The Death of a President

President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated at the conclusion of the Civil War. Irwin wrote home to his sister and she wrote back. The following are excerpts from those letters about Lincoln's death.

Ford's Farm, April 17th, 1865.

Dear Sister....Enclosed in this I am going to send you a branch of the fabled mistletoe-- a real genuine, bona fide "Mistletoe Bough". Did you ever see one? I never did that I'm aware of till tonight, when one of our little corporals -- a Hollander, by the by, and a man (youth), who seems to be jostled-- climbed to dizzy heights in a majestic oak and plucked the dainty sprig from among its top-most branches.

You may get the first volume of Longfellow and read the poem commencing: Balder the beautiful is dead -- is dead.

The lines have occurred to me a dozen times today in connection with the death of the President yesterday. I felt as one of the boys expressed himself, madder and madder the more I thought of it, but today, resentment toward the despicable villain -- I know no word expressive enough -- is lost in grief at the great misfortune that has come upon us all in the loss of the Nations head -- a noble, honest and true man who was a hero in life and in death a martyr. No man since the death of Washington has had so deep a hold on the affections of the Nation. I haven't shed a tear for months but who will not weep that it's noblest and best of the apostles of Liberty should be struck down in the hour of benignant triumph by a foe whose best friend he was and would have treated with more leniency and kindness than any other man will do in all the North. The cry for vengeance we want to utter is drowned by a wail of sorrow that no vengeance can allay and whatever we might do to the cowardly, despicable thing that perpetrated the foul deed, we could only turn from our impotent jury to the mournful realization that true noble man -- most beautiful in his honest, upright integrity is dead; is dead!

Hattie's reply:
Sharon, Michigan, April 24th, 1865

Dear Brother- I have managed to get propped up in the big chair and will try to write to you a few lines, once more....I can fully appreciate your feelings about the President's death. I felt as if I had lost a personal friend. Father and Mother went to the funeral at Grass Lake but I was not able. May the Lord help us! If such a man can be assassinated. It's worthy of the Confederate wrenches, however. It's just what is to be expected of every one of them, perjury, treachery and murder. Their paroles are never regarded and now they have paroled Lee and his whole army and what does their capture amount to? If the heads of our government don't hang about forty of the rebel leaders or more, so high the crows won't find them, they deserve to be hung themselves. Maybe you think I'm rather radical but I can't help it. There is no safety for anybody in the future as long as such men live (not live at large but live at all).

It was a great mercy that Seward, Johnson, Stanton and Grant were not murdered, too, as there were evidently plots against them. Well God rules yet and I believe will bring all right if we have faith and patience to wait. I hope the fighting will not be prolonged by this last calamity.

I wrote you a long foolscap letter that you have not acknowledged, I hope you get it. Father and Mother are well. I got your letter with the mistletoe. Thank you.

Your Sister, Hattie

News traveled slowly during that time and though Irwin's letter dated April 17 said Lincoln was assassinated 'yesterday', actually it took place the night of April 14 at Ford's Theatre in Washington DC. An attempt on the life of William H. Seward, Lincoln's secretary of state, was also made on the 14th.

Second Front Page: New Program at WCSD

Crime Prevention Makes a Local Connection

by Marsha Johnson Chartrand

Manchester area residents will be learning more about crime prevention over the next two years, with the help of Sheriff's deputy Lisa King.

King, a three year veteran of WCSD, will be working out of the Zeeb Road substation and her assignment covers all of Western Washtenaw County. She is charged with helping residents of the area initiate local neighborhood watch programs. Although this is her first priority, she also plans to educate residents on home security, personal property identification, gang awareness, Personal Safety, Project Identification child and more.

Are you saying, "We don't need this in Manchester"? King says, all the more reason to start it now. "People here [in Manchester] feel very safe. But it is out there, and awareness of a problem is the best step to prevention. You don't have crime here? Good - let's keep it that way."

And King's priority is prevention. She hopes to keep reiterating to local residents the importance of stopping these crimes before they start.

King is especially interested in seeing a Neighborhood Watch program set up in Manchester. She explained the importance of residents pulling together by telling of a house in Scio Township where drug activity was taking place. By receiving tips from members of the Neighborhood Watch Committee, the WCSD was able to shut the house down. Now the residents feel they have a safe neighborhood once again. "They made a difference by taking a few simple steps," says King.

Deputy Lisa King talks to members of Chelsea Kiwanis Club explaining the importance of the Neighborhood Watch program in small communities. She is also available to speak to local groups in Manchester.

Since Manchester Village is the largest contractor of police services on the west side, with four Deputies assigned here, Village Manager Jeff Wallace was a member of the panel who selected King for this post. Wallace believes it is important that the Sheriff Department has someone out here who can share their expertise with the community members and businesses.

King is not a new face in Manchester. She has formerly been stationed in the Village for three different shift bids over the last few years when she has served on road patrol. Her new position is a two year commitment and her partner, Deputy Chuck Mullins, has a full time assignment to Ypsilanti Township.

A business watch in the downtown area is also a project King would like to see implemented during her tenure. A business watch is organized similarly to the Neighborhood

Watch program, where business owners band together to prevent fraud, report suspicious incidents and persons, thereby improving security for the small businesses which make their homes in the downtown district.

King and Mullins are available to make presentations to schools, businesses, neighborhood watch committees, senior citizens and community organizations, to teach prevention tactics. "I'd like to educate the public in the number of different ways to prevent themselves from becoming crime victims," King says. There is also a special gang awareness program which can be presented to parents and citizens.

King says she became involved in police work because she likes to help people and become directly involved in local community crime prevention. A native of Chelsea, she has received two meritorious service awards and two unit citations. A youthful and energetic officer, King's input can be a valuable asset to extend local police coverage in our area.

Neighborhoods with roughly 60% participation may organize a Neighborhood Watch in their own areas, whether it be the Village or a rural neighborhood. "We even have the potential to begin a mounted Neighborhood Watch program in the rural areas," comments King. Interested residents may contact Deputy Lisa King at 994-8098.

Editorial / Opinion

Out & About

by gar

I remember MOM. I am writing this on April 10, which would have been Mom's 90th birthday. Dad and I were talking about her and remembering some of the things that she did. As Dad said, "She would always have to fix something for anyone who would stop to visit. Share a meal, fix a snack or try in some way to do something for other people. When someone would suggest they take a ride, she would say, 'OK, but let's take Wayne's car.'" Mom dearly liked to take rides on Sunday afternoons.

We miss her. She was something very special. The folks missed having their 65th wedding anniversary by less than a month. Dad's mother, in her later years, had some medical problems and often was unable to sleep at night. It was not uncommon for Uncle Art to call even as late as two or three AM and say that grandma was asking for Jean and wondering if she could come and rub her back. Mom and Dad would get into the car and drive the 20 miles or so to help grandma in her suffering. Often they would not return home until it was time for the two of them to go to work at Wayne County General Hospital.

They spent many hours with their grandchildren, Alene and Bruce. They did not restrict themselves to relatives, though, and had uncounted friends and acquaintances they would "do for."

When gar was a pup, he could always count on a four egg hot milk cake, with multi-colored layers and heaps of frosting as the feature of his birthday. My parents didn't have much money, but they had something much more important. That was caring and sharing with and for others. That, to me, is one of the more important lessons of life.

Mom, we miss and love you!

What happened to Walco Foods Expansion?

Last May 19th, The Manchester Enterprise reported that Walco Foods was "growing with the community". Owner Jerry Wallace told us about planned additions of a full hot and cold deli, a Value Center, and added frozen foods section in a 5000 square foot addition to the front of the store. A new 750 square foot entry way was planned. A 1700 square foot addition to the rear of the store would house a video outlet.

Exterior improvements were also planned - added lighting in the parking lot, trees, sidewalks, and other "aesthetic" improvements.

The Enterprise has recently learned that the site plan, approved with revisions last May 16th, gave Walco Foods 180 days to pull a building permit, or their entire approval would be revoked. The building permit was never applied for. Therefore, all these great plans for an expansion are null and void.

Many messages have been left at Walco Foods' corporate office in Pinckney and no calls have ever been returned by Jerry Wallace. It has recently been published that all Walco Foods stores have been purchased by Busch's Valu Land - except the Manchester store.

Is this the end of an era in Manchester? Will we not only choose to, but be forced to, shop outside of town for our groceries? Rumor has it that all is not lost. Partners Jerry and Jeff Daub are reportedly buying the local Walco store. What plans do they have for their store? Why was the Manchester store excluded from the Busch's deal? What changes will we see in the familiar faces at the grocery store? Are improvements planned for the quality of merchandise offered here?

These questions have yet to be answered. No one seems to be talking on the record. The Enterprise will welcome learning the answers to these questions and more in the weeks to come - and we will keep you posted.

The Manchester Enterprise welcomes letters to the Editor, Guest Editorials, and your comments, suggestions and opinions.

We ask that all letters submitted for publication be signed.

Should there be extenuating circumstances for withholding your name, we will give that full consideration.

Out of the Pen

- by garlene

It's the time of year when it's supposed to be acting like spring. Especially when the school tells garlene that the piglets will be sent home for a week on "spring break", garlene expects to be having nice weather so said little piglets can go out and play. She does not expect thunder and lightning, rain, hail, sleet and snow. This kind of weather keeps the piglets hanging around the trough.

And even when the sun does come out long enough to play, the air is so nippy that it requires those extra layers of clothing which make the piglets squirm. "We don't need these," they squeal. If garlene doesn't insist, she thinks she is a bad mama. If she does insist, the piglets think she's a bad mama. A sow just can't win.

Alas - 'tis the season when we should be seeing bunnies, robins and other signs of new life. Guess Michigan weather fooled those robins, 'cause garlene has been seeing them for several weeks now. Does that make the rest of us 'bird brains'? We all thought spring was coming, too.

The bunnies have been spotted hopping down the bunny trail...what is it with these bunnies, anyway? garlene has been seeing yards decked out with shiny pink and blue bunnies. Not a lick of fur on their bodies. Most of these bunnies are sitting right next to trees growing shiny bright colored eggs. garlene has become accustomed to this sight, having lived in the country a good portion of her life, even if she can't quite fathom eggs growing on these country trees. Her city-bred friends, however, seem puzzled by this phenomenon. Could garlene explain it to them?

Well, as the repository of all useless trivial knowledge this side of Rush Limbaugh, garlene oughta be able to come up with an explanation. But she can only assume that these demuded bunnies and these tree-climbing eggs are in celebration of the rites of spring, known as Easter in the Christian world. Easter not only celebrates a literal Resurrection, but a figurative rebirth as well. Regardless of rain, hail, sleet, slush and snow, garlene has seen bird nests being built, crocuses poling through the snow, and frozen daffodils and tulips budding hopefully. Bulb plants have been particularly appropriate to the resurrection theme, with the new life springing from an apparently dead source.

Historically, the egg has been a symbol of Easter due to the symbolic representation of new life. How those historians get mixed up enough to have a bunny bring those eggs, garlene doesn't know. She feels she can safely assume that the historians were not scientists.

Some scientist did evidently get involved several years back and in his laboratory created an explanation for all those eggs. He manufactured little puffy, bright yellow chicks and called them "PEEPS". Now those of us from down on the farm know that baby chicks are a very soft, downy, pale yellow, and they aren't too sticky, either, once they dry off. Where this scientist got the idea of these PEEPS is also beyond garlene's understanding, but she hears now that this fellow has created purple PEEPS this year. Well garlene knows, and she wants everyone else to know too, that she will never become a purple PEEP eater. As has been mentioned before, garlene will eat most anything - but she does draw the line somewhere.

And one more thing - where do pigs fit in at Easter? If you find out, please let garlene know.

A happy and blessed holiday season to all of garlene's friends.

Manchester Men's Club to Sponsor Easter Egg Hunt

In 1958, the Manchester Jaycees, led by their president, Bill Baker, began a tradition which continues to this day. The Manchester Men's Club, successors of the local Jaycees, will once again hide the brightly colored eggs, with the cooperation of scouts and other volunteers, for the pleasure of the children of Manchester.

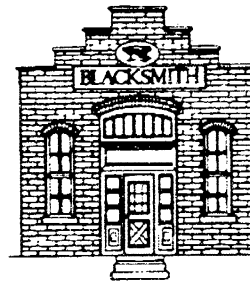

Participation is usually numbered between 125-150 kids and over 120 dozen eggs are colored and hidden. Promptly at 1:00, the hunt will start, and according to Bob Rhees, "you can bet that by 1:08-1:12 it will all be over." Prize eggs are gold and there will be one gold egg per age group.

Once again this year comes a plea from the Men's Club as well as parents and kids, to "let the kids do it!" The very youngest toddlers and pre-schoolers may need a little encouragement and even assistance from a special grown-up, but the hunt has been divided into age-appropriate hiding areas which will keep little ones from being overrun by the bigger ones. Let's make sure this stays fun for the KIDS.

Manchester's own Easter Bunny, Linda McGee, will be on hand with a new "uniform" for this year's appearance. Thanks, Linda, for all your years of dedication to Manchester's children. And thanks to the Men's Club for keeping this important tradition going for yet another year.

Week of April 9-15 honors Those who Answer 911

Have you ever wondered what happens when you dial 9-1-1? Your call is immediately routed to the appropriate communications center where dispatchers send paramedics, firefighters and police directly to the scene, depending on the type of emergency. National Public Safety Telecommunications Week, a time to honor the thousands of dedicated people across the nation who staff public safety communications lines 24 hours a day, is being celebrated April 9-15, 1995.

If you live in Washtenaw County, western Wayne County, or parts of Lenawee County and need an ambulance, your call may be routed to the Huron Valley Ambulance Communications Center, which is staffed by Emergency Medical Dispatchers. At HVA, the enhanced 9-1-1 computer system will display your address so the closest paramedics can be immediately dispatched to the scene.

While one dispatcher confirms the location of the emergency and asks you questions, another dispatcher sends a paramedic advanced life support ambulance, and, in Manchester Township Fire Department response areas, firefighters who are medical first responders. Dispatchers also instruct callers on what to do until help arrives.

"Be prepared to answer questions. The ambulance is already on the way, but we need to know more about the problem so the paramedics will know what equipment they'll need on the scene," explains Margaret Shedlock, HVA communications supervisor.

You can help 9-1-1 dispatchers by remembering the following:

- Teach everyone in your home how to dial 911
- Speak loudly and clearly when you explain the problem.
- Do not hang up until so instructed by the dispatcher.
- If possible, send someone out to direct emergency vehicles to the scene.

Easter and Spring

- by Lansing Christman

Easter and spring come almost hand in hand, offering an appropriate ritual for both the observance of the Resurrection and the arrival of spring. The risen Christ brought great joy to His people on the day of His Resurrection. And spring, a new season of birth, of hope and faith, brings joy to mankind. Year after year, each season in turn assumes its role in the calendar of time. Spring, with its songs and flutes, buds and blossoms, brings cheer and strength and hope and the solace of faith.

The first spring blossom is as glorious to the eye as is the meaning of the Resurrection to the heart and soul of man. Humanity cannot ignore the greatness of all things in nature and life and cannot ignore that behind the great changes in the seasons and behind all lie is the work, labor and love of the Master of all.

One cannot close his eyes to the spring beauty that unfolds around him; the new green, the flowers, the longer days of sun, the warming land, the budding trees and plants. He cannot close his ears to the bird songs that resound from orchard and woodland, from dooryard and pasture, from field and fen.

Nor can he close his ears and his heart to the glorious message of Easter as expressed in the hymns and from the pulpits of churches across the land. Each person becomes aware that there is something far greater than the accumulation of wealth and material things. He learns that all riches must be in faith and spirit and love. And with these truths before him, there will no longer be room in his heart for greed and hate. There will be room only for love and compassion, room only for peace and the richness of its content.

Local Women Awarded Child Care Credential

Elisabeth Reed and Tammy Melcher, both of Manchester, were awarded a Child Development Associate (CDA) Credential in recognition of outstanding work with young children. The credential was awarded by the Council for Early Childhood Professional Recognition in Washington, D.C., which represents the early childhood profession.

Parents who use child care are especially concerned today about their children's welfare. With this in mind, as part of the CDA assessment process, every candidate for the CDA credential is observed with young children by an early childhood professional. In addition, the candidate must demonstrate the ability to work with families to develop children's physical and intellectual capabilities in a safe and healthy learning environment.

The CDA credential is having a positive effect on the quality of child care. Its impact is evident in center-based child care as well as family child care, the most common form of care for children under five years old.

MANCHESTER AREA SENIOR CITIZENS News

by T.V. Ludwick

This special Easter message was supplied by our 'co-writer' Howard Parr.

"I never seem to get all my thoughts together at one time and maybe it's a good thing for there is only so much room in your column. When I was writing about lambs, thoughts about moral upbringing passed my mind. Along with our care for what we considered fairly helpless sheep and lambs came a recitation of the references in the Bible.

"We are like lost sheep who have gone astray...." "He shall feed His flock like a shepherd and carry the young lambs in his bosom..." "The Lord is my Shepherd..." The ninety and nine parable and concern for even one lost sheep." "Behold the Lamb of God..." We accepted the analogy and believed that we have the same relationship with our Lord and the Son sent to us that a good shepherd has to a flock of sheep. It just seemed too true to be a coincidence and it helped us live better and accept what came our way sustained by the feeling that we would always be cared for if we did our part and believed and acted accordingly.

Don't feel bad because you grew up in the city, T.V. Heck, I had to go to college and pay good money to have someone teach me what you learned so naturally as a printer's devil. If you couldn't do what you do so well each week, all of us Seniors would have a heck of a time sorting out our routine business. Anyhow it is Easter time and we should all be happy and enjoy the blessings the season brings to us each year.

I'm always glad I don't have to be depended on to figure out just when Easter falls each year. I guess it is the first Sunday after the first full moon after the (vernal) equinox, but I am not sure. Isn't it great that we can enjoy the season whether or not we know how to calculate dates? Enjoy.

Thursday, April 13: The cooks will prepare roast pork for our pleasure today and Jan hopes this meal will make our Easter season brighter. Thanks, Jan, Grandma and Matt for your thoughtfulness in all seasons! Seniors are invited to the Center for bingo at 12:30, come and join in.

Easter Monday, April 17: Shopping is planned at Adrian and the bus leaves the Center at 9:30. Give Erma Alber a ring at 428-8707 if you wish to go along.

Tuesday, April 18: We will enjoy the cooks' special meat loaf today at senior meal in Emanuel dining room at 12 noon. We invite you who are 55 or older to join us for the fun and fellowship of our senior meals. Call in reservations ahead to Linda (428-8359), or Jan before 10:30 on meal days) at 428-7630 and come and enjoy. Center activities follow and there is always much to accomplish, come and help.

Wednesday, April 19: The trip to Hillsdale for Gleis Greenhouse and Country Loft will be taken today (instead of the 12th). The bus leaves the Center at 9 AM, call Erma.

Thursday, April 20: NO MEAL today, except for Emanuel's Sauerkraut Supper.

Have a most blessed Easter!

Happy Birthday, Seniors!

These seniors celebrated birthdays last Thursday at the Senior Citizen Lunch. L-R: Erma Alber, Gladys Fillyaw, Lee Allan, Lillian Uphaus, and Russell Wolff

BLUE LAKE INTERNATIONAL GROUPS TO VISIT EIGHT EUROPEAN COUNTRIES

Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp will send four musical groups to Europe this summer where they will tour eight countries from the Mediterranean Sea to the North Sea. A record 322 talented musicians and singers will visit Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Luxembourg, Italy and The Netherlands during June and July as part of Blue Lake's International Exchange Program. In return, Blue Lake and more than two dozen Michigan communities will host five European groups that will visit Michigan.

Since 1970, nearly 20,000 American, European and Asian musicians, singers and dancers have participated in Blue Lake's International program, according to Blue Lake vice President Gretchen Stansell. Blue Lake groups that will tour Europe during June and July include a 100-piece symphony orchestra, 105-member concert band, 90-voice choral ensemble and 22-piece jazz band.

The symphony orchestra, under the direction of Blue Lake President Fritz Stansell, will present concerts in Michigan and Illinois before leaving for Europe. All four groups will present homecoming concerts in several Michigan cities and at Blue Lake on their return from Europe. Conductors of the other three groups are North Farmington High Band Director Carl Gippert, concert band; Kevin Dobreff, a member of the music faculties at Grand Rapids Community College and Aquinas College, choral ensemble, and Jim Olcott, a Professor of Music and Instructor of Trumpet at Miami University (Ohio).

From the Manchester area, Kathleen Doyle, a junior trumpeter from the MHS Band, daughter of Bill & Becky Doyle, is a participant in the International Exchange Program.

I, in the short dialogue, want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. ## They're Coming!

The tortoise and the hare are both gearing up for the 24 Hour Relay Challenge to be held on Saturday, May 27-Sunday, May 28th. Are YOU in training yet?

Imagine a community where teenagers aren't using drugs and alcohol, where kids have plenty to do, are involved in healthy activities, and take pride in the town they live in - where teenagers, parents and community leaders are working and playing together. Sounds great, doesn't it? Can't happen here? YES, IT CAN!!!! All it takes is some involvement on all sides.

Picture this....Tents and sleeping bags, covering our own athletic field. People of all ages sharing the excitement, the lack of sleep, the aching muscles, the fun of meeting new people and talking with each other instead of over each other.

On May 27th and 28th, 1995, the Manchester Community Schools will host a celebration of fun and endurance. They will be presenting a "24 HOUR RELAY CHALLENGE". The teams will be made up of students from 7th through 12th grades; parents, teachers, school administrators; community members, businesses, civic organizations - and anyone else wishing to participate.

This project ensures two important outcomes. First, it creates a bonding between the schools and the community. And it also raises the awareness regarding substance abuse issues. It is a vehicle for young people to participate in a healthful, yet risk-taking experience where teamwork, pride, and positive attitudes as well as positive role models play an important part in their growth.

Second, the project is a fundraiser. Oh, no! ! ! Not another one! Yes, another one - but this one certainly will benefit all involved. The schools as well as the community. The proceeds from the team fees collected as well as money donated will be set aside to fund D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) programs at Klager, Middle School and High School levels - an expansion of our current program. Also, an account will be established from which the students themselves can apply to receive mini-grants of up to $500 to do youth service, community involvement projects and school activities which promote a healthy, drug-free lifestyle.

This is a positive, worthwhile endeavor which merits attention, recognition and pride. The commitment, cooperation and caring of these special people, our youth, will only be enhanced by the whole community joining in and supporting their efforts.

Please, join the Tortoise and the Hare in helping to prepare for the 24 Hour Relay Challenge. To volunteer your time or services, call 428-7722. To start your very own team, call Wes Gall or John Korican at the High School, 428-7333. And to make an important cash donation, call Yvonne Henry at Klager School, 428-8321.

Your participation is necessary and welcomed!

High School Vandalism Investigated

Pictured is one of the scenes at the high school on the morning of March 29th. Spray-painting vandals had held a spree at the parking lot and on the rear walls of the high school with quite a bit of paint damage. Much of the graffiti included foul language.

WCSD Deputy Kevin Deacons indicates he has interviewed several people regarding this incident and is continuing his investigation.

It is unfortunate that this unnecessary and irresponsible damage of the school property reflects on all students. The flagrant disrespect shown for others' property is deplorable.

This incident is among several occurrences over the past few weeks targeting school property. Anyone with information regarding the graffiti at the high school or damages to Klager playground is encouraged to call Deacons at 971-9036.
