Around The Table With PJ Council Report

Regular Meeting
April 2, 1990

IS YOUR HOMEWORK DONE?

How many times have you asked that question in your house? And what sorts of answers do you get? "We didn't have any today." "I already did it at school." "Just wait until this show's over, OK?"

According to an article by Professor Thomas N. Turner of the University of Tennessee that appeared in a journal "Tennessee Education," the answers kids give to that question indicate coping strategies they have for putting off doing assignments they don't want to deal with. Some kids feign illness, others pretend that they are unaware of any assignments they may have received that day, and still others make excuses, promise to do it soon, or even resort to copying someone else's homework during some free time at school.

Turner goes on to say that such coping strategies can be very creative. I know a lot of teachers have heard things like "My dog ate my homework," "My little brother flushed it down the toilet," and "These big guys jumped me on the way to school and took all my books and threw them all in the dumpster behind the cafeteria."

Parents and some teachers might react to such stories with amusement, remembering when they were students and the kinds of things they did to get out of doing homework. But homework is an essential part of schooling. Every single assignment isn't necessarily so important in itself, but homework teaches students the discipline of independent work, an essential tool for becoming a truly educated person.

How many of us have heard our child's teacher say, "Tommy would do very well if he would only apply himself a little more. Sometimes he doesn't do his homework thoroughly, so he gets behind and doesn't do as well on the tests as he should"? So what can a parent do to help out besides threaten the kid with punishment for not doing his homework or offering bribes for good grades?

Lee Cantor, who is an educational consultant and conducts training seminars in classrooms management for teachers, suggests a number of things for helping students get their homework done efficiently, regularly, and on time. One thing he emphasizes in his book "Homework Without Tears" is that children need a quiet place for doing their studies. This can be anywhere in the house, but it must be quiet, well lighted, and somewhat isolated so the child can concentrate there in an undisturbed atmosphere. A kid's bedroom can be a good place, but so often these days kids have stereos, television sets, and other distractions in their rooms, so perhaps another room in the house with a desk and a chair would be better.

Another thing Cantor stresses is establishing a regular time for doing homework. By having students sit down and schedule their time, you can make them more aware of all the responsibilities they have. If they fill out a sheet for the week with all of their activities - extracurricular events, part-time jobs, household chores, etc - they can see clearly how much time they have to devote to homework. Then by carefully scheduling their homework and any free time they have left, they can establish a regular routine for getting their assignments done.

One other idea Cantor has that I think is a good one is to design a "homework survival kit" with your kids. Sometimes homework doesn't get done because the kid doesn't have all the things he needs to do it. The survival kit makes sure that doesn't happen. First, the student should ask the teacher what kinds of supplies

Pursell Staff To Hold Office Hours

A member of Congressman Carl Pursell's district staff will hold open office hours in Washtenaw County on Tuesday, April 17.

"As part of my continuing effort to make my office and staff accessible to constituents, I have asked Carol Haseltine to meet with residents from the Manchester and Chelsea areas this month," Pursell said.

Haseltine will be available to meet with residents from 10:00 to 11:30 a.m. at the Manchester Community Center, 275 S. Macomb Street. She also will be available from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Chelsea Community Hospital Woodland Room B, 775 S. Main Street.

"In addition to these special hours, my office in Ann Arbor remains available to residents on a full-time basis," he said.

The Ann Arbor office is located at 361 W. Eisenhower, or can be contacted by calling 313-761-7727.

- Adopted a resolution expressing appreciation and congratulations to Wendell Reinhart, who recently retired after 14 years of public service as a Trustee of the Village

- Adopted a resolution of thanks to Joseph Marshall for his service as a Trustee

- Approved a new contract with the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department for services within the Village

- Approved a permit for the fireworks display on Tuesday night, July 3, at Carr Park, sponsored by the Manchester Men's Club

- Approved the rezoning of 26 acres from Agricultural to Single-Family Urban Residential District, for an eventual extension of Riverbend Subdivision. (Note: Filling of land, if permitted, subject to MDNR authority; soil erosion and sedimentation control subject to Washtenaw County authority; subdivision plan subject to control by Village Code; activities in flood plain subject to control by Village Code)

- Approved a one-year renewal of the contract between the Village and the Community Resource Center for services made available to Village residents

- Reviewed a proposal under which Village Oaks, an apartment development limited to senior citizens, would contribute $10,500 in its first year toward Village services and the sewer and wastewater treatment bond, plus $1,000 to go to Manchester Township for fire and EMT services, and payments to be adjusted annually for inflation per the consumer price index. (Compared to the last Village millage, this would mean the development would pay more than 50% of the ad valorem tax.) Tabled the proposal until the next Council meeting.

School Election

The annual school election for the purpose of selecting Board of Education members will be held June 11, 1990.

There are 3 positions available. Deadline for applications is April 9, 1990 at 4:00 p.m. At this time, 4 people have requested applications to have their names placed on the ballot.

Meeting of Citizens Expressed Much Interest in New Furnace Works for Village

The meeting of the Welfare Association and citizens generally called at the K. of P. club rooms last Friday evening to receive the report of a committee on a new factory for Manchester, developed into a decidedly lively and interesting event.

Owing to the large number present it was decided to move to the large room on the third floor where president Hoffer called the meeting to order and asked E. C. Dresselhouse, chairman of the investigating committee, for his statement, which was amplified by reports by Frank D. Kern and Fred Houck, other members of the committee, who had been to Detroit to investigate.

There seemed a decided interest among those present as the report of the committee was favorable, and many questions were asked and much discussion had. Judging from the atmosphere of the meeting it will not be difficult to secure such financial assistance as was accorded the handle factory a few years ago, and which appeared to be acceptable to the present projectors.

When it came to the matter of selling stock to our citizens it was found that more information was necessary and it was decided to ask the Detroit parties to come here at an early date, demonstrate the new furnace and give all information necessary. In the meantime a committee will report on the cost of a proposed building and a site.

Thus far the meeting was without exciting features and it was not until the matter of more electricity for the village was brought up that the pyrotechnics were touched off. Dr. E. A. Lowery reported negotiations with Clinton for supplying the desired all-day service, with the idea that this village build the line at an expense of something over $5,000 and Clinton to furnish current at 8 cents per kilowatt.

This brought up a discussion of Brian is currently on the Vocational Student Council and vice president of the VICA Welding Club. He plans to seek a bachelor's degree in Welding Engineering Technology at Ferris State College.

Congratulations, Brian, for these fine accomplishments.

Senior Citizens News

The time has changed and March went out like lamb. Did it come in like a lion? It surely takes longer to get daylight now, but isn't it a bit weird to have daylight at 8:00 p.m.? My neighbor says it is all in my mind - getting used to the time changes. She's probably right, there are times when I wonder about my mind, too.

Thursday, April 5: No senior meal today as the kitchen will be in use for preparing for the Sauerkraut Supper at Emanuel. There will be bus pick up or meal delivery for this dinner by April 5 if you wish it. Call Erma Alber at 428-8707 for either.

Tuesday, April 10: Council meeting begins at 9:30 a.m. Father Van Hoff will give the clergy presentation at 11:00. Jan will serve turkey pie with her famous batter crust at 12 noon to all seniors 55 and over. There will be a meeting to work on the May-June Trumpeter calendar pages at 12:30.

Thursday, April 12: Happy birthday to all seniors who were born in April. This is your chance to eat free (ham dinner) at one of our senior meals. Call Linda at 428-8359 or Jan in the kitchen at 428-7630 (before 10:30) to sign up for your spot at senior lunch. The regulars sign up at a meal previous to when they can come. Be sure to cancel out if you can't, Jan is noted for always having enough, but let's help. We do enjoy reading her menu while waiting in line to get at her good food. Last week we had not only broccoli but "Hail to the Chief Broccoli!"

My "harem" and I were discussing Manchester times past.

Do you also remember Mary Kern serving those good limburger and onion sandwiches? I did, but must have forgotten it was made on salt-rising bread. Doesn't that make your mouth water?

Looking ahead: Monday, April 16, Seniors will leave the Center at 9:00 a.m. for Monroe and the Warehouse Outlet. Call Erma to go along to shop, shop, shop.

Tax Extension May Be Requested

"As the April 16, 1990, tax filing deadline approaches, I want to remind Michigan taxpayers that if they are unable to complete their return timely, they should request an extension by filing Form 4868, Application for Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return," said IRS district director John Hummel. "The extension must be filed by midnight, April 16," he said, "and it is important to remember that the form extends the time to file the tax return only. Any tax due must be paid with the extension application."

Hummel also said that there is no longer a special 2-month automatic extension of time to file and pay for U.S. citizens and residents traveling outside the U.S. on April 16. "Only U.S. citizens and residents whose home and main place of work are located outside the U.S. and Puerto Rico qualify for the automatic extension without filing Form 4868," Hummel added. "Remember, tax returns must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 16. Otherwise, an extension on IRS Form 4868 must be filed to avoid any possible penalties," Hummel said.

the possibilities of added power by raising the present municipal dam - the same old discussion that to date has gotten nowhere, except to show that what water was added by putting a board on the top of the present dam did not add perceptibly to the facilities of the plant. The middle dam site purchased by the common council some time ago, after the project had been voted down by taxpayers, still remains a dam site only, nothing having been done by the village to make use of the property in which they have $2,000 tied up.

The questions were many and what was the wisdom used? Why did the council buy the Schmid dam? What does the council propose to do with the middle dam? Would it not cost too much for flowage to raise the municipal dam? Why not put in a steam plant, same as other municipalities do? Why can't we have electricity on dark days now when there is plenty of water? Why are street lights cut off early when we have plenty of water? Why is not the village charged with street lighting, so that it will be paid for by all taxpayers instead of by present electric consumers? Why is not a sinking fund provided for the electric plant?

These are a few of the questions that are troubling the public's mind. No one could answer them all; no one attempted to, but the city dads present certainly gained some food for thought. It was evident there is a crying demand for more electricity; the question is how best to get it. The committee was instructed to get more details of the project of getting current from the Clinton plant.

All in all it was the liveliest meeting Manchester citizens had had in some time and though some smiled at the surcharged excitement displayed, they agreed that such meetings are beneficial and should be held often.

Mr. Marx of Detroit will be at the K. of P. Hall, Friday evening, October 24, to demonstrate the merits of his furnace. Everybody come if you want to boost Manchester.

will typically be needed for assignments. After developing a list of materials from the teacher's suggestions, the student should begin accumulating them so that the survival kit grows over the course of the school year.

Regular habits are probably the key to homework success for kids. Encouraging those regular habits is probably the best thing parents can do to help their children do homework effectively. And once those habits are established, there probably won't be too many more excuses like "My homework flew out the window of the bus on the way to school" for teachers and parents to worry about.

That's the conversation for this week. Hope to hear from you soon with other ideas about helping our kids do better in school. The address is still P.J., c/o "The Manchester Enterprise", 150 East Main Street, Manchester, MI 48158.

Underwater Archaeology Exhibit Opens April 6

Mysteries that lie beneath the inland seas will be uncovered for the public in an exhibit on underwater archaeology scheduled to open at the Michigan Historical Museum Friday, April 6.

"Beneath the Inland Seas," created jointly by the Department of State's Bureau of History and the Lake Michigan Maritime Museum of South Haven, showcases artifacts documenting Great Lakes history that have been recovered from Great Lakes shipwrecks and the Great Lakes bottomlands.

"An estimated 6,000 ships have sunk while navigating the Great Lakes and for the first time we will be exhibiting artifacts recovered by archaeologists and sport divers from those shipwrecks," Secretary of State Richard Austin said today. "Visitors will discover how well fresh water preserves those shipwrecks and how important our Great Lakes bottomlands are to our rich heritage."

"In addition to providing valuable information about the Great Lakes, we hope the exhibit will promote sport diving in Michigan as well as a respect for what lies beneath the inland seas," Secretary Austin added.

"Beneath the Inland Seas" explains how and why underwater sites are being preserved, traces the development of Great Lakes shipping, and describes what happens to a ship after it sinks in fresh water.

Among the showpieces are artifacts recovered from the "Rockway," which sank off South Haven in 1891; the "Pewabic," sunk near Alpena in 1865; and the "Regina," sunk off Port Sanilac in 1913. Other significant artifacts include prehistoric pots recovered from the waters around Isle Royale in Lake Superior, an early dugout canoe, and a War of 1812 cannon recovered from the Detroit River.

Visitors may compare an early 20th century hard-hat diving suit with modern-day scuba gear.

"Beneath the Inland Seas," which runs through October in the temporary gallery on the first floor of the Michigan Historical Museum, will be an appropriate backdrop for Diver's Showcase '90 on Saturday, April 28.

Sport diving enthusiasts will hear a variety of presentations on safety and recreational skin diving as well as an evening film festival for which tickets must be purchased in advance. Diver's Showcase '90 is being sponsored by Z Z Underwater World of Lansing, the Michigan Sea Grant Program, the Michigan Skindiving Council and the Michigan Historical Museum.

The Museum is located in the east wing of the Michigan Library and Historical Center. Also available to visitors is the Museum Store, open daily except Mondays featuring unique gift items that relate to the Museum's exhibits.

Museum hours are Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.; Saturdays, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.; and, Sundays and holidays, 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. The Museum will be open Easter Sunday and Memorial Day.

Museum admission and weekend parking are free. Tours for groups of 10 or more are available upon advance request. For more information, telephone (517) 373-3559.

Pheasant Releases

The fourth year of purebred Sichuan pheasant releases by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) was today kicked off with another introduction of the new species into southeast Michigan, announced DNR Director David Hales.

Approximately 50 Sichuan pheasants were released at Seven Lakes State Park, located about 2½ miles northwest of Holly. These birds were the first of the nearly 3,000 scheduled for release in Oakland County.

The event began this spring's releases, which should total nearly 9,000 pheasants in eight additional counties: Clinton, Genesee, Ingham, Jackson, LaPeer, Livingston, Shiawassee and Washtenaw.

DNR wildlife biologists remain cautiously optimistic about the future of this program, which began in 1985 when more than 2,000 eggs were brought over from the Sichuan Province in the People's Republic of China.

The ring-necked pheasant was introduced into Michigan in 1918, and the first hunting season was in 1925. The population continued to grow into the 1940's, but has decreased markedly since that time.

It is hoped that the Sichuan pheasants' preference for non-farmed areas will continue to allow them to adapt well to similar habitats in Michigan.

A Nation Of Volunteers

Congratulations. If you're one of the more than half of all adult Americans who actively volunteer in some way in their communities, President Bush would like to honor you. He declared April 9th through 15th as National Volunteer Week.

Volunteers, Bush noted, have "lived up to an ideal once given voice by Horace Mann that I've always admired. 'Be ashamed to die,' he said, 'until you have won some victory for humanity.'"

Every second American volunteers to help others.

Manchester Area Walkers

The Manchester Area Walkers will have a meeting Wednesday, April 11, 7:00 p.m. at Klager Elementary School.

Come join us for fun, friendship, motivation and support.

Council On Aging

The Washtenaw County Council on Aging will conduct its annual meeting on Thursday, April 19, 1990 from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon at the Zion Lutheran Church, 1510 West Liberty, Ann Arbor.

Mr. James McGuire, Director of Planning and Advocacy from the Area Agency on Aging 1-B, will be the featured speaker. Mr. McGuire will discuss legislation issues of interest to senior adults, and the 1990 State initiated service programs for older adults such as MEPPS (Michigan Emergency Pharmaceutical Program for Seniors). MEPPS is a drug voucher program which will pay for the short-term drug needs of eligible older persons.

During the annual meeting, officers for 1990-91 will be installed.

Tree Sale Pick-Up Day

The Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District reminds everyone who has ordered tree and shrub seedlings through the District's Spring Tree Sale, that the distribution day for the seedlings has been set for Saturday, April 14, 1990, 8:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m., at the Washtenaw County Road Commission Garage, 55 North Zeeb Road, Ann Arbor.

Seedlings should be picked up that day because all extra or unclaimed trees and shrubs will be sold beginning at 12:30 p.m., April 14.

Reminder cards have been sent to all those who have ordered trees and shrubs. These cards should be brought along when picking up trees. If trees cannot be picked up on April 14, contact the District office by calling 313-761-6721 to make other arrangements.

One advantage of a Comerica home equity loan is obvious.

You might not even realize it, but many smart borrowers are taking advantage of the fact that the interest on a Comerica home equity loan is fully tax-deductible.* They're also discovering that Comerica charges no upfront fees and gives you these three loans to choose from.

- EQUITY LINE - A credit line you can draw on when you need it with convenient check access. Line amounts available to $200,000.
- IDEAL CREDIT LINE - A credit line available when you need it offering check or VISA* access. Line amounts available from $5,000 to $20,000.
- FIXED EQUITY INSTALLMENT LOAN - A one-time fixed rate loan in amounts from $5,000 to $50,000 with fixed installment payments.

All three are ideal to pay for your children's education, consolidate debts, make home improvements, or even buy that dream car. Whatever need you might have, a Comerica home equity loan makes a lot of sense. Because when it comes to borrowing money, there's no place like home. To learn more, call 1-800-292-1300 or visit the Comerica branch nearest you.

Tricky Pete and Rowdy Kate Wed

Artwork by Eric Sexton

Tricky Pete Porter, who earned his notoriety by romancing the daughters of wealthy ranchers and then mysteriously disappearing before the wedding - with the dowry, finally met his match. Rowdy Kate, the pistol packin' daughter of Big Bart Millionola, married desperado Pete in a ceremony performed by Parson Eveready...

A special presentation of Ms. Young's Middle School Theatrical Class was given Wednesday evening, March 28. The play was an American West version of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" entitled "Rowdy Kate."

The delightful musical comedy starred Jodi Moore as Rowdy Kate and J.D. Gould as Tricky Pete Porter.

Bring Back The Bluebird

"Bring Back the Bluebird" workshops have been scheduled for the fifth consecutive year by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Natural Heritage Program and Michigan State University's (MSU) Cooperative Extension Service.

Fifty sessions, designed to teach how to help bluebirds by building and placing nest boxes in suitable habitat, have been planned in cooperation with the MSU Cooperative Extension Service's County 4-H Youth Program. More than 16,000 people have attended the workshops in the past four years, and 6,000 are expected this year. Thousands of bluebird boxes have been built by workshop participants and placed around the state.

"Bluebird populations in Michigan declined by more than 80 percent because of the use of pesticides, loss of habitat and competition from non-native starlings and English sparrows," said DNR Director David Hales. "Recently, bluebird numbers have increased significantly throughout the state, and we believe these workshops are largely responsible for their recovery."

Some participants in each workshop will be given a ready-to-assemble nest box kit through cost-sharing efforts of the Nongame Wildlife Fund and the Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps (MCCC). The MCCC resident camp at Vanderbilt, near Gaylord, is providing 2,400 kits for distribution at these workshops.

"Bluebirds are songbirds, often inhabiting farmland and large forest openings," said Bob Hess, supervisor of the DNR's Nongame Wildlife Program. "The goal of the Nongame Wildlife Fund, MSU Cooperative Extension Service and MCCC in offering these workshops is to reestablish these birds to a point where they are once again a common sight throughout the state."

Citizen contributions to the Nongame Wildlife Fund on the Michigan income tax form help make these workshops possible. Michigan residents can help the bluebird, loon, bald eagle, peregrine falcon and hundreds of other non-hunted species and endangered plants by "looking for the loon" on their state tax forms and giving to the Nongame Wildlife Fund.

To schedule a bluebird workshop, contact Glenn Dudderar, MSU Cooperative Extension Service, 517-355-7493.

TAX LAWS CAN HELP OFFSET THE HIGH COST OF CHILD CARE

Americans spend approximately $14 billion annually on child care. In more down-to-earth terms, that figure breaks down to about $42.50 per week, or $170 per month, for one family.

You don't have to be a mathematician to figure out that childcare costs can easily throw a family's budget off course. But, according to the Michigan Association of CPAs, there are a number of tax breaks available to help you get back on track.

Dependent-Care Tax Credit

For example, if you pay a babysitter or nanny to care for your children while you and your spouse work, you may be entitled to a dependent-care tax credit. To qualify for the credit, you and your spouse must be gainfully employed, unless one of you is physically or mentally disabled or is enrolled as a full-time student. In addition, the child-care expenses must be for a dependent under age 13. You should also note that you may have to file IRS Form 2441, which asks you to supply the name, address and Social Security number of any person providing child-care services.

How much is the credit worth? Depending on your adjusted gross income (AGI), the credit equals 20 to 30 percent of your qualified child-care expenses. However, the amount of allowable expenses is capped at $2,400 for one dependent and at $4,800 for two or more dependents. You should also note that the allowable expenses cannot exceed the earned income of the lower-paid spouse.

Calculating the credit amount is really not as complicated as you may think. To summarize, if your combined AGI is under $10,000, the credit maximum is $720 for one child and $1,440 for more than one. If your AGI is more than $28,000, the credit maximum is $480 for one dependent and $960 for two or more dependents. If your AGI falls between those two figures, you determine your credit percentage by reducing the 30 percent rate by one percentage point for each $2,000 of AGI above the $10,000 floor.

Let's look at an example. Ann and Todd have an AGI of $24,000. They must therefore reduce the 30 percent credit rate by seven points, making their maximum credit $552 (23 percent of $2,400) for one dependent or $1,104 (23 percent of $4,800) for two or more dependents.

Keep in mind, too, that if you regularly pay a babysitter to care for your children in your home, you must withhold the appropriate Social Security taxes. If you don't, the IRS may hold you liable not only for the unpaid tax, but also for any penalties and interest due.

Employer-Sponsored Dependent-Care Assistance

You may be able to pay for child care with tax-free dollars if your employer offers a dependent-care assistance plan. How do these plans work? First, you provide your employer with an estimate of your annual child-care costs, up to a maximum of $5,000 if you file a joint return. Your employer will then withhold this amount from your paycheck in equal portions over the year. (Keep in mind that if actual child-care expenses are less than the employee's original estimate, most employer-sponsored assistance plans will not refund the difference to the participants.)

The money that the company sets aside is excluded from federal income tax. If this process sounds familiar, it should. The automatic deduction of pre-tax dollars is basically the same procedure as the one normally used in company 401(k) plans.

At regular intervals you will have to inform your employer of your actual child-care costs as well as the name and the Social Security number of the person or organization providing the service. The company will then reimburse you from the untaxed money it has deducted from your regular pay.

Be aware that, in most cases, you can no longer take advantage of both the dependent-care tax credit and the employer-sponsored assistance plan if your child-care expenses exceed $5,000. Generally, you must now choose between the two tax breaks.

As a general rule, married couples with lower incomes (a combined AGI of $29,750 or less) and child care expenses under $3,200 will probably do better with the dependent-care credit. On the other hand, higher-paid employees may find company assistance plans more beneficial. For instance, Mary is near the top of the 28 percent tax bracket and pays 7.51 percent in Social Security payroll tax. She pays $5,000 a year out of her own pocket to a day-care center for her five-year-old daughter. If she had the $5,000 covered by an employer-sponsored assistance plan she could save as much as $1,776 in tax (35.51 percent of $5,000). If she applies the same $5,000 to the dependent-care tax credit instead, the most she can save in taxes is $480.

Dependent Exemptions
Bear in mind, too, that as a parent you can generally claim an additional exemption for each of your dependent children, as long as you supply more than one-half of their annual support. Each exemption is $2,000 for 1989. Translated into dollars and cents, claiming two additional exemptions can save someone in the 28 percent tax bracket as much as $1,120 in federal taxes.

Just remember that you are not entitled to the exemption if your child has personal gross income of more than $2,000, unless he or she is under age 19, or under age 24 and a full-time student.

Tax rules can take some of the bite out of your child-care bills, but make sure that you have all the facts. For further information, you should consult your own CPA.

Winter Sports Recognition Night

by Jon

Tuesday night put the cap on winter sports season as our young athletes received verbal and tangible rewards for their accomplishments.

This past campaign was more hectic than usual as we added freshman basketball for the first time in almost ten years. Our JV Girls' Volleyball squad took the league's top spot. Our wrestling team and individuals were remarkable and unfortunately we must say goodbye to coach Dan Jordan.

These are the individuals who won academic all-conference
