatoes-7 cents, Half a pound of butter-20 cents, Six beets-5 cents, One chicken (not less than 2 1/2 pounds) 55 cents, One pound of ham (uncooked)-30 cents, One head of cabbage-5 cents, Two dozen eggs-50 cents, One gallon of snap beans-20 cents, One pound of bacon-20 cents, One pint pickles (best or cucumber)-20 cents, Two dozen apples-20 cents, One pint of honey, jelly or preserves-25 cents,

One pound of meal-10 cents, Three pounds of flour-10 cents. You could make up the $1.50 camp fee by bringing 6 dozen eggs, or 5 pounds of ham, 30 heads of cabbage, or any combination of food that would add up to $1.50. According to the Extension agent, there would be room for only 24 boys. Imagine if all 24 took food instead of the $1.50.... 144 dozen eggs, or 120 pounds of ham or 720 heads of cabbage..... And those were the good old days?

It didn't rain! It looked like rain; it rumbled and growled with thunder; the sky darkened; maybe a few drops fell in the half hour preceding the event. But it didn't rain!

The Gazebo Concert last week was held OUTSIDE as it properly should be. The Irish Hills Sweet Adelines stopped on stage at about 7:00 and the Concert began. What fun barbershop groups are! And the Sweet Adelines are delightful interpreters of this genre. Their tunes are standard, four-part harmony, old favorites.

The up-beat mood of this group was just what was needed to chase the clouds away. And to let everyone sit back, relax, and smile with enjoyment.

When the Irish Hills Sweet Adelines finished their set (too soon, many thought), a surprise guest performer took the stage for a short set: Annie Hinkley, second grader and daughter of John and Karen Hinkley, presented a charming selection of tunes on her violin.

Miss Hinkley's composure and dedication reinforced her musical ability, and the result was a lovely moment on the Gazebo stage.

Then enter The Valley Band with Mathew Thornton, a laid back, easy going, jazz and rock ensemble. They manifested high energy, though harnessed.

Their tunes ranged from breezy jazz numbers to Van Morrison favorites. They were loud, no doubt about that. But isn't that perhaps as it should be? Mathew Thornton introduced his group members, dedicated a tune to his wife, and handled lead vocals with a casual style that mirrored the music. An enjoyable performance they gave.

Week six of the Manchester Gazebo Concert Series: varied, professional, appropriate, enjoyable. Yet another excellent program!

School Starts Friday August 25

Manchester Community Schools wishes to remind all students and parents that school begins Friday, August 25, 1989. Teachers will be reporting on Thursday, August 24, for orientation.

Superintendent Niedzwiecki stated that the date for the start of school is determined by a number of factors. The District is committed to the County-Wide School Calendar which is an effort by all the school districts in Washtenaw County to coordinate the start and ending of school, vacation periods and teacher inservice. This has a positive effect upon cross-district programs such as Special Education and Vocational Education. There is also a concern over potential make-up days due to bad weather. This year's calendar is especially affected by the fact that Good Friday is late in April and not included in the spring break, plus other vacation schedules such as the mid-winter break in February.

Mr. Niedzwiecki added that the length of the Manchester school year has the greatest impact on the calendar. The School District is committed to at least 181 days of instruction which is more than many of the neighboring schools.

The Administration and teacher representatives met to consider all the factors affecting the school calendar and came to an agreement on the 1989-90 calendar in February.

Three Manchester Boys In The "North Woods"

Manchester Enterprise December 11, 1902

Far away from home, in the wilds of northern Michigan, where primeval pine and hemlock reign in majestic monarchy and the lone wolf wanders and the bear has his den; three rebegeado boys from their Manchester home gather around the camp fire and under the mysterious spell of the moan of the wind in the pine and the cheery crackle of the fire they wander back in reminiscent mood to old Manchester days and faces and characters and as they laugh and talk and listen they fall asleep with the music of the pines in their ears and dreams of home flooding before their eyes.

These three boys, far boys they are, in truth, in spite of "Ge'oe or Prince Albert or family responsibility, meet to hunt, hunt a good appetite and succase from care and a place where thinning hair may, for a time at least, be free from further depletion. Three boys, in truth, when well out of the scrutinizing and critical gaze of client or patron or flock where pretence at business astuteness and clerical dignity may be fearlessly laid aside. Boys indeed are these three Herbert R. Earle, Ira K. Foxe and Addia Lefson.

Six hundred and fifty miles from Detroit comes Earle with an equipment which would do justice to "Teddy" in a trip to the Rockies and at Calumet, metropolis of the north he meets pharmacist and parson individuals who might readily have been taken for co-temporaries of Daniel Boone, thus they meet and the old time friendship flames anew.

"Winchester," "Marlin" and "Savage" hunting knife and hatchet, matches and compass, bacon and beans, pipe and medicine chest, with sundry lineaments, happy anticipations and growing appetite such is the outfit of the party which starts bodily out to leave civilization and insomnia far in the lurch. By train 50 miles over corduroy road bed and through the forest primeval and we are unceremoniously unloaded without the assistance of porter at the station. This station we find great at least in the particular that it has magnificent possibilities for growth but at present boasts only a name and that of rather questionable suggestiveness, viz "Faro." Now five miles via "Flander's Jumper" and Shank's horses and we are at our destination "The Foxes Hole."

Here Ira has his homestead 160 acres of as fine timber land lends itself to the nature of pine and hemlock and hard wood; rolling in nature and crossed by a fine trout stream, Bruno's Creek, a branch of the Otter River. Here the party came to a fine clearing 25x30 feet in size upon which the splendid improvement of the planting of one strawberry plant and the growing of 18 spears of timothy hay has been made.

However in the center of this "clearing" there is a well built log shanty, equipped with stove, cooking utensils, spring cets and a warmth of hospitality which can only be appreciated by one who has roamed the great woods for 10 hours on a gameless hunt, sees the sun get low in the west and early dusk settle over the woods and at last after hours of search with compass and by means of poor woodcraft strikes at the old "foot road" which takes you straight into camp and you hear the cheery sound of the voices of the boys who have the fire built and the venison stewing. This is "The Foxes Hole."

A week in the woods! In God's out-of-doors, as the new poet has it. A week in the woods, ah what exhilaration and pleasure and companionship with nature. How much that week means to the man who has sat at his desk for months, or who has been imprisoned by the druggist's exacting business, or who has been preaching and preaching and whose heart hungers for a word of message for its own needs. A week in the woods! ah, yes, better than pills, better than sleeping powders, better than a "drink just to drive dull care away." Tonic for the body and mind and soul, is this week in the woods.

Game? Well, yes, it was there in abundance, the preacher of the party saw 12 fine specimens of deer during the week and strictly attended to the etiquette of the woods by firing a parting volley in response to the "flag" of truce which these inoffensive creatures wave as they take their speedy departure. We find as all hunters declare they find, that we were encountered by a number of peculiar hindrances which excluded us for not bagging the game; no snow was the first disadvantage under which we hunted and once when the game was near and standing still in the most accommodating manner, the hunter, and it was neither the pharmacist nor the preacher this time, discovered to his dismay that although the magazine of his rifle was well filled that no shell had been thrown into the barrel. There are times which try men's

Coming Up at the Gazebo: Bands in the Neighborhood

Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

Bands from neighboring towns to the east and west will each perform on the Gazebo stage this Thursday evening, August 3, starting at 7:00 p.m.

First on will be the Napoleon Lions Club Band: Fine entertainers, talented musicians, experienced performers. This band was begun about six years ago, and they play throughout the Napoleon-Jackson area for parades and various community functions.

The Gazebo stage will feel familiar to them. Last summer they visited Manchester on Heritage Day in August and put on a fine show for a hot summer afternoon.

Several musicians in the group hail from Manchester and nearby, and three members guest performed with the Manchester Community Band two weeks ago. That's in addition to the four or so who play in both bands!

Expect a "rousing performance of classic band tunes."

Next on, from our neighbors to the east, will be the Alex Graham Jazz Collective, a quartet of Ann Arbor Community High School students led by sax player Alex Graham.

Graham was named "outstanding soloist" in the Sonny Stitt jazz competition. And bass player John Holkeboer was awarded "best bassist" at the University of Cincinnati Conservatory of Music jazz competition. Keyboardist Jim Borda and drummer Keith Walters, both also award winners, complete this group.

Community High in Ann Arbor has a tradition of highly respected and greatly honored jazz bands. The Alex Graham Jazz Collective is part of that tradition.

Their repertoire will include standard jazz, originals, maybe some dixieland, and they will play requests.

This penultimate Gazebo concert will be one of unquestionable quality. And one with appeal to truly all ages.

Next week, August 10, the final

Gazebo concert will feature The Mike Berst Ensemble, a trio playing hammered dulcimer, guitar, and bass.

These folks will close the season with a gentle concert of "romantic music from a bygone era."

And so - come one, come all! Bring lawn chairs or blankets. Bring the kids. Bring a friend. Enjoy fine music, good company, and a real sense of community. The Concert begins at 7:00 p.m. at the Gazebo on West Main Street.

SAAC

Substance Abuse Awareness Committee will meet Monday, August 7, 7:30 at the Community Resource Center.

The SAAC is a standing committee of the CRC and represents business, churches, schools, law enforcement, local governments and parents. Area residents are invited to participate with SAAC to address substance abuse issues in the community.

Cooper, McCoy and Associates, Inc. will be present to discuss a substance abuse training proposal that would offer a series of workshops to the community. The agenda will include a decision about accepting the proposal. If the proposal is accepted, implementation techniques will be planned.

Further information is available by contacting the CRC 428-7722.

Senior Citizens News

August is here and the "Mom, what can I do" days are coming to an end with school starting at the end of the month. Other summers we've chased a panther, watched a movie being made and assorted other things which kept our young and old interested. In our neighborhood, we ask "Have you seen the rabbit today?" It appears from our gardens and startles us a little. Half-grown is our adopted pet and no sign of a parent. It stood close to Rubena when a cat tried to catch it and is becoming quite tame. This is not a "peaky wabbit" as in the cartoons, but does eat half a green bean now and then, plus clover. We are getting protective, so beware all rabbit killers!

Senior citizens have time to stand on the bridge and watch the carp (about a dozen sometimes) try to get up the dam (though salmon did that). Maybe this doesn't sound as exciting as the previous summers, but we are enjoying these simple things.

Also enjoyable are the Thursday offerings: Senior men's golf and in the evenings, those delightful concerts in the park. Next winter when it is snowing and blowing, we'll think of the good old summertime in the park.

Country of Origin Labeling

Michigan apple growers are upset that the U.S. Customs Service and Treasury Department have delayed implementation of a law that requires country or origin labeling on fruit juice. The June 7 deadline for compliance was postponed, with a new date scheduled to be announced sometime before August 7. Growers claim the delay is the result of "foot-dragging" by the Treasury Department, under pressure from the processing industry.

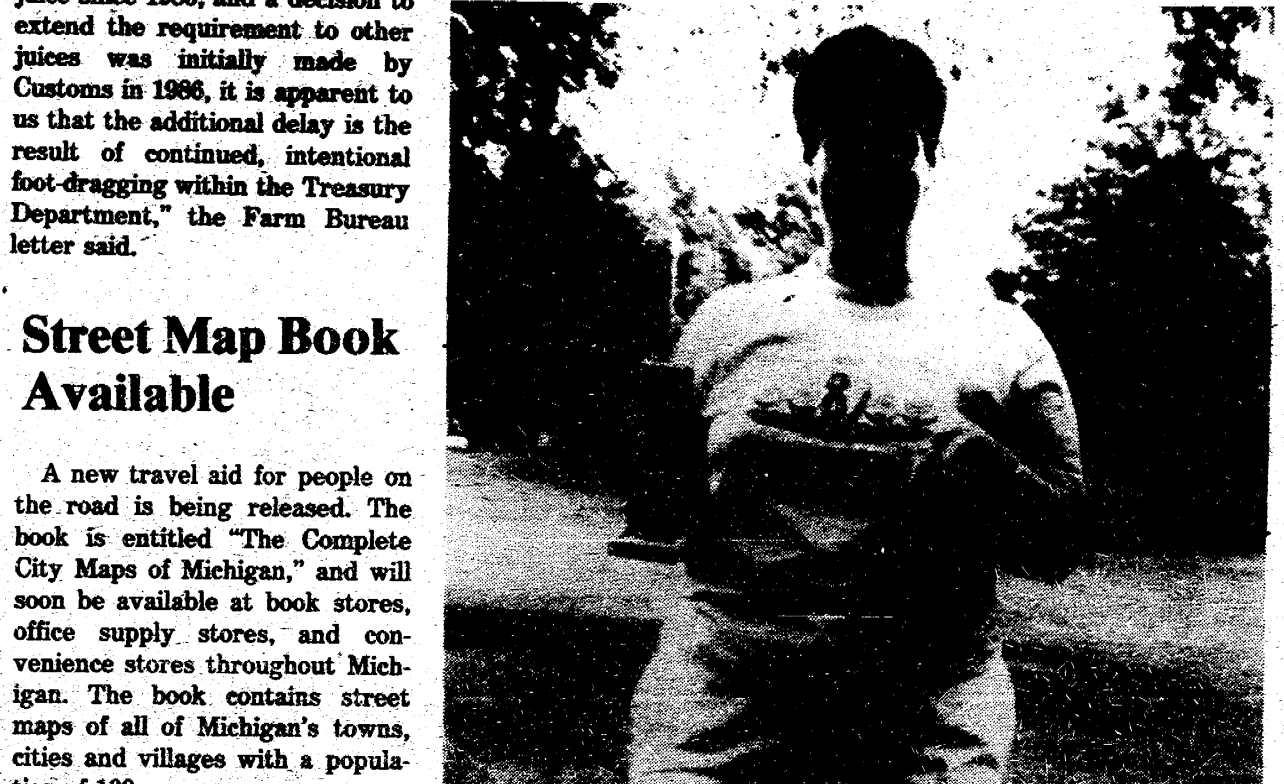

"They're dragging their feet because of heavy lobbying on the part of the processing industry," said Tom Butler, manager of the Michigan Processing Apple Growers Division of the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association (MACMA), a Farm Bureau affiliate. "The processors say consumers don't care about country-of-origin labeling. They claim they don't have the technology to allow them to print different countries on labels, which we know is absolutely not true. Some processors are worried that country-of-origin labeling will create a marketing problem for them and that's why they don't want to do it. So they're lobbying heavily in Congress to cause Customs not to implement the law."

Butler said consumers have a right to know where the apple juice they purchase originated. "Consumers at the present time cannot tell the domestic products from apple juice made from foreign concentrate. All we ask the Custom Service to do is require country of origin labeling on that apple juice to give consumers a choice whether to buy apple juice made from Michigan apples, U.S. apples, or whether to buy apple juice made from concentrate from any one of 25 different countries around the world," Butler said. "At least they would have a choice. We feel that given that choice, consumers would tend to buy apple juice made in the U.S."

Farm Bureau has sent a letter to U.S. Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady requesting his Double A was a long time employer in Manchester employing as many as 400 people. As a subsidiary of Brown and Sharpe, Double A became a leader in the fluid power industry with distributors world wide. In 1985 Double A was purchased by Vickers Inc., a Trivona company. Double A was closed in 1987.

The Double A Alumni organization was originated through the Community Resource Center in Manchester. The CRC is an outgrowth of the Double A closing and is dedicated to assessing the needs of Manchester and coordinating educational, recreational, housing and other activities.

FROM THE SURGEON GENERAL OF THE U.S. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

Make Driving A Sober Experience

By now, it should be common knowledge that drinking alcoholic beverages and driving a motor vehicle pose a serious danger to the health and safety of everyone involved. Yet, nearly one-half of the nation's traffic fatalities can be blamed on the abuse of alcohol. I don't call alcohol-related crashes "accidents." I think of them as avoidable collisions, because, in every case, at least one driver failed to make the sensible and right choice of not driving while impaired by drugs.

That's right, by drugs. Alcohol is a drug, and, like any other drug, it must be used with caution. The effects of alcohol on driving ability have been well documented. Indeed, since the invention of the automobile, it has been recognized that alcoholic beverages impair the skills and dull the senses that safe driving demands. Still, drunken driving has become one of this country's most costly public health problems. What is the price we pay for this terrible and totally unnecessary problem?

First, alcohol-impaired driving crashes are the leading cause of death for young people. We know from our research that young drivers are more likely to be involved in a car accident by the sheer fact of their inexperience behind the wheel. Alcohol only compounds the risks of crashing for young drivers.

Of course, alcohol-related crashes are not restricted to the young. All of us are victimized. If we haven't been in an alcohol-related crash ourselves, we know someone who has. Sadly, current statistics indicate that two out of every three Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related crash sometime in their lifetime. We pay a high cost for these crashes in terms of economic loss and human suffering. All of us share the economic costs—lost productivity in the workplace, property damage, insurance and medical-care costs and legal expenses. But what is the price of the emotional burden that must be borne by families whose lives have been shattered by an alcohol-related crash? If you ask, they will tell you that the price is beyond measure.

It is difficult to state with precision the amount of alcohol or the number of drinks that will make you an unsafe driver. Weight, sex, the amount of food in your stomach, the time you spent drinking—all of these factors influence your reaction to alcohol. If you drink on an empty stomach, for instance, you will feel the effects of alcohol sooner and more intensely than you would after eating a meal.

We do know that driving ability is diminished with each drink you take. In driver performance tests, even those drivers with low levels of alcohol in their systems showed diminished driving ability. Alcohol had impaired their accuracy of steering, braking, speed control, lane tracking, gear changing and judgments of speed and distance. Even the smallest amount of alcohol in the system, as little as one drink, can impair a driver's ability to respond to emergency situations.

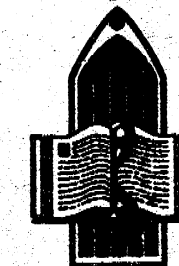

So, make the right choice when it comes to drinking and driving. Stay healthy and set a good example for others by always choosing to drive sober. Because alcohol impairs judgment, it is possible that sometime, perhaps in the near future, someone you know will be incapable of making the right choice. That person needs your help. Stop him (or her) before he gets behind the wheel and hurts himself or others. Unlike many other health concerns, the drinking and driving problem is preventable. It's time we made up our minds that the price it exacts is far too high.

Ginger Ale Sherbet

The special blending of juices and ginger ale create an iced treat you'll want to eat often throughout the summer. Go ahead and enjoy — it's low-salt, no cholesterol and has only a trace of fat.

- | | |
|------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1/2 cup water | 1 cup orange juice |
| 1 1/2 cups sugar | 1/2 cup lemon juice |
| 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten | 1/2 cup pineapple juice |
| | 3 cups ginger ale |

In a saucepan, heat the water and 1 cup of the sugar to the boiling point and cook until the syrup reaches the soft-ball stage — 234° F to 238° F.

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Continue beating while gradually adding 1/2 cup of the sugar. Slowly pour the hot syrup into the egg whites, beating constantly until mixture has cooled. Then gradually beat in the ginger ale and fruit juices.

Place in the freezer until partially frozen, then remove and whip quickly. Pour into freezing trays, cover and return to the freezer. The texture should resemble that of an Italian ice.

Yield: 8 Servings

Cooking Tip: Raw eggs separate more easily when they are cold, but to get maximum volume from egg whites, beat them when they are at room temperature.

Wedding Bells Ring

Mr. & Mrs. Brian Senkewitz

Bethel United Church of Christ was the setting for the ceremony uniting Denise Marie Kuebler and Brian Edward Senkewitz in marriage.

The April 29 service was performed by Rev. Roman Reinbeck for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Kuebler and the son of Mr. John Senkewitz and the late Mrs. Senkewitz.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of ivory peua de soie with a cathedral train and scalloped lace hemline featuring an illusion neckline, long tapered sleeves with a pouff enhanced by hand beaded sequins and pearls. The ivory satin hat accented by astin roses, lily of the valley and pearls secured the fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, freshia, ivy and pearls.

Miss Jean Kuhl of Bridgewater was maid-of-honor and Steven Kuebler of Manchester, uncle of the bride, was best man.

Bridesmaids included: Mrs. Jeff Proctor and Mrs. Steven Kuebler, aunts of the bride, Miss Linda Leutz, Miss Angela Schaible and Mrs. Tom Neff, cousins of the bride.

The attendants all wore floor length gowns of dark emerald green satin with a sweetheart neckline which dropped off the shoulder. Their cascade bouquets were made of rhubrum, lilies, red roses, white freshia, ivy and pearls.

Stan and John Senkewitz, brothers of the groom, Darryl Kuebler, brother of the bride, Jeff Mann, cousin of the bride, John Kavos, Dave and Mike Senkewitz, nephews of the groom, were groomsmen.

Stephanie and William Kuebler, cousins of the bride, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Dexter. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ball were in charge of the guest book and Mrs. John Vitale and Mrs. Dennis Steele, aunts of the bride, cut the cake.

The bride and groom honeymooned in Ixtapa, Mexico and are now residing in Manchester.

Nevertheless, in spite of these things each boy came home from the "north woods" with a nice young buck apiece all of them shot by the party but by which one is a state secret of which commodity the hunters from the north woods always return with abundant supply.

Like a school boy reluctantly dragging himself to school on a June morning so returned the boys from the "north woods" to the work of life again to earn more money and fresh laurels and to less the days when the old Manchester friendships first sprung into being and to rejoice at their renewal during the week in the woods.

Rodeo Comes to Saline

Bull riding is one of the six championship contest events to be seen when Arbor Dodge presents the twenty-fifth annual Saline Rodeo at the Saline Fairgrounds August 11-12-13.

The twenty-fifth annual Saline World Championship Rodeo, presented by Arbor Dodge and produced by the award-winning J-Bar-J Rodeo Company will be at the Saline Fairgrounds (Wash-teauw Farm Council Grounds) Friday and Saturday, August 11 and 12, at 8:00 p.m., and Sunday, August 13, at 3:00 p.m.

This rodeo is produced to appeal to the Family! There are the rough and tumble events for Dad...the pageantry, special costuming and ladies events for Mom, the Calf Scramble Stampede for the Kids...and of course, the Rodeo Clowns for Everyone!!

Produced by the J-Bar-J Rodeo Company, with its headquarters in Clare, Michigan (an unlikely place to find a major league rodeo producer), this rodeo company has received more honors than any other in the United States over the past five years. As a matter of fact, this past year the J-Bar-J Rodeo Company made a clean sweep of ALL the honors and awards by the International Professional Rodeo Association... awards and honors like: Rodeo Producer of the Year, Rodeo of the Year, Bucking Horses of the Year, Rodeo Bulls of the Year, etc. J-Bar-J Rodeo Company has sent more rodeo livestock to the International Finals Rodeo (the Super Bowl of rodeo) than any other rodeo company in the country.

Professional cowboys and cowgirls from across the United States and Canada will travel to Saline to compete for one of the richest purses going on this particular weekend. Most of the present and many former world champions as well as members of the top ten in each event are expected for this rodeo.

"Right to Farm" Guidelines

The state's largest farm organization went on record this week in support of a continuation of the "Right to Farm" guidelines approved by the Michigan Commission of Agriculture a year ago. In a letter to the commission, Michigan Farm Bureau legislative counsel Ron Nelson said that while the guidelines have served agriculture well, they should be re-evaluated every year.

The Commission of Agriculture is currently conducting its annual review of the guidelines and invited individuals and industry representatives to present their opinions on how the guidelines were working and make recommendations on how they should be changed. If farmers follow the guidelines, they receive a measure of protection under the state's Right to Farm law.

"The guidelines have addressed a number of issues of concern expressed both by the general public and by agricultural producers," Nelson told the commission. "They have not addressed every question nor have they solved every problem. They were not intended to. They were intended to be re-evaluated each year. They will need to be changed as new questions arise and as new technology becomes economical."

Nelson emphasized the need for continued research by Michigan State University as a basis for the guidelines.

"Research has not yet answered all of the questions. As they are answered, new questions will arise. The guidelines will be reflective of agriculture which is an every-changing mix of science, technology and individual farmer initiative."

Professional cowboys and cowgirls from across the United States and Canada will travel to Saline to compete for one of the richest purses going on this particular weekend. Most of the present and many former world champions as well as members of the top ten in each event are expected for this rodeo.

WHAT DOES YOUR CREDIT REPORT SAY ABOUT YOU?
Lurking in the computer of one of the nation's 2,000 credit bureaus is a detailed listing of how much you owe on personal loans and credit cards, how quickly you pay these bills and how many times your payments have been late.

Unfortunately, most of us have no idea what our credit reports say—until it's too late. Jane, for example, didn't know her credit report erroneously indicated she had defaulted on a student loan until a bank rejected her mortgage application. By the time she corrected the mistake, the house she wanted to buy had already been sold.

To prevent such last-minute credit disasters, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests you check your credit report periodically. In most cases, your record is probably filed with one of the country's five largest credit bureaus: Trans Union, TRW, Chilton, CBI and Associated Credit Services.

As a general rule, credit bureaus can charge you a reasonable fee (usually $3 to $25) for a copy of your credit report. However, if you have been denied credit on the basis of information supplied by a credit bureau, the creditor must provide the name and address of a credit bureau issuing the report on which it based its decision. You then have 30 days to request a free copy of your report. Make sure you supply the credit bureau with your full name, telephone number, social security number and the name of the party that denied your credit application. Expect to receive a copy of your report in two to three weeks.

When you receive your credit report, don't panic. The average credit report can be as bewildering to read as hieroglyphics in a dark cave. Nowhere in the report will you find a simple sentence explaining whether or not you are a good credit risk. In fact, a credit report does not issue any judgement on your credit reliability. Instead, it provides a factual but selective account of your employment and credit history. For instance, the credit report may list an inactive department store charge account and yet make no mention of how you handle your utility bills or your mortgage payments.

What does the report contain? At the heart of the report is your credit history, translated into an elaborate system of number and letter codes. The Trans Union form, for instance, uses approximately 140 different codes to indicate how you have handled debt over the years. On the back of the form, you can find a key to the puzzling codes.

While the format of a credit report will vary between credit bureaus, the information contained is always essentially the same. Generally, the report will detail the name, number, type and activity of credit cards issued in your name; the amount of time you have had these cards; the timeliness of your payments; the amount of your credit limits; as well as the amount of your outstanding balances. Other items that may be found in a credit file include the names of companies that have requested copies of your report as well as notations indicating whether you have been involved in civil suits or bankruptcy proceedings. All of this information is provided to the credit bureau by your creditors or other parties.

Don't let frustration or confusion prevent you from carefully reviewing all items listed in your report. Remember, each credit bureau must maintain millions of records—and mistakes are not as uncommon as you may think.

If you do find an error on your credit report, you should write to the credit bureau immediately. Jane did just this, informing the credit bureau that she had paid off her student loan some seven years earlier. Upon investigating this case, the credit bureau discovered that the issuer of the loan had somehow switched her records with those of another consumer.

When a credit bureau determines a mistake has been made, or if it cannot verify the information in its files, the items in question must be deleted from your credit report.

Occasionally, you may find that a credit report presents certain correct but derogatory information out of context. In such instances, you should mail a concise explanation approximately 100 words) to the credit bureau summarizing your side of the story.

Let's consider an example. After being denied a new credit card, Paul checked his credit record, which showed he had paid his car loan and credit card bills late for a period of four to five months. While the information was correct, the record did not show that during this same time Paul's wife was undergoing cancer treatments. The late payments were a direct result of the extreme financial and personal stress he suffered at that particular time. At the recommendation of his financial advisor, Paul submitted a letter to the credit bureau explaining the circumstances be-

Extension To File Tax Returns Ends August 15
"A taxpayer who applied for an automatic extension of time to file the 1988 Federal Tax Form 1040 or 1040A must file the completed return and pay any remaining tax due by midnight, August 15, 1989," said IRS District Director John Hummel. "If further time is still needed, a taxpayer may request up to an additional 2 months (until October 15) by filing Form 2688, Application for Additional Extension of Time to File, before August 15," Hummel added. "However, the Form 2688 does not grant an automatic extension. The additional time must be approved by the IRS and if it is not, the taxpayer will generally be granted a 10-day grace period to file the completed Form 1040," he said.

For additional information concerning extensions of time to file, taxpayers may call the IRS toll-free information number, 1-800-424-1040, Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. The IRS said that taxpayers who need any federal tax forms to complete their returns may request them by calling the toll free forms order number, 1-800-424-3676, Monday through Friday from 7:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

In this delightful change of pace chicken salad, the elegant simplicity of a Chinese stir-fry has been artfully combined with the freshness of summer produce. Plump chicken pieces are marinated briefly in naturally brewed Kikkoman Soy Sauce for increased flavor, then quickly stir-fried to seal in the natural juices. Blanched bean sprouts, succulent cantaloupe balls, crisp celery and green onions complete the salad. An all-purpose seasoning, naturally brewed soy sauce also blends the diverse flavors of the lemon, honey and ginger together for a harmonious and deliciously light dressing. Served in tender, butter lettuce cups, this delicious summer salad sparkles with flavor.

CAREFREE CHICKEN & MELON SALAD

- 3 chicken breast halves, skinned and boned
- 1 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 4 Tbsp. naturally brewed Kikkoman Soy Sauce, divided
- 1 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 6 ounces fresh bean sprouts
- 3 cups cantaloupe balls
- 2 stalks celery, sliced
- ¼ cup thinly sliced green onions and tops
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ¼ cup honey
- 1 teaspoon ginger juice*
- Lettuce cups

Cut chicken into 1-inch pieces. Combine cornstarch and 2 Tbsp. soy sauce; stir in chicken and let stand 15 minutes. Stir-fry chicken in hot oil over medium-high heat 3 minutes, or until tender; cool. Pour boiling water over bean sprouts; let stand 1 minute. Drain; cool under cold water and drain thoroughly. Combine bean sprouts, chicken, cantaloupe, celery and green onions in large bowl; chill for several hours. Meanwhile, blend remaining soy sauce, lemon juice, honey and ginger juice. Just before serving, pour ¼ cup dressing over chicken mixture; toss to coat all ingredients. Arrange in lettuce cups and serve with remaining dressing. Makes 4 to 6 servings. * Press enough fresh ginger root pieces through garlic press to measure 1 teaspoon.

The Final Performance of the Summer

Janet LaBeau Shurtliff

We are now approaching Week Eight, the final Thursday of the weekly programs which comprise the Manchester Gazebo Concert Series.

This Thursday, August 10, the Mike Berst Ensemble will take the stage at 7:00 p.m. They will play the full program, ending at about 8:30.

The Mike Berst Ensemble plays what has been called "romantic music from a bygone era," tunes performed on hammered dulcimer, harp, and guitar. However, for this show they state that they will try to use the dulcimer in "as many styles of music as possible, including folk (American and European), classical, jazz and pop."

Three musicians give this group its identity: Mike Berst plays the hammered dulcimer and has done so for over 20 years. He has played in Irish pubs, at Greenfield Village, the Detroit Ethnic Festivals, the Ann Arbor Art Fair, and Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.

Bob Miller plays bass. He has been a musician for 25 years, playing bass for 12 of those years. He has played with many folk and traditional jazz groups.

David A. Mosher is the guitarist and hails from Manchester. He has played guitar for 15 years and has performed a wide variety of music from bluegrass to opera. You may remember him from his appearance early in July on the Gazebo stage as part of the group "Mosher and Reynolds."

The Mike Berst Ensemble has been together for about two years, performing at many art fairs and festivals. They have recorded some of their tunes on cassette tapes which will be available at the Gazebo Thursday for purchase.

Rain or shine, whatever the temperature, the Mike Berst Ensemble will warm your heart, soothe your nerves, and lighten your load.

Stroll over to the Gazebo this Thursday, August 10, enjoy a lovely evening with good music performed in a beautiful setting. This is your last opportunity to do so this summer!

Roesch Named Chairman

Stanton (Pat) Roesch has been named chairman of the Board of Directors of Saline Community Hospital.

Roesch has been a member of the Board for 28 years and has served 11 years as president. The title change reflects a change in corporate structure at Saline Community Hospital in response to the need for hospitals to operate in a highly competitive business market, especially in the areas of planning and fiscal accountability.

Tom Collins, who has served as vice president of the Board, is now vice chairman of the Board and chairman of the Board's operating committee.

The change to a corporate structure, incorporated in the revised bylaws approved by the Board of Directors Tuesday, July 25, affected titles of the top administrators at the hospital.

William J. Lavery, administrator and chief executive officer of Saline Community Hospital for 14 years was elected president. Lavery will also have a seat on the Board and a vote.

New titles for other administrators are:

- Jim Harns, executive vice president;
- Judy Ivan, vice president for patient services;
- Jeanne DeLiefde, vice president for planning and service development; and
- Judy Cook, executive vice president of Saline Community Hospital Foundation.

Kimberly Davis Returns From Taiwan

Kimberly C. Davis, Manchester High School senior and Varsity volleyball player, will return home August 10 after spending a month in Taiwan, Republic of China.

Kim travelled to Taiwan as a member of the Sports for Understanding volleyball team sponsored jointly by Youth for Understanding International and the China Youth Corps. While spending part of the time in the capitol of Taipei, the team also travelled around the country playing matches with school and industry teams. Also part of the experience were cultural tours, Chinese language instruction and activities with Chinese players' families.

Prior to leaving for the trip, Kim played volleyball during the AAU Junior Olympic season with the Adrian Volleyball Club Juniors coached by Bob Sells. The Adrian Juniors advanced out of pool play to the semi-finals of every tournament they played in from April through June. To end the season, Kim's team travelled to the State Tournament on June 3 and to the Junior Nationals in Lisle, Illinois, June 24-27.

Kim is the daughter of Bob and Kathy Davis of Waters Road and will begin her senior year at Manchester High School when she returns.

Double Ovarian Tumor

Manchester Enterprise
September 29, 1992

We copy the following article from the Grass Lake News, believing that it will be interesting to many of our readers, especially as Mrs. Crafts was for many years a resident of this village.

"After many and anxious days of waiting and suspense by her husband and friends, Mrs. Payson Crafts rallied sufficiently to deem it advisable to proceed with the surgical operation delayed from the previous week on account of her physical weakness. Symptoms were rapidly increasing which in the judgement of her physician and friends were hastening her death. Surgery was to decide her life or death.

The operation was performed on Friday at 1 p.m. and at 3 p.m. Mrs. Crafts was resting quietly in her bed under the care of Mrs. Bird, a trained nurse from Ann Arbor, with bright prospects of recovery.

The operation was performed by Prof. Martin, assisted by Drs. Lynd and Clark of Ann Arbor. Dr. M. H. Raymond administered the anesthetic. Drs. Chapin, Hale and Crafts were also present.

Mrs. Crafts was soon under the influence of the anesthetic and laid upon the operating table. Prof. Martin then made a slight incision in the center of the abdomen through to the peritoneum which was opened up on a grooved direction. When this was done all doubts as to the nature and sequela of the disease was set at rest. How she could live as long as she had was a matter of surprise. There was disclosed a large, round tumor filled with a jelly-like substance, and upon emptying the cyst of its contents it was found to be attached by a small neck to the right ovary. This was ligated, cut off and removed. On further investigation three others of like nature were found and removed. It was estimated that the cysts and their contents weighed from 42 to 50 pounds.

All discoveries known to modern surgery in its various anti-septic forms were made use of in this case, and the operation from a surgical standpoint was a brilliant success.

Later — Mrs. Crafts has gained steadily since the operation without a single untoward symptom, and as we go to press we think it can safely be said that her speedy and complete recovery is assured."
