School Bond OK'd 682 - YES, 431 - No

Emory Garlick

Manchester Community School voters turned out to approve the bond issue by a 3 to 2 margin. Many groups, including Klager PTO members, were on the phone urging voters to get out and the voters responded favorably.

We asked Superintendent of Schools, Ron Niedzwiecki and Board President Paul Kluwe for their comments. Niedzwiecki responded, "I am elated and excited. The board deserves the credit. The leadership of the board was one of the deciding factors." When comparing this election to the last bond issue, Niedzwiecki responded, "This was more focused. The last one was too big. The board addressed specific needs that people could relate to. A more conservative and appropriate package the voters could understand. Bond issues are a big concern for the community and more people had confidence this was the way to go."

Where do we go from here? "Our attorneys have to prepare some resolutions, the board will have to adopt. We then file a request with the Department of Treasury to issue bonds. We prepare for the sale of the bonds to finance construction. The architect has to develop plans from the sketch presented to the board and voters. Our staff will prepare the needs for each classroom, deciding such details as alignment, door openings, etc."

According to Kluwe and Niedzwiecki, "The board will make some decisions along with the architect to decide how we will proceed with construction. Will we have a general contractor who will put together all trades OR should we have a construction manager and bid out the different portions of the work? Using a construction manager contract may allow more work to be accomplished by local contractors."

Question- Are the portables in the way of the new kindergarten construction? Niedzwiecki- "We will move them to the southeast side of Klager, where classroom #6 was shown on the sketch. After that the portables will probably go to the High School." Yes, that is two moves. Is it possible to stage Klager construction to reduce to one move? "That is something we could consider. It will be up to the board and the architect to determine costs."

What is the timetable for the work? "We hope to have the portables moved over the summer and ready for use during the fall term of school. We hope that construction can get under way this summer. Our tentative schedule is to have the Middle School work complete by August 1996. Because the work at Klager is so much more extensive that tentative opening will be December 1996."

Niedzwiecki continued, "We have a lot of work to do. No one serving on the board has been involved in a school building project of this nature. We will rely heavily on the Architect and the contractors involved. The staff has a lot of responsibility and a lot of work ahead of them."

Hats off to President Paul Kluwe and his open forum meetings, where people were and are free to express themselves.

H3 Mill Run Attracts 150+ in its second incarnation

And they're off! Runners and walkers of all ages and all species start running at the sound of the starting gun.

The Mill Run has returned, and with great success! Chris Brooks, organizer and general chairperson of the day, announced that approximately 150 runners and walkers participated in the 1995 H3 Mill Run in memory of Elvin Johnson.

Runners from Kalamazoo to Windsor and as far south as Bowling Green, Ohio, turned out on a beautiful spring day to run through the village of Manchester and see some spectacular scenery in the outlying areas. Brooks reported that all the racers raved about Manchester's unique qualities, enjoyed the course (even though they returned muddy!) and were all appreciative of the great t-shirts by area artist Bill Shurtliff, and the prizes which were matted prints signed by the artist.

H3, the international running club to which Chris belongs, co-sponsored the Mill Run with Parke-Davis corporation as a fund-raisers as well as to attract new members. They were successful in both ventures, raising $600 which will be donated to Summer Recreation program and the United Way here in Manchester, as well as acquiring four new members. "We'll definitely do it again next year," Chris assured us.

Dr. Ginny Johnson and her children, Dan and Sarah, as well as Elvin's family from up north, all attended the run - in fact, Sarah, at age 10, became the fastest girl in her age group, finishing the five mile run in 1:13:14.

Other local winners included 12-year-old Kevin Sahakian, who finished the five mile course in 42:06.

The record by which future races will be judged was established by overall winner Scott Westover, of Ann Arbor, who completed the race in only 29:23!

Female overall winner was Marie Collette, who finished at 34:01.

A Pancake Breakfast, catered by Dawna Stockwell, served about 200 runners, observers, and the local after-church crowd.

Brooks cited the many people who helped with the race, including the Village DPW, the Manchester Township Fire Department, which had an ambulance and two EMT's on duty, and the Washtenaw County Sheriff Department which provided two extra auxiliary deputies. Thanks is also due to the cooperative merchants who donated gift coupons to the race participants and, of course, the race volunteers - without whom none of this could have been accomplished.

The community welcomes the revival of another great event in Manchester! -MJC

The Youth of Manchester Have Something to Say

Manchester Optimist Club Sponsors 1995 Oratorical Competition

The Optimist Club is proud to announce that Ahja Zang and Kevin Sahakian won the first place medals in the local division of The Annual Optimist International Oratorical contest for youth under the age of sixteen. The second place medalist for girls was Ruth Jackowski and third went to Megan Kennedy. For boys, the second place medalist was Peter Schulte and third went to Eli Bragg. The evening's ten contestants, also including Cheryl Pfaus, James Fuerstnau, Sarah Jefferson and Amber Reed, were narrowed down from a much larger group during preliminary presentations.

Since 1928 this contest has been conducted by Optimist Clubs all over the world to offer training, encouragement and experience in communication skills. The Manchester club has sponsored this contest since 1966. A panel of three judged the students on their ability to create an original speech adhering to the topic, "Listen to Me"; and to present that speech within a four to five minute time frame. Points were awarded points for material organization, delivery, presentation, personal qualities, and overall effectiveness.

The first place winners will now progress to the Region III Competition at Washtenaw Community College on April 8. Our local Club will pay for entry fees and meals for the our first place winners, their parents, and other contestants who may wish to attend. If one of our students wins at the Regionals, our Club will award a $1,000 scholarship, and will continue to sponsor their entry through as many levels of competition as they attain.

Topics chosen by our youth included anti-drug and anti-violence messages, freedom of speech, the importance of listening to others, and taking responsibility for one's one actions. Our teens asked us also to remember that, "kids just want to be kids," and "we are all different so please don't treat us like we are the same". Each speech was unique, informative and enjoyable. A frequently overheard comment from the audience was, "I'm glad I'm not a judge."

Optimist International is one of the world's largest service clubs with over 16,000 members in 4,200 clubs. Optimists conduct service projects to uphold their motto, "Friend of Youth." The Optimist Club is pleased to assist young people of the caliber we heard on March 13. Perhaps one member, teacher John Korican, said it best, "Isn't this a great bunch of kids I'll be getting in a few years?"

Editorial / Opinion

Dear Mr. Garlick:

In the last month or so, 15 families in Washtenaw County have lost their homes to fire. Many of these incidents were covered by the local news. However, an important part of the story is often missing. In each of these cases, Red Cross assisted these families with either food, clothing, counseling and shelter. Last year in Washtenaw County, the Red Cross assisted 220 victims of disasters, mostly home and apartment fires.

The fact that the assistance provided by the Red Cross doesn't make news is not surprising. Very often the work of the Red Cross goes unnoticed. Although we try to educate and inform the public, many people aren't aware of Red Cross services and programs that are available to them, until they need assistance. In addition to disaster relief, the local Red Cross Chapter helps keep members of the armed forces from Washtenaw County in touch with their families, provides social services, health and safety education and blood services in our community.

On Monday, February 27, 1995, President Clinton signed a proclamation declaring March National Red Cross month, continuing a tradition begun in 1943 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Red Cross Month gives the local Chapter the opportunity to showcase our accomplishments and to thank the members of the community whose generosity, support and partnership, makes our services possible throughout the year. In emergencies...help can't wait. From house fires to military emergencies to accident victims, the American Red Cross is here.

Sincerely,
Heidi Salter
Chair, Board of Directors
American Red Cross,
Washtenaw County Chapter

Howard Parr, retired school superintendent, whom I respect immensely, and a life-long resident of our area, caught me in the bakery and gave me the once over. At issue was my statement last week: Item D. $123,000 for furnishings? Are not the existing class rooms furnished and can they not be used in the new rooms?

My reason for asking that question was: four portables with classroom furniture, elementary sized, will be available. Two kindergarten classrooms of furniture will be available from Nellie Ackerson and computer equipment in two areas will be available for their new rooms. That computes to 8 rooms of furniture, against 12 new rooms.

ANYHOW: The people have spoken and their answer was: YES 682, NO 431. In our Democracy, that means we go forward and that is good. Let us do the best job possible with the taxpayers' money.

I have this date taken out a Nominating Packet for the position of school board trustee. I feel that is appropriate, at this time and that I can be of assistance to the school district while they are building.

Here are my qualifications; Registered, with the State of Michigan as a Professional Civil Engineer, (MSU graduate no one holds that against me).

Registered, with the State of Michigan, Building Inspector, Mechanical Inspector, Plumbing Inspector and Plan Reviewer.

Thirty seven years of experience in construction, design, materials testing, and inspection. Twenty of those years, owning and operating my own construction company. The last nine years I have been the building inspector of record, for Bridge-water, Freedom and Manchester Townships and the Village of Manchester.

I was a member of Lincoln Consolidated Schools Board of Education, before moving to Manchester 25 years ago. I'm tight with a buck, particularly with the public's buck, and I firmly believe in accountability.

I will not be an adversary of the School Superintendent, school staff, teachers or the Board of Education. I am for openness, honesty, full disclosure and being responsible. If those qualifications appeal to you, I would appreciate your support.

Some may feel that as the Publisher of the Enterprise I may have a conflict of interest. My response to that is:

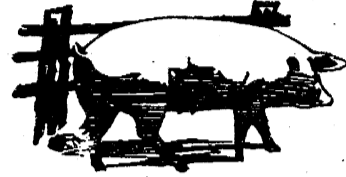

If being interested in the welfare of the school system, the taxpayer, and openness, honesty and integrity on the part of all those connected with our schools, is a conflict of interest. Then, I plead guilty.

The Manchester Enterprise welcomes letters to the Editor, Guest Editorials, and your comments, suggestions and opinions.

We ask that all letters submitted for publication be signed. Should there be extenuating circumstances for withholding your name, we will give that full consideration.

Out of the Pen

- by garlene

Since the weather turned suddenly un-springlike this weekend, garlene & co. went to the movies for diversion. Seeing Forrest Gump for the second time was no less moving than the first. The piglets, who had heard about Forrest's proverbial box of chocolates, but not much else, were similarly impressed.

Although round about bedtime garlene started questioning her wisdom in taking those piglets along. Most movies have happy endings, where although bad things might happen during the course of the show, it all turns out all right in the end. The magic of movies, at least most of those we would take our piglets to see, has the good guy triumphing over all the bad stuff that comes his way.

Forrest showed those piglets that bad things do happen to good people. None of us are invincible. Sometimes "stuff happens" (Call the bumper sticker people). And when it does, we pick up and go on. We are never quite the same. How much more like real life was Forrest. But it took seeing it through those less sophisticated eyes to realize how different it was. One extremely sensitive piglet had a 'lump in his stomach' as he ruminated on the movie at bedtime. Others, although less sensitive, still had plenty of fodder for thought.

While garlene herself was cogitating on Forrest and recalling things she hadn't seen or remembered from her first time, she got to thinking - mostly about Forrest's definition of love. Forrest loved his mother. He loved Jenny. He loved Bubba, and he was devoted to Lt. Dan. His love was simple and straight forward. No strings were attached. When Jenny says, "Forrest, you don't know what love is," it's easy to see that Jenny is the confused one. Forrest knows exactly what love is. His fierce dedication to those he loved was unshakable, and would probably be considered suspect among us "normal" pigs.

Friendship and love are often confusing, and quite often both start out the same. How exactly does one find a "best good friend"? And Where? Often the person and the place are quite surprising. One thing Forrest says, though, rings true: "You don't find a best good friend just anywhere."

And what constitutes a best good friend? Or any friendship for that matter? Often, you are thrown together by circumstances and as time goes on you may learn you have more in common than just circumstance. Mostly, you have an affinity of interests. More than likely, you share common philosophies too. In the case of a best good friend, you have shared a lot of things you wouldn't tell just anyone.

No, those best good friends don't come along every day. Once, maybe if you're lucky, twice, in a lifetime, you can risk being yourself with someone. Because a best good friend knows who you really are and they like you anyway.

Then there are the friends who somehow drift away. Forrest was fortunate in that he didn't have any of those. Either you were Forrest's friend for life or you weren't. But in real life, unlike those movies, it seems we lose some friends by attrition.

Perhaps they move across the country and the ties just aren't strong enough. Sometimes we change. Sometimes our friends change. Sometimes, circumstances change. But garlene has found that her life is always enriched by knowing her friends.

Usually it's difficult to let go of these relationships; occasionally it's not as hard - but almost without exception it's a painful process. When a person with whom you've shared happy times and sad times either eases or is jerked out of your life, it leaves a gaping hole. And one that's not easily filled.

That's where Forrest's lesson of picking up the pieces and going on with life, despite the loss, is one we can use. We just hope we don't have to use it too often.

SELF-EMPLOYED
HEALTH INSURANCE DEDUCTION

Q. As a self-employed person, may I deduct the premiums I pay for health insurance?

A. Self-employed taxpayers may deduct up to 25 percent of the cost of health insurance covering themselves, their spouse, and their dependents. You do not need to itemize to claim this deduction. However, you may not claim the deduction for any month in which either you or your spouse is eligible to be covered under an employer's health plan. You must reduce your health insurance premiums deductible as a Schedule A itemized deduction by any amounts deducted under this rule.

The self-employed health insurance deduction was recently extended retroactively from July 1, 1992, through the end of 1993. You may file an amended return to claim a deduction for eligible amounts not previously deducted.

TAX BREAKS FOR BABY

Q. My wife and I are expecting our first baby soon. Will I receive the full exemption amount for the child or will I need to prorate the amount for the number of days in the year after the child is born?

A. The baby will count as a full exemption even if he or she is born on December 31. As for other tax consequences, you may want to adjust your Form W-4 to reflect the extra exemption. Assuming you're in the 28 percent tax bracket, that will result in about $55 more per month in take-home pay. Next, keep track of your medical expenses for the prenatal care, delivery, and post delivery care for your wife and child. Medical expenses are deductible to the extent the unreimbursed amount exceeds 7.5 percent of your adjusted gross income. Finally, obtain a social security number for the child. By the time he or she is one year old, you'll need the number in order to claim the child as a dependent.

Announcements

American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary met at the Legion Home on March 8, with 18 members present. The meeting was called to order by President Schiel. Roll Call was taken by the Secretary and the minutes of the February 8, 1995 meeting were read, corrected and approved.

Joyce Stein and five auxiliary members will travel to Ann Arbor Veterans Hospital on Saturday, March 18 for bingo party with patients. The Auxiliary will furnish homemade cookies and other snacks for vets. Joyce also will transport 52 pairs of crocheted slippers to hospital patients made by Josie Maisano, Mrs. Beinick (from Clinton) and Alma Arnett. These ladies have made hundreds of slippers for V.A. patients over the years and their gratitude, and ours, is endless.

It was reported Ruth Oates (Good Cheer Chairman) is recovering from illness at home, and Ethel Weir is recovering from surgery at Chelsea. Our thoughts are with both ladies.

Plans are being finalized for the upcoming 75th Auxiliary birthday dinner/dance (Auxiliary/Legion members only). Each Legion/Auxiliary member (excluding out-of-State because of "geographical" inconvenience to attend) was mailed an invitation. At this printing, less than half have responded. The Committee has labored hard to provide this "tribute" to our Manchester ladies, past and present and are looking forward to being "the pampered ones" for a change.

Marilyn LaRock asked anyone with "input" for upcoming Newsletter, please contact - 428-8849 by March 24th.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:30 PM with a prayer by our interim chaplain, Vivian Middlemiss

Twentieth Century Club

Eleanor DuRussel entertained the Twentieth Century Club's March 14th meeting with Gail Curtis as co-hostess. After a brief business meeting, President Mary Krzyzaniak called upon the evening's program committee, Dorothy Davies and Janice Little.

This year, the club has been reviewing various aspects of American culture and society during the 1950's. Dorothy had brought a collection of books from both the Tonship and her own library that were new and widely read in that relatively quiet decade between World War II and the restless sixties.

The books mentioned ranged from Ernest Hemingway's "Old Man and the Sea," a tale of a solitary fisherman's battle with sharks in Caribbean waters, to Grace Metalious' shocking (at the time) novel which exposed the seamy side of life in a small New England town, "Peyton Place".

The speaker had provided copies of quotes from the reviews that had followed the publication of many of the books mentioned. These had been distributed to members of the audience to read on call. In some cases, opposing opinions on the same book were read.

Impromptu discussion followed and continued into the refreshment hour that followed.

ANN ARBOR FLOWER AND GARDEN SHOW

A waterfall rushes down a rocky labyrinth to a carpeted bed of fragrant blooms to herald the coming of spring and the opening of the 1995 Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show, "A Little Water Music," sponsored by the University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens.

From Thursday-Sunday, March 23-26, the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds will be transformed into an explosion of color and sparkling waters with more than 400 displays ranging from landscaped gardens and floral creations to room settings and individual horticulture specimens filling more than 43,000 square feet of exhibit area.

From the marketplace featuring both new and antique wares and teeming with vendors, growers, artists and artisans and a variety of goods from plants and garden accessories to sculpture and tools, to the Green Thumb Cafe and musicians from the U-M School of Music, the Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show offers something for everyone seeking a respite from March winds.

Since ancient times, says Paul Little, the show's designer, water has been used as an integral part of garden design. Whether its a birdbath or waterfall, in the gardens of ancient Persia or those of the Renaissance, water in some form has been used in combination with formal or informal plantings. "There is an increasing interest in water gardening in this country,"

Little says. "From talking to various landscape contractors, I learned that more and more people are asking for ponds."

Visitors to the Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show will be greeted by a Michigan water wonderland, "Up in Michigan," a wilderness garden designed and created by Korzon Landscapes and the U-M Matthaei Botanical Gardens, featuring native plant material that includes wildflowers such as bloodroot, Virginia bluebells, Dutchman's breeches, hepatica, witchhazel, marsh marigold, iris and astilbe. The state's trees will be represented by dogwoods in bloom, maples, birch, white cedar and pines. And just to add some intrigue to the wilderness spectacular, morel mushrooms will be tucked into the scene. Look quick to see the delectable fungi a good six weeks before they make their appearance in Michigan's woodlands. A 60' cedar walkway crosses a trout filled pond and meanders through the woodlands somewhere "Up in Michigan."

It takes seven buildings connected by greenhouse garden walkways to house the more than 20,000 plants, water jets, reflective pools, birdbaths, waterfalls, ponds topiaries and Japanese gardens, examples of "small-space" gardening, room settings, horticultural and design specimens.

And then there is the show-within-the-show to attract visitors' attention. The Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan will stage a Standard Flower Show with horticulture specimens ranging from forced bulbs and flowering plants to container gardens, topiaries, herbs and orchids. Design categories will continue the show's water theme with titles that include "Singing in the Rain," "Swan Lake," and "On the Beach." Children can enter the competition by creating monsters from the deep from fresh or dried fruits and vegetables for "Eery Lake Creatures."

A festive preview gala of the Flower and Garden Show from 7:30-9:30 PM on Wednesday, March 22, comes complete with music, beverages and Michigan wines and hors d'oeuvres.

Open Thursday-Saturday from 9 AM-9 PM and Sunday from 9 AM-5 PM., the show has designated Thursday-Friday, March 23-24, as Senior Days when Senior Citizens (60 years and older) will receive a $1 discount off the gate admission price of $8 per person. Advance adult tickets are $7, children (ages 4-12 years) $3, and children (3 years and under) free.

From professionally landscaped gardens to a gazebo hosting musicians from the U-M School of Music; horticulture aficionados, and those who just like to play in the dirt, will find the Flower and Garden Show exciting, stimulating, fascinating and informative.

Manchester Area Historical Society

Blacksmith Shop Hosts Japanese Visitors

Lynn Hamilton, Mrs. Takako Fukase holding Koh, Mr. Tsukasa Fukase, Mr. Yasumasa Fukase holding Ken, student Hiroyuki Uehara, and Howard Parr at the Historical Society Blacksmith Shop

On Monday, March 13, the opportunity arose for Historian Howard Parr to share some of his extensive knowledge with a family from out of the area.

"Out of the area" may be an understatement in our terms, but the visit showed just how close to a 'global village' our world is becoming. The Fukase family of Yokohama, Japan had attended a conference of the American Dental Research Association in San Antonio, Texas, and "while they were this close" made the decision to visit colleague Dr. Jim Hamilton in Ann Arbor.

Dr. Hamilton and Dr. Fukase have been associated for several years in the field of Dental Research. Dr. Fukase has been to America several times and Dr. Hamilton has been to Japan.

Dr. Hamilton's wife, Lynn, found the Manchester tour listing in a publication of the Ann Arbor Tourist and Convention Bureau and called to make arrangements for the Fukase family to visit.

Howard presented the Manchester 1983 Video to this group - stopping several times during the presentation for translation, as Dr. Fukase was the only one of the group who understood English.

Historical Society President, Deb Havens, is committed to the tour aspect of running a museum in the blacksmith shop, and Howard says, "I was glad to represent her and meet this group." Howard commented that it was unusual to see these folks in 10-gallon Texas-style hats!

The Fukase family bought a 125 Manchester souvenir plate to take back to Yokohama.

Tours for this season have not started in earnest yet. We typically have three bus lines which bring groups for a day in Manchester. Stops usually include Alber Orchard, Sharon Mills Winery, GreenGo Dairy farm and lunch at Haarer's.

A copy of this issue will be sent to Dr. Fukase in Japan and Dr. Hamilton in Ann Arbor.

Trash Cart Renters Need to Phone for New Carts as BFI Serves Village Beginning April 5th

Ed. note: With the coming change in Manchester's trash pickup contractor and new regulations (see Enterprise issues of January 26 and February 16, 1995, education of the local residents is an important issue. This article, provided by BFI Waste Systems, is part of an ongoing effort by the Village and BFI to keep residents informed about changes in their service.

Please note that according to BFI's agreement with the Village of Manchester, a toll-free number must be established for residents to contact the trash contractor. This number has been set up and is published in the following article.

A new trash contractor for the Village of Manchester means that residents will pay less for their weekly service. "We're delighted to be returning to serve Manchester," said Sharon Gillette, Municipal Consultant for BFI Waste Systems.

"And because there's now a state law prohibiting landfills from accepting yard waste that could be composted," she continued, "we have worked with the Village Council to provide some special services to help people handle yard waste such as grass, leaves, twigs and garden waste. Because of the landfill ban, no yard waste can be mixed with household trash."

"Village residents who want to rent covered trash carts, with wheels, should call us as soon as possible," she noted, "because the former trash contractor will be taking away their carts on March 29th."

The change to BFI Waste Systems in a competitive bidding process means Village residents will see a drop of 85 cents in the trash charge on their monthly Village utility bills.

Wheeled trash carts are not included in that price, but they can be rented directly from BFI by calling 1-800-968-6679. A cart will cost $2.00 per month, payable quarterly.

Provisions for dealing with yard waste include the following:

Tree limbs left at curbside will be picked up once a month for chipping by the Village Department of Public Works, free of charge.

Leaves will be picked up four times each fall by BFI for composting, free of charge. Leaves will have to be in kraft paper bags, or in trash cans that are clearly marked "compost". Leaves can't be accepted in plastic trash bags, because the plastic keeps out air and organic material quickly rots when anaerobic, making it unsuitable for effective composting. The Village will no longer pick up leaves, due to equipment limitations and costly environmental requirements on composting sites.

Compostable yard waste will be picked up weekly by BFI for any residents who subscribe for this service at an additional charge. The cost is $48 for the 1995 season, April through November. Service includes grass clippings, leaves, garden waste, weeds, twigs and bush trimmings, which must be in kraft paper bags or trash cans marked "compost" — not in plastic bags. This service can be ordered by calling BFI at 1-800-968-6679.

Backyard composting information can be obtained free of charge from BFI by calling 1-800-968-6679. If there is sufficient interest, BFI will hold a free backyard composting seminar in Manchester.

The face of garbage pickup in the village will change with the switch to BFI on April 5th.

BUY A BONE!

From Rogers City to Royal Oak, donations continue to arrive for the University of Michigan Exhibit Museum's buy a [dinosaur] bone project.

So while museum officials put the finishing touches on Deinonychus, individuals and school classes are buying bones, teeth, claws, and all the other skeletal parts of the meat-eating dinosaur who goes on display March 31.

As dinosaurs go, Deinonychus was small - about the size of a Michigan white-tail deer. Museum officials estimate that it stood about four feet tall, was 12 feet long, and weighed anywhere from 125 to 150 pounds.

To date, the buy-a-bone program has brought in more than $27,000. At the outset, Museum officials had hoped to raise the dinosaur's purchase price of $21,000; they will use the extra funds to mount it and for other projects. At $5, teeth have been the biggest draw, but the "terrible claw", the distinctive weapon of attack of the Deinonychus, is selling well at $50.00.

The U-M skeleton, the first new dinosaur to go on display "for at least thirty years", said exhibit preparator John Klausmeyer, is a casting, because bones are heavy; thus limiting their display stance.

Manchester residents have purchased a total of nine teeth to date: Betty Cummings purchased teeth in the names of Justin Dowdy, Melissa Dowdy, Erek Cummings, and Chelsae Cessna; Julie Edwards purchased teeth in the names of Jami Edwards, J. Patrick Edwards, and Mike A. J. Holbrook; and Gary Seguin purchased two teeth for his son, Zachary.

Following a private reception for donors on March 31, the Exhibit Museum will open to the public from 7-10 PM. For more information, or to buy a bone, call 313-747-0176.

Dr. Stuart Henry receives award at EMU

In a ceremony on March 22, 1995, Stuart Henry was awarded the Distinguished Faculty Research and Scholarly Activity Award. The Distinguished Faculty Award is the highest honor which the university bestows on an individual faculty member.

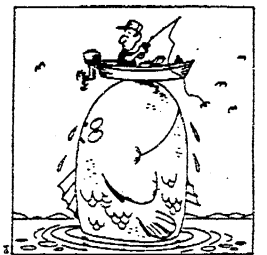

In receiving the Scholarly/Creative Award, Henry was noted as "an outstanding scholar who is both prolific and talented." The committee also recognized him for several of his books, which "express his important empirical and theoretical work" and for his "great gift for research and theoretical development in sociology and criminology, and the ability to take his students along with him."

Henry holds bachelor's and doctoral degrees from the University of Kent in Canterbury, England. He taught at universities in England and Virginia before joining EMU's faculty. He is the author of several books, including Hidden Economy, Private Justice, Degrees of Deviance: Student Accounts of Their Deviant Behavior and Inside Jobs: A Realistic Guide to Criminal Justice Careers for College Graduates.

by Howard Parr

At home we usually did two other major activities in March besides maple syrup. Our beef was usually butchered on March 4th, the old presidential inauguration day. In the cool weather that followed we usually could let the carcass hang in the barn to allow the meat to season (today Kroger calls this "tenderizing").

Our large "refrigerator" kept the meat in good shape and we could go out from time to time and cut off some fresh meat for our Meals. When it turned warm like it did last week, we had to hurry up and preserve the meat. For us that meant cutting up the meat, packing it in wide mouth canning jars and cooking it for four hours in a hot water bath in the wash boiler. Canned beef always made an excellent meat pie with potatoes, carrots, and onion topped off with Mom's biscuits. All of this canning and cooking was done on the South Bend Malleable Range Mom had in her kitchen. It took a lot of firewood for all this, but that's the other March happening I referred to above.

We buzzed wood in March, too. During the winter months we had slowly built a buzz pile around the apricot tree in the dooryard. Some Saturdays we would be lucky enough to get two bobsled loads of buzzwood out of the woods. Otherwise it was only one load. If we didn't have snow, we used the wagon with the wood rack on it. By March we had about 100 cords of wood standing in a large round pile.

On the designated day six or eight men would be called together to buzz wood. We exchanged help with some of our neighbors but relied mainly on all of our Parr family—Uncles Walter and Lowell, Fred Grossman (Lowell's father-in-law) and as many of the Clayton Parr boys as were deemed ready for such dangerous work. We always got Dad's stern lecture about how to behave around the buzz saw—keep your jacket and cuff buttons buttoned and "...never throw the end piece of wood over the saw!" The saw was powered by our portable 5 h.p. Fairbanks and Morse gasoline engine. If it were very cold, we had to take the magneto off the night before and bring it in the house to warm it up and dry it out.

That way the engine would start the next morning.

Thursday, March 23: BBQ Chicken at noon followed by bingo at the Center. Pickup for the Senior Card Party at Freedom Township Hall begins at 6:30 that evening.

Saturday, March 25: Leave Center at 8:00 for Health-o-Rama at Chelsea Hospital. Some of our seniors choose to have various health tests and checkups done that day and the earlier we get there the sooner we can come home. For those wishing further information feel free to call the hospital at 475-3935.

Tuesday, March 28: Blood pressure taken before the meal, beginning at 11:00. Then we eat baked fish. Pickup starts at 5 30 PM. that evening for the Travelogue in Tecumseh.

Thursday, March 30: Pork Chops served at noon followed by bingo at the Center. Golly, where did March go?

Those interested in signing on for any of our activities should call Erma—428-8707—for transportation or Linda - 428-8358 - or Jan - 428-7630 for food reservations. I imagine T.V. and Del will get a rebate since it turned warm here. Wanna bet?

MILL RUN

FIRST OVER THE FINISH LINE

"WHEW" I made it!

I'm tired but feel good!

Chris Brooks
The Boss, a great event!

A great event well attended. Runners appreciated the opportunity to compete. Several youngsters made the one mile run and felt a great deal of pride and accomplishment.

"Save Your Money"

I don't want to encourage you to spend your earned and deserved profit sharing; tax refund; or any money you've saved.

I would only appreciate the opportunity to serve as your local sales consultant whenever you or a family member needs a new or used vehicle...

If that need is now, please see my sales manager, Dave Fugate and tell him I sent you. I will be back to personally handle your needs April 17th.
