Our Heroes Will Always Be Dutchmen!

Dutch Have Best Season In School History

Manchester varsity football team will remember for a long time. You could see the pride in the faces of the parents as the team, with haircuts as individual as each of them, started wandering into the high school auditorium Saturday morning for the team breakfast. Preparing the pancake and fresh fruit breakfast was a labor of love for the parents who were well aware that the players were about to face their biggest challenge of the year. All the blood, sweat and tears that went coming down to this semi-final game in the bid for State coaches.

Did the players and coaches know on August 10, when double day practices started, they would be here? Coach Gall worked all year to instill a winning attitude in his team. He told them if you want very hard it can be yours. And so it is theirs, the best season in the Bishop Gallagher, but the Reents and fans.

21 points by half-time. The game for the Dutch was plagued with turnovers. The Lancers were quick, maybe a little too quick sometimes, and forced four fumbles. The Dutch team is more accustomed to a game being called a little tighter by the referees, and perhaps weren't prepared for the speed with which they came off the into the 10-0-1 season was line. This was a real learning experience for the players and

It wasn't until the fourth quarter with 3:54 left that the Dutch got on the board. Rich Lutton ran the recovered fumble in for six big points then a Fielder to Fielder pass put up two more.

It looked like the Lancers would score again making three something bad enough and work first downs on the next drive but an unsportsman like conduct call, slowed them down. Do we have another play-off team waiting in There is no shame in get- the wings? The girls' volleyball team may have the talent, but do they have the determination it takes to become winners? Are they ready to sacrifice and do what's best for the team even though it may not be what they want? Only time will tell.

> We salute the Manchester Varsity Football team of 1992. Good luck seniors!

And, any last words from the juniors and sophomores? "We'll be back! "

Emory Garlick

The 2 previous articles have dealt with the need for housing and the options available to a trusses, beam supports and potential buyer. A decision to build your own house, selecting a plan, plan changes, siteing the house and the permits required.

This week we are discussing the selection of a general contractor or sub-contractors if you are your own general con-

SELECTING A GEN-ERAL CONTRACTOR.

If it is necessary for you to borrow funds to build your house your mortgage lender will insist on having a qualified contractor do the building. You may elect to be your own general contractor and your financial institution will review your qualification. In either case, the bank will allow draws, release of funds, only upon completed work. In most instances a percentage of the draw request will be withheld pending the final completion of the house.

Let us assume your house plans are complete. The plans indicate elevation drawings, (side views of the house), foundation plans (showing footing sizes and locations), all floor plans indicating wall thicknesses, locations of interior walls, window and door locations and sizes. Doors should show which way they swing so there are no conflicts with other doors or openings.

A mechanical plan will show

The floor plan will also indicate material sizes and directions of floor joist's, rafters or header sizes. (Headers are the cross supports above openings, windows, doors or spans of distance within the house upon which other building components rest). A materials list indicating materials types should also be included. Material type means what type of product is being used, wood, steel, laminated manufactured component or specific need. A simple comparison would be if we specified balsa wood used to build model planes compared to oak which is very strong. The balsa would have to be very very large to be as strong as a much smaller piece of oak.

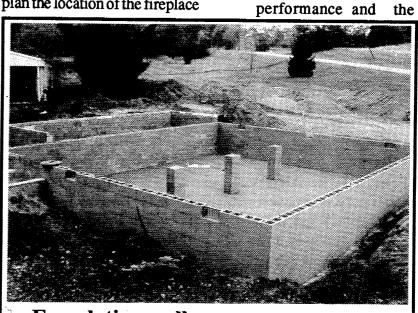

Yourhouse plan should also indicate electric outlets, switches, lighting, exhaust fans, overhead fans and special electric needs including size of entry service. You may have opted for electric heat. This will require a larger entry service or separate drawing should be included. service that has a timed use period, to reduce your electric bill.

the heating and cooling system. This plan will size, by BTU's, your heating and cooling needs. The locations of hot and cold air return openings will be on the plan as well as chimney location and size. If a fireplace is in your plan the location of the fireplace

Dear Mr. Garlick:

I was outraged when I read your article in the Manchester Enterprise, November 5, 1992 pertaining to the Manchester Gravel and Concrete products and the Village and Township of Manchester. When you called me, at home, asking for some background on my operation of the gravel pit, I should have hung up on you, as I did not realize that you would twist my words around to get your view across to the public.

(1) The pit did not open in 1980 as you stated. The Hansen Farm has been a gravel pit farm since way before 1952, when Hansen's bought it. Mr. Willard Blumenauer was at that meeting with the Township and he stated that he had lived all his life on the joining farm, and the farm had been a gravel pit farm as long as he could remember, even when horses and wagons were used to haul gravel. In a 35 mph crash, these linebackers will hit the windshield with 9,300 pounds of force -- the same as jumping off a 5-story building.

"Thanksgiving dinner was cooked in the oven of our large Majestic stove," stated Herbert Widmayer. "Dad went south of town each year and brought home nine roosters weighing six to seven pounds which were used throughout the holiday season. As city water didn't come to town until 1913, we carried water to drink and used our cistern. Water was pumped to a storage tank on the second floor bedroom, down to another tank along side the stove and piped to the Majestic." He remembers the "black" squash (Hubbard) which mother baked with seeds inside to keep it moist after being cut in two with a saw. His job was to keep the woodbox filled. He remembrs early cold weather in 1910 when he was 12 years old and enjoyed ice skating on the river mill pond that Thanksgiving Day. Audience member Luther Schaible expressed his convictions on religious songs being included in the school's holiday programs. The Superintendent was directed, in reviewing procedures, to consider the cultural heritage of our community and to go to the full extent of the law in preparing holiday programs.

Several high school students were invited to attend the Board meeting to discuss their ideas and opinions about their school. Freshman Andy Cohn, Sopho-throw vs Onsted On Wednesday, we traveled to Clinton to meet the Onsted Wildcats in the second round of the state's district basketball tournament. The powerful (14-5) Wildcats utilized a full court press from the word go, which caused many Dutch turnovers. We shot poorly, 7 of 40, from the field. This combination spelled defeat, 24-44. Tracy LaRue was our high scorer with six of nine free throws and one field goal to total eight points. Sarah Riske, despite early foul trouble, scored six and grabbed 12 rebounds. Adrienne Wallace and Kerri Keller contributed 10 points, five each. Onsted beat their next opponent, Blissfield, to move on. We ended the season with a respectable 9 and 11 overall record, with an even and 7 in league play.

A Special Note From Your Sports Editor

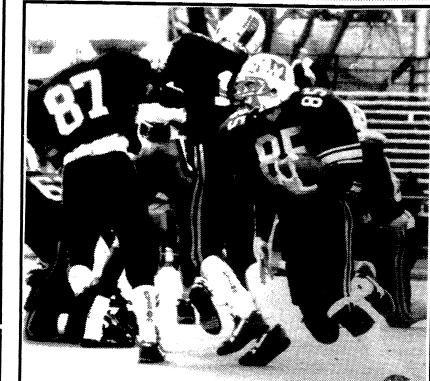

With this, the week of Thanksgiving, I want to be sure to nention our girls' basketball squad and our football team. My excitement previous to the football season was dampened when we tied the first game against Clinton: 0-0. My hat goes off to these young men who re-grouped, played as a team, and proceeded all the way to the state semi-finals for the first time in Manchester's history. I commend the team for their sportsmanlike behaviour during and after the game, even in the face of defeat. The camaraderie, not only among the players but beween the team and the fans, was reinforced when Darren Hagen gave a big thumbs up toward the bleachers.

It was a pleasure watching our girls' basketball squad as they always gave 100% whether winning or losing. We have a young bunch who improve every game and since we have only two graduating seniors, next season looks promising.

A Thanksgiving History

Thanksgiving Day, as a na-dians and the settlers feasted tional religious festival celebrated on the same day throughout the country, dates from 1863. Mrs. Sarah J. Hale of Boston promoted the idea of the observance of a uniform day throughout the country for the expressing of thanks for the blessings of the year. The first New England day of thanks for the harvest was in the autumn of 1621 under orders from Governor Bradford. The colonists went out into the forests and shot a number of turkeys and took them to the settlement to be cooked for dinner. A number of Indians heard of the celebration and then entered the settlement carrying with them several deer. The In-together. It was 23 years later when the governor of the Dutch colony of New York issued a Thanksgiving proclamation.

The first Thanksgiving proclamation by any President of the U.S. was made in 1789 by President Washington when he called for a day of thanksgiving for the adoption of the Constitu-

President Madison set a day to give thanks for peace in 1815 and President Lincoln recommended special days of thanks for victories in 1862 and 1863.

Thanksgiving has been observed by official proclamation (presidential and by the governors of the respective states), since that time.

Feud Produces Graffiti: Violence Feared

Iron Lake in the Southwest Hollow Road is a concern but Ouarter of Manchester Township is once again having prob-

The private association that governs the lake found it necessary to clean the graffiti from their private lake sign last week. The sign is located in the lake some twenty feet from the shore line. Iron Lake dam which controls the lake level is locate adiacent to Sharon Hollow Road.

Recently the Washtenaw County Road Commission placed no parking signs along Sharon Hollow Road, Ely Road and Wolf Road in an effort to control the problem of vehicles and boat trailers from parking along those roadways.

According to Harry Sabourin, a lake resident and member of the Association governing the lake; "We are having some problems with someone who does not want us to control lake access.'

"Years ago Allen Whiteman had a marina on the lake and he allowed people to launch boats from his property. The boat facilities were under his control and for the most part as I understand it, people were considerate. After Mr. Whiteman discontinued his Marina operations people continued to launch boats from the roadway where there was no guard rail and in the location of the old Marina

Apparently when the Road Commission widened and reconstructed Sharon Hollow Road north of the dam they removed the old wire strand guard rail and did not replace it with modern guard rail. This has allowed more area for non-residents to launch boats from the

We were informed that the law was very cloudy and that enforcement would be difficult unless we had a posted sign. That is when I painted the sign that stands in the water."

There is also a conservation movement, ICU Association, that governs hunting in the area. Approximately four hundred acres are a part of that group. Their intent is to control the hunting in the area and protect the local citizens from unwanted and unsafe hunting. There exists Sabourin felt that Mel a forty acre parcel that is owned

Still, not being serious to move I said I didn't think I would move because loyalty was important to me. However back where I was working I realized I couldn't build good relationships with my customers because I had no faith in my service department or owner.
