JV Dutch Begin their Season with a Victory!

Jake Ford (#12) heads for the end zone. Kirk Horodeczny (#44) ran 95 yards for a touchdown a few plays later!

Manchester Dutchmen's J.V. team has started their season off with a bang! On Thursday, August 31, the Dutchmen took on the Clinton Redskins and came away victorious.

Within minutes of the start of the game, Clinton scored the first touchdown, but their extra point was no good. It only took Manchester three minutes later to score when Terry Coleman ran for the touchdown. Mike Meranuck's pass to Eric VanBogelen gave them the two point conversion and Manchester led, 8 - 6.

The Dutch defense showed their strength in the next Clinton drive by stopping them cold. Manchester took over at the Clinton 45 yard line and Manchester's drive was capped off by 6 points when Jake Ford ran into the end zone. Terry Coleman kicked the extra point. At the end of the first quarter the score was Manchester 15, Clinton 6.

Clinton tried valiantly to make it to the end zone but Manchester's defense just would not give in. Clinton was stopped at the 5 yard line. Manchester's offense took over and Kirk Horodeczny ran 95 yards for the touchdown. The extra point was again kicked and the score was Manchester 22, Clinton 6.

The action did not pick up again until the fourth quarter when Clinton made another touchdown, but a 2 point conversion failed. Manchester did not let Clinton celebrate for very long as Nick Niehaus took the kick off and ran it back for the touchdown. The final score was Manchester 28, Clinton 12.

What a great way to begin the season. Keep up the good work, J.V. Dutch!

Manchester Market Gets Fresh Look for Fall

"Our main objective is to increase our variety," indicates Jeff Tanner, co-owner of Manchester Market. To better serve their customers, Jeff and his partner, Jerry Dobbs, have been working closely with suppliers and consultants to enhance the shopping atmosphere and increase products and services offered here.

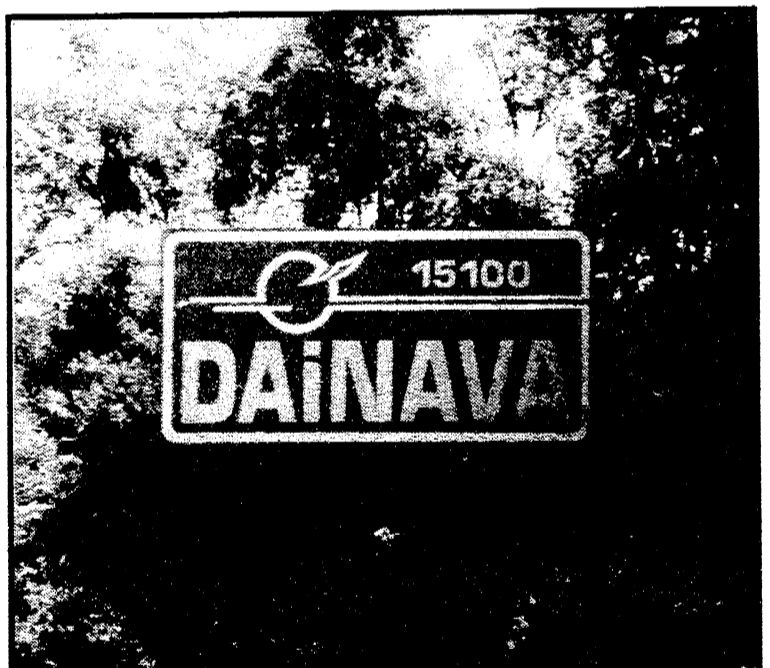

Frequent (and even infrequent) shoppers at Manchester Market this summer have noted the improved quality and quantity of goods offered there. The atmosphere seems cleaner and brighter, the service is cheerful and friendly, and yet we retain our small-town market with all the convenience that implies.

Two rows of new shelving will increase the linear footage of space for products without increasing the number of shelving units or decreasing the width of the aisles. Translation: You can still stop and talk to your neighbor in the aisles at Manchester Market while looking for a greater variety of groceries to stock your cupboards!

Jerry and Jeff apologize for the amount of time it is taking to acquire a liquor license under the new management. Everything is being done to expedite the process, so your patience is appreciated. Stop in and see the new look this week!

Spartan corporate representatives and vendors from many product lines vie for space with employees and shoppers in the aisles at Manchester Market as the spruce-up process continues Tuesday & Wednesday. New aisle signage, also adds a bright look

Have you ever driven by this sign and wondered what's back there? See second front page for the answer!

Dainava Provides Cultural Heritage for Youth and Adults

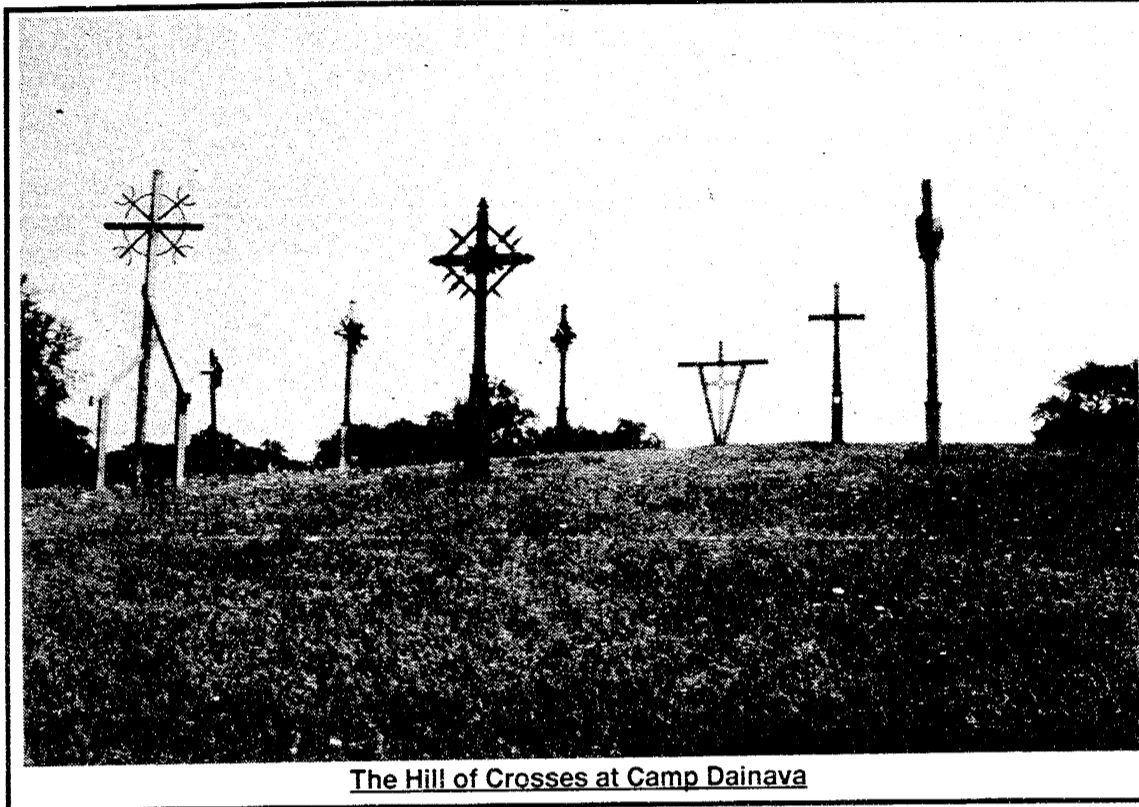

For 29 years the Dainava sign has been out on West Austin Road near the county line. As many others, I have often driven by wondering just what goes on there. I was invited to go visit Dainava a couple weeks ago and experience the "mystery."

Dainava is a Lithuanian camp which is used by Lithuanians from all over the United States as well as those who still live in Lithuania, to learn more about their traditional heritage and culture. As I drove into the camp I felt I was entering a peaceful, solitary existence. It appears much like northern Michigan with lots of trees and pines in a secluded area. A lake provides a centerpiece to the 40 acres and cinder block buildings are scattered here and there. The camp is quite plain in appearance, but wait till you meet the people!

I went into the main building and met Donna Mikuzis, a Lithuanian teacher from the Chicago area who has been coming here since 1986. Donna is a very friendly person who greets everyone with open arms, as Lithuanians customarily do. I felt that I had stepped into a different country, for everyone at the camp speaks Lithuanian. It didn't take me long to feel at home, however.

The main pavilion is the meeting area with a large room where everyone gathers for meetings, dances, and learning sessions. There is a dining pavilion with separate barracks for boys and girls, as well as another building across the lake where you can get a snack and go swimming or fishing.

Then there is the "Hill of Crosses." Standing on a hill away from the main pavilion are several crosses, all built from wood; some with inscriptions on them in Lithuanian. Each cross is built by an organization who has stayed at Camp Dainava over the past 29 years. People will spend time sitting up on the hill for solitude or peaceful time - some to get closer to their God, and some just to feel good.

Dainava is privately owned by the Lithuanian Catholic Association and is rented out by different Lithuanian organizations throughout the summer and early fall for one to two week intervals. The week I visited they were having a teacher's study week workshop.

Teachers from all over the U.S. come to Dainava to share their experiences and techniques for keeping the Lithuanian heritage strong within the American culture. There are 29 Lithuanian Saturday schools in Michigan alone to help Lithuanian youth learn the language, grammar, geography, history and folk dances of their heritage. "Saturday school" is taught during the school year on Saturday mornings for 4 to 4-1/2 hours each week to preschoolers through age 12.

The majority of Lithuanians are Catholic and their religion is very important to them. Mass is said each morning at Camp Dainava by a visiting priest who stays on the grounds. As Lithuania has been occupied for the past 50 years and only recently freed, there is now more interchange with teachers directly from Lithuania to help teach the culture. The importance of learning the history and life-styles of this culture has increased here in the states with the independence of Lithuania.

Their most important holiday is Lithuania's Independence Day, which is February 16 and celebrated in a big way by all Lithuanians with festivals and dances. Folk dancing is a large part of their heritage and all ages participate. They also celebrate all the traditional American holidays.

Approximately 150 people were at camp during the week that I visited. These people come from all walks of life - doctors and factory workers alike all come to strengthen their link to their forefathers.

It was Saturday evening and extremely warm, but that did not affect the performance of the closing ceremonies held each Saturday evening, which is the close of their week-long learning. I was entertained by everyone at the camp with what they had learned in just one short week. The youth put on a skit, the adults sang and played instruments, and everyone performed the dances of the Lithuanian culture.

Some of these children and adults only see each other at camp once a year, yet they become one large extended family for the time they are together - teaching and learning from each other from dawn to dusk.

The "mystery" is no longer so mysterious. It was a delight being able to share in the heritage of the Lithuanians right here in our own backyard!

Out & About

- by gar

Labor Day has become the traditional day honoring the workers of this great country. The Union movement received a portion of its appeal, media coverage and thrust during the infamous altercation with Henry Ford's hatchet man, Harry Bennett, at the Ford Rouge plant. Without doubt, that era spawned the major portion of the labor reforms that were needed to protect workers' rights and compensation.

Unfortunately, as a necessity of the times, a strike was necessary to shut down plant production and thus address workers' demands. Manufacturing of goods with production machinery was in full swing. Fortunes were being made by factory owners but the worker was not sharing in the new production output.

In order to understand the work force of that time it is necessary to review the what an average day of that period was like. I asked Dad what his life was like in 1917. He was a lad of 12, on the farm, at the time and most twelve year olds worked.

His day started between 4 and 5 AM. Out to the barn to feed and milk eight or nine cows, feed the horses and the rest of the farm animals. Set the milk cans in the cooler and go into the house for breakfast. Back out to the barn to harness a horse to a buggy, load the milk cans, and head toward Willis. Stop at the brick school house on the corner of Willis and Rawsonville Roads and start a fire in the wood heating stove. Take the milk to the Creamery in Willis. Stop at the General store on the way back home to see if there were any deliveries that could be made. Stop at the school house to check the fire. After checking the stove go on home, unhook the horses, rub them down, and go walk to school at 9 AM. School was out at 4 in the afternoon at which time the afternoon chores started. Milk the cows, clean the barn, feed the animals, cut wood for the stove and any other chores that needed doing.

As Dad puts it, he was lucky; he got to go to school during the winter months. Schooling stopped for him when he finished the eighth grade. At fourteen his work-a-day life began. On the farm, working as a section hand on the railroad, laborer at the French Landing Dam east of Belleville and then on to Eloise, first on their farms, then forty years in the power house.

Jobs were six days a week, 10 or 12 hours a day. Many of the jobs paid ten to fifteen dollars for a weeks worth of work. As Dad puts it there were a lot of people who worked hard for next to nothing and they were glad to just have a job.

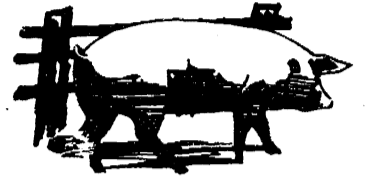

So when we think of Labor Day, think how fortunate we are that our day's labor is but a pittance of what it was sixty and more years ago.

Out of the Pen

by garlene

Life is full of little surprises. One big surprise for garlene has been that somehow over the past weekend, September has arrived already. "It feels like fall," as a neighbor commented to her this morning.

Yes, it does feel like fall. Piglets off to school, work schedule back to "normal," cooler nights, football games, and pulling out a sweat shirt to keep a little warmer in the morning.

Fall is a favorite time with the crisp, cooler days, a very special smell in the air (which may or may not have to do with burning leaves!), clear blue skies and a blaze of colors to the trees.

One of the special things that garlene & co. enjoy doing in the fall is heading out to the orchards for a taste of cider. The first taste is always a thrill, even though we all know that the cider gets better as time goes on. According to Mrs. Alber, the November cider is always the best, and so we try to hold out for a few gallons of November cider which we keep in the freezer to pull out later.

Manchester's own local cider mill, Alber Orchards, is of course our favorite. Everyone always enjoys that first "taste" of cider which is so generously given out by the Albers to each person, no matter if you bring several piglets along - as garlene so often tends to do. The donuts or pretzels you may get if you are lucky and arrive early enough on the weekends, along with the country store atmosphere at Alber's, adds to our enjoyment. A couple bags of different kinds of apples makes a great addition to lunch boxes - for garlene or the piglets.

And then we must have a quart of REAL maple syrup, for the fall breakfasts which include pancakes and waffles. Mmmm...

There is a special smell to the cider mill which is unique and part of the ambience. A few big whiffs should last us until the next trip to Alber's.

Speaking of surprises, when garlene pulls out those sweat shirts and jackets in the fall she is often treated to another one of life's more pleasant surprises. A bit of pocket change is often stashed in the dark recesses of those jackets which have lain fallow in the closet all summer long. (Unless she has raided them on a summer's day!)

Although she is often chastised by some for leaving money in her pockets, (and therefore never really knowing exactly how much money she really has), no one seems to complain when a few extra dollars show up and the piglets get one last DQ, or a gallon of that sweet cider, the day before payday.

How dull our lives would be without the little surprises of life. garlene has often been heard to wonder about those people who do things too predictably, such as putting their socks on the same way every morning, following the same routine every day, or taking the "automatic pilot" route to work all the time.

garlene herself has refused to develop a system for doing anything lest she miss out on an opportunity for some of life's little surprises to strike. She often has been known to mislay her purse or her glasses or other necessities, but at the same time this annoying trait has enabled her to find so many other interesting things along the way while she was searching for those lost items!

Keep watching for those little surprises. Those unpredictable people, pigs, and even seasons just keep on happening. And garlene says, "Thank Goodness!!!"

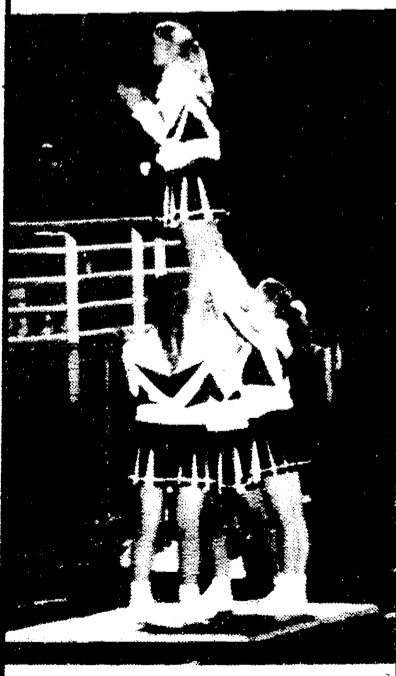

Alber Orchards is open 7 days a week, from 9 AM - 6PM.

The young boxer had been slated to fight the champ but he held back.

"Sluggo," said his manager, "just keep saying, 'I'm gonna lick 'em!'"

"That's no good," replied the boxer, "because I know what a liar I am."

I believe in success. Not because of who I am, but because of Whom I follow. My Lord's a winner. He doesn't believe in failure.

Give Him an invitation to take over in your heart, and He'll give you the inspiration. As you make the preparation, mixed with perspiration, He'll give the wisdom and power for success. "Fear not," He says, "I will uphold you with My victorious hand."

Selecting The Right Credit Card

(Prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants)

If you're in the market for a new credit card, or thinking about trading in your old model for a new one, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offers the following advice.

First, when it comes to credit cards, "less is more." Owning a wallet full of credit cards doesn't mean lenders view you as a good credit risk. In fact, having too many credit cards can work against you — even if you don't use them. That's because when some lenders review your credit application, they add your credit limits, as well as your actual debts. A large available credit limit may cause a lender to think you are financially overextended and may even result in the denial of a future loan request. Saying "yes" to too many offers to raise your current credit card limits could have the same detrimental effect.

What's The Best Card In The Pack?

The best credit card is one that suits your individual spending and payment habits. If you regularly pay off your credit card balances each month, look for a card with no annual fee. The rate of interest is less important. On the other hand, if you carry a balance from month to month, you'll want a card with as low an interest rate as possible.

A wise strategy is to have two credit cards — one no-fee card to use for those day-to-day purchases you plan to pay in full each month, and one low interest-rate card for the big-ticket items you'll repay over time.

Read The Small Print

It's important that you read the fine print in any new credit card agreement. In addition to rates and annual fees, find out how much the bank charges for late payments, bounced checks, and exceeding your credit limit. Also, determine the length of the grace period — the time during which no interest charges accrue on new purchases. Without a grace period, you'll be assessed finance charges even if you pay your bill in full each month.

Beware Of Temptation

Don't jump at credit card offers touting low, teaser rates. A card with a 7.5-percent interest rate might seem like a winner, but that rate may rise by as much as 10 points after the relatively short introductory period is over. Cards that offer low rates for a limited period of time are best only if you plan to transfer a balance from another card on which you are paying higher interest and have a strategy for paying off the debt while the lower interest rate is in effect.

Also, it is not a wise idea to let your credit card become an easy source of quick cash. The interest rate charged on enhancements like cash advances and convenience checks are almost always higher than the rate you pay on purchases. You may be charged a fee as well, and there is no grace period — you start paying interest on cash advances immediately.

To Buy Or Fly?

What about the new wave of rebate cards and frequent-flier cards? Rebate cards offer cash rebates and/or credits toward the purchase of a new car, discount certificates at national retailers, and more. In many instances, higher interest rates and/or annual fees offset these extras. As a general rule, rebate cards only make sense for those who charge large sums (several thousand dollars a month) and pay balances in full each month.

If you sign up for a frequent-flier credit card in the hope of earning a free airline ticket, allow yourself plenty of time. Generally, cardholders earn a free mile for every dollar charged. Since most frequent flier deals require 25,000 miles for a free ticket, it will take a card holder who normally charges $2,500 a year 10 years to earn a free ticket.

Finally, CPAs recommend that you do some comparison shopping before accepting any enticing credit card offers found in your mailbox. For $4.00, Bankcard Holders of America will send you a list of the best deals in low-interest and no-annual-fee bank cards. Contact them at 524 Branch Dr., Salem, VA 24153. Keep in mind, too, that your current credit-card bank holder may be willing to renegotiate interest rates and other lending terms if you have a good credit history.

To learn more about credit issues, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants, PO Box 9054, Farmington Hills, MI 48333-9054 & request a copy of the brochure, Managing Credit: Avoiding the Debt Trap.

Colors Provide a Sensual Delight in Michigan This Fall

Travel along jewel colored roads this fall! Autumn-color seekers will find more than two dozen suggestions for fall-color tour routes in Michigan's new 1995 Michigan Fall Guide and Calendar of Events—and a whole lot more. The state's foliage seems to catch on fire as the leaves explode into red, brown, yellow and orange hues. The countryside is warm with color from dozens of species of northern broad-leaf trees.

Fall is also a great time for sampling the many fruits and vegetables that are being harvested throughout Michigan. Apples, broccoli, carrots, celery, grapes, plums, potatoes, gourds, herbs and pumpkins are a few of the products which will be available from farm markets dotting the country landscapes.

Travelers can select from routes in the Upper Peninsula and the Lower Peninsula and those that circle the Great Lakes. Each featured tour gives the approximate number of miles in the route and includes a listing of some of the scenic highlights along the way. A regional peak-color period map providing the appropriate dates for best fall color viewing and the annual fall calendar of events listing hundreds of activities, festivals, and events statewide will assist travelers in planning their autumn getaways.

In this year's 64-page fall guide there is again a fairly comprehensive listing of Michigan's cider mills and apple orchards. At a glance, travelers can select a cider mill that fits the needs of their autumn outings, i.e., those with farm markets, U-pick apples, baked goods, pumpkins, picnic areas, etc.

Overnight accommodations are plentiful in our fair state and range from very modern to rustic campgrounds, quaint and elegant bed and breakfasts, as well as hotels. For a Michigan Lodging & Tourism Directory, send a self-addressed #10 envelope with 55¢ postage to: Michigan Hotel, Motel & Resort Association, 6105 W. St. Joseph, Suite 204, Lansing, MI 48917 [(517) 323-1818]. For a bed and breakfast directory, send $3 for postage and handling to B & B Directory, PO Box 428, Saugatuck, MI 49453 [Visa & MasterCard are accepted, call: (800) 832-6657]. For information on state parks and recreation areas, contact Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Parks & Recreation Division; PO Box 30257; Lansing, MI 48909 or call (517) 373-9900.

Photographers and romantics will be relieved to learn they don't have to travel to Madison County, Iowa, to admire covered bridges. Michigan has four of its own and the names and locations are provided in the Michigan

Fall Guide and Calendar of Events.

For a free copy of the 1995 Michigan Fall Guide and Calendar of Events, write the Michigan Travel Bureau at P.O. Box 3393, Livonia, MI 48151-3393; or call toll-free 1-(800)-543-2YES, from anywhere in the United States and Canada. Travel advisors are available to assist travelers in planning their vacations and weekend getaways 8 AM to 11 PM (EST) Monday through Friday, and 8 AM to 5 PM Saturday and Sunday.

Travelers also may order information during non-staffed times by leaving their name, address, and phone number on the voice messaging system. Beginning September 15, get the latest fall-color conditions 24 hours a day by calling (800) MI-FALL for weekly updates on the progression of Michigan's autumn color, provided by AAA Michigan.

Taking the show on the road Local Resident to Exhibit Restored Antique Cars at Greenfield Village Festival

Automotive service and industrial technology are more than a vocation for two Washtenaw Community College faculty; they're a passion. Automotive Services instructor Rick Weid of Manchester and Numerical Control instructor Roger Dick of Ann Arbor will exhibit their vintage automobiles at the Greenfield Village Old Car Festival September 9 and 10.

Weid's love of vintage cars goes back to his childhood when his father purchased a 1926 Austin 7 in 1945. As THE car for British Motor Works (BMW), the Austin 7's European design included a left-sided steering wheel, a placement that made hand signaling difficult for right-sided American drivers. Weid took possession of the car in 1990, after restoring the engine in 1967 and the body in 1972. This rare vehicle is so compact, that it fits in the back of a pick-up truck. And that is exactly how Weid plans to take it to the festival. The Austin 7 is just one of several cars in Weid's automobile collection. He also cherishes his 1929 Model A, 1953 Packard, 1956 Buick Roadmaster, and 1966 Le Mans.

A special lady had a very special birthday on August 28 when she celebrated her 95th. Ella Kern resides at the Saline Evangelical Home and daughter Phyllis Baker arranged a bingo party for about 80. Wouldn't we all like to know her secret of long life? Happy Birthday, Ella, and it's never too late to send a card to her, as the ones 'out of the blue' are fun, too. Please let me know if you have a Manchester area 90 plus friend or relative who will celebrate birthdays.

School has begun and we must watch our driving. Have heard grumblings from a former Safety Patrol gal that there are occasions when someone in a very big hurry neglects to obey her stop sign at intersections. Not only that, but actually drives around children while she was escorting them across the street! This is a no-no. Let's allow these dedicated folks to do their job without verbal insults, etc. Take the time to be nice to our kids.

Thursday, September 7: August and September Birthday Bash is on today. This begins at 12 noon in Emanuel's dining room for all seniors who have reached that magic age of 55 or more. Join in the festivities by calling in your reservation to either Sharman at 428-8359 (ahead), or to Jan at 428-7630 (before 10:30 on meal days). Ham will be served with all the trimmings, come join us. Bingo will be played at the Center at 12:30.

Saturday, September 9: Senior bus leaves the Center at 8:30 for Belleville and their annual City-wide Yard Sale. Rubena states 'If you like garage sales, this is the place to go!' Go along by first calling Erma Alber at 428-8707 to be placed on the list.

On September 10, Grandparents Day is celebrated. They don't expect much (they say they already have more than they need), but a card, phone call or a visit would be nice.

Tuesday, September 12: Come join in at Council meeting which begins at 9:30 at the Center. At noon, Jan and faithful crew will serve something special all of us eager senior eaters—it is chef's choice today. Jan comes up with something new and then asks us if we like it, otherwise we won't be treated to this again. Hardly ever does anyone say "We don't like it", she seems to know our tastes so well, thanks, pal. We love the 'babying' we receive and at the price of our meals ($2.50), why not come try them?

Thursday, September 14: Here come the stuffed peppers! These we could have more often (in my opinion), but then there are those who do not like them at all! Know what? The Crew bakes just the insides for those who don't leaving the green part off. Yup, I admit there are food-stuff which I refuse to eat, is that true of you, too?

Whoops, at it again. While visiting with Kelly and Daniel Randall, I asked if they'd seen the locust on the pole. She told me it was just a shell of locust and had dropped on the ground and she had picked it up. Hubbie is right again, darn. Then, while Howard & Lenora were here one day, he stated that he thought thistle seeds came from a thistle and not from our multiple sunflowers. Well, I think another of these men are correct! Excuse me once again—live and learn (while I once again go in search of the answer).

MIDDLE SCHOOL STUDENTS HELP GIVE MANCHESTER FAMILY SERVICE CLIENTS A GOOD START FOR SCHOOL

Last spring at the Middle School honors evening, Manchester Family Service was presented with a check of over $1,900 which was raised by the middle school students in a creative "jar wars" competition between classes. At that time, students were given a plaque by MFS President Mary Frances Fielder who commended the students on their efforts and expressed how touching it was to see such care and generosity shown by the students. Mrs. Terry Monkiewicz, Counselor at the middle school, organized the fund raiser and said MFS was the chosen charity from the "get go."

This August, Manchester Family Service designated the jar wars money towards a special need. Sixty children of Family Service clients were provided with gift certificates to be used for school clothes, shoes or supplies. The middle school students' contribution has helped children in need to get a good start for the coming school year.

Manchester Family Service would like to again recognize the students for a job well done! We are proud of their fund raiser accomplishment and the great kindness and charity they have shown to others who may be less fortunate. The students' help and that of other community members enables Manchester Family Service to help those in our community in need. We are deeply grateful for your support.

What Does the Future Hold?

Is your child "College Material"?
Don't answer this question too quickly!

If your child learns differently or has an attention problem that has hindered his/her success in school, maybe you thought this ruled out college. The University of Michigan admits students with learning disabilities - in fact, one graduated last December with a perfect 4.0.

Here's a quote from an student with learning disabilities after completing his first year. "It was hard because I had to do everything on my own. It was the most difficult thing I have ever done. But, as you can see, I made it."

There are many colleges and universities that offer programs for learning disabled students and also have special entrance and graduation requirements. The key is to start looking early so the proper preparations can be made. SAT and ACT are entrance exams required by many colleges. Special arrangements can be made for students with special needs. For example, it can be taken un-timed, it can be read to the students, it is available on tape, etc. Here are some questions you might want to ask of the colleges you are interested in:

- Does the college offer a comprehensive program for learning disabled students?
- What types of support services are available?

• Are there professional tutors available, and are they trained to work with students with special needs?

• Are there academic advisors and professors trained or familiar in the field of learning disabilities?

• What accommodations are made for learning disabled students?

• Are special orientation programs offered for learning disabled students?

• May learning disabled students carry a reduced course load?

• Are there waivers granted to students who cannot pass a certain course?

• Can the foreign language requirement be waived?

• What counseling services are available for academic, emotional, and career advice?

This information was taken from "Parenting a Child with a Learning Disability", Cheryl Gerson Tuttle, M.Ed. and Penn Paquette.

Ask your school's counselor about colleges. Also, P.A.S.S. has compiled a list of books and pamphlets with information about colleges and universities for students with special needs. Our phone number for messages is 428-0738.

P.A.S.S. is a parent/student support group and meets Wednesdays at 7PM at Klager

Inspired Clinton Defeats Manchester, 20 - 12

Manchester's three year domination of Clinton came to an end Friday evening when they defeated our local lads by a score of 20-12. As Clinton coach, Scott McNitt, said: "For three long years we were shut out. For three long years we lost to Manchester. Our guys played an inspired game. We picked up where we left off at the end of last season and proved that we can drive the football. I'm very proud of these kids and they can be proud of their effort."

Manchester coach, Wes Gall, put the game context in prospective. "We learned that other teams want to play. We have had some outstanding successes in the past four years; that does not win games this year. It is a good loss to learn from, a non-conference game which can show us what needs to be accomplished. The key to the game was Clinton's front four. They dominated our line and came off the ball quicker than we did."

Clinton had 334 yards gained to Manchester's 128, almost a 3 to 1 margin. Clinton's running back, senior John Basinger, had 138 yards on 22 carries and scored two touchdowns before going out with an injury. Junior, Ken Roberts, replaced Basinger and rushed for 117 yards on 15 carries.

Manchester scored in the first quarter after Nick Davis intercepted Clinton's aerial. Davis returned the ball 35 yards before being stopped. Zach Maghes scored on a quarterback sweep and Manchester scored first. The kick was wide left and the scoreboard read 6 - 0.

Clinton scored next and the game was tied 6 - 6 when they failed to convert the extra point. Clinton scored again and their two point conversion put us down 6 - 14. Manchester scored again on a Nick Davis to Mark Harris razzle-dazzle pass. Manchester's attempt for a two point conversion was thwarted when Maghes was inadvertently tripped up by our interior lineman. Score Manchester 12 - Clinton 14. Clinton went on to score again for a 20 to 12 margin. Manchester got the ball back with a little over a minute and a half left but were unable to move the ball, and Clinton emerged with a well-played win.

Our lads played hard and the outcome was in doubt to the very end. -by gar

MANCHESTER YOUTH BASKETBALL

WHAT: Boys and Girls youth basketball league for grades 4-6.

WHERE: Manchester High School

WHEN: Boys beginning Saturday, September 16, 1995 from 6:30pm til 9:00pm.

Girls beginning Saturday, September 16, 1995 from 9:30am til 11:30am.

COST: $30.00 per player

The formation of a Manchester Youth Basketball League is here once again. This program is for boys and girls, grades 4th through 6th. This league will run every Saturday beginning September 16 thru Saturday December 9, 1995.

This is a 12 week program focusing on introducing and developing the fundamentals necessary to succeed in the game of basketball. The first five weeks will be spent on drills designed to improve each child's skills. Players will then be divided into evenly matched teams. Beginning in week 6, teams will then be matched in 3 on 3 competition. In weeks 6-11 teams will play 2-4 league games each Saturday. Weeks 6-11 will be our regular season. In week 12, we hope to have a double elimination tournament.

The cost of this league is $30.00 per player. Each player will receive a Manchester Youth Hoops T-Shirt. All surplus money will go into a fund that will be used exclusively for boys and girls Jr. High basketball as well as boys 9th grade basketball. Ken Branch will be serving as our girls director. Steve McCalla will be serving as our boys director as well as our program coordinator. Neither Steve or Ken will be receiving compensation for their time. This program has been endorsed by the Manchester Athletic Department. I would urge you to consider allowing your child to participate in this program. Rather than answer the same questions repeatedly, I will be available 1 hour prior to the boys first practice on Saturday Sept. 16, 1995. Ken will be available to answer any questions concerning the girls program 1 hour prior to the girls first practice Saturday Sept. 16, 1995. The deadline for signing up will be Saturday Sept. 16, 1995. You may sign-up on site at the high school. This is a non-refundable program.

Checks should be made payable to: MANCHESTER ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT in the amount of $30.00. SIGN UP EARLY.
