Why wait to put some pizzazz into your garden, or add new colors, shapes, and textures, or replace weary-looking plant material. The American Association of Nurserymen reminds you that spring is a long way off, and fall's as good a time to plant -in some ways,

Make your changes now. Put in an inviting flow of plants leading from the walkway to the main door of your house. Welcome guests with a bed of mums or pots of plants near the entrance. Is a hedge hiding your porch or deck? Put in material that looks neater. grows slower, and requires less main-

Why is fall for planting? For one thing, the mild temperatures are perfectly suited to this kind of outdoor activity. But nursery experts also say that the cool weather and abundance of rain provide excellent conditions for giving plants a healthy start. Fall planting is beneficial for trees and shrubs because it gives them a head start on the spring growing season to establish strength and vigor for enduring the upcoming hot-weather stresses.

temperatures cool off considerably, you can still plant safely because the soil loses heat very slowly. When winter comes the soil will stay warm enough to maintain root growth. In most cases. root growth is sustained when soil temperatures are 40 degrees or above. Keep the ground warm by covering it with about three inches of mulch. But remember that some material must be planted early enough in fall to provide sufficient growth and development to withstand winter's challenges.

Fall is also for perking up your lawn by seeding and sodding it. And because the soil stays moist through winter, fall is also the perfect opportunity for putting in bulbs. With the right selections you may treat yourself to some colorful bursts as early as the last few days of winter.

For best results, say AAN's experts, be sure to put in plants that are balled and burlapped or containergrown. The advantage to using these plants is that the plants' roots stay in the soil in which they were originally grown, and the roots will grow stronger.

Another tip from the experts is apply mulch to new plants, particularly to the ground covers. They need that protective layer for the warmth, moisture, and weed control it provides. New plants also need consistent watering into late fall. Prevent winter damage to bark by wrapping the tree trunks.

Guarantee that your efforts this fall are well spent. And the best way to do that is to consult with your garden center or nursery on the ideal plant selections, plant-care products, and maintenance methods for your location and your plans.

Finding Funds For College Students

There could be good news for many high school and college students and their families. Low cost loans are available for higher education, regardless of family income.

One such plan is the TERI Supplemental Loan Program, a private education loan, available at participating schools throughout the United States. U.S. citizens cap also use it to go to school in Canada.

The loan program is run by The Education Resources Institute (TERI), a private, non-profit organization, set up to assist middleclass Americans who have been excluded from federal financial aid programs. In fact, only about 35 percent of U.S. students today qualify for government financial Because these loans are privately funded, there is no income limit or "needs test" to qualify. Approval is based on the creditworthiness of the applicant.

Four Choices For Voters

USPS 327-460

On the November 7 statewide ballot there will be two separate constitutional amendments. Both amendments are school financerelated proposals which involve increases in the sales tax.

Voters will have the opportunity to vote four different ways on the proposals. If the majority of the voters vote "yes" on Proposal A and "no" on Proposal B, then Proposal A will prevail. If, on the other hand, the majority of the voters choose Proposal B then the sales tax will become 6 cents.

Voters can also vote "yes" on both proposals or "no" on both

If both Proposals A and B win a majority, the one with the most "yes" votes will become law. If a majority of voters vote "no" on both proposals, the system of financing schools in Michigan will remain unchanged.

If Proposal A passes, the sales tax would increase to 4.5 cents. This tax increase would generate an additional $400 million for schools including an estimated $115 million for specific quality programs. All revenues from the additional 1/2 cent sales tax would be dedicated to the State School Aid Fund. This proposal offers no property tax relief.

If Proposal B passes, the sales tax would increase to 6 cents, vielding $468 million more each All local veterans groups are year fer public K-12 education. expected to participate along with Proposal B would also reduce at least one float and one high property taxes in most school districts. Rita Lynn Talcott and David Andrew Rodriguez exchanged wedding vows at 5:00 p.m. August 5. 1989 in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. William Hillegonds at the First Presbyterian Church of Ann Arbor. Rita is the daughter of Kent and Jane Talcott; David's parents are Lois McAdam and Robert R. Rodriguez.

Leslie Duncan of Saline, formerly of Manchester, was her friend's maid-of-honor. Bridesmaids werre the groom's sister, Lisa Rodriguez of Saline; Nancy Kruse of Cleveland, Ohio; Julie Howell and Lisa Beck of Manchester. Rob Rodriguez served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Vance Talcott of Manchester, brother of the bride; Steve Vlcek of Ann Arbor, Rod Rodriguez of Manchester, the groom's cousin; and Ray Schmidt of Manchester.

Trumpet Voluntary accompanied the processional. Traditional organ music was played as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She was attired in a luminous white satin gown with a fitted bodice embossed with alencon lace, seed pearls and iridescent sequins, long lace sleeves, deep v-back and a cathedral train. The cascading bridal bouquet featured calla lillies, white roses and stephanotis. A spray of lace flowers and seed pearls accented her hair done in a French twist.

The bridal attendants wore floor length red lace and satin dresses which echoed the lines of the bride's gown, and carried sprays of calla lillies tied with lace ribbon. A single altar arrangement featured calla lilies and red Mrs. Talcott chose a taffeta dress with black bodice and full white skirt with black polka dots. Ms. McAdam was attired in a black faille dress with sculptured neckline and full skirt. Alexandra McAdam, sister of the groom, selected a dress with white bodice and gathered skirt of black with white polka dots.

Following the ceremony, family and friends celebrated the union at a dinner reception at the Marriott Inn on Plymouth Road in

We went for the TD and were stopped by their defense. The momentum seemed to switch almost instantly, and with each yard Homer gained, their confidence grew. They kept plowing, sweeping and passing, and capped off this drive with a TD pass in the closing seconds of the period. They lined up and tossed a quick pass for the successful 2-point conversion, giving them their first lead of the game, 8-7. The final 12 minutes were ahead of us as they kicked off. Our first play seemed to spell doom as we fumbled and the Trojans recovered on our 24-yard line. Homer's greed led them to try to score too quickly. Their errant pass fell into the hands of Jay Gillow. We drove near midfield, but were forced to punt as precious time was slipping away. Homer again went to the air only to have Lance Fielder intercept the pigskin. We began our final push toward the goal line with 4 or 5 minutes remaining.

On Sunday, November 12, 1989 at 2:00 p.m., the Docents at the Matthaei Botanical Gardens will offer to the public a one hour tour of the Conservatory. The theme is "Travelling Plants."

Plants have always been a focus exploration, and because of exploration and trade, many plants have been moved far from their origins. As various areas of the world were colonized by conquering nations, familiar plants were carried in their cargo and introduced to the new lands. And, conversely, plants native to these regions were discovered and taken back to the homeland. The tour will look at some of the plants which played a significant role in the early days of exploration of the New World.

Due to space limitations, the tour can accomodate a maximum of thirty persons. Reservations are highly recommended, although interested persons may sign up on the day of the tour on a space available basis. For reservations, call 998-7061.

Conservatory admissions apply: $1.00 per person; Friends and members and children under six years old, free.

Several other viral infections can cause rashes that can be confused with measles. Thus, if measles is suspected, it is important for physicians to draw antibody tests during the illness as well as during the healing phase.

Measles symptoms include early fever, eye infection, (conjunctivities), nasal discharge. cough, and white spots on the inner cheeks (koplik spots). A red blotchy rash appears on the third to seventh day, beginning on the face and then spreading all over the body. The rash lasts 4-7 days and sometimes ends in peeling. Barn Struck By Lightning

Manchester Enterprise

And burned to the ground, together with the contents, including two horses, two calves and a pet goat

A little past the midnight hour Sunday a heavy rainstorm accompanied by thunder and light ning swept over the village. A sharp report was heard and many were awakened by it. All feit sure that lightning had struck close by and many arose to investigate. Among the number was Enoch Silkworth, our popular bussman who lives on the "Cowan place," on Ann Arbor street. Seeing nothing to indicate that any damage had been done he retired, but was awakened perhaps half an hour later by his wife who heard the horses kicking at the barn.

Arising he discovered the barn to be on fire. They hastily donned a few garments and Enock went to save his property while Mrs. Silkworth awakened the neighbors across the street. Dr. Ackerson and son were soon on hand and Lee ran down town to give the alarm and ring the fire bell.

Soon a few of the neighbors came and an affort was made to save the horses, but without avail. Two cows were loosened and driven out but two calves and a their lives.

which was a large one worth from $800 to $1,000, his team valued at $300, two calves and a goat, 20 tons of hay, his grain, harnesses, robes, carriage, tools, etc., making at least $1,600 in all.

He had $400 insurance on the barn and $150 on the horses so his total loss must be over $1,000, and it is a severe loss to Mr. Silkworth who is a poor man.

Before the fire was over expressions of sympathy for him was general and his neighbor, O. L. Torrey started a paper and circulated it among our citizens who contributed $3.00 in cash to assist him in getting on his feet again. Neighbors also loaned him horses, harnesses, etc., so he continued business as usual Monday morning.

Mr. Silkworth is one of our most respected citizens, is always pleasant and accomodating and our citizens were glad to show their appreciation though they regretted that it had to be expressed at such a loss to him.

Chas. Kulenkamp has four cutters, John Schaffer, Jr. had one. Dr. Ackerson had one also a boat. ladder, etc., stored in the barn and all were burned.

Mr. & Mrs. Silkworth cannot find words to express their appreciation of the assistance our citizens have rendered them, expressions of sumpathy and offers of help at this time of need.
