Down Memory Lane

A letter from John Emory Irwin's Civil War diary, compiled by Maxine White, granddaughter of J.E. Irwin. The Irwin farmstead is located at 16880 Grass Lake Road

Camp Near Lebanon, KY.,
April 9, 1863
Dear Mother -

I have only a few moments to spare and two or three letters to write but when it comes time for me to write home, that comes first and foremost, 'fore everything else.

Last Thursday we left the place where my last letter was dated and with awful heavy knapsacks plodded over (18) eighteen miles of territory — not square miles but linear miles, though they seemed long enough to be. A man can comfortably enough walk twenty miles in a day, but let him put a load on his back once and try it. A large blanket, overcoat, two pieces of tent, oilcloth, extra shirt, drawers, stockings, towel, a little piece of soap, housewife, Testament, tactics, then add to that a haversack with two days cooked rations, a canteen, partly full of water, a small hatchet, gun and cartridge box with sixty rounds of cartridges in it, as we are now compelled to carry, and you have a very fair idea of a soldier's kit.

We reached Springfield at night, footsore and tired enough.

BO TO BE IN TOWN

— Kathy Kueffner

The proposed Manchester Fitness Center will get a big boost this Thursday when legendary University of Michigan football coaches Bo Schembechler and Jerry Hanlon visit with the community in the Manchester High School gym at 8:00 p.m.

The coaches will be here at the invitation of our own legendary varsity football coach Wes Gall.

Gall is spearheading a drive to construct a building housing a fitness center which will benefit not only students but the entire community.

Gall hopes the fitness center will be a multi-use facility used for not only athletic purposes but also dance classes, aerobics, band, etc. The projected cost is about $185,000 which will be covered by private donations and help from local contractors and individuals and fund raisers such as this visit on Thursday.

The cost is only $3 for adults and $2 for children through age 6. All proceeds will go to the Fitness Center. A raffle will be held for two footballs and one basketball autographed by Bo, Mo and Steve Fisher.

Meet the legends in person this Thursday, April 15, 8:00 p.m. in the high school gym!

Partners In Education For the 21st Century

It's time to continue the exploration which was interrupted on March 10 by the very snowy reminder that spring weather can't arrive until winter is good and ready to leave! This exploration, begun in February, focuses on two issues: how to accomplish the staff development required to bring about the change in education made necessary by a rapidly and everchanging world; and, the continuation of our discussion regarding cooperative efforts of the schools and community in forming partnerships to enrich both the community and our educational system.

As we move forward in our quest to develop students who are lifelong learners, we who have supposedly "completed" our education must continue our growth and become examples of committed, lifelong learners.

The next meeting of this group is scheduled for Wednesday, April 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library. We invite all who would like to participate in and add to this important process to join us. While we especially need continued input from the original participants, new ideas and suggestions are very welcome.

The weather Saturday surely convinced everyone that the fine men from the Men's Club have connections in high places — it was sunny and beautiful, perfect for the children's annual Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Men's Club of Manchester. ### From The Ground Up

—by BG
Activity in the garden is increasing with the cleaning, weeding, digging and planting but don't forget the indoors. Seeds can be planted now for those tender plants that will be planted outside around the first of June. If you have limited space, think about starting plants that can't be purchased easily; an edible ornamental Pepper instead of a Bell or Chili Pepper, a white Zinnia instead of a mix of colors.

This week will find the plants, started in the house in February, being put into beds that will be cleaned as the space is needed...a pleasant form of bribery. The Pansies that were very fine seed seven weeks ago will be flowering in another seven weeks and, perhaps, again in the fall and next spring.

If our readers have any gardening questions, please send them to "BG" care of The Enterprise, 109 E. Main St., P.O. Box 37, Manchester, MI 48158, or give us a call (428-8173) and your questions will be answered in this column.

Wilderness U.P. Land Donated to The Nature Conservancy

Historical Site Preserved

An ecological and historical wilderness area of over 1,700 acres nearly surrounding Laughing Whitefish Lake in western Alger County has recently been donated to The Nature Conservancy, a non-profit conservation group. Phyllis Reynolds of Marquette donated the property in honor of her late husband Max Reynolds, Jr. to "keep this beautiful and famous place wild forever, the way it's always been."

The land, frequented by many north woods animals such as bald eagles, loons, tropical migrating songbirds and the threatened pine marten, is also where George Shiras III took the world's first nighttime nature photographs during the late 1800's.

The gift is the second largest donation of land in the history of The Nature Conservancy's Michigan Chapter. Laughing Whitefish Lake is a piece of revered north woods and waters kept in Phyllis Reynolds' family since Michigan statehood. Reynolds relatives go back as far as Peter White, one of the earliest founders of the city of Marquette, who had his wilderness camp in this area in the early 1800's. George Shiras III married White's daughter and became a prominent lawyer and later Congressman from Pittsburgh. Shiras pioneered the use of cameras to photograph nighttime nature first along the shore of Laughing Whitefish Lake. Shiras was an uncle of Max Reynolds, Jr.

The Nature Conservancy will manage the Laughing Whitefish property as part of its statewide collection nature preserves, some of the finest remaining Michigan natural lands protecting rare plants and wildlife. The mission of The Nature Conservancy is to preserve plants, animals, and natural communities that represent the diversity of life on Earth by protecting the places they need to survive.

A woman advertised for a gardener and two men came together. As she was talking to them, her mother motioned for her to take the smaller man. "Why?" she asked. "Take the one with patches on his knees," she answered, "not on his seat." Our lives are like a garden. To have a good one God and we have a part. If we don't work, there'll be no flowers regardless of good weather.

Second Front Page: Contractors and Trust?

When should you place your faith in a Contractor

—Emory Garlick

As most of the readers of the Manchester Enterprise are aware I am the Building Inspector for the Townships of Bridgewater, Freedom and Manchester. Generally we have few problems with contractors who do work within our townships. Occasionally there does arise some misunderstandings and inferior workmanship. This generally happens when a contractor makes demands of the home owner for pre-payment or is not familiar with his trade and his workmanship leaves something to be desired.

Recently a home owner had an unfortunate experience with just such a contractor. Because there may still be litigation by the home owner, or disciplinary action by the State of Michigan I will not use names of either the home owner or the contractor. The story needs to be told however, so that others in the area might be forewarned. This particular couple purchased an older home in December of 1992 and needed to have a furnace replaced. But let their letter to the Better Business Bureau tell the story.

"To Whom it may concern: I am writing this letter to let other consumers know the problems we have had with the installation of our new LP Gas furnace. Having inquired with a number of people that had various furnace types, to reach our decision we felt it was the correct one, but within two weeks we found out very differently.

To give some background information to our situation, when we purchased our home in early December 1992 we knew that we would convert from electric heat to Propane gas heat, for economic reasons. In late December the heat pump to the electric furnace burned out, causing us to be faced with the decision of converting to LP gas much sooner than expected. Having been something we wanted to do we decided to convert our home to LP Gas. Our 1400 sq. Ft. home is built on a cement slab. Anderson windows are through out the house and there is approximately eighteen inches of insulation in the attic.

Six Contractors presented estimates for a high efficiency counter flow Propane furnace. Estimates included the furnace, gas lines, thermostat and filters, permits and a final inspection.

When comparing the estimates we considered such things as, the type of furnace, warranties and estimated cost. After considering the above we decided to go with * Heating of Ann Arbor, owned by xyz, an authorized dealer of furnaces.

Jan 5, 1993. Mr. xyz came to our house so that my husband could sign the contract. He was given a check for 1/2 of the cost estimate. Jan 8. Two labors from * came out and began the installation of the furnace. My husband works midnights and my father was at our home during the installation. My father noticed that during the installation that the furnace was partially in the hallway and the contractor was informed they would not be able to have the furnace partially out of the closet. Mr. xyz agreed to turn the furnace so that it was in the closet.

Jan. 9, The propane company set the tank and ran the gas line. * Heating laborers finished installing the furnace but did not have the thermostat or the filter we paid extra for. At 3:00 PM the furnace was turned on and at 10:30 that evening the house had not warmed up. The operating manual indicated the filter might be plugged and when removed we found the filter covered with insulation.

Jan. 10, We called Mr. xyz the next morning and explained the house was not warming up after 18 hours. Mr. xyz suggested the duct work was the problem and that another furnace should be installed in the attic which would cost $6,000.

Jan. 11, Mr. xyz was called and we were informed the distributor would not take back the furnace but that xyz wanted the other 1/2 of the contract money, even though the new thermostat and filter had not been installed. After our payment he would be glad to install the new $6,000 furnace. A general contractor was called, we asked for his advice and he suggested we have another heating contractor look at the furnace.

Jan. 12, Mr. xyz was called and informed that we were having another contractor look at the furnace. The other contractor thought the lack of the new thermostat was probably the cause of the defective operation. He suggested a heat gain and loss calculation and have the Gas regulator checked.

Jan. 13, Mr. xyz was called about the final inspection, the filter and the thermostat. Mr. xyz said he would set up the final inspection, but we informed him that the township had been called and that no permit had been pulled for the job. Mr. xyz replied that he just hadn't got around to pulling the permits, some 8 days after the job had been started. The bottled gas company checked and readjusted the gas regulator that * Heating company had set.

Jan. 14, we received a letter from Mr. xyz's attorney.

Jan. 15, we contacted the attorney and asked to have the contract completed and the furnace in working condition.

Jan. 22, We had our final inspection and it was approved. (The contractor * Heating and Mr. xyz pulled the permit on Jan. 21) Some corrections had to be made. We received the new thermostat and the filter the day of the final inspection. Contractor was issued a check for the balance of the contract.

Feb. 5, For the past two weeks the self induced blower motor has been coming on and running for approx. 10 minutes then shutting off, never turning the blower motor on. Mr. xyz was called, one of the workers came out and adjusted the fan switch. He informed us that the Manometer used by * Heating was faulty and they never made a re-check of the gas regulator."

What is the point of this article? One if you have gone to the work of selecting a contractor ask for references from other customers to determine their job satisfaction. Two; get a contract that spells out the terms of what work is to be performed and when payments are to be made. Make sure that advance payment is only made by escrowing funds with your bank or outside agency. Three; ask to see the permit before the work is started and if there are problems do not be afraid to contact the building department and the inspector before the job gets out of hand. Remember the Township employs inspectors to ensure compliance with code and proper workmanship. The inspectors are being paid for by you the consumer and your monies, not the contractor's.

We want to help you with your home problems.

"By the time a man realizes that maybe his father was right, he usually has a son who thinks he's wrong."

Out and About

by gar

Some Folks locally are a bit up tight about the T. P'ing of the trees around the high school and some of the local homes. Now I'll grant that some of the paper gets a little ratty looking after its hung for a few days and maybe the perpetrators haven't all been apprehended but let's put all this in perspective.

Dexter Schools had some malicious damage of buildings recently as well as some other schools. We a while back had tires destroyed on busses and that wasn't a very worthwhile thing. Those guilty ones were found and the proper punishment was meted out.

I have a confession to make and this takes me back to my school days. Around Halloween we used to try and go around the neighborhood and tip over the out houses. That wasn't such a great thing to do but I remember one night when we were hustling around the neighborhood looking for one to tip over. One of my boyhood buddies Emil spotted this particular out house and he, Archie, Zeek and I took off on a dead run to be the first there. Archie and Emil were faster than Zeek and I so they were first on the scene. Seems as though this particular out house owner had his out house tipped over the previous year and he had moved the crapper forward. Archie and Emil on a dead run to be the first to push stepped into the privy hole and sank to their knees in the contents therein. Naturally having forward momentum they went down to their elbows also and sure were one stinking mess.

Since the Huron River was only about a quarter mile away we four headed in that direction. Needless to say Zeek and I brought up the rear at a considerable distance as the odorlessness of our buddies was almost more than we could bear. After about a half hour in the river the smell and defecation was some what removed.

About that time in our youth we gave up tipping over out houses. Kind of a stinking shame to have come to such ends however.

Let's hope that our T. P'ing kids do not graduate to some other type of mischief but let's also remember our youth and some of the wonderful stinking memories that we have.

To the Editor:

I am a member of The Seniors Coalition and I oppose the Clinton tax on Social Security. I have written my U.S. Senators and my Congressman urging them to sign The Seniors Coalition "CONGRESSIONAL PLEDGE" that says:

"I Pledge to Oppose Any New Taxes or Cuts in Social Security."

I would like you to write a story informing your readers whether our representatives have signed this important PLEDGE to Seniors. Social Security is not adding to the federal deficit - it's running a surplus. It's unfair to balance the budget on the backs of seniors. ### Dear Mr. Emory,

I just wanted to express the thanks of both my Pastor and myself on your journalistic integrity. I recently read your Editorial of February 18th and was thankful that a small town newspaper maintains such high standards of ethics.

I was so impressed by your integrity that I read the article to our congregation at the Wednesday night service. They too were impressed by your journalism.

Thank you again for being a "journalist" that reports news.

Doctors at the Ann Arbor Department of Veterans Affairs Medical Center are looking for male veterans age 45-80 with symptoms of Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia (BPH) to participate in a VA sponsored research program examining the effectiveness of medical treatment for benign prostate enlargement.

BPH is a noncancerous enlargement of the prostate gland that develops in the aging male population. Fifty percent of all men will experience some evidence of BPH by age 60.

Until recently, treatment of BPH usually involved surgery, however, new medications issued to treat BPH help relieve symptoms so that surgery can be eliminated or at least postponed. This research study involved thirty VA Medical Centers across the country. At the Ann Arbor VA Medical Center, this study is conducted under the direction of Dr. Gary Faerber the Urology Section, Ann Arbor VA Hospital.

Volunteers with symptoms of BPH, including those who have not received care at a VA facility in the past, are encouraged to call Glenda Knight at 313-769-7100, beeper 274.

Lions Club Promote White Cane Week

Over 20,000 Michigan Lions, members of the International Association of Lions Clubs, will be soliciting donations between April 23 and May 2, 1993. Governor John Engler has proclaimed this ten-day period as "WHITE CANE WEEK" in Michigan.

The Lions will be seeking public support of their many sight conservation projects. Major projects of the Lions of Michigan include: Leader Dogs for the Blind in Rochester; Michigan Eye Bank and Transplantation Center in Ann Arbor; and Welcome Home for the Blind (a home for the elderly blind) in Grand Rapids.

The Lions also support many community projects with the funds they collect during White Cane Week. Funding for eye examinations and eyeglasses for the needy is an important service provided by many Lions Clubs.

The "White Cane Law" states that drivers of vehicles shall take all necessary precautions when approaching a crosswalk, or any other pedestrian crossing, to avoid accident or injury to a blind person carrying a cane or being led by a dog guide in harness. Public Accommodation Laws require that all public facilities must permit a blind person being led by a dog guide in harness to enter and use such premises.

Fiesta Spain Participant

Lindsay Jacob is a 13-year-old seventh grader at Nellie Ackerson Middle School. Her favorite subject is English. Lindsay would like to be a medical therapist when she grows up. She has lived in Manchester all of her life with her father and mother, Lyle and Linda, and her sister Lesley.

Lindsay's favorite food is tacos. Since there is no Taco Bell in Manchester, her favorite place to eat in town is Frank's.

Going places with her friends is one of Lindsay's preferred after-school activities. She also enjoys calling her friends on the phone and reading. Animals are another of Lindsay's interests.

Lindsay has enjoyed dancing for 10 years. She takes tap, ballet and pointe classes. She especially enjoys learning new steps and dances.

Traveling to Spain will provide a "good opportunity to learn about Spanish culture and Spanish dance" according to Lindsay. She also feels this adventure will offer her the chance to learn more of the Spanish language.

Lindsay's mother will be accompanying her on her trip. Lindsay's only concern is flying across the Atlantic Ocean. When she gets there, however, she looks forward to shopping with her friends and sending post-cards home to other friends.

The first is immediately posted and the 2nd relieves the first, the 3rd, the second, and the first comes on again, each relief standing two hours and off four, day and night except in cases of extreme severity in the weather when it is sometimes deemed expedient to relieve them oftener.

On the present occasion thirty men were detailed from each of our four present regiments, the 79th being slightly detached, making 120 men which were afterward reduced to less than 100.

Everything passed off about as ordinary till night when by the human efforts of the officer of the guard, they were all allowed to go to their quarters to spend the night and were ordered to report at seven in the morning.

In the morning they were a little tardy and I was obliged to hunt them up and in consequence was a little behind time, but the relief, once all together, I started to put them on, sending a corporal one way with one half of the relief and going the other way with the remainder myself; and in my haste neglecting to take my gun, as is customary on such occasions. As I arrived opposite Gen. Poe's headquarters I saw him coming from towards town, and before I passed he hailed and I halted and saluted, when he ordered me under arrest for posting a relief without having a gun myself. Not that the guard was any less effectual, but I had simply violated a military custom that has been disregarded hundreds of times before without injury to the service, either. So I reported back to the officer of the guard and then went home, and he sent the relief forward in charge of one of the men.

Well that was all of that. I lay in my tent two or three days, off duty, without being guarded, when by the efforts of Capt. Allen I was released and resumed my position in the company, having taken my tour at a game that has been played quite extensively with us of late, and it is now somewhat refreshing to reflect that while Capt. Dodge, Capt. Warner and quite a number of Lieuts. were arrested by order of Col. Williams, a person of my rank and importance required the notice of the Commanding Gen. But I've expatiated on that about enough.

BABY ON BOARD!!

The excitement of a new addition to the family tends to make everybody act a little silly. Dad starts making those funny baby noises when no one else is looking.

INFANT seats protect children who weigh under 20 pounds. They are placed in a vehicle in a rear-facing position, to allow a babies' back to absorb the force of a crash.

TODDLER seats are designed for the child who weighs between 20-40 pounds, and who can sit up without assistance.

There are four different types of toddler seats, which vary according to harnesses or shields. They provide crash protection in such a way that the force of a crash is spread over a large area of the body.

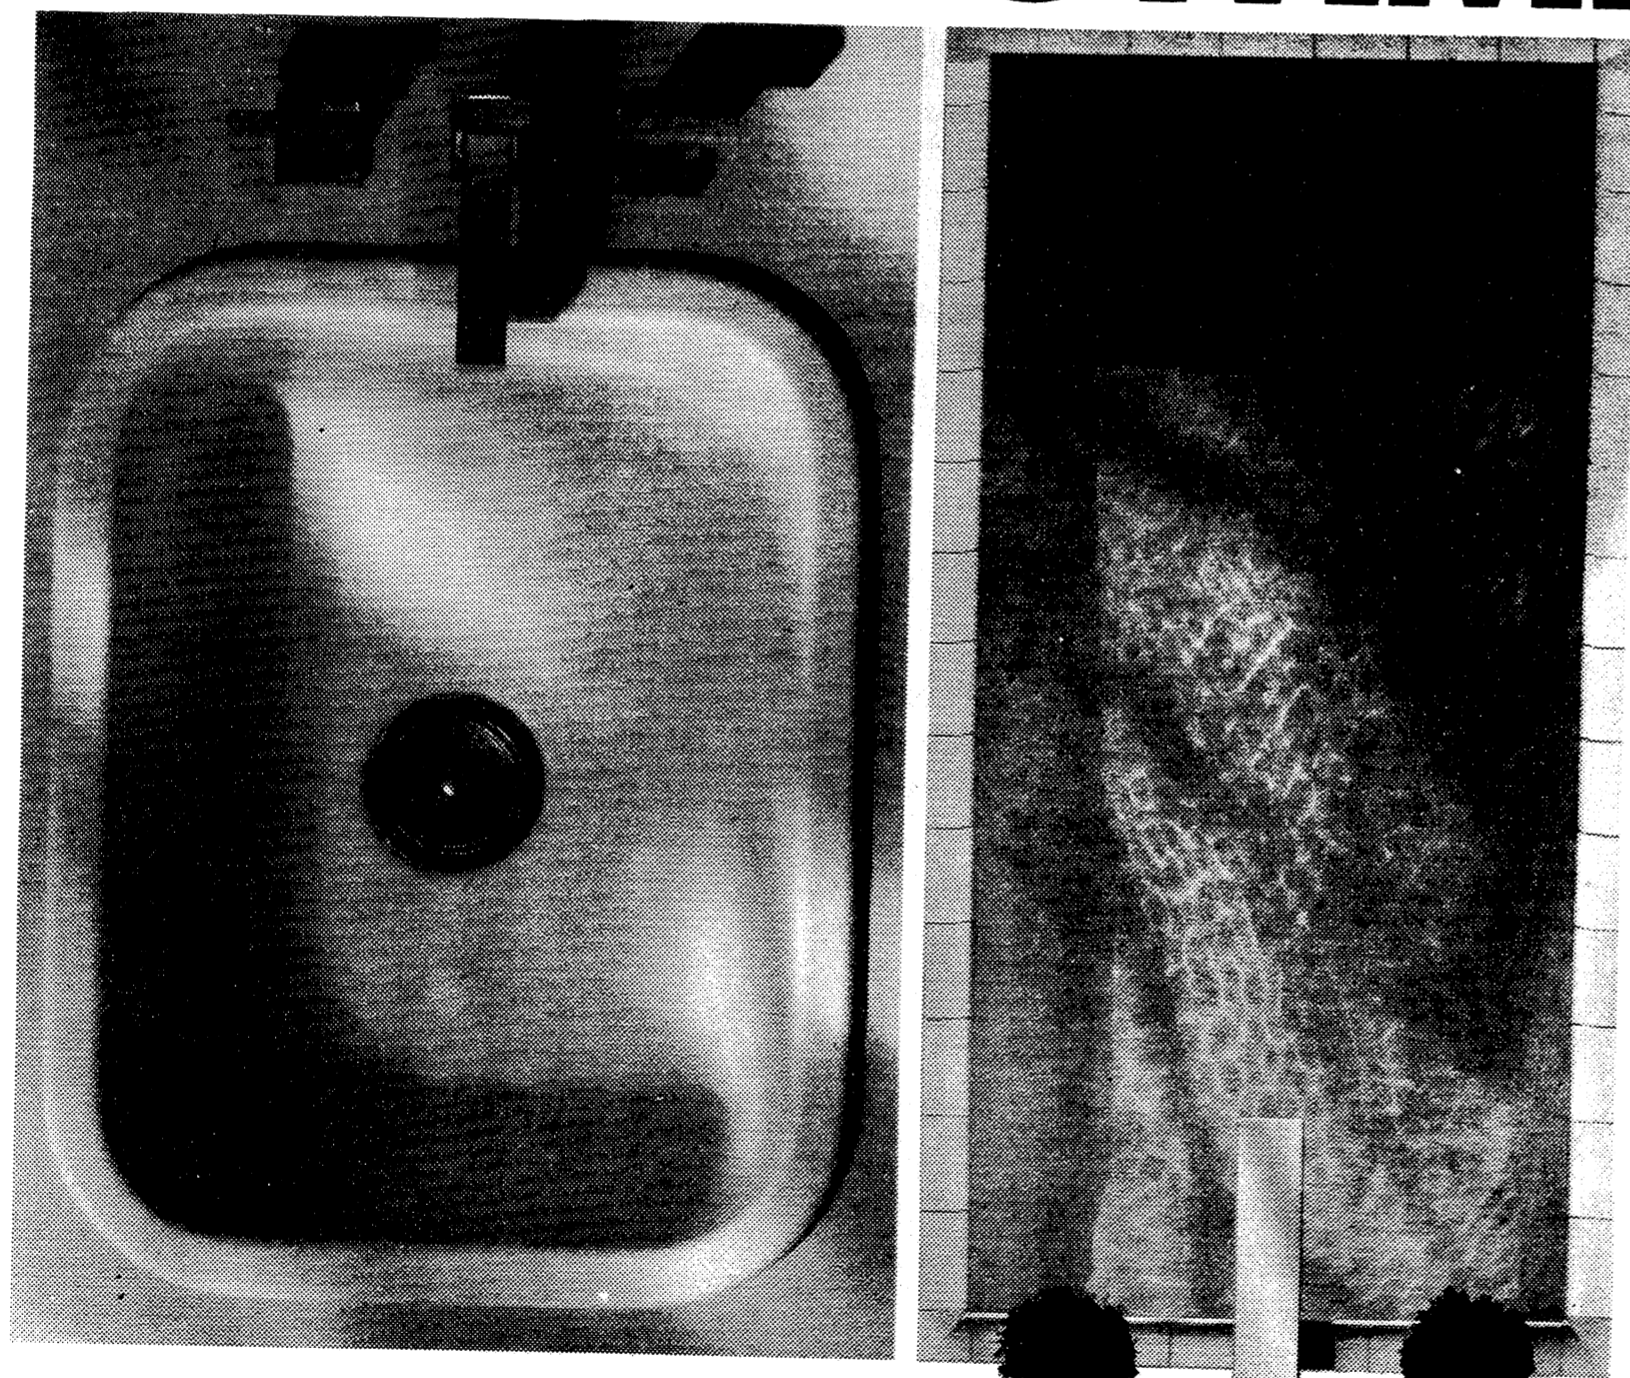

Convertible seats have a reclined style, which allow them to be used for an infant, or they may be moved into a more upright position for a small toddler.

It is vital to buckle your children up. During a 30 m.p.h. crash, an unrestrained child will hit the dashboard or windshield with force equal to that of a fall from a three-story building.

Take the time to choose the right seat - be safe with a baby on board!

Deputy and Community Work Together For Youth

— Marsha Johnson Chartrand

"The number one cause of death for the 16-21 year olds in this country is alcohol-related car crashes," according to Deputy Jon Scicluna.

"Although overall the statistics on drinking and driving have improved over the past few years, the numbers for young people have not declined proportionately with the rest of the population."

The mission of the Youth Impaired Driving Program is stated as: "To provide leadership for our community, to prevent unlawful activity, ensure individual rights, and promote a safe and secure environment."

Washtenaw County is one of five Michigan counties selected by the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning for a three-year project funded by a grant from the National Highway Traffic Safety Association (NHTSA).

Deputy Scicluna feels that it is especially important for Washtenaw County to target youth alcohol abuse because this age group is over-represented due to the large number of college students living here.

"We are trying to make a lot of 'little hits' here," said Scicluna. "We will be using a lot of enforcement techniques such as saturated patrols, but the unique element in this project is the community component."

"Whatever it takes to send a strong message, we will do it... We want the kids to have a memorable, enjoyable and safe prom or graduation night."

The "little hits" he's talking about are happening even now. Two weeks ago, Manchester 7-12th graders attended a highly professional presentation by Mississippi State Trooper Pete Collins.

Another little hit will be in the area of party store stings. Scicluna talked of taking a teenager on an eight-hour shift one evening. Only a few party stores refused to sell beer to the youth.

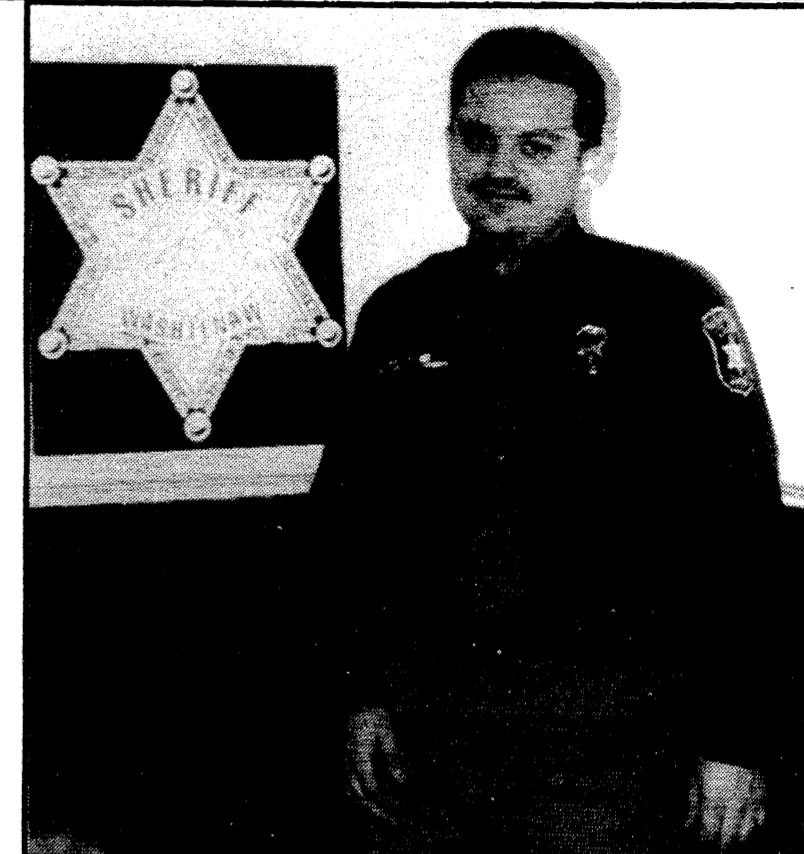

Community coalitions across the county are part of the uniqueness of the project. In Manchester, this coalition is being coordinated by the Community Resource Center.

and consider all the issues is the important factor.

Multi-agency enforcement teams add clout to the saturated patrols planned for prom/graduation season this year in the county. All of the law enforcement agencies in Washtenaw County are cooperating with the Youth Impaired Driving Program.

"Whatever it takes to send a strong message, we will do it," indicates Scicluna. "We want the kids to have a memorable, enjoyable and safe prom or graduation night."

"The changes will be small at first. We intend to start the snowball rolling and to get teens and parents thinking about the issues." While it would be nice to think that when the three-year grant project is over, that Washtenaw County will no longer have a drinking-and-driving problem among the youth, that is unrealistic. But the inroads need to start somewhere. As it becomes more difficult for young people to acquire alcohol from retailers, parties, and even at the local 4th of July picnic, the message will get through.

Deputy Scicluna is not a stranger to Manchester. For two years he taught D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) to fourth graders here. To those kids he is "Deputy Jon", and they learned their lessons well.

"What are we supposed to do on prom night if we can't drink?" "What do you mean the hotels won't rent rooms to high school kids? That's discrimination!"

"It is frustrating dealing with these comments," admits Scicluna. But he understands where the kids are coming from, and he knows it's important to keep making those "little hits", one at a time.

Kids are kids — Manchester kids are no different from kids in Ypsilanti, Ft. Lauderdale or Los Angeles when it comes to their societal attitudes about alcohol. The solutions will vary from place to place and that's where the community support comes in.
