I Remember: 7

borhood farmers were ready, the silo fillers were called. It was Vern List again, the same men who had threshed our grain. After a few days of waiting, Mr. List and his brother came clanging down the road driving his old dark green Rumley tractor pulling the silo filler. He backed it down by the silo and put up the pipes. His brother always crawled up to the top of the silo and let down a rope and the pipes were fastened together and hauled to the top of the silo. It took a long time to get set up.

The next morning all the neighbors came again with their horses and wagon and filled the silo. Of course, the women had to prepare a great feast at noon again. But we didn't mind, that was part of farming then.

Two rows of sorghum were saved to take to the cider mill to be squeezed into sorghum. My mother used this instead of sugar and we ate it on our oatmeal for breakfast.

In the late fall the old vinegar kegs were brought up from the basement and thoroughly cleaned. All the old vinegar was poured out into a pail so the "mother" could be saved. The "mother" was a jelly like mass that was put back into the kegs to make the cider turn to vinegar.

Father hitched up the horses to the wagon and took lots of crates and burlap bags and we all went to the apple orchard. The good apples were carefully put into the crates to be put in the cellar for eating all winter. The windfalls and apples that didn't look just right were bagged up in the burlap bags and tied. When all the apples were harvested, my father went to Alber's Cider Mill about 10 miles down the road. He took the spigots out of the kegs and bunged the holes and took the kegs along. Also the sorghum was taken along. It took all day and when he came back home we all worked to get the apple cider in the kegs down cellar. What a job that was.

The next day my mother drew out what sweet cider she wanted to can, usually about 60 quarts a year were canned. We all drank fresh apple cider for a few days until it started to "work". The "mother" was then put back into the kegs to make vinegar.

Dutch Win in OT from 1

Napoleon won the toss for the first OT and chose to defend. (A page from Wes Gall's book) The Dutch scored on 2nd and 7 with Sloate's option play. The two point conversion failed and Manchester fans were quiet. The first two Pirate attempts were stopped by Matt Fielder and Darren Hagen. A 3rd down action pass play scored for the Pirates and the point after kick was no good.

Double overtime, the Dutch chose to defend and the Pirates scored on 2nd down. A fake kick failed and The Dutch took over with a 1st down run up the middle by Lutton. A 2nd down fumble was recovered by QB Fielder. Fielders pas to brother Matt and his shoe-string catch knotted the score.

Wes Gall's smile, with All League kicker Sloate toeing the ball over the uprights gave the excited Dutch the 13 - 12 Win. This victory will be long remembered.

Coach Wes Gall was pleased with the effort and is confident the team will improve each week.

Crossing Guard's from

According to PA 277 of 1978, "school crossing guards shall be the responsibility of the local law enforcement agency having immediate jurisdiction of the crossing". In the past the Manchester School system provided support to the village.

In 1978 the Manchester Community Schools agreed to contract with the Manchester Village Council and the Manchester Police Department for Police Crossing Guard protection at Main & M-52 in the amount of $2,000. Time required, before school begins, 8:00-8:30, Lunch hour, After School dismisses, 2:40-3:15.

That Agreement was terminated during the 1980's. The compensation for guards is provided by the Village of Manchester. Guards ate paid $60 per week, for two hours per day, 5 days per week. At the present time DPW workers are manning the M-52 and Main Street crossing. However when a fire, medical emergency or DPW need arises the Village personnel must depart.

Currently Village Clerk Karen Tucker needs one more crossing guard. Karen gave us a copy of the guide booklet covering such topics as Public Image, local traffic regulations, guards to school safety patrols, traffic regulations.

If you have the time and inclination, call Karen Tucker at the Village Hall. 428-7877 your kids need you.

THE MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE

124th Year - No 52 Manchester, Michigan 35c per copy

Thursday, October 15, 1992

Editors note; Saturday, October 17th marks the 125th year of The Manchester Enterprise. The Enterprise and Mat D. Blosser were one and the same from the first edition until his retirement in 1939. In keeping with his legacy the following article was prepared, by;

Marsha Johnson Chartrand

The Manchester Enterprise may not have celebrated its 125th anniversary this month were it not for the vision of Mat D. Blosser, who owned and operated the first 72 years of its existence. This week we pay tribute to Mr. Blosser and his vision, the Enterprise.

A small notebook can be found in the library's Historical Room. On the front of the notebook is a custom printed label bearing the words: "Manchester Enterprise! Printing and Publishing House". Handwritten on the front: "What they Say of the 'Enterprise'." Inside are several dozen clipping saved by Mat Blosser, with dates in the margins and notations from which newspaper the clippings came. The Adrian Times, Tecumseh Herald, Saline Observer, Chelsea Herald, Ann Arbor Courier, Ann Arbor Argus, Ann Arbor Register, Lansing Reporter, Ypsilanti Sentinel, the Washtenaw Post (A German newspaper), Detroit Free Press, Detroit Journal and Chicago Newspaper Union are represented in the notebook. You may note how few of these other newspapers still exist - at least in the same name and form.

Our Enterprise has an enviable record for 125 years continuous publication, and Mr. Blosser's own record - of 72 years in the same publishing business - is not likely to be duplicated.

Mat Blosser must have been an unassuming man; it seems he felt that the Manchester Enterprise was his crowning achievement. Even an article written by his daughter, Margaret, for Jane Palmer's History of Manchester Township which is entitled "Mat D. Blosser and a Story of the Blosser Family" concerns the birth and publication of the Manchester Enterprise much more than it does the personal life of Mr. Blosser. It is in what others have written about him, and in his own writings, that we find the essence of his character.

Mat D. Blosser was born in September, 1846, to Peter F. and Sarah Baylis Blosser. Peter Blosser was a partner with his father-in-law, at the Globe Mill in Tecumseh. Peter then came to the Southern Washtenaw Mills in Manchester, although Mat remained with his grandparents in Tecumseh for most of his childhood. In Tecumseh he met George and Charles Spafford who were also interested in the printing business; all three apprenticed at the Tecumseh Herald. Mat went to seek "fame and fortune" in New York at age 17, ultimately returning to Manchester in 1867 in partnership with George and one year later becoming sole proprietor and Editor of the Manchester Enterprise.

In November of 1870 Mat married Mary Etta Harris of Grass Lake. They were married for over 40 years, until Mrs. Blosser's death in 1911. They had three children, Fred H. Blosser, Margaret Blosser Burtless, and Maree Blosser Lowrey.

Mr. Blosser was one of the early members of the Michigan Press Association, which often arranged extensive trips for its members. The Blossers enjoyed traveling both east and west. Trips to New England, The Philadelphia World's Fair in 1876, the Grand Canyon and the West Coast were all written up and shared with the Enterprise subscribers.

The Enterprise was a family affair with the Blossers. Mr. Peter Blosser, Mat's father, was affiliated with the job work of the Printing Company, as well as with the binding of books. Daughters Margaret and Maree had their duties; Margaret recalled that from the age of 12 she learned to set type by hand, and assisted until 1900 in the offices as compositor. Fred made editing and publishing his life's work and was employed throughout the country. He returned to the Enterprise in 1917 and continued until his death in 1928. It was unusual for so many members of one family carrying on the various duties in any business, and callers would often joke about Mat's "home-made office force."

It seems that very early on in his career at the Enterprise Mat Blosser had made a name for himself in the publishing world. His notebook begins in February 1884, with a clipping from the Chicago Newspaper Union: "Mat D. Blosser continues the presiding genius of the MANCHESTER ENTER-PRISE... Mr. Blosser regards his paper with an affection which leadshim to do his "level best" for it on all occasions, and the result is such as he has a right to be proud of."

Brooklyn Exponent, September 1884: "The Manchester Enterprise completed its eighteenth year last week. It is a neat sheet... the news columns of the Enterprise are always filled with well written articles and sparkling locals. Blosser is a vigorous writer, bold and outspoken in his views. May it long continue under his careful and intelligent direction."

Ann Arbor Argus, September 1885: "The Meeting of the Southern Washtenaw Farmer's Club was held at the residence of M.D. Blosser of the Manchester Enterprise... right royally were they entertained by our genial friend, who knows how to provide for the boys as well as any person in that part of the country. A bountiful repast was served by Mrs. Blosser and daughter after the socially intellectual feast, which was most gratifying to all present."

Detroit Free Press, January 1888: "Mat D. Blosser, of the Manchester Enterprise, has been improving his office, putting in a new steam engine, etc., and is hereby congratulated on his success in managing a live local paper."

Mat's sense of humor is seen in his editorial comments:

"Take a silver dollar, let it drop on the table, and you will notice a ring. Wear the ring yourself or give it to a friend; and the dollar to us and we will apply it on your subscription. Another nice experiment consist [sic] in taking a two dollar bill and folding it several times, then unfold it and you will notice it increases. Use the creases for your Sunday trousers and send us the original bill on subscription account. After you have tried these experiments we will cheerfully put you onto another great scheme."

"It is a notable fact that many good items are lost to the newspapers by the modesty of the people who hesitate to tell the editor the matters concerning

RURAL NEWS / FEATURES

The back forty by Roger Pond

What's in a name? asks Norman Herdrich in a recent article published in Western Farmer-Stockman Magazines.

The point of Norm's article is that you can't judge an organization by its name. He uses the Sustainable Agriculture Working Group (SAWG), for an example.

While describing itself as an advocate for family farmers, the Sustainable Agriculture Working Group includes member organizations such as: The Izaak Walton League, National Catholic Rural Life Conference, Bread For The World, Michael Fields Agricultural Institute, Institute for Agricultural Biodiversity, and the Sierra Club Agricultural Committee.

In addition to these affiliates SAWG sometimes corresponds on letterhead from the Natural Resources Defense Council. Readers may remember this as the group that created the apple scare several years ago.

The NRDC told CBS and the "60 Minutes" program that apples are about the most dangerous thing your child can eat.

A closer look at the Sustainable Agriculture Working Group would suggest they don't represent "family farmers" or any other farmers.

Not long after reading Norm Herdrich's article, I was reminded of those on the other side of the fence: The many agricultural colleges who seem intent upon denying any association with agriculture.

Washington State University, for example, recently decided the Department of Agricultural Engineering at that institution is a throwback to the days when engineers designed farm machinery.

The name change conforms to a nationwide trend to include the word "Biological" and discard "Agriculture" in appellations for engineering departments.

This might make sense on a university campus, but I don't see how. Some folks have suspected these guys have too much mold on their slide rules already.

I think this biological, biodiverse, biobullfeathers craze has gone too far. Farmers have enough trouble keeping their machinery working the way it's supposed to.

Hunters Can Donate Wild Game To Feed The Hungry In Michigan

Hunters can help the hungry again as a result of a bill sponsored by Senators John Pridnia (R-Hubbard Lake) and Chris Dingell (D-Trenton).

The Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger, sponsored by Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), the Salvation Army and Safari Club International, set 40,000 pounds of meat as this year's goal.

"I'm glad to see the tradition is continued this year," said Pridnia. "It's great to see the Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger have set their sights high. If each person who hunts donates just a portion of their game, they should do well and help feed the hungry in Michigan."

The goal of the program is to feed Michigan's hungry with a healthy, available and economical food source. Hunters can donate venison, wild turkey, boar or any game meat to local Salvation Army centers across the state.

For more information, call the Michigan Sportsmen Against Hunger Hotline at (313) 278-FOOD or the MUCC at (517) 371-1041.

INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS

- MANCHESTER VILLAGE GENERAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN HIGHLIGHTS CONCEPTUAL VIEW OF INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS, LOOKING NORTHWEST
1. Office/Service transition buffer between Industrial and Residential
2. Scenic space conservation to provide buffer between industrial and River Raisin floodplain.

The Village of Manchester's GDP, (General Development Plan), for the Industrial District has some very interesting concepts. However like all concepts, if nothing is done to promote the development and sale of the land involved the plan will be nothing but a concept.

A portion of the land was acquired in the mid- 80's, and at this time nothing has been accomplished. One offer was made for part of the property and that offer was summarily rejected.

Let the Planning commission know of your feelings, attend their next meeting October 13, 7:30 PM, or their November meeting at the Village Hall.

Editorial / Opinion

To The Editor:

1. Janis Bobrin illegally approved construction company to direct underground storm sewer water from Woodhill Subdivision, Saline, into a private farm drain. (Law suit pending.)
2. Mismanaged Bridgetown Condo, Chelsea, drain project costing $30,000 with assessment delay costing tax payers an additional 3% plus collecting principal over three years instead of four.
3. Personally does not inspect or visit drainage problem areas.
4. Does not appear to understand Drainage responsibilities
5. Responsibility of Drain Commissioner covers the entire county, not only meetings in Ann Arbor, and with no room for politics.

6. We must have a better County Drain Administration.

A. Steve Olmstead has a Master Degree in Planning.

B. He has more than 10 years experience in community and environmental planning including drainage!

C. He is certified by American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP) which adheres to a mandatory code of ethics and professional conduct.

D. He will be personally available by phone or on site.

E. Vote for Steve Olmstead for Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner.

Luther Schaible

Dear Editor:

Steve Olmsted was asked by some concerned citizens of Washtenaw County to run for County Drain Commissioner. Steve isn't seeking this position as just a stepping stone to some higher political position. He genuinely desires to serve the people of Washtenaw County.

For example, Steve is against the proposed landfill and incinerator in Augusta Township. As a parent, he is concerned about the health risks this facility presents for his children, as well as for the rest of us.

I have known Steve Olmsted for over twelve years. He is an extremely hard working individual and a person of integrity. Vote for a true public servant on November 3rd. Cast your ballot for Steve Olmsted for Washtenaw County Drain Commissioner.

Sincerely,
Janice A. Fedele, Ypsilanti Township Resident

Dear Editor:

For many years most property owners and Township Officials have been working to secure public school financing reform and property tax reduction.

In the past, public schools have been primarily financed by the property tax. As everyone knows property taxes, calculated by millage rate X assessment, have increased most years beyond the rates of inflation, thus creating an unfair tax burden for property owners.

These past increases have been caused by the Michigan State Law that requires all property be assessed at 50% of true cash value.

The determination of true cash value is the area of property tax administration where many differences of opinion can and do occur. For every argument in favor of an opinion there seems to be an equally good opposite. Constitutional Amendment, Proposal C will eliminate these differences.

Proposal C is the first step in property tax and school financing reform. It certainly is not the complete answer but it is a step in the right direction without harm to schools or taxpayers in other forms. Proposal C will serve as a catalyst for further reform.

I urge everyone to vote yes on Proposal C, and since, Proposal C conflicts with Proposal A, I urge a no vote on A.

Sincerely,
John A. Savage,
Supervisor Sharon Township

Out and About

- by gar

Five hours can sometimes feel like a life time. Saturday night, however, five hours hardly seemed like five minutes. As a matter of fact that time was the very best time I have enjoyed in the past two years. What was the occasion, you might ask?

I spent that time with a very dear and close friend that I've known for about 25 years. Over the years we have shared so many things that it is almost impossible to recall what they were. We walked the sandy beaches in the Caribbean, visited different sights, gambled at the casinos, (and lost), compared notes and accomplishments of our kids, shared concerns of our spouses, tricked each other on birthdays, dined together and have had endless conversations.

One of the things that I have treasured so very much over the years is the spirituality we have shared. We have discussed at various times the possibility that life could be possibly more than one time around on this planet. What if we have lived before, is that possible? Incarnation has been a hotly debated topic and people have tried to verify incarnation by hypnosis and life regression.

Maybe the thing we think is that anything is possible. In God's great plan we know not what the possibilities are. Anyhow I cherish the rekindling of that friendship and the moments we shared together. Thank you my FRIEND, I am looking forward to the next time together.

To the editor,

Manchester sure loves football. It maybe likes soccer.

Maybe you've noticed the children playing soccer on Saturdays in front of the high school. Watching them play is fun. But I'm not sure the coaches are having fun.

Besides the bunch of young children playing an hour before them, 20 boys and girls from the 4th through 6th grade showed up to play two weeks ago. The coaches basically watched them play, blew a whistle once in a while, and went home. But the kids had fun.

Last week 14 boys showed up, and some of them threw a football around while others were warming up with a soccer ball. The coaches watched, ignored the rules of the game, and told the children that the practice was over 15 minutes before it was scheduled to end. So much for getting into the game.

What's the message? Soccer isn't very important in Manchester. It would be better to admit that soccer doesn't count in this community than give the mixed message that we'll show up if you do, but we'll show you by our actions that soccer isn't a good sport to play.

If 20 children want to play, they at least deserve someone who is enthusiastic, can teach the game, and make the players feel that it is an accepted sport in this country. Let them know where else they can play the game so that the two or three athletes who may, down the road earn a college scholarship, get the direction they deserve.

— Ron Zang

"Ever Virgin" Mary? What Does the Bible Say About This?

The Bible refers to the "brothers and sisters" of Jesus...but the Catholic Church teaches that Mary was a "perpetual virgin"?!? Which is true? Could the teaching of the Catholic Church be wrong—or perhaps just uninformed?

Delve into Sacred Scripture with the To Jesus Through Mary Scripture Study Group. Discover how such common confusion and obvious mistakes happen, and why the Catholic understanding of Mary is Scripturally sound!—not Scripturally denied.

This group meets Thursday evenings from 7:45 until 9:45. People of all faiths are invited to come to one or all of the eight sessions.

This week, October 15th, the meeting will be held at the Blacksmith Shop, 324 E. Main, to consider "The Uniqueness of Mary: A Study of the Perpetual Virginity of Mary and of the Immaculate Conception of Mary." For more information, call Bill Kwolek at 428-7674 or Janet Shurtliff at 428-9462.

Come expecting sound and intelligent discussion, honest and forthright inquiry, and sincere and open prayer. "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them."

Trust in God — but tie your camel tight.

"Purple Rose Theatre Presenting Possessed — The Dracula Musical

The Purple Rose Theatre Company presents the Midwest debut of Possessed — The Dracula Musical as the first production of the 1992-93 season. The original musical, with book by Robert Marasco and Jason Darrow, lyrics by Jason Darrow and music by Carter Cathcart, runs for eight weeks now through November 22.

Performances are Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8:00 p.m. with Sunday shows at 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. at the Purple Rose Theatre Company's Garage Theatre, 137 Park Street, Chelsea, MI.

Set in England around the turn of the century, Possessed — The Dracula Musical tells the tale of Count Dracula's quest for an eternal life filled with power and passion. Dracula's mysterious travels lead him to the estate of the Seward Sanatorium where he is captivated by the beauty of young Mina Seward. With the assistance of Renfield, an inmate of the Sanatorium, Dracula sets out to make Mina his eternal partner in the darkness of the night.

According to T. Newell Kring, "We were attracted to Possessed because this musical combined the classic tale of Dracula with underlying themes of seduction and power. The book, lyrics and unique musical score display the seductive quality of the powers of darkness and the eternal fight not to succumb to these forces."

Village Tree Board

— Sybil Kolon

Manchester's newly formed tree board met last week for the first time. The board members appointed by village council are: David Chartrand, Kathy Davenport, Karen Hinkley, Tom Kalleward and Bill Kwolek. Jane Cooper is the council member who will be the liaison between the tree board and village council. Sybil Kolon is serving as a community forestry consultant to aid the board in their policy making decisions.

A complete inventory will be compiled by the consultant, using newly acquired software to keep an ongoing record of all street trees in the village. This information will allow the board to determine management priorities for village controlled trees.

The new board is enthusiastic about having a positive effect on the health of village trees. One high priority will be to establish a tree farm. The board hopes to enlist volunteers for some of its projects. Public support and understanding of the benefits trees provide will be promoted as a way to take pride in Manchester.

The next meeting of the tree board will be held at 7:00 p.m. Wednesday, November 11 at the Village Hall.

Senior Citizens News

— T. V. Ludwick

We hope you have been exposed to the wit of our senior meals cook, Jan Barbour. She announced at the first Thursday of this month that the very delicious cake for birthday bash had a special name. Instead of what you have previously heard, she came up with "Better Than Nintendo". Jan is also quite accomodating, trying to make us food happy. When I told her hubby would not eat sweet peppers (or even taste them in anything), she said, "No problem" and baked a pan of the stuffing for him and "...maybe others who don't like them". Our wish is her command; what a great gal, thanks.

Who's that lady helping Howard Parr show off the new Senior Citizen's bus? Our own special Jan Barbour.

Jay Hawks Are 'No Trouble'!

Dutch 38 — Jay Hawks 8

— Patrice Faulhaber

The Manchester varsity football team had no trouble with the Vandercook Jay Hawks Friday night in Vandercook Lake. The 36-8 win gives the Dutch a 5-0-1 record overall and 5-0 in the conference.

The long night began for the Jay Hawks on the opening kickoff when their kick team made the big mistake of letting Jeremy Davis slip by for an 80-yard touchdown return. Sloat's kick for the point after was good with only a few seconds off the clock. This set a pattern for the evening as three of the Dutch touchdowns were set up by good defensive effort.

Vandercook's first drive was stopped in three attempts by the efforts of Corwin, Hagen and Burkhardt. The Dutch received a face mask penalty but the Jay Hawks could not take advantage of the 15-yard gift.

Their second drive was stopped with only one yard gained with defensive pressure from Corwin, Lutton and junior J.D. Gould. The punt snap was fumbled and quickly recovered by Gould on Vandy's 26 yard line, the Dutch failed to take advantage of the excellent field position. Vandy took over on their own 15 and again ran into a Dutch brick wall with Matt Fielder leading the tackles. A second fumble by the Jay Hawk punter gave the Dutch possession on the eight yard line.

The Dutch usually have no trouble scoring once inside the ten and this was no exception. A tough offensive line made the touchdown run look easy for Sloat. He kicked in the point which put the Dutch on top 14-0 with 1:35 left in the quarter.

Vandy's only touchdown came in the second quarter when they took advantage of a Dutch 15 yard face mask penalty; in spite of efforts from Puscus and Burkhardt the Jay Hawks were on the board. The two point conversion pass was complete for a score of 14-8.

The Jay Hawk kick was returned by Weidmayer which put the ball on the Dutch 41. The Dutch seemed to be plagued by penalties receiving 20 yards on the next drive. The fourth down punt snap was high over the head of Shane Ahrens who maintained complete composure, picked up the ball and managed a 38-yard punt (14 yards from the line of scrimmage). Vandy's third down pass was intercepted by Brandon Woods who ran the ball back 56 yards. The touchdown run and two-point conversion by Sloat made it 22-8.

The Dutch went into half time 14 points up with a Spork interception to stop the Jay Hawk's drive.

Vandy's offensive line continued to take a beating by a tough Dutch defense. Vandy picked off a pass intended for Ahrens, failed to move the ball and chose to punt on third and 20 hoping to catch the Dutch defense off guard. The combined efforts of Lutton and Brad Davis with Puscus running in the TD, put six more points on the board for Manchester. The two-point conversion run by Sloat set the score at 30-8.

Strock's kick off put the ball into the end zone and again the Jay Hawks failed to achieve a first down.

Fourth quarter action saw Mike Barnard take over as QB. Brian Hoeft quickly made his presence known with three consecutive running plays for a first down. Brandon Woods snagged the third down pass into the end zone for six more points. The last drive by Vandy fell short with an interception by Ahrens. The Dutch back-up team finished off the game with a 5-yard carry by Anderson and a 40 yard run by Hoeft which was called back on a penalty. On first and 20 Barnard completed a 15-yard pass to Phelps.

Coach Wes Gall will have something to say to his players about the penalties in Friday's game. They chalked up 107 yards in penalties, although according to Gan several of those yards were marked incorrectly from the line of scrimmage rather than the point of the foul.

The Dutchmen were good for 65 yards passing and 175 yards rushing. The defense held Vandy to 3 yards rushing and 107 yards passing. Coach Gall is pleased with the efforts of the kick/punt return teams this year.

The play of the special teams has been outstanding as evidenced by the opposing team being forced to kick more squib kicks rather than putting the ball into the air and allowing a good run back.

Coach Gall depends heavily on his coaching staff to assist him in making good decisions regarding plays. He said "It's nice having Bob Curley on the sidelines watching the offensive line. While I'm focused on the play he watches the line and is able to spot trouble early in the game. We can pull a player out to tell him how to make the adjustment."

Wes is preparing for the match up with Curt Fielder's team from East Jackson next Friday. It's Manchester's homecoming game and he issued "Curt has something special lined up for us."

We should mention the fantastic job the cheerleaders did entertaining the crowd during time-outs with new flips and routines. They even managed to share their talents by coaching our friends from Germany to join them on the track for a few "go Dutch" cheers. Good job girls!

Middle School Girls Get Hoop Lessons—Roy Shields

The 7th and 8th grade girls took a trip to Hanover-Horton on Monday, the 5th, and came away with the usual results: 7th grade win, 8th grade loss.

The first game was a lesson in holding big leads as the 7th grade squad squandered a 12-point advantage in the second half before recovering for the victory. The 8th grade group finds themselves in a season-long lesson in dealing with defeat.

Wednesday, was a real shocker for our 7th graders as Grass Lake invaded our gym and showed superior play in all areas: shooting, passing, defense and team play. Girls, that is the team to set your sights on in the future!

Be proud of your 8th grade group! They hate losing, like we all do and now is when the girls have to learn toughness and hard work. We're all cheering for you, girls, so don't lose heart.

Free Mouth Guards Dutch Hoopsters Fall

— by Kerri

The University of Michigan School of Dentistry will offer free, customized athletic mouth guards to elementary, junior high, high school and college students in Washtenaw County schools. Fittings will be 9:00 a.m. to noon, Saturday, October 17, at the Mouth Guard Clinic, second floor, School of Dentistry Building.

The fitting process takes about 10 minutes. The finished guards will be available about two hours after the fitting. No appointments are necessary. Students will be taken "first come, first served," while supplies last. The clinic will be able to make 200 mouth guards.

Ten U-M faculty members, 50 dental students and 10 local dentists will make the protective mouth guards that are required for most student athletes.

"The customized mouth guards are considerably more comfortable than those bought in stores," said William C. Godwin, U-M professor emeritus of dentistry and specialist in sports dentistry.

The Lady Dutch traveled to Addison last Thursday. Unfortunately they came up short in their attempt for a victory. The Dutch fell 50 to 34.

"We shot terrible," Coach Wilkins said of the game.

High scorers were Adrienne Wallace with 11 points, Sarah Riske with 9 and Kerri Keller with 8 points.

The Lady Dutch (4-6), travel to Michigan Center on October 13 and Hanover-Horton on October 15. Come and support your Lady Dutch!

NOTICE Varsity Girls Basketball

The Varsity girls basketball game with Hanover-Horton on October 15 scheduled for Manchester has been changed to Hanover-Horton beginning at 6:00 p.m. Hanover-Horton will be coming to Manchester on November 10. The change is due to problems at Hanover-Horton.

MHS Equestrian Team Closes In On Division Championship

— Kathy Kueffner

Competition seemed more intense last Saturday as Ann Arbor Pioneer and Ann Arbor Greenhills realized they had to outscore our Manchester team to improve their chances at the Division trophy. And through most of the day, scores seemed evenly divided. The Manchester team, however, prevailed, winning the second of three meets, B Division, and second place overall that day. C Division Huron-New Boston had 106 points, Manchester 69, Lincoln 61, A Division Chelsea 42, Greenhills 47 and Ann Arbor Pioneer 28.

High points of the day for the Manchester team were shared by Kelly Lucas and Darci Hock each accumulating 19 points. Kelly was third in Hunt Seat Fitting and Showing and Trail, second in the Hunt Seat and Western Bareback events on her black gelding "Here's Royal Prospect", and sixth over Fences with "Azure".

Darci and "Tessaro Two Sug" won the Trail class, the Two-man Relay race with partner Mark Kueffner, fifth in Hunt Seat Fitting and Showing, fifth in Western Equitation, sixth in Western Bareback Equitation.

Mark Kueffner and "Billy Bar Jack" totalled up 17 points winning the Flag Race and Two-man Relay (with Darci), placing third in Cloverleaf and Speed & Action.

Amber Burkhardt and her paint gelding "Tommy" accumulated 12 points, placing third in Hunt Seat Equitation and Western Bareback, fourth in Western Equitation and sixth in Hunt Seat Fitting and Showing.

Kelly Allen added another two points with a fifth in Hunt Seat Bareback on "Raffles."

The outcome of next Saturday's meet will determine the B Division, District VII Championship. The winning team will have the opportunity to go to the State Finals October 23-25 held at the Ingram County Fairgrounds in Mason to compete against other B Division District winners.

The Community Resource Center (CRC) in Manchester is coordinating a community-wide recognition of Red Ribbon Week. Goals for the celebration are:

- Create awareness concerning drug problems facing every community.
 - Build community coalitions to implement comprehensive drug prevention strategies.
 - Support healthy drug-free lifestyles.
 - Encourage neighborhood prevention planning and activities.
- Programs and activities vary in many different communities but for each small gesture of wearing a red ribbon has the potential for touching children in a profound way.

Organizations, churches, individuals or business with ideas or donations for Red Ribbon Week are encouraged to contact the CRC, 428-7722.

One special activity in the Manchester School District is a poster contest.

The theme is: DRUG FREE AND PROUD.

Poster size: no larger than 11" x 14".

The only other criteria for the poster is that it uses an idea that helps communicate a message that will attract attention, add interest and inform the on-looker. The poster contest is open to all students of the Manchester area. Posters are to be completed and turned in to the individual school office by Wednesday, October 21st.

The age group categories are: High School, Middle School, Klager School.

The Community Resource Center will award a $5 prize to a winner in each age group. Posters will be displayed in the community during Red Ribbon Week.

Optimist Club hears about the Enterprise and Sheriff's program

—Jim Achtenberg

The Manchester Optimist Club got the 1992-93 season started with a meeting at Emanuel Church Hall on September 14, 1992. The featured speaker was Emory Garlick of the Enterprise.

Emory gave a brief history of the paper, which is celebrating 125 years of publication this fall. Emory and Don Limpert purchased the paper nearly two years ago. The plan was to have minimal involvement, letting the staff of the paper do the work of writing and editing articles and obtaining advertising. As Emory puts it, there was a change in the editor. Don sold his interest, and that left Emory in a very active role. His current role is temporary, as Emory is trained as a Civil Engineer, not a newspaper editor.

The paper encourages input from the people of Manchester, and Emory says he will publish all signed letters unless there is some very good reason not to, such as misleading accusations. The future of the paper belongs in the hands of the people and the three employees: Lanietta Aldrich, Kathy Kueffner, and Teresa Benedict.

The second meeting of September, held on the 14th, featured reports from the Optimist-sponsored Boys State and Girls State representatives. Matt Wiethoff attended Boys State at Michigan State and Sharon Fielder attended Girls State at Central Michigan.

Deputy John Scicluna from the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department had a slide presentation on the Student Trooper Camp held over the summer in Lansing. The program invites high school students from around the state to see what law enforcement training is about. The program has close to a 50-50 split between male and female participants. The participants are up at 5:30 every morning, and activities include physical training, investigations, fire arms, traffic stops, and most other aspects of law enforcement.

Autumn Bloodmobile Report

October 5th was a beautiful day and a good day for donating blood. This is what 83 people did and two tried to do. These donors represent our local churches and industries.

Congratulations to Anneliese Little for giving for the first time. Hope to see a lot more of her at future bloodmobiles. Also, congratulations go to Dr. Bradley Taylor for giving his eighth pint and receiving a one-gallon pin and to Michael Scully for giving his 56th pint and receiving his seven-gallon pin.

The "THANKS" from all of those who will be helped by the blood that was donated on this day goes to the workers who made the day run smoothly.

They are as follows: Chairperson of the day, Jean Little; Pre-Screener, Shirley Reinhart; Registrars, Vada Ridge and Gola Bertke; Pack Table, Gladys Uphaus and Shirley Roller; Escorts, Marie Knorpp and Charlotte Timmerman; Observer & Record Keeper, Ruth Oates; Canteen-Chairman, Nellie Uphouse and Edna Knauss; Marie Gilbert, Bessie Osborn and Grandma Gillow; Set-up & Clean-up, Manchester United Methodist Men. In addition, Alber Orchard & Cider Mill for the apples and DELICIOUS cider. They give freely every fall for the bloodmobile.

Now some belated information about the July 20th bloodmobile that was held at the American Legion Hall. A total of 105 pints of blood were donated. This was just great.

Pins were given to the following people: eight pints, a one-gallon pin went to Rosemary Whelen; 16 pints, two-gallon pins went to Wendy Brooks and Dan Fleck; 32 pints, four-gallon pins went to Susan Lobbstaal, Terry Walter and Geneva Walkow; 40 pints, five-gallon pins went to William Phaus and Marjorie Scully; 48 pints, six-gallon pins went to Ray Kemner and Marja Warner; 64 pints, an eight-gallon pin went to Robert Rutherford. Good job by all of the donors and workers. It is appreciated by those you are helping.

The Christmas Bloodmobile will be held in Saline this year. Please watch this paper for more information. The next Manchester Community Bloodmobile will be held in March. The information for the place, time and date will be forthcoming in February, 1993.

Jack O' Lanterns, Trick or Treating, and the Nain Rouge: The History of Halloween

Halloween, as we know it today, is a blend of mythology thousands of years old and Christian belief. Detroit also has its contribution to the traditions of ghosts, witches, and goblins — The Legend of Nain Rouge.

Halloween and Trick or Treating

Thousands of years ago, Celtic tribes who followed the Druidic religion and inhabited Wales, Ireland, and Scotland celebrated New Year's Day on November 1. In the eighth century, Pope Gregory III moved the church festival of All Hallows, or All Saints Day, to November 1.

The eve of All Saints Day — All Hallows E'en — during the Middle Ages became known as a time favored by witches and sorcerers. The custom of trick or treating is a marriage of Druidic and Christian customs. During the Druid's celebration of New Year's a feast was held to greet ghosts thought to be lurking about. At the end of the feast, masked and costumed villagers representing the souls of the dead paraded to the edge of town leading the ghosts away. With the advent of Christianity, this practice evolved into a feast celebrating St. Columbia and Irish parishioners paraded around their parson saint, angels, or devils. It was also believed that on All Hallows E'en ghosts and fairies roamed the roads curdling milk and riding horses to exhaustion. Any practical joke was blamed on these creatures.

The Jack O' Lantern

Fire was an important part of the Druid's New Year celebrations. They used fire to tell the future, banish evil spirits, ghosts, and witches, who they believed feared fire. Scots carried lighted torches through their fields to help crops grow. Irish children carved the first Jack O' Lanterns out of large rutabagas, turnips, and potatoes to light Halloween gatherings. The origin of this custom is the folktale involving an Irishman named Jack. Jack, who was legendary for his stinginess, tricked the devil into promising that he would never claim Jack's soul. As a result, when Jack died he was barred from heaven for his stinginess and from hell by the devil's promise. As Jack returned to earth, the devil threw him a hot coal. Jack dropped the coal into his half-eaten turnip and ever since has been traveling with his Jack O' Lantern searching for a place of rest.

American Halloween Traditions

Halloween was not widely celebrated during the first two hundred years of American settlement. The early English settlers thought Halloween was the work of the devil. There were small Irish Catholic settlements where Halloween was celebrated, but it didn't really catch on until the Irish potato famine in 1840 sent thousands of Irish-Scottish immigrants to America. They brought their Halloween customs with them — and Americans liked them so much they adopted them. The Irish turnip lantern soon gave way to pumpkins — a native American plant. Thus, the pumpkin became the king of American Halloween symbols!

The Legend of the Nain Rouge

Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac arrived at Detroit on July 24, 1701 and it is believed that he brought the Nain Rouge with him. A ghost that appeared as red dwarf — the Nain Rouge — was described as red creature with cold eyes and large teeth protruding from a huge grinning mouth. This ghost has been sighted on several occasions. Just before the massacre at Bloody Run in 1763, and before the fire which burned Detroit to the ground in 1805. The Nain Rouge was also sighted prior to the surrender of Detroit to the British in the War of 1812.

-themselves. The right thing to do is to stop the editor on the street or any place you may see him, and tell him you have been on a visit, have relatives visiting you, that there is a new baby at your house, or anything in the line of news. If you have done anything mean, keep that to yourself, for there are plenty of others who will make it a business to tell that."

Early issues of the Enterprise are full and crowded-looking compared to today's papers; a testimonial to Mr. Blosser's frugal attitude. His editorials, however, were often devoted to the ideas of progress in Manchester.

"New Crosswalks! We notice that our city fathers have concluded that crosswalks are agreeable, especially in muddy weather and the marshal is busy laying same. This is a great improvement, long needed..."

"Manchester needs a bank. Among other things, we need a bank where a responsible citizen, farmer, manufacturer or mechanic might borrow money (with proper security) at a reasonable rate of interest say ten or twelve per cent -- not a fraction above the latter."

"The editor has shaken the hand of many a young man who has called to say good-bye before he left to battle with the world, and none will say that he has not given them some good advice and wished them success. He has also watched their progress and it is his pride to say that in almost every instance the young man has made a success in life... We extend a special invitation to our German citizens to read the Enterprise, it will help to educate you and your children."

"Next Tuesday evening, our citizens will have an opportunity of attending an entertainment of much interest, and by so doing they will assist a worthy object. The G.A.R. Post of this village have tried hard to raise money to buy a new flag, the glorious stars and stripes, and have not succeeded... Mr. J. W. Knight will tell about the famous raid during the war, and illustrate it with large paintings at Arbeiter hall, and we are sure that those who attend will feel that their 15 or 25 cents was well spent."

Mr. Blosser made himself a friend to those who lived here and put out a welcoming hand to those who made Manchester their adopted home. He was noted for his willingness to work to promote the best interests of the community and on September 3, 1935 the community held a celebration:

"In honor of Mat D. Blosser's 89th birthday, and the 68th anniversary of his continuous publication of the Manchester Enterprise, the citizens and business men invite you to attend, as an expression of appreciation to our esteemed citizen for his long and faithful service to our community." Speaker of the evening was Christie Barth, of the Detroit Free Press.

Five hundred people gathered in the Emanuel Church hall that night, reported the next day's Ann Arbor Daily News. Mat had no intention of retiring at that point, however. He was much too interested to leave the Enterprise office for more than a few minutes at a time, and still worked long hours each day in preparation for the weekly issues. He continued active with the Enterprise until December, 1939.

Mat D. Blosser passed away on April 17, 1941 at the age of 94 years, 7 months.

A community is like a ship; everyone ought to be prepared to take the helm. —Henrik Ibsen

DOWN MEMORY LANE

BY ROSE WINRIGHT

Gottlieb Jacob farmhouse, Bethel Church & M-52 in 1927

I Remember: 8

In 1934, a man from Consumers Power Company came to see us to see if we wanted to sign up to get electricity - I'll say we did!! Everyone on our road wanted electricity except one old bachelor. He was a mean old coot anyway. Consumers Power Co. had a terrible time with him and finally ended up paying him $50 for each pole that was put on his land.

So he sent away to Ithaca, NY for a bushel. Soon the mailman brought the new Red Wheat and in late September he plowed and dragged the field and sowed the wheat. All the neighbors thought he was crazy to plant wheat in September. They all laughed at him, but when spring came and everyone started planting their wheat, his was already 3-4 inches tall. Then he laughed at them. When threshing time came every man around wanted to buy some of the new wheat. Soon everyone planted their wheat in the fall. I don't believe anyone plants spring wheat now.

Finally, at long last, the poles were set and the wires strung. We had "Chick" Kirk from Manchester come out and wire the house. One bulb in the middle of the kitchen and one in the bedroom. Modernization had begun. The first thing my father bought was an Atwater Kent radio for the kitchen.

My father was the first farmer around our neighborhood to purchase a tractor. It was a Fordson and had iron wheels. When it was started in the morning my father could do in one day the amount of work it took our team of horses a week to accomplish. But getting it started was something else. It had to be cranked and cranked and cranked. I believe the oil in the engine had to be warmed up by cranking before it would run. I learned some choice cuss words while my father started that Fordson tractor. All the farm equipment had to have a few minor adjustments made before they could be pulled by a tractor but after we got the tractor, life was surely easier than using horses.

I remember how everyone sat around the kitchen table and listened to "The Shadow" on Sunday nites at 5 o'clock. Lamont Cranston always said "Who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of men? The Shadow knows." No one talked - everyone listened. It was the best show we had ever heard. Lum and Abner, Molly Goldberg - are all part of my past.

My father read about a new kind of wheat that had been developed in Cornell University in Ithaca, NY. It could be planted in the fall and would not freeze.

My father always kept several swarms of bees so we always had lots of honey. He always drove to Tipton, MI to get his bee supplies at Hubbards. He had a real long sharp knife to cut off the tops of honeycombs and then the frames were put into the extractor. Usually my brother turned the crank real fast and the honey came out of the combs. It was then strained through cheesecloth and put into quart cans and put in the cellar.

Some years we had too much for our own use, so the over abundance was sold - five lbs. for $1. We always had more people wanting honey then we could supply. But we had to save some extra in case it was a

Brandon Woods came back to haunt the Trojan QB with a

East Jackson Gets Thunderstruck!

— Patrice Faulhaber

If you attended the Friday night homecoming game you saw the Dutch offense explode into a 53-6 victory over the Trojans from East Jackson. The Dutch never let up, playing solid football right up to the last minutes. The first eight minutes of play and 3 Dutch drives put 20 points on the board before the Trojans knew what hit them.

Rich Lutton and Jamie Sloat were quick to get things started, moving the ball 65 yards in 6 plays. Sloat had his first TD of the night with only 2 minutes off the clock. The Trojan's first drive was stopped on the first play with a pass interception by Brandon Woods. This set up the second touchdown with the Dutch taking possession on the Trojan 42. Sloat slipped in for 6 points behind some excellent blocking by the offensive line. The two-point conversion pass from Tom Fielder to Matt Weitoff was good for a 14-0 lead.

The defense hardly worked up a sweat stopping the next EJ drive in four plays. Matt Fielder jumped on the fumbled punt and Manchester took over on the 28 yard line. The combined effort of Jeremy and Brad Davis and a Fielder pass to Jeff Weidmayer put the ball inside the 10. Mica Puscus ran the ball in for six points.

the Dutch "D" and an interception by Sloat erased any idea the Trojans may have had about scoring in the first half.
