Amy Gall Celebrity Bat Girl

Twelve-year-old Amy Gall of Manchester, was the Milk Duds Celebrity Bat Girl at the Detroit Tigers game on July 4. She is pictured above with Detroit Tiger, Milt Cuyler.

Twelve-year-old Amy Gall of Manchester won a special sweepstakes that entitled her to be the Milk Duds Celebrity Bat Girl for the Detroit Tigers game on July 4th versus the Texas Rangers.

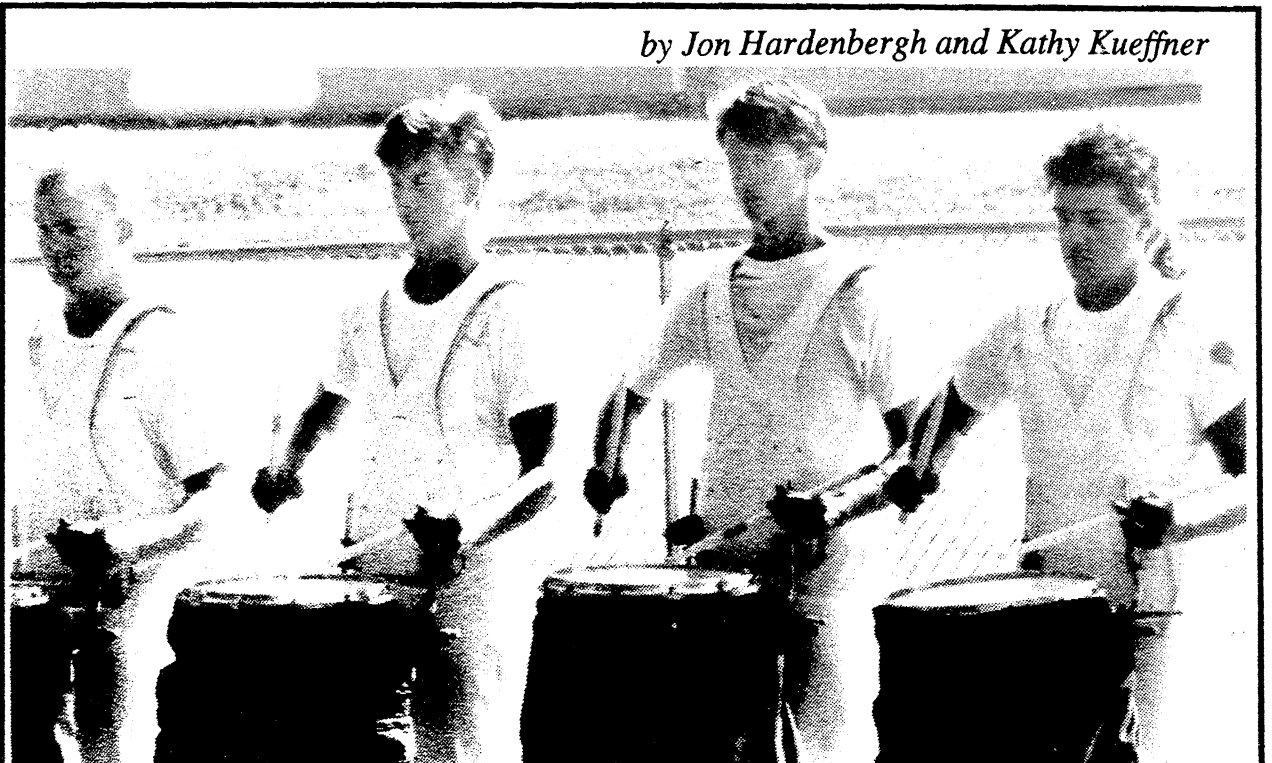

As the Milk Duds Celebrity Bat Girl, Amy went on field prior to the game for an 'up close and personal' look at batting practice. This VIP Tigers experience included a photo with a Detroit Tigers player and recognition through a scoreboard and public address announcement. Amy also received a host of Tigers souvenirs including a jersey, bat, ball, certificate and autographs from some of the players. She then rejoined her friends and family in complimentary box seats for the game.

Amy, a seventh grader at Manchester Middle School, plays softball for the Manchester Flying Dutchmen in the 11/12-year-old Columbia Major League. Her favorite Tiger player is Kirk Gibson. Aside from baseball, Amy enjoys playing basketball and volleyball. Her other interests include playing the piano, computers and swimming.

Crown calls MHS home for awhile

by Jon Hardenbergh and Kathy Kueffner

Who were all those young people in town Saturday afternoon, sampling the desserts at Corky D's, enjoying a Dairy Queen treat, buying post cards at Jon's Photo Shop, walking around, window shopping...?

They were members of the Carolina Crown Drum and Bugle Corp participating in the Drum Corps International Preview of Champions at Eastern Michigan University's Rynearson Stadium.

The 80-plus member corps and their volunteer directors and parents were housed for the duration of their stay in the Manchester High School gym.

Unfortunately, we did not receive the official press release about them until after The Enterprise went to press last week, but some area residents were able to listen to members of the Carolina Crown practice on the lawn of the high school, and see some of their routines with mags and parade rifles.

Kelly, the daughter of Diana and Doug Parr, is a member of Manchester's Flying Equestrians 4-H Club. See additional pictures elsewhere in this paper. From The Ground Up

—by BG

When planning your vegetable or flower garden, consider the grouping of plants - not just individual plants.

Companion planting usually refers to the practice of combining two plants as an aid to pest control. Some examples are planting tomatoes and dill together, the dill being more attractive to the tomato hornworm and putting radishes with onions, the radish playing the host to the onion maggot. In each case, the decoy plant and its pest can be destroyed.

Other companion plants are used to repel diseases and pests. Marigolds can be planted next to tomatoes, eggplants or potatoes to discourage soil nematodes. Chives and garlic might repel aphids from neighboring plants.

For many years, sweet corn and pumpkins have been planted together. After the corn, growing vertically, has been picked, the pumpkins, growing horizontally, will have the chance to ripen.

One, two, whatever you do, Start it well and carry it through.

Other plant combinations are used to conceal fading foliage of earlier flowers. Perennial Baby Breath which when planted next to tulips will conceal the unsightly leaves that should not be removed. This combination would not work with daffodils because daffodils, unlike tulips, might divide after a few years and Baby Breath does not take kindly to being disturbed.

Clematis does well with a bulky plant, such as a Daylily or Phlox growing in front of it to keeps its roots cool while the flowering portion can enjoy the sunshine.

If strong prevailing winds are a problem, consider the more rigid plant on the windward side of a weaker-stemmed plant.

Some combinations are for beauty. We all enjoy roses and delphiniums planted together for the harmony of color, texture and shape.

If our readers have any gardening questions, please send them to "BG" care of The Enterprise, 109 E. Main St., P.O. Box 37, Manchester, MI 48158, or give us a call (428-8173) and your questions will be answered in this column.

Labeling of BST Milk Not Supported By Scientific Evidence

—Agrinotes and News Michigan Farm Bureau Information & Public Relations Division

Labeling of milk from cows receiving supplements of bovine somatotropin (BST) would raise unfounded food safety fears to the detriment of consumers and producers, according to the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"Based on the many studies and large amount of research that has been done, it is obvious that labeling of milk from cows receiving supplemental BST will not provide information on health or nutrition, since their milk and milk products are indistinguishable from any other milk or milk products," said Al Almy, director of public affairs for Michigan Farm Bureau.

"Raising unfounded food safety fears should never be the role of government regulatory activity. If the Food and Drug Administration requires any labeling regarding BST, the agency would be creating a standard that is not scientifically verifiable."

Almy said Farm Bureau has no direct policy interest either pro or con in the approval of BST. "Farm Bureau policy, however, does support the development and acceptance of new technology as long as it does not lessen the quality of the product and is found to be safe for humans, animals and the environment," he said.

Almy said that labeling mandated according to how a product is produced, rather than on its safety for humans and animals, would set a confusing precedent.

For more information, call Al Almy at 517-323-7000, ext. 2040; or dairy specialist Kevin Kirk at ext. 2024.

Second Front Page: Ecosystems and Snares

—Kathy Kueffner

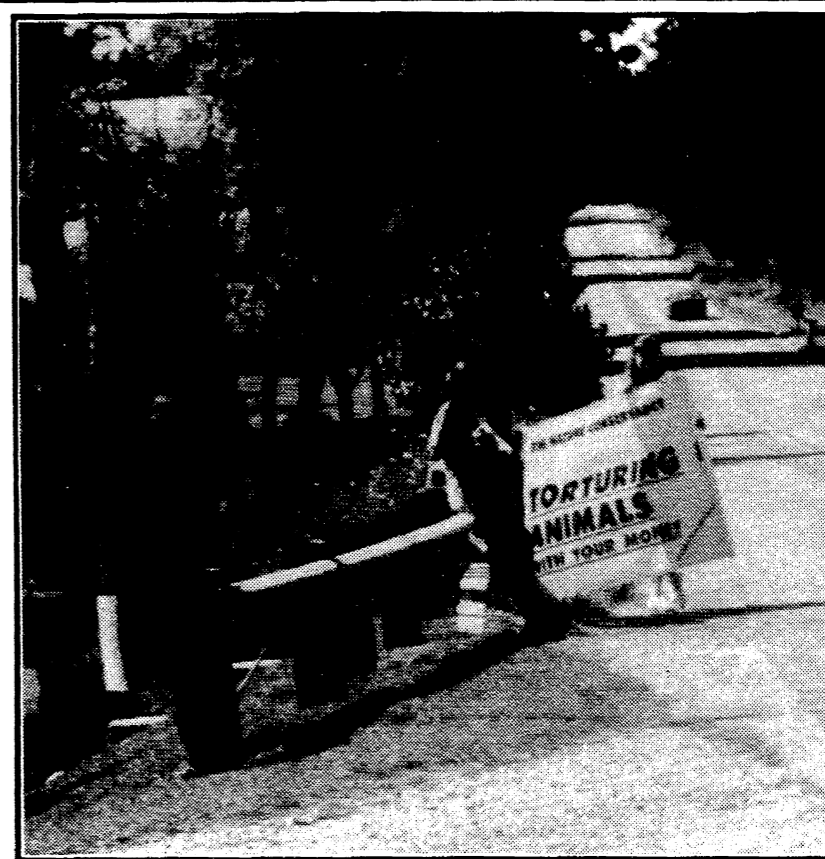

Pigs live in "Jurassic Park". And, so do endangered plant species and a fragile ecosystem. That's the problem.

Parts of Jurassic Park were filmed in Hawaii and if you've seen the movie you can imagine the lush tropical setting on these islands where this particular controversy is taking place. It was brought to our attention last weekend.

The annual meeting of The Nature Conservancy, an organization which protects endangered plant and animal species on preserves, was held in Manchester Saturday at the Sharon Mills Winery and as members drove into the parking lot they passed PETA people holding a banner that read: "The Nature Conservancy - Torturing animals with your money." PETA is "People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals."

Pigs and goats were introduced to the Hawaiian islands by Europeans and Asians who used them for food. Some escaped and became feral, thrived and multiplied in an environment where they had no natural enemies. The Nature Conservancy and the Hawaii Department of Land & Natural Resources maintain that feral animals are a major cause of forest destruction, exposing fragile soils, causing rapid erosion, damaging the watershed and silting over the reefs.

In an open letter, Alan Holt, Director, Science and Stewardship of The Nature Conservancy, states that Hawaii is a global priority in the struggle to save the planet's biological treasures from extinction. Pigs and goats are invading the last most remote native forests where many of the rarest species survive.

At first the primary control method used by The Nature Conservancy was hunting, but as the wild animals retreated from the immediate perimeter of the preserves (e.g. within 2 hours hike from a road), the safety of the hunters became a major concern and deemed impractical in remote, rugged areas.

Live trapping was dismissed by The Conservancy they said because the pigs' food supply was plentiful and therefore they were not attracted to trap baits.

While the use of contraceptives may be theoretically an option, getting close enough to a 200-pound wild and potentially dangerous pig to administer an injection does not seem feasible.

Snares are used because they are the most practical, aggressive, cost-effective means of eliminating feral destroyers of endangered plant species and native habitats for ground-nesting birds and other Hawaiian island species.

If you would like further information or would like to offer suggestions, The Nature Conservancy (John Sawhill, president) can be reached at 1815 N. Lynn St., Arlington, VA 22209, FAX: 703-841-8796. The Hawaii Dept of Land & Natural Resources can be reached through The Hon. John D. Waihee, III, Governor, Executive Chambers, State Capitol, Honolulu, HI 96813, telephone 808-586-0034; FAX: 808-586-0006.

But if they must be removed than the most humane methods of removal must be pursued to minimize the suffering caused.

Snaring is torture, states PETA. In a case summary provided by PETA, the gruesome death was described: The more the animal struggles, the more the metal snare cuts into the skin. Bleeding attracts flies which lay eggs in the wound, resulting in maggots which swarm over the animal entering ears, mouth, nostrils, eyes...the torture goes on until the animal dies of starvation, dehydration and infection.

The snares, set in remote areas, are only able to be checked every four to six months.

It is not best that we should all think alike; it is difference of opinion which makes horse races. —Mark Twain

And, snares are not selective: snares trap not only pigs, goats and deer but other animals and even native species of flightless birds.

In a "Position Statement" from John L. Mayer, PhD and I. Lehr Brisbin, Jr., PhD, Savannah River Ecology Laboratory and Institute of Ecology University of Georgia, they state that the availability of numerous alternative methods for feral pig removal removes the credibility that would justify snares.

Nedim C. Buyukmihci, V.M.D., Associate Professor of Ophthalmology, University of California, believes "strongly that a rational case could be made for human encroachment as being a more substantial problem than that created by the nonhuman animals."

Ironically, lethal methods will have little lasting effect unless they completely remove the species in question. (Mother Nature will see to it that reproductive performance will be increased by the survivors.)

The address for PETA is P.O. Box 42516, Washington DC 20015; telephone (301)770-PETA; FAX: 301-770-8969 (David Cantor, Senior Researcher, Research & Investigations Dept., Ext. 338)

Editorial / Opinion

The following letter to the editor was sent to us unsigned but it raised some questions that probably need answering. The letter has been slightly edited.

I found the winner of the pet contest very interesting. Isn't it odd that the child is the son of the brother of the friend of the editor/publisher, not to mention he's two years old so I'm sure his parents actually won the award when the contest was for children.

The contest was not just for children, we had entries from all age groups, senior citizens, teenagers, down to two-year-old children. And the judges felt they could NOT choose an entry because that entry was a relative of a friend of someone from the paper. The judges felt that a chicken named "Star" and the unique way the story was presented deserved a special mention.

(the letter continues) I have noticed over the last few months, pictures of your employees' children. Let's treat this publication as a hometown newspaper and not a family newsletter. All residents deserve equal treatment.

Wow, are we glad someone said something. We beg and plead for news and photos from the community. This is YOUR community newspaper, the very place to applaud your children's achievements, to recognize special occasions, to inform us of something going on that we need to publicize -- to tell us about your summer vacation even. We want to publish stories that youngsters in the community write, perhaps start them off in a career in writing or reporting.

If we write about our children we do it in a context, hopefully, that includes other children in that particular group, (e.g. scouts or Little League) because we are at that particular event. In next week's edition of The Enterprise we hope to receive results of the Washtenaw County 4-H Youth Fair - and pictures - from club leaders and club members.

Please help us make this a great community newspaper for you!

Parents, Watch For Recalls

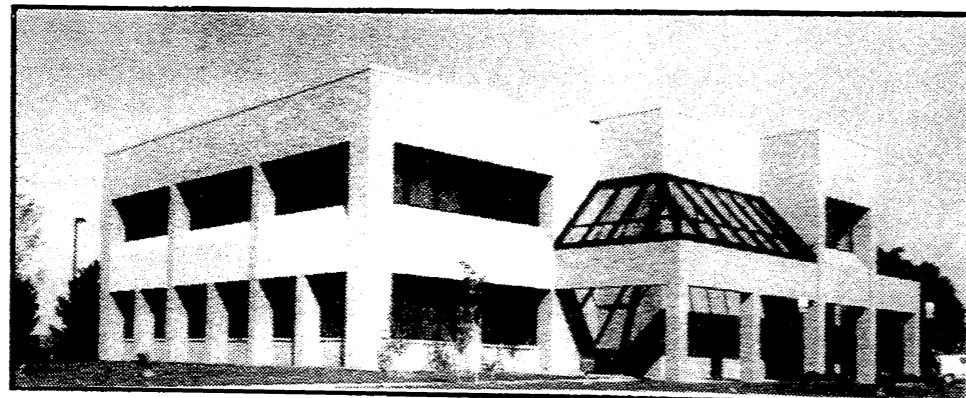

There are many child restraint seats on the market that have been recalled in the last six months to a year. Currently, there are 13 seats manufactured between 1987-1991 that are defective in one way or another. Parents need to be aware of these recalls in order to keep their children safe.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) has announced that response to child safety seat recalls has been poor. The agency said that many owners don't realize the importance of correcting such minor problems, but it is vital to the safety of the child. All manufacturers of recalled safety seats offer free repair kits to correct these problems. NHTSA encourages parents who have questions about the safety recalls to call their free Auto Safety Hotline at 1-800-424-9393.

THE HEAT IS ON

The summer of '93 has definitely been a cooker as the months go by, but 90-degree temperatures don't compare to the heat Michigan law enforcement officers are creating to encourage Michigan motorists to buckle up.

In 1991, over 60,000 tickets were issued in Michigan to people who were not buckled up. If you are pulled over for any reason and not buckled up, your chances of being ticketed for not wearing a seat belt are very good.

So don't get "cooked" this summer - protect yourself with sunscreen, lots of liquids, and your seat belt. Live to see another summer - buckle up!

Summer Camp Memories

— Bill Kwolek

Summer camp can etch memories linking us to a youthful adventure which all generations enjoy. This year, Wright's Lake Scout Reservation, just west of Clare, hosted the traditional summer camp.

Manchester Troop 426 leaders, Dave Roberts, David Goodrich and Skip Slocum, along with Eagle Alumni Jeff Hughes and Eric Anderson, accompanied nine scouts. The 1993 Wolverine Council program attracted more than 150 youth in the last week of July.

Our boys had the opportunity to focus on rank advancement and earn a variety of merit badges. The older scouts participated in more intensive programs such as COPE, emphasizing physical fitness and Eagle's Nest, geared to honing pioneering skills.

Wright's Lake has excellent facilities and plenty of counselors to assist the boys in aquatics, archery, rifle and shotgun shooting, nature study and camping. Our own David Goodrich was invited to demonstrate blacksmithing skills.

We hope the boys will enjoy reflections of vigorous days, campfires beneath twilight skies, the contraction of nightfall, and camaraderie.

August 7th Road Rally to benefit Purple Rose Theatre

The first annual Road Rally to benefit the Purple Rose Theatre Company will occur on Saturday, August 7 1993.

A road rally is a fun adventure using an automobile to collect and solve the clues. Time and speed are not factors in this contest, rather problem solving skills will determine the winners.

This rally will be mainly in Western Washtenaw County and depending on the expertise of the participants, take 2-4 hours.

The rally will start at 12 noon at the Chelsea Fairgrounds on Old US-12, just west of Main Street. Two to six people will be on a team with most teams consisting of four people. You are encouraged to form your own team and corporate teams are welcome.

The first place team will receive a $1000 prize which has been donated through local businesses. All proceeds will benefit the Purple Rose Theatre Company, a not-for-profit theatre in Chelsea founded by Jeff Daniels.

Reservations for the Road Rally are limited and participants are encouraged to register in advance.

For more information or to sign up your road rally team, please call (313) 475-0802, Monday through Friday between 10:00 AM and 5:00 PM.

COME TO CHURCH I have asked many people who never attend church: "How would you like it if we had no churches at all in America?" I have yet to find one who relishes the idea. My next question: "If everybody attended and supported the church like you do, what kind of churches would we have in America?" Soul searching? It should be! Please ponder the following words:

I am your church...I am here because you erected me. I am beautifully situated in your midst, in the center of your community. I will be a cherished landmark to the thousands who will come to my doors in the coming years...You built me because you know that your life would be incomplete...that it would not be full without me.

I am your church...But I am not here simply to adorn; I am here to serve...Your children and growing youth come to me to be taught the ways of honesty, industry, morality and religion...Your brides and grooms come to my altar that their wedlock may be hallowed and sweetened by Divine blessing.

I am your church...I comfort your sick and sorrowing; I bury your dead; and offer rest and solace to the weary...pardon and peace are my boon to the sin-burdened soul, and my message brings new life...to the aged I give courage and quiet and cause their children to call me blessed. Truly I am a haven of rest for weary souls...who can come to my doors and find release from the pressures of life.

I am your church...My doors swing open to all rich, poor, bond and free...My pulpit rings out the message of good will to people of peace and pardon and a Savior's love to all...I teach you the way of life, and guide you on the road to heaven. I am your church...Come and worship with me, and support me, and I will serve you all your days. Come and worship every Sunday; be at the center of the church fellowship, where continual recreation can take place in heart, mind and home.

The Michigan Freedom Academy is an annual gathering of more than 100 of Michigan's future leaders discussing and learning more about freedom. The Academy has four primary objectives: 1) promote a sense of patriotism, 2) further the desire to lead, 3) enhance one's appreciation of freedom, and 4) better understand civic responsibility.

Speakers this year included The Adjutant General of Michigan Major General E. Gordon Stump, Russian exchange student Nickolay Budarin, and Lansing businessman Joel Ferguson.

Jodi Armentrout Selected for Freedom Academy

Jodi Armentrout, daughter of Tim and Joyce Armentrout of Manchester, participated in the tenth annual Michigan Freedom Academy at Phelps Collins Air National Guard Base in Alpena, Michigan from July 18 to July 23.

Attendance this year was a record 124 students. These high school students have just completed their junior year, have at least a 3.0 grade point average, and are active in student leadership and extracurricular activities. Many attendees are seeking nominations to one of the five military service academies.

Students are divided into small groups and are led by counselors who are often Freedom Academy alumni. Activities included group discussions, formal presentations, speech contests, social hours, and a raft race on Thunder Bay. The goal of the Academy is to provide perspectives on freedom as well as have fun.

About being selected to attend Freedom Academy, Jodi said she felt that this was "a unique opportunity to learn more about the freedom our country has fought for."

It's nearly canning time, can you remember helping your Mom? Mine began putting her famous cassia bud pickles in jars in the late '30's and I often wondered why so many? These were good times in memory, but at that time I thought it was one whale of a lot of hard work. Her three inch (or smaller) cucumbers had to be sliced lengthwise in at least eight pieces and that pairing knife seemed glued to my right hand after awhile. We had the best talks while facing each other across over 150 (2 recipes) of those little green things. I've heard others tell about the closeness in talks between moms and daughters while washing dishes, and they're right. No television to distract us and others kept completely away from the action. She made many trips to sick folks and friends with a jar of pickles over the coming months

—T. V. Ludwick
'til it was time to do it all over again. It takes two-- just lifting that copper boiler which she canned from (to color the pickles Paris green), had me wondering why we had to be so fussy. You know, I do the job the same way and am quite fussy about it. Thank God for Moms.

Activities are on a slowdown right now for our seniors, so I'll go and leave you to your canning.

Legislation in Progress

—from Ultra-The Daily Telegram, July 1993

Support is needed on legislation now moving through the process in Michigan that will affect senior citizens.

The house has recently passed HB 4001, a bill that will prevent low-income senior citizens from losing their homes for non-payment of property taxes. This legislation will help older adults remain in their homes as long as possible. The property taxes will be recouped from the estate when the property is no longer needed by the older adult.

The House of Representatives has passed HB 4012 and 4013. These bills require the state to allocate whatever is remaining from the $20 million provided each year to the Senior Drug Credit Program to be placed for use in the Michigan Emergency Pharmaceutical Program for Seniors (MEPPS). Both of these bills need to be passed in the Senate to become effective. Unless the legislature acts, the unused funds will revert to the state general fund and not to MEPPS where it is desperately needed. You may direct your mail for state legislators to State Senator/Representative (name), State Capitol, Lansing, MI 48913.

Apprentice Program at Purple Rose

The Purple Rose Theatre Company, operating under an Equity SPT contract, will continue its apprentice program for various theatre positions during the upcoming 1993-94 season of productions. The apprentice program, which started on September 1, 1992, is due to the growth and success achieved by the Purple Rose Theatre Company since starting operations in January, 1991.

The Purple Rose Theatre Company Apprentice Program will be geared for individuals to gain hands-on experience in technical theatre, production and arts management.

According to Artistic Director T. Newell Kring, "The Apprentice Program gives the Purple Rose Theatre Company another way of offering employment and educational opportunities for members of the Michigan arts community."

"As a regional theatre exceeding our early expectations, this will also allow us to increase our support staff in order to handle the added responsibilities of our productions and educational programs."

Founded by Jeff Daniels in January, 1991, the Purple Rose Theatre Company has produced ten different productions which have drawn over 44,000 people to the intimate 119-seat theatre in Chelsea. During the last eighteen months, the Purple Rose Theatre Company has offered acting classes, Alexander movement classes and a Playwright Unit utilizing seven Michigan playwrights. The upcoming schedule of four plays for the 1993-94 season and additional information about future classes and workshops will be announced in August.

The 1993-94 season at the Purple Rose Theatre Company will need four apprentices for all aspects of theatre production and arts administration. The apprentice positions will be full-time positions that will include day, evening and weekend hours. Applicants should have a general knowledge of theatre, college-level theatre experience and excellent organizational skills. In return, they will receive a focused and intensive introduction to the working methods of a professional theatre company.

Apprentices will gain experience and opportunities to work in the following areas: Scenic construction, lighting, sound, props, stage management, production management, house management, box office, marketing and set and theatre maintenance. Apprentices will be paid a weekly stipend and may also earn membership points in the Equity Membership Candidate program.

Resumes and cover letters for those interested in the Purple Rose Theatre Company Apprentice Program should be sent to T. Newell Kring, The Purple Rose Theatre Company, P.O. Box 220, Chelsea, MI 48118.

Massey Ferguson Leads World Tractor Market

Steve Kuebler of S-K Sales in Manchester said 1992 industry results verify that Massey Ferguson continued its record-setting role as the best selling tractor brand in western world markets.

"This is the 30th consecutive year Massey Ferguson has earned this leadership position," confirmed Graeme Leonard, Vice President, Massey Ferguson North American Operations, "and preliminary figures for last year show the company maintained its lead in world tractor sales, outstripping its nearest rival by more than 40 per cent."

In a harsh global environment of shrinking markets and intensified competition in 1992, total industry sales of tractors in the world outside the former USSR and Eastern Europe territories fell about 2.5 per cent from 1991 levels. By contrast, Massey Ferguson succeeded in offsetting the industry decline, increasing its sales approximately 6.5 per cent. In 1993, Massey Ferguson is also marking the 75th anniversary of the start of its tractor production; the 60th anniversary of Harry Ferguson's first prototype Ferguson System tractor (now in the Science Museum, London); and the 40th anniversary of the merger between Harry Ferguson and Massey-Harris to form the basis of the present-day Massey Ferguson group. Massey Ferguson markets tractors, implements, combines and haying equipment in 160 countries of the world through more than 5,000 dealers and distributors.

Car ownership in the United States is at an all-time high of 57 million. Cats have surpassed dogs in America's homes since 1987. The cat's independent nature has made it the ideal pet for today's busy families. Their adaptability to living indoors is perfect for urban lifestyles and for people who work long hours or unusual schedules. Unfortunately, these same endearing traits that have increased the cat's popularity have also added to the overpopulation crisis. Though our day-to-day goal at HSHV is to find as many good homes as possible for the cats in our care, the only long-term solution is to reduce the number of cats being born. As concerned pet owners we may not view ourselves as part of the problem, but we have a collective responsibility to be a part of the solution. Encourage your family, friends and acquaintances to have their cats sterilized.

Said hearing will be held on Monday, August 16, 1993, at 7:30 p.m. at the Manchester Township Hall, 275 South Macomb St., Manchester, Michigan, 48158.

Notice of Public Hearing on Increasing Property Taxes

The BOARD OF TRUSTEES of the TOWNSHIP OF MANCHESTER will hold a public hearing on a proposed increase of 0.0131 mills in the operating tax millage rate to be levied in 1993.

The hearing will be held on Tuesday, August 9, 1993 at 7:30 p.m. at Manchester Township Hall 275 S. Macomb St.

The date and location of the meeting to take action of the proposed additional millage will be announced at this public meeting.

If adopted, the proposed additional millage will increase operating revenues from ad valorem property taxes 1.31% over such revenues generated by levies permitted without holding a hearing. If the proposed additional millage rate is not approved the operating revenue will increase by 1.3% over the preceding year's operating revenue.

The taxing unit publishing this notice, and identified below, has complete authority to establish the number of mills to be levied from within its authorized millage rate.

This notice is published by:
TOWNSHIP OF MANCHESTER

NOTICE FROM THE MANCHESTER BOARD

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
OF INCREASING
PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on August 16, 1993 at seven forty-five (7:45) o'clock p.m., at Manchester High School, the Board of Education, of Manchester Community Schools will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1993 of an additional proposed millage rate of 1.1859 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 37.5831 mills be levied in 1993 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1993 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by 3 and 26/100 percent (3.26%).

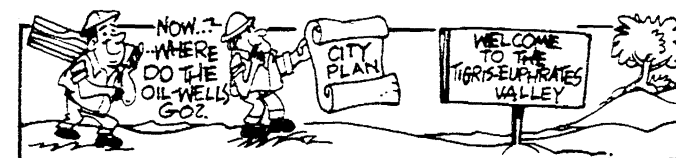

If the additional proposed millage rate is not approved, the school district's revenue for the 1993-1994 fiscal year will be 1 and 91/100 percent (1.91%) higher than the school district's revenue for the immediately preceding fiscal year.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not more than ten (10) days after the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

The Board of Education will take action at the regular Board meeting immediately following the public hearing on August 16, 1993 at 8:00 p.m. at 710 East Main Street, Manchester High School Library.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education, Manchester Community Schools, 710 East Main Street, Manchester, MI 48158. 313/428-9711.

Manchester Community Schools to Conduct Taxation Hearing

The Manchester Board of Education will conduct a public hearing Monday, August 16, 1993 to meet the legal requirement for the annual levy of property taxes. The hearing will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the high school library.

The Board of Education must hold a public hearing prior to officially approving the tax levy when the state equalized valuation (S.E.V.) in the district increases thus generating more revenue than was collected in the previous year.

While the school district has an authorized millage of 40.1336 mills, the Headlee Amendment requires the millage to be rolled back to 37.5831 mills for 1993-94. The Board of Education is authorized by law to levy 37.5831 mills for operating purposes. However, this would generate more revenue than received last year.

Unless the school board conducts a public hearing and approves levying 37.5831 mills, the tax levy would be limited to 36.3972 mills which would only generate revenue equal to last year.

The Board of Education has determined, following a review of estimated operating expenses and revenues, that the additional tax levy of 1.1859 permitted by law is warranted for the coming year. The additional millage rate does not exceed the 37.5831 set by the Headlee Amendment.

Official action on the tax levy is expected at the regular meeting immediately following the public hearing.

Computer CD-ROMs now available at Woodbrook

Woodbrook, your hometown computer store, has a new arrangement with a major distributor of computer CD-ROMs. This agreement allows for Woodbrook to stock many titles, with many more available within one day.

CD ROMs are part of the new options available for computers. A computer CD looks exactly like an audio CD. In fact, audio CDs can be played on your computer, if the computer also has a sound card.

Often, a computer equipped with a CD player also has an optional sound card. This is because many of the CDs also have sound recordings that enhance the value of the entire system. Speakers range from simple plug-in models to more extensive high-quality sets.

Some CDs available for the computer include:

- Patience is a virtue, Virtue is a grace; Both put together Make a very pretty face.

- Encyclopedias - Typically on one CD, the program has an entire encyclopedia, with additional features such as graphics, video, and sound. Lookup and retrieval by subject can be done in a matter of seconds. For example, a search on John F. Kennedy would yield a portrait, a video of him giving his inaugural address, some quick facts, and a several-page narrative on his life. A search on Blue Jay would bring a picture, an audio of the Blue Jays song, and a narrative description of the bird.

- Maps - A CD would contain a street map for the entire US. This would be very useful when planning travel within the country.

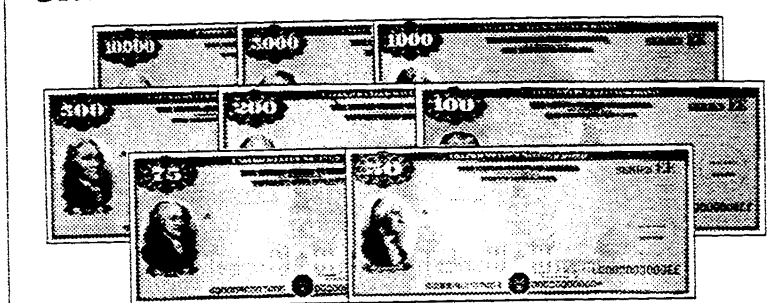

- Atlas - Extensive information is available on every area of the world. This would include history, climate, location, and much more.

- Educational games - Games for all ages are available with very high resolution graphics and sound.

Free Mouth Guards

Student athletes of all ages can get free, customized mouth guards at the U-M School of Dentistry's Mouth Guard Clinic, 9 a.m.-noon August 7.

The University of Michigan School of Dentistry will offer free, customized athletic mouth guards to elementary, junior high, high school and college students in Washtenaw County schools. Fittings will be 9 a.m.-noon August 7 at the Mouth Guard Clinic, third floor, School of Dentistry Building.

The fitting process takes about 10 minutes. The finished guards will be available about two hours after the fitting. No appointments are necessary. Students will be taken "first come, first served," while supplies last. The clinic will be able to make 125 mouth guards.

Ten U-M faculty members, 50 dental students and 10 local dentists will make the protective mouth guards that are required for most student athletes.

"An U-M School of Dentistry study shows that the customized mouth guards are considerably more comfortable than those bought in stores," said William C. Godwin, U-M professor emeritus of dentistry and specialist in sports dentistry. "When we surveyed the men's and women's lacrosse teams at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School, 34 of 36 players preferred the customized mouth guards made at the clinic to those available in stores."

The clinic is funded by a $4,000 grant from Samuel Harris, a U-M dental graduate who practices in Detroit.

For more information, call (313) 763-3363.

Wild Horses Come to St. Louis

On September 11, 1993, 125 healthy and trainable wild horses recently rounded up from fragile western rangelands will be offered for adoption at the Michigan Livestock Exchange, in Saint Louis, Michigan. The adoption is sponsored by the Department of Interior, Bureau of Land Management. Since the Adopt-A-Horse Program began in 1973, over 110,000 animals have been adopted, with over 1,000 in Michigan alone.

Wild horses are gathered in Nevada, Wyoming, California, Utah and Oregon. Before being transported to satellite adoption centers in the East and Midwest, all animals are vaccinated, blood tested and dewormed. Each animal is inspected by a veterinarian and given a clean bill of health before being shipped.

To qualify to adopt up to four animals, applicants must have a sturdy corral at least 6 feet high, shelter, transportation, and means of caring for the animals. The adoption fee of $125 per horse is payable in cash or money order at the time of the adoption. The fee helps defray the Federal Government's cost of roundup, veterinary care, transportation and administrative expenses.

The horses will arrive at the Michigan Livestock Exchange between the hours of 8 a.m. - 10 a.m. on Friday, September 10, with viewing hours from 1 - 5 p.m. The scheduled hours for the adoption will be from 7 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Saturday, September 11 and, if any remain, from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Sunday, September 12.

For applications and more information about this event contact:

Bureau of Land Management, P.O. Box 631, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 53201-0631, or call (414) 297-4417, before September 7.

"Guys & Dolls" Becoming Friends: A Russian Cultural Exhibit

You may have visited the old frontier town, Stagecoach Stop, as do over 100,000 other people every year. You may have witnessed the Main Street shootouts, taken a train ride through an old mining town, admired the thousands of antiques on display, or just relaxed in one of the historic 1800's saloons.

But now you're invited for a dinner and a show. Michigan's most unique dinner theatre, the Footlight Dinner Theatre at Stagecoach Stop USA in the Irish Hills, presents the big Broadway musical "Guys & Dolls", through August 21, Friday and Saturday nights.

The show stars Coni Lyn Hull, 1993 Jackson County Rose Queen, as Sister Sara.

With "all you can eat country beef buffet" and some of Michigan's finest performers, Deon Ojan of Stagecoach Stop USA says, "you won't be disappointed!"

To most Americans, Russia is a land of mystery, fairy tales, and unknown passions. For almost one hundred years, its art, music, culture and entire way of life have been hidden from western eyes until NOW!

With the recent desocialization of the Soviet Union, Russia has generated immense interest in the Western World, with numerous news stories and timely documentaries.

The Russian culture which has sparked our interest will be featured in a 8,000 square foot tent at the Jackson County Fair Sunday, August 8 through Saturday, August 14.

There will be ethnic dancers, folk musicians, and street entertainers to dazzle and delight you with their skills and talents.

A small model of Moscow greets you at the door. Full color murals lead you into the past as wax replicas of Russian historical figures stand poised in various activities.

Walking further into the Russian countryside, you will be greeted by forty animals such as the great Siberian tiger and the majestic golden eagle, all seen in their natural habitat. A brief video provides the view of Russian that few Americans have seen.

In the middle of it all is a 2,800 square foot replica of Red Square with six foot tall walls and St. Basil's Cathedral towering high overhead on massive computer-enhanced murals. These full color panoramas also show Lenin's Tomb, the Kremlin and Gum Department Store.

On Sunday, August 8, the Russian comedian, Yakov Smimoff, will be performing at 7:30 p.m. Yakov will be joined by Russian singers and dancers in the grandstand and the performance is free to the public.

The fiddlers are coming... the fiddlers are coming!!! ...to the Gazebo, this THURSDAY evening, AUGUST 5th, at 7:30 p.m. Sponsored by the Recreation Task Force

What's the Difference Between a Fiddle and a Violin?

The easy answer would be to say, "Fiddles are fun!" Well, now...we don't mean to offend any violin lovers. After all, fiddle music is inclusive rather than exclusive!!

Let's just say that this Thursday, August 5th, at the Gazebo, you can expect to have lots and lots of good old-fashioned fun, being entertained by the "Michigan Fiddlers," a group of talented musicians who will make it clear that fiddle music is truly fun.

Gazebo concerts begin at 7:30 p.m. at the corner of W. Main and S. Macomb. Bring a lawn chair or a blanket and enjoy a summer evening in Manchester—with good company, a charming setting, and the best entertainment around!!

You may find yourself at the vortex of Americana—with all the necessary elements: fiddles, a village green, a gazebo, fireflies, little kids tumbling to the music, and friendly folks to chat with.

Don't miss it!! (In case of rain, the show will definitely go on! The fun will shift to an indoor location. Check the sign on the Gazebo for the indoor location.)

Gazebo concerts are organized by the Recreation Task Force, a group of your friends and neighbors who volunteer their time and talent for the community. For more information, or to help offset the costs of these concerts, contact the Recreation Task Force at 428-7722.

Engler targets locals in fight against drugs Local Agencies and Communities to Get More Resources than Ever Before Governor John Engler announced that Michigan will receive $14 million from the federal government to help fight against illegal drugs and the crimes committed because of illegal drugs.

"We still have far to go in our struggle against the scourge of drugs," Engler said. "But we have a vision and we have a plan. It is not just the sum of money that is important. It is our whole approach to drug abuse. This grant money, combined with our blueprint for a drug-free Michigan, means that our state will be a national leader in getting more money to local agencies and communities."

The Governor emphasized how critically important it is to give local communities every opportunity to set their own priorities based on local needs.

"We must retake our communities house by house, street by street, neighborhood by neighborhood - and make them better, safer places to live. To do so, our local agencies and communities will need all the resources they can get their hands on," Engler said.

The federal grants for anti-drug law enforcement efforts will cover communities all across the state and fund a variety of local activities, including:

- enhancing communities' ability to fight drug abuse at the street level by targeting pushers, crack-houses, and drug gangs that are disrupting neighborhoods;

- putting more police on the beat to patrol neighborhoods, prevent drug dealing and abuse, and help solve community problems;

- increasing funds to help prosecutors and the courts do their job and administer justice to those who break the law; and

- channeling hundreds of thousands of dollars into a number of regional and multi-agency drug teams that will continue to target drug kingpins and mid-level traffickers.

The Governor also announced the administration's "Zero Tolerance Offender Testing and Treatment Initiative, in which every jail and court drug treatment program will test those on parole and probation for drug abuse.

Art, theatre, dance and music program offered for adults also. Plus aerobics, martial arts, Thia-Chi, and many more. Registration begins Friday 8-6. Call 428-8600

What is S.A.V.E.?

S.A.V.E stands for Sex Abuse Victims Everywhere and was formed in March 1993 after the community awareness meeting that was held at the American Legion Hall in Manchester. Carolina Crown continued from page one

Precision flag and parade rifle routines were practiced by the Carolina Crown on the front lawn of the high school Friday morning. — Photos by Kathy Kueffner

Two corps members with bags of laundry slung over their shoulder wait their turn for the washers at the local laundromat. At one point the change machine ran out of quarters and Widmayers had to be called to replenish it. — Photo by Jon

We talked with one of the volunteer parents from the corps and he said at first they were a little concerned about being housed at a high school so far away from the competition site, but once they experienced the warm and friendly Manchester welcome they were glad this spot had been chosen for them.

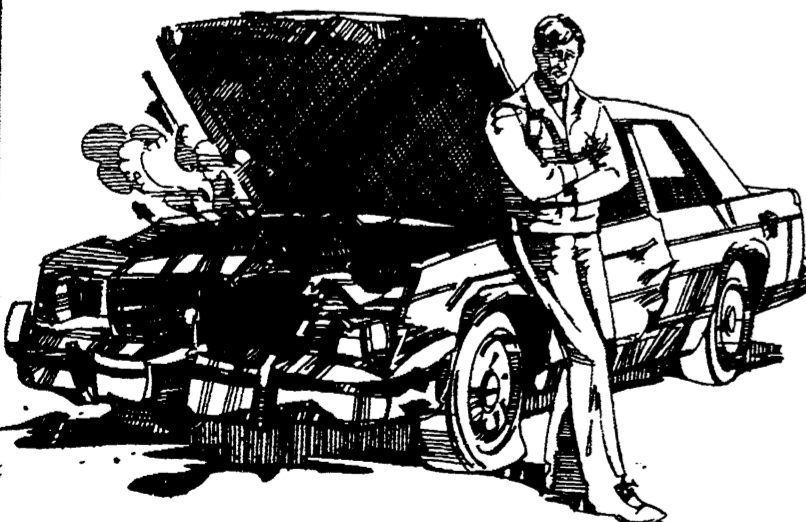

Competition for entry is fierce and requires dedication and stamina besides superior musicianship. They perform in spite of injuries, evidence by the young man in "our" corps whose head was cut open by a midthrown flag pole; the cut had to be stapled shut. Another member sprained an ankle and appeared on Main Street using crutches to walk and his teeth to hold his paper drink cup. Twenty-five drum corps from as far away as California competed in Ypsilanti on Friday and 12 finalists competed again

Saturday night. (As excellent as we thought the Carolina Crown was during their practices, they were not one of the finalists.) The Star of Indiana from Bloomington, Indiana finished first, beating the Cadets of Bergen County, New Jersey by only 1.6 points. My Uncle Jack, who has been involved in bands as a drummer for 60-plus years was totally mesmerized by these corps. He saw them do things with drums that he knew were incredible.

Leadership class heads for Lansing

— Kathy Kueffner

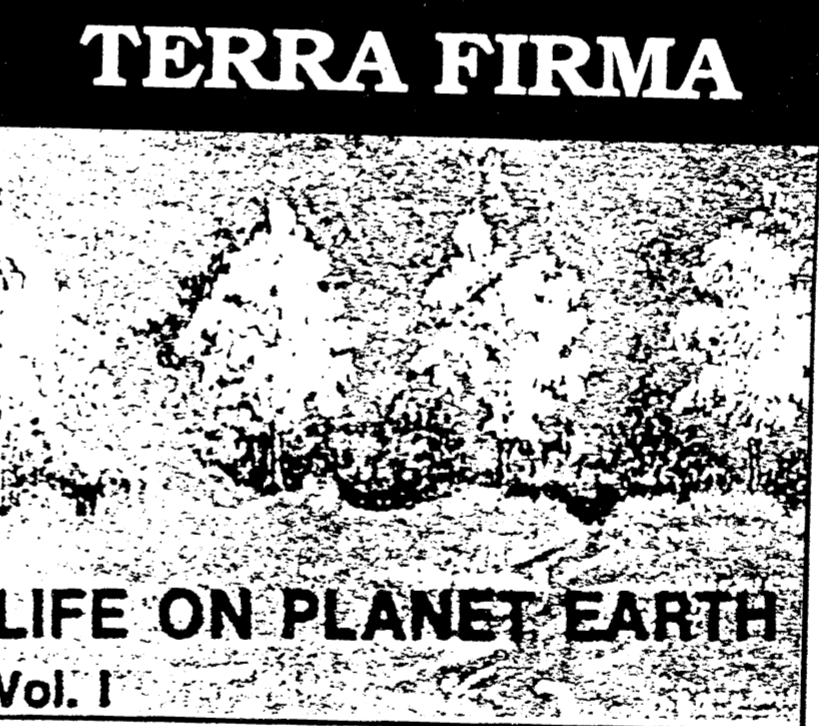

Pictured, left to right: Matt Fielder, Adrienne Wallace, Mark Harris, Tom Fielder, Darci Hock, Jodi Armentrout, Katrina Bihlmeyer and chaperone Tim Armentrout. Mr. Armentrout, when asked if he was "really going to wear that hat", replied that he was and expected full back up from the group if challenged by some Spartan!

Members of Coach Gall's leadership class took advantage of an opportunity to attend the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association Leadership Conference last weekend in Lansing. The students had a full schedule. Friday a conference director introduced them to an organization called the "Winner's Circle", which provides recognition for students who commit themselves to the highest standards of ethical conduct. An ice cream social was held in the evening. Saturday, there was a keynote speech by former Eastern Michigan University football coach and present associate athletic director at EMU Jim Harkema who is an active lecturer and who has studied the role of leadership. Afterwards group sessions were organized to allow participants an opportunity to discuss and develop strategies for dealing with problems. In the afternoon Saturday, there was the East-West All Star football game. Coach Gall said this was a wonderful opportunity for potential student leaders. Conference directors hoped students would enjoy the program and return home with ideas which would enable them to lead their schools in the 90's.

and accompanies Loyse with vocals. A symbiotic relationship, to be sure! They've been playing together for about two years. "Terra Firma" is proud to let you know that they have cut an album (or rather a cassette tape) of original tunes, entitled Life on the Planet Earth. At the Gazebo Concert, you will hear a sound reminiscent of John Denver or Gordon Lightfoot... a gentle and uplifting sound which is a fitting conclusion to the long summer days. Soon the kids will be back in school, routines will change (become re-established), and times will be more serious. continued on page 16
