Has the state taken over raising all revenues for local schools even though it has taken over more control of the operation of local schools? NO!

Our leaders have lead us to believe that all school operating funds will come from the state, and local school districts will no longer be in the millage business. Don't let them fool you! Locally-voted property tax dollars will stiil be needed to fund

Your school district will have to ask for a millage increase if it:

* is not currently operating under a voter-approved, multiple-year millage. This means many school districts will need to have a millage vote after the March 15 statewide election to maintain their level of spending *is currently spending more than $6,500 per pupil and wants tomaintain its level of spending. * wants to build a new school or remodel an existing building.

* wants to improve current educational opportunities including computer technology and instruction so our students can be competitive with those in other countries.

* is currently spending its savings to maintain its educational programs. Very little revenue from a school district's savings has been applied to the state's guarantee of $4,200 per

* has expenditures which grow faster than revenue allows

. * becomes overburdened from paying employer's share of FICA (social security) and state's share of retirement costs for employees — a significant cost, recently shifted from the state to local school districts. which will only increase as teacher's salaries rise and educators retire.

If local millages are not approved, cuts may be made in transportation, equipment purchases, current basic educational programs—reading, writing and arithmetic, extra-curricular activities, hours of operation, afterschool programs, hot lunches and even custodial services and building maintenance. As we saw with Kalkaska last year, schools may even close.

Indeed, property tax reform in Michigan will not save homeowners as much money as expected. Property taxpayers will still pay the price — either by approving local millages or reducing the quality of education for our children.

Ask no questions and hear no lies. Ask and you shall receive.

The Fish Fry is really a "home grown operation". In case you think they go for the commercial stuff here, you're mistaken. On Friday mornings, a dedicated crew of women come in and batter the fish according to their own special recipe (Move over, Colonel Sanders!) and make many of the salads which are served on Friday night. Many of these women have been doing this since "Day One", according to Larry Becktel who's himself been sitting at the welcoming table most every week since this whole thing started. No one seems to know how long the fish fries have been going on. Larry seemed to think it had been about eight years, Pat DuRussel thought more like ten. At any rate, many Manchester families have grown up with the tradition of fish on Friday nights, even though the "official reason" for the tradition doesn'texistanymore. "Some people you can count on like clockwork," Larry stated. "They'll be there year after year, every Friday. They can't

I would like to thank everyone who kept looking for her during the next five area, beware: there is someone

To the person who thought it was their right to SHOOT my dog and DUMP HER BODY ON THE RAISIN RIVER, thanks for having no compassion for my family or my pet. This cowardly act was totally unnecessary. Ashley was a friendly dog who had never run away before, and though some people may say she was probably harassing livestock or chasing deer, I don't think this was the case as there was no evidence or witnesses to prove this.

If the person who did this is "man" enough to shoot our pet, be "man" enough to face us instead of throwing her body on the river for us to find. This will never happen, though, because the trigger-happy person wouldn't have the conscience or moral responsibility to come which my family and many others in the Manchester area find reprehensible.

My turn in the nursery

Last Sunday was my turn in the nursery to work. My heart wasn't in it, and my feelings were hurt. A child from its mother did not want to part And cried a lot with its broken heart. I prayed that soon the hour would end, That I could relax – no more children to tend. Soon the hour was over - felt good to be free. I said once a month was too much for me! That very next Sunday, as I sat in the pew, A very good sermon, but visitors were few. But down came a woman and her soul was saved And she was the mother of the crying babe. Then it dawned on me that I had been a part Of one being saved – giving God her heart. From that day on, I would never dread Working in the nursery while souls were being fed. -Morrow United Methodist Church

Shakespeare Club

The Shakespeare Reading Club held its rescheduled February 8th meeting on the 15th in the Emanuel Church lounge. The program, entitled, "This and That Naturally" was presented by Annette van der Beginning with a reading from naturalist Aldo Leopold's account of the joys and pleasures of living close to nature in Michigan's north country, she went on to tell of the intrigues practiced routinely in the insect world in the procuring of food and providing for the young. The seemingly ingenious schemes were, however, carried out by instinct. She next touched upon the problems arising from the importation, by accident or design, of plant and animal species from other lands. Once freed from the natural enemies of their homelands, they have multiplied prodigiously and become a nuisance if not a threat to agricultural pursuits.

Noting the persisting superstitions regarding the curative properties of various plants, she proceeded to tell of the recurrent interest and subsequent research into chemical compounds found naturally in plants that have proved to have medicinal value. Of particular interest is a potential cancer antidote obtained from the barks of European and Asiatic yew trees. Chemists are recently reported to be able to duplicate the product in a laboratory. The rare trees may thus be saved from exploitation and possible extinction.

The group then proceeded to continue their reading of "Midsummer Nights Dream" -Gail Curtis

The Manchester Area Historical Society met on Tuesday, February 15, at the Blacksmith Shop. The program was on courtship and how politics and the economy shape people's relationships with one another. Deb Havens, program chairman, showed a short videotape to set the stage. In the early 1900s children worked long, hard hours in factories, and women's suffrage was an issue. In the 1950's there was the Korean War, women worked in factories to replace the men who went to war, and cars were bigger and faster. An average car cost $1800 and gasoline was 29 cents per gallon. Shopping centers became community centers, 20 was the average marriage age for women, and women were expected to help hubby up the corporate ladder. In the 1960s came the Vietnam War - the first war the people did not support. Thousands of men left the country to avoid the draft. Watching TV became very popular and discrimination became

Horning Farms On the MOOO-ve

February 6th: these people are literally on the mooo-ve!

The day of the open house, it was nearly impossible to find a parking place "between the cars and the calves". Over 500 people attended the luncheon and open house of the milking parlors. Once the parking was accomplished, the next task was to find something to eat. The spic and span tool barn was set up with long tables and chairs, and lined with people from wall to wall. The luncheon consisted of sloppy joes, fresh vegetables, chips and dip, cheese, home made Texas Sheet Cakes, and, of course, lots of MILK.

Diane Horning and Jan Sober (from J & M Dairy Supply in Hillsdale- the supplier of the milking parlor and equipment) served the luncheon and fixed many of the goodies.

When it comes to which product to

Hammerstrom co-sponsors Agricultural Bill

Michigan farmers will pay the same property tax rate on all land classified by the local assessor as agricultural under legislation co-sponsored by state Rep. Beverly Hammerstrom, R-Temperance.

The March 15 ballot proposal levies 6 mills on homesteads and the statutory plan 12 mills. Both call for a 24-mill tax on nonhomestead property. The statutory plan requires that farmers earn more than 50 percent of their household income from farming to qualify for the lower tax. Also, farmland not adjacent and contiguous to the homestead is subject to the 24-mill commercial rate.

"Both plans are flawed because the state will tax identical land at different minage rates," the 55th District lawmaker said. "The solution is simple. We should put all land currently classified as agricultural under the homestead exemption.

"This clears any confusion and lets farmers know exactly what they are voting for on March 15." Hammerstrom explained that agricultural land under either plan would not be taxed uniformly in direct contradiction of the state constitution.

"Although farmers would be better off under the ballot plan because they do not have to meet gross-income or contiguous tests if their homestead is agricultural land, farmers who live in residential areas and farm on land classified as agricultural are not addressed," she said.

Michigan State University agricultural economists estimate taxing all agricultural land at 6 mills will reduce tax revenue by only $16 million.

The measure has more than 40 cosponsors. "The great advantage of this substitution is the simplicity of the language," Hammerstrom said. "Farmland is defined by its use. This is the language tax assessors use and it is understood at every level of government.

"Landowners will not be subjected to an income test, and it will not matter whether a farm is owned by an individual, partnership, corporation, or if it is leased or rented," Hammerstrom said. "It also doesn't matter where the land is in relation to the home-

Michigan State University Professor Lynn Harvey, extension specialist in state and local government, said the new bill makes good policy sense.

"It takes away the interpre-tive problem in the former bills," Harvey said. "The different millage rates created an onerous assessing burden for local officials and sharply raised administrative costs at the township and county we were ready to do battle both our kids. individually and team wise, knowing that we had a tough road ahead of us in team Districts. We worked hard and thought we were ready with Onsted, our first opponent.

We knew it would come down to our upper weights but first our lower weights built a nice lead for us, with wins coming from Steve Spurr and Jay Fiss collecting early pins. Our middle weights really controlled the rest of the match with Seniors Eric Anderson, Mike Bunn and Brent Woods all winning. Bryan Duvall pinned his kid early in the first; this brought us down to the most important match of our Senior Mike Croghan stepped on the mat at 160 and won a thriller in overtime against a tough kid, bringing us a victory by the score of 36-28. Clinton was our next foe after our victory over Onsted. I think our team had a mental letdown which cost us the match and the District championship. Some of our winners were Sophomores Ryan Eiss, Joe Tobias, Bryan Duvall and Brian Ash.

Brent Woods was our only other winner even though Mike Croghan, Dustin Williams and Ed Cruz all wrestled well in the upper weights. Even though we didn't win, we still had a successful season winning 15 and only losing 6.

Saturday we traveled to tricts where I knew it would be tough to get a lot of our kids through, considering we had one hope to see you there. of toughest districts in the State

With District week upon us, and real tough weight classes for

We ended up getting 4 of our kids through, with Freshman Steve Spurr placing in 4th place at 103 with two close losses; hopefully able to recover at Regionals and become the only Freshman at Manchester ever to Qualify for the State Tournament. Senior Brent Woods brought home the third District Championship of his career, which is another record that he now holds for Manchester and raising his record to 41-1.

Sophomore Bryan Duvall came back strong and captured his first District Championship by defeating Terry Stubli of Addison in the finals by the score of 4-3. This after Bryan had previously been beaten by him the past two matches. This is what you call turning it on at the right time! Bryan now has a 41-4

Mike Croghan finished up our placers by taking a fourth place at 160. He was beaten by a defending State Champ and another Addison kid but in all congratulations on a good job and hard work all year. Mike now has 24 wins on the year.

In closing, I would like to thank all the wrestlers who will not be continuing for a great year. It was really a lot of fun and especially to my seniors who have been with me for the past 4 years, Thanks Guys (and see you youngsters next year.) Saturday at Bronson we will be Napoleon for individual Dis- wrestling for the right to advance to the State Championships. Wrestling starts at 10:00;
