Kiwanis Now Official

Kiwanis President Larry Ruble Receives "Baby Bottle" from Detroit Kiwanis Club member.

The newest Kiwanis club in the state of Michigan celebrated with a "Charter Party" Saturday night in Manchester. Members of the newly chartered club and their guests gathered at Neil Haarer's Meeting Place for dinner and dancing to the music of the "Sounds of Germany". The Manchester restaurant is the official home of the new group, which meets every Thursday, at 7:30 a.m.

The Charter Party, while undeniably fun, is also an important ceremony under the guidelines established by Kiwanis International. The organizations' main office, located in Indianapolis, regulates the activities of thousands of Kiwanians throughout 71 countries.

Although the Manchester club is the newest Kiwanis organization in the state, the club was actually founded in Detroit on January 21, 1915. Originally named the Benevolent Order of Brothers, the name changed within a year to "Kiwanis", taken from an Indian term "Nun

The Frightened Horse

Manchester Enterprise
August 30, 1888

We saw a man a few days since brutally lashing a horse because the animal became frightened at some object. Whenever we see an exhibition of that kind we feel that we are as incapable of expressing our feeling as the clown in the circus was: He was so disgusted and astonished at something that with great deliberation he bent over, put his hands upon his knees and said: Gosh! Retaining his position half a minute he repeated: Gosh! It was a graphic illustration of the poverty of language under certain circumstances. Whip a horse for becoming frightened! It would be more sensible to whip the whipper for being a fool. The horse is already excited. Hence the only thing to do is to calm him down. If at all possible he should be shown that the object at which he is scared will do him no harm. To do this he must be brought into contact with it. It is a common saying that if the nose is touched to the object, the animal will become satisfied. Generally that is true, and the meaning of it is that the horse has got acquainted with the supposed "enemy." Sometimes it is the result of defective eyesight, and our readers will remember that some time ago we noticed the fact that a Pennsylvania man had a set of glasses made for his horse, and from a skittish animal it had become a safe and delightful driver.

Mr. C. J. Scott writes on this subject that in driving, be careful about using the whip too freely. If a stone or a stump or anything of the kind should be regarded with fear, do not whip and drive the horse by. Let him stand a short time and look at the object until he seems to care less about it, then drive closer, as he will bear it, and so repeat, at the same time talking to him encouragingly, until you can drive him up to the object. Be very sure to have your colt comprehend fully that such objects are harmless - as opportunity offers in this way - and he will soon become so fearless and confident as to be regardless of such things; but if you whip him for becoming frightened at such things, he will associate the punishment with the object of his coming night 'copters, and Devine keeps the mess tent humming.

The doors open Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 for the 8:00 p.m. curtain. Tickets are $3 for students and $4 for adults. This family entertainment is sure to please the whole family.

Letters To The Editor

My opposition to Manchester Stamping rezoning is not opposition to the company or its workers. I have toured their buildings at Wayne Hamilton's invitation, and was impressed by their operation. Certainly they are a positive force in the community.

However, an unrestricted General Industrial rezoning of three parcels, two of them not part of their operation and now zoned recreational-agricultural, without even a proposed use site plan or feasibility study does a big disservice to township planning.

Such zoning could result in three separate General Industrial concerns functioning in an area of nice homes and farms.

Washtenaw County zoning planning voted 9-1 to disapprove this change, calling it the worst solution. It provides no protection to the conforming users. Stamping was grandfathered in as non-conforming Light Industrial. Further expansion must first assure protection to the planned users. This is the very essence of zoning.

Clearly the process is backward. Stamping must come up with a plan and run studies on the hilly and swampy land in question to determine if the land is even suitable.

Without such consideration, this blank check rezoning intended to keep Stamping here may prove a greater incentive to them to sell all three parcels suddenly worth much more as General Industrial property.

The two additional sites would be competition to Manchester's Industrial Park and make for further inconsistent land use resulting in lower values for all area properties.

It is noteworthy that Stamping would leave Manchester rather than expand at the Industrial Park. The challenge is to provide the right incentives for Stamping or other industry to locate in the Industrial Park if Manchester hopes to attract quality industry.

Letters To The Editor

When good property is sold, it's almost always bought for the same use, be it family homes, supermarkets, car dealerships, or stamping plants. Therefore, any loss of tax base or jobs in the community is unlikely should Stamping sell out. No amount of threatening will change that. The present layoffs at Stamping prove no jobs are guaranteed.

Now is the time for a sensible compromise. Without even a plan on the drawing board, no feasibility studies underway, slumping auto sales and Stampings present layoffs, no immediate need has been demonstrated. Nor is their operation threatened by more study.

Hopefully all concerned can come to a reasonable solution protecting home owners and accommodating needed expansion of Stamping's current functions without opening the door to more undesirable types of industry allowed under General Industrial zoning.

Sincerely,
Grant Harvey

Dear Editor,
In Manchester Township, the voters have a chance on April 3 to protect fragile land and water. As village residents, we can't vote in this matter. But the township boundary is just down the street, and the groundwater doesn't detour around the village. We hope our neighbors in the township who can vote will remember that we are all responsible for safeguarding land and water for future generations.

The land in question belongs to Manchester Stamping, who acquired the property while it was still zoned recreational/agricultural. But the company wants the zoning changed to general industrial.

At the public hearing on the matter, Township Board supervisor Ron Mann asked Manchester Stamping president Wayne Hamilton at least three times if he would consider alternatives on the issue. Despite many Manchester township citizens who also pleaded for a compromise, Mr. Hamilton refused. He also refused to explain what he planned to do with the land, saying only that the company would "pull out" of Manchester if the board didn't yield.

As a result, the Township Board voted to change nearly 30 acres to general industrial zoning. The board did this despite the fact that two planning commissions recommended against general industrial zoning because the land is fragile. It cannot protect our groundwater or the River Raisin from any accidental hazardous waste that may result from heavy industry. And anything from a waste incinerator to a slaughterhouse can now buy that land.

At the public hearing, several Manchester Stamping employees said that nothing is more important than a job. But is a job more important than water fit to drink, or keeping our children safe from pollution-related cancer? So far, those sad stories are happening somewhere else.

Even if we assume that Stamping's intentions are good, it can't guarantee what happens in the future. The recent layoffs at Stamping happened just after public testimony that the company planned to expand. Clearly we cannot rely on the promises of this company or any one else who asks us to gamble with our future for short term profit.

Unless Manchester Stamping is willing to recognize its responsibilities to its neighbors in the township, it's not a neighbor worth having. It pays less than 2% of the total taxes in the township. Is that the price we're willing to sell-out our future for? Please vote "No" April 3.

Deb Havens
David Limbaugh

As residents of Manchester and present or former employees of Manchester Stamping, with a combined total of 103 years of working for the company, we want to ask Manchester Township voters to look at a true picture of our company and not be misled by wild and hysterical statements.

The company is not a polluter, it doesn't break local or state laws, and there's nothing we do here that will destroy the environment. It's a responsible employer and an important part of the community.

It would not be fair to penalize Manchester Stamping for wanting to continue its successful business in the same location it has occupied for 27 years.

The Township Board made the right decision when they approved Manchester Stamping's zoning. Please support their decision by voting Yes on April 3. (Signed) William G. Jacob, Craig

Tornado Siren Test March 27

Future Scientists At Work

Wednesday, March 14 was a bright cheerful day, inside as well as outside, when 32 enthusiastic judges interacted with 118 science fair finalists at the Manchester American Legion Hall. As they were awarding the points which determined first through third places in five categories for each of the middle school grades five through eight, the judges were very impressed with both the quality of the work and the knowledge shared by the individual students through the interview process. Many of the judges said, "Don't forget me next year," as they turned in the completed judging forms.

Those who shared their time, many leaving work early to do so, were: John Anderson, Sallie Anderson, Bruce Bates, Al Curry, Mark Dominick, Ted Tapping, Charlotte Major, Howard Parr, Karin McGuire, Stan Gilbert, Tom Huard, Marlene Wagner, Nancy Althouse, Peg Ainslie, Jane Worthy-Howlett, Melinda Trout, Joni DeBell, Dan Fleck, Bill Kwolek, Astrida Panches, Jim Wiethoff, Greg Reed, Bob Lasowski, Bob Piendel, John Sahakian, Brad Messing, Don Fowler, Bill Symons, Dave Lowery, John Althouse, Jim Fielder, Karla Raab, Mike Gordon, and Mary Ann Fielder.

This annual all school event would not be possible for the Nellie Ackerson Middle School students if it weren't for the generous loan of the American Legion Hall by the Legion's officers and members. It is greatly appreciated. The science fair is organized and coordinated by Nondus Buss as a part of the Middle School TEEM program. Many friends and relatives as well as other members of the community enjoyed and learned from the over 300 projects as they visited the fair on Thursday, March 15.

National Agriculture Day

The first day of spring is a special day for area farmers. It is also heralded across the nation as National Agriculture Day. The first day of spring is a time of renewal and rekindling of spirit. It is also a time to honor America's providers - the 20% of the nation's workforce who grow, market, transport, and sell the products of the world's safest and most bountiful food and fiber system.

We're proud that Michigan ranks among the top ten states in numbers of agriculturally related jobs in food and fiber. The industry generates $18 billion each year into our state economy. In 1989 there were 55,000 farmers in our state, farming 10.8 million acres. That's an average of 196 acres per farm. With the help of modern technology, each farmer is able to produce food and fiber for himself and 114 other people, and does it on less land than ever before.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, 40 jobs are created for every million dollars farmers spend from machinery and equipment. For farm machinery alone, Michigan farmers spent approximately $366 million in recent years. This means that our farmers in Michigan created 14,640 jobs for factory workers. This does not include the 53 finished tons of food that the average farm worker produces and the more than five non-farm jobs created for people who process, transport, and merchandise the crop. Nearly 20 percent of America's labor force is involved in the food industry. Is it any wonder that we take an entire week to recognize the efforts of this immense team?

To give you an idea of how diverse Michigan agriculture is, let's take a "tour" of the state. We can begin with the west side of the state where more blueberries, bedding plants, and red tart cherries are produced than anywhere else in the nation. Cucumbers, apples, asparagus, milk, and many other crops are found in plenty along the Lake Michigan shore.

The agriculture industry in the Upper Peninsula is an important factor in our state's economy. There are farms that produce corn, wheat, oats, dry beans, barley, potatoes, cattle, hogs, poultry, and sheep.

In the northern and many other areas of our state, 1,200 farmers make Christmas tree production a year-around business. Michigan is the nation's largest grower of plantation Christmas trees. Those 1,200 farmers shipped 5.5 million trees in 1987. Some of them were shipped to Hawaii.

Travelling to the east and southern part of Michigan, we find more navy beans produced than anywhere in the country. Sugarbeets, potatoes, mushrooms, onions, carrots, corn, mint, pork, strawberries, soybeans, milk and turkeys are also produced.

Here at home in Washtenaw County, we produce a variety of commodities such as corn, oats, soybeans, wheat, hay, beef and dairy cattle, hogs, poultry, sheep, horses, apples, strawberries and honey.

There are over 125 agricultural commodities grown in Michigan that we could tell you about, but it's important to understand that Michigan ranks only behind California in the diversity of crops grown.

I invite you to take your own tour of Michigan agriculture while you enjoy the beauty of this great state.

Yes, we have cause to celebrate our industry, as well as the variety and abundance of food and fiber that comes from our own soil. We can also be proud of the role agriculture plays in making sure our food supply is safe and wholesome. So when someone says to you, "I'm a farmer," I hope you think of the large network of manufacturing, marketing, sales, advertising, and transportation that is created when that farmer harvests his crop. Farmers are good at what they do and proud to produce food for you and the nation.

Cub Scout Pack 421

Cub Scout Pack 421 met on the front lawn of the High School last Saturday morning for its second annual Cubanapolis.

Twenty-seven Scouts arrived at 10:00 a.m. for the time trials. They brought their homemade race cars which were cardboard boxes with holes for head and arms and painted like race cars. They ran around the track for 3 laps with 3 boys in each heat. They were required to make one pit stop during which their pit crew, their family, changed their tires, which meant taking their shoes off and on again; cleaning their windshield, which meant taking their goggles off and on again; and re-fueling, which meant giving them a drink of kool-aid.

Each boy received a first, second or third place ribbon. The final heat was for adults and older siblings. Everyone laughed to see the adults trying to squeeze their head and arms into those little cardboard boxes; then to watch them speed-waddle around the track. The event was concluded with kool-aid donated by Chuck King's Baker's Dozen and cookies donated by Karen Tobias. It was FUN!

In January, 47 Cubs and their families braved a blizzard to go swimming at the Chelsea Pool. Swimming in the winter is exhilarating. Afterwards they met at a Latter Day Saint Meetinghouse to refresh themselves with orange drink donated by McDonalds and burgers and fries donated by the Pack.

In February, 28 Cubs were treated by the Pack to bowling at Saine Lanes. Without gutter bumpers, it was a little slow and frustrating, but they all felt the excitement of friends cheering for each attempt at staying out of the gutter.

The annual Blue and Gold banquet had to be postponed from February 15 to Wednesday, March 28. The ice storm without warm temperatures to melt the ice forced the postponement. The Pack expects 200 people to fill the American Legion Hall and enjoy a pot luck supper followed by entertainment by the Cottonwood Cloggers. Many Cub Scouts will receive awards at the banquet which starts at 6:30 p.m. Local dignitaries and District Scouters have been invited.

The Pack wishes to thank all the dedicated volunteer leaders who graciously serve the boys of Manchester to give them a fun and inspired program.

Around The Table With PJ

INVITATION TO A CONVERSATION

Some of you may remember a piece that appeared in the "Enterprise" a couple of years ago about conversation in small towns. In that article, I defended small-town life against allegations that small-town talk is small talk, and I contended that real, meaningful conversation does take place all the time in communities like Manchester.

In the next several weeks, I would like to prove my contention by instigating a kind of conversation in this column. As a teacher with some twenty years of experience, and now as an editor of an education magazine, I am very aware that education has become a hot topic everywhere around the country. Even President Bush has repeatedly claimed that he wants to be remembered as the "Education President." Whether he is able to earn that epithet remains to be seen, but his expression of concern has brought education under public scrutiny that has seldom been so keen.

Between now and the close of school, this column will devote itself weekly to issues of education. I have a number of topics I would like to "discuss" here, but I would certainly hope that others in the Manchester community, and especially in the school community, would like to contribute to the "conversation."

I would like to keep our conversation as positive as possible, so please, don't send complaints about this or that teacher, this or that school policy, or this or that needling inconsistency in the school system. Rather, let me hear your ideas for helping youngsters learn about the world in a better way, your suggestions for providing them with more positive activities in the community, and your feelings about how we can all work together to help students become the best people they can be. That, after all, is what education is all about.

Send your ideas, comments, or complete columns, if you feel like being a journalist today, to PJ, c/o "The Manchester Enterprise," 150 East Main Street, Manchester, MI 48158. I am looking forward to a stimulating conversation.

All of that said by way of introduction, I'd like to take up one topic that particularly interests me. How much do parents contribute to their children's education? It is patently clear that the two most important influences in any child's life are family and school. But how much do these two cooperate in the all-important task of helping a child grow into an independent, thinking, responsible, happy adult?

Too often, I fear, the answer to the questions posed is "Not enough." A recent survey conducted by the national PTA found that fewer than half of parents visited their children's schools for back-to-school night or for parent-teacher organization meetings. Parents in the survey said that lack of time and work commitments most often keep them from participating in school activities and that they were more likely to participate in fund raising or extracurricular activities than in academic matters in their children's schools.

Now, getting money for school use and encouraging outside activities are important things parents can do, but doesn't it seem that parents should be more concerned with the substance of their kids' schooling?

I know that the intricacies of the "new" math, the subtleties of English grammar, and the fundamentals of French pronunciation that we studied when we were in school may have escaped us in the intervening years, but we don't have to be experts in what our children are studying to take an interest in their work, to lend a helping hand occasionally, or even to ask our kids' teachers what we might do to help with the task of learning (the most important thing kids do).

I'm not advocating that parents constantly stick their noses into their kids' studies or that they call the teacher daily to find out the latest history assignment. But just showing interest encourages kids in their work and shows them that their parents take education seriously. And, who knows? You might find it fun to try to solve a differential equation for the first time in twenty-five years.

Teachers, too, can contribute to more cooperation between schools and parents. They can send personal notes home with the usual school announcements and report cards. They can call parents occasionally to find out what's going on in Andy or Maggie's life that makes them so interested in science or so uninterested in literature. In short, they can promote good will with parents while recruiting them as allies in helping kids learn.

Administrators can do their part, too. Are parents really made to feel welcome to visit the school? Scheduling some parent activities during the day for people who work at night might be one way to get more parents involved. Scheduling parent-teacher conferences after normal work hours might have the same effect for those parents who both work during the day and can't take time off from their jobs.

The are plenty of ways parents, teachers, and administrators can work together, and I've barely scratched the surface. If you have good ideas along these lines, let me know. I'm sure there are other parents and school people out there who could benefit from your suggestions.

I'm looking forward to our next conversation.

MANCHESTER AREA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Manchester Area Historical Society met on Monday, March 19 at the Blacksmith shop. Jim Gibbons, Postmaster of Ann Arbor, presented an interesting program on the U.S. Postal System. He has three videotapes that are available to show to groups.

Benjamin Franklin developed the pigeonhole system that is still used today in sorting mail. He also developed the sanctity of the seal. In this country and in most European countries your mail is safe. In some South and Central American countries your mail may be opened and merchandise

The first mailboxes were erected in Paris in 1653. However, messengers, fearful for their livelihood, put mice in the boxes to destroy the mail.

Kiwanis Now Official

Members of newly chartered Manchester Kiwanis Club.

Keewanis", which roughly means "self expression."

The purpose of the organization became community service, which the Manchester group has already begun. Before the club was even chartered, the founding members sold knockwurst from a wagon at the fair last summer, organized a cider sale in the fall, and sold bird seed this winter. Proceeds were donated to High Point Greenhouse project, the Agriculture Department of Manchester Community Schools and the Community Resource Center.

During the party Saturday night Manchester Kiwanis club members were joined by state officers, as well as members from clubs in Dexter, Howell, Whitmore Lake, Chelsea and Ann Arbor. The Saline Kiwanis club officially sponsored the Manchester group, presenting the new club members with lecturn, gavel, bell and banner.

A special highlight of the evening was the presentation of the traveling "baby bottle" granted to each newly chartered club to tend until another Kiwanis club is begun elsewhere in the state. Members from Detroit brought the huge wooden bottle to the Manchester club, which passes on the bottle March 29 to a new Kiwanis club in Milford.

The Manchester Kiwanis club was chartered with 29 members. 25 are required by Kiwanis bylaws. The membership includes Larry Ruble, president; Deborah Havens, 1st vice president; Gerry Davis, secretary-treasurer. Board of Director members are Dianne Schwab, Dr. Richard Foster, Homer Kuhl, Mike Alber, Rita Burkhardt, Steve Kuebler and Vic Mann. Cheryl Huey and Diane Jacobi; oral/dental screening will be offered by Drs. Sally Stommen, David Swan, Clare Warren, Bruce Bates, Ray Howe, Mary Barkley, Gary Gochanour and Barb Wher; skin cancer testing will be offered by Dr. Charles Ellis. Colo-rectal screening kits will be available for $3. Project Health-O-Rama is sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan, Channel 7 WXYZ-TV and United Health Organization. People with abnormal test results are referred to their health care provider to receive further evaluation. Health screening is not meant to replace a physical examination by a health care provider. It is, however, good medicine to use a screening test so that if a condition is developing there may be a chance to detect and treat it early.

No advance registration is required. Take advantage of this special event offered by Chelsea Community Hospital. For more information, call 475-3935. For information about special travel arrangements for seniors, contact your Community Education Office.

A Sensory Experience

With the return of periodic spells of warmer weather, the itch to be outside increases. Do you find yourself opening windows or sitting on the front steps in a spot of sun, or poking around the yard looking for the tips of tulips and daffodils, and enjoying the constant twitters of the many birds which have returned to the area after their winter siesta? Continue your explorations on a trail walk at the Matthaei Botanical Gardens. You are guaranteed a sensory experience.

On Sunday, April 1 at 2:00 p.m., the docents will lead a trail walk to explore the sights, sounds, smells and textures one encounters along the banks of Fleming Creek. All interested persons are invited to attend. The walk will last 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Participants are to meet the docents at the steps to the building. Dress for the weather and wear waterproof footwear.

The Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 N. Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor, 1/2 mile south of the Plymouth Road intersection.

fright, and be more frightened the next time he sees it.

The horse being unable to reason only from his experience, you should convince him by careful examination that the object is harmless. For example: If the sight or smell of a robe a few feet distant should frighten him, put on your Comanche bridle and take him alone in your yard or barn, lead him gently to the robe, let him smell of it if he will, then take it in your hand, hold it gently to his nose, then rub it against his neck, side, and over his back, and so repeat for a short time. After being familiarized to it in this way, you can throw it over his back or tie it to his tail without causing him the least fear.

To familiarize a colt with any article that he may have regarded with fear, let him touch it with his nose, and rub him on the neck and side, and in a short time, when he finds it will not hurt him, he will become reconciled and care nothing about it. To accustom your horse to the cars, lead him up to them and even put his nose on them, and in this way continue until he becomes familiar with them. And then do not fail to repeat your lessons until he cares nothing about the object. Should you fail by neglect, it may render him worse than as though you had done nothing at all with him.

DNR News

Approximately 400 Sichuan ringneck crossbred pheasants were released Monday, March 19 at 3:00 p.m. into a 30-square mile area located near Horton, about five miles southwest of Jackson in Jackson County.

The birds are the first group of crossbred pheasants raised for release as part of a joint project between the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Jackson County chapter of Pheasants Forever, in an effort to rebuild dwindling pheasant populations in the state.

Original stock of the only Sichuan pheasants ever to come out of the People's Republic of China was acquired through a sister-state exchange in 1985 when more than 2,000 eggs were collected from wild pheasants nests.

THE KIDDIE TAX IS SERIOUS BUSINESS

Widely discussed, but frequently misunderstood, the kiddie tax is Congress' way of closing a tax-law loophole that allowed parents to pay less tax by shifting income to their children. Essentially, the kiddie tax discourages income-shifting by taxing the unearned income of children at their parents' higher rate, explains the Michigan Association of CPAs. The result? Millions of children must now file tax returns and pay taxes at rates as high as 33 percent.

How Your Child's Age Affects Tax Rates

The new law actually has two sets of rules - one set for children under 14 and another for children 14 and older.

For a child under 14, the first $1,000 a year in unearned income is taxed at his or her own rate. (Unearned income refers to such investment income as dividends, interest, capital gains and rents.)

It works like this. A child can apply $500 of his or her standard deduction to offset the first $500 of unearned income, making this amount tax-free. The next $500 in unearned income is taxed at the child's rate. All unearned income above $1,000 is taxed at the parents' highest marginal tax bracket. (These figures may be adjusted for inflation sometime in 1990. Suppose, for example, your 10-year-old daughter's only income is $1,400 in investment income. She applies her $500 standard deduction to reduce her taxable investment income to $900, of which $500 would be taxed at your daughter's rate and $400 at your highest rate.

Unfortunately, in certain circumstances, your child may end up paying taxes at a rate even higher than your own. To compute your child's tax, you have to add all your children's unearned income to your own taxable income - making it possible to bump some of your child's income into a tax bracket higher than yours.

These rules do not affect children 14 and older. All of their income continues to be taxed at their own rates.

Earned Income Still Taxed At Child's Rate

Income from a job is always taxed at the child's rate, regardless of the child's age. For 1989, the standard deduction generally offsets the first $3,100 a working child earns.

You can make this tax provision pay off if you have a family-run business. By employing your children for legitimate purposes, you can earn two tax advantages. First, wages paid to your children are taxed at their own bracket.

Second, you or the family company can deduct the children's wages as a business expense. Just make sure that your children actually earn their wages.

Dependent Children Lose Personal Exemptions

Prior to tax reform, parents could claim an exemption for a child on their tax return and the child could claim an exemption as well. This tax advantage is now extinct. If a child can be taken as a dependent on a parent's return, the child cannot take an exemption on his or her own return.

Incidentally, to claim dependency exemptions, parents are now required to supply the Social Security numbers for all dependents who are at least two years old. To apply for a Social Security number, you must complete form SSA-5 available from your local Social Security office. Failure to supply a Social Security number may result in a fine.

Who Files the Return?

The 1986 tax reform act mandated that any child subject to the kiddie tax had to file his or her own tax return. But this rule has now been amended to allow certain parents to include the child's income on their own return. To be eligible, your child's gross income must be more than $500 or less than $5,000, and must not include any earned income. In other words, the income must derive solely from interest and dividends. CPAs also point out that your child must not be subject to backup withholding and must not have filed an estimated tax return or applied a 1988 tax refund to 1989 estimated taxes.

Learning to Live with the Kiddie Tax

Despite the new rules, you can still find ways to save money for your children's future and minimize your tax liability at the same time. Shifting income to your children, for instance, can have advantages, even today. Remember - the first $1,000 of unearned income is still treated favorably. That means a child under 14 can have more than $10,000 invested in an account earning nine percent before the unearned income would begin being taxed at the parents' rate. For children under 14, instead of investing in assets that generate taxable income each year, consider investments that are either tax-free or defer taxable income until the child reaches age 14, when it will be taxed at the child's lower rate.

One of the simplest ways to do this is to buy United States Series EE Savings Bonds in your child's name. Federal taxes on the interest earned will generally not be due until the bonds mature or are redeemed. In addition, interest on U.S. Series EE Savings Bonds purchased after 1989 will generally be tax free as long as the bonds are redeemed to finance the qualified education expenses of the taxpayer, the taxpayer's children or a dependent spouse. (Note that qualified expenses include tuition and other required fees, but not room and board costs.) To take advantage of this new tax break, you must be at least age 24 when you purchase the bonds and you have to be either the sole owner of the bonds or own them jointly with your spouse.

One last point: The break is phased out for joint filers with an adjusted gross income (AGI) of $60,000 to $90,000 and for single filers with AGI of $40,000 to $55,000.

High quality, zero-coupon municipal bonds are also a smart investment for a college savings plan. Like all zeros, you buy zero-coupon municipal bonds at a price significantly below the value

Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary meeting took place on March 14, 1990 with 15 members present. Committee reports were given.

Americanism Chairman, Jacqueline Armentrout, reported that she had contacted the Manchester Village Office about the deteriorated condition of the American Flag which flies over the Village Hall. She was assured that this matter would be brought to the council's attention.

Veteran Affairs & Rehabilitation Chairman, Alice Alexander, reported on the VA hospital party which we hosted on March 10. 100 canteen coupons were purchased for the bingo prizes. Refreshments furnished were fruit, cheese and crackers, pop and coffee.

Della Widmayer reported that much progress is being made in the renovation of the Legion Home, and it should be completed within the next month.

Our next meeting will be held on April 11. Refreshment Committee will be Polly Brokaw, Helen Hosmer and Della Widmayer.

VDTs AND YOUR EYES

We are hearing an increasing number of complaints about eyestrain from working at computer stations. Many people are concerned that the VDTs (video display terminals) may give off radiation which could permanently damage their eyes.

Fortunately, these fears are groundless. VDTs do not emit harmful radiation, and they release less ultraviolet light than the fluorescent lights in your office.

Nevertheless, the eye fatigue, burning red, or watery eye, headaches and neckaches are real problems. Generally these problems can be attributed to the nearness of the VDT, its position, glare from other lights, or the amount of time spent in a relatively still position.

Ideally, the VDT is positioned at or below eye level, and other material is positioned near the screen for convenience. Overhead lighting should not reflect off the screen and should not be too bright. Many people will need to get special glasses focused at the working distance of the VDT, especially if they work for extended times, or if they already wear bifocals or trifocals. Special eyeglass tints have been recommended, depending on the color print of the VDT.

Occasional rest breaks are important to allow the eyes to relax their focusing mechanism.

If blurring, redness or other symptoms persist, an eye examination is in order.

Village Planning Commission

Regular Session
February 13, 1990

PRESENT

Daverman, Schiller, Lowery, Palms, Way, Hinkley, Walton, Gleason.

Absent: Little

Also present: Janet LaBeau Shurtliff, and Deb Havens

CALL TO ORDER

The meeting was called to order at 7:37 by Chairman Daverman in the Council Room of the Village Hall

APPROVAL OF AGENDA

Under Regular Business, add: Sign Permit for Pilot Industries. Hinkley made a motion to approve the agenda with the above addition. Way seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

MINUTES OF PREVIOUS MEETING

Under New Business: Union Construction, delete "between" and add "west of" (in motion, line 2). Lowery made a motion to accept the minutes with the above clarification. Walton seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

REPORTS

None

REGULAR BUSINESS

Sign Permit, Dr. Stan Gilbert:

Postponed until later in the meeting to allow time for Dr. Gilbert to arrive.

SIGN PERMIT, PILOT INDUSTRIES

Discussion included the following: 1. It was noted that the application available at the meeting lacked the signature of the owner.

2. It was questioned whether the proposed location of the sign was on Village property (easement). Information was not provided as to where the property line is. No site plan was provided.

It was recommended the sign not be placed in this easement.

4. The possibility of placing the sign on the building was suggested.

Daverman made a motion to table the sign permit application for Pilot Industries because of a lack of adequate information as to the precise location of the sign in relation to the property line. Lowery seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

Daverman will contact Pilot Industries concerning the need for this information.

MASTER PLAN

While working on the Master Plan, questions were raised concerning possible conflicts of interest. Daverman checked into this matter. He was advised that there would be no conflict of interest while working on the plan, but conflict could arise at the time of decision voting on the plan. If a possible conflict exists, the commissioner would have to indicate this and not vote.

Palms felt the community should be encouraged to present their views and be involved in the development of the Master Plan. Daverman recommended the Commission plan on holding an informational meeting first, and then follow with public forums.

The Ad Hoc committee working on the Master Plan will meet February 24, 1990 at 9:00.

Discussion on the Master Plan led into discussion concerning upcoming site plan submittals. It was recommended that an Ad Hoc committee be formed to study the site plan process as it relates to specific projects, such as the Mobile Home Park and the Senior Citizens project. Schiller, Palms, Walton, and Gleason volunteered to serve on this committee.

SIGN PERMIT DR. STAN GILBERT

Daverman made a motion to table this sign permit application because Dr. Gilbert has not resubmitted a permit for the second sign. Schiller seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

NEW BUSINESS

Walton recommended the extension of Gieski across to M-52 be pursued.

ADJOURNMENT

Schiller made a motion to adjourn the meeting. Hinkley seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

Susan Gleason Secretary

Notice is hereby given that the Village of Manchester will hold a public hearing on the proposed Project Plan for Combined Sewer Overflow Control Facilities. The public hearing will be held at 7:00 p.m. on April 23, 1990, in the Village offices, 120 South Clinton, Manchester, Michigan 48158.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive public comment on the Draft Project Plan prior to adopting a specific course of action.

The Village previously adopted a program to separate its stormwater and sanitary sewage collection systems to eliminate combined sewage overflows to the River Raisin. The sewer separation program was to be implemented in three phases and the proposed Project Plan considers the final phase of the separation program. The recommended plan includes storm and sanitary sewer construction to effectively eliminate combined sewer overflows in the future.

A low interest loan may be available from the Michigan State Revolving Loan Fund Program to finance the proposed improvements. Improvements presented in the Draft Project Plan have an estimated project cost of $900,000 and are expected to result in a monthly cost of $7.30 to an average residential customer.

The Draft Project Plan will be available for public review beginning March 27, 1990, at the Office of the Village Clerk, 120 South Clinton, Manchester, Michigan 48158. Written comments may be submitted to Mrs. Karen Tucker, Village Clerk, through April 20, 1990, for inclusion into the public record.

Mrs. Karen Tucker, Clerk Village of Manchester
