We talked with one of the volunteer parents from the corps and he said at first they were a little concerned about being housed at a high school so far away from the competition site, but once they experienced the warm and friendly Manchester welcome they were glad this spot had been chosen for them.

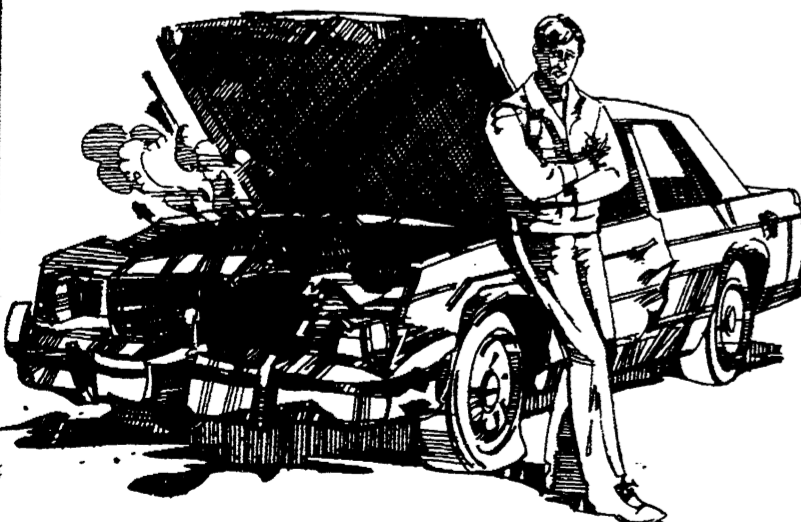

Competition for entry is fierce and requires dedication and stamina besides superior musicianship. They perform in spite of injuries, evidence by the young man in "our" corps whose head was cut open by a midthrown flag pole; the cut had to be stapled shut. Another member sprained an ankle and appeared on Main Street using crutches to walk and his teeth to hold his paper drink cup. Twenty-five drum corps from as far away as California competed in Ypsilanti on Friday and 12 finalists competed again

Saturday night. (As excellent as we thought the Carolina Crown was during their practices, they were not one of the finalists.) The Star of Indiana from Bloomington, Indiana finished first, beating the Cadets of Bergen County, New Jersey by only 1.6 points. My Uncle Jack, who has been involved in bands as a drummer for 60-plus years was totally mesmerized by these corps. He saw them do things with drums that he knew were incredible.

Leadership class heads for Lansing

Mr. Armentrout, when asked if he was "really going to wear that hat", replied that he was and expected full back up from the group if challenged by some Spartan!

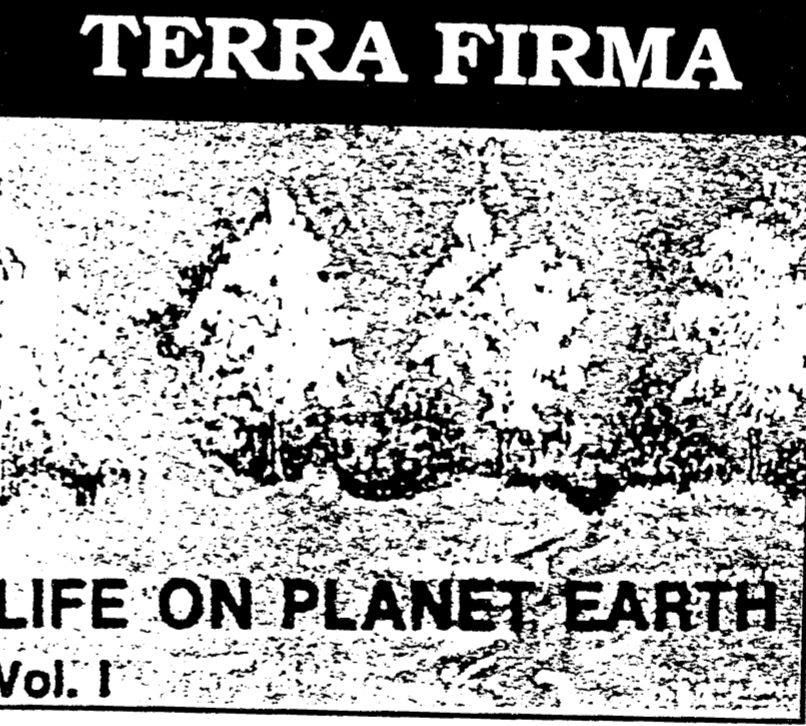

Members of Coach Gall's leadership class took advantage of an opportunity to attend the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association Leadership Conference last weekend in Lansing.

The students had a full schedule. Friday a conference director introduced them to an organization called the "Winner's Circle", which provides recognition for students who commit themselves to the highest standards of ethical conduct. An ice cream social was held in the evening.

Saturday, there was a keynote speech by former Eastern Michigan University football coach and present associate athletic director at EMU Jim Harkema who is an active lecturer and who has studied the role of leadership. Afterwards group sessions were organized to allow participants an opportunity to discuss and develop strategies for dealing with problems. In the afternoon Saturday, there was the East-West All Star football game. Coach Gall said this was a wonderful opportunity for potential student leaders. Conference directors hoped students would enjoy the program and return home with ideas which would enable them to lead their schools in the 90's.

"Terra Firma" is proud to let you know that they have cut an album (or rather a cassette tape) of original tunes, entitled Life on the Planet Earth. At the Gazebo Concert, you will hear a sound reminiscent of John Denver or Gordon Lightfoot... a gentle and uplifting sound which is a fitting conclusion to the long summer days. Soon the kids will be back in school, routines will change (become re-established), and times will be more serious. continued on page 16

From The Ground Up

—by BG

How are your Dendranthema... Hylotelephium doing? Confused? Bewildered? The Chrysanthemums and Sedums are doing great but the international name-changers are not.

Latin names for plants are used as a standard so that the same plant, with many local names, can be identified in any language without confusion. However, confusion does occur when those Latin names change over the years when plants are re-classified or families are renamed.

The changing of the names can be caused by the application of modern technology to botany or the discovery of an earlier name, thus, the lovely Sedum "Autumn Joy" is now Hylotelephium "Autumn Joy". The Shasta Daisy will be found in a future index under Leucanthemum.

When such changes are made, there is a chance of losing the knowledge of those plants. Have you heard of Orbus verna, Phlomis abasicus or Dielytra spectabilis? These flowers are on a list of desirable flowers in a gardening book of 1866. Some time later, Dielytra spectabilis was changed to Dicotrya spectabilis. We and great-grandmother would recognize that plant as a Bleeding Heart.

The multiplicity of common names for the identical plant is confusing but interesting. Why should the same plant be called Love-in-a-mist and Devil-in-a-bush? Are those more descriptive names than Nigella damascena, meaning black (seed) of Damascus?

At the next football game, others might be wearing a yellow Dendranthema on their shoulder but I will be the one with the yellow scentless multi-stemmed curved-petal flower that blooms in the fall.

Australia: the Great Adventure

—by Hal DeLongchamp

Rush, rush, and hurry up, then wait. That was the beginning of "The Great Adventure" for three short weeks. It takes 23 hours to get to Australia from Detroit and they are a long 23 hours. But when you get there it's great. Even though July 2nd only lasted one hour because of the International Date Line.

It's winter in July when you're in Australia. We arrived July 3rd and the temperature was about 70°, or about 20°C there. We landed in the north at Cairns (Cans). Immediately we found ourselves on a bus at 7:00 a.m. Australian time or 5:00 p.m. yesterday Michigan time. In Australia you can live in tomorrow land.

The first day we toured the city of Cairns on bus then boarded a train. This took us through the mountain range named the Great Dividing Range. The aborigines used it as a land mark to follow it north or south.

As we traveled through the mountains we passed through the rain forest. It was beautiful, filled with orchids and pointsettias. There were tons of waterfalls everywhere and caves or tunnels which the train passed through.

Only July 4th we arrived at the Great Barrier Reef and went snorkling. We could see yellow, brown and white coral. I know now that the color coral in this country is dyed. There were angel fish, neon blue fish and when I saw the barracuda coming I got out of the water.

It was so beautiful I took tons of pictures until this string came out of the coral and grabbed my arm. It wouldn't let go and I panicked in the process of breaking it off. Then regaining my self control I started snorkling again until another one of God's little creatures appeared. It swam in front of me and spread ink all over.

That is all for this episode. Stay tuned for next week's Great Adventure in the Outback.

Wetland Restoration

Michigan has lost over 50% of its original wetland resources. Some of the effects of these losses include declining waterfowl and other wetland associated bird species; increasing flood damages; and decreasing water quality.

These effects, in particular the declines in migratory waterfowl, are of great concern to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Since over 70% of wetlands occur on private lands, the Service's "Partners for Wildlife Program" includes a major effort to work with willing landowners to restore drained wetlands on their properties. Reversing declines in numbers of migrating ducks depends upon the restoration of their wetland habitat.

In addition to duck species, wetlands maintain habitat for geese, sandhill crane, great blue heron, American bittern and many, many other migratory birds that make the long and stressful journey from their southern wintering areas to their northern breeding grounds. Wetlands also provide feeding, nesting and shelter areas for other birds and animals.

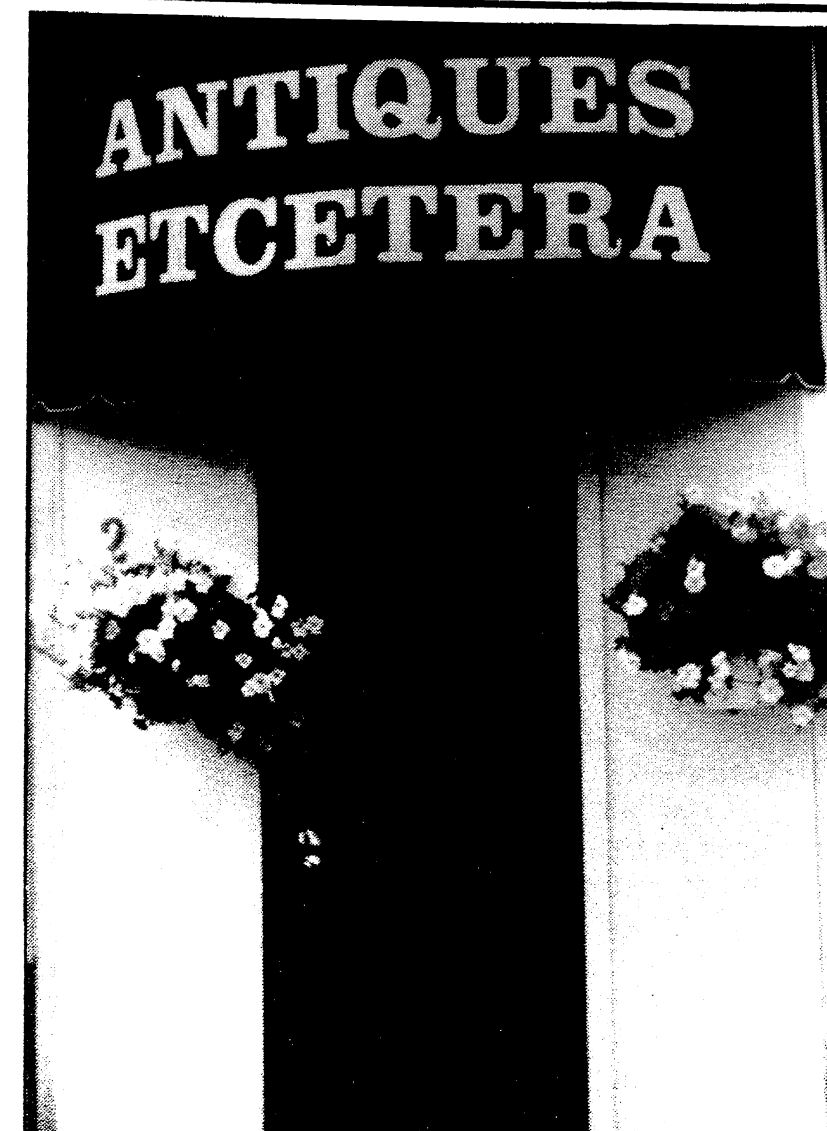

Providing habitat for wildlife is not the only important function of wetlands. They are critical for cleansing water that enters our lakes, rivers and streams and our groundwater supplies by filtering sediments and trapping noxious levels of nutrients carried by surface runoff.

Welcome to town, Antiques Etcetera

The attractive and inviting entrance to Antiques Etcetera on the corner of Main Street and City Road.

—Kathy Kueffner

Straight from Macon, but not Georgia — Macon, Michigan, Christine Nelson has set up "Antiques Etcetera" on the corner of Main Street and City Road in Manchester. She recently moved to the area with her daughter Char, who will be a freshman at Manchester High School this fall.

Christine operated an antique shop out of her home for fourteen years along with her mother and their shop included many and various items they had collected and accumulated over the years.

When Christine moved to Manchester she thought it was a perfect opportunity and place to open a shop which would include her collections along with space for other antique sellers to display and sell their wares.

In Antiques Etcetera, there is Marje Melcher's Sewing Dreams, Jan Smith Antiques, and antiques from Mari Novess and Barbara Home, Indian craft items from Tina and Sam Guidry and Darlene O'Neil, and wreaths made by Debra Poertner.

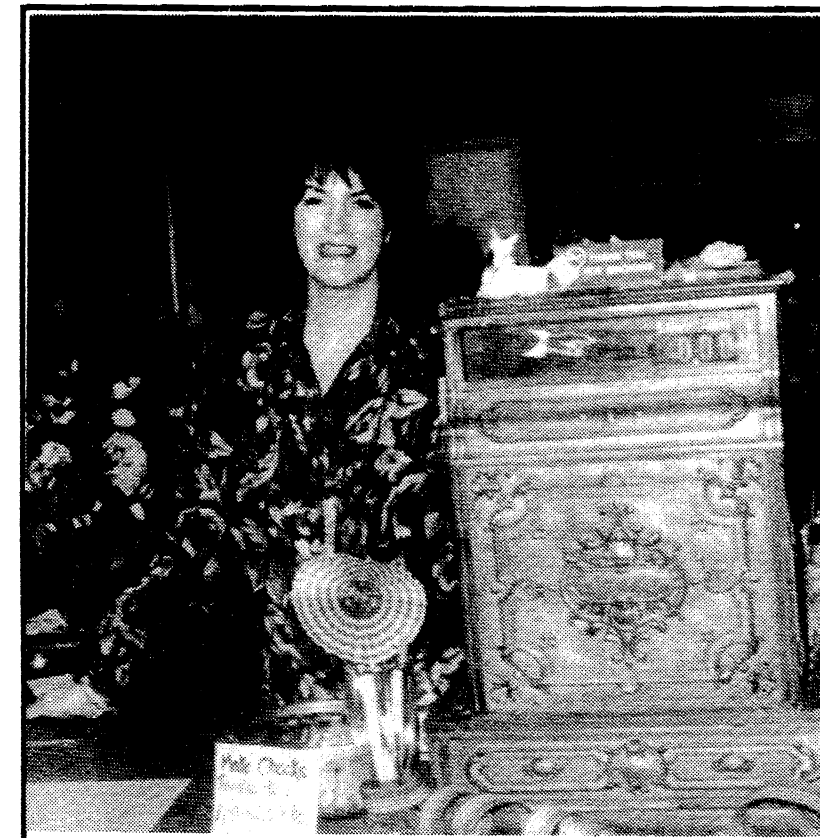

Christine sells lots of beautiful glassware and different old patterns of dinnerware, a collection of paperweights, carnival glass, new and old frames, lots of pictures, art works, prints, an extensive collection of player piano roles, new and old quilts, and many more items.

Christine says she has probably accumulated the largest collection ever of "B.C."

She also has some beautiful gemstone jewelry in the front display case: earrings, bracelets, etc., designed and crafted by Lorraine of Ann Arbor, called "Rain Gems".

Christine has crystals for sale which are very popular today and has promised to write some information for us about crystals; what they are, what they are used for, their history.

Antiques Etcetera accepts items on consignment.

Editorial / Opinion

and now, "The rest of the story"

Emory Garlick, Editor/Publisher

In our July 22 edition of the Enterprise I wrote an editorial whereby the administrators of Manchester School systems were given a 6% wage increase.

In the same edition the Superintendents' office released minutes of a "Closed session" whereby salary adjustments represent a 5% increase. Which was not true! Fact - one principal had been given $1,200 adjustment increase. Fact - The superintendent was given an additional 1% tax-free annuity, this added to a 3% tax-free annuity written into his employment contract, now totaling 4%. That means 4% ($2932.96) on top of his new salary base of $73,324 (or $76,256.96) as reported to the Enterprise.

Pat Sahakian, school board president sent me a letter and then demanded to know why I did not publish the letter in the next week's edition. When I started to check out some of Pat's allegations they were not correct! Here is part of her letter. Dear Editor:

Your editorial concerning school administration raises missed crucial facts that the community should know. The real story at issue is how two board members failed to convince five other members that their position was fiscally wise, fair and equitable. Mr. Ochs and Mr. Hochstetler's supported proposal was in actuality a 7.2 percent increase in total wages and benefits. The other members felt that a straight six percent increase in cash with an extra $30,000 in term life was the fairest and most fiscally responsive alternative.....

Pat has conveniently added to what Ochs and Hochstetler said they favored, "a 2.7 to 3 % cost of living increase, total". Pat added perks, suggested by the superintendent, of increasing sick days by ten and/or increasing the rate of pay of those sick days. Those days could have been converted to cash upon retirement. I characterize that information as misleading if not dishonest.

I have talked to all board members with the exception of Joe Turk, who in the past has been totally supportive of Pat Sahakian.

New board member Wayne Winzenz felt there would be a moral problem if the administrators were not treated as well as the teachers negotiated contract. (That increase this year is 6%). Wayne felt that without the increase as many as 20 to 30% of the teachers would be making more than the administrators.

"I agreed with John Hochstetler's position that a 3% increase was more in keeping with our general economy, but Pat and Ron Niedzwiecki pointed out the disparity between the teachers and neighboring districts administrative personnel." When asked why weren't the true financial increases made public? "It was my understanding that information would be released and that we would take the heat for our decisions."

Bruce Abbott felt the board was in a real dilemma. "On the one hand pay increases and total budget should be kept in line with the rate of inflation. On the other hand we are stuck with the teachers contract increases of 6% and therefore had to be fair to our other employees. Some teachers are making more money than the administrators. We also need to remain competitive with other schools."

Bruce was very candid in saying, that "the three year teachers' contract was not good. The 6% increase is excessive for the times. During negotiations of the existing contract, inflation was running at 5-1/2 % and no economic down turn was forecasted."

One very interesting observation Bruce made: "We need to be totally open with the public and have better and more honest communication."

New board member Paul Kluewe, (Paul previously served a couple of years ago), said: "I feel the administrators deserved to be paid as much as the teachers. Since the principals supervise the teachers they should be paid as much or more than those they supervise. Even with a 6% increase they will not be paid as much as some teachers."

Two immediate past board members, Mark VanBoglen and Ann Marie Gordon said they were not in favor of the enacted increases. One of them said that Superintendent Niedzwiecki had pressured them to go along with a 5 or 6% pay increase. That past member indicated, "no increase had been granted them in three years", and that "the asked for increase was excessive."

What have I garnered from all the letters, interviews and phone conversations?

There appears to me to be and "Abuse of Power", on the part of Pat Sahakian. Two committees of three members each review board business. Executive Committee: Pat Sahakian, Joe Turk, and John Hochstetler. Finance Committee: Bruce Abbott, Paul Kluewe and Wayne Winzenz. Three members legally circumvent the "Open Meetings Act".

Further members of those committees, particularly the finance committee, do not have an elected conservative seated.

Sahakian makes rash and brash statements about, "...The final price tag could be a $60,000 increased expense with no additional return to the district....", but offers no proof or explanation of said statement. That may cast fear and compliance with some people but my experience tells me this is just a method to induce fear and thus garner support for her position.

I am of the opinion that Pat Sahakian is manipulative, misleading and bordering upon being dishonest. Three things should be done immediately by the board.

1. Discard the Committees and conduct all business in open meetings with full board participation.

2. Disclose all wages and benefits of all employees and publish same. Do not hide any costs.

3. Pat Sahakian should immediately step aside as the Board President.

Emory Garlick Editor.

Dear Unsigned!

I am the friend of the publisher/editor and also a relative of one of the winners of the pet contest. I am not employed by the Enterprise and had nothing to do with the pet contest other than read the list of winners at the Manchester Summer Festival. When handed the list and seeing my brother's son was a winner I tried to decline. The response was -Teresa, you do a good job on the P.A. just read them off for us, which is exactly what I did. That was the sum total of my input into the pet contest.

On a brighter note. The Manchester Summer Festival did get some other responses.

"Dear Teresa, I wanted to thank you for the great day. You did a wonderful job. I love coming to Manchester - a real nice town and the people are so friendly..... Susie Blyveis"

Also received comments from exhibitors as they were tearing down July 18th. "This is the best one day show we have ever done. Please let us know

"Watch out for deer!"

Those hazy summer evenings, when there's just a hint of fog in the air, making the road a little tough to see - these are the nights the deer like to roam the highway. This doesn't help Michigan drivers - deer can be as dangerous as another car; they blend into backgrounds, and leap out quickly from the roadside. In Michigan in 1991, there was a total of 48,233 deer-related automobile crashes.

Being alert in fog or darkness, especially on rural roads, is one way to prevent another animal crash, but buckling up prevents you from becoming a casualty in a wildlife accident.

Be aware of animals on the roads — and remember to buckle up.

"Pork Train"

Lansing, MI—Pork Barrel Item of the Week Award: One of the most expensive pork barrel projects of all time, the Detroit People Mover, continues to leach an annual $5 million state subsidy.

"It's the taxpayers who are being taken for a ride by subsidizing rich out of town conventioners, high paid downtown workers and sports/concert fans who pay only 50 cents a ride," said State Representative Dave Jaye, R-Macomb County. "These financially well off people should have to pay at least $2 a trip. The current People Mover fare costs less than most carnival rides."

The Detroit People Mover, an elevated 1.9 mile down town tram loop, was completed at a cost of over $210 million. The city of Detroit is forced to provide this train millions in annual operating subsidies. Detroit Mayor Coleman Young claimed over 40,000 people a day would ride this train, but less than 14,000 do.

"Coleman's Train is an expensive toy which takes desperately needed transportation money from seniors, handicapped and poor people," claimed Rep. Jaye. "This $5 million state subsidy to rich tourists and professionals looking for a novel way to travel to lunch is an ongoing insult to taxpayers and poor people."

The $5 million annual state subsidy is part of the State Transportation budget which is currently being voted upon by the Michigan Legislature.

CLUB NEWS/ANNOUNCEMENTS

Country Expressions 4-H Club

Country Expression's May 10th meeting was called to order by vice-president, Jenny Meyer at 7:30. The American Flag pledge was led by Jonathan Miller and the 4-H Flag pledge led by Ruth Jackowski. The secretary's report was given by Rebekah Jackowski, secretary. The treasurer's report was given by Stacy Burmeister, corresponding secretary. It stated that we have a balance of $295.04. Both reports were approved by the club.

Member Recognition was led by Andy Jones. May birthdays were: Andy Jones-3rd, Dan Bihlmeyer-19th, Amanda Erskine-11th, Jonathan Miller-17th, and Evan Wahl-23rd. Stacy Burmeister then read to us a "Thank You" letter from Matt Jones for sponsoring his award at Spring Achievement. We also received a "Thank You" letter from the County Extension office, thanking us for sponsoring two of the awards presented at Spring Achievement.

Under Unfinished Business we recognized all of the awards given out at Spring Achievement for Woodworking and Sewing.

Under New Business, Sandy Alber had the kids that were in the "Talking with T.J." video stand up and tell us what they learned. Sandy then handed out the 4-H Fair books for the 1993 fair. We then went over the book and discussed the changes. We also discussed whether or not we need to have a Parents' Night to discuss decorations, signs, and gates. We decided to postpone this decision for the next meeting. Another issue that came up was whether or not we should buy an assortment of cards to send out for congratulations and for sympathy. Dan Bihlmeyer motioned to let Stacy Burmeister buy these cards. Rebekah Jackowski seconded it. We then adjourned the meeting.

Salvation Army Accepting Donations For Flood Victims

Great Plains victims of The Big Flood will benefit from a suggestion by a Detroit-area natural gas customer of Consumers Power Company, which the state's largest utility is implementing.

Electric and natural gas bills will include the following message: "Many of our customers have expressed a desire to help people affected by flooding in the Midwest. Contributions are being accepted by: The Salvation Army Disaster Relief, PO Box 18062, Lansing, MI 48901."

Consumers Power sends an electric, or natural gas bill, or a combination of both, to 2.2 million Michigan households and businesses.

Customer contributions to the Salvation Army Disaster Relief effort will be specifically designated to assist victims of flooding in the Great Plains. "While we are unable to respond to most emergencies through a bill message to our customers, we believe that the extraordinary magnitude of the Great Plains flooding warrants this appeal for assistance," Buckman said.

A young fellow washed my car one day and he did a fine job. "You're better than the best," I said. "What's your secret?" "I'm a Christian," he answered. "I try to wash every car as if the Lord owned it."

That's great, for the Bible says, "Work hard and cheerfully at all you do, just as though you were working for the Lord, remembering it's the Lord who's going to pay you, giving you your full portion of all He owns."

—Rick Jones, Bethel United Church of Christ newsletter

Recently one of my sons asked me "Why do we have to go to Church School?"

It's a good question from a 10-year-old and one his older brother asked a couple years ago. I still don't have a good answer.

The kids know that they can't flunk, even if they miss the whole year they still advance. There are no tests, only snacks when lucky. So why are they there?

Well I suppose I could teach them about the importance of learning the teachings of the Bible, or the good Christian values they learn, or simply that if they don't go they can't get confirmed and if they aren't confirmed they have to stay in Sunday school. To a 10-year-old that makes sense.

But why did we go to Sunday school? Was it to learn about the Bible and to grow up to be good Christians?

It seems to me that the reason we went and still need to go to church is for exposure. The more we are exposed to something the better we will understand it and the stronger the feelings we will have for it. For children it's the slow process of building a basis for our Christian faith and a natural feeling for it.

But what then? Do we automatically advance into the adult responsibilities of the church. If you look around church it doesn't look like it. Few young adults are there. So how do you continue to learn and grow as Christians?

It seems like a simple solution would be to attend church occasionally and continue to expose yourself to those values you learned in Sunday school.

Twenty-Third Psalm for busy people

The Lord is my pacesetter, I shall not rush. He makes me stop and rest for quiet intervals, He provides me with images of stillness which restore my serenity, He leads me in ways of efficiency, through calmness of mind, and his guidance is peace.

Even though I have a great many things to accomplish this day, I will not fret, for His presence is here; His timelessness, His all-importance will keep me in balance.

He prepares refreshment and renewal in the midst of my activity by anointing my mind with the oils of tranquility.

My cup of joyous energy overflows. Surely harmony and effectiveness shall be the fruits of my hours, for I shall walk in the pace of my Lord, and dwell in His house forever.

Public Release for Free and Reduced Price Meals

The Washtenaw Intermediate School District announced its policy for free and reduced-price meals or free milk for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch or School Breakfast Programs. The following household size and income criteria will be used for determining eligibility: (See chart below)

Children from households whose income is at or below the levels shown are eligible for free or reduced-price meals or free milk.

Application forms are being sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians. To apply for free or reduced-price meals, households should fill out the form and return it to the school. Additional copies of the application form are available at the principal's office in each school.

NON FOOD STAMP HOUSEHOLDS: An application which does not contain all of the following information cannot be processed by the school: (1) monthly source of income received by each household member (such as wages, child support, etc.); (2) names of all household members; (3) social security number of adult household member who signs the application; and (4) the signature of an adult household member.

FOOD STAMP/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" (AFDC) for your child, you only have to list your child's name and Food Stamp or AFDC case number, sign the application.

The information provided by the household is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility and verifying data. Applications may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the school year.

If children are approved for free or reduced-price meal or free milk benefits, the household must report to the school increases in household income over $50 per month ($600 per year) and decreases in household size.

Households may apply for benefits at any time during the school year. If a household is not currently eligible but has a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or if a household member becomes unemployed, the household should fill out an application at that time.

In most cases foster children are eligible for these benefits regardless of the household's income. If a household has foster children living with them and they wish to apply for free or reduced-price meals or milk for them, the household should contact the school for more information.

Under the provisions of the policy the building principal will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents or guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. The household also has the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the "Designated Hearing Official" at Manchester Schools.

Summary
Board of Education August 2, 1993

The special meeting of Manchester Community Schools' Board of Education was called to order by President Sahakian at 7:32 p.m. with the Pledge of Allegiance.

In depth discussion took place in reference to the special election set for September 20, 1993. This election was for the purpose of presenting to the voters a bonding proposition to borrow $2,455,000 for additions, renovations and equipment at Luther C. Klager Elementary. Mr. Ron Erickson of Erickson and Associates and Mr. Eric Geiser of the architectural firm TMP were present to answer questions and concerns of board and audience members.

Following lengthy deliberation, board members unanimously decided not to call a special bond election with an alternate date to be determined later.

"As the result of legislative action in Lansing there is much uncertainty regarding school financing, future taxes as well as school operations in general," reported Superintendent Niedzwiecki. "The Board believes it is prudent to wait until things become more clear."

Ms. Cara Weissman has been employed as the middle school/high school instrumental music teacher/band director for the 1993-94 school year.

Lunch prices for Manchester school students will be increased for the first time since 1988. Type A lunches for students will be $1.75 per meal and the price of an adult lunch will now be $2.40 per meal.

The Board has ratified and affirmed the acceptance of the bid from First of America, at 2.86%, for the tax anticipation note of $1,600,000.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:05 p.m.

Get acquainted with Cara

Manchester School District residents will have an opportunity to get acquainted with our new school band director, Cara Weissman, Friday, August 20 at a reception to be held at the Gazebo beginning at 5:00 p.m.

At 4:00, there will be a pre-game/half time preview of the marching band at the high school. Put this event on your calendar!

Fresh paint

You'd think it was spring, so much sprucing up going on in town. The giant excavation in front of Dorney's Back Door Party Store will soon be the site of a modern, roofed gas pump island. Final EPA paper work has been completed and construction will begin shortly. In the meantime, the store is open, just use the "Back Door".

Manchester Automotive is sporting a fresh new coat of paint; and so is one section of the "Black Sheep" building.

No, the taped off area in front of The Enterprise is not designating the scene of a crime (although there are some people in Manchester who would disagree). The front of the building was painted "Calamity Jane" green (only coincidentally MSU green/white?) in anticipation of the newest antique and gift store in town, "Calamity Jane's", owned by Teresa Benedict and Nancy Diedrich. The painter is Doug White. —Photos by Kathy Kueffner

Senior Citizens News

—Howard Parr

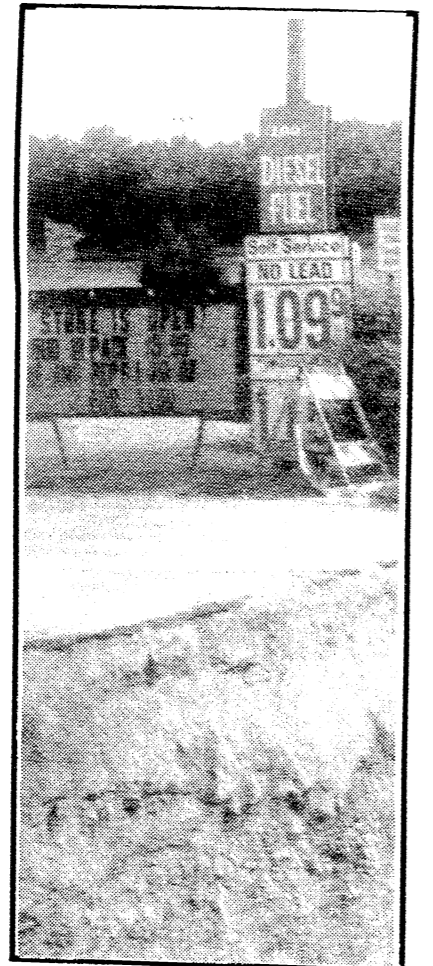

I'm used to writing for T.V. when she is out of town or on vacation, but this is the first time I have had to write the column with her almost looking over my shoulder. Don't know if I can calm myself enough to do it, but I better try. I'm glad T.V. has asked for a summer break; she does a tremendous job each week of the year. I know I would run out of ideas after just a few columns.

On a smaller scale it reminded me of school opening in my former job. We planned and planned and then on that first day of school everything seemed to mesh together. Used to get a good feeling when all the new bus routes went on schedule. The old kids, new kids and kindergarteners all got on the right bus and were delivered to the right school. Cafeterias opened, milk was delivered to each school in the right quantities, teachers got the right kind and number of textbooks and teaching supplies, and the phones didn't ring too much. Then it was time to relax and start looking for ways to make the next school year start-up run even more smoothly. Probably a lot like T.V.'s mother and her Paris Green pickles each season, I imagine.

We have just returned from a "trip" to Cincinnati with our motor home. Everyone kept asking how our trip was until they found out what we had been doing. One of our kids lives in Oxford, Ohio (Miami University) in the greater Cincinnati area and decided to move mid-July. So we packed up the camper—loaded for bear, as it were, for any moving eventualities—tools, paint equipment, skill saw, sabersaw, extra boxes. You name it and we had it on board and ended up using most of it.

Things went fairly routinely until the Cincinnati heat wave struck—97 degrees for the better part of a week with what seemed 110% humidity. As my father-in-law used to say, "It ain't the heat, it's the damp humanity". Air conditioning helped, but a week of that stuff gets to you eventually and makes you feel just plain wilted.

We survived and on the appointed day the movers came to the old house and started hauling everything out. Boxes and boxes of stuff that Lenora had packed up along with the furniture, washer and dryer, refrigerator, etc. Then it was at the new house and had to be put in the right room. The boxes had to be unpacked and put away in cleaned cupboards, closets and shelves.

Free Day at the Zoo for Seniors

The 12th annual free senior citizen day at The Detroit Zoo will be held Wednesday, August 25 from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Admission and parking is free for seniors and their escorts.

There is a free zoofari train tour every half hour, and representatives from metro Detroit Area Agencies on Aging will be on hand to answer questions and provide information on senior citizen services.

The zoo is located on the corner of Woodward and 10 Mile Road in Royal Oak, Michigan.

Music and Medicine on Desert Island Discs

Mark S. Kaminski, M.D., director of the Leukemia/Lymphoma Program at the University of Michigan Comprehensive Cancer Center, will be the featured guest on Desert Island Discs from 8-10:00 a.m. on Saturday, August 14. The WUOM (91.7 FM) radio program asks individuals from diverse backgrounds which five records they would most want with them if they were stranded on a desert island. "Music has always been an important part of my life from an early age," says Kaminski. And he now believes the stimulation of music helps him to be a better physician because "it establishes an important connection with human emotion and needs—so vital in the compassionate care of patients." On the August program, Kaminski will discuss not only how music has affected his life, but also his exciting new research breakthrough in the treatment of non-Hodgkin's lymphoma. "I have always wanted to do this, but it was quite a challenge to select only five records," says Kaminski after taping the program with Joel Seguire, station manager and producer of Desert Island Discs. "It was gratifying for me to share the importance of music in my life with others."

CMHS Sponsors Summer Immunization Fairs

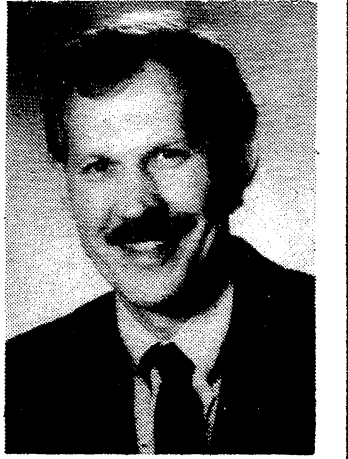

Catherine McAuley Health System and Washtenaw County Public Health are co-sponsoring two free immunization fairs on August 14 and August 21 to assist parents in preparing for the 1993-94 school year. Immunizations will be offered free of charge to children of all ages. Hepatitis B vaccine will only be available for infants less than 1 year of age. The first fair will be held Saturday, August 14, from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at Meijers on Carpenter Road, Ypsilanti, in the Garden Center. The second fair will be held Saturday, August 21, from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at Meijers on Ann Arbor-Saline Road, Ann Arbor, in the Garden Center. Parents are asked to bring their child's immunization record to help determine which immunizations are needed. Both fairs will be staffed by volunteer CMHS physicians, nurses and nurse practitioners. "We encourage parents to update immunizations for all children prior to the start of the school year to meet enrollment requirements for school and day care," said Ilene Phillips, program coordinator for CMHS Pediatrics. "We also are working very hard to immunize children under the age of 2. By the time children enter school, 95 to 98 percent have had current immunizations. However, the percentage of immunized children under 2 years of age is much lower." A state grant that Washtenaw County Public Health received to raise the rate of immunizations for children under 2 years of age will help provide the vaccine for these immunization fairs. For more information, call Ilene Phillips at 313-572-3325 or Esther Teich at 313-484-7200.

Wetlands are also large sponges which collect and hold surface water runoff to reduce the amount of floodwater carried by rivers and streams, thus reducing floodpeaks and consequently flood damages to our downstream neighbors.

Wetlands also replenish our groundwater supplies that provide our homes with drinking water and our farm wells with water supplies for livestock.

Wetlands on our farms add diversity and beauty to landscapes and the wildlife supported by these areas refresh our busy lives with the wonderment of nature that surrounds us. When we no longer can enjoy the natural world that surrounds and supports us, our busy lives have consumed us to the point where we have lost our ability to be responsible stewards of this land.

Potential wetland restoration sites are wet depressional areas in fields that have been drained by ditches or field tile. Since 1988, the Service has restored about 400 wetlands in Michigan totalling over 1400 acres. Most projects are completed without cost to the landowner, however, some may require landowner participation. All property rights are maintained by the landowner. For all restoration projects, the landowner must be willing to sign a simple wetland development agreement with the Service to preserve the wetland for a specified number of years. On less costly projects, normal agreement duration is for a minimum of 10 years. Most wetland restoration projects range from 1/2 to 3 acres in size, although projects of over 40 acres have been completed. This program does not include pond construction.

Landowners interested in the Service's wetland restoration program should contact Robert J. Seppala, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 1405 S. Harrison Rd., East Lansing, MI 48823. Phone: 517-337-6650. Information that the landowner should have available when contacting the Service is the county, township name and section number location of their property.

No man knows his true character until he has run out of gas, purchased something on the installment plan and raised an adolescent. —Mercele Cox

Landowners restoring wetlands are prideful managers of their lands. They realize that the same land supporting us today will need to support future generations of owners of the same land. Only responsible stewardship can provide for a continuing future.

So grab the chance while it's here. Bring your lawn chair or blanket. Pack up the kids and maybe a friend or two. And stroll down to the corner of W. Main and S. Macomb, across from St. Mary's. You'll find "Terra Firma" and a last hurrah to those summer days.

(In case of rain, the show will definitely go on! The fun will shift to an indoor location.)

Gazebo concerts are organized by the Recreation Task Force, a group of your friends and neighbors who volunteer their time and talent for the community. For more information, or to help offset the costs of these concerts, contact the Recreation Task Force at 428-7722.

Commanding Officers Put on Country Western Benefit Show

Every year, around September, members of the local Sheriff's department move to a new beat; and this has a country swing to it.

The Washtenaw County Command Officer's Association will sponsor their 14th annual Country Music Spectacular at the Hill Auditorium on the University of Michigan campus, Sunday September 12, with shows at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m.

The Command Officer's Association membership consists of all sergeants and lieutenants within the Sheriff's department. Sgt. Carl Werner, the show chairman and organization spokesperson, states that the Country Western show is a fundraising event and that all proceeds from the annual event return to the community.

"Through our contacts with area agencies, we feel we're in a unique position to determine the areas of greatest need," Werner said.

Werner stated further, "Proceeds from past shows have helped fund programs such as D.A.R.E." The D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) program provides drug awareness education to elementary and middle school aged youth throughout Washtenaw county.

Werner points out that the Command Officer's Country Western show should not be confused with other solicitations originating from outside Washtenaw county.

"Most of these groups call residents of the area on watts lines from Detroit," Werner said. "The money they raise in no way benefits our community."

Though the Country-Western Benefit show has taken place in Ann Arbor for 14 years, Werner still feels Washtenaw county residents continue to confuse the show with police organizations outside of Washtenaw county.

Aside from financially benefiting the county, the program book handed out at the Spectacular acknowledges local businesses which provide support for the show. More importantly, however, the booklet offers valuable information to improve the safety of our families, and particularly our children. The information in last year's program book focused on Michigan Safety Belt Law, Child Restraint Law, and improving the safety of our children when they are alone or with a babysitter.

Every year, the program features rising talent as the headliner. Some of the talent attracted to this event in previous years include Reba McEntire and former Star Search champion Sawyer Brown. This year, the Command Officers have scheduled The Forrester Sisters as the main attraction, with The Roger Marshall Band opening.

The Forrester Sisters, originally from Lookout Mountain, GA, boast almost ten years of singing on the Warner Bros. label and over ten albums to show for it. June, Kathy, Kim, and Christy reeled off a number of top ten hits and number one singles during their first six years in the business, but the legitimate sisters didn't really make waves until 1991 with the release of their album entitled Talkin' 'Bout Men. The album included the controversial, male-bashing track "Men". Controversy or no, the song only escalated an already astounding career for the four ladies.

It is quite an accomplishment for one school to have a single team selected, yet Manchester High School has had a total of three teams selected this year including our semifinalist football team this past fall.

The administration would like to commend all of our athletic teams but especially the football, volleyball, and wrestling teams for symbolizing the true spirit of interscholastic competition. They continue to bring pride to the school and the community. Congratulations.

Manchester High School was recently selected as a recipient of the Good Sports Are Winners sportsmanship award during the Michigan High School Athletic Association winter tournament.

Our state quarterfinalist volleyball team as well as our wrestling team district grapplers represented themselves, their school, and their community by displaying outstanding sportsmanship throughout their seasons.

There are two positions available immediately. Please call Karen Tucker, Manchester Village Clerk, at 428-7877 or stop at the Village Hall, 120 S. Clinton Street, between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Band Marches To A New Director: Meet Cara Weissman

Cara Weissman is our new band director. And she brings with her high expectations and loads of enthusiasm.

Cara was assistant marching director for Saline High School and recently finished her degree at the University of Michigan which included music education and percussion performance. She has played percussion since she was eight years old, but also has played many other instruments such as piano, trumpet, violin and bassoon. Directing her own music day camp in Rhode Island is listed in Cara's repertoire of achievements besides teaching private lessons and doing sectionals at String Camp. She studied with teachers at the Interlochen National Music Camp, the University of Vermont and the University of Michigan.

Cara is directing the Manchester school marching band camp August 16-20 at the high school from 7:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The camp will conclude with a performance Friday, August 20 at 4:00 p.m. at the high school. Afterwards there will be a welcoming party for our new director at the Gazebo.

The community is invited to the preview performance at the high school Friday and to the reception for Cara at the Gazebo at 5:00.
