

CARDS OF THANKS

Due to the generosity and energy of many people, our Summer Reading Program was a great success.

Our children enjoyed workshops with Ron Zang, Sandy Troiz, Marsha Chartrand and Pat Swaney. We indulged our sweet tooths with snacks from Walco Foods, Mary Blossom, Pat Ahrens, Connie Peterson, Pat Swaney, Joan Gaughan, Charlotte Major and Sarah Briggs. Connie Widmayer provided favors for the party and Midwest Ford and Ann Fowler bought books for all program finishers.

And a special thank you to Marsha Chartrand who worked since May on this project creating the theme and program ideas, publicizing events and providing art work.

In 1991 a survey was conducted by the Association asking members about their usage, hopes for the lake and possible restrictions of the lakes use. Some of the results: 50% are year around residents, 41% weekend users and 9% infrequent visitors. 95% of owners are at the lake for holiday weekends. Fishing is enjoyed by 95% of the residents. Water skiing enjoyed by 55%.

Major concerns of the association membership was boats being launched from Sharon Hollow Road, boat size and horsepower, weeds, poor fishing, loud parties, P.A. systems, pollution around the lake and specifically pollution by non-residents along Sharon Hollow Road. Fishing shanties used in the winter time and not removed prior to ice break up.

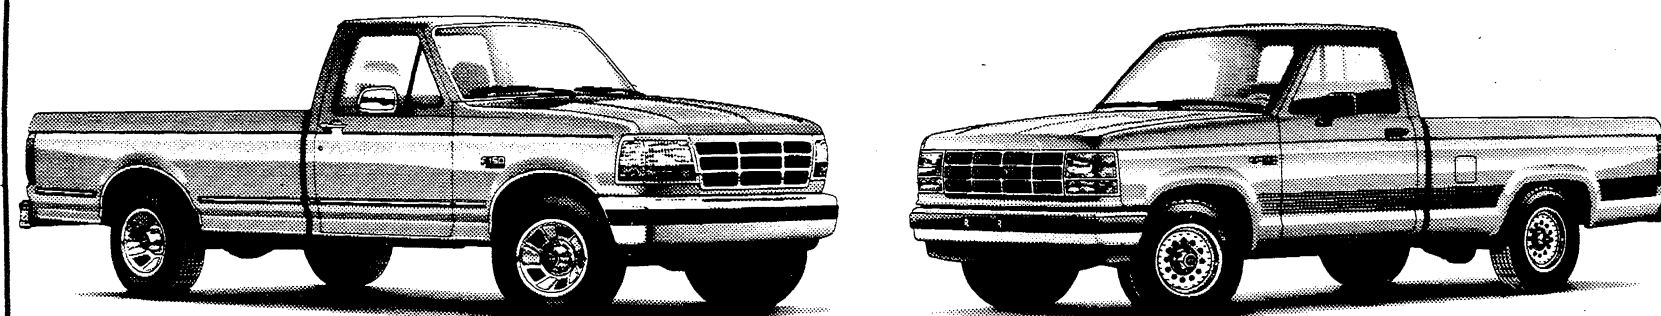

According to Mr. Bialecki, the main concern of the residents are the large speed boats and the public accessing the lake from Sharon Hollow Road. Washtenaw County Road Commission some years ago reconstructed the road north of the dam and removed the three strand cable guard rail. This allowed non residents access to a private lake and has contributed greatly to the problem of boats and row-dyism.

Manchester Township Board has been asked to enact an ordinance for control of the lake usage, boat size, noise and restricted access by outsider's. At this point in time the board has not acted upon the request.

According to Bialecki, should an ordinance be enacted then constable or sheriffs controls could restrict the indiscriminate use of the lake and boat sizes.

- PART 2 - I REMEMBER:

We did not have electricity. We did not have running water in our home. We did have a cistern pump into our lead sink in the kitchen. Our drinking water was pumped from a well outside the back porch. It was my brother's job to keep the drinking water pail full and to keep the reservoir on the kitchen range full. We always had warm water. Our sink drained into a large five-gallon pail which must be emptied outside several times daily.

After the company left, the crocks were brought up from the basement and all thoroughly cleaned. The lard press was also brought up and scrubbed - and also the sausage stuffer. Three large 20-gallon crocks were filled with salt brine and carried out to the woodshed. The brine was made by dissolving rock salt in warm water. Enough salt was dissolved so an egg would float in the water. This is where the hams and bacons would be for the next six weeks to cure them. And so to bed.

Grandfather drove in early the next morning. Soon Uncle George and family arrived. The kitchen table, with all 6 leaves in it, was soon a busy place.

One half of the hog at a time was brought in and laid on the table and the pieces of pork soon lay in their piles. The big galvanized tub was filled with pieces of pork to be ground up for the sausage. The large copper boiler was for the lard pieces. The boys ground the pieces of fat through the grinder with the coarsest cutter in it and the curls went into the copper boiler on the stove. Every piece of fat that could be saved was saved. This was all the baking lard we have. The hams and bacons were taken outside and put into the brine. The shoulders were cut up and put in the sausage. The pork chops and some of the pork steaks were put on their own piles. And then out came the big cast iron skillets and we fried the pork chops, salt and pepper added to them, and put them in crocks and the lard which we had rendered out was poured on top until the chops were covered with lard. As each crock was filled it was carried to the cellar and covered with cheesecloth. When the lard cooled this meat was sealed up and it never spoiled.

All of the fat was shaved off the skins. The skins were then cut in one-inch ribbons and put in a large roasting pan and was put in the oven. After about three hours in the oven all the grease was poured off and saved and the pork rinds were put on flour sack towels and salted. They surely were good to eat.

This activity went on all day long until all that was left were the heads and a big tub of sausage meat which was then ground with the fine cutter. My mother put garlic bulbs from the basement in a pan of water on the stove and boiled and stewed them. They were then strained and the garlic water flavored the sausage. Also lots of sage and salt and pepper were added and everyone mixed and mixed with their hands. Finally a patty was fried and tasted by everyone. More salt was added, more sage and another patty was fried. Just right. So the sausage stuffer was fastened to the table and the cleaned intestines were fastened-

Getting to Know Our Officers

Sergeant Carl Werner, Command Officer for the Village of Manchester Police arm of Washtenaw County Sheriff Department. Carl lives in the community with his wife Merrideth and three daughters, Aimee 4, Lynne 17 months, and the new arrival Emily four and one half months old.

Carl, born in 1958, grew up in the Detroit metro area and had his first taste of Washtenaw County when he enrolled at the U of M. After three years he applied for a position, as a Marine Deputy, with Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department in 1978. In 1980 the Marine Division reduced its size, due to lack of funds and Carl found work in construction.

Some two months later, Tom Minick the elected Sheriff offered him a job with the Community Work Program. The program was designed to save the County a million dollars a year by placing offenders into a work program, rather than incarceration. Starting with just 30 man days per month. After a short seventeen months the program grew to 200 man days per month and savings in excess of 1.5 million dollars per year.

Carl transferred to the reinstated Marine Safety Division as Supervisor in 1982 and spent his summers on the lake, winters as a road patrol officer on the east side of the county.

RURAL NEWS & FEATURES

The back forty by Roger Pond

You can tell you live in a small town when you dial a wrong number and recognize the voice on the other end of the line. I've done that many times. It's embarrassing.

What's worse is calling a wrong number and then talking for twenty minutes before you realize it's not your Aunt Mary you've been talking with, but just a lady named Mary who thought her nephew's voice sounded kind of funny.

Around Christmas time last year I answered the phone, and a fellow on the line said, "Hi. How ya doin'?"

"Just fine, how are you?" I replied.

"Oh, I'm pretty good, but I've got a wrong number don't I," the fellow said.

"Well, that's very possible," I agreed, and we both hung up. We would have talked longer, but it seems that feeling pretty good was about all we had in common.

Things like this are commonplace in a small town, but they can be a unnerving when they happen in the city. My brother-in-law, Charley could tell you about that.

Charley lives in Worthington, Ohio just north of Columbus. He and his wife were invited to a graduation party for his second cousin, Mike, who they hadn't seen for years.

Mike lives in Columbus and Charley had never been to his house. So he located the proper street and drove along until the house numbers sounded familiar. Then he and his wife parked the car and walked past several houses until they found the one with balloons on the porch.

The woman who was just driving away, rolled her window down and said, "Everyone is around back." So Charley and Bev walked around the house to the backyard.

There were a bunch of folks there, and Charley recognized the woman grilling hamburgers as an old family friend or a distant relative, or maybe a friend of a friend.

I need to stop here and tell you a little more about Charley. He is a computer programmer — an intelligent and meticulous guy — but he's not good with names, especially women's names.

When Charley was in grade school he would tell his mother what the boys in his class were doing, but he never mentioned the girls. The family thought he was just shy until they pinned him down one day and learned he didn't know any girls. He didn't know the name of a single girl in his class!

So here's Charley at his cousin's party, looking for someone he knows, and the lady at the grill is the only one that looked familiar. Finally he asked, "Is Mike in the house?", and the grill lady said, "Mike who?"

Now, Charley knew: "I think we might be at the wrong party," Charley said, "But I know you from somewhere. Do you teach at Ohio State?"

"No, I have a dental practice on High Street," she said.

"Oh, that's it. You're my dentist!" Charley exclaimed. "Well, I'll be darned. When I tilt my head back like this, I would know you anywhere."

Cow Celebration Comes to the City

All the cows went home. NOT! The party continues at the Michigan State Fair, August 29, 1992. Why party with cows? Our home office in Cowtown, Michigan came up with some reasons to party with cows:

• There's always plenty of moo-sic.

• It's the American Dairy Association of Michigan's 50th anniversary.

• Partying with cows is udderly exciting.

• Cows are dairy depend-abull.

• You can stay up past-ure bed time.

• When you party with cows at the Michigan State Fair you party with champions.

• There is always plenty of cold milk to drink!

The party will be held at the Michigan State Fair dairy barns from 10:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. Party games include a "Where's The Cow?" scavenger hunt, cow milking, butter and cheese making and lots of "cows for celebration!" Party goers can also treat themselves to a bottomless glass of cold, delicious chocolate milk in a souvenir party cup or ice cream cones for only 25 cents each. Party favors and prizes will be given away. Look for the party hats and follow the circus music to the dairy barns for the biggest cow party of the year!

MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE The Second Front Page: DUTCH SPIRIT WEEK

Emory Garlick

This writer was privileged to have three interviews with a teacher, a coach and a parent of Manchester School's over the weekend. All of the interviews were fun and pointed to the fact that athletics, like it or not, is one of the main ways our community gets behind our school system.

Manchester has generated a strong athletic boosters contingent. Within the past year the Band Boosters, with Dr. Okey's assistance, have developed a support group.

Kathy Rose furnished the following.

"Manchester Educators would like to welcome students, parents and community members to another school year. We would like to invite the community to join us as we kick off the fall sports season.

August 31st thru September 4th will be "DUTCH SPIRIT WEEK" sponsored by the Manchester Education Association. Several events have been planned to support our students.

The first event we would like to invite the community to attend is our girls basketball game against Clinton on September 1st at home. Be our guest by using the coupon found on this page.

On Friday, September 4th, we would encourage everyone to take part in our community wide Maroon and Gold Day. Please wear our school colors during the day and at the Varsity football game against the Redskins at Clinton. You are also invited to attend our tailgate party in the Clinton High School parking lot before the game.

The Manchester teachers would like to take this opportunity to thank the community for their continued support as we start another successful academic school year."

Since the ladies are mentioned first it is fitting and proper to hi-lite the girls basketball program.

Liz Wallace brought 4 of the team members, Tracy LaRue, Sarah Riske, Amber Minor and Adrienne Wallace to the Enterprise office Sunday afternoon and we wish to express our appreciation. Thanks gals. They provided the following:

"As summer quickly draws to and end, the Manchester High School Girl's basketball team is eagerly awaiting their first game of the season. They have been practicing 2 - 3 hours a day since August 10th, perfecting their skills. August 27th is their first test in a scrimmage with non-conference opponent Milan.

Our Varsity squad, coached by John Wilkins, has four returning letter women. Senior Missy Steele returns as a forward/guard, Juniors Tracy Larue, guard, Sarah Riske, forward/center, and Adrienne Wallace, forward/center. Senior Amber Minor, who transferred here from Saline, will join the Lady Dutch this year as a guard. Last year J.V. Players moving up to Varsity are Juniors Kerri Keller, forward, Sharon Bihlmeyer, Center/forward, sophomore Shan Lee, guard and Junior Edna Marshall a first year player at guard completing the line up.

The Cascades Blue Conference provides outstanding competition this year, especially Grass Lake and East Jackson. Even though we did not have a winning season last year (3-17), many of those games were lost by 5 - 6 and will lead the way.

We have some J. V. players coming up. They are talented, not as large body wise but they are quick hard working with a good knowledge of the fundamentals of the game."

Wes Gall has been coaching since 1976 when he started out as Jim Fielders assistant. Coached every year since, with the exception of 1982 when there was no program. Head coach of football since 1988, Wes is respected for his knowledge, dedication and perseverance.

"I've been coaching 3 sports for 18 years and it has been tiring at times." Presently the Varsity Football and Baseball coach, Wes also coaches Junior High School Basketball.

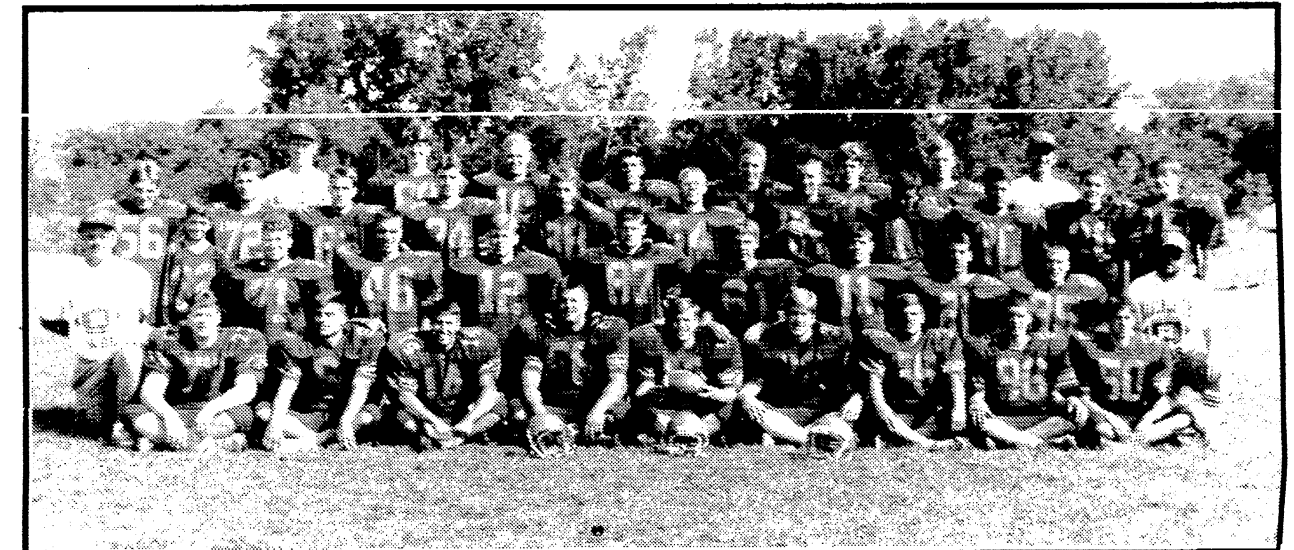

"I'm excited about this season, the team is working hard and if we put out the effort we can and will be back in the play off's."

Good luck Dutch Gals and Guys. Let's get this off to a good start fans by getting out and supporting the teams.

PEOPLE & OCCASIONS

Village Manager Guest at Chamber

Manchester Village Manager Jeff Wallace was guest speaker at the Wednesday Chamber of Commerce meeting. He gave an update on the Black Sheep Tavern; noted that the new mobile home park has about 26 or 27 spaces sold of the 116 available; reported that an AdHoc committee has been formed and will be putting together a brochure about our industrial park; related that sewer and water has been extended in the Riverbend Subdivision; and emphasized the Village's concern about the increased gravel truck traffic.

Freedom Township Proposed Synopsis August 11, 1992

The meeting was called to order with all board members present. Minutes and treasurer's report were approved with $41,088.61 in the General Fund with $444.10 in the Liquor Fund. Various communications were read and discussed including fire runs, seminars and a Manchester Township Library funding meeting. Planning Commission reported conditions are being discussed for the use permit applied for by Bill Wedemeyer. A September meeting will be held to further this discussion. The ZBA had met and approved a variance for a building site for Luther Nagel. Old Business included discussion of the Township recycling project with the townhall neighbors present to protest current practices. Hours of operation were established and fencing will be looked into. The new hours are

It's hard to live in our own little world anymore with television pictures depicting thousands of acres of fires in the west, snow on crops in Alberta and Hurricane Andrew and it's destruction in the south. Michigan and the cool and rainy summer can't be griped about (and heard). We may now worry about relatives and friends who live in these areas and hope they will find time to let us know how they fared. When we were younger, it seemed like family and friends weren't scattered all over, which made it easier to keep track. Remember Western Union for those who had no phone? Would you believe that there were folks (except for businesses) who thought a telephone was a luxury? Those were the olden days when living was a lot simpler. Would we go back? I've often thought it would be very nice to return for just one day.

Thursday, August 27: The Senior Citizens' monthly sponsored card party begins at Freedom Township Hall at 8:00 p.m. Senior bus will start pickup of those who wish a ride at 6:30. Call Erma Alber at 428-8707 to be placed on the list to go by bus. Our Erma does spend a lot of time on the ring-a-ling and we haven't thanked her lately.

Friday, August 28: A trip to the Dexter Cider Mill is planned. The bus departs at 10:00 a.m. Call Erma. Today is the birthday of a favorite Saline Home resident who is celebrating her 92nd, Ella Kern. Happy birthday!

Nothing on the calendar for seniors the whole first week of September. Jan plans our first meal at Emanuel for Tuesday, September 8. We will make you wait for the entree, but the Trumpeter is nearly ready for distribution so you will find out. What will it be?

Manchester Co-Op Preschool

Laura Spensley, director of the Co-Op, helps Caitlin with her baby doll, while Patrick and Samantha busy themselves in the "kitchen".

Caitlin calls a friend on the play phone. Costumes hang on pegs on the back wall.

— Kathy Kueffner

In order to encourage the role of parents as the first, and best, teachers of children, and to respond to a growing educational need, a cooperative nursery was formed in Manchester in 1963.

The Co-Op recognized the advantage of enabling the parent to be a part of the child's education and also affording a place where families in the community and new to the community could form friendships.

Interesting and balanced programs for children are provided based on a play/learn concept in which qualified teachers work with parents and together participate in the educational process of the child.

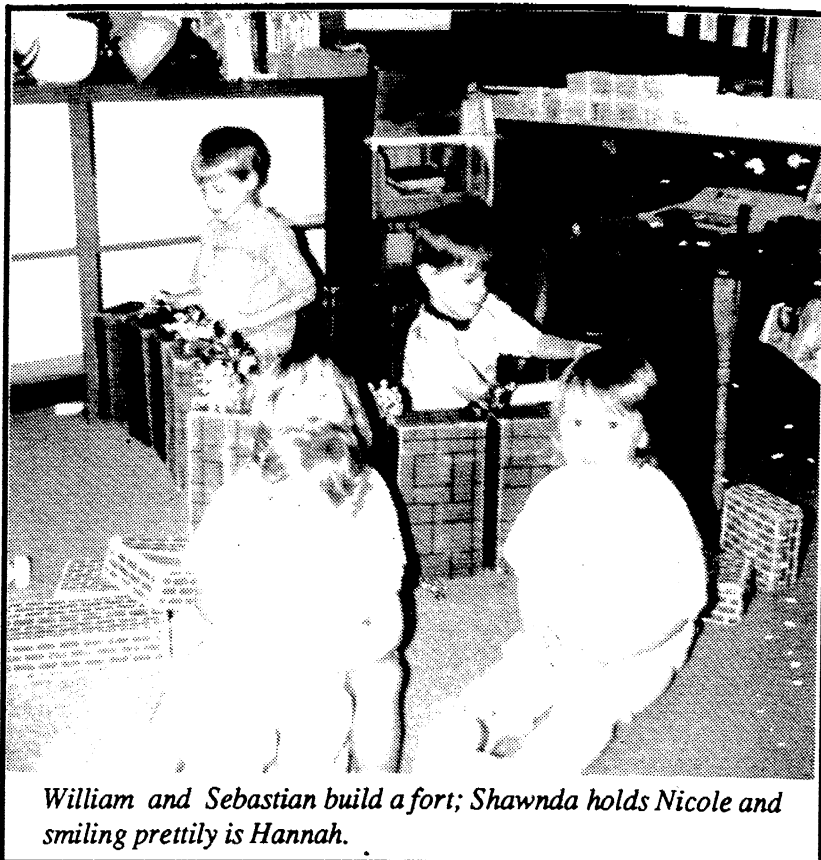

Some of the age-appropriate activities available are: block building, dramatic play (complete with costumes), easel painting, creative art, cooking, woodworking, science, sand and water play, and more.

In addition, field trips are taken throughout the school year.

The Manchester Co-Op Preschool is located in the Emanuel Church and facilities include two classrooms, a full gymnasium and a library.

If you would like further information, please contact Membership Chairperson, Mrs. Siobhan Gorman at 313-428-9616.

Little Dutch Child Care Center and Preschool

William and Sebastian build a fort; Shawnda holds Nicole and smiling prettily is Hannah.

Located adjacent to Carr Park on the west side of Manchester, the Little Dutch Child Care Center and Preschool offers a variety of programs for children 1-8 years including year-around Toddler, Piaget-based Preschool and Latch-Key programs.

The Director Carolin Gregerson, graduated from Eastern Michigan University with a degree in Early Childhood Development. Upon graduation she was a preschool teacher at the Ann Arbor "Y". Before opening Little Dutch in the fall of 1988, Carolin directed group day care homes in Ann Arbor and Manchester.

Little Dutch Child Care Center is affiliated with the National Association for the Education of Young Children and the South and West Washtenaw Consortium and Co-Op programs. These programs provide education and training for Manchester students.

The center offers tuition assistance for single parents and low-to middle-income families. Visitors are welcome at any time to see the facility and discuss programs. Phone 428-8988 for further information.

Montessori School in Clinton

On September 1, 1992, a new Montessori preschool and day care center for children 2-1/2-5 years will open in a bright and cheery building on the corner of US 12 and Matthews Highway in Clinton.

The director and owner is Anita Piekarek, a life-long resident of the area. The Montessori teacher is Shirley (Sam) Dalton of Tecumseh. Mrs. Dalton has a degree from Michigan State University and completed her American Montessori certification at Siena Heights Montessori Children's House under Sr. Anthonita Ponta.

To a child the world is big and unmanageable, too complex and confusing. The Montessori classroom is child-sized. By careful selection of materials an environment is set up that allows the child to explore life on a level the child can understand and successfully manipulate.

The materials and exercises are designed to stimulate independent exploration. This prepared environment entices the child to proceed at the child's own pace from simple activities to more complex ones.

The Montessori teacher has a different role than that of a traditional school teacher. She is an observer who determines where each child is developmentally and acts as a link between the child and the next appropriate lesson.

The objective is approached by allowing each child to experience the excitement of learning by choice rather than being forced, and second, by helping the child to perfect natural skills for learning.

Through this gradual process, the child's natural curiosity is satisfied and the child begins to experience the joy of discovering the world about.

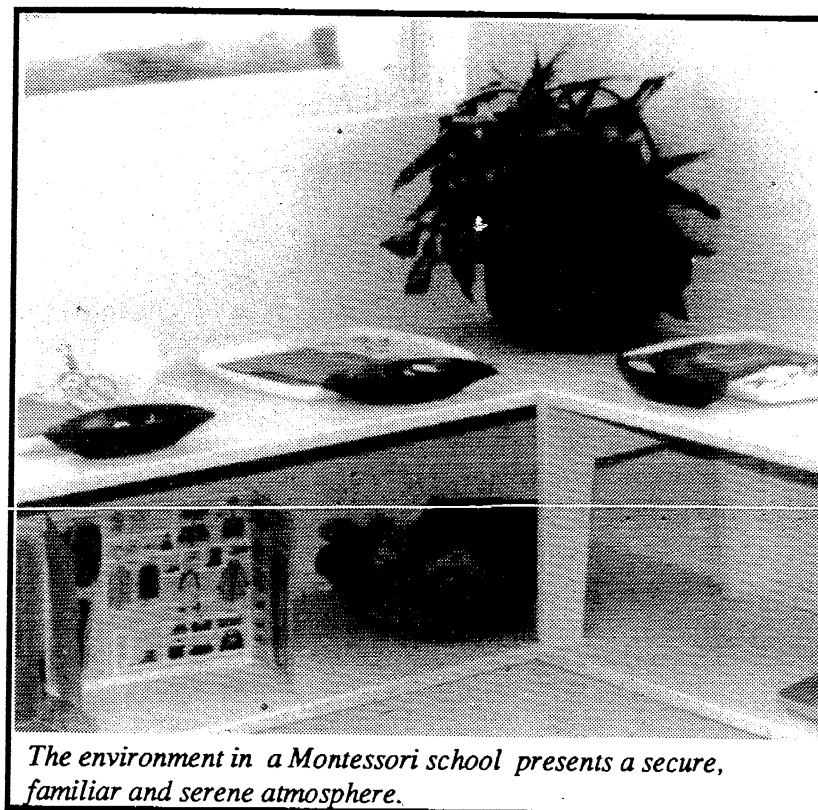

Materials and curriculum center around practical life, sensorial, language, math, geography, science, art and music.

As the children develop their sense of pride in their "work", a feeling of confidence, well-being and joy begins to manifest itself in each child. A spirit of respect, love and cooperation is fostered among the children.

For more information, contact Anita Piekarek at 517-456-7646.

The environment in a Montessori school presents a secure, familiar and serene atmosphere.

Manchester Community Schools Board of Education Summary of Meeting August 17, 1992

The meeting was called to order by President Sahakian at 7:50 p.m. with the Pledge of Allegiance.

Members present: Sahakian, VanBogelen, Turk, Abbott, Hochstetler, Ochs

Members absent: Gordon The minutes of the following meetings were approved as presented: July 20, 1992 (amended), regular, and July 22, 1992, special.

The treasurer's report and bills payable were approved as presented with a cash balance as of July 31, 1992 in the amount of $823,994.19; post approved bills payable of $438,958.04.

Correspondence - Superintendent Niedzwiecki furnished Board members with a letter from Shirley Merlington, Executive Director of Cedar Springs Chamber of Commerce, regarding the future of education in Michigan; a thank you note from employee Sue Sokol; a memo and schedule of fall information meetings from Fred Richardson, President of Michigan Out-of-Formula District Association; a pamphlet on "Indicators of Significance for Michigan Schools"; and a summary of Recent School Related Public Acts from the Michigan Association of School Boards; the new Transportation Department Parent Handbook; a revised Executive/Finance Committee schedule; and a sample copy of the letter sent to Representatives James Douglas and Beverly Hammerstrom inviting them to attend the regularly scheduled Board meetings on September 21 or October 19.

New Business - The Manchester Board of Education

has ratified the Master Agreement between the Manchester Community Schools' Board of Education and the Manchester Education Support Personnel Association for 1992-1995. The contract reflects a 5% wage increase for 1992-93 and 1993-94. Wages will be negotiated for the 1994-95 school year.

Mark Ball has been appointed to a temporary teaching position for the 1992-93 school year to fill the position of Mr. Bill Symons who has been granted a medical leave.

Harriet Bloom Amsler has been employed as library/media specialist for the 1992-93 school year. Mr. John Wilkins has been recalled to a part-time teaching position for the 1992-93 school year due to a teacher's resignation.

Jeff Etzel has been appointed to the position of 8th grade football coach for the 1992-93 sport season.

The Board voted for the following persons to offices of the Michigan Association of School Boards: Bradley Baltensperger for Director from Group II (two year term); Dean Haley, John Knickerbocker, and Virginia Leipprant for At-Large Director. It was decided not to vote for Mary Jason for Director from Group II (three year term).

The resolution giving authorization to issue bus notes has been approved as presented.

The agreement for food service for the 1992-93 school year between Chelsea Community School District and Manchester Community Schools has been approved as presented.

Manchester Community Schools will make the final payment of $3,188.43 for band instruments. It is the understanding of the band boosters that they will reimburse the school district the amount of $1,188.43 by August 15, 1994.

Board members have adopted their goals for 1992-93 as presented. The goals include: communicate with legislators and local officials; update board policies; develop a plan for reducing cost; and review facility master plan.

The superintendent has been directed to establish a Budget Advisory Committee of administrators, teachers and support staff for the purpose of developing recommendations to reduce costs.

Marcus Stockwell has been granted a waiver of membership to continue attending Columbia Schools for the 1992-93 school year.

After a brief recess the Board reconvened with the Advocate Report. Dr. Henry DeYoung Director of Special Education was present and discussed the special education services offered to our students.

Discussion Items - Advocate's Reports: Superintendent Niedzwiecki requested that Board members turn suggestions for topics at which the Executive Committee will develop a schedule for the school year.

B. Procedure - District an Board Goals: A special "Town Meeting" was scheduled for Wednesday, September 16, 1992 at 7:30 p.m., at which time community members will be invited to help identify needs that will assist Board members in developing district goals.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:42 p.m.

CARDS OF THANKS

Boy Scout Troop 426 wishes to thank Midwest Ford for their generosity in donating our booth at the 125th Anniversary. We truly appreciate your kindness. Sincerely, Troop 426

My family and I would like to thank all our friends and supporters in our bid for United States Congress. One of the reasons we won is because hundreds of people dedicated their time and effort to make the campaign a success. Because of this help, I owe no favors to special interest groups and will be dedicated to the citizens of the 7th Congressional District. I haven't made promises during this campaign, but I make one promise now — that my vote will represent what I think will be in the best interest of our future. Again, thank you all very much for your help and support. Nick Smith State Senator, 19th District

Croswell Auditions Set For Fall Season Opener

Auditions for Arsenic and Old Lace will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 1 and 2, from 7 to 9pm at the Croswell Opera House. Arsenic and Old Lace, by Joseph Kesselring, opens the 1992/93 Fall/Winter Theater Season at the Croswell. It runs October 4-6 & 9-11, 1992.

All auditions are held on the Croswell stage, 129 E. Maumee Street, Downtown Adrian. Ten men and three women are needed to complete this cast. The roles include: Abby and Martha Brewster - two lovable, but lethal old ladies with a fondness for murder and a taste for elderberry wine; Mortimer Brewster - nephew to Abby and Martha and a drama critic who hates the theatre; Jonathan Brewster - the country's most prolific murderer. His main interest is to better the murder record of his aunts; Dr. Einstein - is an impressionable plastic surgeon. He is proud of his work, but is embarrassed at the botch he made of Jonathan; Elaine Harper - is the girl who loves Mortimer and wants to marry him, regardless of whether he becomes as batty as the other Brewsters; Officer O'Hara - is a playwrighting policeman.

Auditioners will be selected to read at random. Those who are interested in auditioning, but cannot attend the scheduled auditions may call artistic director, Robert Soller at 517-263-6868 for special arrangements. Auditioners who have been chosen for a role will be notified within two weeks of audition. Please do not contact the Croswell for casting status.

Arsenic and Old Lace is one of the zaniest murder comedies that has ever been written to date. With the inconceivably crazy Brewster family this comedy soars into winning territory. It is one of the all-time hits of American stage annals. The Brewster sisters brew a wonderful elderberry wine...it's the arsenic that gives it the kick!

- to it and were filled, one by one. My grandfather had built a fire in the smokehouse early in the morning and the links of sausage were hung in the smokehouse to smoke for a few days so they would not spoil. The rest of the sausage was made into patties and fried and put into crocks and covered with rendered lard and put into the cellar and covered with cheesecloth.

All the rest of the lard was put into the lard press and pressed out. The cracklings were not allowed to be in the lard. When the lard hardened in the crocks it was white as snow. We used to use this lard on bread as people use butter now.

Finally everything was taken care of and all the butchering equipment was scoured clean and put back in the basement for the next time. We had enough meat and lard until the next butchering in the spring.

Then my grandfather put the heads in the copper boiler and covered them with water and lots of salt and cooked and cooked them until all the meat came off the bones. He then strained all the water off in large cheesecloth bags and the remains of the meat was made into head cheese. Now I never cared for head cheese but everyone else said it was delicious. When my grandfather helped at the butchering everything on the pig was eaten but the squeal.

The smokehouse was a 10x10x10 brick building. It had a wood-shingled roof but the inside of the roof was covered with tin. It had a eight-foot wooden door that was also covered with tin on the inside. It had an ash door on the rear side to clean out the ashes while smoking the meat. No windows, but three small air holes were made on each side to give the fire enough oxygen to keep burning. Iron rods were criss-crossed, about roof high and hooks were hanging from these rods. When my father cut wood, the hickory wood was stacked by the smokehouse and that was burned in it. There was an iron grid about six or eight inches off the floor and the fire was built on this grid.

Once the meat was hung up to smoke, the fire was started and it never went out until the smoking was finished. Night and day the fire smoldered for about 15 days for the hams and bacon. The sausage links were only smoked a few days.

Then the hams and bacons were taken down after the fire was out. They were then brought into the house and washed really clean and were wrapped in cheesecloth and hung upstairs in the "cold" room. At the top of the stair was a room where the door was always closed. It was our inside refrigerator in the winter. The sausage and hams and bacons kept very well here and were easy to bring down, slice some off and then put back until the next time. We did not have the modern conveniences we have now but the farmers were very clever and devised many things that helped make life easier.

Carl became a permanent Road Patrol Officer and spent the years of 1984 - 89 on the east side of the County, where the greatest need was and remains.

In 1984 Carl and Merrideth were married and they moved to the Manchester area in June of 1985. His first assignment at Manchester was a three month shift in 1987. In March of 89, Carl was promoted to Sergeant and was assigned the afternoon shift at Ypsilanti. Ypsi post and the afternoon shift is the busiest position the Sheriff's Department has.

January of 1990 he was transferred to Manchester as the Command Officer. One of four candidates, he was interviewed and selected by the Village Council. "I came to Manchester as a career advancement and to get to know the people and community in which I reside." President of Kawanis, Vice president of Emanuel United Church of Christ, active with the Community Resource Center recreation task force and Carl has been dunked in the tank at the Fair. "I love the community because it is like a large family. The ice cream socials are a wonderful place to meet people. I get lots of calls at home and I like that."

Carl's commander has noted a drop of 30% in crime in this area. "I think the reason is that as we get to know people and residents get to know us there are less problems. If something happens, we know who might be involved and can take care of the situation. I have put in place a 65 page manual for the Manchester area. We have some very specific duties to perform here unlike any other contract in Washtenaw County. Example, the red lite warning of low water pressure at the water tower must be periodically checked. We check in at the bakery and make ourselves visible, people want that. We check businesses after hours to verify locked door. Manchester is the only community like this."

"Sheriff Schebil gives his command officers a lot of responsibility and authority. He tells us that we are his extension for the Sheriff's Department. Sheriff Schebil is personally concerned. There are very few officers available to the out county area so we have to make primary runs for Personal Injury accidents, felonies and the like until other assigned officers can arrive. This make take as much as 30 hours per month away from the village. We however provide 24 hour per day coverage for the village. Either Chuck Cornell or myself are available as needed."

"The Sheriff's Department is now undergoing a decentralization, and area officers are encouraged to cover all cases within the greater area's. We can call in the specialist. We are more likely to know who might be likely to be involved in a particular problem. Recently some vandalism occurred at the pavilions. We had a good idea who was involved and the suspects were apprehended immediately. Juveniles, who confessed immediately. We are on the job. If you need us call, we are available"

DOWN MEMORY LANE BY ROSE WINRIGHT

Gottlieb Jacob farmhouse, Bethel Church & M-52 in 1927

I Remember: Three

The neighborhood (formiles up and down the road from us) had an "ice" house. One of the farmers owned a small barn about a mile from the Raisin River. When the frost was deep in the ground and the river had 12 to 14 inches of ice on it, all the men would bring their saws and axes and their bobsleds and would go to the river and cut ice blocks. These were hauled to the ice house.

Whenever anyone cut wood, the sawdust was gathered in burlap bags and was taken to the ice house.

There was also a saw mill about 3 miles south of town and we would take all of their sawdust to the ice house. The floor of the ice house was covered with six inches of sawdust and then a layer of ice blocks put on the sawdust. Then more sawdust and more ice block until the barn was full. The ice usually lasted all summer. We all had a wooden ice box that would hold a block of ice for a week. The old wooden ice box was always out on the back porch with a drain spout fastened so the melting ice would run on the ground.

The neighbors all helped each other on any hard jobs. We always cut wheat on the 4th of July. We had a binder which was pulled by our team of horses, Doc and Queenie. The binder cut the wheat and bound it into sheafs of wheat which would drop on the ground. The boys would come after and take six or eight bundles and make a "shock" of wheat. These were left in the field until the wheat had dried. Then the threshing machine moved into the neighborhood and all the men moved up and down the road until everyone had their wheat stored safely in the grainery and the straw stacked neatly out in the barn yard. Everyone had lots and lots of burlap bags. The threshing machine was a wonderful machine. The men loaded the shocks on their wagon and tossed them into the thresher, the straw was blown out in the barn yard and the wheat went into the bags and were loaded on another wagon and taken to the grainery. One man tended the bagger and was really busy bagging the wheat, tying the bags and loading them on a wagon. When 12 o'clock came the thresher was shut down and all the men washed up on the back porch and trooped into the house to eat.

And did they ever eat. All the good things out of the garden. We usually fried chickens, made dozens of biscuits, lots of mashed potatoes, dishes of green beans. Lots of cole slaw made from the early cabbages, radishes and onions and lots of pickles. And apple pies and peach pies and usually fresh cherry pies from the first ripe cherries.

As soon as the men finished eating, they all went out into the fresh air in the front yard and rested for an hour under the shade tree and then back to the threshing. Three or four of the neighbor women followed the threshing machine and helped each other prepare the food and help clean the kitchen afterward. If you had lots of wheat they usually stayed for supper, so as soon as we got everything cleaned up we started preparing food for supper.

Labor Day 1992 Back to School

Traditionally Labor Day was observed the first Monday in September. That day was to be observed as "Labor's Holiday."

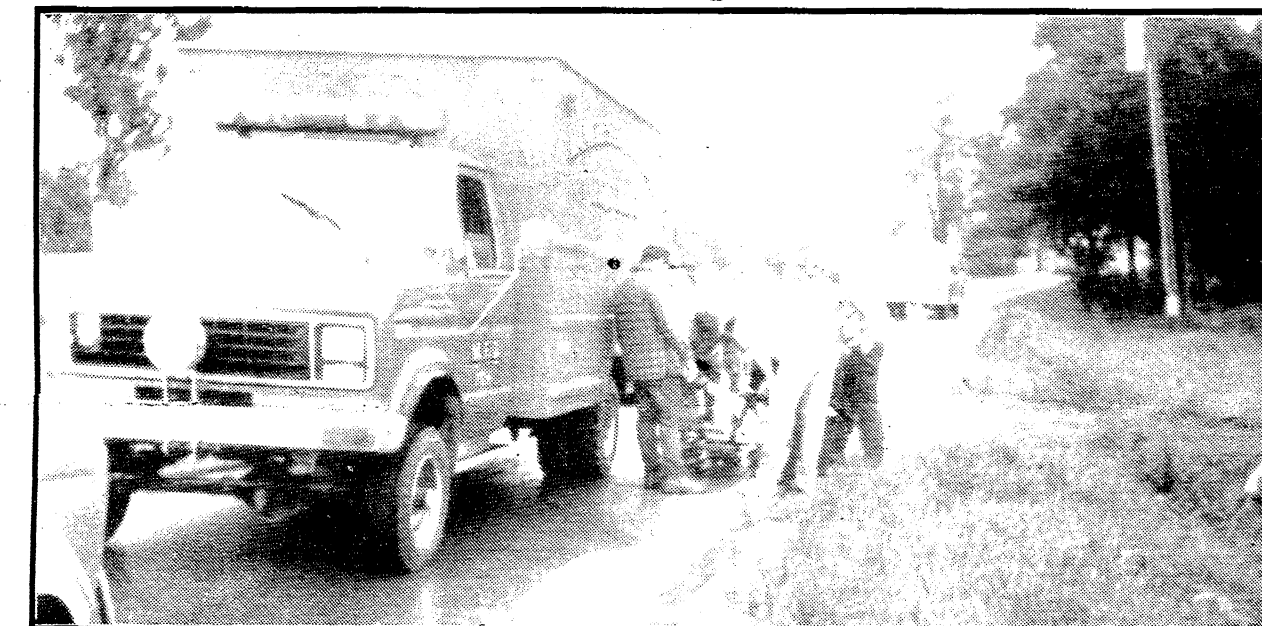

Labor Day was made a holiday in the District of Columbia by Congress in 1894. The Congressional act first mandated the holiday which has been modified to the first Monday in September, ostensibly to give a longer holiday weekend.

The resumption of school used to start the day after Labor Day. That since has changed in order to insure the minimum number of educational days required for certification.

Students wait outside of the middle school Monday August 31 for the first day back.. Action was lively and spirits high.

Accident Response Time

Fire Department Rescue Team responds to motor vehicle accident E. Austin Rd near Ernst Emory Garlick

The siren blew about 5 PM Thursday. Our Scanner picked up the following cryptic message, "Car vs. Truck, East Austin and Ernst Road." Officer Kevin Deacon jumped into his police cruiser, hit the blue light, siren, head lights and was down Main Street and out East Austin in just a matter of a moment or two. The Fire Department Siren was blowing and our Volunteers were on the road shortly there after.

This writer headed toward the scene of the accident within five minutes after the call was sounded. By the time I arrived, traffic was being routed around the accident site. Our boys were removing the driver Rebecca Ann Streby, of Brighton, and placing her on an immobilizing board. Mrs. Streby works at Johnson Controls in Manchester.

Cpl. J. J. Marshall's report reads; "Vehicle was east bound on Austin Road. Driver lost control of car during heavy rain storm and hydroplaned on road surface. Vehicle exited road backwards, struck a culvert. Driver was transported to St. Joseph Hospital by H. V. A."

This writer spoke to Mrs. Streby and she related, "I went off the road backward and the impact broke the seat to the rear. I got out of the car and walked around. I thought I would call for a wrecker and have the car towed into Manchester. While I was standing there a man came along and suggested I sit down. I got back into the car and realized that my neck was very sore. Someone held my neck from the back and the relief for my neck really felt good. A man put out flares along the road, some one else called the police. The next thing I remember was that the police came and the rescue squad also. I was transported to St. Joe's. My neck could have been broken and I would not have realized that according to my Doctor. I am so very thankful for those people that stopped to help and for the police and firemen. What is unique is the fact that our locals, Village Sheriff's contract officers and Fire Department personnel were upon the Scene very quickly.

In investigating this accident some very interesting things have come to light.

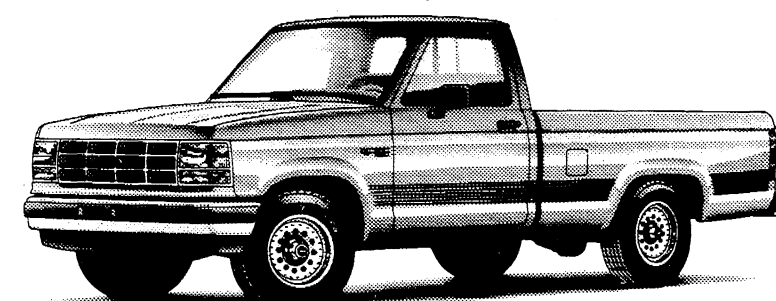

This accident occurred in Bridgewater Township, considered the rural area for the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department. There is only ONE vehicle assigned to the area west of US-23. An area of 519 square miles. The Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department has some severe Budget problems.
