SCHOOL MILLAGE VOTES VERY DIFFERENT FROM MILLAGE VOTES OF THE PAST

By State Treasurer Douglas B. Roberts

Voters in many districts will be going to the polls this month to vote on school millages - millage votes that many thought were a thing of the past. With the passage of Proposal A in March, Michigan voters have been assured a more equitable school funding system will receive significantly lower school property taxes on primary homes. Our new school taxing system lowers schools' reliance on local school mills by up to 65%. It does, however, require some local effort toward paying for the changes in our school financing system. The following points will, I hope, give you important information as you decide how you will vote on an upcoming millage election.

- All property in the state is assessed a 6 mill State property tax. This tax is not voted and is collected with other local property taxes and forwarded to the state School Aid Fund.

- All school districts must levy an additional 18 mills on NON-HOMESTEAD property in order to receive their full state guaranteed foundation grant for each student in the district. These 18 mills, if previously in place before Proposal A, may continue to be levied without a vote until they expire. Once these mills expire, local voters must renew these 18 mills on NON-HOMESTEADS. These 18 mills, plus the 6 state mills, will guarantee a per-pupil foundation grant equal to this year's revenues plus an inflationary cost of not less than $160 per student. This formula applies to the 517 districts which spent less than $6,500 per student in 1993-94.

- There are 40 districts in which revenues were more than $6,500 per student this year. In these districts, "hold harmless" mills will be required in addition to the millage listed above. The "hold harmless" mills will be used to make up the difference between the state-funded $6,500 per student and the current spending per student. For example, if a school district was spending $8,500 per pupil in 1993-94, then the "hold harmless" mills will be needed to raise $2,000 per pupil - the difference between $6,500 and $8,500.

- Finally, some local school districts are seeking an allowable three extra mills for up to three years. These "enhancement" mills can only be levied for three years and cannot be renewed. School districts requesting voter support for these extra mills will need to tell local voters the purpose of these extra mills for their own school district.

One of the most important aspects of our new financing system is that most districts presenting a renewal request to voters are asking for extended authorization - thus eliminating the frequent voting patterns of the past and allowing voters to vote every 10 to 20 years. This provides a considerable savings in human and financial resources which can, and should, be used more effectively in the classroom. Thus, school districts are not completely out of the millage business. Locking in 18 mills on NON-HOMESTEADS will not limit revenues per student; the State will continue to fund increases. And, Proposal A amended the State Constitution guaranteeing per-pupil revenues will never fall below this year's levels...regardless of what happens to our economy over time. If a district fails to approve the 18 mills on non-homestead property, the result will be less dollars for the school district. The Legislature is working on a bill that clearly outlines what happens if voters fail to support the 18 mills. It is expected that the school district will continue to receive the state portion of their per-pupil foundation grant, but would lose the local portion. This situation would effectively cut school revenues by 50% to 60% in some districts.

If you live in a school district that spent more than $6,500 per pupil, you will be asked to vote the 18 mills on non-homesteads and a number of additional mills on your homestead. The purpose of these additional mills is to maintain the level of spending your district experienced during this school year. The bottom line is that for the vast majority of school districts, homestead taxes for schools will be limited to 6 mills and non-homestead taxes will be 24 mills. Please keep this information in mind as you go to the polls this month to vote on school mills. And remember, the 18 mills you are voting will be placed on NON-HOMESTEAD property only.

EWG

Our local school district is undergoing a complete change in both how our schools are being funded and what we are financially responsible for.

We can talk of foundation grants, full funding and the myriad of changes created by the new state financing law. However the BOTTOM LINE IS THIS.

The State of Michigan will fund the Manchester School District with $4597 per student without the requested 18 mills being passed, on Non - Homestead property. We will have $5338 for each pupil, for operating if the 18 mills passes.

The district will also receive, in special grants, $141 for special Ed., transportation, bilingual, at risk monies and misc. grants from the State. The Federal grant funds will give an additional $368 from county ISD funds, Food service and business loan interest.

We will be responsible for paying all Employee Retirement Costs, in the amount of $369,000 in 94/95 year. At risk students for academic performance and special education will be another $84,640. For an increased liabilities cost of $453,680.

No one is sure at this point in time what the final outcome of the new state funding act will be. We will have to be on guard and financially responsible if we educate properly.

Second Front Page: Earl Alber

Still Working After All These Years

At age 77, and after working for sixty years, you'd think Earl Alber was ready to slow down. Not much chance of that, by the looks of things. Earl has several years' work and projects planned out for himself. He seems to have plenty to keep him busy!

We caught up with Earl in his workshop on the hill behind his house. That's where he does most of his business these days. What he does now is welding and chain saw repair and sharpening - but looking at his workshop, you can see he's ready to do just about anything. He certainly has the equipment for it.

In 1934, Earl was a young man who hadn't finished high school - not for lack of desire but his "father wasn't keen on the idea". In those Depression days, you did what father said, even when you were seventeen. He began by working for Earl Koebbe who had his welding shop at the corner of Adrian and Ockrow Streets. Koebbe was his "tutor", and Earl credits him with teaching him the ins and outs of the business - all for $5.50 per week. "And I'm not talking eight hour days." Every other week, he worked afternoons. Which was all right, because he still had Saturday nights, "And we were fresh for dancing while the rest of the guys were kind of tired from working all day."

Earl still has his first sign he hung in one of his own businesses, over fifty-five years ago.

After a few years of apprenticeship at Koebbe's, Earl went on to work at Carl Schaible's Ford Dealership. During the War, he went to Tirb Chevrolet, and at that time was also a constable and a deputy sheriff. During the early War years, he was Civilian Defense Coordi-

"There were years that if you sold one piece of equipment, you felt you had done pretty well," says Earl. The Standard station was geared more towards the bread and butter. "That was the State Police 'Substation' in Manchester in those days," Earl recalls. The State Police officers wanted to know if they could use his phone occasionally, and as a 'kinsman' in law enforcement, Earl was happy to oblige. "There were times that we had two or three police cars out front, and people would stop in and ask me if I was expecting some trouble."

The days on Main Street were good ones. Earl remembers many old friends who would while away the days with talk and watching who went by on Main Street. Many of them are gone, now, which leaves Earl wondering, "What have I done wrong [to still be around]? Whatever it is, I'd better keep doing it." Certainly he should, if he plans to get some of these projects done!
It seems if Earl hasn't done a job, it hasn't been done. Over the years he was a mail carrier for ten years, and spent forty years on the Fire Department. He certainly hasn't lacked for variety in his career.

Earl may have slowed down with age, but he hasn't forgotten much. His current philosophy is, "Well, what I can't do, don't get done." He finds time to do most everything he wants to accomplish, while keeping those books for the damned government, too.

Stop in and visit Earl - you'll probably find him in his workshop barn, too - and plan to spend some time watching who's going by on Main Street these days.

Editorial Enterprise Endorses Gleason and Schulz

Emory Garlick
The Manchester Enterprise is endorsing candidates Mike Gleason and Sonja Schulz for Manchester Board of Education. We feel both Mike and Sonja are hard working, intelligent individuals with varied backgrounds that can provide new energy and direction to the Board of Education.

Mr. Gleason has a very broad background and experience with handicapped students. His stand on ethics, quality and funding is straight forward, open and filled with common sense. Mike has a very subtle sense of humor that is not always understood but his down to earth approach covers needed priorities.

Mike is for education of all students and wants them to have the highest quality education possible. Without doubt Mr. Gleason will provide a much needed show me position on the Board.

Sonja Schulz has a great deal of enthusiasm and a varied educational background. She is a willing and dedicated worker and has spent considerable time at both the Klager and the Middle school's helping with activities.

A very straight forward person who wants the facts to make decisions. Sonja wants the community to be informed on able having him do this.

Dear Editor:

I have never considered myself old fashioned...until the last few months. We have been having people come to our pond to fish. None of these people have called or stopped at the house to ask permission. They drive their trucks on my husband's newly planted fields and have, on occasion, set up shelters to fish in the rain. They have set up a shanty to go ice fishing and they have been here at 5:00 in the morning!

My husband has gone down and asked some of them to leave; however since we do not know who they are I am not comfort-

On Sunday, May 22, I called the police when four men showed up - again without our permission. My daughters watched them from a window in order to see the police man arrive. The policeman was very busy and did not get here before they left; but one gentleman decided to relieve himself in full view of the window where my daughters were still watching! Is there no decency left? Am I that old-fashioned? We are in the process of putting up a barrier, and believe me I will call the police again.

Lois E. Hochstetler

Did you know that the U.S. Postal Service represents the best communications value in the world?

It's true. No other postal system in the world delivers such fast, reliable and widespread mail products and delivery services at such low prices. That's why consumers and businesses from coast to coast rely on the U.S. Postal Service to deliver 580 million letters and packages each day.

But, we're not content.

The U.S. Postal Service and its nearly 700,000 employees are striving to improve service by:

- Processing letters and packages more quickly and efficiently.
- Introducing products and services that provide solutions for our customers' communications needs.
- Offering quality products, at affordable prices, at 40,000 post offices nationwide.
- Delivering world-class volume at world-class value — 171 billion pieces of mail annually, or more than 40 percent of the world's mail.
- Protecting you and your mail with 2100 Postal Inspectors dedicated to the sanctity of the U.S. Mail and consumer protection.

We continue to be our toughest critic.

We've taken a long, hard look at ourselves to determine how we can be better. So far we've streamlined our operation and lowered our operating costs (as always, no tax dollars support us).

And we'll do more.

So that the U.S. Postal Service continues to provide the best communications value and service in the world.

If you'd like to learn more about the U.S. Postal Service, please call or write your local Postmaster. ©1994 USPS

OUT & ABOUT — by gar

Today is June 6th, the 50th anniversary of "D" day. The invasion of Europe and beginning of the end of Hitler. I remember this day and V E day. Victory in Europe. I was to young for World War II.

I delivered the Detroit News starting in 1943-44-45 so the war in Europe was foremost in most of our minds. There were little red flags hanging in the windows of homes where soldiers once lived. Those red flags had a white star on them for each active soldier.

Those flags represented not only a soldier but a neighbor that most of us knew. Mothers, Fathers or Spouses were proud that their son or husband was serving our country. They were also lonesome and worried that their loved one might not return home. I remember one family, the McPhee's whose flag's white star changed to gold. Jay McPhee was killed in Europe. His kid brother Bob, was my class mate and friend. There were a lot of sad faces in the neighborhood. Bob's brother's death, had more meaning to us than any soldier's death. We knew him, not well, but we all shared in the loss. The saddest thing about Jay's death was that his body was never returned to this country so the family could visit his grave.

World War II was very personal to us. I marvel when I hear someone ask what was D day. Where was Normandy?

"Those who do not study history are destined to repeat it". Let us hope not, the price of peace is very high.

Age 76, died Sunday, June 5, 1994 at her son Craig's home in Manchester. She was born on September 24, 1917 in Detroit, Michigan, the daughter of Anna and Dmytro Sawicke. She was a graduate of Manchester and a resident of Chelsea since 1940.

Mary Ann was an active member of the First Congregational Church of Chelsea for 49 years and a member of the church choir for 47 years. A longtime member of the Chelsea Rebekah Lodge, former treasurer of Spaulding for Children and active in many other local organizations.

She married Geno Guy Coltre on March 29, 1941. She is survived by her sons and daughter-in-law: William Coltre of Chelsea and Craig and Bernadette Coltre of Manchester; and two grandchildren, Michael and Laura Coltre. Also surviving is her brother, Steven Sawicke and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband of 44 years, Geno, in 1985, and two brothers John and Michael Sawicke.

Funeral Services will be held Wednesday, June 8, 1994, at 11:00 am at the First Congregational Church of Chelsea with Rev. Keith Roberson and Rev. Rosemary Chaffee officiating. Burial will follow at Oak Grove Cemetery, Chelsea.

The family received callers at the Cole Funeral Chapel Monday 7-9 and Tuesday 1-5 and 6-9 pm; and at the Church after 10:am Wednesday.

Memorial contributions may be made to First Congregational Church or Individualized Home Nursing Care.

Let's have a spelling lesson. Take the word disappointment. Remove the letter D. Put the letter H in its place. What do you have? His appointment. Nothing comes to a child of God by accident, only by His appointment. Look at Joseph. His brother sold him into slavery. Then he was falsely accused and cast into prison for two hard years. But he said to his brother "God turned into good what you meant for evil." How? God took him from prison to the premiership of Egypt. Yes, "All things work together for good to them that love God. Do you love God?"

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL
 Emanuel Church and St. Mary's Church will be co-sponsoring a Vacation Bible School held June 13-17 from 6-8:15 pm. The theme is: "God So Loved The World". All Children ages three through sixth grade are invited and urged to attend.

MANCHESTER AREA SENIOR CITIZENS News

by T.V. Ludwick

The sun shone on our high school graduates and we hope it always will with some rain to keep them on an even keel. We all needed that combination of the past twenty four hours on Sunday and early Monday—gardens and fields of corn and other grains begging. It did it in the right order, too. Where do all those graduation guests go if that order is reversed? Under the tent or to their cars? It is a hostess' nightmare, huh?

Thursday, June 9: Today is the final senior lunch for this season and we hope you all come by first calling Jan at 428-7630 before 10:30 AM. Chef's choice is on the menu and aren't surprises fun? Come see, all you who are 55 or older. Bingo isn't listed on the calendar, but if there is interest, it will be held at the Center. Council meeting and work on the July-August calendar was held at an earlier date, so disregard the June 14th notice.

While writing this on June 6, we are aware of those gathered for the 50th anniversary of the Normandy Invasion during World War II. While talking on the phone to daughter Janet in Muskegon, she asked if we could tell her what the D stood for in D-Day. I said if I ever knew, the memory was lost, but we would try to look it up and let her know.

No explanation of this code word was forthcoming in the encyclopedia and we said, "Let's call the experts". First call to Marilyn LaRock sent her looking and Howard Parr also had no immediate answer. What could the D stand for? The book explained that between Roosevelt and Churchill, "Defeat Germany first" was a possibility while planning the invasion. Howard arrived at 'Departure', which would cover both date and time. It surely takes kid's questions to try hard to come up with answers. Anybody out there with an answer to this question?

Eighth Grade Trip to Washington, DC

by Alyssa Chartrand

On Thursday, May 26, the eighth grade class went on a trip to Washington, DC. It started at 5 a.m. on the morning on the 26th.

Eleven hours later, we found ourselves in Gettysburg at the Civil War Museum, where we had a chance to look at the exhibits before the Electric Map presentation, which told the story of the Battle of Gettysburg by using lights. After the presentation, we went on a tour of the battlefield and saw many of the memorials in the area as well as places where parts of the battle were fought.

The next day we did several fun things. Our first stop in Washington, D.C. was the White House. We didn't go in because of the long wait, but we took pictures of the White House and its surroundings.

Next, after a long wait in line, we entered Ford's Theatre, where we heard the story of Lincoln's assassination. After another long wait, we went into the Petersen Boarding House, where Lincoln died.

We had lunch at the food court at Union Station, and then we were on our way to Arlington Cemetery, where we would see the changing of the guard and four of our classmates (Adam Corwin, Mary Ann Fillyaw, Meghan Greenwald and Mike Meranuck) would participate in the wreath laying ceremony. We also saw the graves of several famous people.

We rode the subway to the Smithsonian Institution, where we went to the American History and Natural History sections. Some of the main attractions were the Hope Diamond, the First Ladies Exhibit, and Dorothy's Ruby Slippers.

After dinner at the food court at Pentagon City, we went on the Illuminated Tour, which included the Vietnam Memorial, the Nurses Me-monial, the Einstein Memorial, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, Iwo Jima Memorial and the Kennedy Center.

The next morning we visited the Capitol and the Supreme Court. Then we had a group photo taken on front of the Capitol building. The picture was taken by a camera which takes pictures section by section, so one person, after their section's picture is taken, ducks and runs up to the other side and turns up on both sides of the picture.

Next, we went to the Air and Space section of the Smithsonian Institution. We saw the plan that Charles Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic in, and got a chance to be an air traffic controller.

We ate lunch at the Shops at the National Place and went on the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, which was, for me, by far the most impressive part of the trip.

Each student or chaperone received a card with a picture of and information about a real person who had lived during the Holocaust. That really brought it alive, especially if you saw "your" name on a list somewhere in the museum. But the best part was Daniel's Story, which tells about a Jewish boy who lived during the Holocaust.

Through his diary and a tour of the places where he lived, you learn about what it was like to see your neighborhood torn apart by Nazi soldiers and what life was like in the ghettos and concentration camps.

After the Holocaust Museum, we departed for Luray Caverns, which are considered the most beautiful caverns in the United States. After being there, I can certainly see why. The limestone formations are really gorgeous. We listened to a performance of the Stalacpipe Organ, which uses the stalactites as pipes. I was surprised to learn that many people have been married in Luray Caverns.

After Luray, we started on the long trek home. And although every single person who went on the trip came home half asleep, it was worth it because it's something we'll never forget.

School Board Profiles

Mike Gleason

My Top Three Priorities: Ethics - Without ethics, all other priorities are useless. Manchester schools need to have and use a code of ethics. The company I work for has one. Dishonesty is the most serious violation of the code; subject to immediate discharge. It doesn't stop dishonesty, but it makes control of it possible. Ethics as I see it is honesty, open communication, a refusal to hurt others for one's own gain, and a willingness to work for your pay. Quality - We need a constant attempt at quality education for all students, not just the gifted or just special ed or just the average student. We need the opportunity for each student to achieve the best he or she can. We need to measure the progress of all students, and report all results instead of just the ones that look good and the bare minimum required by the state. Funding - Our students need to be warm and dry, but they don't need carpeted halls. They need the best teachers we can get, but they don't need teachers that are paid so much they're in it only for the money. The administration needs to serve the students and the taxpayers. The taxpayers are not there to serve the school administration. Our school needs to be part of the community, not above it or below it.

Joe Turk

Top Three Priorities: Curriculum Development sometimes gets lost in the discussion of school financing reform and facility needs. However, formal education of our children happens in the classroom setting. The curriculum is the road map for the information taught. The demands for our children to master special skills is increasing. These new demands can be seen in new outcome requirements by the State Board of Education and significantly revised MEAP tests. Much work still remains and it must be a continuously improving process. Over the past years a lot of work has taken place to cut cost without affecting the quality of programs offered. There has been involvement by staff in brainstorming and prioritizing actions. The number of community members who volunteer their time has increased. Administrators have looked for ways to reduce budgets. School finance reform does not eliminate the need for continued costs savings each year. The Board needs to finalize the plans to ease overcrowding at Klager Elementary. Currently there are three portable classrooms. For the 1994/95 school year there is a strong possibility that another classroom will be required. The support spaces, library, lunch room, computer room, special ed and storage are over-extended. In 1994/95, we need to decide what changes need to be made to help the Klager Students.

Pat Sahakian

Top Three Priorities: The first priority must be educating the voters about the new state financing laws. We must approve the 18 mill tax levy on non-homestead property on June 13 or we will not receive our complete grant of $5,323 per student for the 1994-95 school year. The state will deduct from our funding what is not raised by local taxes on non-homestead property. Passage of this millage is critical. The second priority will be learning to create our budgets with the state controlling our revenue. No longer will local districts determine budget needs and then be able to ask the voters to approve funding. Now the state will be giving us a foundation grant. The board will develop a budget based on the revenues available recognizing accountability to taxpayers and responsibility to our children. The third priority has to be the issue of overcrowding at Klager. We gain an additional first grade class next fall. Finding space for these students will not be easy. Moving music out of its classroom, higher class sizes, using the lobby or cutting program costs for more trailers are our only options. There simply are no more rooms available. Ignoring this problem hurts our children and children should be what schools are all about.

Sonja Schulz

Top Three Priorities: First of all, I don't know what the priorities will be, should I be on the board. These will become apparent once the board reconvenes and I know what is going on there. Personally, my priorities would be: Education: We must constantly improve our curriculum at all grade levels. That means the best materials to give our children the best chances to get the jobs that pay well. These children will be shaping our future in years to come. I want it to be a good future. Fiscal Responsibility: The budget needs to be well-balanced and honest. The community has a right to know how their tax dollars are being spent. Each building and department has to be accountable for their spending. Detailed, itemized listing to the last penny is a must. Code of conduct and integrity by all involved in our schools: As a member of the board, the administration and the staff, you are representing our school. Should you make a bad decision or a mistake, you have to have the backbone to admit it and apologize. Board members should be able to question decisions and not be afraid to say, "NO." They are not there to win a popularity contest and shouldn't be afraid to step on some people's toes.

Manchester High School will be represented well by these three talented students.

Jenny Nosbisch Selected for National Kidney Foundation Research

Jenny Nosbisch has been chosen by the National Kidney Foundation as one of eight students in the county to participate in a ten week, full-time research program in which high school students work on kidney research projects in the laboratories of local research nephrologists in a university setting.

In addition to being the top science student in the junior class, Jenny has an impressive background in extra-curricular activities including volleyball, softball, quiz bowl, cheerleading, Drama Club, Student Council, Math and Science Academic Teams and National Honor Society.

Gazebo Concert Season Set to Begin

If today is Thursday, June 9, then it is just one quick week until opening night for the 1994 Gazebo Concert Season, next Thursday, June 16! This is an annual gift to the Manchester community through the efforts of a number of dedicated community volunteers.

The first season of concert events began the summer following the Gazebo being built, dedicated, and then given to the Village as a gift from the Manchester Area Historical Society. Several individuals in the community were taken with idea of having concerts there on summer evenings and were willing to do whatever was necessary to bring about this long and varied concert season. They soon found the Manchester Recreation Task Force to support the project and make it happen. And so it has, each year for the past six years.

On Thursday evenings you can hear a variety of types of musical talent—"home grown" and "big city"—at the Gazebo on our village green. A gathering of Manchester friends and neighbors, young and old, are always there to enjoy it.

They bring lawn chairs or blankets and settle in for an evening of old-fashioned, simple fun: the enjoyment of excellent music (from jazz to barber shop quartet to folk music to big band); the pleasure of seeing and visiting with folks you may not have seen in a while; the joy of watching the young ones playing and just being kids, like young ones have always been in all times, tumbling and dancing and being uninhibited and free. Don't miss a single concert this season!

Gazebo Concerts are held each Thursday evening during the summer, beginning at 7:30 p.m., at the Gazebo located on West Main Street near the corner of Macomb. They last until about 9:00 p.m.

The concert season begins June 16 and will run through August 18. The only Thursday exception is during Community Fair week, July 14, when there will be no concert because of all the activities at the Fair that evening. Otherwise it's every Thursday all summer long!

Don't miss the season opener next week. It will feature Manchester's favorite string band: The Raisin Pickers. This band is home grown, made up of Manchester-ites Carol Palms, Mark Palms, Mike Gleason, Bill Farmer, and Gary Reynolds. But it is also very, experienced and highly talented. Most of all, the Raisin Pickers are great fun!! Their music is pure enjoyment: bluegrass, novelty tunes, string band swing, and originals!

Stop over. Be sure to bring the family, and bring a friend. It's summertime in Manchester! At the Gazebo on the village green. (In case of rain, the concert will be moved indoors, to either the K of C Hall or Emanuel Church Hall. The rain location will be posted on the Gazebo. Oh...if you happen to have any connections, please ask whoever is in charge of the shipping department at the "weather headquarters" to send us a clear, dry evening. Thank you!

New State Flag Flying at Library

Fly it proudly! Sincerely, Kit Askin, Chief Sergeant-at-Arms, Michigan Senate. Thank you to Pat and Sen. Pollack for making sure that our library now has a new State Flag."

Chamber of Commerce

At the June 1 board of directors meeting, the Manchester Area Chamber of Commerce board regrettably decided to cancel the campfire due to the many commitments of the summer time. However, the board and other Chamber members are continuing the process of producing a new Manchester Business Directory. The new directory should be available September 1, 1994 and will be distributed free to all Manchester residents and businesses.

A mailing has been sent to all businesses currently in the Chamber database. If your business has not received a mailing, please contact Eileen Ball of Manchester Electric (428-8243) with your listing information. Eileen, together with Mary Kallewaard of The Written Image, will be assembling the entire directory for the Chamber.

As was the case with the 1992 directory, advertisements will be accepted to defray the cost of printing.

Voters Pass Eighteen Mills For Schools

Susan and Rudy Layher fill out their voter identification forms while son Matthew looks on. A concerted community effort passed the requested millage on non-homestead property.

With a total of 810 votes cast, despite closing the polls for 1 hour and 10 minutes due to inclement weather, Manchester residents passed the requested 18 mills on non-homestead property.

Only sixteen percent of our 5095 registered voters from the School District cast their ballots.

784 voters turned out on Monday. Some were asked to wait due to Superintendent Niedzwiecki's need to secure the school premises during a tornado warning.

"It wasn't the smoothest election we've ever had," according to Joyce Golightly, who is Chairman of the Election Board. Between closing down for inclement weather and one of the three voting machines jammed due to faulty loading by Doubleday, it was "quite a different" kind of an election day.

Thanks to Ann Becketl, who talked on the telephone to Doubleday, the kinks in the machine were fixed and results were available by 9:15.

The final tally for the elections was:

Millage Increase:

Yes votes: 567

No votes: 224

The millage increase passed on a 70% margin.

School Board Election:

Mike Gleason: 341 votes

Pat Sahakian: 402 votes

Sonja Schulz: 273 votes

Joseph Turk: 396 votes

The incumbents, Pat

Sahakian and Joseph Turk,

were elected by 49% and 48%

of voters, respectively.

Gleason received 42% and Schulz 33% of votes cast.

In recent years, more and more people have cast absentee ballots, perhaps due in part to the allowance for those

60 years and up to vote absentee whether or not they will be out of town at the time.

For this election, 26 votes or 3.2% were absentee ballots.

Adrienne's goal is to use a degree in physical therapy to best serve the public. Her essay stated her family has been her biggest encouragement and her parents are her "biggest fans by far".

Congratulations Robert - Keep up the great work!

Midwest Magic is proud to present these scholarships on the conditions that the applicants all were involved in the community and in their church, and that they showed academic excellence; regardless of sex, race, or religion.

Midwest Ford believes all students should have the opportunity to achieve their dreams, and wants to continue making this happen in years to come! 1994 MIDWEST FORD Scholarships awarded totalled $4000!
