The State Public School

Manchester Enterprise
May 17, 1888

It seems strange that the people of the state of Michigan should have been the first in the union to establish a public school for dependent children, yet such is the case, and we have just reason to feel proud of the good work already accomplished through its instrumentality.

The school is located about a mile north of the beautiful city of Coldwater, on a farm of 100 acres, furnishing an abundance of vegetables and affording pastures for 20 cows which furnish milk and butter for the children. The children work, eat and attend school together, but in all other respects live as separate families, except that the families are somewhat larger, numbering from 20 to 30 members.

There are nine cottage houses under the supervision of intelligent women. In these cottages are found bath rooms, which must be used by every child once a week, wash rooms and comfortable beds to sleep in, and the buildings are heated by steam.

In the main building are the offices, a library for the 42 employees, and a sewing room where half a dozen machines stitch for 200 babies. Think of it, 200 pairs of little shoes stubbed, and 200 pairs of stockings to mend to-night. There are also dining rooms the children, superintendent and employees, and a fine chapel seating 400 persons. Beneath the chapel is a fine playroom and adjoining it is the bakery, where a barrel of flour is daily made into bread. In addition to bread the children consume the milk of 20 cows and large quantities of meat and vegetables. Passing into the kitchen the illusion of the "old home" is still kept up. There is the veritable grandma peeling apples, while two little six-year-olds slyly appropriate the choice bits of apple that fall from her knife. It is the aim of the school to keep the children at work as soon as they are old enough, and in all departments you will notice them "helping about the house." In the school houses the children are instructed in the common branches as high as the fourth grade of our public schools. There is every facility for kindergarten work, which is here equal to any done in the state.

In the school rooms the absence of girls is at once noticed. The reason for this is that fewer girls than boys become dependent, while the demand for girls by those who wish to adopt children is twice as large.

By corresponding with Prof. Wesley Sears, the superintendent, you can learn how children are sent to the school and how to proceed to secure one of the little ones. The school is overcrowded now and he is desirous of securing good homes for many of the children, in order that others who need the benefit of the institution can be admitted.

Stamping Rezoning Petition Denied

After the re-zoning of the 30 plus acres to General Industrial for the facility, petitions were filed with the township clerk requesting that the matter be put to a vote of the people.

In compliance with the law, the petitions had 89 valid signatures. 8% of the registered, or 72 voters must sign a petition to allow for a vote. Only citizens living in the township but outside the village limits were eligible to vote.

STATE STATUTE MCIA 125.282 Zoning ordinance; referendum, petition, filing, election:

Sec. 12. Within 30 days following the passage of the zoning ordinance, a petition signed by a number of qualified and registered voters residing in the portion of the township outside the limits of cities and villages equal to not less than 8% of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor, at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected, in the township may be filed with the township clerk requesting the submission of an ordinance or part of an ordinance to the electors residing in the portion of the township outside the limits of cities and villages for their approval. Upon the filing of the petition, an ordinance or part of an ordinance passed by the township board shall not be invalidated until it is rejected by a majority of the registered voters located in the portion of the township outside the limits of cities and villages thereon at the next regular election which supplies reasonable time for proper notices and printing of ballots, or at any special election called for that purpose. The township board shall provide the manner of submitting an ordinance or part of an ordinance to the voters for their approval or rejection, and determining the result thereof.

On Tuesday, April 3, the voters overturned the boards decision by a 232-145 margin.

In 1973, when the township zoning ordinance went into effect, Manchester Stamping was zoned Limited Industrial. "Limited Industrial" includes research, light industrial (electronics, electrical, precision instruments for example) and some assembly. After a few years, they asked for and were granted rezoning for additional land, expanding the Limited Industrial area.

After being turned down by the Manchester Township Planning Commission and the Manchester

Around The Table With PJ

Some years ago, a man in Houston, Texas, received an invitation to a meeting at his child's high school. The note from the school principal included the following paragraph:

"Our school's Cross-Cultural, Multi-Ethnic, Individualized Learning Program is designed to enhance the concept of an Open-Ended Learning Program with emphasis on a continuum of multiethnic academically enriched learning, using the identified intellectually gifted child as the agent or director of his own learning. Major emphasis is on cross-graded, multi-ethnic learning with the main objective being to learn respect for the uniqueness of a person."

That paragraph, which is quoted in the book "Doublespeak" by William Lutz, an English professor at Rutgers University, is a perfect example of "educationese," the kind of language that flows into, out of, around, and through our schools. When one of the purposes of our education system is to teach students to communicate effectively, why is it that the language of the system is indecipherable, even to some of those who use it?

Lutz's book (published by Harper and Row and costing $17.95) gives numerous examples of doublespeak as it exists in all areas of our lives. One reason for this kind of excess verbiage in education is financial. Grant proposals written in clear English apparently don't get much attention from the people who hand out the money. For example, one community college grant proposal asserted that one of the school's major goals was "To organize a comprehensive process of assessment, teaching strategies, learning support, and intervention which effectively promotes student success in acquiring the skills and knowledge leading to satisfying and productive lives." Lutz says that a clear sentence like "We're going to teach these

Senior Citizens News

Green grass and frost on the clothesline greeted me when I went out to hang up the wash and I wonder when it will get warm. Don't we get over-anxious after Easter to taste that rhubarb that's showing through? Spring flowers do help the days seem brighter, aren't they pretty? It is the nicest time of year.

The nicest time of the week is when we seniors congregate at Emanuel's dining room for Tuesday and Thursday meals, won't you join us? Conversation is lively. (We at our age are all experts on something.)

Jan will serve baked chicken on Thursday, April 19, and bingo players convene at the Center at 12:30. Call Linda at 428-8359, or Jan before 10:30 on meal days at 428-7630 for meal reservations.

Tuesday, April 24: Come in at 11:00 to have your blood pressure taken by one of our local nurses. Have you ever tried to say "Boston Crumb Scrod" quickly? If you can't wrap your tongue around the wording, come try the square stuff that Jan says was caught on a square rod in a square pond! (And, by the way, by her square brother.) "Living Alone in Your Golden Years" is the topic of the presentation given by Anita Cios at 12:30.

Wednesday, April 25: Let's join the aquacizers at the pool. Bus pickup begins at 10:00 a.m., try it, you might like it! Call Howard Parr at 428-9233.

The success of the Mission will be monitored through Student Achievement Data, Co-Curricular Participation, Graduation Rates and Surveys. Use of the feedback will lead to exemplary education and constant improvement vital to success.

Rezoning Denied

Township Board last summer, Manchester Stamping requested and received rezoning in December. The rezoning was for General Industrial which could encompass commercial and industrial uses such as storage yards, lumber yards, trucking and fuel depots.

Wayne Hamilton, co-owner and president of Manchester Stamping states "We are actively and aggressively looking outside of this community for a new place to locate our facility." Sites being considered include Jackson County, Saline, Milan and Dexter.

Stamping now employs 82 people and has an anticipated growth of 35 percent next year. They pay approximately $80,000 in taxes with $51,971 of that amount going to support the school.

It remains to be seen how the relocation would effect the township tax structure, i.e. school taxes, personal property taxes, etc.

Mr. Hamilton also said "He will try to sell the local plant, if that fails, we will abandon the site."

Brownie Badge Day

Junior/Cadette Girl Scout Troop 596 provided a special afternoon of fun for Brownie Troop 706 on March 28 at the Manchester United Methodist Church. The Girl Scouts conducted the Brownies on a trip around the world to learn the games and customs of far away lands.

Provided with tickets, the girls took off on "Scout Airlines", Pan Am and British Airways. Using their "Girl Scout Passport to Play," they visited such places as Canada, France, Hawaii and Japan.

Refreshments were served at the end of the excursion. After all the excitement of the "travel" and the games, the afternoon was closed with a very nice recognition ceremony with Troop 596 presenting the badges individually to the Brownies. There was a rousing round of applause for Troop 596 and all the hard work they did in preparing and presenting this fun afternoon.

Free Soil Samples & No-Till Drill Rental

Now is the time to take soil samples for fertilizer and lime recommendations before the press of field work begins. The Michigan Energy Conservation Program (MECP) of the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District is offering free soil samples, on a limited basis, to assist farmers in saving money on their fertilizer bills and reducing the potential for ground and surface water pollution from over-fertilization. In 1989, participating farmers reported savings of 41,420 pounds of Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potassium fertilizer and $7,120 in fertilizer costs as a result of the free soil sampling program.

The MECP will pay for the analysis of up to five soil samples per farmer. Samples will be analyzed by the Michigan State University Soil Testing Lab and provide current soil fertility levels and fertilizer and lime recommendations based upon the crop to be grown.

Participation is limited and is open only to individuals producing agricultural crops. After soil samples are analyzed the results will be entered into a computer program which will provide the farmer with estimated cost savings information if the MSU fertilizer recommendations are followed.

Also available through the Soil Conservation Districts' MECP program is rental of a no-till drill—the first ten acres free. For further information on either the free soil samples or free drill rental, contact Dennis Rice, MECP Technician at the Washtenaw County Soil Conservation District, 6101 Jackson Road, Ann Arbor. ## MHS Accreditation Renewed Principal Rod Morrison of Manchester High School announced today that the school's North Central Association accreditation has been extended through the 1989-90 school year.

"Once in every seven-year cycle each NCA school must undergo a comprehensive self-study followed by an NCA team visit," Principal Morrison explained. "This school was evaluated in 1987-88. In the interim years, a school is accredited on the basis of its report on conditions in the school and on such supplementary information as the North Central Association requests. This continued accreditation means that the conditions for effective education exist in the school."

The North Central Association is the largest of the country's regional accrediting agencies. It is a voluntary membership league of 6,000 schools and 900 colleges and universities within a nineteen-state region. The Association works with schools to strengthen education through evaluation and accreditation.

Village Planning Commission

Regular Session
March 13, 1990

PRESENT
Palms, Lowery, Little, Way, Hinkley, Walton, Gleason, Daverman; Absent-Schiller

Fourteen members of the general public were present. List available.

CALL TO ORDER

The meeting was called to order at 7:35 by Chairman Daverman in the Council Room of the Village Hall.

APPROVAL OF AGENDA

Hinkley made a motion to accept the minutes of the February regular meeting. Palms seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

Minutes of the Special Meeting held February 24, 1990 (written by Daverman). Daverman stated that the representative for Pilot Industries had notified him that he preferred the second choice location for the sign. Daverman noted that both the first and second choice locations were valid. He stressed that only one sign was allowed. Little noted that the application form still needed to be signed by the owner or his authorized agent. Palms made a motion to accept the minutes with the above additions. Lowery seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

REPORTS

None

REGULAR BUSINESS PUBLIC HEARING/UNION CONSTRUCTION: RIVERBEND DRIVE

Daverman presented a review on the proposed rezoning of 26.19 acres west of Riverbend from Ag to R-1B and explained the Public Hearing process.

The petitioners gave a short review of their proposed project. They brought out the following points:

1. The R-1B zoning would be consistent with the zoning east of Riverbend.

2. A portion of this parcel had been platted years before.

3. They (the petitioners) will extend water, storm drains, sewer and other utilities at their cost.

Daverman reviewed the Finding of Facts developed at the January 18, 1990 regular meeting. He noted the petitioner is paying for all utility improvements. He then opened the discussion to the public.

The discussion included the following points:

1. Mr. Brooks expressed concern that if all 26 acres were developed, it would create an increased demand for water. Therefore, it would become a burden to the Village to run water under the river. He questioned who would be paying for this extension.

2. The petitioner noted that according to the Village engineers, the part of town north of Main Street has a static pressure between 42 and 52 pounds with no demand. 42 to 52 pounds is sufficient for current loading, including their project. He stated they were asking for a drop of 1 pound within that pressure system. The petitioner added that there is a water service and distribution problem up on the whole north end of town right now but the number of houses they plan to build (12) would not add to that problem.

3. Daverman asked if the project would work off the existing system and not affect the surrounding homes. The petitioner answered yes.

4. Daverman noted that running an additional water line under the river was a separate issue, brought up by Village Council. The Village can always choose to update the water system, or other services, based upon need, priority and funding.

5. Several individuals noted that although the number of houses the petitioner plans to build (portion already platted) may not affect the water pressure noticeably, if more houses in the future are built on the remainder of the 26 acres, it may be necessary to extend the water lines across the river at public expense. It was felt this was in essence subsidizing the developer. They felt the developer should pay for that growth. It was stated developers must pay all the development costs.

6. Mr. Brooks questioned why the whole 26 acres should be re-zoned now. Why not just the portion which has been platted?

7. Daverman noted a Public Hearing to be held April 14, 1990 by the DNR has been posted to review and hear public comment on the permit to place fill materials in a wetland area.

8. Daverman noted that the development of the area west of Riverbend was consistent with the future long-term goals of the Village (as indicated on the 1973 General Land Use Development Plan).

9. Daverman also noted that it is the DNR's decision as to whether or not to approve the fill or alter the floodplain.

10. Palms suggested the Village might want to consider some type of river setback ordinance.

11. Hinkley noted that lots 1 on the east and west side of the proposed development will need to be modified for a cul-de-sac. This is important for fire service turn around and snow removal.

12. Lowery noted the still-present possibility of a river crossing. Please note items 11 and 12 should be discussed and decided by Village Council.

The Public Hearing closed at 8:43.

Walton made a motion to recommend to Council they approve the request for re-zoning as shown on the petition. Items that should be resolved between the Village and the petitioner are the following:

1. The nature of the easement to access across the river (utility-20 ft. or street R.O.W. 66 ft.) and if there should be a cul-de-sac or the 66 ft R.O.W.

2. It was also recommended that the fire department/utility department determine fire hydrant needs for this new development and for cleaning out the service line.

Hinkley seconded the motion. Roll Call Vote: All ayes.

SIGN PERMIT REVIEW: DR.

STAN GILBERT

Daverman reviewed the background on the sign permit. Dr. Gilbert noted that his consultants have advised him that the best location for this sign is the one shown on the application. He also noted that he was using the wooden tabloid as an "open & closed" type of notification. Gilbert asked if lettering such as "business hours" printed on the side of the building was considered a sign. Daverman answered yes, it was a part of the basic sign. Dr. Gilbert then asked what if he was to replace the side door with a solid glass structure and then put hours on that door. Daverman answered that would be no problem.

Lowery asked if the new light Dr. Gilbert installed was on all night. Dr. Gilbert noted it was a Consumer Power's light which was operated by an "eye." Lowery suggested it might be better if it was only on until 11:00 p.m. Little expressed concern that this light might be shining in the neighbors windows, however, he had received no complaints. Daverman noted that the ordinance does not address the time issue concerning lights but does mention that the light should be arranged so as to reflect away adjoining premises. He asked Dr. Gilbert to check his light to make sure it reflects away from neighboring windows.

Gleason made a motion to approve the Sign Permit as shown on the application for Dr. Stan Gilbert. Palms seconded the motion. Way stressed that the light be looked into. The motion passed on a voice vote.

NEW BUSINESS

SIGN ORDINANCE: COMMISSIONER PALMS

A lengthy discussion took place concerning the proposed new sign ordinance. Exit Walton at 9:11.

Hinkley suggested the Village consider erecting three new Village entrance signs which are compatible with the proposed new sign ordinance.

DISCUSSION: INDUSTRIAL DISTRICT & COMMITTEE REPORT: SITE PLAN REVIEWS

Hinkley made a motion to table items B (Discussion: Industrial District) and C (Committee report on Site Plan Reviews.) Lowery seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote.

The meeting will be held at the home of Marsha Chartrand, 208 S. Clinton St., Manchester.

The Manchester Area Historical Society met at the Blacksmith Shop on Monday, April 16, 1990. Laura Lyn Rosier, granddaughter of Harold Rosier, gave an interesting presentation on the Rosier Players. She gave some history of the old-time tent shows and described their programs. She showed slides of the company putting up the 45 foot by 90 foot tent and of the actors in their costumes. The actors have to be able to do everything from putting up the tent to running the lights to making popcorn and lemonade. Many of the members and guests remembered the tent shows that used to come to Manchester years ago. They were happy to hear that they will have an opportunity to see the Rosier Players in Ann Arbor July 31 to August 4, and at Jackson Community College August 7 to 18. Refreshments were served by Mary Blossom and Gail Curtis.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Village of Manchester Combined Sewer Overflow Control Facilities Project Plan

Notice is hereby given that the Village of Manchester will hold a public hearing on the proposed Project Plan for Combined Sewer Overflow Control Facilities. The public hearing will be held at 7:00 p.m. on April 23, 1990, in the Village offices, 120 South Clinton, Manchester, Michigan 48158.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive public comment on the Draft Project Plan prior to adopting a specific course of action.

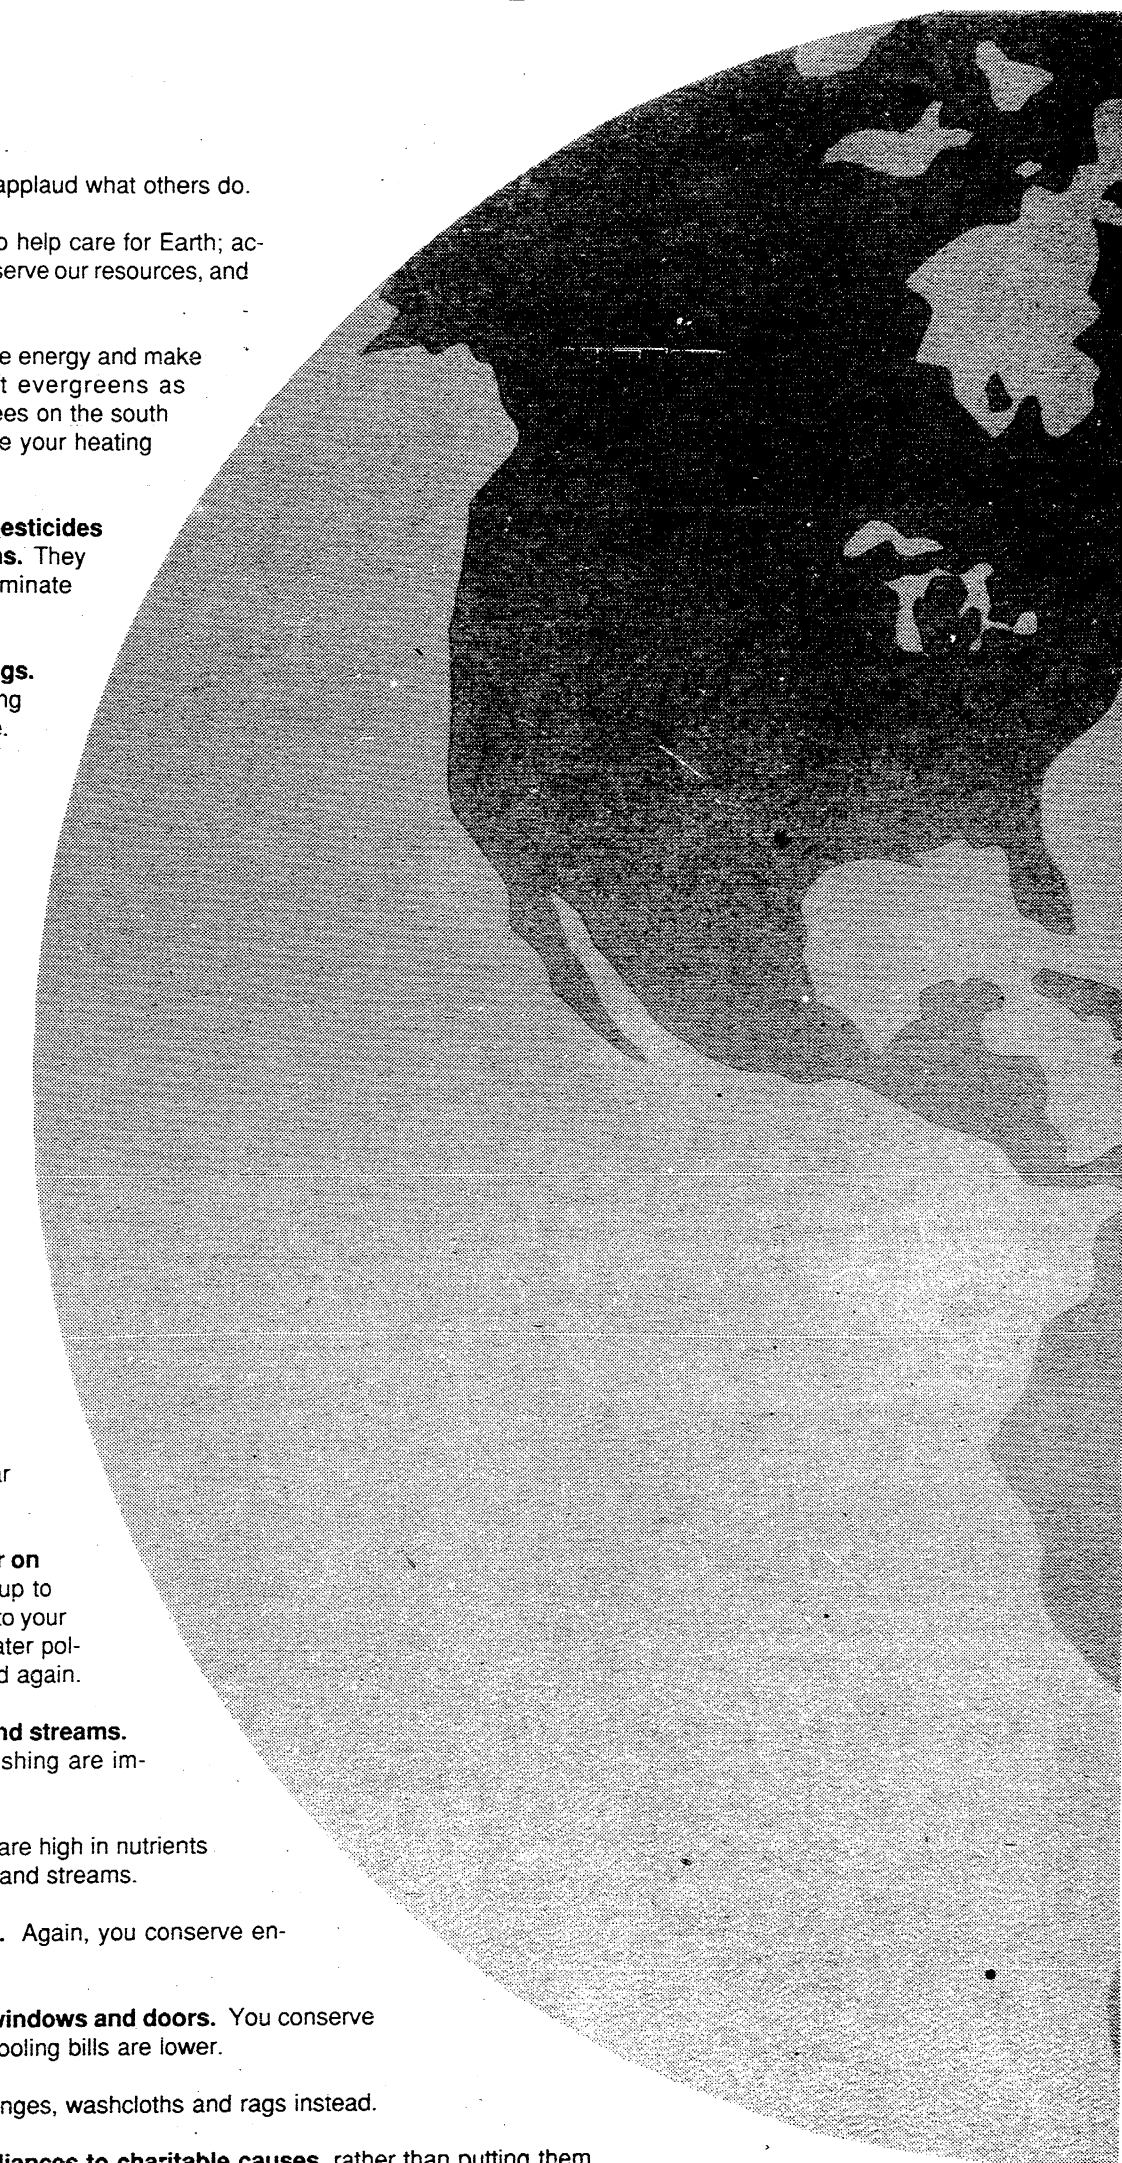

The Village previously adopted a program to separate its stormwater and sanitary sewage collection systems to eliminate combined sewage overflows to the River Raisin. The sewer separation program was to be implemented in three phases and the proposed Project Plan considers the final phase of the separation program. The recommended plan includes storm and sanitary sewer construction to effectively eliminate combined sewer overflows in the future.

A low interest loan may be available from the Michigan State Revolving Loan Fund Program to finance the proposed improvements. Improvements presented in the Draft Project Plan have an estimated project cost of $900,000 and are expected to result in a monthly cost of $7.30 to an average residential customer.

The Draft Project Plan will be available for public review beginning March 27, 1990, at the Office of the Village Clerk, 120 South Clinton, Manchester, Michigan 48158. Written comments may be submitted to Mrs. Karen Tucker, Village Clerk, through April 20, 1990, for inclusion into the public record.

EARTH DAY
Sunday, April 22, 1990

Caring for Earth is not a spectator sport. Caring for Earth requires participation. It requires that you do something, not just applaud what others do.

There are many, many things you can do to help care for Earth; actions that reduce pollution, save energy, conserve our resources, and often save you dollars.

Plant trees. Trees reduce air pollution, save energy and make your living space more beautiful. Plant evergreens as windbreaks on the north side and shade trees on the south side of homes and other buildings to reduce your heating and cooling bills.

Reduce the use of chemical fertilizers, pesticides and weed killers on your lawn and gardens. They require energy to produce and may contaminate groundwater, lakes and streams.

Compost grass clippings and tree trimmings. Burning yard waste pollutes the air. Sending it to landfills takes up valuable landfill space. You can use compost for weed control and soil enrichment in your own yard.

Replace grass with other groundcovers, such as English Ivy, Pachysandra and Periwinkle to avoid the problems associated with lawn maintenance.

Buy fuel-efficient cars and trucks. Keep your car tuned and tire pressure up. These measures conserve energy and save you money at the gas pump.

Don't speed. Cruising at 70 mph instead of 55 mph increases gas consumption and therefore adds to your gas bills.

Use your car efficiently. Consolidate your errands to avoid unnecessary trips. Avoid rush hour traffic. Carpool or vanpool to work or school. Or ride the bus. Better yet, move closer to work or school.

Use air conditioning sparingly, both in your car and at home. Harmful emissions are reduced, energy is conserved -- and, car and home fuel bills cost less.

Never pour used motor oil into a sewer or on the ground. One gallon can contaminate up to 1,000,000 gallons of water. Taking used oil to your local oil recycling center not only avoids water pollution but allows it to be re-refined and used again.

Never dump boat oil or bilge into lakes and streams. Pollution is reduced, and swimming and fishing are improved.

Don't feed the waterfowl. Bird droppings are high in nutrients and cause excessive plant growth in lakes and streams.

Turn off the lights when leaving a room. Again, you conserve energy and save on your electric bill.

Insulate your home. Weatherstrip your windows and doors. You conserve energy year-round, and your heating and cooling bills are lower.

Out with paper towels. Use reusable sponges, washcloths and rags instead.

Donate used clothing, furniture and appliances to charitable causes, rather than putting them out with the trash. Usually, you can take a tax deduction, too.

Encourage your community to initiate or expand a recycling program. Then, make certain your family, friends, co-workers, church, school and neighbors participate.

Buy recycled. Whenever possible, purchase products made with recycled or recyclable materials. Recycled products will probably include this logo: ♻️

Buy durable products instead of disposable ones. Use cloth diapers, refillable razors and lighters, reusable picnic supplies, and ceramic coffee mugs, instead of polystyrene cups.

If you have a choice, buy the product wrapped in the least packaging. Buy in bulk or in larger containers. Complain about excess packaging.

Ask for bags made of recycled paper at the grocery store. Better yet, take a string bag or a used paper bag with you, and bring it home full.

Use pump spray containers, instead of aerosol cans.

Be part of the solution... a participant and not a spectator in caring for Earth.

For more information about solid waste, water quality and air quality issues, or to sign up for a carpool or vanpool, contact SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, at (313) 961-4266.

Around The Table With PJ

kids so they learn what they need to know to get along in life" would never have convinced the money men to give the school its grant.

There's a good reason to think he's right. One school board, Lutz says, would not provide funds for a swimming pool until the high school principal submitted a proposal for an "aquatic therapy department" for handicapped children. Then the principal got his pool.

Another reason for such linguistic nonsense is that educators are trying hard to be professionals, and professionals—such as doctors and lawyers—are distinguished partly by their specialized language. If just anyone can understand the language of a profession, the logic goes, what makes the members of that profession so special? The result in education is language like that in these examples, also taken from Lutz's book: Children who talk to themselves "engage in audible verbal self-reinforcement," and those who misbehave in class have an "attention deficit disorder." Kids who don't have good handwriting are failures at "grapho-motor representation," and students who live in the country and can't walk to school have to ride on a "transportation component" driven by a "certified adolescent transportation specialist."

Of course, the worst of this stuff comes from the researchers and academics, who must show their erudition in the prose they use. In explaining how students take tests, the Educational Testing Service said in a research report that "The children's preference for strategy was most clearly evident when they were near the limits of their capacity and needed to allocate their resources to optimal advantage." In other words, they were running out of time or didn't know the answers, so they guessed.

This wordy style isn't unique to education, of course. Government may be the worst offender of all in violating clear expression, and advertisers, physicians, attorneys, salespeople, and many others are guilty as well. But educators should be especially careful to resist the temptation to write and speak in such a garbled way. They are setting the example for communication for the next generation, and communication between young and old is tough enough as it is.

So, teachers, next time you are tempted to "optimize time-on-task in order to facilitate students' acquisition of the appropriate knowledge base," why don't you just tell the kids to work harder on their assignments so they can learn what they need to learn?

Have you got any good examples of doublespeak? If you do, send them to PJ, c/o The Manchester Enterprise, 150 East Main Street, P.O. Box 37, Manchester, MI 48158. They could make for an entertaining conversation.

Vegetable side dishes don't have to be boring. Stir up a little excitement with this healthful conglomeration.

1 lb. fresh broccoli	5 med. green onions, sliced thin
1 tbsp. margarine	1 tsp. sherry
1 tbsp. peanut oil	2 tbsp. freshly ground black pepper
1 lb. carrots, peeled and thinly sliced	1 tsp. nutmeg
3/4 lb. mushrooms, sliced thin	1 tsp. thyme
1 tbsp. lemon juice

Wash broccoli and trim. Peel stems and cut into 2-inch lengths. Separate florets by cutting into quarters so they are of uniform size. # My Job.

My Story

By Yolanda Lashaway
Glacier Hills Nursing Assistant

"I'm a single parent living in Britton, and after losing over five hundred acres to the blight, I had to find a job. My mom said, "Why don't you try being a nursing assistant." I said, "Oh, Mom, I don't know if I can." I went to work and got to really liking it.

I went to Glacier Hills in Ann Arbor for a job interview. I was very impressed the instant I walked in the door. It was very homey. I was offered a full time job with benefits, which no single parent can turn down.

I found something I was really interested in—working with Alzheimer's patients. It's warm and comforting to see your patients improve and to add a little spice to their lives. When I walk into the room, they get a big smile and their eyes get all excited because they remember someone who's kind and loving and caring.

The patients are so interesting. Can you imagine some of the things they have seen and have gone through? I love their stories. They're great. They are fantastic people and have contributed a lot to the world.

The patients give to me more than I probably do to them. That's how I feel about it. I really enjoy my job."

Due to an expansion program, Glacier Hills has new opportunities for more people like Yolanda Lashaway. If you think you'd enjoy caring for our patients and residents, call us so we can tell you more.

You don't need previous experience as a nursing assistant. We provide an excellent, supportive training program so you can become a nursing assistant, and, like Yolanda Lashaway, perhaps find a job that you will enjoy talking about.

Call today. Just dial (313) 769-6410 and ask for Judith Smith, RN, to learn more.

Kiwanis Plan Community Service

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Manchester welcomed Kiwanis Lt. Governor Warren Atkinson of Chelsea, who discussed the organization's "Major Emphasis" project.

Atkinson stressed that this year marks the 75th anniversary (1915-1990) of Kiwanis. While the main purpose for the club's existence is community service, the highest priority, or major emphasis, over the past twenty years has been to benefit children.

Atkinson outlined the youth-targeted projects Kiwanis groups have developed and conducted successfully, including the B.U.G. (Bringing Up Grades) program for under-achievers, and a curriculum designed to help build good character, which can be donated to the local school system.

Also stressed by Atkinson was the commitment of personal time from each Kiwanis member through mentoring programs, as well as presenting leadership workshops for community youth.

Atkinson ended his speech by reminding Kiwanis members of the club motto "We Build." He said the job of every Kiwanis member is to build a better community, and part of that comes from encouraging excellence in our young people.

The Youth Services Committee, chaired by Steve Kuebler, is responsible for developing local programs which meet the goals of the Kiwanis organization.

The Manchester Kiwanis Club meets every Thursday at Haarer's Meeting Place at 7:30 a.m.

CPAs EXPLAIN TAX WITHHOLDING

Did you have to pay a stiff tax bill for 1989? If you did, you may be able to benefit from this quick lesson in tax withholding.

According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, tax withholding is the process which enables the federal government to collect your income taxes on an installment basis. The key to this process is the Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate, more commonly known as Form W-4. To complete this form accurately, you must estimate your annual tax liability and determine the number of withholding allowances you can claim. For 1990 each allowance you claim reduces the amount of income on which your employer bases your taxes by $2,050. For taxpayers in the 28 percent tax bracket, each withholding allowance translates into approximately $574 in take-home pay a year, or $48 a month.

Your goal when filling out Form W-4 is to match the amount of tax you will owe at the end of the year as closely as possible. Unfortunately, many people fail to do this. Too, often, taxpayers misunderstand the purpose of withholding, fail to update their W-4 when their tax situation changes, dread estimating their tax liability, or simply cannot follow the sometimes complex instructions on the form itself.

Too Little, Too Late

One mistake taxpayers make is asking their employers to withhold too little from their paychecks. For example, Ed and Anne bought their first home last year. To help them meet their mortgage payments, they increased their withholding allowance by 10, which increased the monthly take-home pay by about $480. But they overestimated the tax benefits of owning a home and ended up owing more than $1,500 in federal income tax.

If your 1989 tax return socked you with an extra large tax bill, don't let history repeat itself. This year, if you fail to set aside at least as much tax as you owed last year, or at least 90 percent of your 1990 tax liability, you will be hit with a nondeductible penalty on the underpayment due. In other words, if your total federal tax bill comes to $10,000 but your tax withholding adds up to just 80 percent of that amount, or $8,000, you will have to pay the federal government $2,000 in tax plus a penalty of approximately $100 to $120 on the $1,000 underpayment.

Too Much, Too Soon

Another mistake taxpayers make is using tax withholding as if it were a forced savings plan. Ann, for example, deliberately claimed fewer withholding allowances than she was entitled to so that she would receive a hefty tax refund. If you over withhold for the same reason, you should re-think your strategy. A big refund means you have overpaid the government and, in effect, provided Uncle Sam with an interest-free loan. What's worse, by having too much withheld from your paychecks, you may have missed an opportunity to invest that same money in an interest-bearing account—or pay off a credit card charging you some 19 percent in nondeductible interest. Remember, a tax refund is not a reward—it is simply a repayment of money you never owed the government in the first place.

Check Your Withholding

To assess whether your withholding is on target, start by reviewing the outcome of last year's tax return. If you received a large refund or had to pay a hefty tax bill, you probably need to adjust this year's withholding as soon as possible. Even if your withholding was correct in 1989, don't assume that you can simply take the same number of allowances year after year. If you do, you may wind up withholding too little or too much. Changes in tax law, income, allowable deductions, marital status, place of residence, or number of dependents can all affect how much tax you must pay and how many allowances you should claim.

After you review last year's tax return, estimate your tax liability for 1990. Take into account any changes in tax laws or personal events, such as the purchase of a new home or the birth of a child, that may cause this year's liability to differ significantly from last year's liability.

Once you have a rough idea of how much federal income tax you will owe for 1990, take a look at your most recent paycheck stub and note how much you have paid so far. Keep in mind that by the end of April, your federal income tax withholding should equal one-third of your total tax bill. In other words, if your estimated tax liability for 1990 is $12,000, one-third of your tax bill, or $4,000, should be paid by the end of April.

Adjust Your W-4

If your withholding figure is way off the mark, the Michigan Association of CPAs suggests that you update your W-4 right away. You can obtain a copy of Form W-4 from your company's payroll office, your CPA, or the IRS by calling 1-800-424-3676.

To have more tax withheld, you should claim fewer allowances than you are entitled to or ask your employer to withhold more tax. Married individuals can also check the box "Married, but withhold at higher Single rate" on Form W-4. If you collect income not subject to withholding, such as interest from investment holdings or earnings from a home-based business, you may also need to make quarterly estimated tax payments.

To have less tax withheld, you should increase the number of allowances you claim. If both you and your spouse are employed, you can divide the allowances between you, but be careful that you don't claim the same allowances twice. Similarly, if you work for more than one employer, don't claim the same allowances more than once.

Filing a new Form W-4 may not be on your top-ten list of fun activities, but remember this: An accurate W-4 can be the key to an anxiety-free tax return.
