

Senior Citizens News

Weeds, weeds! Our garden was similar to a small jungle when we attacked the creeping charlie and various other unnamed unwanted enemies out there. I worked up a sweat even though the wind was blowing and it was one of our cool days, and laid my glasses in the grass. Yes, my helpmate stepped on them and luck was with me again - the nosepiece was the only thing missing. Do you ever learn? Anyway, it was fun to sunbathe and have a weed-free spot at the same time. There is something peaceful about gardens that you don't find anywhere else.

Thursday, July 5: Senior men will exercise on the golf course.

Saturday, July 7: Senior bus leaves the Center at 9:30 for the trip to Lake Odessa for their "Art in the Park" presentation. Call Erma Alber to place your name on the list at 428-8707.

This kicks off our local fair which runs through July 14. Get out and enjoy. You will see folks that you haven't seen for awhile and the Board promises great free entertainment.

Wednesday, July 11: There is no Saline Hospital program today. Also our instructor for aquacising is on vacation and stated she wouldn't be teaching classes on Wednesdays afterwards. Aquacising would be available on Mondays and Fridays at the same time (11:15 a.m.) until the first of August, if we wished to attend. If you are interested, contact either Roger Morrison at 517-456-7033 or T.V. Ludwick at 428-7434.

Thursday, July 12: Senior men will play golf (call Ted Tapping, Jr.). Bethel UCC invites all to their ice cream social which begins at 5:00 p.m. The senior bus will start pickup for the social at 4:30 - call Erma.

He is survived by 2 daughters, Mrs. George (Evelyn) Brundrett of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan, and Mrs. Plummer (Helen) Sawyer of Venice, Florida; 4 grandsons and 8 great-grandchildren. He was also preceded in death by his parents, 1 brother William, 3 sisters, Bertha, Hilda, and Minnie.

He was a charter member of the Manchester Optimist Club, a member of the Manchester Historical Society, and he served on the Manchester Fair Board, the Manchester School Board, the Oak Grove Cemetery Board, and the Manchester Village Council. He was a member of the Emanuel United Church of Christ, also serving on the Church Board for 16 years.

The 4th At Manchester

Manchester Enterprise July 2, 1897

Arrangements for the celebration of the 4th of July in this village, go merrily on.

Boos' band and three companies of state troops will arrive from Jackson on the early morning train.

At 10 o'clock a procession will be formed consisting of band, military, presidents and vice-presidents, Mayor Pingree of Detroit, Chas. Townsend of Jackson, W.W. Wedemeyer of Ann Arbor and other speakers and public men and citizens in carriages, and proceed south on railroad street to Schmid's grove where appropriate exercises will be held.

As mentioned last week, the sports will consist of long-distance bicycle race, township and ladies' bicycle races, and one free for all; foot races, sack races, wheelbarrow races, swimming races, tub races, etc. All the races will be for prizes.

The military will give a dress parade at 7 p.m., after which a grand display of fireworks from the top of exchange place bridge can be seen. The committee has been fortunate in the selection and purchase of fireworks and the display will be a fine one.

We want everybody to come and celebrate with us. A train on the Jackson branch will run south after the fireworks.

Several men were sent out with teams last Saturday to post bills throughout the surrounding country and villages advertising the grand celebration at Manchester on the 4th.

Carpenters will build a suitable platform for speakers and erect seats for a large audience in Schmid's grove on the border of the middle pond, where the exercises will be held on the 4th of July.

We learn that a large number of people will come here from Jackson, Adrian, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and intermediate towns to celebrate the 4th of July. They will see a good celebration and lots of fun.

Chicken Broil

Chicken Broil profits to purchase the Blacksmith Shop and the public library has benefited as well. Another important donation has been to Chelsea Hospital Life Line. This provides a service to elderly individuals in Manchester who live alone. They are provided with a beeper that connects them with the hospital if they fall or need some type of assistance and cannot reach a phone.

Maybe the Manchester Chicken Broil hasn't always been around, but then neither has Christmas. Both of them, however, provide a time for families to get together, have fun, and enjoy good food. And, just like Christmas, the Chicken Broil provides good things that last all year round.

Morrison, Lewis Leaving Manchester High School

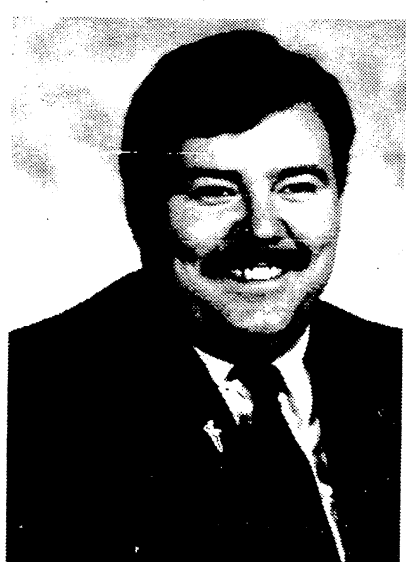

Rod Morrison

Manchester High School Principal Rod Morrison has resigned his position with the Manchester Schools effective June 30, 1990. He will begin his new duties as Superintendent of the Olivet Community Schools in July.

Mr. Morrison came to Manchester in December of 1983 from Jonesville where he was a teacher, coach and department chair for several years. While at Manchester, Mr. Morrison has served in a variety of positions including: Assistant Principal, Athletic Director, Community Education Director, Interim Middle School Principal and the last four years as High School Principal.

"I have mixed emotions about leaving," said Mr. Morrison, "but the opportunity to be Superintendent presents a new challenge in another quality district. I've really appreciated the great staff and students here and will certainly remember all the fine people and rich experiences I've enjoyed at Manchester."

Mr. Morrison was recently recognized by the Manchester Optimist Club with the "Achievement in Education Award" for his leadership in promoting excellence in education. The Olivet School District is similar in size and demographics to Manchester with nearly 1,200 K-12 students.

Lyndon Lewis

The search committee will begin the selection process for a new High School principal with a possible appointment being made by August 1, 1990.

Mr. Lyndon Lewis will be leaving Manchester High School after three years. Mr. Lewis came to Manchester as a classroom teacher and coach, then became Director of Student Services and Athletics.

Lyndon is leaving to take a position with the Climax-Scotts Community Schools. Lyndon will be serving as Middle School Principal and coordinator of the district's Gifted and Talented Program.

Swainson To Serve On Foundation

Former Governor John B. Swainson has agreed to serve on the newly-formed Michigan Historical Center Foundation. Swainson, shown here in the exhibit area of the Michigan Historical Museum in downtown Lansing, will help the Foundation reach its first goal of raising funds for the museum's 20th century galleries.

Secretary of State Richard H. Austin announced that Governor John B. Swainson, former governor of the state of Michigan and president of the Michigan Historical Commission, is serving on the newly-formed Michigan Historical Center Foundation. The Foundation, dedicated to furthering the work of the Department of State's Bureau of History, is chaired by Detroit entrepreneur Richard P. Kughn and his wife, Linda. The first priority of the Michigan Historical Center Foundation will be a capital campaign to raise $1.3 million for the 20th century galleries of the Michigan Historical Museum. The capital campaign is now underway.

"The Michigan Historical Center Foundation represents a new era for the state of Michigan's history program," Secretary Austin said today. "By involving the private sector and securing financial support for the important work of the Bureau of History's professional staff, our ability to bring the state's history to the people of Michigan will be greatly enhanced."

The Michigan Historical Museum, located in the new Michigan Library and Historical Center in downtown Lansing, has welcomed 323,000 visitors since March, 1989.

"While completing the Museum is the Foundation's first and foremost priority, we will be dedicated to furthering the work of the Department of State's Bureau of History," Richard Kughn explained. He noted that once the 20th century galleries are in place, the Foundation will:

- Develop a K-12 teaching program to increase the number of student visitors to the Center and the nine other state museums, with classroom materials for teachers and workbooks for students;
- Identify and protect objects and papers crucial to the preservation of Michigan's cultural heritage;
- Establish a major public relations program to support the work of acquainting Michigan citizens with their past and challenging their tomorrow; and
- Increase public awareness of museum sites to capitalize on the link between tourism and history.

UNRAVELING THE MYSTERY OF VACATION-HOME DEDUCTIONS

Your vacation home may be an escape from the daily pressures of city life, but it is not an escape from the rigors of tax law. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, if you rent your vacation home for part of the year, the rules on deducting expenses can be complicated and surprising. In fact, just by extending or reducing the number of days that you spend at your vacation home, you can save — or lose — thousands of tax dollars. How can you unravel the mystery of deducting a vacation home? The answer is far from elementary. If you rent your vacation home for a portion of the year and at other times use it for personal enjoyment, calculating the amount of your allowable deductions can be a monumental task. First, you have to determine whether your vacation home qualifies as a second residence or as a rental property.

Is Your Vacation Home A Second Residence?

If you use your vacation home for personal purposes more than 14 days, or for more than 10 percent of the number of days the property is rented, whichever is greater, the home qualifies as a residence. If the vacation home is the only house you own other than your primary residence, you still get the full property-tax and mortgage-interest deductions. After subtracting these deductions, you can begin deducting rental expenses — but only up to the amount of rental income that the property generates. One pleasant surprise is that you can carry excess deductions into succeeding years to offset any rental income attributed to that same property. Another exception is that if you rent property for 14 days or less, you are not required to report rental revenue or expenses.

Is Your Vacation Home A Rental Property?

If your personal use of a vacation home is limited to 14 days or less than 10 percent of the time it is rented, whichever is greater, tax law will treat your vacation home as it does any other rental property. Generally, you will be entitled to deduct some or all of the mortgage interest and property tax deductions, plus depreciation write-offs. In addition, you can deduct a portion of such operating expenses as utilities, fire, and liability insurance, repairs, advertising costs and even maid service.

To determine the amount of your deductible expenses, you must first determine usage; next, you will have to allocate the rental expenses in proportion to the number of days you used the property for personal and rental purposes. Note that what you see as a personal day and what the IRS sees as a personal day may be very different. According to Uncle Sam, a personal day is any day that the property is used by you, a blood relative or co-owner, or any person who rents the home at less than fair market value. If you let a friend spend a few days at your vacation home in exchange for a few days at his Miami condo, these days are also considered personal use.

The IRS allows for days spent at your vacation home for the purposes of maintenance or repair. These days are considered neither personal or rental days. Since an audit may require you to prove that certain days were in fact dedicated to repairs and not to pleasure, you should maintain supporting documents whenever possible.

Once you determine the number of personal and rental days, add them together to find the amount of total use. To calculate the percentage of deductible operating expenses (such as maintenance, utilities and depreciation), simply multiply all expenses by the number of rental days, then divide that sum by the total use figure. The result is your tax deductible amount — subject to the passive loss rules noted previously. For example, if your operating expenses were $5,000 and you rented your property for 90 days and the total use figure came to 100, your deductible amount would be $4,500 ($5,000 times 90, divided by 100).

Some CPAs recommend that you figure the amount of deductible mortgage interest and property tax separately from operating expenses. To do this, multiply the amount of mortgage interest and property tax by the fraction of rental days to the total days in the calendar year. You should note, however, that while the Tax Court decisions have upheld this method of determining the amount of deductible mortgage interest and property taxes, the IRS does not.

To make matters more complicated, the tax law also dictates the order in which you deduct the expenses calculated by these two formulas: first, property taxes and mortgage interest, then operating expenses, and finally depreciation.

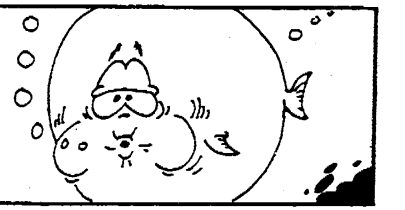

In some cases, you may benefit more by extending your personal use so that you can claim the deductions allowed to a second home as opposed to those for a rental.

General Rules On Deducting Passive Losses

If you have a loss from renting property, that loss is considered passive and thus can be deducted only from passive income. However, if you actively participate in renting your property, and your adjusted gross income (AGI) is $150,000 or less, you can deduct rental losses of up to $25,000 from your regular income. If your AGI is over $100,000, the $25,000 active rental loss allowance is reduced by 50 cents for every dollar of income above $100,000. Once your AGI exceeds $150,000, the allowance is totally phased out.

However, if you rented your home before the new law was enacted (October 22, 1986) and you exceed AGI limits, you can still deduct 10 percent in 1990, but none thereafter.

CPAs remind us that the various passive-income provisions are extremely complex and can have a substantially different impact depending on your personal circumstances.

The globe fish staves off predators by gulping a large quantity of water, till it becomes simply too large to be swallowed by its enemies.

Hints for Homemakers

Say "Cheese" To This Summer Salad

The crispness of garden-fresh lettuce, the mouth-watering taste of fresh onions, the savory aroma of cooked chicken and fried bacon plus the creamy flavor of a quality Swiss cheese—put them together with some crunchy croutons, cooked peas and tasty mayonnaise and you've got the makings of a light and luscious salad for summertime meals.

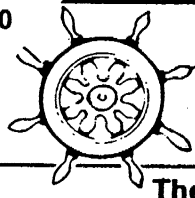

When choosing the cheese for your salad, look for a rindless variety. The hard, dry, inedible rind found on most imported Swiss cheeses adds absolutely nothing to the cheese except weight, cost and something to be trimmed off and thrown away. One Swiss cheese, Finlandia, is specially made to be sold without a rind. This creamy cheese with the natural, nut-like taste is a more attractive, even-shaped cheese that slices more neatly and more easily. Use it in this delectable summer salad recipe:

- Summer Salad
 2 cups torn iceberg lettuce
 2 cups curly endive (optional)
 2 cups torn romaine lettuce
 6 tablespoons mayonnaise
 1 large purple onion thinly sliced and separated into rings
 1 tablespoon sugar
 3/4 teaspoon salt
 1/8 teaspoon sugar
 1 cup julienne strips Finlandia Swiss
 1 cup diced cooked chicken
 1 1/2 cups drained cooked peas
 6 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
 1 cup seasoned croutons

Combine greens; place 1/3 in bottom of large salad bowl. Dot with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Top with 1/3 onion seasoned with sugar, salt and pepper. Add 1/3 cheese, chicken and peas. Repeat layers and seasoning twice. Do not toss. Cover and chill at least 2 hours. When ready to serve, top with bacon and croutons. Toss. Serves 6 to 8.

Boating Safety

The Coast Guard Begins Enforcing Boating While Intoxicated Law

Boating while intoxicated could cost you your life, says the U.S. Coast Guard. At the very least, it could mean a fine of up to $5000 and/or up to one year in jail under the new federal boating-while-intoxicated laws.

In 1988, 946 people lost their lives in boating accidents. Studies conducted by the Coast Guard and the National Transportation Safety Board indicate that up to half of those deaths may have been alcohol-related. Accidents on U.S. waterways among the nation's 70 million boaters are second only to those on U.S. highways as the cause of transportation deaths in this country.

Intoxication poses dangers to the boating public, both directly and indirectly. It can cause a lack of stability, shorten a person's survival time if he or she is dumped into cold water, and interfere with an individual's ability to swim or cooperate in his or her own rescue. Even one drink can affect a person's balance.

This summer, the U.S. Coast Guard began enforcement of the new federal boating-while-intoxicated law in 12 Gulf Coast and mid-Atlantic states. The law applies to drugs as well as alcohol. Intoxicated boat operators face a civil penalty of up to $1,000 or a criminal fine of up to $5,000 and/or one year in jail. Boat operators are considered to be intoxicated if their blood alcohol concentration (BAC) is .10 or higher. The Coast Guard will enforce the law during routine law enforcement boardings and in response to sightings or reports of boaters operating in a reckless or unsafe manner. Intoxication will be determined using "breathalyzer" tests and/or a field sobriety test.

The Coast Guard will work with state and local law enforcement officers. Normally, Coast Guard personnel will detain the intoxicated boater until local authorities assume responsibility.

Citizens Could Vote on Lottery Money

Michigan citizens could vote on a constitutional amendment to dedicate lottery money to education under a resolution, passed unanimously by the State House Tuesday, co-sponsored by an area lawmaker.

Representative O'Connor (R-Lodi Township) said proceeds from State Lottery were intended to benefit education, a goal that never should waver.

"Michigan citizens have been told from day one that Lottery money would go to schools," O'Connor said. "I think that's important enough that we ought to guarantee it in our Constitution."

House Joint Resolution Q requires all net revenue and interest earned on net revenue — except for interest used for paying prizes — from the Lottery to be deposited in the State School Aid Fund beginning October 1, 1991.

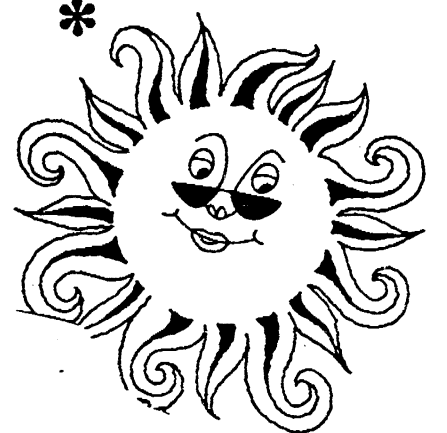

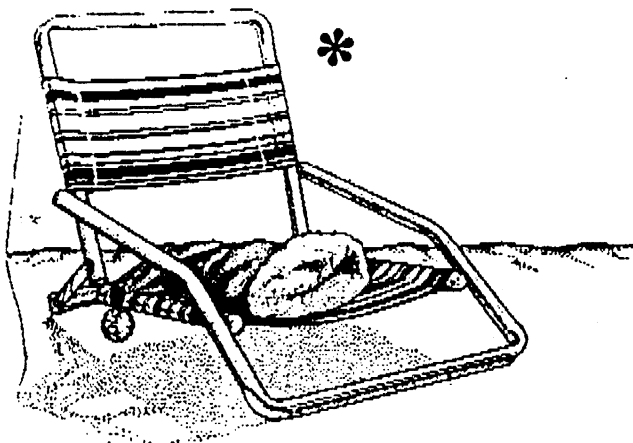

O'Connor noted that currently only Lottery revenue, not interest on revenue, is earmarked for the School Aid Fund.

"By adding interest from Lottery revenues, this amendment will mean an additional $3 million a year will benefit K-12 education in Michigan," she said. "And by including this in the Constitution, rather than mandating it by statute, we ensure that Lottery money can never be taken by this or future legislatures."

O'Connor cautioned, however, that even this constitutional amendment won't solve the "shift-shaft" problem that has plagued the Lottery since it was created in 1972.

"While I support this resolution for increasing and guaranteeing the money that will go in the front door of the School Aid Fund," Rep. O'Connor said, "it still does nothing about money leaving through the back door as a result of reductions in General Fund contributions to schools."

If HJR Q is passed by the Senate, the constitutional amendment would go before voters in the general election this November.
