Down Memory Lane

The following has been taken from the Manchester Enterprise dated July 11, 1907, by Mat D. Blosser.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

We have had a splendid rain today.

We have had several good hay days.

John Jackson has sold his horse and colt.

Horace Case, who is at Redlands Cal. has our thanks "for a copy of the Daily Facts".

John Spafford is building a cottage at Wampler's lake and will occupy it as soon as finished.

Mr. & Mrs. C. W. Case and Mr. & Mrs. Ed. E. Root attended the banker's convention at Detroit, Tuesday.

Farmers are hauling a large amount of hay to Lonier & Hoffer's storehouse, where it is baled for shipment.

About 50 of the ladies' aid society of Emanuel's church spent a pleasant afternoon with Mrs. J. M. Huber last Wednesday.

J. S. Townsend of the Clinton department store has a special sale on lawns to which we call the attention of our readers this week.

The county board of auditors came here and went out to Freedom Monday to investigate the claim of $1,300 made by L. D. Watkins against the county for flooding his lands in 1904-5.

Mr. & Mrs. Blumberg and daughter of New York visited here last week and part of this week. Mrs. Blumberg is a sister of Mrs. Stolarsky and while here purchased a lot on Boyne Street nearly opposite the Stolarsky residence.

Village Treasurer Lonier advertises that he is ready to collect village taxes. The assessed valuation of the village is $681,485 and the assessment is three tenths per cent, amounting to about $2,000.

The iron bridge in this village needs painting and this is a good time to have the work done. An iron brush should be used first to remove the scale, then coal tar applied to supply a lasting covering for the iron. The job should be done thoroughly.

A farmer dropped into the office a few days ago to thank the Enterprise for what was said about the way some of the roads are plowed up. He thoroughly agreed with us in what we said and was glad that the law in regard to road making has been changed.

Joseph Howard appeared at the Enterprise office Tuesday morning with a good sized dogfish which he took from the iron pipe that runs from the mill pond to supply water for sprinkling the streets. A few years ago he took a three foot eel from the same place.

Mr. & Mrs. T. B. Blosser of Lansing came here last week Wednesday with Mr. & Mrs. B. F. Burtless in their touring car to visit a week or more. Mr. Burtless returned home Sunday taking Drs. Osborn and Dunning of Lansing, who came down to visit W. B. Osborn, of Sharon home with him.

We have received from Fred Steinkohl a souvenir card of the public library at Oskosh, Wis., on which he says that they are out sight seeing. Fond du Lac and Oskosh are on Winnebago lake, a large and beautiful sheet of water. It will be remembered that Will Ruckman, now of Seattle, formerly lived in Oskosh.

Relatives and friends spent the Fourth very pleasantly at Mr. & Mrs. George Pardee's. A picnic dinner was served, speeches appropriate to the day were made and after light refreshments in the evening, the guests departed to their separate homes, feeling that they had spent the day in a manner long to be remembered.

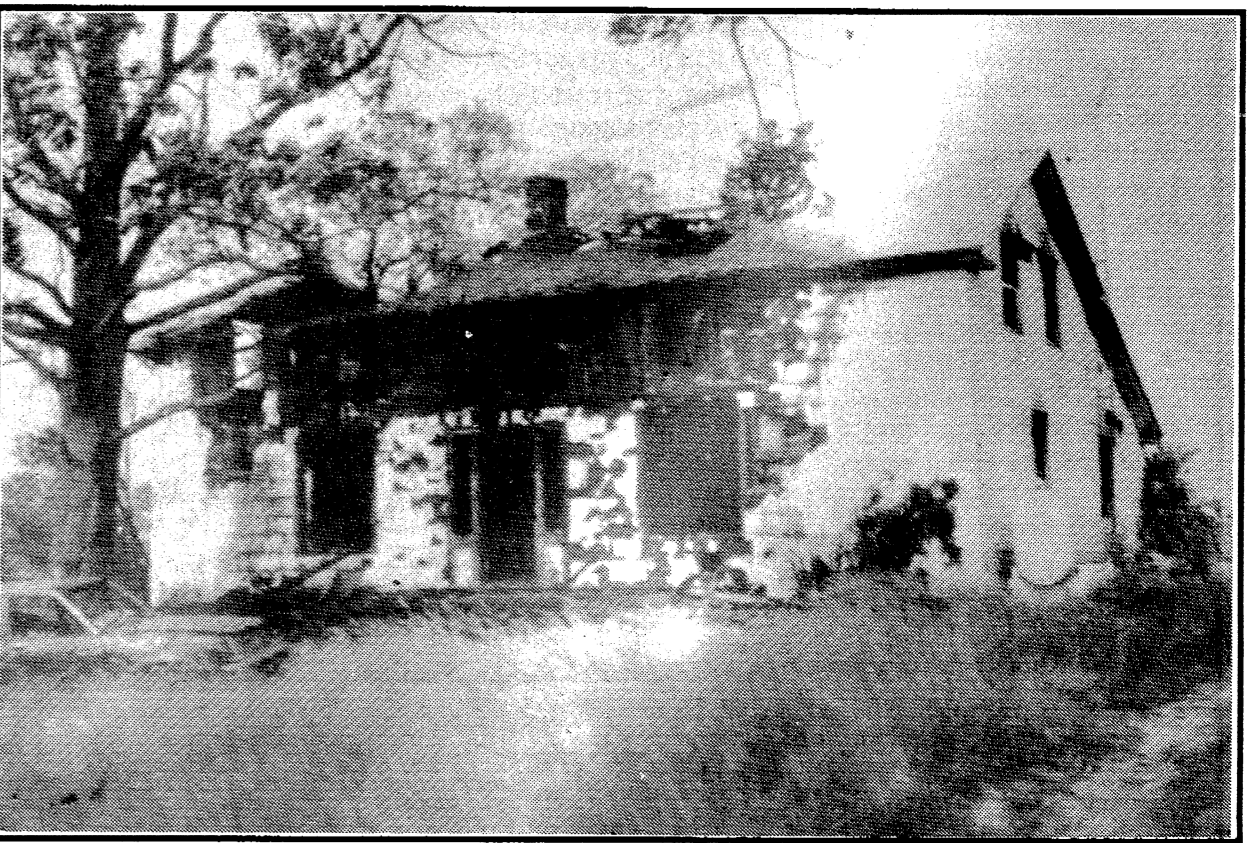

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. C. Vogelbacher found a weasel trying to kill one of her chickens. She procured a club and tried to kill the little animal, but was obliged to call for help and they finally shot it with a rifle. Weasels are exceedingly found of chickens and very hard to catch and it is lucky that this one, at least, has been disposed of.

About 150 Manchester people went to Jackson Sunday to attend the young peoples convention. The special train chartered for the purpose of getting the people there before the opening morning session was an accommodation appreciated by many. The meetings were greatly enjoyed and the meeting of friends was a pleasant feature.

In concluding the work attending the construction of the soldier's monument at oak grove cemetery, Henry Kirchofer, chairman of the committee, asks us to thank the people of Manchester for the assistance given by subscription and voted tax and reports that the cost of monument, grading etc., was $476.00 of which $250.00 was paid by tax and $226.00 by subscription.

Fred M. Freeman was at Ann Arbor Tuesday assisting in the settlement of cement plant affairs, Mrs. A. M. Stenz of Morroville, Ohio, the present owner of the plant, paid over to Receiver Watkins the amount of her bid. She says that she will first ascertain the truth in regard to the marl and clay deposit, then will put her property and the stock she holds in at $25,000 and attempt to organize a new company with a capital of $200,000 then if that is not sufficient to complete the plant, her plan would be to issue bonds. She hopes to be able to interest the people in the matter so the plant can be completed and operated. (End article)

ARSONIST ON THE LOOSE?

House on Lamb Road, south of Sharon Valley Road destroyed by fire

Three out buildings, set ablaze and destroyed

It appears that we have a de-mmented arsonist in our midst. Within the past year our area has been plagued by eight fires of buildings that are suspicious in nature.

About this time last year some hay was set fire in the field that appeared to be a prank of some exuberant children. However since that time fires have erupted in barns and vacant buildings.

The barns on West Austin Road belonging to Brian Alber and Neil Baggett were in the opinion of the owners definitely torched. A reward was posted by Baggett and Alber in an attempt to apprehend the guilty parties. Brian stated to this writer shortly after the fire, "This was torched, we had nothing in the barns that could have started the fire".

The Sula's had a fire in one of their buildings and a reward was posted for information.

When fire fighters arrived on the scene at the Lamb Road fire the 3 out buildings were destroyed. It took 30,000 gallons of water to control the abandoned house blaze.

All fires except one occurred between 11:00 P.M. and 3 A.M.

If you have any information contact Chief Johnson, 428-9489, or the Sheriff's Department. It's important that leads be found or your buildings might be next.

Our firemen's lives are on the line when a fire breaks out. If the department is on location fighting an arsonist's blaze and a fire were to start at a residence in another location, persons lives and property could be endangered.

Please help, observe, report.

The back forty

by Roger Pond

I'll never get used to fancy equipment. I can't afford a top-of-the-line outfit, anyway, but I suspect I wouldn't enjoy it if I could.

It must be the way I was brought up. I grew up in a time when fancy equipment was a sign of moral weakness. A person with new machinery wasn't seen as a great success, but a darn-poor mechanic. My family adhered to the motto: "Make it work, wear it out, use it up, or do without."

The old motto came back to me recently when I considered replacing my old boat. My boat is O.K. for the places I normally fish, but a little too small for certain types of fishing I might like to do if I ever got the chance. Of course reasoning like that needs some work before it blossoms into a good excuse; so I stopped by the marina to chat with the salesmen.

"What type of boat are you looking for?" the salesman asked.

"Well, I've got a 15-footer now, and would like to have something a little bigger, but not too expensive," I told him.

"We've got a 17-foot 1976 Starcraft — with swivel seats, a fish finder, 25-horse Johnson outboard, and trolling motor for $5,100," he said. "I might need to think about that for awhile," I told him. (Considering that my current boat cost $1,000, I might have to think about that for a long while.) On the way home I started thinking, "My $1,000 boat has a 35-horse outboard, and a trolling motor. I could move up to a fish-finder and swivel seats for another $4,000."

I estimated the number of times I turn around during a day of fishing; and figured I can save $2 per turn-around by performing this maneuver on the seat of my pants rather than on a swivel. If that gets too painful I could stand up and turn around.

A fish-finder would be nice, but it's easy enough to follow the boats that have fish-finders. All one has to do is listen for the little "beep, beep, beep" these gadgets emit each time they pass over a rock or a carp.

Then, I realized my old boat isn't so bad after all. It seems a person can save a tremendous amount of money if he just learns to sit still — and follow the boats that have fish-finders. I don't think I would catch any more fish if I had a new boat.

I stumbled across the opposite philosophy last spring while browsing through an antique store. A middle-aged lady of about 70 showed me around the store while I waited to talk with the owner. I noticed several sets of golf clubs sitting in the corner, and inquired about them.

"The owner's father likes to play golf," the clerk said. "He's over eighty years old, but he plays every day. He thinks new clubs will help him play better. So he brings his old clubs in for us to sell each time he buys a new set.

"There must be six or eight sets of clubs, and they look brand new," I commented. "Yes, he must be desperate, alright," the clerk said.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF MAKING MORE ON YOUR MONEY, WHATEVER YOUR ECONOMIC OUTLOOK.

RIISING RATE CD FOR THE LONG TERM.

FIRSTRATE FUND FOR THE SHORT TERM.

The economy is recovering. But even the experts can't agree on what interest rates will do.

So First of America has two shrewd ways for you to invest. No matter what your strategy.

The long view.

If you think rates will drop or stay flat, you should go with a longer-term investment and get a rate guaranteed to rise every six months over the next two years. The Rising Rate CD.

It starts at a bonus rate of 5 percent per annum. And you'll end up earning 6 1/2 percent for the final term. You can withdraw part or all of your money in the first ten days of every six-month interval without penalty. All it takes to get started is a $1000 deposit.

The short view.

If you predict rates will keep going up beyond this election year, invest short term with the FirstRate Fund.

You'll make a bonus return of 5 3/4 percent per annum from the day you sign up through July 31.

So the sooner you invest the more you'll make. After July 31, the per annum rate is based on the weekly Treasury Bill. So if the T-Bill goes up quickly, you'll continue to benefit from it.

A new deposit of $10,000* is required, and you can get your money seven days after notifying us.

It's a respectable rate of return plus liquidity in these uncertain times.

Of course, your investments are FDIC insured up to $100,000 per depositor. And bonus offers are good through July 31.

no matter what your point of view, you can't go wrong investing with us.

Plane Falls from Sky

When accidents happen and people want to know why or how, we often reply with a short and somewhat humorous explanation.

Chuck "Sky" King and Emory Garlick are both knowledgeable enough about aviation to know that airplanes don't just "fall out of the sky." In their conversation, published in last week's Enterprise, they were both being facetious and using humor to deal with a recent situation involving Chuck and his airplane at Napoleon Airport. However, in the best interest of general aviation and in support of the aviators of this community, the non-flying public deserves a better explanation.

It has been said, "To an even greater degree than the sea, aviation is terribly unforgiving of any carelessness, incapacity or neglect." Flying in itself is not dangerous, but like everything else in life, it carries a degree of calculable and manageable risk.

Man and machine both have limitations and, in the interest of safety, one is cautioned when flying not to exceed either's limitations. In theory, that is a simple statement. In real life situations develop (sometimes very rapidly) during which limitations are approached and/or exceeded without much forewarning.

Chuck and his instructor, Bill Lewis, had many variables to analyze prior to taking off from Napoleon last month. Temperature, humidity, runway length and condition, obstacles, weight of fuel and of people on board, available horsepower, and the skills and ability of those performing the task were just a few of the many things to consider. Some of the variables carry higher priorities than others; priorities change given different situations.

Bottom line: when the alternatives are considered and a decision has been made to "go or no go," success or failure can ride on a fine line. The responsibility of that decision then remains with the pilot in command regardless of the consequences.

If an aircraft is loaded with too much weight (people and/or fuel) or underpowered for the given weight, it may leave the ground and fly in what is known as "ground effect" but yet it is unable to climb to altitude. Thus, the machine's limitations have been exceeded.

There—but for the grace of God—go I. Anyone who has operated any kind of machinery—be it farm machinery, automobiles, construction machinery, or lawnmowers—has had the experience of exceeding the limitations of that machine, and yet it usually pulled us out of a difficult situation. But one day... we may ask too much of ourselves or of the machine.

Chuck King is an excellent pilot. As my flight student and as a private pilot, Chuck has always exhibited extreme caution and practiced safety in and around the aircraft. Both Chuck and Bill Lewis are respected for their ability, skill and knowledge of aviation. The airplane was excellently maintained and running well.

The airplane is history—it gave its mechanical life so that three people could live to fly again. Please join with me to encourage Chuck's continued enthusiasm for aviation.

EDITORIAL

—Emory Garlick

Our front page this week points out the very real probability that we have an arsonist in our midst. I can relate to that possibility. Back some years ago a very prominent Ypsilanti business man would light afire any combustibles available at a local area dump. He also burned several outbuildings and a barn on some of his properties. Fortunately reason prevailed and he realized after the barn fire that he had destroyed his own assets.

I watched this particular individual on a couple of occasions when he lit a fire to some trash. A transformation of facial features and a far away stare in his eye came over this person. A conversation would be interrupted and all verbal communication ceased until the fire had consumed the trash.

If the individual or individuals involved in the arson fires are like the Ypsi business man then we in the area have a real problem to contend with.

If there is anyone in the area that may have observed someone setting these fires please contact Fire Chief Johnson, the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department or even myself here at the Enterprise. We need to get this arsonist off the street and get them help before someone is injured or killed.

If you have any ideas or suspicions, if you know something but don't want to be identified, call us, we will keep your confidence and pass on the information.

O'Connor Opposes 92/93 School Aid Budget

Many Washtenaw County schools will be financially devastated by House passage of the 1992-93 school aid budget, said state Rep. Margaret O'Connor, R-Lodi Township, who strongly opposed the legislation.

The lawmaker said the plan is a disaster for most of her school districts, including those in Chelsea, Manchester and Saline.

"Currently, general state aid is based on the number of students registered in a district by the fourth Friday in September," O'Connor said. "The major flaw in the bill is that it bases future state aid on previous enrollment numbers, instead of projected figures that reflect population changes."

"This grossly unfair action robs school districts that are self-supporting and growing. These districts now face financial hardship because their residents have willingly shouldered a heavy tax burden to support their schools. What an outrageous 'reward' for responsible behavior."

The plan, approved by a 56-49 vote, now goes to the governor for his signature. "Using last year's student count numbers for in-formula, high growth school districts is an unfair way to resolve state budgeting problems," O'Connor said. "These school districts will be adversely affected, while school districts that have lost student population will have more operating money than they should. The school aid bill, backed by the governor's office, only emphasizes the need for true and equitable school finance reform, which I advocate."

Pleasant Lake Boat Parade — A Huge Success

The Pleasant Lake Property Owner's Association Annual 4th of July Boat Parade was enthusiastically supported by 23 boat entries. A shoreline full of waving and cheering supporters were delighted with the cleverly decorated speed boats, pontoons and one row boat.

Some of the uniquely designed boats used balloons, flags, streamers, pumpkins and patriotic music. A few entries had costumed participants like Betsy Ross sewing her flag, George Washington leading his Minutemen across Pleasant Lake, Batman in his boat-mobile. Even the pilgrims and Indians crossed Pleasant Lake on the Mayflower.

The parade started at the west end of the lake and the boater made one complete circle around the lake. Judges were located at strategic points around the lake to evaluate the boats' decorations.

And the winners were:

Most Patriotic — 1st-George Washington and his Minutemen Crossing the Delaware, Kevin, Kristen and Megan Taddonio; 2nd-Star Spangled Pontoon Boat, Betty and Ted Curley; 3rd-The Johnstons' Pilgrims on the Mayflower

Most Original — 1st-Halloween Night, Diane and Larry Schwab, 2nd-Batman and the Boatmobile, Caroline Rice and crew, 3rd-Betsy Ross, John and Ann Taddonio

Most Colorful — 1st-The Reides, 2nd-Tom and Doris Taddonio, 3rd-Russ and Julie Auito

Many local businesses supported this 4th of July celebration by donating prizes. They were: Fredonia Grocery, Haab Brothers' Hardware Store, The Aura Inn, Mill Creek Sport Center, Wacker's, and Jefferson's Art Studio.

The members of the Board of the PLOPA wish to extend our thanks to all who contributed to the success of this memorable day.

Manchester's Declaration of Independence

—R. Zang

The Men's Club and fireworks crew of Manchester do have a knack for picking the right day for celebrating the Fourth of July wouldn't you say? Doubts ranged in many people's minds that last Friday's festival would produce a rainout, but considering how the true Fourth ended up on this side of 1994 (inches of rain fell) I'd recommend you stick with the local program.

What made this fireworks exhibition different from ones past was experimentation with two shooters instead of one. This allowed for multiple bursts of color and size that left the audience awash in a perpetual blaze of rainbow luminescence. The Independence Fireworks Company guaranteed that this year's assortment of munitions would offer quality and color as never before. And the truth bore fruit. Imagery of 3-D filled the sky, especially when those wide circles of red starbursts filled the viewing area. The grand finale topped anything I've seen in quite awhile.

The crowd teemed with energy, and it seemed that more families and friends entered the grassy confines of quaint Carr Park than ever before, 20% more than last year, according to Men's Club head, Jim Mann. Makes you think that the word has spread that Manchester does things in a pretty excellent way. I mean, when an entire motorcycle club shows for the event, respectful, sober, and attentive, who's left but political candidates looking to press a few hands and pass out leaflets printed on recycled paper?

Now, did you attempt to migrate to Chelsea for Saturday's lightning-charged fireworks event? Did you hang out in one of the blacktop parking lots with lawn chairs and blankets trying to match the ambience found here? Sorry, not the same.

Which makes me think how important is it to maintain community in a country that bases its economy on growth controlled by corporate officials who conduct demographic assays for profitability. Meaning, if MacDonald's thinks it has a chance to sell burgers on the main drag into town, it goes for it. The remaining taco-burger-deep-discount corporations follow suit. And the community has fireworks viewed from asphalt parking lots. What price progress?

A recent article in the Utne Reader, a magazine that summarizes trends and research in the United States, comments on "what to do, what not to do" regarding saving America's small towns.

First of all, the truth of the matter is that "the percentage of rural dwellers to total U.S. population continues to decline." Why? The farm crisis and centralization of retail business in suburbs and larger towns are taking away the business assumed by local economies. But, we already know that.

And secondly, what may not be known, is how small towns sabotage themselves into thinking they've enhanced their economic future, and in the case of many declining communities, solved their financial woes.

The Utne Reader paraphrases a book called Small Places by Thomas Rawls, which identifies two pitfalls for small town planning commissions; "urban romanticism" and "the Wal-Mart virus".

The first pitfall identifies urban newcomers who "have money, and are using it to transform the rural town into a neosuburb — better schools, paved roads, rising real estate values, and property taxes to match. The next generation of natives can't afford to live in their hometowns."

In the case of the Wal-Mart virus, local shoppers favor the deep discount name brand offering of the 90's store, and pull money away from local merchants. With this, goes the accountants, the lawyers, and the printers who rely on local business. "Bit by bit, you destroy everything that facilitates a sense of community."

Manchester's already had a taste of neosuburbia—a $7 million better school ideology. Not exactly an intelligent plan for the 21st Century which plans to keep local natives on their property and in their homes. The village cautiously anticipates the outcome of a trailer park that potentially adds 116 families to the community. This park will soon fill up, if you've paid attention to housing trends in the U.S.

Attempt a crossing of Chelsea via M-52 to understand the result of the Wal-Mart virus. Listen to the local voices that agree that changes and improvements need to be made in the public school not at the price or in the manner recommended, and a sense of backlash to urban romanticism becomes clear.

"It is this sense of community rather than a particular range of population, that 'defines' a small town. 'A sense of community means that you know your neighbors and that you interact constantly with them. This can have its good and its bad sides.' The bad side, of course, heads on straight don't want to go the Wal-Mart route, but do need to think of ways to support and sustain their local economy. It is beyond me why I can't walk up, down, and around Main Street and see every storefront occupied by retail or service space. Or why village planners and business people aren't busting to figure out ways to make it work. Should it really take a year to have a burnt carcass of a building cleared out? Do you really like looking at a "building with a view"? Got a script? Manchester has its own Hollywood movie set; storefront, no backbone.

can be a real lack of privacy. But the good side, is the sharing, caring, and nurturing you don't get in bigger cities," claims the Utne Reader.

After talking with Jim Mann, in the aftermath of the most successful fireworks display ever, he claims that local people supported the Men's Club, and dug into their pockets to make the event possible. The money is already available to go ahead with next year's extravaganza. The leverage the Men's Club has lies in the way the event is publicized. Community support means that advertising remains purely local, and remains a relaxed occasion. He admits to advertising this year over a broader area, but might not have to next year. Local control, local planning. Community support.

It seems to me that most communities who have their

According to the Utne reader, the key to a small town's survival is local control and leadership. It identifies a "spirit born of people who care about the particularity of their place, and who are willing to plan a town's efforts toward maintaining it." Part of this formula requires that many participate, and take active roles, however expressed.

Next in line is one of the world's wackiest parades to precede a country fair that I know has a group of planners pulling out all the stops to make it successful. They deserve community support. Then follows a chicken broil that serves 14,000 meals on a feather bed of cordiality. And finally a 125th Grand Finale that supports merchants who need to remember their involvement in a "living, evolving place offering community and belonging."

Community Volunteer of the Week

Marikay Kennedy and Sherry Barker

Manchester Area Girl Scouts nominated Marikay Kennedy and Sherry Barker for community volunteer recognition. Marikay and Sherry became co-leaders for Troop #274 when their daughters were in the first grade.

Marikay and Sherry have led their troop through many activities that help the scouts make choices as they plan and prepare for activities such as trips to the Hands-On Museum in Ann Arbor, Greenfield Village, the Humane Society, and the Space Museum. Many badges have been earned as the girls take part in cabin and tent camping, attend cluster events and visit Camp Linden for the Fall Walk.

Troop service projects have included letters to service personnel at Christmas; collection of gifts for Operation Desert Storm, eye glasses for the Lion's Club, and food and supplies for the Humane Society; Christmas carolling for senior citizens; assistance to the Manchester

Family Service; red ribbon campaign for MADD; and a cooperative troop-sponsored activity in recycling.

In March, the girls demonstrated their leadership skills by planning and leading 150 Manchester Girl Scouts in a Promise Circle to celebrate the 80th birthday of Girl Scouting.

Troop #274 has received Challenge Honor Troop recognition for two years. It is the highest honor a troop can receive for outstanding programs. Marikay and Sherry have been asked to become trainers of new Girl Scout leaders. This summer they will be co-directors of the day camp in July at Carr Park which serves about 90 boys and girls.

Marikay has been treasurer of Manchester Co-Op Preschool and assistant den leader for the Boy Scouts Sherry's past volunteer experience includes Manchester Co-Op Preschool, Klager PTO Council and four years as a Room Mother.

The Busy Woman's Calendar for July tells us what it could be like to camp: a tent, husband blowing on a pit fire and mom, bewilderingly waiting for a fire, sitting on a camp stool with spatula in hand; dog leading boy and girl away from a swarm of bees (mightily disturbed) completes this picture. Caption by mom reads: "My idea of 'roughing it' is a motel with black and white TV!" "There is nothing like a vacation to make you miss your hectic home life." Wanna bet? This is fair week, followed by Chicken Broil. All these busy volunteers would perhaps argue about this.

Thursday, July 9: From 1:00-5:00 p.m., all senior citizens are welcomed to their special day at our fair. You must be 62 years or more to come enjoy the program and get in free. Free gifts, door prizes, entertainment, ice cream cones and fun galore are there for you. End of this fun and relaxing at Bethel UCC's

Social continues with bus pickup starting at 4:00 p.m. Starting time means it is not necessarily your turn for pickup, so be patient and your turn for pickup will come as on all trips.

Friday, July 10: The Blacksmith Shop will be welcoming any senior who wishes to view the videos taken of Manchesterites who remember the early 1900's. This is truly history. If you'd like to attend, the senior bus is available for pickup. Call Erma Alber at 428-8707 to go along.

Monday, July 13: Shopping at Adrian is on the agenda for today. The bus will leave the Center at 9:30. Call Erma.

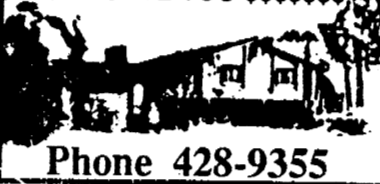

Thursday, July 16: Another big day - Chicken Broil Day! You are urged to be present at the Center at 12:45 p.m. and join in to greet the Blissfield Senior Citizens who plan to enjoy our famous chicken. And, in the evening at 7:30, Luke Schaible and his German Band will entertain us at the Gazebo. Sorry, no bus available, as it will be in use shuttling. Let's all turn out at 1:45 for this special welcoming of our neighbors in Blissfield.

There will be no council meeting on Tuesday, July 14. You may take this off your busy calendar (you could go camping that day!)

MFS "ALL SEASONS" CLOTHING SHOP A SUCCESS

Manchester Family Service, Inc "all-seasons" clothing shop proved to be a great success. On the first morning, to get an idea of an approximate number who might take advantage of the low-income shop, fifty numbers were placed in a basket outside the door; these were gone before the morning was over. Possibly seventy-five families benefited from the two full days of the shop.

We would be remiss if we didn't congratulate the people of Manchester for supplying many lovely items of clothing, linens and other household items—the nicest ever! We were able to fulfill some items needed to the Veterans' Hospital; the House-by-the-side-of-the-Road, as well as some clothing for Cass Community Church and Goodwill Industries. A few warm nighties, sweaters and robes were taken to the Methodist Home.

You might be interested in knowing that an international company picks up clothing from Goodwill in Jackson, (where it has been baled) to send to Europe and Asia. Wouldn't it be interesting to follow a special article of clothing, and to see the face of someone as they receive it to clothe or keep them warm? Of course, this is only done when Goodwill has more clothing than they need.

We appreciate the help of all who volunteered on intake day, from the donating and setting up of the ladders, to those who unpacked bags and boxes, as well as the help of those who so willingly volunteered to transport clothing to the various destinations, and let us not forget those who helped in dismantling the shop and in cleanup. By three p.m. on Thursday, no remains of the shop were visible.

We also appreciate Manchester United Methodist Church again making available the use of their Hoffer Hall for the shop.

SUMMER BLOODMOBILE

-Marja Warner

The arrival of July means that it is time for the SUMMER BLOODMOBILE to be held on Monday, July 20, at the American Legion Hall from 1:00-7:00 p.m. The chairperson for the day is Marilyn LaRock.

As is the custom, the local churches have volunteers that we call "recruiters". These are the people who do the signing up of the donors to specific times so that a schedule can be made up.

The recruiters for the churches, are as follows: Bethel UCC - Mrs. Jack Creech; Emanuel UCC - Mrs. Della Widmayer; Faith Community Church - Miss Lynn Gonyer; Iron Creek Church - Rev. Tom Butterfield; Manchester United Methodist - Mrs. L.L. Carpenter; St. Mary's Catholic Church - Mrs. James Landini; Sharon United Methodist - Mrs. Robert Pratt; and Victory Baptist Church - Rev. R. Dean Cooper. Our local industries also have recruiters to sign you up where you work. But, you say, you don't belong to one of the local churches nor do you work at one of the local industries? — no problem. You will find located in all three banks - Great Lakes Bancorp, First of America and Comerica, as well as the Baker's Dozen and Walco grocery store file boxes with sign-up cards in them. All you have to do to sign up is to fill out a card and leave it in the box. The cards will be collected and the schedule made up. What could be easier? You could also call Marilyn LaRock, 428-8849, and she can assign you a time to donate. As the need for blood is so great, you could say that all blood types are rare. Keep in mind, that by your generosity, a great number of people will be helped. Your time spent donating is truly A GIFT OF LIFE. See you on July 20.

Just a brief word of thanks and appreciation for all the people at work (Johnson Controls) and outside of work who contributed to my son's college scholarship fund.

I would like to thank those who made personal donations and those walkers and their sponsors in the walk-a-thon.

Again, thanks for all your generosity, kind wishes and prayers.

I would like to thank the Manchester American Legion Post #117 for sponsoring my trip to Boys' State 1992.

It was an opportunity for me to learn more about state and city governments and how they function. It was a good experience.

Some ideas of what to make to show off your delicious baking skills: a loaf of bread, dozen cookies or brownies, pies, cakes, jams or jellies. With everyone's help this event will be a sweet success.

Manchester's 125th Celebration Grand Finale is coming to Main Street in Manchester on Saturday, July 18.

There will be lots of old time fun for the whole family, including food, antique/flea market, arts and crafts, an Antique and Classic Car Show, and farm animal petting yard.

Have your child's picture taken on an antique fire truck with a Dalmation.

There will be many old-fashioned contests including the Beard Judging, Hay Bale Throwing, Log Sawing, and more. Watch or join in!

Between 2:00 and 3:00 in the afternoon there will be an old-fashioned tea party on the porch of the Mill.

Plenty of music is scheduled including the Luke Schaible band and Bob Bennett Guitarist.

Beginning at 9:00 p.m. a street dance will be held with Paul Meyer's Band playing.

So come on out to good old Manchester and join in on some good old-fashioned fun, Saturday, July 18th!

IN MEMORY

Dad's Loving Hands God took Dad home to stay, his gentle hand I lost that day. The love, the care they gave to us to guide us on our way. How can we say we love you Dad? How can we let you know, without you Dad our hearts, our lives they have a great big hole. You were one very special man to raise two girls without your helpmate's hand. That's why I miss the times we shared, it just wasn't time enough. To tell you Dad how much we cared. It will never mean enough. In loving memory of Robert G. Kappler. Loridas Announces Candidacy for Court of Appeals Judge Livingston County resident Renee Vintzel Loridas has announced her candidacy for Judge, Court of Appeals in the First District on the non-partisan ballot.

Loridas is one of nine candidates, and is the only candidate in the six county district who resides outside of Wayne County. The First District encompasses Monroe, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Loridas, who resides in Brighton Township, is a partner with Reynolds, Beby & Magnuson in Detroit. She has been involved in litigation practice for eleven years with appeals making up an important part of her practice.

She is a mediator on the Wayne County Mediation Tribunal, a Hearing Panelist on the Attorney Discipline Board and a member of the Michigan Bar Journal Advisory Board. She served six years on the Michigan State Bar Representative Assembly.

In 1985, Loridas was a member of the U.S. Women Lawyers/Judges Delegation to the People's Republic of China at the invitation of the Ministry of Justice. In 1987, she was a delegate to the U.S. China Joint Conference on Trade, Investment and Economic Law in Beijing.

She believes that these experiences have helped her to appreciate our system of government even more.

While attending Detroit College of Law, where she earned a Juris Doctor in 1981, Loridas was Editor-in-Chief of the Law Review. Before entering law school, she was an elementary school counselor for nine years. She helped develop a substance-abuse curriculum, a gifted and talented program and conducted teacher training seminars. Her broad educational experience includes a B.A. and an M.A. in education at Wayne State University. She was named "Counselor of the Year" in 1978 by the Michigan Elementary School Counselor Association.

Loridas and her spouse, Nick, are parents of five children. They attend St. Nicholas Church in Ann Arbor.

In announcing her candidacy, Loridas said she is committed to the judicial philosophy that an appellate judge's responsibility is to apply and interpret existing law. "Judges should judge, not legislate, and, in that way, maintain the separation of power of the branches of government as intended by the founders of our nation."
