Clear Cable Vision Service or Disservice ?

Clear Cable Vision Inc. will soon be negotiating the extension of their franchise agreement with the Village of Manchester. This contract was first entered into September 18th, 1980 for a period not to exceed fifteen (15) years.

Recently I moved into the village and asked for service hook up. I was told that hook up's and service was only performed on Thursdays and that some one would be at the house before 3:00 PM. That as a convenience, I would be called 15 minutes before the installer was to arrive.

At 12:50 the call was received, and the installers work sheet confirms his arrival at that time. The back door was left open, a check was placed on the T. V. Set, but the hook up was not made as I was not at the house by 1:05 PM. Needless to say, I was one irate person. I had attempted to call their Chelsea office Friday afternoon and Saturday, to no avail, as no one answered the phone.

The Chelsea office informed me that I would have to wait one more week, until the following Thursday before I could get service. Mad? You can bet this polack was hopping mad! Screamed and shouted, went over the office persons head to the next level of supervision, a Pamela Rider at the Saline office. Ms. Rider redispached the installer and the hook up was completed prior to 3:00 PM, when I had previously been promised service.

What is the point? One of our office staff said that she had taken off a day from work to be available for her T. V. Service to be hooked up. Further at 3:00 she left to go to the store for less than 10 minutes. Upon return the service man had been there and left. Another week, another lost day from work before the hook up was completed. This is not an isolated instance. One of the gals at the Village Hall had a similar experience.

In asking around different folks have indicated problems that have ranged from poor reception to inconsistent service hook up.

In defense of the Clear Cable Vision they serve quite a large area. Chelsea, Dexter, Manchester, Clinton, Dundee, Milan, Saline, Wagner Road Trailer Park and parts of Sylvan, Lodi, Saline and Lima Townships. The number of subscribers was unavailable at this writing.

The Village Clerk, Karen Tucker provided the Enterprise with a copy of the original Franchise Agreement and a copy of the Village code book, which covers under Chapter 25 - Cable Communications Systems.

Both documents cover extensively the Necessity, Contravention, Term and Termination of a franchise. Also covered Definitions, selection of franchisee, provisions and restrictions, number of channels, state of the art of the equipment, use of channels, subscriber equipment, public service installations, standards and requirements, etc.

In 15 legal pages of the original franchise agreement and 24 pages of the Village Code book there is virtually no protection for service to the "Subscriber", you and I, who are expected to pay the bills and support Clear Cable Vision.

Subscriber is mentioned about a dozen times, mostly in the context of description or in relation to protection for the Village. However, I was unable to find in any of the legal jargon what right's the subscriber has, either for installation or service protection or timeliness.

With the upcoming renegotiation of the village perhaps we the subscribers can obtain some much needed help. Help that can mean not taking a day off of work to wait around for hook up's not made.

order. State and National legislation is being contemplated to assist subscribers to eliminate rip off's or poor service. Perhaps we can get much needed assistance. The

Getting to Know Our Officers

Amy VanSchoyck is one of our Deputies from Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department that look out for our safety and property interests. Without police protection we would most certainly be subject to some hostile influences with our community.

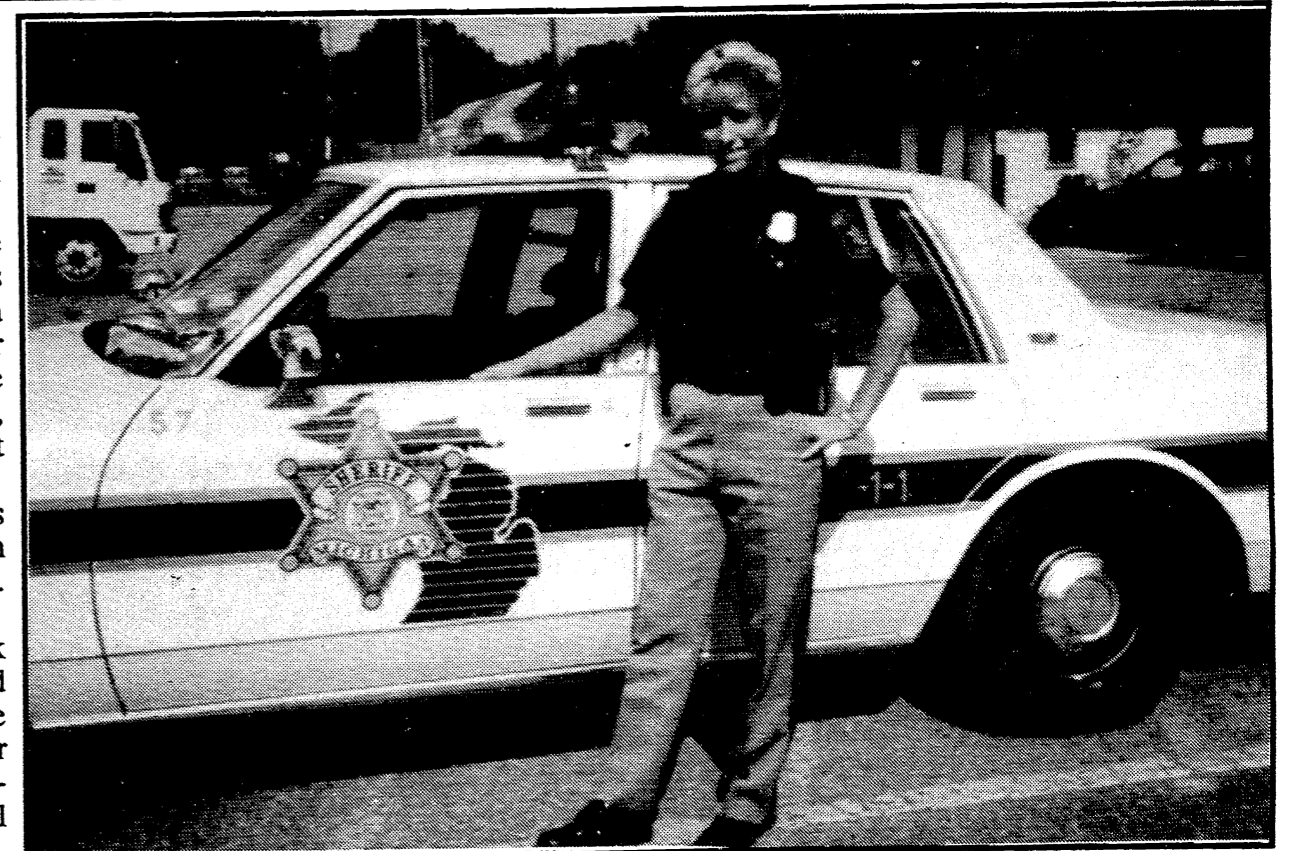

The Village of Manchester disbanded the Manchester Police Department and hired the services of Washtenaw County Sheriff's department in the 1980's. Since that time we have been assigned a command officer and generally one permanent patrol officer. Other officers are assigned or bid on three month shifts within the village contract. As officers are rotated within the confines of the village, we residents very seldom get to know those individuals that look out for our interest's.

Amy VanSchoyck has been with us about six months and has become one of us. Amy born in Jackson, graduated from Western High in Parma and Ferris State University Police Academy in 1990. Amy Joined the Sheriff's Department December 31, 1990.

A State Trooper who lived across the street from the VanSchoyck family had a strong influence on Amy's decision to become involved in criminal Justice work. Although when she first entered college with two friends from high school her goals were not definite and she considered the possibility of general business or accounting.

Amy's Mother, Ethel, a book keeper and wonders at times why her daughter does not get into a safer occupation. "Something within me just want's and likes the excitement and the occupation of Criminal Justice. I would like to be an undercover police officer or perhaps work with a K - 9 Division, if we had one. I like the excitement of a larger City because you always have something happening. I, don't mean that I don't like Manchester, because I do, and I have made a lot of friends here that I will keep in contact with, but larger Cities have more experiences that I can learn from."

When asked about any specific experiences her in Manchester, Amy responded; "I have learned a lot about people in a smaller town and how friendly they can be, also I know a heck of a lot more about farm equipment and cow chasing that I never knew before. I like kids, and working with kids. Here in Manchester if you see a kid getting into trouble or headed for the possibility of trouble an officer can work with the person and keep an eye on them, help them out, keep them from going off in the wrong direction and within the law. We have a 25 mile driving limitation per shift and consequently I park the car and walk a lot, I get to meet more people that way, but it's cold in the winter."

RURAL NEWS & FEATURES

1982 Roger Pond

The back forty

by Roger Pond

I've been feeling good about animals recently. Ever since we sold our sheep I've been on this "kind to animals" kick. Anyone who raises livestock will understand, the guy who doesn't have any always loves them the most.

The famed cowboy poet, Baxter Black, expressed it perfectly. "I eat a lot of beef," Baxter says. "Not for dietary reasons. But just for revenge."

That's the way I feel about sheep. They start out so small and cute, a person wonders if he'll ever be able to sell them. Then they grow into such ornery critters, I can hardly wait for the truck to pull away.

Kids are the same way, I guess. Watching your kids grow up and leave home seems impossible when they are small. But after several years as teenagers, it's not all that bad.

I first began to appreciate animals several years ago when a badger cleaned out my culvert. I'm not sure why he did it; but one day I drove down the lane and there was a nice pile of dirt at one end of the culvert. You've never seen a cleaner piece of pipe in your life.

The county came out and approved my culvert installation when the house was built twenty years ago. They made me bury the culvert two feet deep; and told me they would come through every couple of years and clean the ditch to the level of the culvert.

I haven't seen the county boys since, but they did send a badger out. (He looked like a county badger to me, anyway.)

If this was a county badger, some rodent must have made him awfully mad before hiding in the culvert. The badger started at one end and cleaned all the way to the other. No lunch break, no overtime, no leaning on his shovel.

I just loaded the loose dirt into a wheel barrow and wondered, "Who was that masked mammal? I never got a chance to thank him."

My favorite animals right now are horses — more specifically the neighbor's horses. We fixed some fence and turned them in to eat an oversupply of grass on our place. I love horses as long as they belong to someone else.

Boy, are those hay-burners doing a nice job. They come to work every day and mow for hours; and I don't even have to pay them. My neighbor hasn't mentioned paying them, anyway.

That's what I like about living in the country. One day I told the neighbor, "We've got grass, and you've got horses. Those horses would be doing us a favor if they ate this vegetation."

"How will we get the horses over there?" she asked. "We'll cut a hole in the fence and put in a gate," we agreed. No red tape, no zoning ordinances, just a hole in the fence.

Talk about well-behaved! These horses walk up to the electric fence and wonder, "Is it O.K. if we stand here for awhile. We know that's a fence — and don't want to crowd it."

When we had sheep, they would walk up to a fence and say, "You call that a fence? Ba - ha - ha - ha. Jailbreak!"

Traveling the Road — a Big Risk

Unless the current trend changes, there will be around 300 collisions between farm equipment and motorists on Michigan roadways this year.

Last year, such collisions killed two people and injured another 189.

"Most of those injured were either the drivers or passengers in the motor vehicles but 58 farm equipment operators were injured and one was killed," says Howard Doss, MSU Extension farm safety specialist.

Most of the collisions occurred on dry roads during the day; 74 of the accidents occurred at night.

Doss says the main reason for the collisions was that motorists approaching from the rear, misjudged how slowly the farm equipment was moving.

"When the driver of a vehicle traveling 55 miles per hour sees a tractor and equipment 400' ahead traveling 15 miles per hour, that driver has but seven seconds to slow down enough to avoid a collision," Doss says. "The key factor for motorists is to slow down immediately when they see farm equipment on the road."

The key factor for farmers, Doss says, is to be as visible as possible when driving equipment on the road.

"At minimum is a clean, bright slow moving vehicle (SMV) emblem on the rear of the equipment being towed and on the rear of the tractor or combine," Doss says.

It is also wise to make sure the tractor lights are working and are illuminated. If the tractor is equipped with flashers, turn them on also. An added safety measure is an amber flashing light on the tractor in addition to the tractor lights and flashers.

Out & About

Shoes, those contrivances we place upon our feet. For some of us vanity, a need to follow fashion trends, or quite possibly the Wing Tip models that some hot shot attorneys feel are needed to enhance their professional status, determine what we place on, around and under our feet.

Have you ever noticed that most shoes, like a good relationship, need to be broke-in before they are comfortable. Also just about the time a pair of shoes are broke-in they start to go to pot. Like the pair I am wearing at the present time. They are a pair of walking type with a little bit of casual style.

Now this pair of shoes seems to be a bit odd. One is larger than the other. The salesman assured me that they were both the same size and the problem is one foot is larger than the other. Perhaps folks should call me big foot, most already call me big headed or is that pig headed.

Anyhow this pair of shoes after two years, are right comfortable. One problem, however, the left foot where the big toe starts, the stitching is starting to come loose, not unlike some relationships after a period of time. Like a good relationship that pair of shoes has become a part of me. Sometimes a stone will get in one of the shoes and that foot hurts real bad until the shoe is removed and the offending rock has been removed.

Of course a relationship can be that way also. An itty bitty problem can become a big rock in the shoe of life. Best to get rid of that offending rock in order to get comfortable again.

Seems like all of life can be like a pair of shoes, they can get a little bit frayed, soles worn, heels run down or the stitching come loose but worth the effort to keep in good repair. Just like a good relationship.

Morris Dancing came to our last Gazebo Concert, but what is "Morris Dancing"? No one knows just how old Morris dancing is, but references suggest that it was a common sight in parts of England as far back as the fifteenth century. What seems certain is that the dances have their roots in the kind of spring rituals one encounters in cultures around the world. The clashing of sticks and ringing of bells waken the earth from her long slumber.

At one time each village had its own distinctive form of Morris dancing and a troupe of dancers, who could be seen at any local celebration from Whit Sunday in April to the autumn harvest. By the end of the nineteenth century urbanization and changing social conditions in England had left the country with only a few active groups. Fortunately a renewed interest in Morris dancing around the turn of the century — in England as well as in the United States — set in motion a revival that has continued to this day.

To live for money is to become

To live for pleasure is to

To live for power is to become

Lord help me live from day to day
In such a self-forgetful way
That even when I kneel to pray,
My prayer shall be for—OTHERS.

Help me in all the work I do
To ever be sincere and true
And know that all I'd do for you
Must needs be done for—OTHERS.

Let "self" be crucified and slain.
And buried deep and all in vain
May efforts be to rise again,
Unless to live for—OTHERS.

And when my work on earth is done
And my new work in heaven's begun,
May I forget the crown I've won
While thinking still of—OTHERS.

Others, Lord, yes, others,
Let this my motto be.
Help me to live for OTHERS
That I may live like THEE.

Schools to Receive Money for Environmental Supplies

Last May at the River Rain Festival T-shirts and other items were sold to raise money for environmental curriculum materials for the Manchester Schools. The festival was sponsored by the Manchester Area Resource Conservation Coalition.

Now that all expenses have been taken care of, there remains at least $190 to donate to the schools. There are still T-shirts available at Pyramid Office Supply, on sale for $5 each, mostly in children's sizes. All money collected now goes directly to the schools. At the end of August all funds raised, and any remaining T-shirts, will be turned over to the schools.

Manchester Township Library

"Michigan's Oldest Township Library" Established 1838

The Summer Reading Program at the Library will host a Craft Workshop for Summer Reading participants on Wednesday, August 12 from 7:00-8:00 p.m.

Sandy Trolz, of the 18th Century Shoppe, will direct the workshop which will include making a natural Christmas tree ornament and a pair of tiny beeswax candles.

Registration is limited to the first 50 children who sign up at the Library by August 11. Please make sure to register early so materials are available and your child is not disappointed.

The Summer Reading Program is winding up with the big party scheduled for Saturday, August 15. Invitations will be sent to all participants who have read ten books this summer. Be sure to bring in your fish to feed our shark, so you get credit for all the books you have read!

Questions regarding Summer Reading may be directed to the library at 428-8045.

Hunter Safety Classes

Hunter safety classes will be held at the Manchester Sportsman Club, 8501 Grossman Road. Classes will be from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Mondays, August 3rd, 10th and 17th, with test and field work on Saturday, August 22, 1992 from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Classes are open to anyone; however, only those who are 12 years or older or will be 12 during small game season, will receive certification. Those who are 11 or younger will have to retake the course before they buy their first hunting license.

Parents are encouraged to attend the classes. Classes will consist of films, lectures, demonstrations, and actual shooting of a shotgun, rifle, and bow and arrows.

You must attend all classes to be eligible for certification. A note of encouragement: our building is air conditioned so you will be very comfortable.

Final Plea for Manchester Area Families to Host Foreign High School Students

International high school students are scheduled to arrive soon into the Manchester area for academic homestay programs, and the sponsoring organization urgently needs a few more host families. With just under one month until the beginning of school, the organization has placed a high priority on the placement of these students.

According to John Doty, Executive Director of Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.), the foreign teens are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, will have their own spending money, are fully insured and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. P.I.E.'s academic homestays range in length from one semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local public high schools.

P.I.E. community representatives match students with host families by finding common interests through informal in-home meetings and provide year-round support to the students and host families. Prospective host families have the opportunity to review student applications and select the "perfect match". As there are no "typical" host families, P.I.E. can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a more traditional large family.

Doty says that there is currently an urgency to place the Yugoslavian students accepted for the program because of the civil unrest in the country. "The student visa applications have already been sent, but the final immigration documents cannot be issued until the students are matched with host families," he says. "With the rapidly changing political climate, we are anxious to bring the students into the United States as soon as possible.

"In addition to the Yugoslavians, for 1992, P.I.E. has students from Spain, Germany, Argentina, Brazil, the Soviet Union, Colombia, France, New Zealand and many other countries. P.I.E. is a non-profit educational organization that has sponsored more than 15,000 students from 18 countries since its founding in 1975.

Manchester area families interested in learning more about student exchange or viewing P.I.E. student applications may call John Doty at P.I.E.'s International Headquarters (toll-free) at 1-800-245-6232.

Senior Citizens News

—T. V. Ludwick

'Tis the season of sports and politicians. Fun to watch both, but I prefer the sports, although they are all trying to win. I admire those gritty teenagers who have slaved so hard to excel in gymnastics. Especially when we heard they are allowed two mini-vacations a year with their families. No childhood; no wonder they are so poised.

Anyway, any housework that is not in direct view of the blabber box is non-scheduled 'til further notice. And still, I mostly ignored hubby's addiction to the MIS race on Sunday. Who cares about something going on practically in your backyard? The passage of the Goodyear blimp overhead brought out this "couch potato" to watch with Herman and Rubena its progress. Today I must review candidates so a reasonably informed voter may go to the polls (do you believe all that you read?)

On to events in our backyard.

Thursday, August 6: The senior bus is available for pickup to attend the Manchester Chamber Orchestra's presentation at St. Mary's Church. It won't rain there. You may call Erma Alber at 428-8707 for your ride to and fro.

Monday, August 10: Senior bus will leave the Center at 9:30 for a shopping trip to Jackson. Call Erma to go along.

Tuesday, August 11: Senior Citizens Council meeting begins at 9:30. At 10:45, work will be done on the September-October Trumpeter calendar. Come with your ideas on trips and programs that you think will interest the senior group.

Thursday, August 13: Senior bus is again available for pickup for the Mike Berst and David Mosher concert on dulcimer and accompaniment at the Gazebo. Call Erma for your ride. This summer season is waning and you don't want to miss out.

Looking ahead: You need to call Erma by the 11th if you wish to go along by bus to the Waterloo Farm Museum on Tuesday, August 18. This is necessary as they have to know the number who will attend.

One of the athletes at Olympiad XXV stated, "The person who said that winning isn't everything, probably never won anything." Go to it, American athletes!

Seniors May Defer Taxes

Terry Drent, Program Developer for the Housing Bureau for Seniors, has issued a reminder that senior citizens can postpone payment of 1992 summer and winter property taxes until April 1993. To do so, seniors must file a deferment form with their local treasurer's office.

The Bureau can help seniors fill out the forms and file them before the deadline. Workshops on Property Tax Management and volunteer recruitment also are being planned by the Housing Bureau for Seniors.

For more information or to register as a volunteer, call the Housing Bureau for Seniors at 763-0970

Manchester-ites Make Beautiful Music: Waltzing This Week at the Gazebo

Your friends and neighbors in the Manchester Chamber Orchestra will be playing on the lawn in front of the Gazebo this Thursday night. The stage of the Gazebo stage itself will be free for waltz-ing and then polka-ing and then waltz-ing again to beautiful music from another time and another place.

This is quite a different repertoire for the Chamber Orchestra. Although we are accustomed to hearing them perform classics by the great composers of the 18th and 19th centuries, it is usually music for the mind and the heart—not for the feet!

But this week, the Chamber Orchestra will become more of a "salon orchestra." The usual instrumentation of violin, viola, and cello will shift slightly. Perhaps the violins will be called "fiddles." Definitely the addition to the orchestra of an accordion, a banjo, and drums will lend a different character to the performance.

And what would dancing be without a contest??? A dance contest! The Orchestra promises a fun and spontaneous contest for dancing in various categories. They have promised "big" prizes—although they have been somewhat enigmatic about what exactly that means. Hmmm...

Come to the Gazebo this Thursday, August 6th at about 7:30 p.m. You may find, like "Summertime in Heidelberg," at the turn of the century, where "there is beauty everywhere... The fragrant breeze, the linden trees, the promenade where lovers stray. But have a care or someone there may steal your heart away. Strange things happen on a summer night, when the bells begin to chime. It could happen to someone just like you. Darling, Heidelberg in summertime." Or Manchester in summertime.

In spite of this bold challenge to Mother Nature by again scheduling an outdoor Gazebo Concert, the Chamber Orchestra wishes you to know that the unlikely event of rain, the show will go on at the K. of C. Hall, behind the Hop-In!

Kiwanis Volleyball Tournament

The 3rd Annual Kiwanis Volleyball Tournament is scheduled for Sunday, September 13, 12:00 at Carr Park. The cost for each team to participate is $30.

Proceeds from the 1992 tournament will be donated to Mott's Children's Hospital. Manchester children benefit from the services provided by Mott's Hospital.

New to the tournament this year will be two categories of competition to encourage participation at two levels.

The Competition category will be for those who are on teams that play regular league and look forward to the competition against each other.

The Novice category is for those volleyball lovers who play occasionally in their backyard or the park and want to form a team for the tournament.

The first meeting of team captains/team representatives will be August 26, 8:00 p.m. at the Community Resource Center, 122 W. Main St. (downstairs).

The 1991 tournament included 18 teams representing industry, school, small business and the community at large. Who will be challenging the 1991 winners-Manchester Plastic? Who will sponsor the winning teams? Get those teams formed and start playing together. Deadline for team registration will be September 8.

If you need further information or if team captains/representatives cannot attend the August 26 meeting, please call Dianne Schwab 428-7722 day or 428-8976 evenings.

MARCC Members Throw Support to RYLT

Members of the Manchester Area Resource Conservation Coalition (MARCC) have voted to contribute their assets, about $220, to the newly formed Raisin Valley Land Trust (RYLT). MARCC was formed in August of 1990 but no action was ever taken to become a formal organization. MARCC's main goal was to preserve and protect our most valuable local natural resources. This is also true of the RYLT.

The creation of the RYLT was a direct result of MARCC interests. It has become apparent to most members that these two groups have very similar goals and that there is no good reason to have two such similar groups in the same area. The necessity of a land trust becoming a legal corporation dictates that the RYLT take over MARCC's role of focusing public attention on our area's natural resources.

The main thing the public should know about a land trust is that it preserves land through voluntary action. As a non-profit group the RYLT will not be able to advocate political decisions, though it can educate the public about issues which concern the natural environment.

The RYLT is a corporation recognized by the State of Michigan. Board members will now focus on submitting necessary paper work to the IRS to achieve non-profit status. The money donated by MARCC will be used to cover filing fees and other start up costs. The new Board of Directors invites all previous MARCC members to join the RYLT.

Recreation Task Force

The Manchester Recreation Task Force will hold its monthly meeting Wednesday, August 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Blacksmith Shop.

The circus will be here August 23. Sounds great!

Also, the Gazebo concerts run well into August.

Volunteers to help with Recreation Task Force programs are always welcome. For information, contact the Community Resource Center at 428-7722.

Wacker's Celebrate 60th Year In Business

G. E. Wacker Inc., located at the corner of Chelsea-Manchester Road and Pleasant Lake Road, Manchester, celebrates 60 years of service. Following is a company history provided by Kim Wacker.

Arthur Wacker started in business in July, 1932, as a Commission Agent from the Standard Oil Company, for the Manchester area. His wife, Elfrieda was his bookkeeper. George joined his father after graduation as a full time employee in 1957.

In 1960 when Arthur died, George then became the Standard Oil Commission Agent. In 1962 George married Lois. She joined him in business working as the bookkeeper. In 1975 George and Lois incorporated; became an Amoco Oil Jobber; and added to their service areas by the addition of Chelsea and Dexter areas. They moved the business to a brand new updated bulk plant.

When George and Lois's children became 14 years of age, both Tim and Kim started learning the business by working for the corporation. Upon reaching the age of 18 and 20, they then became officers in the Company.

In 1981 a Self-Service Gas/Diesel Island and Convenience/General Store was added to the business. In 1983 an additional three acres was purchased, adjoining to the back of the current property.

In 1984 an L. P. Gas Pumping Station was installed, enabling us to fill all sizes of cylinders, 100 lbs. and smaller.

In February of 1992 we purchased our Sub-Jobber's customer list. This addition of the Saline area increased our delivery by a quarter. In July of 1992 we signed on with Northwest Propane as a delivery agent. We are extremely excited by this new business area. Each year we loose customers because we are unable to service their propane needs. Thanks to this contract we will be able to continue to meet our customer's changing needs, plus be able to welcome new customers to our business. Currently we are servicing most of Washtenaw County and the bordering edges of the surrounding counties. We have all types of accounts, retail and wholesale. Types of products and/or services we supply to our customers besides gas and distillates: Propane, Motor Oils, Greases, Tanks, Hoses, Nozzles, Lawn and Maintenance Equipment and Parts, Tires and Tire Repair, Furnace Parts. In the Convenience/General Store besides groceries and household items, we also sell beer, wine and package liquor. In 1991 after 25 years of employment our oldest employee, Floyd Parr, retired. Currently we have employed 23 people full and part-time working in all areas of the business. The majority of our drivers have been with us from years years to 17, some of our office employees have been with us for 15 years.

This year we are looking forward to celebrating our (The Wacker Family) 60th year in business!

The Wacker's will have a photo-history display at The Chelsea Community Fair August 24-29.

A New Meaning For Digging...Archaeology in Michigan

When you think about digging, perhaps a rumbling backhoe comes to mind, or the tumblesome sorting of stone from area gravel pits, or the sculpting of sand castles at Wampler's Lake. But digging takes on a whole new meaning after talking with Dagne Phillips, President-elect of the Michigan Archaeological Society.

Dagne, a nurse at Chelsea Hospital, and perennial favorite at the Manchester Canoe Race, speaks freely of her love of archaeology. She promotes it with the enthusiasm of a child who has experienced the joy of self-discovery, and hopes it will never end. She, along with many others, form the ranks of amateurs who assist professionals in the search "for evidence upon which the histories of past civilizations may be built." They participate in archaeological digs.

Perhaps you have followed the news of the mastodon dig in Saline; the one where a trail of footsteps were discovered, that gained national attention. Dagne was there helping with the fiberglass mold that recorded twenty steps of an ancient elephant that walked through a bog in Saline some 11,000 years ago. She helped carry the 40 foot long, 800 pound plastic cast away from the site, and into a vehicle that will translate these steps into a facsimile most likely displayed in the Natural History Museum of Ann Arbor.

Every time someone discovers or uncovers an artifact, another link in the passage of history becomes available for study. But too many times, as Dagne explains, someone finds something and either keeps it, or tries to sell it for profit. And because the exact location where the artifact was found is forgotten, the chance to find more, or to initiate a more thorough search, becomes lost.

Currently, archaeologists in Michigan are hoping that farmers share the artifacts they may have found migrating up from their fields so that a more vivid picture may be drawn to explain migratory patterns of ancient native Americans. Arrow points, axe heads, spear tips, post holes, charcoal remains of fire pits, and pottery shards describe much of what may be found locally. Dagne is careful to explain that experts basically wish to see and study these finds, but not take them from the owners whose land they were found on.

In the case of bones, they too belong to the property owner, but the preservation of these is difficult and exact. The mastodon bones uncovered in Saline were kept wet, and then soaked in a polymerizing solution to prevent further decay. Some of these bones were very soft, others fossilized, depending on the moisture of the soil they were in.

It may be that you are interested in participating in an archaeological dig. Dagne explains that initiates should visit

As president of the Huron Valley Chapter of the Michigan Archaeological Society and president-elect of the entire state organization, Dagne Phillips speaks excitedly of the multitude of dig sites throughout the state of Michigan. Much of what has been uncovered focuses on the lifestyle of native American tribes from thousands of years ago. It appears that these peoples were travelers, hunters, and sophisticated tool makers that may have traded as they migrated from the land bridge at the far north Bering Straights. Tools have appeared in Michigan and Ohio, and tell the roadways native Americans may have used.

In a similar sense, if some archaeologist thousands of years in the future were to dig up the remains of our civilization, he or she would discover huge central locations where people stored all of their leftover food containers and unwanted household implements. It would explain an organized means of collection and transport of materials no longer desirable. It would also explain a terribly wasteful society.

Every time someone discovers or uncovers an artifact, another link in the passage of history becomes available for study. But too many times, as Dagne explains, someone finds something and either keeps it, or tries to sell it for profit. And because the exact location where the artifact was found is forgotten, the chance to find more, or to initiate a more thorough search, becomes lost.

Summer Baseball Concludes

— by Kathy Doyle

This year's major Little League All-Star team consists of twelve 11- and 12-year-olds selected from other little league teams in Manchester. The head coach is Lynn Niehaus who coached the White Sox, assisted by Dennis Rose of the Cubs and Gary Eversole of the Tigers.

The All Star team travels around southeastern Michigan to challenge other teams in double elimination tournaments. At the Clinton tournament they played Clinton, Saline and Milan. At the Napoleon tournament they played Michigan Center, Napoleon and Jackson Northwest.

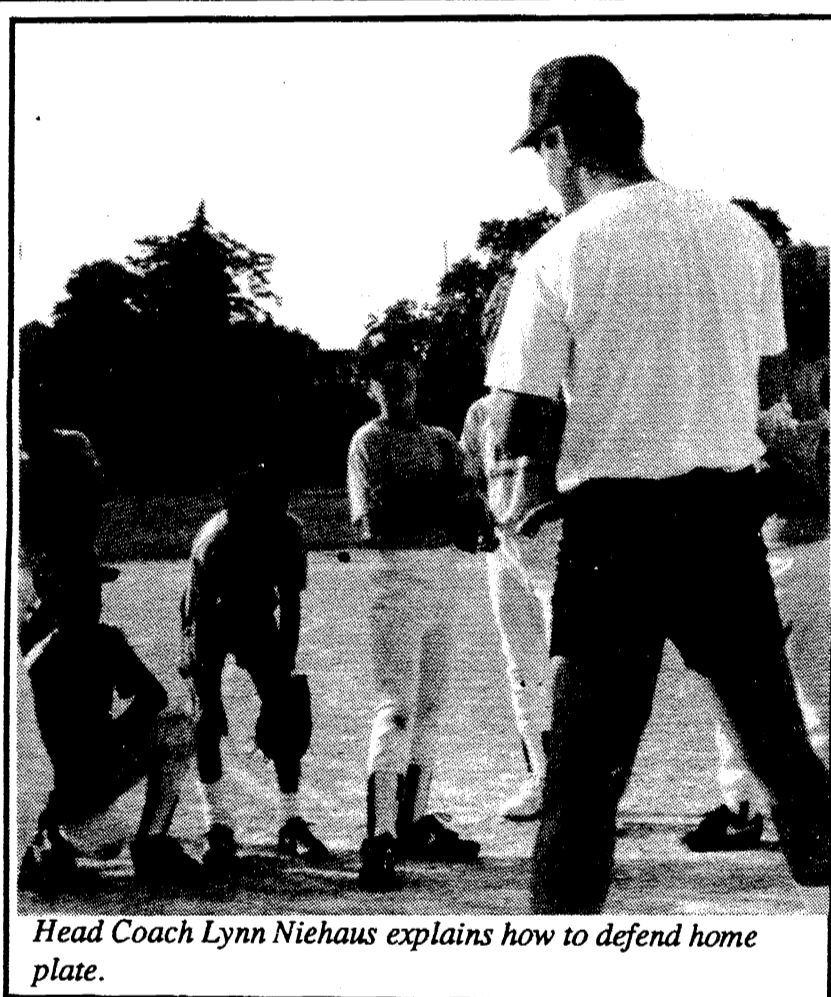

This past weekend they played in the Vandercook Lake tournament. It was a sad day as we lost our first two games to Addison and Saline.

This is the fifth year that Manchester has had an All Star team. Previously they took second place at Vandercook Lake and second in Saline.

Circus Coming To Town!

Lions and tigers, performing horses, mystical magicians, this is just a small portion of what is known to many as America's Favorite Show. It's the Franzen Bros. Circus.

It began 19 years ago when then Industrial Arts high school teacher, Wayne Franzen, decided to follow his dream. Starting out with a tiny little tent and a few farm animals the Franzen Bros. Circus began. Circus critics first thought it was cute, but had no idea it would become one of the top five touring circus's in North America.

"Each year we look to improve the show a little more," says Wayne. "Now that we have all the major elements of a circus, that is, elephants, lions, tigers, horses, camels, clowns, aerialists, etc., we have been pushing toward more advanced lighting and special effects to keep up with the demands of our audiences."

The circus will be in town Sunday, August 23 with show times at 2:00 and 4:30 p.m.; proceeds to benefit the Manchester Community Resource Center. Ticket prices are $5 in advance and $6 at the door.

Home Weatherization Program

The Washtenaw County Home Weatherization Program is in need of low-income individuals interested in lowering their heating costs by as much as 40%. Whether the individuals rent or own their home is not of concern. If they rent it is up to the landlord to give his or her consent.

Home weatherization is the installation of insulation, weatherstripping, caulking, water heater insulation, storm windows, and various small repairs. These materials and their installation are offered at NO COST to qualified residents of Washtenaw County.

Some advantages of having your home weatherized:

- Reduced consumption of fuel needed to heat your home in the winter and to keep it cool in the summer,
- Increases comfort and livability of your home,
- Decreases dependency on foreign oil supplies.

For an application, please contact the Washtenaw County Community Services Division, Home Weatherization Program at 555 Towner, Ypsilanti, MI 48197. Phone 484-6610.

What Goes Potpourri

In The Refrigerator?

Which fruits need to be refrigerated and which belong on the counter? If you've ever wondered about this, the following guidelines compiled by "Cooking Light" magazine will help.

Do refrigerate: Apples, blueberries, cherries, cranberries, grapes, pomegranates, raspberries, strawberries, tangerines.

Don't refrigerate until ripe: Avocados, bananas, cantaloupe, honeydew melon, mangoes, nectarines, papayas, peaches, pears, persimmons, plums.

Refrigerate on preference: Grapefruit, lemons, limes, oranges, pineapples, tangelos, watermelon.

Good news for Michigan's greenhouse industry.

Americans now spend almost as much for flowers and plants as they do for fresh produce. In 1990 the average U.S. consumer spent $150 on greenhouse and nursery products. This year that's expected to go up to $172 a person.

The United States has less than 7 percent of the world's land, but produces nearly 13 percent of the world's farm commodities. Over 200 crops are grown on the nation's 2.1 million farms. A total of 990 million acres in the U.S. are devoted to farming, and production from about 40 percent of U.S. cropland is exported.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

BY ROSE WINRIGHT

Gottlieb Jacob farmhouse Bethel Church & M-52 in 1927

I Remember:

The year is 1930 and it is the first week of November. The air is crisp and cold. The sun is shining. It is a good day for butchering the hogs that have been in the fattening pen. Early in the morning the fire had been started under the huge caldron of water that was put out in the back yard in a pit. It was my brother's job to keep the fire going. It had to be boiling hot.

My grandfather came early with his knives that have been sharpened razor sharp. My Uncle George and Aunt Matilda and children soon came pulling their hog trailer with their fat pig. For butchering was a family affair. We needed all the help we could get. Out in the back yard stood the sawhorses with the polished and scrubbed oak boards made for the occasion.

As soon as one hog was slain it was hung upside down with the block and tackle so it would bleed out well. Then the other one was slain and hung upside down beside the first one. The hog scrapers were ready now and would soon be in full use. The men and boys all with hog hooks lifted the hog and put it on the table on the sawhorses. It was cut down the middle and the heart and lungs and liver and kidneys and tongue were brought into the house in the large galvanized tub of water waiting for them. The intestines were carefully put in another large pan of warm water. It was my Aunt Matilda's special job to clean these intestines to be stuffed with sausage later.

It was a slow meticulous job for her but she had done it for many years and was very good at her job. When she got them cleaned they were carefully put in the back parlor on table leaves that were covered with flour sack cloths. My mother cleaned the hearts and put them on to cook in salted water. The tongues were put in another pan to cook. It was my job to keep the old range full of wood and to keep the woodbox full.

The men had hog hooks which they inserted in the hog and lowered it into the scalding water and held it there for 6 to 10 minutes. Then onto the table and they all went to work with the hog scrapers. By the time they finished, the skin would be white as snow and very smooth. The hog was then split into, divided evenly and the brains were then removed and brought into the house to be fried — "Sweetbreads" is what they are called. Then the sides of meat were carefully hung in the corn crib to cool until the next day. First one and then the other hog was scraped and split into and then hung up to cool. Tomorrow the women would have the hard work.

Back to the house — The hearts and tongues were finally cooked. The pickling brine had been simmering on the back of the range and is ready to use now. As soon as the hearts have cooled enough to handle they were sliced and put into the small crocks that have been scoured clean. Then the brine was poured on the slices and a plate and stone were put on it to weight it down. The crocks were covered with cheesecloth and tied down. They were then taken down to the cellar and put on the shelf.

The tongues must be skinned or peeled and then sliced and put in a small crock and covered with more pickling brine and then weighted down with a

Grand Opening

Manchester Manor, a product of Hilltop Development is having their Grand Opening this Saturday and Sunday, August 15th and 16th. This Mobile Home park some five years in planning by local officials and the previous developers has come to fruition by Hilltop Development. In spite of the inclement weather experienced this spring and summer the work has progressed at the park and currently about 20 Manufactured homes have been set upon the lots. At the rate that units are being delivered the park should be substantially full within the year.

The main entry to the park is just north of East Main, on Hibbard Street, it has been attractively landscaped.
