Golf Scramble Set for Aug. 25

On Sunday, August 25, 1991 at 8:15 the shotgun will be fired signifying the start of the First Manchester Golf Scramble. The outing is open to anyone who wishes to participate. We will draw names for teams just prior to the shotgun start. Each team will consist of an A, B, C, and D player which will be determined by the average scores turned in.

Individual men's and women's and team prizes will be awarded for a wide variety of successes on every hole ranging from closest to the pins, accurate and longest drives, longest putts, team skins, having the correct number on your ticket stub. Local merchants, businesses, and individuals have generously donated 75 prizes so far.

While friendly competition is a part of any scramble, the intent of this outing is to have a good time and enjoy each other's company. This is why we are drawing for teams.

In addition to 18 holes of golf, Green Valley will be providing a continental breakfast, hot dogs at lunch, and a steak dinner following the golf. If your spouse or friend chooses not to play golf, but wishes to join up afterwards for the steak dinner, he or she is invited to buy dinner-only ticket.

Tickets are on sale at Keith's Barbershop, Krauss Pharmacy, Great Lakes Bancorp, Comerica, First of America and the Community Resource Center who is the sponsor of the event. When you but your tickets please enter your average score on the registration so we can evenly match teams.

The cost for the golf day is $35 and the dinner-only ticket cost is $8. Green Valley is located on M-50 (Brooklyn Road) minutes west of Napoleon on the left side of the road. If you would like additional information, contact Dick Kuntz at 428-7777, Chris Brooks at 428-8695, or the CRC at 428-7722. Look for other details in the Enterprise

The Advantages of Shopping Manchester

-Kathy Kueffner

When we shop Manchester, we support our local businesses; we get quality goods and services; AND, we meet celebrities!

Thursday, Johnny Cash and his wife June Carter Cash stopped in Manchester (the Center of the Universe) to shop and browse our wonderful stores. They graciously let us take their pictures and chatted awhile.

Johnny, who seems to be a quiet and gentle man, bought a stunning gold multi-heart necklace and watch ring from Surprise! Surprise! He said he would be wearing them on stage. June, who is as beautiful in "real life" as she appears on stage, bought some button covers there and at the Cobblestone Rose purchased swags and dried flower arrangements from Kathleen and Elizabeth Bush. June was delighted to find a dress at the Cobblestone Rose designed by the same person who designs some of June's stage clothes.

They told Katie Marecle, who was working at Surprise! Surprise! that day that they had just finished performing in Clarkston at Pine Knob and were on their way to an engagement at the Minnesota State Fair where they would be performing with Willie Nelson. June says she likes to stop in places like Manchester and shop the small stores and gift shops and that Johnny good naturedly indulges her. As plush and comfortable as their tour bus must be, it is probably a welcome respite to get off the bus, stretch and relax. Their schedule sounds grueling.

Next GDP Workshop scheduled Sept. 17

The Village of Manchester Planning Commission is conducting a series of public workshops as part of the Village's General Development Plan revision process. The current General Development Plan was adopted in 1967, and is being revised to reflect the many changes which have occurred within the Village since that time.

In order to develop a plan which represents the community's vision of its future, the Planning Commission is seeking citizen input, and encourages all citizens interested in contributing to the General Development Plan to attend at least one public workshop. Public Workshop I was held Tuesday, May 28, 1991. At this workshop the community planning issue which need to be addressed in the General Development Plan were identified.

Public Workshop II will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall located at 106 East Madison, Manchester, Michigan. For more information, please call Bob Daverman, Village Planning Commission Chairman at 428-9367 (evenings) or Emily Palacios of Carlisle Associates at 662-2200 (days).

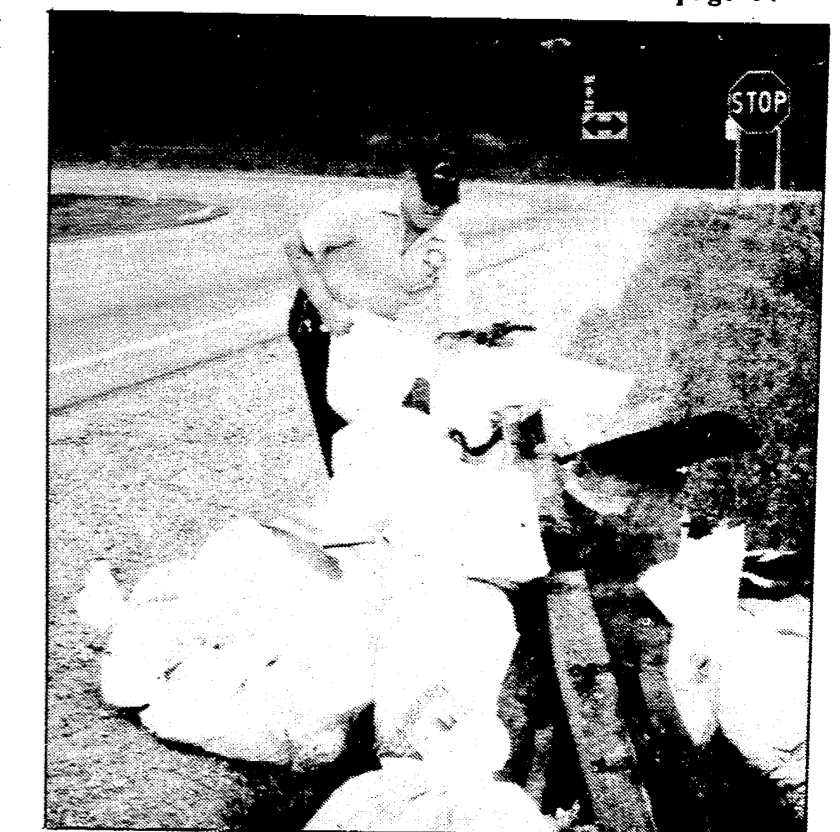

The Public Workshop II is Perfect weather for a Golf Scramble

Sunday morning at Green Valley Golf Course the temperature was 65 degrees with just a touch of fall in the air and a light mist evident on the first and tenth tee. Thirteen groups of four players tee'd off in a scramble format. Spirits were high and pictures were taken of all teams so that the winners would be recorded for prosperity. As the morning progressed the sun burned off the haze and the ground moisture ceased to affect the booming drives and uncanny iron shots.

The early morning moisture did affect our intrepid putters and the early holes were difficult to par. However as the day progressed the lumber came out of the bag and the long, long drives were reaching for the greens. Putts began to fall and two teams with subpar rounds of 66 ruled the very difficult layout. Truly the day was capped off with a putting tournament and prizes were evident and everyone seemed to share in the fun. A delicious meal rounded out the occasion and bragging rights have been staked out for the coming year.

Chris Brooks and Dick Kuntz stated that the local merchants had without exception donated well and wisely and the outing committee was very appreciative and pleased. Although this writer was unable to play this year I can look forward to the outing next season. Good job well done. EWG

SPOTLIGHT: The Sutton Agency, Inc.

Connie Widmayer, Owner

—Kathy Kueffner

The Sutton Insurance Agency has been a respected name in the business community of Manchester for 30 years. Don Sutton opened the agency in the 1960s and proceeded to establish a solid foundation of commitment to the community's insurance needs.

Someone who has been a part of that conscientious commitment to integrity and service has been Connie Widmayer. Connie started working for Don in 1975 and learned the insurance business from the ground up. When Don decided to retire in 1987, Connie purchased the agency from him. She kept the name, Sutton Agency, to maintain the continuity and reputable tradition of the business.

A licensed insurance agent, Connie has had 16 years of experience in the insurance field. Keeping up to date requires continual study and she additionally augments her knowledge by attending seminars.

Connie is a life-long resident of Manchester having attended school here and marrying her high school sweetheart, Brad. They live north of town on M-52 and have a son, Jesse, 18 years old who is in his first year of college at Eastern Michigan University.

Also a part of the Sutton Agency are licensed insurance agents Kathryn Martin and Susan Mann, each also having 16 years of experience in the insurance business.

Kathryn and her husband Bill have lived in Manchester all their lives and have two grown children, Pam and Brian. Susan is married to Vic; they are life long-residents of Manchester and have two children in junior high, Jason and Stacy.

Connie states, "We are very particular about service at the Sutton Agency. We always return phone calls. We spend all the time necessary to explain insurance policies to our clients. We understand that policy language, terms and definitions are often complicated so we place a lot of emphasis on being available to answer any questions or concerns."

The Sutton Insurance Agency is a full service agency, the only independent agency in Manchester. They handle automobile insurance, life, health, home, farm, disability, etc. They represent several different companies including Auto Owners, Hastings Mutual, The Travelers, Illinois Mutual and Southern Michigan Mutual among others.

Also noteworthy is the fact that the Sutton Agency is Chicken Broil Headquarters. Six years ago, Connie took over the responsibility of taking care of the books, getting tickets out and other various duties associated with this successful and popular community event.

The Sutton Agency is located at 136 East Main Street, phone 428-9737. Office hours are: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday 9:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m. and Thursday 9:00 a.m.-12 noon.

Second Front Page: Making Sense of Environmental Issues

A day hardly goes by in news coverage without mention of something about the environment. Acid rain, the greenhouse effect, ozone depletion, rain forest clear cutting, air pollution, and water pollution combine together in a way to make what I term, "environmental noise". This noise confuses, alarms, disgusts, and frustrates many of us. Many, in fact, may feel helpless to act in any way that resolves these issues.

One environmental issue exists, however, that shouldn't confuse anyone: the solid waste crisis. Reasons abound to justify this noise as legitimate.

In addition, we as individuals have the power to act as problem solvers. Reports have stated that by 1995, 27 of 50 states will have run out of landfill space, and that half of all existing landfills will close during this time.

Although the U.S. population increased by about 30% during the last three decades, the quantity of solid waste generated by us has increased by 80%. In a subtle way we have lapsed into a lifestyle that has allowed us to consume and generate waste without understanding the long-term impact of our actions. No one would have dreamed that by the end of the 1980's we would face such a dilemma.

A common response to this information results in claims that we have a huge country with lots of open space that allows us to locate new landfills. The EPA, however, love it or hate it, has instituted a series of regulations that require that all landfills use technology that processes the toxic leachate that previously leaked into the water table, and collect the toxic gases that rise out of the landfill, in a geographic location that minimizes environmental impact.

Remembering that hauling waste over distance costs money, the possibility of placing new landfills becomes an economic liability. Overriding all of this, exists the reality that landfills fill up and must shut down.

Are the EPA's concerns legitimate? Most of us would agree they are. We have polluted our groundwater, contaminated our soil, and released toxic gases into the air because of what we do with solid waste.

We can build new landfills, but at great expense. We can haul waste greater distances, but at great expense. Municipalities, in anticipation of avoiding the great expense of dealing with solid waste has formulated two solutions: incineration or recycling. Incineration burns trash to energy, but current measures of the release of mercury (highly toxic) and PCB's (considered carcinogenic) into the air far exceed standards set by the EPA, even with highly regarded filtration systems on the smokestacks.

Recycling diverts materials from landfills that can be remade into new products. It costs money to finance drop-off centers, haul recyclables to secondary markets, and reprocess them into new products. It also requires us to change our lifestyles by doing something other than throwing trash into a garbage bag and letting somebody else deal with it.

Currently, recycling seems to have the edge as the best possible solution to resolving the landfill crisis.

Manchester has committed itself to recycling in response to a statewide mandate to divert 30% of our solid waste by the year 1995. Currently we recycle between 10-15% of our solid waste. This compares to 50% recycling in Japan, and 30% in Europe.

Sometime this fall, because of a grant approved by the DNR, Chelsea and the village of Manchester will begin curbside recycling. This grant, involving 10 local communities, also provides: a tow vehicle, trailer, plastic baler, 15 recycling bins, and the construction of an intermediate processing center at the Chelsea landfill. This means that again, you will have to adjust and adapt your lifestyle to participate in this waste reduction mandate.

The bottom line is that, in the long run, recycling will cost far less than continuing with our current pattern of sending trash to some landfill. The cost of dumping a cubic yard of solid waste has consistently increased 10-20% annually with no hope of bottoming out.

Many people confuse the term "recycling" with taking recyclables to a collection center. You don't recycle until you buy products made from recyclable materials.

We recycle when we buy beverages in aluminum cans because the aluminum industry uses 90% recycled material in its manufacturing. We recycle when we buy cereal boxes, because it contains newsprint. We recycle when we buy recycled paper products, but only if they contain post-consumer waste or material that otherwise would go to a landfill.

"Post-consumer waste" is an environmental term that may confuse you. This type of waste includes anything that consumers have dropped of at collection centers or have had picked-up via curbside recycling, or has been source-separated at a materials recovery facility.

Manufacturers of recycled materials sometimes include the percentage of post-consumer waste on their product labels. 100% is ideal, although the typical range is 10-25%. Any product with "pre-consumer" waste, waste that is manufactured scrap or unmarketable, would be reused anyhow, and the claim that it is recycled only serves to deceive the public.

It's best to ask the post-consumer content when buying a recycled product because then, you will know if you are truly recycling.

The most alarming increase in solid waste going to landfills over the last thirty years includes paper and plastic. In 1986, 42.5 million tons of paper (in any form) was landfilled. In 1989, that amount increased to 55 million tons. This rounds out to about 40% of all solid waste by volume.

To hold steady with the amount of paper landfilled today, we would have to recycle 40% of it due to our increased production and consumption.

Plastic going into landfills in the form of packaging totalled 100,000 lbs. in 1960. By 1990 that amount increased to 600 million lbs. Plastic altogether totalled 14.4 million tons landfilled in 1988. Currently, 1-2% of all plastic is recycled although 15% of a landfill by volume is plastic.

You may have noticed the coding system at the bottom of plastic containers. They number 1 through 7 with circling arrows around them. This identifies plastic by resin type and for ease in separating for recycling. Different resins melt at different temperatures and cannot comeingle in production.

Buying recycled plastic products seems most critical because of the volume increase going to landfills. Success has occurred mainly with recycled HDPE, LDPE, and polystyrene (styrofoam). Milk jugs (HDPE) recycle to plastic lumber, recycling bins, and engine-oil bottles. Glossy grocery bags, bread bags, and trash bags (LDPE) recycle to garbage bags and recycling bins. Styrofoam (PS) recycles to desk accessories and packing peanuts.

In the case of plastic (just like for paper), the criterion for its "recycled" claim lies in its post-consumer content. Some trash bags contain 80% recycled content with 25-35% post-consumer waste.

Some desk accessories contain 100% post-consumer waste. As a consumer, its significant to buy recycled plastic products but only after evaluating their recycled content.

Industries that manufacture recycled products have not had monetary incentives to get things going; this explains why prices generally have run 10-15% higher than for similar products made from virgin materials. As demand increases, as quality improves, and products become more readily available, the price of recycled products will match and then go lower than brand new ones.

But as consumers, we should demand quality for whatever comes to us as recycled. An increase in product availability and knowledgeable marketing agents will make this a more viable solution to the solid waste dilemma. Until we buy recycled products in quantity, however, the recycling solution in its best form will experience challenges. We have not yet "recycled" in amounts that approach our mandated 30% diversion or approaches what our neighbors across the oceans have accomplished. As citizens we have the ability to act as change agents in a most excellent fashion.

Editorial / Opinion

OUT and ABOUT by Gar

Gar had an experience with the Washtenaw County Building Department a couple weeks ago that has left a very, very bad taste in my mouth. One of those kinds of tastes that makes your stomach turn over and wish that public employees had a little respect for the taxpayer, landowner and voter. Let me give you a little background.

One of the residents of Freedom Township, a retired builder with an impeccable reputation as a builder and human being, is what is referred to as the salt of the earth, honest as the day is long. A person whose word is his bond. Anyhow, this builder, let's call him Mr. Builder, has constructed two homes on the north shore of Pleasant Lake and is presently constructing a third. Mr. Builder obtained a permit from the DNR, which took two years, to construct a sea wall along the property bordering the lake. The wall was constructed, the ground was landscaped, seeded and mulched. The basement was excavated for the homes and the dirt was piled on the street side away from the house and the lake. The growing grass protected the lake from any stray sediment from reaching the new sea wall or the lake. Excellent job of soil erosion sediment control.

Along comes one of Washtenaw County Building Inspectors traveling down Pleasant Lake Road and he spies the pile of dirt next to the road. Parking his air conditioned vehicle he awaits Mr. Builder to complete pouring the concrete garage footing. Mr. Builder, sweaty, tired and ready for a break is accosted by the inspector for not having a soil erosion sediment control permit because the house is being built within 500 feet of the lake. The attitude portrayed by the inspector was confrontational and demanding according to Mr. Builder. I believe Mr. Builder.

Apparently the inspector thought he might have overdone his job and he stopped in and talked to Sue with our building inspection department. Sue relayed the message to me and as the Township Building Inspector I visited the site. After hearing the story I was mad as HELL!

I called the inspector and told him to leave our township residents alone. The County Building Department had been relieved of their job in the early 1970's by the Townships.

The Washtenaw County Building Department head called and said his inspector would never cause a problem, that Mr. Builder was sweaty, shaky and had a shovel in his hand and the inspector was afraid he might be hit by the builder. My response is that the inspector must have realized he said something offensive if he was concerned the builder might wack him one.

The Washtenaw County Building Department called the DNR and they contacted me about the incident. After explaining what I had observed, Mr. Builders reputation, and that Washtenaw County Building Department had their jurisdiction rescinded in the early 1970's, an understanding was arrived at.

What is the point of all this? Why is it that people employed at the expense of the taxpayer, you and I, should be subjected to their abuse. Don't we deserve the benefit of the doubt? Why are the department heads so ready to defend themselves and their help at the expense of the people? I wonder if these departments are trying to build little dynasties, with walls and barriers around themselves to perpetuate their existence. We should be more ready to remember these immortal words, "WE THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA-", the communistic countries are trying for those precepts.

MANCHESTER BAND BOOSTER MEETING

The first meeting of the Manchester Band Boosters will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 4, at 7 PM in the Band Room at Manchester High School. At this meeting we will be discussing the Michigan Football Games, concession stands, election of officers, welcoming new members, and discussion about a band trip for next spring. We urge and welcome all parents of 5th thru 12th grade band students to give us their input and help. As always, the meeting will last less than 45 minutes.

Teachers' negotiator tells other side

As the exclusive bargaining representative for the professional teaching employees of Manchester, the WLEA/Manchester Education Association has always tried to adhere to a policy of not negotiating in public and/or through the media. Now, however, since the Board has elected to do so, the Association feels that it has no choice but to respond in kind, in order to protect itself as well as the integrity of the negotiating process.

The press release made available to the media by Superintendent Niedzwiecki represents a very one-sided perspective of the current status of negotiations between the WLEA/Manchester Education Association and the Manchester Community Schools. In typical fashion, Mr. Niedzwiecki has attempted to provide the reader with information that is quite obviously intended to "paint" the teachers in the worst possible light, while making the employer look as good as possible.

For starters, Mr. Niedzwiecki's release would have the public believe that negotiations got under way very late, and half the summer had elapsed before the teachers made their contract demands known. The truth of the matter is that negotiations have been going on for almost a year. Last fall, teacher representatives initiated a dialogue with the Superintendent to determine whether or not there was any interest in getting negotiations started early, and whether there was interest in using a "problem-solving" approach in negotiations rather than the traditional approach. Agreement was reached on both the previous points, along with an understanding that if the process was not successful, the parties would return to traditional negotiations.

Unfortunately, the "problem-solving" approach proved to be an exercise in futility, and resulted in no agreement being reached. This then led to the parties reverting back to traditional bargaining; and while the teachers' formal proposals were not presented until June, considerable discussion had taken place around the issues identified by the parties for negotiations well before that time.

The issues identified in Mr. Niedzwiecki's release, by his own admission, were "initial" proposals, and do not necessarily represented the teachers' bottom lines, particularly with regard to salary. The Superintendent would like to have the public believe that the teachers are nothing more than a bunch of money hungry individuals who aren't interested in anything else. Nothing could be further from the truth! The teachers of Manchester are now, and always have been acutely interested in the quality of education provided to our students, and our proposals reflect that fact; i.e. Least restrictive environment and school improvement.

Throughout Washtenaw County there is a significant dollar difference between what the teachers of Manchester receive and what is paid to teachers in most of the other districts at the top end of the salary schedule where most experienced teachers are. Manchester's teachers feel they are worth every bit as much as those teachers in the other county districts, and are striving for a settlement that reflects that goal. We feel that the Board's current 5% proposal falls short of that goal.

The manner in which Mr. Niedzwiecki identifies the Board's issues, again are very misleading in that they are too one-dimensional: The Superintendent indicates that he wants the right to "select and change" insurance carriers unilaterally without benefit of having to negotiate with the teachers. This is unacceptable to Manchester's teachers. The Michigan Employment Relations Commission determined a long time ago that the level of coverage, along with the insurance carrier, are mandatory subjects of bargaining, and the Manchester teachers are not going to relinquish that right. The Superintendent's release seems to indicate more concern with the fact that the current carrier has a working relationship with the MEA than it is with the type of coverage provided to the teachers.

Mr. Niedzwiecki, himself, knows first hand the level of coverage provided by MESSA, as well as the quality of service rendered, because he and the other administrators in the district are covered by MESSA and their coverage is even better than that provided to the teachers!

Regarding to the Board's proposal to reduce the number of half days from the school calendar: The Association and its membership are opposed to this because they already work a longer school year than almost any other district in Washtenaw County; they also work a longer school day than most others in the county. Doing away with the half days that have been a part of the District's school calendar for years would greatly alter parent-teacher conferences at the elementary level, and end-of-the-semester and end-of-the-year exam schedules. Most importantly though, the Association and its members don't agree that it's in the best interests of the students as well as the teachers to be required to carry out a full day of instructional responsibilities, then be expected to carry out those additional functions at night.

The Association sincerely hopes that a successor agreement between themselves and the Board can be reached as soon as possible.

Water safety official speaks at Iron Lake meeting

Cpl. Jerry Evans of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department Water Safety Division, was the guest speaker at the August meeting of the Iron Lake Association. He commented that there had never been a serious accident reported on the lake and commended the members for their concern and desire to continue this good safety record.

Water safety pamphlets were distributed and existing rules with an update on new laws were explained. Comparing some of the current problems on the lake with those on other lakes in his district, Evans recommended the Iron Lake Association with cooperation of concerned agencies could resolve them. He suggested that the best way to keep a lake safe was, like in a neighborhood, to have a Lake Watch. It was agreed that this was already in effect, including the use of video cameras.

The talk also covered the many services received by using 911 number. This very important and informative talk was closed with a pleasant exchange when someone asked: "Since we have two very pregnant ladies in the membership can we expect you to deliver in case of an emergency?" Cpl. Evans replied: "I have done it before and I guess I could do it again!"

A future meeting is planned when the sheriff's department will give a CPR demonstration.

The group closed the 1991 season with a picnic at the home of President Mark Zimmerman on August 24.

Senior Citizen Update

T.V.Ludwick

Here it comes, September again and all the kids back in school. When we were young, school began the day after Labor Day and ended the middle of May. We were ready for all the activity that school brought after that long summer vacation (did we ever say "What can I do, I'm so bored?"). but wasn't it nice to see our friends again even though we in our small town had played with most either at school or after Sunday School? Our folks could think of many jobs for us and somehow they didn't seem like work.

We loved to be permitted to go to the store which was a daily job, it seemed. And remember beating those carpets and rugs on the line with the beater—you could really take out your frustrations. Who hauled them out, probably Mom. We three put up blankets, etc. on the side porch screens, put on plays and charged admission (perhaps a penny) to all who dared come for our foolishness.

We carried water in, wood and coal for stoves and most of the time thought it was fun. We sat glued to the daily happenings of Little Orphan Annie on the radio and let our imaginations run riot. The older generation listened to Mert and Marge and Helen Trent daytime (while washing down walls), at night there was more fun with Amos 'n Andy.

Grandad was most unusual to our young minds as he listened to the Tiger game with one ear and read his westerns with the other. He always knew what was going on in both places. We know we are an oldster when we remember vividly events of 50 years ago and can't remember yesterday's.

MONDAY: to labor or not to, have fun.

TUESDAY, Sept. 3: Come to the first senior lunch at noon in Emanuel's dining room. Call either Linda at 428-8359 or Jan at 428-7630 before 10:30 a.m. on meal days. Veal cutlets will be served. Center activities follow.

THURSDAY, Sept. 5: Birthday Bash for seniors over 55 who were born in August or September. Chuck roast will be the treat and bingo will be enjoyed at the Center after lunch. Call in your reservation ahead to either of the above and enjoy, enjoy.

Not For Women Only: "Schooldays, Schooldays!"

It's that time of year again when summer nights begin to shorten, an occasional chill is felt upon the breeze, and young children begin preparing for their first day of school.

When I think back to my early schooldays, I feel the stiffness of new, polished leather shoes and smell the steamed cotton of a freshly-ironed dress. The walk to school was often fraught with adventure and near peril—a neighbor's unruly dog, a "big boy" shouting taunts, the temptation of a car sleeping lazily on a front porch.

The walk to Washington Elementary meant crossing Portage street. I thought the crossing guard very brave to march into the middle of rush hour traffic. Holding up his red STOP sign, he halted the cars like magic. Then my sister, Elizabeth, would take my hand and across we would go, our skirts brushing our knees and our white anklets keeping time.

Iron railings surrounded the red-brick school building and kept children off the carefully-manicured lawn. Doors of solid oak arched high above our heads. I always felt a flutter of dread when Elizabeth let go my hand and I stood, alone, before my classroom. Mrs. Gillette never failed to greet me at the door and guide me to my seat.

I loved my desk. Like the floors below me, the door, window and chalkboard frames about me, it too was made of wood. When I lifted the desk-top, I could place my treasured pencil box and animal-shaped erasers inside.

The morning passed quickly. Mrs. Gillette played the piano as we marched about the room—quickly when she played fast, slowly when the music paused—then changing directions if she changed tunes.

At storytime, we often listened to the same tale day after day. Our hearts anticipated the next word; our minds sought pictures of Hansel and Gretel lost in the forest, of Puss 'n Boots before the King.

We also drilled regularly for fires, tornadoes, and bombs. During fire drill, we were cautioned that this could be an actual fire and that we should behave as if it were. This always suggested quick flights to me, and my palms grew sweaty as the teachers methodically lined us up at the door.

For tornado drill we marched to the windowless cloakroom at the back of our class. There we lined the walls, sitting atop rubbers and umbrellas, poking each other with elbows and feet and smelling hot, moist air, until we were thankfully released to the high-ceiling classroom again.

Three sharp blasts represented bomb drill. For this exercise, we put our heads down upon our desks just as we did at rest time or if we misbehaved. But in bomb drill, we also covered our heads with our hands. I think of this now as a representation of the deep futility felt by the school staff when confronted with the challenge of saving children from the atom bomb. Heads bowed, we breathed the smell of wood, pencil lead and crayons mingled with the smell of fear as we listened for the roar of planes overhead.

When I was in my twenties, I revisited Washington Elementary. I remembered the quiet of the halls, the concentration of the classrooms. But I knew that times had changed, and I expected the atmosphere of other schools I knew as a young adult. In these schools of the early seventies, children moved relentlessly about the room; often the atmosphere was highly-charged.

I opened those great oak doors of Washington with uncertainty as to what I would find.

The 20th Century Club of Manchester is outstanding volunteer

Each year at the Benefit Banquet the Community Resource center recognizes an organization within the Community who have given special service in terms of time and financial donations. In 1991, the volunteer recognition certificate was awarded to The 20th Century Club of Manchester.

In 1989, a small group of women wished to become better acquainted with the civic problems of the town, state and nation. Through his vision they organized The 20th Century Club in Manchester.

One of the Club's first projects was a cleanup campaign which led to cleaner streets in Manchester and made for better walking conditions for the ladies in the long flowing skirts.

Each year, the 20th Century Club sponsors a Bridge Marathon for men, women and couples. The funds from this Marathon are donated for Community projects such as Jaws of Life, Library improvement, Manchester High School Student Scholarship Fund, Blue Lake Music Camp, and in 1990 funds were used to sponsor nine student's registration for conferences that address issues related to education and prevention of alcohol and other drugs.

The Community of Manchester is fortunate to have organizations such as The 20th Century Club who wear a variety of "Hats" as they serve their Community.

The Manchester Open was a success and the CRC would like to extend their gratitude to Ray Steele and Larry Goodell who made, placed and collected all the markers for the fairways and the greens; Joyce Golightly, Bessie Osborne and Diane Pulaskey who helped with registration and listing team members as the teams were drawn; Jean Little who collected score cards and Judy Kuntz who recorded individual winners for each hole, designed and printed the flyer, assisted Jean Little and did all the little jobs we forget about; Bill and Diane Schwab who ran the "putting" contest all day; Judy Kuntz, Jon and Mae Hardenbergh who acted as our official photographers; and Emory Garlick, our reporter, who couldn't play but took these pictures.

We especially extend our gratitude to the businesses in the Manchester area who so wholeheartedly supported the "Open" by displaying our flyers, selling tickets and donating generous gifts for prizes.

Green Valley Golf Course treated us very well and provided delicious food, and even donated prizes to our "putting" contest.

The next CRC Manchester Open will be one year from today.

Shan Lee returns from Nationals

Shan Lee, a freshman at Manchester High School and catcher for the Ann Arbor Stein and Gatz Aces, recently returned from participating in the American Softball Association 14 and under Girls Fast Pitch National Tournament in Sacramento, Calif.

The Aces qualified for the national tournament held July 31 through August 4, by finishing runner-up in the state and regional tournaments.

The squad is the youngest, and only the second Ann Arbor team to qualify for a National Junior Olympics A.S.A. Tournament

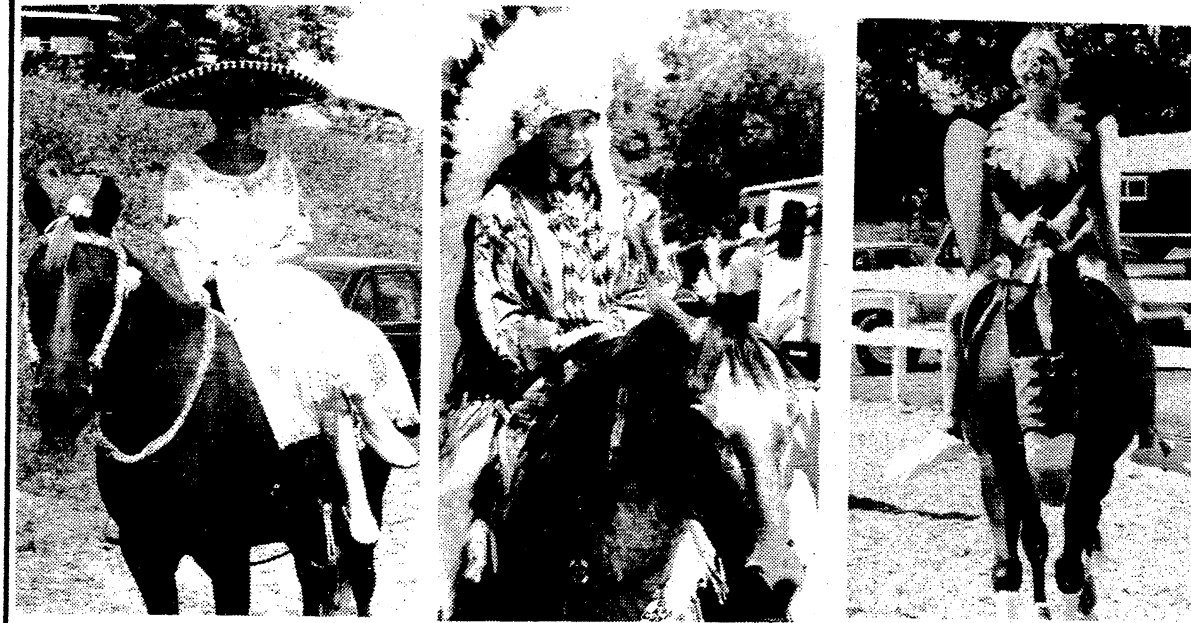

Since returning from California, the Aces captured the 1991 Ann Arbor Girls High School Fast Pitch League Championship.

Way to go, Shan!

Jolly Farmerettes Plus Teen Leader-Leader Meeting

Leaders and Teen Leaders of the Jolly Farmerettes Plus 4-H club met on Monday, August 19th, to plan the 1991-92 club program. In attendance were Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Lowery, Mrs. Coval and Mrs. Feldkamp as adult leaders with Suzanne Lowery, Sarah Feldkamp, Jodi Parr, Michelle Mann and Andrea Clark as teen leaders; absent were Mrs. Haessler and Wendy Haessler.

Decisions regarding the upcoming club year were made as follows:

1. We'll continue with club agendas prepared by the club president.
2. Club officer elections will be held at the September meeting. A new office of club photographer to be added.
3. Club meetings will be held on the 4th Saturday of the month from 1-3pm. (This is a change from the previous schedule of the 3rd Saturday.) We would like to have club meetings at the Sharon Township Hall.
4. We will eliminate the club grapevine list.

Teens signed up for club leadership chairman responsibilities as follows: National 4-H Week - Sarah Feldkamp; Club Cookie Bake Sale - Michelle Mann; Christmas Party - Michelle Mann/Jodi Parr; Club Mother's Tea - Sarah Feldkamp/Andrea Clark; Trash Barrels - Suzanne Lowery/Andrea Clark.

Teen project representatives will be as follows: Andrea Clark - Goats & Quilting; Michelle Mann - Breads & Sewing; Jodi Parr - Sewing, Food Preparation & Canning; Sarah Feldkamp - Sewing, Demonstrations, Buymanship & Cross Stitch; Suzanne Lowery - Crafts & Modeling.

The meeting continued with discussion for club workshops, the list of ideas to be presented at the September 28th club organizational meeting and voted upon at that time. Mrs. Clark will research possibilities for a visit to an area restaurant by club members. Discussions were had regarding Michigan Awards, Personal Member Record Books and the 1992 Manchester Street Fair.

CRC needs help in developing a Program Planning Guide

Have you ever had the responsibility to find a speaker or set up other programs for your organization and not know where to look?

Have you wanted to share an experience, promote the work of your organization, provide a travelogue or share a skill; but do not know who to contact?

Are you aware of people with entertaining programs that could be presented in our Community; but have no vehicle to spread the word?

The Community Resource Center is developing a Program Planning Guide that will include speakers and program ideas. It will be distributed to Community organizations and other interested people when it is complete.

Center needs input from the Community to broaden the scope of information that is available. Many of us have attended programs that were educational and/or entertaining. Share the program idea with us.

To include your ideas for Program Planning Guide contact the Community Resource Center at 428-7722.

ROLL CALL Present: Davenport, Lowery, Little, Gleason, Palms, Walton, Way, Hinkley Absent: Schiller Also Present: Janet LaBeau Shurtliff, Dave Kemner, Joe Alexander, Chris Brooks, E. Kemner CALL TO ORDER The meeting was called to order at 7:35 by Chairman Davenport in the Council Room of the Village Hall. REPORTS FROM VILLAGE ADMINISTRATION, COUNCIL, COMMISSIONERS, AND PUBLIC

The Commission received the unapproved minutes from Council. Little read portions of a letter written by Kallewaard in response to questions from Phil Maly, concerning the possibility of his starting up a boat livery on the River Raisin. Palms and Way will review the letter and consider what potential impacts this might create. Little noted he is still waiting for the final information on Benedict's new sign.

Little also informed the Commission that he has received an application from Great Lakes Bank concerning the placement of lighted signs in the windows of Hop-In. Great Lakes Bank plans to install a teller machine inside Hop-In. The commissioners expressed concern over intense use, parking, and traffic congestion.

REGULAR BUSINESS GENERAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN DISCUSSION It was noted that a Master Plan meeting will be held July 23, 1991 at 7:30 in the Village Hall. This will be a working session. The purpose is to discuss a draft report of policy, a draft policy review and guidelines.

GROUP HOMES Davenport raised the question as to whether the development of an ordinance for Group Homes was necessary for this community. Commissioners expressed the following points: 1. Group homes can go as high as 16 residents per home, which is considerably larger than the average family.

2. If there is no ordinance on the books, they (group homes) can do whatever they want. 3. There is a need for a simple ordinance. 4. A community of this size could potentially have as many as 9 group homes with 6 residents in each.

5. There is a need to guarantee group homes would be spread out within the community and not clustered.

6. Village licensing might be used which could be more restrictive than that required by the State. 7. A simple straight forward addition to the zoning statutes could be an approach to take. 8. The maximum number of residents allowed per home is a major concern. 9. It was recommended the Village be divided up into four quadrants, and a set number of homes be allowed in each quadrant. This would insure they would not be clustered in one part of town. Davenport volunteered to draft sample ordinance revisions for Group Homes. WOODLANDS ORDINANCE UPDATE Davenport asked Carlisle to provide Council with a proposal for what it would cost to modify the Village Site Plan Review Process and for the development of a Clear Cutting Ordinance. Carlisle sent this proposal to Council, and Council has asked the Commission how they would like to proceed. To review the site plan review landscape requirement, Carlisle quoted $250. To develop a Clear Cutting Ordinance he quoted $750. Commissioners expressed the following: 1. They felt $750 was more than anticipated. (Clear Cutting Ordinance) 2. Concern was raised over the possibility of spending $750 only to have the public reject it at the public hearing. 3. Instead of having Carlisle and Associates develop a Clear Cutting Ordinance, it might be possible to obtain some additional points on how the clear cutting issue might be addressed. Then, if at the Public Hearing that level of control seems to be appropriate, the next level of expenditure would be undertaken. Davenport made a motion to recommend to Council Carlisle and Associates be hired for the purpose of reviewing the site plan review woodlands/landscape requirements for $250, and to obtain a preliminary draft of a clear cutting ordinance (this would need to be provided as required. Some commissioners understood the garage was to be located in the back not the side yard, and therefore would not be right next to Koebbe's house. Nothing has been received in the mail from the neighbors. Walton made a motion to table the Abbott variance request recommendation until the required site plan has been received. Lowery seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote. UNION CONSTRUCTION: RIVERBEND SUBDIVISION: ZBA VARIANCE FRONT SETBACK (25' to 15') Union Construction requests a variance on the front setbacks of lots 29 through 38, in the Riverband Subdivision. Only three site plans were submitted. Commissioners receiving these site plans were Hinkley, Little, and Walton. The other Planning Commission members did not see them prior to this meeting. The following points were made: 1. One commissioner heard that the portion of the houses which would be protruding into the front setback was the garage. 2. It was noted houses could be built right out to the high watermark (floodplain edge). 3. Granting the variance would preclude any possibility of ever installing sidewalks. 4. Long cars would hang over into the Village Right of Way. 5. Not as many lots are affected by tight space in the buildable area as are included in the request for variance. 6. Two lots could be combined into one, which would increase the buildable area. 7. It was noted that the cul de sac has not been moved back as requested at the time of recommendation for site plan approval. This would also increase the buildable area of the two end lots (29 and 38). 8. Allowing only a 15 foot setback would change the character of the subdivision, creating a more closed in feeling. 9. It was emphasized that this is a self created problem. Lowery made a motion to recommend to Council the request for a variance be denied. The 25 foot setback should be maintained. Gleason seconded the motion. All eyes on a voice vote. The motion passed. UPDATE ON MILKEY ZBA REQUEST This request asks that a single lot be split into two lots. Commissioners took a quick look at the application. They recommended a more detailed site plan be submitted. This request will be addressed at the next regular meeting. ADJOURNMENT Davenport made a motion to adjourn the meeting. Walton seconded the motion. The motion passed on a voice vote. The meeting adjourned at 9:25. Susan Gleason Recording Secretary

Dam News

Last week's rainfall slowed down repairs to the Mill Street Dam. The west training wall foundation has been poured and formed and awaiting concrete. As soon as that wall is poured, the sandbags will be moved to the east wall and repairs on that side will begin.

Lorenzo Steele, Sidewalk Superintendent for dam reconstruction, watches repairs from a distance.

Dam Repairs Continue

Next GDP Workshop is Scheduled for Sept. 17

The Village of Manchester Planning Commission is conducting a series of public workshops as part of the Village's General Development Plan revision process. The current General Development Plan was adopted in 1967, and is being revised to reflect the many changes which have occurred within the Village since that time.

In order to develop a plan which represents the community's vision of its future, the Planning Commission is seeking citizen input, and encourages all citizens interested in contributing to the General Development Plan to attend at least one public workshop.

Public Workshop I was held Tuesday, May 28, 1991. At this workshop the community planning issues which need to be addressed in the General Development Plan were identified. The Public Workshop II is scheduled for Tuesday, September 17, 1991 at the Knights of Columbus Hall located at 106 East Madison, Manchester, Michigan.

The purpose of the second workshop is to develop community goals and policies to guide future land use and development within the Village. The Planning Commission wishes to stress that attendance at the first public workshop is not a prerequisite for attendance at future General Development Plan Workshops.

For more information, please call Bob Daverman, Village Planning Commission Chairman at 428-9367 (evenings) or Emily Palacios of Carlisle Associates at 662-2200 (days).
