Shayne Ahrens blocked out the punter while Gould picked up the ball and ran 10 yards for the TD. Strock's PAT was good and the score was 7-0 with 2 minutes gone.

It was a balanced attack with unselfish play being the rule. On their first offensive play of the

Back-to-School: An Open Letter to a Parent from U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley

As your children get ready to head back to school and you count up the cost of new sneakers, jeans and book bags, you may be wondering if there is anything more you can do to get your children ready for the school year ahead. You're exhausted from the shopping, a little tired of the summer and deep down, you're looking forward to school starting again. Anything else? Well, yes. I talk to parents all across the country and find that most of you are worried, frustrated and sometimes just barely coping. The question I am always asked is, "How do I know whether my child is learning what he or she needs to learn?" It's a question full of anxiety and doubt about the real fear that your children may not be getting the "leg up" in life they will need to get ahead. I hear you. For me, the essence of education comes down to values, standards, performance, and maybe — what to do about television. So how do we re-invent education? Setting challenging national education standards is important and we'll get that done. It is also important to raise the quality of teaching and get a fix on how we can help the majority of kids, who don't go directly to four year college, "jump start" their careers. We'll make progress on those, too. But, ultimately, the improvement of our children's education is also a willingness to slow down the pace of our lives to help our children grow. Education starts with values. Most of us who have made a go of it in life have gotten ahead because we had a Mom, a Dad, a grandparent or a guardian who let us know where they stood about our sticking to our studies.

Perhaps we didn't like it then, but we know now that the values process worked, and still works. If a parent or a family member places value on integrity, a commitment to excellence, and studying hard, children come to school prepared to learn. It's that simple. Parents create the frame; teachers help kids fill in the picture. Here, it is important to point out what may not be so obvious — these values can be stressed to children by anybody. A parent doesn't need a Ph.D. to make learning a priority in the home. If you haven't made it in life quite the way you expected, you can still make sure that your child does. A good education can do that. All those stories about children from rough or poor neighborhoods who succeed because a parent insisted that they crack the books make a convincing and telling point — drive, determination and focus still come from the family. Some folks say that setting high standards is unfair. I don't — if the students, teachers and parents work together to reach the higher standard. Children who get smart, get smart because they study and take tough courses to meet high standards.

From The Ground Up

—by BG

Hardy bulbs are a guaranteed gardening miracle. When the bulb is planted in the fall, the enclosed flower goes into the ground ready to bloom in the spring.

There are only two reasons for the bulbs not blooming. Mice and other animals might munch on them during the winter. Tulips and Crocus seem to be the tastiest. Don't mulch the plantings until the top of the ground is frozen. This could reduce the possibilities of having live-in mice. Choice Tulips could be planted in a wire mesh basket to discourage the critters.

Some minor bulbs, especially Eranthis and Fritillaria, are temperamental. It might take them a year and a half to appear but, once established, will multiply quickly. It might help to plant these two species as early as possible in the fall.

Buy some extra Tulip and Hyacinth bulbs this fall for an early spring in the house. If planted by September 18th, Tulips or Hyacinths could be blooming for you in February.

Put one kind of bulb, crowded together, in a clay pot of soil, water them well and put into an airtight freezer bag. Label and date the bag, then put it into a cold frame, a spare refrigerator or a well-mulched undisturbed spot out of doors for about 14 weeks for Tulips or 10 weeks for Hyacinths.

If the sprouts should appear earlier, the pot is ready to come out. Don't be alarmed at traces of mold. Gradually expose the pot and the emerging shoots to light and warmth. In a few weeks, you'll have flowers to admire.

After the flowers are over and the leaves have turned brown, plant the bulbs outside. There is a chance that the bulbs will live to bloom again. Hyacinths are the most likely to return for me.

Matthaei Lectures on Garden Cleanup

"The Art of Fall Garden Cleanup" is the title of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens' two fall lectures Sunday, September 19 at 1:00 p.m. and 3:00 p.m. with featured speaker Janet Macunovich, author, and garden designer.

Janet will describe how your perennial garden can benefit from a good fall clean-up. The lectures will give you tips on what, when, and how to make your garden a thing of beauty even through the winter.

Join us for timely garden ideas and a wealth of information to take home to implement in your own garden. After each lecture, Janet will take the group on an educational tour of the Matthaei Botanical Gardens perennial garden.

The lectures are sponsored by the Friends of the Botanical Gardens with special assistance from the Membership and Hospitality Committees. Public admission is $5 per person. Refreshments will be served before each lecture.

Due to limited seating, reservations are required for each lecture. To reserve your seat, please call Margaret Vergith at 998-7061.

The Matthaei Botanical Gardens is located at 1800 North Dixboro Road, Ann Arbor, MI: 2 1/2 miles north of the Geddes Road intersection off of US 23.

A perennial exchange was held Saturday afternoon in Clinton at Tate Park to raise funds for a memorial garden dedicated to honor Irene Steffans who passed away earlier this year. Irene's husband Charlie who owns the Atlas stores including Atlas of Manchester, said the perennial exchange was to be a time of sharing and learning more about gardening which Irene so much enjoyed. Perennial plants were donated and offered for purchase and Master gardeners were on hand to answer questions. When adequate funds are raised, the project will begin at the Park. New playground equipment at Klager

Dear Editor,

Everyone was excited this week when a bunch of big shots came around focusing on our home town. They liked it so much that they want the whole world to see what a great place this is. It should not take a TV camera to remind us of what our home town is all about.

Take for example the hard-working committee that took on the overwhelming playground project at Klager this summer. This group, led by Joan Harvey, Sue Callaway, and Patty Van Buren-Craig did everything from research new equipment, meet with manufacturer's reps, shop for paint and supplies, organize volunteers, to cleaning up after others had gone home.

This was no small undertaking! It took a lot of energy and hard work not to mention a lot of time, and time from their families. They spent three full days just painting old equipment in the hot sun.

There were no TV cameras there, and no one handing out stacks of money to do it - the local paper didn't even come out to cover the progress of these hard-working parents.

You should take a minute to at least go down to the playground and see what was done. It is very impressive and just beautiful.

Our home town is more than just beautiful scenery and old buildings. No TV cameras can capture the spirit and energy of the hardworking "un-sung" heroes that make our town special. My hat goes off to all those that helped on this project. A job very well done - thanks for giving us more reasons to love living in this town!

The Last Minute Cook

Quality Family Time in the Kitchen

With the start of the school year, lives quickly change pace, and family time is again squeezed into after school hours and weekends. To spend more quality time with your children, as well as keep up with increased weekly activities, let youngsters help with after school snacks and quick lunches.

Learning how to cook helps children develop fundamental skills in organizing, following directions, understanding measurements, developing patience and concepts of time. While cooking enhances creativity, the simple tasks of mixing, pouring and stirring ingredients help improve motor skills.

Spending time with youngsters in the kitchen can also help expand children's "food horizons." To break away from routine PB&J fixings, redefine an everyday egg salad with carrots, tomatoes and grated Parmesan. Kids can peel the eggs, while you cut the vegetables. Or, for an afternoon snack that is something other than cookies, let the kids help with a special treat using melted chocolates and caramels.

Garden Medley Sandwiches Serves 6

- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1 cup shredded carrots
- 1 cup shredded zucchini
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup (1 ounce) grated Parmesan cheese
- Salt, to taste
- Pepper, to taste
- 6 Bays English Muffins, lightly toasted
- 1 cup alfalfa sprouts*
- 3 slices cooked bacon, crumbled
- 6 cherry tomatoes, halved
- 2 green onions, chopped

In a medium bowl combine the first seven ingredients; mix well. Top each muffin half evenly with sprouts and cover with 1/4 cup vegetable mixture. Top with bacon, cherry tomato halves and green onions.

*Bean sprouts may be substituted.

Chocolate Pecan Turtles 12 Snacks

- 36 vanilla caramels
- 1/4 cup (4 tablespoons) butter
- 1/4 cup milk
- 6 Bays English Muffins, lightly toasted
- 60 pecan halves
- 1 cup (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate chips
- 1 tablespoon shortening

In 1-quart microwave-proof bowl, combine caramels, butter and milk. Microwave on HIGH 2 to 3 minutes, stirring frequently, until caramels melt. Spread the caramel mixture evenly (about 2 tablespoons) over each muffin half. Arrange 5 pecan halves on top of caramel to make "turtle" head and feet. In 1-quart microwave-proof bowl, combine chocolate chips and shortening. Microwave on HIGH in 40 second intervals, stirring frequently, just until chocolate is melted* (about 2 minutes). Stir until smooth. Spread chocolate over caramel, leaving ends of pecans uncovered. Refrigerate until chocolate is firm (about 15 minutes).

*Microwave ovens vary, use caution in melting chocolate. Overheating will cause chocolate to "stiffen" and burn.

Dear Emory:

In regards to your Out and About column in the September 9th edition, I feel I must make a few comments.

I understand that you were trying to be funny about the "shooting" of the town and tie it all together with a Western/gun-fighter theme, but to use words like "desparados" and to say that "Keith's Barber Shop was decimated" is way out of line.

My husband and I own the "castle" and we spent the better part of two weeks with these wonderful people. Each and everyone of the crew (about 30 people) were polite, funny, kind, and considerate! Traffic was stopped during shooting for minutes at a time or while wetting down the street as a safety measure.

For weeks we have read of the pay raises for the principals, etc. and how expensive things are. What about the approximately $10,000 to $15,000 that the film crew brought into Manchester? With location fees, fees for extras (of which you were one!), fuel, food, miscellaneous supplies, etc. that is an awful lot of money to come into a community in a very short amount of time!

Let's not forget why they were in Manchester - they loved the look of our town! Why did they use so many locals as extras? They liked the "realness" of our people.

Marc Chiat, the director from Red Dog Films, is planning on making a sizeable donation to a local organization as a thank you for Manchester's hospitality. Something he really doesn't have to do.

I wouldn't want anyone to read your "Out & About" without knowing more about these great people, my new friends. Besides, come October, won't it be fun to see our town in a national commercial? Mary E. Smolinski

You Can Buy Happiness at the Crowwell!

The Crowwell Opera House will bring everything from gripping drama to gentle comedy to some real "high-flying" family fun to its stage during the 1993-94 fall/winter season.

The season opens October 1 with a comedy by one of the true masters of American theatre, Neil Simon's "The Sunshine Boys." And the Crowwell's rendition pairs two of its most recognizable actors, Jerry Andrews and Milton Schoch.

"The Sunshine Boys" runs October 1-3 and 8-10, with performances at 8:00 p.m. each Friday and Saturday and 3:00 p.m. both Sundays.

Schoch and Andrews, who are marking their 25th and 26th years respectively at the Crowwell, play Al Lewis and Willie Clark, a retired vaudeville comedy team who worked together for 43 years. Lewis and Clark's partnership ended 11 years ago - but they haven't spoken to each other for 12 years. The secret? They only talked to each other's characters for that last year.

Crowwell artistic director Robert Soller said one of the things that will make this play work is the real-life relationship between long-time friends Andrews and Schoch.

"They sort of are the Sunshine Boys," he said. "They talk that way to each other." By the same token, Lewis and Clark banter with each other personally the same way they did for 43 years in their skits. Did they do their comedy well because they really were that way, or were they like that because they did the comedy that way? The audience is left to wonder.

The play itself revolves around what seems like a wonderful idea - to bring the two aging comics together again as part of a television special on comedy, so a modern audience can see them do their act one last time. But it doesn't work out nearly so smoothly. By the time the curtain falls, however, audiences will have witnessed a warm and rich and gently funny play, made all the better by Andrews' and Schoch's genuine interaction.

ENTERTAINMENT Auditions Set For Crowwell Fall/Winter Season

Auditions have been set for the Crowwell Opera House's fall/winter season shows. There will be no auditions for the first show of the season, The Sunshine Boys; this play has already been cast.

Auditions for the 1993 holiday musical, Peter Pan, will be Saturday, October 2, from 10am to 4pm. The musical requires a few adult men and women to play Mrs. Darling, the dual role of Mr. Darling and Captain Hook, and a few other roles. The role of Peter Pan is traditionally played by a female, although young boys with the appropriate build and voice range may be considered. In addition, 20 to 30 children aged eight through 18 are needed to play Lost Boys, Indians, pirates, and the Darling children.

Play dates for Peter Pan are November 26-28 and December 3-5. Performances are at 8pm both Fridays, 3pm and 8pm both Saturdays, and 3pm both Sundays. Auditions for Inherit the Wind will be Monday, November 29, from 7pm to 10pm. This play requires two men to play the major roles of Matthew Harrison Brady and Henry Drummond, as well as 25 to 35 men and women for their leading roles and as townspeople in both speaking and non-speaking parts. A few children of various ages are also needed. Inherit the Wind will run January 7-9 and 14-16, 1994, with performances each Friday and Saturday at 8pm and both Sundays at 3pm. Auditions for Lettice and Lovage will be Tuesday, November 30 from 7pm to 10pm. The play requires two women in tour de force roles, one adult man, one adult woman, and several adults to play a group of tourists in speaking and non-speaking parts. Play dates for Lettice and Lovage will be February 11-13 and 18-20, 1994, also with performances each Friday and Saturday at 8pm and both Sundays at 3pm. For more information regarding auditions, call Robert Soller at (517)263-6868. If you cannot make the scheduled audition, individual appointments may also be made by contacting the Crowwell.

Brad Davis ran for 23 yards in our next possession. Kevin Phelps had a 17-yard reception and Mica Puscus took the ball in from the five. Again the PAT was good and at 5:57 in the first quarter, the score was 14-0.

The contributors to the third TD of the first quarter were: a 23-yard pass from Tom Fielder to Shayne Ahrens; a 13-yard run by Geoff Brooks; and an 8-yard run by Brandon Woods. Mike Barnard caught a 12-yard pass for the TD. The PAT was good. Manchester 21, Hanover-Horton 0.

Brad Davis scored the 4th TD on a 17-yard run at 11:54 of the second quarter. A 14-yard pass to Brandon Woods and a 13-yard keeper by Tom Fielder set this TD up. After the PAT, Manchester led by 28.

The Flying Dutchmen would score once more in the first half - with 0:11 on the clock. Shane Goodell had previously had a 51-yard TD run called back for illegal motion. This time Brent Woods caught two passes for a total of 46 yards, and scored the TD. With a good kick, Manchester's lead was 35-0.

After the ensuing kickoff, and with time running out, Mike Croghan recovered a fumble at about the 20 yd. line.

Manchester had two sustained drives in the second half, resulting in 2 more TD's. Mike Barnard was quarterback for the third quarter. The offense ground out the yardage and Brad Davis went the final 14 yards to paydirt. Strock added another PAT and the score was 42-0.

Barnard led the charges to the 48-yard line at the end of the third quarter. Troy Niehaus then directed the troops in the fourth.

Troy completed a pass to Barnard at the 30 and set Shane Goodell loose. The final 4 yards and the TD went to Eric Anderson. This time the PAT failed and the final score was 48-0.

Manchester had excellent position throughout the game. "We had outstanding plays on both offense and defense. Many players made big contributions to the effort," says Coach Gall.

"On defense, the front line played so well that there was not much for the line backers to do." The front line consists of ends J.D. Gould (2 sacks for 19 yards) and Tom Fielder, nose guard Brad Davis, and tackles Chris Fillyaw and Jeremy Strock.

The leaders on the offensive stats were: Brad Davis (9-83) TD's, Geoff Brooks (5-39), Mike Barnard (3-27), and Shane Goodell (8-26). Receivers were: Brent Woods (2-46), Shayne Ahrens (1-23), Mike Barnard (2-22), Kevin Phelps (1-17), and Brandon Woods (1-14).

Awards for the game:
Offensive Player - Brad Davis
Defensive Player - J.D. Gould

Scout Team - Kye Potter
Special Teams - Shayne Ahrens

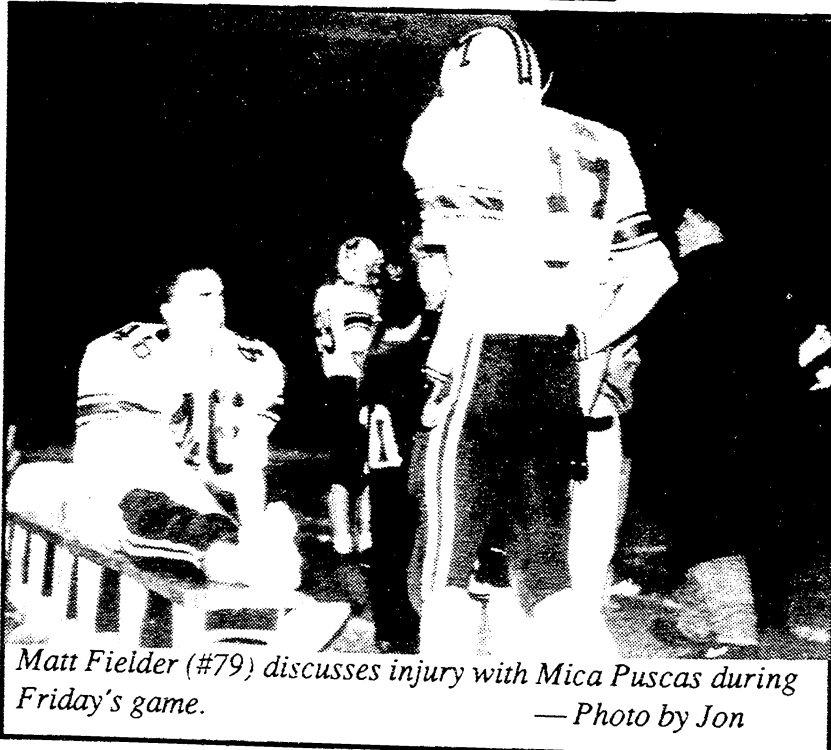

Coach Gall states that, "Although we improved from the first week, we have a lot of work to do. Grass Lake is a much tougher team - more disciplined. They are capable of making some big plays. We have to be ready to stop them."

Come to the home game this Friday, September 17, PARENTS' NIGHT, at home against Grass Lake - 7:30 PM.

It took our Little Dutch four days but by this Monday they had chalked up their second win of the season. Zack Maghes' 12-yard run to the end zone came at the 7:48 mark. Aaron Garrett soon followed with his own 44-yard touchdown run, followed by a Trevor Schliecher P.A.T.

Mark Harris opened the second quarter with a nifty 6-yard jaunt for another Manchester score. Again Schliecher kicked the point after. Three minutes later, Schliecher ran in another TD from 27 yards out. Besides accounting for 9 of the Dutch's 27 points, Trevor was a terror on defense, breaking up passes and making beautiful open field tackles.

With 8:11 left in the second quarter, lightning prevented the continuation of the game until this Monday. Following the aggressiveness of Thursday's play, Garrett picked off the opening pass play and sprinted 32 yards for his second touchdown of the game.

With 3:00 minutes left in the third quarter, Schliecher scored again. Garrett's point after was good. Freshman Steve Spurr closed out the scoring with a good run in the fourth quarter.

Coach Fielder had a chance to get a good look at a number of his younger players throughout the game. Once again our interior line was relentless on defense. Brian Duvall, Mike Mann, Jesse Hakken and Justin Porter completely dominated the offensive line.

The Dutchmen will be going for their third victory this Thursday at Grass Lake. Game time is 7:00 p.m.

Klager Comments

— by Renee Grimes, Reporter,
Klager Elementary, 3rd grade

We're back at it again, another school year. Here's the scoop on what's new at Klager this year.

You will see a few new faces which are Mrs. Birge and her kindergarten class.

We have also discovered that there are eight new pieces of equipment on our playground waiting to be broken in after a final safety check. The equipment is painted maroon and gold which happens to be our school colors, too.

Another surprise was the paved parking lot and driveway to our school which makes for a smooth ride on the bus, to and from school.

Our teachers and classmates are all busy preparing for another fine "Open House" on September 22, 1993. We hope to see you then and I'll be back next week with more "Klager Comments".

Lots of Help for First Graders

You may think that lunch time at Klager would be an easy task, but for our new first grade students it's no simple task the first week.

Our second and fourth grade students and Mrs. Jill Randall came to the rescue.

The twelve fourth grade students helped the first graders open milk and juice boxes, cheese sticks and many other items in their lunch boxes that are hard to open.

Our second grade students took a first grade buddy, helped them to either the hot lunch line or to their assigned table. Then off to the milk table or to the snack table if they needed to buy something extra for their lunch.

Our first graders are now experts at lunchtime at Klager, thanks to all the helpers here at Klager school.

An Open Letter to a Parent from U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley

If you get beyond the ditto sheets to helping children read novels, create stories, tackle real-life math problems and get into the excitement of science, they will learn more and score higher on tougher tests. It doesn't really matter whether they come from high-income or low-income backgrounds.

Setting standards, then, means encouraging your child to take the tougher course, the tougher teacher. Be careful not to "dumb down" your own child ... and don't let the school system do it either.

So how do you raise performance and give children a sense that they can do better?

A school teacher at my children's school had a fondness for quoting Proverbs. Her favorite was, "A wise son loves correction." My children were dutiful, to be sure, but not impressed by this passing wisdom. I am certain that your son or daughter will feel likewise.

But we are in trouble as a nation when one-third of all eighth-graders tell us that they have never discussed their homework with a parent.

Here is my best advice - if a parent or parents will spend one hour with their children each night on their schoolwork this coming year, we will transform this nation.

Teachers and schools should explain to you the practical ways you can help your children to learn. That's their job. But you have to set aside the time every day - place value, as it were - on the process of learning.

Finally, a word about that friendly monster, television. Children love "Barney" and that's great. And "Beavis and Butthead" is here to stay - of that I am sure.

But wouldn't it be refreshing if parents got some help from television producers and executives? Some rule of proportion about violence and a willingness to ask a basic gut question: "Is this good for kids or will this just sell the product?"

In the end, I suspect, you'll be on your own when it comes to TV. The same little remote control button that can turn "on" your TV can also turn it "off." Try it, then sit back. You may not always win the battle for the remote control but that may be where you have to start to make the process of learning important again.

Getting our kids back to school ultimately is more than a shopping trip for you or for me. It's a commitment to the possibility that our children can really have better lives if we all make the effort ... together and now.

Carbon Monoxide Alert

Now that fall and the time for turning on furnaces is here, Consumers Power Company is warning customers to be alert for the presence of carbon monoxide in their homes.

"Carbon monoxide is odorless, colorless and potentially dangerous," said Vince Edwards, the utility's area manager. "We want to emphasize to our customers the importance of having their furnace, flue and chimney inspected and cleaned every year. These simple procedures can help detect and eliminate potential problems which may result in carbon monoxide leaks," Edwards added.

Symptoms which may indicate carbon monoxide is present in your home are moisture on walls or windows, a stinging sensation in the eyes, dizziness, weakness, and repeated nausea and/or headaches. If carbon monoxide is suspected, Consumers Power or a qualified service contractor should be contacted immediately. Windows and doors should be opened to bring fresh air into the home.

Other tips to help ensure the safe operation of your heating system include:

- Make sure the chimney and vent pipe are free of obstructions such as leaves and bird nests.
• Check the flue pipe for possible rust and corrosion. Be sure it is correctly secured at both ends.
• Clean or install new furnace filters at least once a year.

Check air ducts and registers for blockage. If you move an appliance, make sure the vent pipe or hose is not blocked, crimped or otherwise damaged. "Again, customers who have concerns about the operation of their furnaces or feel they may be experiencing a carbon monoxide problem should contact Consumers Power or a qualified service contractor without delay. Our telephone center is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to assist customers with these and other matters," Edwards said.

Reye's Syndrome Alert

Reye's Syndrome is a very serious disease that you should know about. Some people develop Reye's Syndrome as they are getting over a viral illness like the flu or chicken pox. Reye's Syndrome usually affects people from infancy through young adulthood; however, no age group is immune. It can develop 3 to 5 days after the onset of chicken pox, upper respiratory infection, or other fever-causing illnesses. It affects the liver and brain, is non-contagious, and is often misdiagnosed as encephalitis, meningitis, diabetes, poisoning, drug overdose or sudden infant death.

Typically, Reye's occurs when someone is recovering from a viral illness and begins to feel better. A person's life can depend on early diagnosis. Watch for these symptoms, usually occurring in this order:

- Relentless or continuous vomiting
- Lethargy (loss of pep and energy with little interest in their environment)
- Drowsiness (excessive sleepiness)
- Personality change (such as irritability, slurred speech, sensitivity)
- Disorientation or confusion (unable to identify whereabouts, family members or answer questions)
- Combativeness (striking out at those trying to help)
- Delirium, convulsions or loss of consciousness

Reye's Syndrome should be suspected in anyone who vomits repeatedly. Phone your doctor immediately if these symptoms develop. Voice your concern about Reye's Syndrome. If your physician is unavailable, take the person to an Emergency Room promptly. Two liver function tests (SGOT, SGPT) can be done to determine the possibility of Reye's Syndrome. There is a 90% chance of recovery when the syndrome is treated in its earliest stages by physicians and nurses experienced in the treatment of Reye's.

Studies have shown that using aspirin or aspirin-containing medications to treat the symptoms of viral illnesses increases the chance of developing Reye's Syndrome. If you or a member of your family have a flu-like illness, do not use aspirin or aspirin-containing medications. In fact, you should consult your physician before you take any drugs to treat the flu or chicken pox, particularly aspirin or anti-nausea medicines. Anti-nausea medicines may mask the symptoms of Reye's Syndrome.

The National Reye's Syndrome Foundation (NRSF) recommends that aspirin and combination products containing aspirin not be taken by anyone under 19 years of age during fever-causing illnesses.

Aspirin is a part of the salicylate family of medicines. Another name for aspirin is acetylsalicylate; some drug labels may use the words acetylsalicylate, acetylsalicylic acid, salicylic acid or salicylate instead of the word aspirin. Currently, there is no conclusive data as to whether other forms of salicylates are associated with the development of Reye's Syndrome. Until further research has answered this question, the NRSF recommends that products containing any of these substances should not be taken during episodes of viral infections.

Who's a More Snappy Dresser, 60 or 16 Year Old? People over 60 are the more snappy dressers, snapping their seat belts 20% more than people between 4 and 16 years of age.

Occupants age 60 years and older have continued to have the highest restraint use, about 60%, among all age groups except occupants age 0 to 3.

Dear Mother -

Today is Sunday but regardless of the sacred character of the day, our Regt. is detailed for fatigue duty. We only have to work about one day in four, but today it happened to come our turn and so we had to go. The work is not by any means hard, as we form ourselves into regular reliefs, one relief working an hour and then lying in the shade while the other relief takes their turn and the remainder of the time when not strengthening our "position", is occupied by cleaning our arms, washing our clothes, policing our streets, writing to our friends, reading the news and making all the provision we can for the preservation of health. We don't have any drilling to do now at all partly owing to the nature of the ground which doesn't present very attractive surface for maneuvering Battalions.

JV FOOTBALL

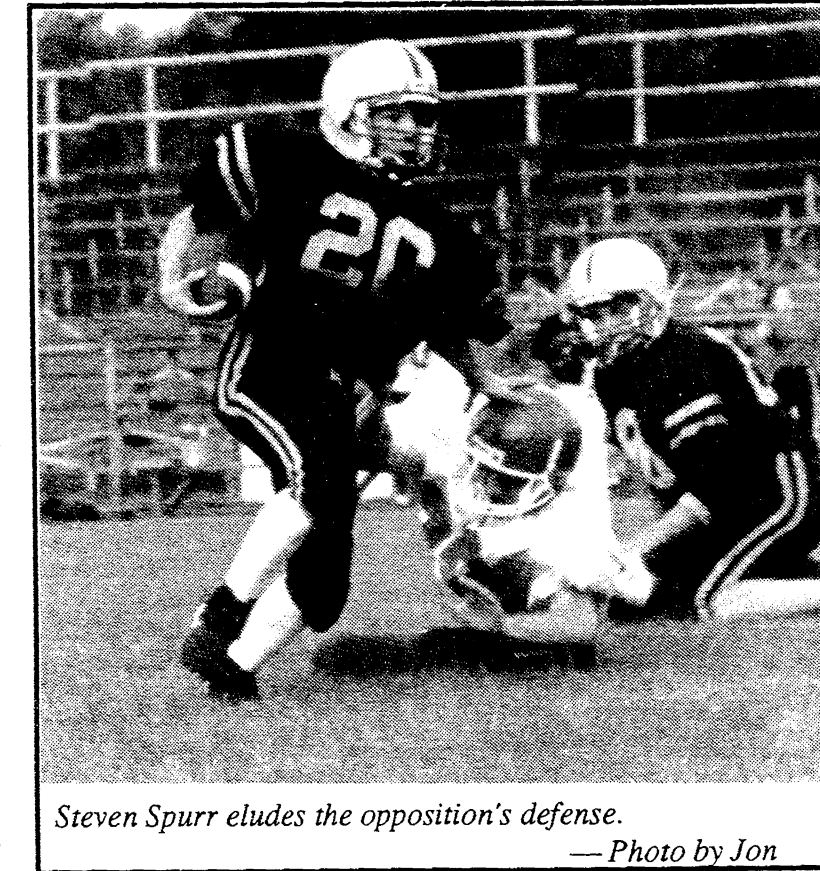

Manchester - 43 Grass Lake - 6

Coaches Fielder and Fielder tinkered with their line-up and added some new plays but the results remained the same. Our JV football team rolled over their opponent, Grass Lake, utilizing a tough defense combined with an explosive offense.

The Little Dutch completely controlled both sides of the line of scrimmage until the 4th quarter when the game was sufficiently out of reach. Grass Lake scored that quarter for the first points tallied against Manchester this year.

Again, the coaches got plenty of playing time from all their troops.

Bryan Duvall started things off right by intercepting a Dan Brown pass and rumbling back 15 yards to our 40. Eleven plays later Aaron Garrett punched it through at the 3-yard line. A Steve Riske to Mark Harris completion secured the P.A.T.

Steven Spurr eludes the opposition's defense.

With two seconds into the 2nd quarter, Zach Maghes scampered 64 yards for a 14-0 lead. Tom Pawlowski recovered a Grass Lake fumble but our offense momentarily sputtered only to have our defense notch up another two points via safety.

For the remaining eight minutes of the quarter, the Dutch dominated. Maghes, Garrett, Riske and Trevor Schleicher ran wild as the offensive line, led by Mike Mann, Justin Porter and Duvall, took ownership of the trenches.
