She also has been active for four years in S.A.D.D. and in the National Honor Society for two years.

Erin has been very active in athletics at M.H.S. where she has played Basketball, Volleyball and Softball for three years. A serious knee injury has her knocked from the Basketball team, with the hope of returning for the other sports.

Erin has received the Most Valuable, Most Improved, and the Coach's Award awards for her participation. She has also received All-Conference Honorable Mention and All Area Honorable Mention in Volleyball and Basketball.

Erin was selected as the 1995 Homecoming Queen for M.H.S. and was the first runner-up for Fair Queen this past summer.

Outside of school you will find Erin working with children at various Day Care Centers, Volunteer coaching the 7-10 age group, and mowing lawns.

Erin's future plans are in the field of Occupational Therapy at Western Michigan University.

Pumpkins Galore - and More!

Pumpkin spirits were not dampened by Mother Nature's sprinkles last Saturday, as 90+ kids of all ages did their best carving. From the youngest carver (under 3) to the 60 and over group fun was had by all in St. Mary's Parish Center.

The festivities began at 11AM with kids eagerly waiting to begin. Everyone was entertained by haunting music from Small Town Sounds. A makeshift "hay wagon" on the floor caught all the good stuff from the pumpkins and the creative pumpkin juices flowed.

There were plenty of great spitters, all juiced up for the seed spitting contest, including our own Deputy Kevin Deacons as the winning adult spitter, followed by a very wet apple bobbing contest. Pictures, p. 10

The Chelsea Standard Sold

Heritage Newspapers purchased the Chelsea and Dexter newspapers owned and operated by Walter P. and Helen May Leonard for the past 48 plus years. The Chelsea Standard was established in 1871 and the Leonard's have published the Standard since 1947.

William Douglas, Operations Manager for Heritage, said they have been interested in acquiring Leonard's papers for the past three years. "We purchased the subscriber list, some computers and a non-compete clause with Walt and Helen. We did not buy the Glazier Building." Brian Hamilton will be in charge of the operations. Brian, formerly with the Standard, had formed The Chelsea Review, to compete with the Standard. The Review will be put to sleep for a while according to Douglas. "We probably will bring it back as a monthly feature publication, possibly in the Standard and the Leader."

Heritage has been acquiring many weekly papers over the past few years, including the Saline Reporter, The Milan News, Monroe Guardian and many other down river and southeastern Michigan publications.

Walt and Helen have been very supportive of the community during their ownership and have maintained a traditional newspaper. "Technology has changed newspapers and we were caught up in that change," according to Walt.

School Improvements Continue

Dutch Teams Playing with a New Deck

It takes a lot to run a school. There are always changes and improvements. This week we take a look at one of these improvements. Come with us as we take a look at the new gym floor.

The floor is brand new and the design is impressive. It even still smells new if you get there first thing in the morning (before all the physical fitness classes). It took all summer (due to the extreme heat and humidity) and $76,000.00 to build. As I stood there looking at it, I wondered what was so great about a gym floor. Besides the high gloss shine (which as a housewife I find fascinating), and the painted areas, what constitutes a gym floor?

I know that one of the reasons the old floor was even under question was that sometimes the basketball bounced back up to you and sometimes it did not. There was also the question of a safety factor. Basketball, volleyball and gymnastics, to name a few, are events that require the gym floor to "give" a little. The pounding of these sports on the players needs a gym floor that cushions some of that pounding.

The project started off as just a new layer of hardwood. However, when the old wood was ripped off the underlying supports (sleepers) were found to be rotted away. Also, the whole thing needed to be leveled. What the gym floor now has is an underlay of cement to level the floor, two layers of plywood and one layer of rubber type material pads. This is covered by a vapor barrier (which the original floor did not have) and good quality hardwood. The vapor barrier will prevent the rotting and buckling which was caused by moisture in the previous floor.

Some of the coaching staff and others collaborated on the floor design. The old floor had just a gold border. The new floor has maroon in the key area (basketball free throw area) and the border is maroon with the Flying Dutchmen logo.

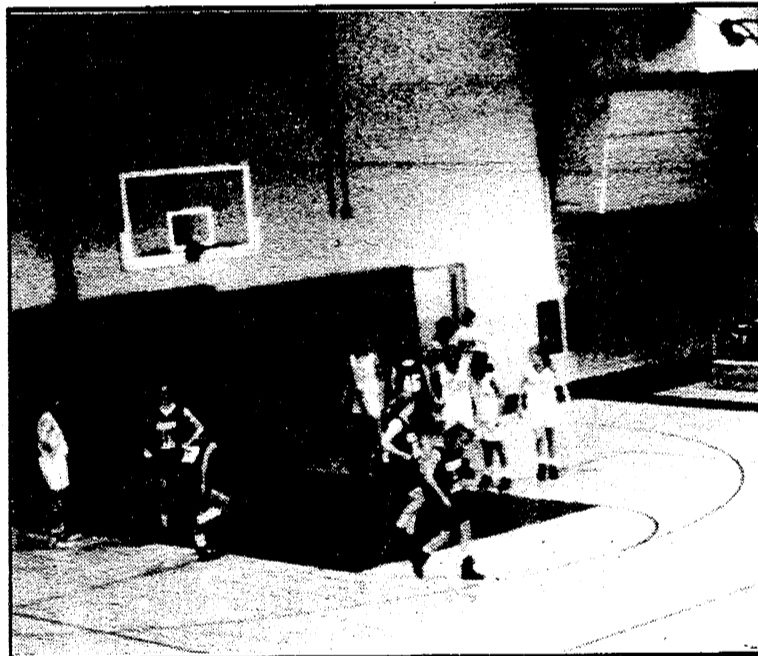

Manchester Community Schools' Superintendent Ron Niedzwiecki says this is a state-of-the-art gym floor. All the gym floors being built now are constructed along the same lines as this floor.

The girls basketball team has been using the floor for two months now. Mr. John Easley, MHS Athletic Director, tells me that the opposing coaches and players have had nothing but good comments on our new floor.

This new floor is but one of the improvements being made to help our students. Come with us next time as we peruse the new computer labs and learn a little more about the new technology.

Out & About

- by gar

This past week the Detroit Tigers announced they would build a new stadium in Detroit near the Fox Theater. Wonderful? The Lions have an ongoing battle with the City of Pontiac about the Silverdome stadium and their desire to get a chunk of the action. Great? The Pistons and the Wings over the past few years have relocated to new facilities. Nice? Why all the question marks?

Professional sports has lost a lot of credibility with strikes and Mega-salaries for some of their inflated ego players. Multi-million dollar salaries and nasty mouthed players with four letter word vocabularies don't endear the players to the fans! I have lost my desire to witness any of the professional perfidy.

As a matter of fact, I am losing my desire to watch college/university level sports.

I do, however, like to watch our high school, middle school and elementary sports events. Not just the sporting events but the Band, the Cheerleaders, parents and viewing spectators. This past Saturday our football team ventured to Homer to play Union City. The officials along the side lines were commenting to themselves about how hard hitting the game was and how intense the players were. They were pointing out some of the missed assignments by both teams and by some of the outstanding plays and players of both teams.

My attention turned from taking pictures to observing the band at half time and to the cheerleaders. I looked into the stands and watched the rapt attention of the spectators. The cheers for our players and the groans when the opponents scored. There were a lot of sad faces when the game was over and our home town boys lost by the close score of 19 - 14.

The team met at mid-field after the game and there were a lot of disappointed faces who listened to the coach. However, there were no losers in this trip to Homer. The players, band members, cheerleaders and fans were winners each and everyone, for they participated in a small part of life. The participation in any event, in and out of school, is but a learning experience. Savor the experience and remember the occasion. All who attended the event gave their best, and that is what really matters.

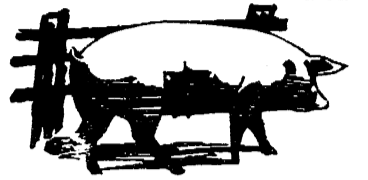

Life will have its good and bad days but participation in the events makes us winners all. Morenci this Saturday, gang!

Give it your best shot, but remember all of you, PLAYERS, BAND MEMBERS, CHEERLEADERS, PARENTS AND SPECTATORS - YOU ARE WINNERS!

Out of the Pen- Again

by garlene

garlene has been feeling a little out of touch, lately.

She knows some will be amused and some will be amazed that she admits to a life-long weakness for news. She never minded bringing in current events articles to school, and enjoyed helping the piglets find just the right article for their own class assignments. garlene has always thought of herself as a well-informed pig.

For 25+ years the pigpen's clock radio was set to wake up to JP McCarthy on WJR, who kept her in touch with the outside world. As a student, garlene may have been just a little bit uppity because she felt she had an inside track to the outside world. And while her early morning listening habits didn't preclude a love for popular music, she kept her other tastes a well guarded secret.

garlene has never liked TV news - too much fluff to get to the real (excuse her) meat of the issues. Lots of sensationalism to attract ratings. garlene isn't interested. Once upon a time she would watch the news from Windsor to get a different perspective on what's happening here in the US. It's amazing how differently a station across the river can focus on world and local issues.

Several years ago garlene started subscribing to the Detroit News. Another secret addiction - she would read the entire paper and forget about cleaning up her pen. For a dozen years or so, garlene considered herself an extremely well-informed citizen.

This summer, though, several things happened which changed all that.

First, a guy named O.J. something was a deterrent to watching, listening to, or reading any news media at all. garlene's disgust for the goings-on in Los Angeles led her astray for a few months. She started tuning out.

Then the Detroit newspapers went on strike. Columns garlene had followed for years disappeared or were harder to find in a jumbled-up paper. The news seemed watered-down somehow and it didn't seem worth the bother any more. The newspaper has been missed, but other activities have taken up the time she used to spend reading it front to back (or back to front on a good comics day.)

One morning late this summer garlene woke up to learn that JP McCarthy, the man she depended upon to bring the outside world into her pen each morning, had died. Suddenly the radio, too, was tuned out. Although the clock radio still clicks on each morning to the same station, garlene isn't really listening.

Until this morning. Something clicked in when the radio clicked on. garlene thinks she's spent too long covering the hot issues in Manchester. Suddenly, she realized there are events of the world going on that she's been missing. WHAT? Quebec wants to secede from Canada?! Geez, without reading, watching or listening for weeks in advance, she hasn't thought about Devil's Night since last October. Hey - they're really going to build that new Tiger stadium? Without Sparky? And did they ever have a World Series, anyway?

A lady jumped into a lion's cage in Grand Rapids? HELLO - has she been out of touch, just like garlene? This seemed to be the cautionary tale which jolted us back to reality. Is this what happens when one stops remembering there's a real world out there?

garlene stopped at the news stand this morning, and bought a copy of the paper. Maybe it will become a habit once again.

Watch Out!

FALL MEANS DEER SEASON — DRIVERS SHOULD BE ALERT!

Washtenaw County Sheriff Ronald J. Schebil would like to remind citizens that the fall season means that the local deer population will be on the move. Although the animal's heightened, aggressive activity increases the chance of a vehicle/deer crash occurring, there are ways in which motorists can avoid these unforeseen dangers as they travel the rural roads of Washtenaw County.

"According to the Department of Natural Resources, Wildlife Division, statistics show that there were 56,606 vehicle/deer crashes statewide in 1994. Of that number, $1,203 occurred in Washtenaw County alone," reports the Sheriff.

"It is wise for citizens to remember that many rural, and even some urban areas of Washtenaw County still offer shelter for deer," continues Sheriff Schebil, "...which means they have a lot of area to roam. Also, as daylight hours decrease during this time of the year, motorists must travel to and from work and other activities in the darkness. This can add to the ever-present danger of encountering deer on county roads as they venture out into open areas in search of food."

Statewide, the current deer herd population stands at 1.8 million and thus, Michigan roads carry an increased risk of vehicle/deer crashes now and through the end of the year, with most collisions occurring within the first two hours after sunset. At dusk, visibility of these animals can be extremely limited as they hide amongst trees and brush along roadsides; leaping out unexpectedly onto the path of on-coming motor vehicles. Motorists can, however, avoid a vehicle/deer crash simply by following a few Safe Driving Tips:

- Be particularly cautious wherever "Deer Crossing" signs are posted. This is a warning to motorists that deer are frequently sighted in these areas. It is important to remember, however, that deer can emerge from any area at any time. Although they are more commonly found in rural regions, they also roam in heavily populated areas as well.

- Turn on headlights at dusk. Statistics show that vehicle/deer crashes most frequently occur between the hours of 5-8:00 PM. It is important, too, to look beyond headlight beams and watch for the shining eyes of deer near the road. Also, dimming the vehicle's interior panel light will increase outward visibility.

- Reduce speed at dusk.

Slow down when approaching wooded areas, crops or wherever tall vegetation grows close to the road. A deer's coloring is its natural camouflage, but it also enables them to easily blend into the roadside's dry grassy areas prevalent during autumn months.

- Be alert. If you see a deer, be on the lookout for others. Deer are herd animals and usually travel in groups of two or up to a dozen.

- Do not veer from your traffic lane or the roadway. Don't attempt to dodge a deer as the animal may make an erratic movement; bounding ahead or running zigzag across the road. Also, swerving increases the likelihood of the motorist losing control of the vehicle. (An average of 5 people die and 1,500 are injured each year in deer-related crashes.) It is better to slow down, flash your headlights or blow your horn to try to detour the animal, and then proceed with caution until you are well past the crossing area. (NOTE: If the driver must brake, remember to check the rearview mirror for approaching traffic. A person is more apt to be seriously injured from a rear-end collision, than by hitting a deer.)

- Buckle Up! Not only is it the law, but the sudden impact of a deer can cause extensive damage to a vehicle (average damage being $1,600 to $2,000), as well as personal injury to both the driver and passengers.

"By following these common sense rules, most vehicle/deer collisions can be avoided," the Sheriff warns, "...but, if you are involved in a vehicle/deer crash, it is also important to remember that you are required by law to report the collision to your local police agency, the Sheriff's Department or the Department of Natural Resources."

Although the driver of the damaged vehicle is entitled to claim the animal, it is unlawful to possess a highway killed deer without obtaining a Highway Deer Kill Permit. A conservation officer can issue this permit, as can any police officer, deputy sheriff, state trooper or metro park ranger. If an accident report is required, the officer at the scene will issue the permit. If the driver of the damaged vehicle elects not to claim the animal, the deer may be salvaged by another individual; however, a permit is still required.

Most vehicle/deer crashes in Washtenaw County are reported by telephone. If your vehicle is drivable, you may leave the area to contact the appropriate law enforcement agency and then return to the scene. It is important to note, however, that the deer should be left at the scene until a permit is obtained. If you leave the area, you may want to conceal the animal to deter others from taking it. If another motorist stops and removes the deer while you are reporting it, they are in illegal possession of the animal and subject to prosecution.

"As you travel throughout this colorful autumn season, please remember that only through careful observation and reduced speeds can vehicle/deer crashes be avoided", concludes Sheriff Schebil. "Always remain alert and be prepared for these and other potential roadside dangers. Your safety and well-being is our foremost concern!"

Sgt. Haensler Reports...

The most common spots in the Village area for car vs. deer crashes are:

- Auburn St. and Ann Arbor Hill
- Grossman and West Austin

Sloppy Handwriting Can Be Taxing

(NAPS)—Sloppy handwriting on tax returns can delay processing and even keep refunds from being mailed. Zaner-Bloser, the nation's leading publisher of handwriting texts, offers these thoughts on the importance of legibly filling out tax returns.

§ The future calls for legibility: As the IRS moves to computer scanners to input returns, dark handwriting will help guard against errors. Write legibly in dark ink and press firmly.

Doors open at 9 AM and you must cook your chili on-site in a Crock Pot or Skillet. Judging will begin at 1 PM and SAMPLING will be from 2:00 to 7:00 for a fee of just 50¢ a cup. It only costs you $5.00 to see if your chili is the best in town, and you'll receive a CASH prize if the judges agree. A full day of fun awaits you.

And what's a bowl of steamy hot chili without an ice cold mug of beer? Beer will be available for $1 a glass or $5 per pitcher. So come on down to St. Mary Parish Center (formerly known as the K of C Hall) and take the challenge!

Entry forms are available at Manchester Pharmacy, Great Lakes Bancorp, and at the Enterprise office. Entry forms must be turned in by Thursday, November 9th at 5 PM.

Groundbreaking for Area Catholic Shrine

Many Manchester folks know well the mission of the Pious Union of St. Joseph in Grass Lake; they know the dedicated work of the priests and the lay members who pray daily for the suffering and dying.

For those of you who know this work and for those who are interested in knowing more, please join us in the groundbreaking ceremony for a new church (hopefully soon to be designated a national shrine!), a church to be constructed from the standing barn on the grounds of the Pious Union in Grass Lake, 971 E. Michigan Ave. - at the eastern edge of the village.

The ceremony will be held Sunday, November 5, at 3:30 PM and will include a blessing of the barn and grounds, prayer and song.

Nationwide there are nearly 10,000 members of the Pious Union of St. Joseph! And in our area, where people are so familiar with the works of the Servants of Charity - the priests who run the St. Louis Center in Chelsea and also the Pious Union, there are many, many members.

It is with great excitement that this phase of the work of the Pious Union begins. The Bishop of Lansing, Kenneth J. Povish, who approved the transforming of the barn into a church and who is pursuing the national designation of "Shrine," expressed his enthusiasm for such an important work as praying for and comforting the suffering and dying - especially in our time when the spiritual importance of death is often times ignored because of fear of suffering.

You are asked to share in the celebration of this important work - to join with Fr. Germano, Fr. Joseph, their Superior from Rome, and others - as we break ground, officially beginning the construction of this place of pilgrimage - right in our own neighborhood! Please stop by.

CONGRATULATIONS, REV. NANCY DOTY, ON COMPLETING YOUR DOCTORAL DISSERTATION.

October 26 was a Red Letter Day!

by Howard Parr

When I offered to write something about our travels that you could put in your column, I wasn't trying to put a hex on you and your health or anything. We are all concerned that you, TV, are having some health problems and hope and pray that the great medical system we hook up with in times of health stress quickly finds out what is wrong and gets you on the road back to health. The fact that you had to leave your column to me should be incentive enough to pop right back to good health.

Marion's travel logs are interesting. Along that line we just got back from Vermont and have a tale or two to tell. Once before when we went to Vermont we used the "Fly and Park" deal some motels have at Metro. It works great! For the price of a night's lodging, you can park your car virtually free for the time you are gone. It is great for short stays and we did it again this time.

We thought we were up with the times and knew how to handle things, so when we got back and had recovered our luggage, we went to the usual stand to call for bus service to Howard Johnson's parking lot. It should have been simple; it was before. At the designated stand there was supposed to be a phone with push buttons to use to call the motel.

We were very puzzled by what we found. No push buttons, no phones like we normally use. In front of us were two color TV screens, two handset telephones with no dials or push buttons—all this backed up by a gallery of advertising cards for the many motels there. I didn't have my bi-focals on, but feel sure there were no instructions showing.

So I picked up one of the hand sets expecting to either get instructions or listen to part of a symphony until someone got ready to take care of us. Nothing happened and we continued to stand there. We must have looked fairly helpless because a uniformed gentleman came over and asked if he could help us. I said he could if he knew how to get bus service to our motel.

I nearly fell over when he said, "Touch the screen". He proceeded to do just that and the wheels started turning.

The screen responded by posting a series of inquiries about what we wanted. He touched the screen again above the "Bus service to Motel" line and the various motel names started rolling by in alphabetical order. When Howard Johnson's came on the line he touched the screen above it and picked up the headset. We could hear the automatic squawks; indicating a number was being dialed. HOJO'S came on the line, took our order for bus service and told us where to wait for it. Then everything went dead and the equipment was ready for the next customer.

This experience left me with some question about how well I am adjusting to this modern electronic world. I'm not quite ready to take a course in technology of communications before I leave Manchester to travel again, but it does make me take a second look at my enduring position that I don't want an answering machine gadget put on our telephone. Jan Shurtliff and Deb Havens have been bugging me for several months to get one but I am still resisting.

Maybe the best advice for seniors leaving town via air is to talk to their grandkids. When I was relating our experiences in front of a five year old grandson the other day, he said, "Sure you touch the screen, Buppie, that's the way we do it at Disneyland"! Out of the mouths of babes—

Mrs Merrill's first grade class presented "The Littlest Pumpkin" last Wednesday evening at Klager School. A potluck was held for the students and their families. The kids and Mrs. Merrill, with the help of some parents, did the scenery and props. All of the students in the class were involved in the production, which was enjoyed by all.

To complete the evening, a poem and song were recited by the kids. Great Job!

THE POWERS IN THE PARENTS

Last week there was an excellent conference in Lansing about learning disabilities and attention deficit called Making the Pieces Fit. The bottom line from the first keynote speaker was this:

1. The knowledge is available to diagnose the very precise strengths and weakness of learning for every students.
2. The knowledge is available to implement a learning plan for every student so that they can succeed.
3. The problem is the time and money needed to do the diagnosis and to implement the program is NOT AVAILABLE.

Here is an analogy. Scientists have the knowledge to cure many types of cancer. The treatment plan is known that could produce a successful outcome for many. But still many people are dying of cancer, unnecessarily. WHY? Because sometimes the money to implement the treatment plan is not there (some insurance's don't cover them or some people don't have insurance); and, in some cases the money is there but the time is not (many people die before a bone marrow donor is found).

What can be done about providing a successful education for children? THE POWER IS IN THE PARENTS. You need to tell the principal that we need more staff in our school - teacher time for every student. We need more technology - money to buy the instruments that supplement deficiencies students have for learning the material they need to learn. Tell them that this time and money will help all students - and they will. After telling the principal, tell the superintendent, then the local school board, then the state representative and senator, then the governor of our state and then the federal representative and senator and even the President. Then finally tell your parents and your neighbors and don't forget to tell your kids.

JV Dutch Meet their Match with Morenci

Morenci was just a little more than the JV Dutch could handle Thursday night. The Morenci Bulldogs were bigger physically and on this particular night they seemed more focused than the Dutch.

After some back and forth, Morenci would score first and the two point conversion would be good, also. The Bulldogs led 8-0. In the second quarter Morenci would score again along with the two point conversion. Half time found the Dutch trailing 16-0.

For the last time this season I get to name the "Dangerous Dutch Defense". These are the young men who make the "bell-ringing" tackles. #82 Shane Neigebauer, #50 Jesse Jarels, #72 Chris Kemner, #42 Levi Earhart, #36 Nolan Westcott, #77 Levi Smith and #78 Tim Hough. Tim and Shane got two of the very few tackles that dropped Morenci for a loss.

Four minutes into the second half Morenci would score again, but their two point conversion was be no good. Morenci's last touchdown came as they kicked off and the return by Manchester was fumbled. They would score two plays later with the two point conversion being good. Morenci now led 30-0.

Manchester's offense had some good plays, but Morenci seemed to be able to stop them. #10 Mike Meranuck connected with #87 Keith Dettling for a much needed first down, #44 Kirk Horodeczny and #12 Jake Ford had some impressive runs when they could get by Morenci.

The fourth quarter saw #12 Jake Ford run 50 yards for the only Manchester touchdown. The two point conversion was no good. The final score would be Morenci 30, Manchester 6.

It has been a thrill for me to cover the JV Dutch football games. I look forward to next season as some of these players move up to the Varsity, and we will still need to keep watch on the JV. The Manchester JV record was 6 wins 3 losses overall. - Lois Hochstetler

Varsity Dutchmen Make The Cascades Blue

Even knowing how the game ended Saturday night, I would pay to see it all over again.

As we arrived in Homer, the Manchester High School Band was on the field performing. What a welcoming sound!

Manchester kicked off to Union City. The Chargers first drive was stopped and they had to punt away. #3 Nick Davis had a 23 yard return which put Manchester in good field position for the first touchdown. The kicked extra point was good as the Dutch took an early lead of 7-0.

Union City seemed to be able to eat up yardage on the ground, but they had virtually no passing game. The Chargers would come up with a touchdown in the second quarter, and the kicked extra point would tie the score 7-7.

Manchester's defense got quite a workout, but they came through with some yardage stopping tackles. #56 Jason Miner, #54 Bryan Duvall, #60 Joe Tobias, #70 Justin Porter, and #50 Mike Mann, these young men made sure that Union City knew they were playing play-off football.

The Chargers kicked off to Manchester to start the third quarter. #21 Zach Maghes returned the kick for 23 yards. A lateral pass to #3 Nick Davis took the Dutch to the eight yard line. #21 Zach Maghes had a 3 yard run for the touchdown. #22 Trevor Schleicher kicked the extra point and Manchester now led 14-7.

Union City would come right back with their touchdown. However, Manchester blocked the kicked extra point and held on to their slim lead of 14-13.

Union City had one more drive and which ended in a touchdown. It was the only time the Chargers completed a pass. The two point conversion was no good. The game would end with a score of Union City 19, Manchester 14.

Congratulations to the Manchester Varsity football team! They will play in their next crossover game at Morenci this Saturday at 1:30 PM. Directions may be obtained at the High School office, and a student bus will once again be made available. -LH

JV Womens Win Streak Turns Sour

In the last two weeks, the Manchester J. V. Basketball Team has fallen into a 0-4 slump. Hopefully this cold streak will end soon. Tuesday, October 9, the J. V. Dutch took on the East Jackson Trojans.

The Trojans fired out ahead 15-2 in the first quarter, but Manchester regained some lost ground in the second quarter as they approached EJ 19-9. The beginning of the second half was not good for Manchester as they slipped a bit and fell to 24-11. The game ended in a flurry of Dutch determination, but not enough. The final score was 29-21.

Cortney Whitaker and Amy Gall led the team with five points each. Mary Barrett and Cheryl Pfaus each scored four. Tracey Staples scored three points.

Two days later, the Dutchmen faced Hanover-Horton. The game began slowly for Manchester as they were contained 5-9 by Hanover-Horton. The second quarter was much worse. Not only was Manchester out scored 2-10, with Amy Gall making the only shot, but Lindsay Hosmer injured her leg and was out for the game. The scoreboard malfunctioned to boot.

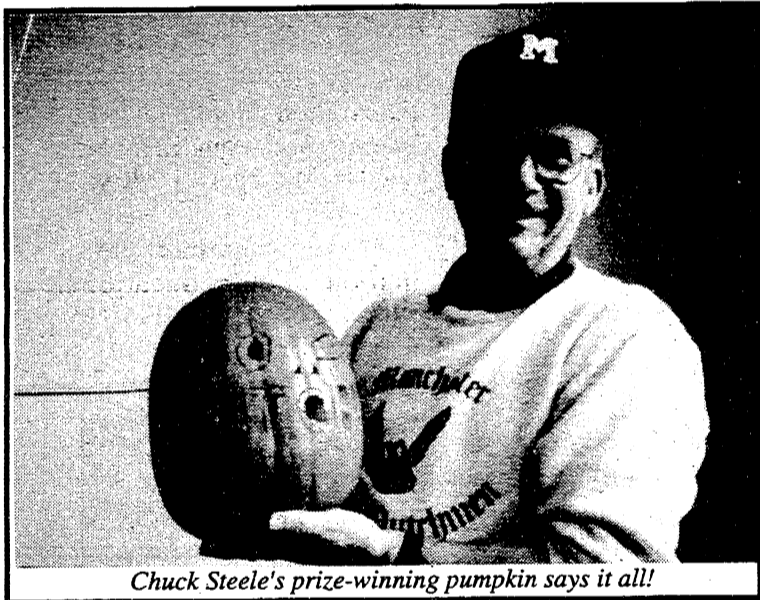

The third quarter was not as rough as the previous two as Manchester regained some lost ground. The score came closer at 14-21. The fourth quarter brought nothing new as Manchester fell 25-35. Two bright spots in the fourth quarter were Cortney Whitaker's leadership and Melissa Hoefft's rebounds. The game's MVP was Amy Gall, who scored 10 points and grabbed many rebounds and steals.

Several days Later, Manchester fought the exceedingly good Addison Panthers. The first quarter was nearly a shut-out until Cortney Whitaker scored on a jumper late in the quarter making the score 2-9. The quarter was strong for Manchester, with Amy Gall scoring nine points by herself, including a three-pointer at the buzzer. The score ended up being 11-15 at the half.

The Dutchmen collapsed in the third quarter as Addison showed no mercy. Manchester gave up 21 points and was called for having six women on the floor at the same time. Fortunately Amy Gall scored on a field goal and on a technical free-throw and Tracey scored on a jumper. The fourth quarter was fairly decent, but it was too late to be saved. Despite Amy scoring four more, along with shots by Cortney and Tracey, the game was lost 23-43. Amy Gall was the night's MVP with 15 points.

Next Manchester fought the Michigan Center Cardinals. The game began dead even, 11-11. The second quarter was pretty even as well with Cortney Whitaker scoring four and Michigan Center scoring five. Melissa Hoefft played excellent defense, helping hold the score at 15-16.

The second half began rough with Manchester falling behind, 18-24, with the only points being scored on an Amy Gall three-pointer. Manchester fell 19-32, the fourth quarter's only scoring a free-throw by Tracey Staples on a technical violation. The night's MVP's were Cortney Whitaker and Amy Gall. - P. Chapin

Veterans Benefits: Serving Those Who Served

As the 50th anniversary year of World War II's conclusion draws to a close, the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants reminds all veterans to take advantage of the many benefits available to them. Veterans who leave military service with honorable or general discharges may be eligible for educational benefits, mortgages, small business loans, and also federal and local tax breaks.

Go Back To School - Veterans who return to school after completing their military service may be entitled to benefits under the Montgomery GI Bill or the Post-Vietnam Era Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP), depending on when they entered the service. Educational opportunities include college and university courses leading to associate, bachelor, or graduate degrees; courses leading to a certificate or diploma from business, technical, or vocational schools; and apprenticeship programs; and others.

Veterans who entered military service for the first time after June 30, 1985, are eligible for educational benefits under the Montgomery GI Bill. To qualify for these benefits, a veteran must have served on continuous active duty for three years or on continuous active duty for two years coupled with four years in the Selected Reserve and agreed to have his or her military pay reduced by $100 a month for the first 12 months of active duty. Under certain circumstances, individuals with at least two years of continuous active duty may qualify.

Veterans who entered service between December 31, 1976, and July 1, 1985, who made voluntary monthly contributions for future education and training, may receive benefits under the VEAP program. Generally, they must have served for a continuous period of 181 days or served a shorter period and been discharged as a result of a service-connected disability.

Business Incentives - The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) makes a special effort to help America's veterans finance and run their own businesses. For example:

- Investment capital is available through SBA-funded and licensed programs and Small Business Investment Companies (SBICs). Most SBA loans are made by commercial banks and are guaranteed by the SBA.

- Business opportunity conferences are held for military personnel who are on active duty and are about to be discharged. These conferences are held in communities affected by defense downsizing.

- SBA veterans affairs officers are located around the nation. They provide one-on-one counseling to veterans.

- Move Up With A VA Mortgage - Eligible veterans can obtain a GI loan guarantee to buy, build, repair, or improve a home, or to refinance an existing mortgage. Anyone who served in the U.S. Armed Forces for at least 181 days in peacetime, or 90 days in wartime, qualifies for the benefit. Some veterans discharged from service after a shorter period as a result of a service-connected disability and some individuals who served six years in the Selected Reserve may also qualify.

Veterans Affairs (VA) mortgages are essentially the same as conventional mortgages, except they generally require no down payment. VA only guarantees a percentage of the loan.

Tax Breaks - CPAs point out that some benefits including educational payments, disability compensation, and certain pension payments made to veterans and their families are not included in gross income and are not taxable.

The best way to obtain current information on VA benefits is to call the VA office's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-827-1000.

Shakespeare Reading Club

- reported by Gail Curtis

The Shakespeare Reading Club's bi-monthly meeting was held on October 23 at the home of Sallie Anderson. The hostess; topic was "the Flowers of Shakespeare."

The reign of Elizabeth I of England (1558-1603) had brought an end to the many and recurring Wars of the Roses fought by factions within the country (often with the help and support of foreign monarchs) over successions to the throne of England. Also the mighty Spanish Armada with its 150 huge ships of war had been routed leaving England the undisputed Monarch of the Seas. The period was therefore one not only of the blossoming of literature, the theatre of Shakespeare but also of architecture and - well - the flowering of gardens.

The stuff of the country cottage gardens as well as many flowering plants imported from the main land, the Orient, and the new world, were used to create formal geometric gardens placed where their design could be observed either from higher ground or from the man-made terraces of fine country homes or public buildings in cities. They were commonly closed in by low brick walls or carefully clipped box hedges.

Fountains, statuary, topiary designs, boxwood mazes and pathways, sown with herbs to produce sweet aromas when crushed by strolling feet were all part and parcel of this growing art form.

Individual plants were known and valued not only for their beauty and aroma. They were grown and treasured for culinary and medicinal uses also.

Shakespeare, with a country village background, became a Londoner in later life. He mentioned no less than 170 different plants in his plays and poetry in contexts indicating his familiarity with their many uses, their supposed magical properties or foreign origins.

The next meeting will be on November 14, the location to be announced, with a program on modern poetry by Gail Curtis.

FIRE SAFETY

People cause most fires through carelessness, thoughtlessness and ignorance. The fact is, fire is usually a preventable event. Following is a list of some of the major causes of fire damage and how they can be controlled or prevented:

Careless smoking

Smoking and matches are often the cause of house fires. Never allow anyone to smoke in a chair or sofa when drowsy. Use large, deep ash trays. Check for unextinguished smoking materials in sofas, wastebaskets, ash trays.

Careless cooking

Grease spills are frequent causes of fire and should be cleared immediately. Never allow accumulations under range hoods, ovens and burners. Keep curtains and waste containers away from the stove. Cover fry pans when cooking foods which may spatter grease.

Electrical hazards

Overloaded electrical systems invite fire. Watch for overload signals: dimming lights when appliance goes on; a shrinking TV picture; slow-heating appliances; fuses blowing frequently. Check for frayed insulation, loose connections, damaged cords, faulty switches and loose wall receptacles.

Heating hazards

During the home heating season, inspect furnaces, chimneys and flues. Have chimneys and fireplaces inspected annually for damage and/or accumulation of creosote. Use a fireplace screen and clean ash pit regularly. Do not use room heaters which can be tipped over easily. Use proper fuel and provide proper ventilation for non-electric space heaters. Never refuel while the unit is in operation.

Housekeeping hazards

Keep your basement, closets and attic cleared of old rags, papers, mattresses, broken furniture and other combustible materials. Keep paint cans, varnish cans and other containers with flammable liquids tightly sealed. Keep combustible materials away from heat sources, such as the furnace or water heater.

Use smoke detectors

Fire gases cause three out of four fire deaths in dwellings—usually within minutes. Install at least one smoke detector per floor. Bedrooms need the most protection. Place one detector outside the bedroom in the hallway. Test battery every 30 days and replace annually.

Manchester's Fall Bloodmobile Results

October 16, 1995, the day of Manchester's Fall Bloodmobile; was your typical Fall day. As happens on a blood drive day, the Red Cross set up men were at Manchester United Methodist Church two hours before the actual starting time, setting up the donor units.

For them to be able to do this, it means that one of the volunteers must be there to make sure all goes well. In this case, it was Jean Little, who was the chairwoman of the day.

There seemed to be a steady follow of donors, so that there was not too great a wait for giving blood. There was a total of 84 people who came to give. Out of this group, we were able to generate 79 pints of blood. For some reason, and there are a variety, 5 people could not give.

Thanks to all of you who took the time to come, even if you were deferred. It is because of you, the donors, that people are able to get this most needed source of help when they are ill.

As has been the practice, every other year, at Christmas, Manchester hosts a 3 hour bloodmobile. There were 63 people who signed up for this. I will be contacting you to schedule a time. We cannot have everyone showing up at the same time. I will be doing this calling the week of December 3. If you remember that you signed up and are unable to be there that morning in St. Mary's basement, please call ME and let me know. It will help me a great deal. My phone number is 428-9506.

This blood drive we had milestones reached by a number of our donors. Virginia Fielder received her 9 gallon pin; Marjorie Scully, a 6 gallon pin; Patricia Ahrens, Lee Dennis and James Sword, 5 gallon pins; Margaret Wilson, a 4 gallon pin; Marcia Bunney, Michael Mahrle, Russell Luton and Ella Landini, 3 gallon pins; and Jane Korth, a 2 gallon pin. We also had one first timer, Mary Bortmas. Congratulations to all of you.

Before I close out this article, I would like to acknowledge five ladies and one gentleman who help with getting these blood drives going. TV and Del Ludwick take care of getting those collection boxes out; Evie Seegert notifies the local industries and gets signs out to them; Marti Vassoff handles all the signs you see in the local businesses (and there are a lot of them); Ann Fowler sends out letters to all the churches and their recruiters; Ruth Oates is our historian; and I, Marja Warner, handle the P.R. and am the contact person for the Red Cross for the blood drives.

If anyone would like to be come involved with us, please call me. We would love you have you join us.

Manchester's next drive, after Christmas, will be in March. Keep an eye open for signs and articles.

Thanks again to all of you who came and all of the volunteer staff.

Young Drivers Need Experience

Legislation requiring more behind-the-wheel experience for young drivers earned House approval last week.

State Rep. Beverly Hammerstrom, R-Temperance, supported House Bill 4763, which establishes a three-tier licensing system for new drivers. The measure now goes to the Senate for consideration.

"The time has come to revise the state's outdated licensing system for novice drivers before more of our kids are injured or killed," Hammerstrom said. "This legislation recognizes that operating a vehicle is a skill which takes time and practice to perfect. Graduated licensing has netted positive results in other states and would result in safer, better-trained drivers on Michigan roadways."

The graduated licensing system creates three levels of novice licenses and two driver's education segments. The provisions of each level are:

Level One — Participants must be at least 14 years, 9 months, and have parental approval. Applicants must have successfully completed the first segment of driver's education and passed a vision and knowledge test. The license would be valid any time a parent or legal guardian accompanies the driver.

At this level, teens must log 50 hours of driving including 10 hours at night. They also must complete a second phase of driver's education and be crash/violation free for 90 days before applying for a Level Two license.

Level Two — Sixteen-year-olds can obtain a provisional license only after all first level requirements are met. In addition, students must have passed a driver performance road test. They could drive from 5 AM to midnight unless accompanied by a parent or traveling for work.

Level Three — At age 17, drivers become eligible for the final tier if they remained crash/violation free for six months in Level Two. All previous restrictions are removed.

"Experience is the key," Hammerstrom said. "We wouldn't expect our kids to excel in the classroom or extracurricular activities without practice, so why should we think they can become competent drivers without adequate training? Graduated licensing will provide the education and experience necessary to promote safe driving."

HOME HEALTH CARE PART II

- by Tracy R. MacDonald, R.N.

In my last article I gave an overview of the types of patients eligible for home health care. Now we're going to discuss what to look for in a home care company and what happens when care is begun. Home care companies are a fast growing business group which are overseen by JACHO and Medicare examiners to protect the consumer. They are inspected for their ability to provide care in a prescribed manner and their adherence to a standard of safe and acceptable care as well as documentation of care given. In most cases patients begin care with a given company through a social work department at a hospital or through a referral from their doctor.

In each case the companies have met guidelines and are known to be adequate providers. There is much competition for patients: These companies are for-profit businesses who market themselves to those making the referrals. Some large companies are corporate or franchise and operate regionally or nationally, Olsten for example. Some are large locally, such as HVA or Amicare and actually have contracts with hospitals insuring their referrals. Many are small privately run businesses who depend on marketing and word of mouth for clients. If you know of a company you wish to use make your feelings known. Ultimately it is your choice.

Once a company receives a referral, they will be concerned with how you will pay and the care you receive. A Registered Nurse usually makes the first visit to you within twenty-four to forty-eight hours. They will explain and have you sign a contract for services and a record release form to help manage your care. They will also collect insurance information for billing and discuss payment with you. It is important to have this information ready. No care should begin without contracts to protect both parties. If you need care immediately, they will be there for both the care and admit in a timely manner.

In smaller companies the admitting nurse is generally your Case Manager and you will see her for anything concerning you. She/he acts as a link between the doctor and patient and it is her/his responsibility to collect information, deliver care and discontinue care as needed and trouble shoot for all aspects of patient care. Larger companies may assign a Primary Nurse to the patient but case manage from the office. The Case Manager will also contact the doctor following your admit to service with requests for additional orders or services deemed appropriate.

The Case Manager carries the Responsibility for your care under license, and is bound by law to view every possible complication and deal with it appropriately. In the admitting interview a detailed medical history, a list of all medications you are on and your understanding and ability to remain compliant with drug orders will be assessed. In addition a blood pressure, pulse and temperature will be taken.

Your risk for falling, receiving adequate nutrition, fire safety in the home, emergency communications, and ability to take part in your own care will be assessed. Don't be surprised if you are asked to walk about the home and suggestions are made to remove fall hazards, add lights, etc. Others who take part in your care or can be taught to take part will be identified and their well-being will also be assessed. Remember the goal of home health care is independence with safety.

Once these findings are in, the Case Manager will discuss the number of visits. Nurses, Home Health Aides, Physical Therapists, Occupational Therapists, Sitters, or other persons will be approved by your provider along with a general plan of care for you. The Case Manager should always include the patient and significant others in this plan and an agreement should be reached. It is your home and you can choose not to receive some services.

Meals on wheels, special medical equipment from fall bars and commodes to hoist lifts and wheelchairs will be discussed. Some require doctor's orders and some are available free to home bound patients. The Case Manager will follow through on this or provide you with names and numbers of community based services for these items.

The whole process can take one to two hours and gives the information necessary for delivering the most comprehensive care to you and your family. Various therapists and other staff will be arranged for through the company, and your comfort with visitation schedules will be considered. Expect to feel overwhelmed at first and nervous about intrusion into your life. This generally goes away as you get to know your care-givers and discover how much more comfortable you are at home.

If anything bothers you report it immediately to the Case Manager. Even if you don't like the Case Manager, tell them. They will treat your comments seriously and seek a solution. If they do not, there are other ways to assure yourself comfort with your care. I'll be discussing these rights in Part III.

In closing, be kind to your Case Manager by remembering that for each hour of care in your home they have another hour or more of documentation, calls, and quality control to put in, all for your safety and health. They often carry fifteen to thirty cases at one time and are dedicated professionals and supervisors on a time schedule.

Most people agree they benefit from home care and most families find anxiety and concerns are history when home health care is well managed. Many complications of illness and recovery are avoided by cooperation with the home health team and many family issues can be mediated to the benefit of all by these professionals.

Again, I am available to answer questions at 428-1482-leave a message with name, number, and best time to call.
