Capital Improvements at Our Library

Last week's Enterprise photograph of the Manchester Township Library (featuring the new Michigan flag) gave a clear picture of the new drop box. When the former box rusted through, local supporters contributed funds to replace it. Director Dorothy Davies used additional donations to upgrade the Library's computer. Now the staff daily accesses other library collections for items needed by patrons. Contributors to these capital improvements include Johnson Controls Container Division, Johnson Controls Machinery Division, Manchester Plastics, Manchester Men's Club, Boone's Tree Farm, and patrons Merrill & Jane Korth.

Emory Garlick After three regular School Board meetings, the South and West Washtenaw Consortium agreement, with three amendments, offered by board member Paul Kluwe, was passed.

A very detailed report was submitted to Manchester's board which addressed the concerns of board members Kluwe, Ochs and Hochstettler.

There will be open meetings and meeting notices will be posted. Course Offerings, Advisory Committees, Program Changes, Budget Information, Salaries, Audit, Enrollment, Alternate Programs and Comparisons were offered.

This came about because three of our board members were concerned and Paul Kluwe did his homework. Voters can be pleased that Democracy is well and functioning with our Board of Education.

Kluwe would be an excellent choice for President of Manchester Board of Education.

LESLIE D COLLIER of MANCHESTER recently enrolled in the American Quarter Horse Association Horseback Riding Program, sponsored by Drysdales Western Store of Tulsa, Oklahoma. The program was created to give every AQHA member a chance to be recognized for time spent riding American Quarter Horses.

A unique aspect of the program is its simplicity. Current AQHA members must complete an official application and pay a one-time $25 enrollment fee. After approval, each participant receives an official AQHA log sheet to keep track of their hours in the saddle. Members need not own their own horse, but all official hours must be accrued either riding or driving a registered American Quarter Horse.

AQHA encourages horseback riding as a fun and relaxing activity that can be shared with family and friends, including that four-legged friend—the American Quarter Horse.

Early one morning a man was asked to drive a crippled boy fifty miles to the hospital. After a mile or so the boy asked shyly, "You're God, aren't you?" "No," he answered.

"I thought you must be," said the boy. "I heard mother praying. She asked God to help me get to the hospital so I could get well. Do you work for God?"

"Sometimes," he replied. But he added, "I'm going to work for Him a lot more from now on. God needs you and wants you.

But if you refuse to be used by God, you may be used by the godless. You will work for God. won't you?

I received a note from Ruth Lhotka and enclosed was an article from the Detroit Free Press answering a teenager's question, "What does the Din D-Day stand for?". If you've read the "Young Reader's" column on this, please bear with us while we repeat it.

Reporter Cathy Collison, with help from the US Army and Center for Military History gives us an explanation. "D" just stands for the word "day". The D-Day you are hearing about in the news was the invasion on June 6, 1944. But the military uses "D-Day" as a code for the day when any attack or military operation is to take place. The use of letters as codes is a way different troops could plan an operation before an actual date is set. A soldier would know, for example, that his group was to take action on D-Day, whatever PM. day the operation begins, or D-Day plus 3, meaning 3 days after it begins. H-hour also used to refer to the hour the attack begins. H plus 3 would mean 3 hours after h-hour. The American military still uses these codes. To avoid confusion, other letters also are used is there is more than one attack being planned. There can be a w-day or a q-day. The letter can vary. The term D-Day has been used for more than 70 years, summertime goes).

but the June 6, 1944 invasion made the term famous."

Thanks for the question, Trent MacEachern, 14, Suttons Bay. And thanks for providing the answer, Ruth. She writes, "Bart and I are well and happy. We still live with Ruth and Paul (Kuntzman). We hope to reach 66 years of marriage on August 16. Bart will be 91 on September 9 and I just celebrated 88 years. We have many happy memories of Manchester." This was the only reply I received, we appreciate your response.

Thursday, June 23: Senior bus will leave the Center at 8 AM to go strawberry picking. Call Rubena Boelter at 428-8655 to go along. Tonight, folks will gather at Freedom Township Hall for the Senior Citizens monthly card party which begins at 7:30. Bus begins pickup at 6

Show, Summer Star Talk. This imaginary journey through the evening skies highlights the constellations, bright stars, and planets that we can expect to see in the night sky. The summer sky is full of bright stars, such as Vega, Deneb and Altair, which mark the Summer Triangle. Arcturus is the brightest star in the constellation Bootes, the Herdsman. This reddishorange star is what astronomers call a red giant—a star that has reached the latter portion of its long life, and is slowly running out of fuel. The same is true for Antares, the bright southern star in Scorpius the Scorpion.

Astronomy and star mythologies are also discussed in Summer Star Talk.

Weekend show times for Summer Star Talk are Saturdays at 10:30,

Narrated by WJR radio personality Joel Alexander, The Moon explores our only natural satellite. People throughout history have been fascinated by the Moon, and have proposed many theories about our orbiting companion. In 1969, we began an intensive three-year investigation of the Moon. This planetarium program is a fitting tribute to the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first lunar landing. The program ends with a brief live discussion of the current sky, pointing out bright stars, constellations,
