The Second Front Page A Christmas Message

And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us.

- by Rev. Vince Carroll

The Word of God was made human in order that we might be made divine. The Word displayed itself through a body, that we might receive knowledge of the invisible Father.

- Athanasius, 4th century

The ancient writers of the church were always convinced that the Word — the second person of the Trinity — was active throughout the Hebrew Scriptures. They saw the Word's presence in the plurals of Genesis 1. They assumed that the "angel of the Lord" who visited human beings on earth was an appearance of the Word. They equaled the divine Wisdom of the Song of Solomon with the Word as well!

Yet none of these signs of the presence of the Word could compare with the descent of the second person of the Trinity into the womb of the Virgin, and the birth of Jesus! This divine assumption of human flesh changed all the world's history. While the Word always was, the early writers properly spoke of the newness of God's work in Jesus. A profound gulf between the created world and the Creator had been overcome in the unity of the divine and human. God had assumed flesh. Because of that miracle a human being, could now also be called the "mother of God."

For the first time in human history the distorted dream of the Garden (that human beings might actually be like God!) was fulfilled, but it was fulfilled in truth by God's own gracious descent into the world and not by human grasping, after the divine.

The result was a new possibility for the world's future, a world in which human beings might not only glimpse the divine, but actually share in it. From John's Gospel to Irenaeus to Athanasius and on, this assumption of the finite by the infinite was a major way of speaking of the world's salvation, and often received more emphasis than the Easter themes of salvation from death.

The incarnation and birth of Jesus were seen as an equally valid way of talking about the world's salvation: God had descended into the flesh in order that the whole of humanity might be lifted up into the divine. Before the birth of Jesus it was always possible to talk about the Word, the second person of the Trinity, but only after Christmas can we talk about Jesus, a human being, who is the Word, and who is at the right hand of God!

We who are his brothers and sisters by a birth in Baptism have good reason to celebrate his birth at Christmas. In him heaven and earth are indeed united; things divine and things human are made one.

A blessed Christmas to all!

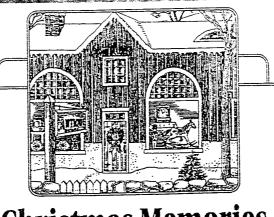

May the light and love of the season shine on you. Merry Christmas to all!

Editorial / Opinion Page Out & About

Do You See What I See?

As I sithere in the Enterprise Office with all the clutter and jumble (mostly caused by myself), I see bright shining stars which always get brighter at this time of year. These stars are the people I work with.

"Each week you get only one strike, not three, to put the Enterprise out, and that strike comes every Tuesday fifty two times a year," a colleague said to me a short time ago. Every week we need to meet that deadline of getting the paper to press filled with news for you, our readers of the Manchester area. That happens because of my Bright Shining Stars.

I have many stars who shine through all the hustle and bustle this time of year, for which I am very Thankful. The stars at the Enterprise are Marsha, Andy, Julie, Gar, and the students who work with us. These stars shine all year through and I am a very blessed individual to be able to work with all of these people, for without them there would not be The Manchester Enterprise filled with the local coverage, stories, and editorials which keep us going.

Marsha Chartrand is the main writer, and yes folks she'll tell you that I create many of the stories and ideas BUT (and that is a very BIG but) Marsha is the one who puts them into words and makes the articles of interest to you Marsha is calm, quiet, confident and capable most of the time and especially when I'm not which is 90% of the time. Thanks to her the paper is interesting week after week. Without her the top half of the paper would be pretty boring.

Andy Supers is the newest addition to the Enterprise, and a delightful one at that. Andy is a Senior this year at M.H.S. and is on a work co-op program with us. He is the graphic person, doing up the ads and filling the bottom half of the paper. He is also compiling the information to get us new computers so we can feel like we are part of the new millennium that will soon be upon us. I realize the minute we plug those new ones in that we will become tons smarter and be able to run them just great. Right, Andy? Andy has brought a new perspective with his ideas and opinions which I have found very refreshing, although challenging at times.

Julie Schaible is our office manager. That title seems so simple. It may be wherever you work, but certainly not here - at least as long as I'm around. Julie takes the brunt of all the unhappy individuals whom most likely I have upset by not doing their ad right, not getting their paper, or not being billed correctly. She has this calming effect on me and tries to keep me in line. Her patience comes from Job, and her demeanor pulls us all together and calms us. She likes to hide back in her corner doing her work and yet I always know there is a warm shining star brightening that corner.

gar, well what can one say? As an employee put it - "either you love him or you hate him, and most people hate him only because they really don't know him." I am very thankful for gar. He has given me a chance - and a very big one at that - by owning the Enterprise. Many Tuesdays I wonder what the heck I have done by saying yes when asked if I would purchase the paper. gar is my North Star because of the belief he has in me.

Thanks to Emory the editorial page is lively and full. He has had the intestinal fortitude to raise many issues that people have hidden behind for years and has brought about some very positive changes to the community. Though it is tough sometimes to get an 'Out and About' if the golf course is open. To you, gar, I tip my hat and once again say Thank

The stuffers are the students who come in on Tuesdays after school, patiently (?) waiting for the return of the paper so they can insert the flyers. Alyssa, Arianne, Ian, Stuart, Karl, John, Kelly, and Zachary. If you know us you probably see a pattern here. Yes these are our own shining stars from our families.

Some weeks the stars don't shine quite so brightly because of something that may have happened at school (or before they even left the house that morning) but for me they are all Bright Shining Stars on Tuesday afternoons! God Bless each of You!

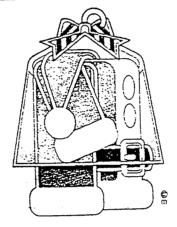

I must not forget the other students who work for us. Lacea Curtis, Joanna Dettling, Mary Lobbestael, Pat Chapin, and Jeff Chapin at this particular time. Joanna actually works at Calamity Jane's but certainly puts her worth into the paper and answers the phones for us. Mary Lobbestael is the star that shines through at any given holiday or break from Western and tries to bring organization to our chaotic office during the holidays. Pat and Jeff Chapin are both sport reporters for us and have done another good job this year.

There have been many stars throughout the year for which I can be thankful. I can only hope you are just as blessed as I am this time of year and all throughout the coming year.

Merry Christmas to all, may all your STARS shine through this time of year!

der to behold. I have found the innocence of a child receiving presents at Christmas a beautiful occasion. To see their happy faces upon opening presents, regardless of size or cost, imparts to the giver a great satisfaction. Unfortunately there are children who go without, for whatever reason, and that is truly unfortunate.

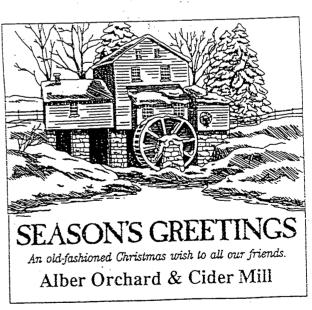

As adults, we must keep in focus that children of all ages must be provided some basic - by gar needs. Education is by far one of the most important needs which we must continue to remember. Without an education, our children cannot continue to grow and expand to their full poten-

Communities around us are growing at a prodigious rate. Their facilities are being stretched and budgets are being expanded beyond all expectations. We here in Manchester, although isolated by geography and highway network, will soon be tried with similar problems when we are discovered. It is but a question of time.

Will we be ready? Can we prepare ourselves to provide for our children of the future?

David Sweeton, Eagle Scout

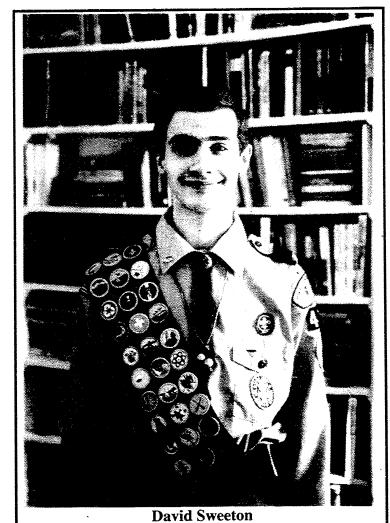

At a Court of Honor, on the evening of December 6th, at St. Mary's Parish Center, David Sweeton was recognized as an Eagle Scout. Manchester's long time scout leader, Dave Minick presented the medal and certificate.

Dave's mom Mary Lou and his sister Karly proudly stood by him throughout the ceremony. Ed Barnard, Grand Knight from Manchester's Knights of Columbus, the charter sponsors of Troop 426, was on hand to salute him; Dorothy Davies and Charlotte Major from the Manchester Township Library were present to congratulate and thank him for constructing the new parking spots behind the Library; and about 40 guests, scouts from his troop, Scoutmaster Dave Roberts, Assistants Skip Slocum and Paul DeConnik, Unit Commissioner John Hugel, and Eagle Advisor Bill Kwolek participated in presenting the award.

The Eagle is Scouting's highest achievement, only 1-2% nationwide advance to this level. The Eagle Scout must prove leadership skills both in his troop and community, successfully complete a service project, and earn 21 merit badges. The Eagle must also have good attendance, a complete understanding of scouting fundamentals, and embody the ideals and virtues set forth in the Scout Law.

David joined Troop 426 in April 1991. In little more than two years, he earned the rank of Life Scout, one step below Eagle. The twelve required badges which David earned include Camping, Citizenship in the Community, Citizenship in the Nation, Citizenship in the World, Communications, Emergency Preparedness, Environmental Science, First Aid, Personal Management, Safety, Swimming, and Family Life. He also earned 17 elective badges in Atomic Energy, Canoeing, Chemistry, Computers, Energy, Fishing, Fish & Wildlife Management, Geology, Mammal Study, Nature, Orienteering, Pioneering, Rifle Shooting, Soil & Water Conservation, Space Exploration, Weather, and Wilderness Survival. The total number exceeds the requirement for earning the Bronze Palm, which Dave was also awarded during the Court of Honor.

His appointments include, Jr. Assistant Scoutmaster, Senior Patrol Leader and Assist. Senior Patrol Leader. He also served as Troop Librarian. David has also earned the World Conservation Award, the 100% Attendance Award, and two Quality Unit Awards. He has completed training courses in CPR, JASM, JLT, SPL, and Leadership. After the Eagle presentation, Dave was promoted to Assistant Scoutmaster through a special age exception granted by the Great Sauk Trail Council.

His Eagle Service Project provided a much needed parking area behind the Manchester Township Public Library. Construction involved surveying, considerable soil preparation, and integration with the barrier free ramp at the rear entrance. David obtained the necessary materials, equipment and manpower from both the public and private sectors.

Special thanks go to the Village and Township of Manchester, the Scouts and adult leaders of Troop 426, Jeff Schaffer for doing the excavating, and Pat DuRussel for providing the gravel.

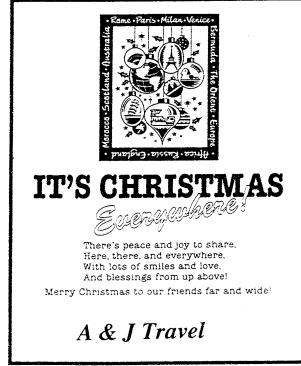

David plans to pursue a career in computer programming. During the past three years, he has achieved proficiency in several computer languages, and is currently seeking employment in the area.

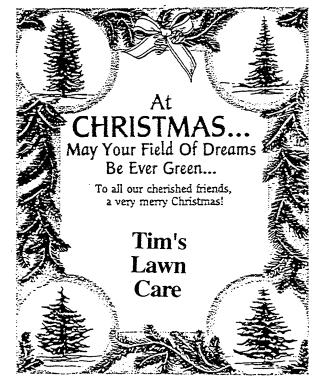

Our community appreciates and applauds your accomplishment, Dave; continue to accept the Eagle Challenge, practice the Scout Law, and keep the Scout Oath.

Little Elves Sing Out

To a packed auditorium filled with loving parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins, and brothers and sisters, the Manchester Co-op Preschool made its holiday singing debut. Under the guidance of teacher Linda Ebersole and with the professional accompaniment of Luke Schaible, the little ones sang the songs they had been practicing diligently. The gestures of elves tappa-tappa-tap-

After the sing-a-long a special visitor arrived, much to the delight of the children. Santa Claus himself paid a visit and then took the time to greet and sit with the children who wished to speak with him. Parents and other family members enjoyed fruit punch and a dazzling array of home-baked cookies. The children, dressed up in their holiday finery, made for some terrific "Kodak moments."

SADD Draws Winners of Quilt

Perhaps you saw the beautiful display of the Students Against Drunk Driving at the Chistmas in the Village last month. Well, if you didn't, it was a lovely blanket made by the SADD groups for a prize for donations. The chapter pulled together and made the quilt entirely on their own.

Since Christmas in the Village, SADD members have been receiving donations for their projects this Year which include: Birthday Kits for all High School 16 year olds at MHS, educational materials related to drugs and alcohol, assembly speakers, leadership conferences, the luminaries at the December 20 basketball game, and ribbons to tie on for the holiday season!

Students Against Drunk Driving obtained a large pool of names to draw for the quilt donations, and the winner is: Pat Nolan!! The Group also drew another name for a SADD sweatshirt, and the winner is: Kathy Smith!!

Students who helped make the coverlet are as follows: Chris Kemner, Terry Coleman, Melissa Hoeft, Katie Tolen, Kelly Acree, Jennette Branch, Jen Clark, Lindsay Jacob, Michelle Barker, Cheryl Pfaus, Brad Kemner, Megan Kennedy, Emily Parr, Jane Kallewaard, and Alexis Punches.

Congratulations, both to the winners and to the SADD, for coming together for a good cause.

Merry Christmas From MHS

Students at Manchester High School have indeed discovered the true meaning of Christmas: spirit, compassion, and caring.

They have come together to make one classmate's wish come true. In a mere six hour school day, the students collected over $350 for a very special Christmas present, a Manchester Varsity Jacket. The present was to be given to their hospitalized classmate, Ryan Weir.

Matt Laskowski, Ryan's classmate at M.H.S., initiated a collection for Ryan's jacket on Friday morning. Just a short time later, staff and students alike were donating for Ryan's Christmas wish. Nancy Bihlmeyer, of Sew-Write has been chosen to do the sewing and embroidering on Ryan's brand new jacket. Ryan's track and Cross Country letters, and '98, will be added to the jacket.

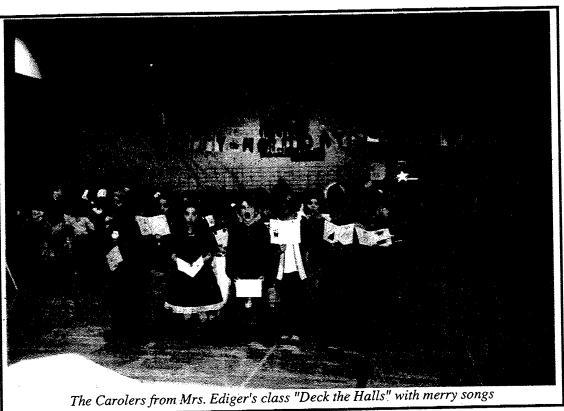

Merry Christmas, Ryan, and we hope you enjoy your new jacket! It's hoped that Ryan will be home for Christmas.

The thermometer exploded at the High School! Their goal of 860 cans of food was exceeded by 60% as the school collected 1375 cans and boxes of food for the Manchester Family Services. Eighty percent of the food was collected from Mrs. Clark's and Mrs. Heinrich's classes.

Great Job, High School Students!!

First And Second Graders Present Holiday Program

"Happy Holidays Around The World" was the theme of the first and second grade Klager Kids' program last Wednesday evening.

The gym at the High School was packed full of students, parents, grandparents and friends as these students sang and danced their hearts out and demonstrated holiday traditions from many different cultures.

From the Chanukkah Dance to the Piñata Dance to the German Dance; American Christmas carolers to Swedish Saint Lucia paraders, and an African Kwanzaa celebration, each class of first and second graders presented a different perspective on holiday celebrations around the world with enthusiasm and energy!

Program covers were designed on the computers and one student's design was chosen to represent each classroom. Those students were: Laura Coltre, Nicholas Ross, Sophie Kastanis, Holly Winkle, Greg Schaible, Kristina Fernandez, Rachel Tucker, and Adam Wheeler. Each student received a framed print of their original drawing as a surprise. Their delighted beams (and their attention to Mrs. Henry's directions!) provided a charming end to the evening's entertainment.

Thanks to Mrs. Sandi Graff, Mrs. Kay Miller, and Mrs. Sandee Sheats for their organization of this event, the first and second grade teachers for their dedication in helping their kids prepare for this special evening, and to the parents and staff members who volunteered their time to help. Most of all, thanks to the Klager Kids for reminding us of the real reason for the season.

Manchester Girls Youth Basketball

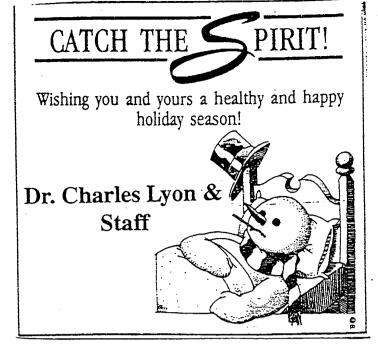

The Manchester Community Recreational Basketball Youth League has just completed another successful season. The first five weeks of this twelve week season were spent on the fundamentals of basketball: passing, dribbling, shooting, rebounding and setting picks. The next seven weeks the girls played ten games with a double elimination tournament at the end of the season.

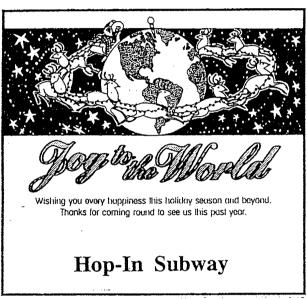

The young ladies were coached by some Varsity and J.V. Girls Basketball players: Jennette Branch, Lindsay Hosmer, Amy Gall, Cortney Whitaker, Emily Parr, and Amber Hoeft. Thank you ladies! Thanks to all the young ladies who participated this year. Also special thanks to Mr. Neil Billetdeaux and Mr. Ray Meyer for their help and support, as well as the parents and friends.

Merry Christmas To Klager...From the Community

The Twelve Days of Christmas

While sitting in a waiting room this past week I over heard an elderly lady say, "Whatever happened to the twelve days of Christmas? Now everything is shoved into one day, then we have a big let down the day after Christmas." Later on that afternoon a customer came into the store and asked for the Twelve Days of Christmas book. I sent them down the street to Chapters and Verses and got to thinking myself about the twelve days of Christmas.

I could not come up with the history behind the story, so I decided to share with you a new version that maybe will help you or your loved ones get through the holiday let downs.

On the First day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; Five minutes of my Undivided Attention!

On the Second day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; Honest, Sincere Appreciation.

On the Third day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; No Criticism or Complaint.

On the Fourth day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; Ten minutes of my Listening Ear.

On the Fifth day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; A special Smile.

On the Sixth day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; The feeling of Importance.

On the Seventh day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones;

No Argument!
On the Eighth day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones;

A huge Hug.
On the Ninth day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones;

Fifteen minutes of Play Time together. On the Tenth day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; The respect of their Opinion.

On the Eleventh day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; A discussion of Their Interests.

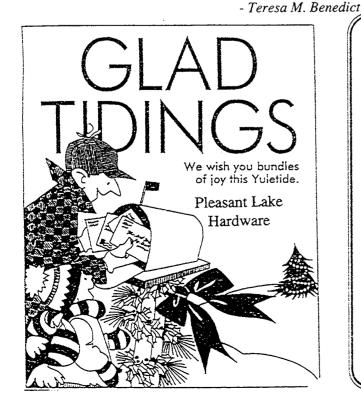

On the Twelfth day of Christmas I gave to my Loved Ones; Twelve Reasons Why I Love Them!

I will cut this out and hang it on that ever-opening refrigerator door. In two weeks I'll let you know how I did.

May peace, joy, health and happiness surround you during this magnificent season and throughout the coming year.

It's Christmastime,

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

Wherever you're celebrating, in the country or in the city, over the river and through the woods, may you and yours share a season of magic and memories.

Happy Holidays and thanks to our readers and advertisers all year through

THE ENTERPRISE STAFF

Is it my imagination or are Christmases getting closer together each year? Some might make unpleasant references to my advancing years but it sure seems to me like we just did this a little while. ago.

Remember how as a child, it seemed like Christmas would never come? The anticipation was almost unbearable. All this preparation why couldn't we just cut to the chase, let Santa come, and get all the rest of this stuff over with?

And yet, as adults, here we are - making all the preparations. Endless shopping. Endless baking. Endless activities to attend. We start a little earlier every year but we don't seem to catch up any sooner.

We've come to realize that waiting and watching are an integral part of the Christmas season. We're reminded that Advent is a season of preparation, not a non-stop holiday of its own.

There is so much busyness during the holidays. It is easy to get swept up in the rush and the shopping and the baking and the parties to attend, and somehow miss the most important part of Christmas.

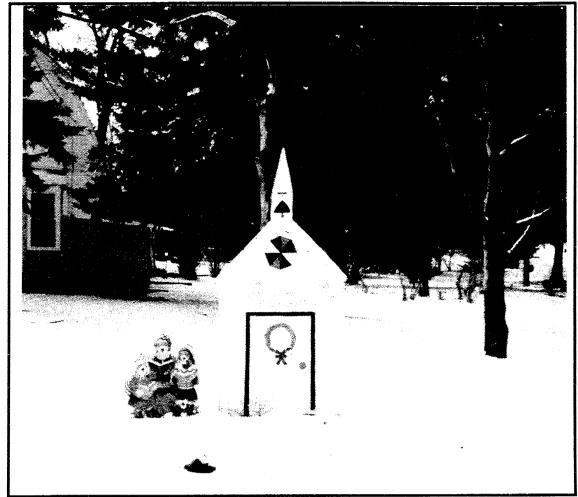

Christmas will happen whether or not we have attended every activity, run every errand, and purchased every gift. That is, if we let it happen. For the essence of Christmas does not necessarily happen on December 25th.

Just as everyone else, I tend to get caught up in the hustle and bustle of Christmas preparations. I fret over the baking not done; the shopping not completed; the activities I'll be unable to attend because we're "overbooked." Then I fret a little more as I review the lists one more time and see all the places I've fallen short.

But Christmas arrives, just about on schedule. It is found in the quiet of a holy night, and the anticipation of pleasant surprises. I relax and realize that nothing more can be done, and still it will happen. So I wait, and I watch.

On Christmas Eve we begin our preparations for church services. We enjoy a treat of cookies and ice cream. We read "The Night Before Christmas," even though most of the kids profess to be too big to listen. Then the luminaria get lit, the van gets loaded and we're off to church for a service of lessons and carols. Once again, we wait, and we watch.

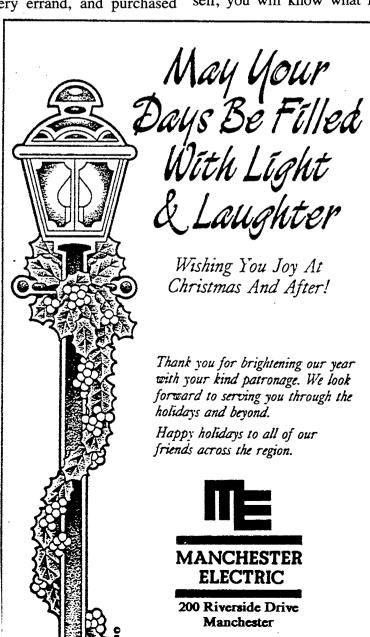

While we're there, something magical happens. Christmas arrives. I can't explain exactly how; except to say that if you've experienced Christmas' arrival for yourself, you will know what I mean. Maybe it's the glow of the candles; perhaps it's hearing the words spoken and sung. It's nothing more than a feeling inside, but nothing less than a miracle in today's world. And then I see that all the preparations have been worth it. In today's world it is considered hokey to admit to things like "finding Christmas." But I would venture to guess that most of us do it anyway. Each in our own way, finds Christmas. Perhaps for some it is in the giving of gifts, or the maze of holiday activities. But finding joy in the simple things is the essence of Christmas. Remember, it's all about a little baby born in a stall. How much simpler can you get?

Christmas Some Rich and Colorful Christmas Traditions

Father Christmas. Santa Claus. Saint Nicholas. The holly and the ivy. Turkey and all the trimmings. Yule logs and nogs. Caroling, caroling. Greeting cards and holiday seals. Gift giving. You can hardly think of Christmas without instantly conjuring up these and other holiday traditions and symbols. Today they are all an integral and colorful part of our holiday festivities.

Many modern Christmas traditions have roots in ancient civilizations. Some are more recent developments. A brief look at their origins helps one and all appreciate their rich significance.

* December 25 In the early Christian Church, there was no fixed date for observing the birth of Jesus. Some Christians observed it in mid-December, others on January 1 or January 6, and others in May. December 25 probably became the date "of choice" to counter the Roman commemoration on that day of the winter solstice, when the days begin to get lighter.

* Decking the Halls In another Roman festival, December 17, 18, and 19 were set aside - to honor Saturn, the god of seed corn. Temples were decked with greenery and flowers, no public business could be transacted, schools were closed, no criminal could be punished, and no war could be declared. The three days of "Saturnalia" were an occasion of merriment, feasting, and the exchange of gifts.

* The Yule Log, The Twelve Days of Christmas

As Christianity spread into northern Europe, it encountered other festivals in honor of the sun and adopted, adapted, and incorporated many of these practices. The colorful Yule feast of the Norsemen lasted twelve days and included the burning of log fires and decorating shrines and other sacred places with such greenery as holly, ivy, and bay.

* Mistletoe In another mid-December sun festival ritual, the Druid priests of ancient France, Britain, and Ireland decorated their temples with mistletoe, the fruit of the oak tree that they considered sacred.

* The Fir Tree St.

Boniface is credited with persuading German tribes to adopt the fir tree as a symbol of Christ, replacing the oak tree, sacred to Odin, the god of war. Martin Luther is said to have originated the lighting of the Christmas tree. German immigrants brought the custom to America.

*Cribs, Carols, & Plays

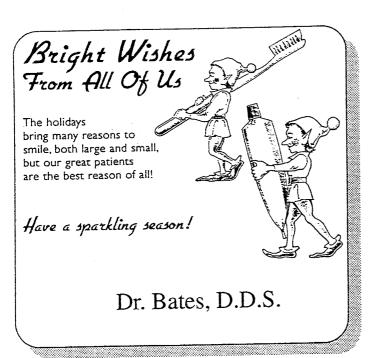

While many modern Christmas traditions have their roots in ancient non-Christian customs, specifically Christian practices were developing to recall the birth and early life of Christ. In the middle ages, when much of a community's history was passing on this important history lesson. St Francis of Assisi is said to have introduced the crib, another unique visual aid in telling and celebrating the story of the birth of Christ.

* Father Christmas, Santa Claus, & Elves What is Christmas without Santa Claus? Actually, Santa Claus is a colorful American character who evolved in New York from the Saint Nicholas of the Dutch immigrants of that region. The jolly, rotund Santa appears to have his roots in — and is often confused with - the English Father Christmas. Father Christmas was not a particularly jolly figure at all, but a personification of the season in England who had no special connection with children and the tradition of gift giving. That was the role of Santa Claus. Christmas elves, Santa's helpers, probably originated in the pre-Christian Scandinavian "tomtenissar," goblins dressed in red with

* Cards & Seals

The Christmas card dates to England in the 1840's when "penny postage" made it possible to send holiday greetings cheaply to distant friends and relatives. Today, the sending of Christmas cards has become such an important holiday tradition that in recent years the United States Postal Service has delayed raising postage rates until after January 1! Of course, millions and millions of those Christmas cards arrive in envelopes decorated with traditional seals that raise money to fight lung disease. The first seals in this country appeared in 1907 to raise funds that were urgently needed to keep open a freshair hospital" treating tuberculosis patients in Delaware. The idea was borrowed from Denmark, where they were introduced in 1904 to raise funds to fight TB, which at the turn of the century was one of the most feared diseases in the world.

Christmas Means to Me

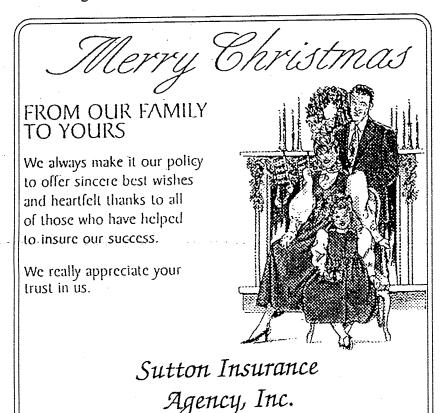

by Kelly Schaible

I like Christmas because it is a family gathering. You might think Christmas is a time to get, but it's really fun to give because of the shopping part. I also like Christmas because it's a time of giving and getting. I like the giving part. Christmas is cool because I get to see my family and have a great dinner and it is also close to my cousin's birthday and my brother's birthday. I like Christmas smells like my Grandma's cookies and the smell of the tree and candy and food and potpourri. I love Christmas.

Christmas is Special Because...

by Carley Kratz

Christmas is special. It's a time for fun with your family. It's a time for presents and snow and lights all a glow. Christmas is a very special time of the year. You always remember Christmas because of the smells of pine, and cookies are my favorite ones. The special ornaments that hang on the tree and stockings all remind me of Christmas And, without the snow, Christmas wouldn't be Christmas in Michigan anyway. Christmas is fun when you wake up Christmas Day and you find presents under the tree. It's exciting getting the house ready for Santa's visit. I just wonder how he eats all the milk and cookies though!

My Best Christmas

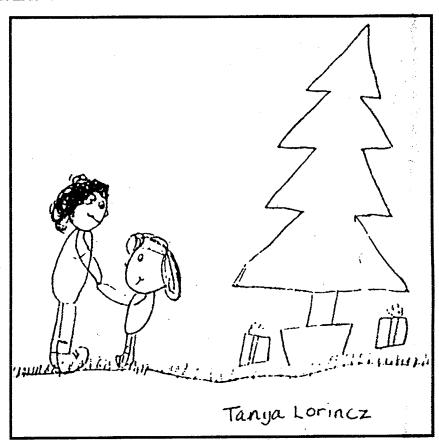

by Derek Ricamore

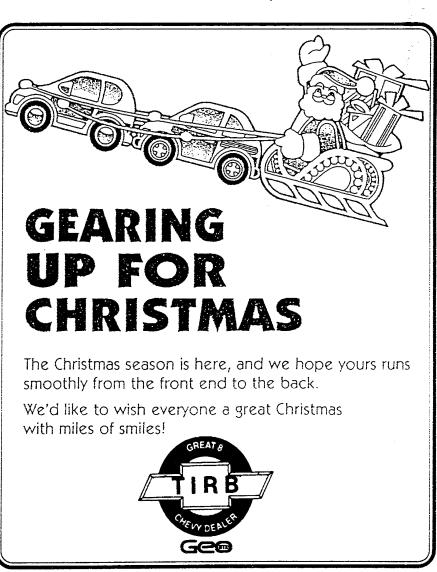

My best Christmas was the time when we were living in Royal Oak. I remember it like it was yesterday. On Christmas Eve, my sister and I kept looking out the window to see Santa. We fell asleep before we could see him. But he came and we found a note saying "Thanks for the cookies; I really liked them. My reindeer loved the carrots." "The milk was good for me," said Mrs. Claus. "See you next year," and before that I was not sure if he was real or not, but I believe now.

What Christmas Means to Me

by Charlie Sears

Christmas means that Jesus was born in Bethlehem. It means that it's time for giving and receiving. Some people think that Christmas means you get presents and that's it, but the real reason we get presents it because the shepherds brought Jesus gifts. Christmas means stockings go up on the fire place. Christmas trees go up. Stores are loaded with shoppers, angles fly around everyone, kisses go everywhere on people. Christmas means very poor people are rich...rich in love and rich people get richer, but not in money, but in love.

Fröhliche Weihnachten! Joyeux Noël! Feliz Navidad!

As there are many languages to express tidings of joy for the holidays, there are also as many special customs which are followed throughout the world. Whether by boats, letters for word of mouth, these traditions have made their way across the oceans and create the culturally diverse traditions we observe in the United States.

Although Africans are not relishing the snow and ice that many of us are enjoying during the Christmas seasons they do share our tradition of caroling. Africans also use brightly colored flowers as decorations to celebrate the birth of Baby Jesus.

Europe serves as the origin of several of our holiday observances. England was the first country to send Christmas cards as gestures of holiday spirit. The British decorate houses, stores, and churches with holly and ivy to signify their bliss. The French leave shoes by the fire for Père Noël to fill. and the most famous American holday tradition, the Christmas tree (Jannenbaum), originated in Germany many years ago.

What would Christmas be without sweets? Gingerbread houses are very common in Germany, whereas families in Mexico break Piñatas for festive treats. Serving coffee and sweet rolls to the family is the job of the oldest daughter in Sweden. British serve a "Twelfth Day Cake" and the French a "Cake of the Kings" as treats.

Better be good, for goodness sake! In Italy, La Befana leaves presents for the good children and ashes for the bad! The French, who have proven to be a little more subtle, leave Birch sticks as a reminder for children to behave.

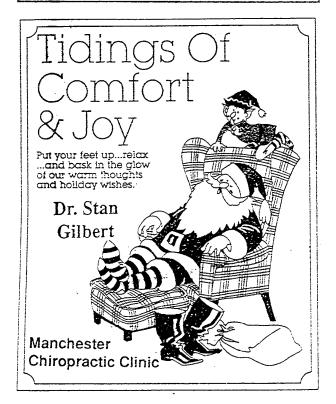

The United States is a melting pot of the world's cultures and traditions. We are lucky to be able to share time honored traditions with the world. It is during these holiday times that we take a few moments to appreciate our togetherness.

So when you are hanging stockings or writing to Santa Claus this year, remember this unity, and share the universal holiday cheer with all of your fellow human beings.

Christmas A Christmas Story

by Captain Pink

Spending Christmas with the family doesn't sound too appealing to the average teen. They would rather be spending their Christmas break with their friends, but instead they get stuck sitting in the back seat of their parent's car.

Your butt is sore from sitting for hours, you can no longer feel your feet because of lack of circulation. Your sister or little brother won't stop bugging you. There are fights, yelling, and threats from mom. If it is so much of "a hassle" as dad would call it, why do we go visit grandma every year? Is spending Christmas with the family really that important? This is the time of year when you should be thankful for what you have and realize what you take for granted. You don't think it's that important, but it is.

Pink found how much Christmas meant to him two years ago. That is when I couldn't be with my family, I was locked in a hospital for drug abuse. You really don't know what you have until you've lost it, then it really starts to hurt.

I remember how crummy I felt on Christmas Eve, standing around with the other patients pretending to be happy and merry. The next day I woke up in a cold hospital room. There was no tree, no presents, nothing. I asked the nurse if my parents were going to be there soon. She said, "I'm sorry, they don't seem to be on my list here."

I walked back to my room, very depressed and feeling alone. I could only think about what everyone on the outside was doing. They were more than likely opening their presents, and eating Christmas candy in front of the TV. I really missed it.

About 3:00 my family showed up. I ran to meet them and got a pass to let me spend time with them, but I had to stay on hospital grounds. We took a walk and ended up in the parking structure. My parents said they had something to show me; I followed them to the van and my dad opened the back.

There in the back of my parents' van was a small Christmas tree, decorated and everything. There were even presents around it. For the next few hours, we sat in the car talking, and laughing while I opened up my presents. That Christmas I found out what was important, what was really important to me.

Take some time this season and thank the important ones in your life.

On Dasher! On Dancer! On Prancer! On Vixen! Here's hoping you have a galloping good time this Christmas season. It's been a pleasure to serve you. Dan's Westside Automotive

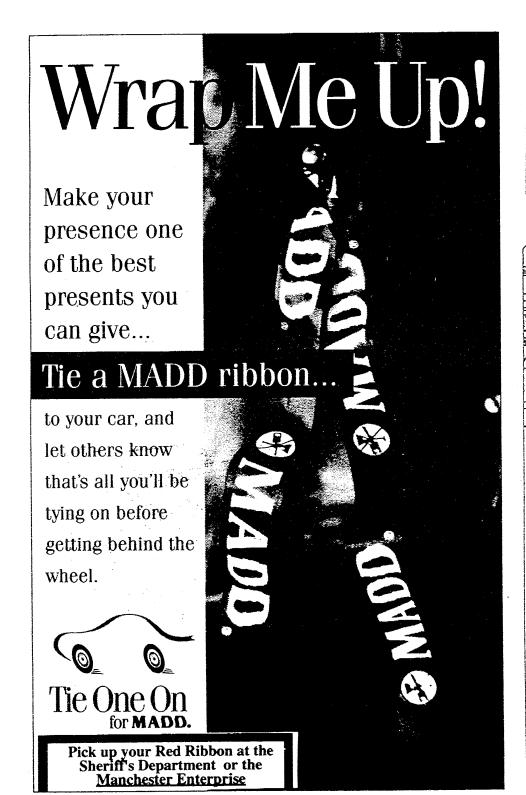

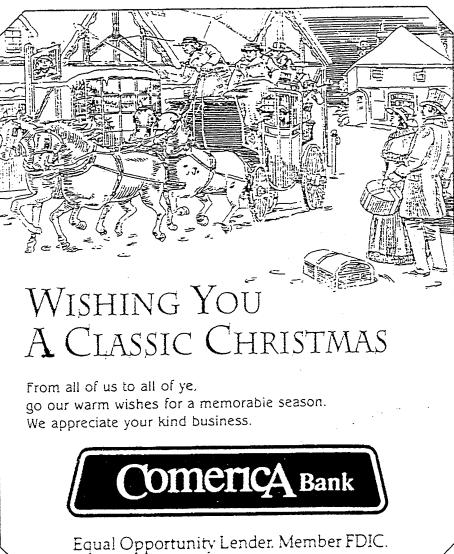

May the spirit of Christmas be always at your door, just as you are always welcome at ours.

Happy holidays, everyone. We look forward to serving you again in the year to come.

Manchester Chamber of Commerce

Yes, Virginia, There's Family Fun After the Holidays

The presents have been opened, played with, maybe even discarded in favor of old standbys. There's a little bit of post-holiday letdown and a lot of "I'm bored" and "there's nothing to do."

What can you do to entertain your kids over the long holiday break? The answer is plenty, in Washtenaw County and beyond.

If the weather cooperates, you and your family can engage in a variety of outdoors activities. Ice skating, sledding, and cross-country skiing opportunities are available. You can toboggan at Rolling Hills County Park or downhill ski as close as Mt. Brighton. Ice fishing is a popular activity on the many lakes of the Huron River watershed. Is snowmobiling more to your liking? No need to trailer your machine up north. The Island Lake (Brighton area) and Pinckney Recreation Areas offer trails within easy driving distance.

sleigh ride? Kensington Metropark downtown Ann Arbor on December offers sleight rides when there's snow on the ground and hayrides when there isn't, through its scenic acreage every Saturday and Sunday of the winter season.

For the really ambitious, there's winter hiking. One possibility: the Lakeland Trail State Park. This 'railsto-trails' park starts in Pinckney at the old train station, runs through Gregory, and ends in Stockbridge more than 13 miles away.

If your idea of fun on a winter day is to stay warm indoors, there's still lots that you and your kids can do.

You don't even have to get out of your car to enjoy the beauty and magic of the Domino's Farms' Christmas Light Display or the Ypsilanti Festival of Lights held in Riverside Park. Both displays are lit through New Year's Eve.

Another quiet-time, sit-down activity is going to a play. "The Silent Princess," a magical, musical retelling of a classic Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale, is being staged Have your kids ever been on a at the Performance Network in 26-29.

How about a museum trip? The Plymouth Historical Museum is hosting a special holiday exhibit through January 30 entitled "Visions of Christmas" which features collections of Santa Claus and angel figurines. And a new exhibit at the U-M Exhibit Museum of Natural History deserves your attention. A reproduction of mastodon footprints recently discovered off US-12 near Saline stretches the entire length of the main hall. While you're there, you could also take in the winter shows at the planetarium.

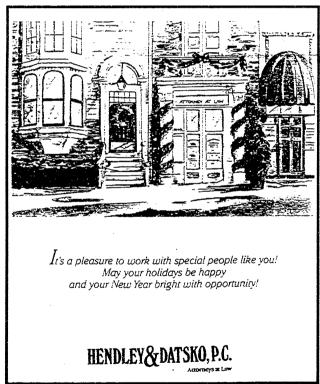

Looking for something more hands-on? Visit the new Feat of Clay shop on South Ashley just around the corner from the Ann Arbor Art Center. You can pick out and paint your own piece of pottery (and leave it for firing) Thursdays through Sundays. Art Ventures, the children's walk-in studio at the Art Center, will also be open during the holidays; art projects for the month of December will focus on Woodabe, the Art of Niger.

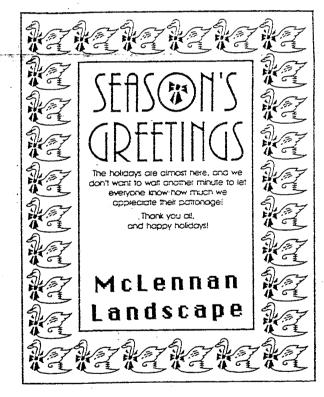

Want more exercise? A trio of Livingston County businesses will keep you and your kids moving. The Zap Zone near Howell is an indoor laser tag facility that'll get your heart going; food and video games complete the experience. Golf-O-Rama in Brighton contains eight famous golf courses (simulated, of course) and an 18-hole adventure gold course all under one roof. And Brighton's Rollerama, an indoor roller skating rink, is the place to go when your kids are ready to try out their new inline skates.

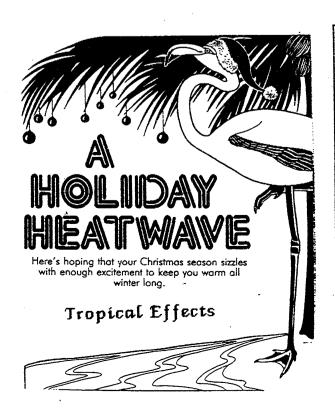

If toe-tapping and dancing are more to your liking, take the family to the New Year Jubilee, centered in Ypsilanti's Depot Town on December 31. Magic acts, jugglers, and storytellers combine with musical acts of every kind to entertain you in nine different venues. One badge gets you into all events. It's an evening of alcohol- and drug-free entertainment you won't want to miss, culminating in a celebration of the changing of the year at the Festival of Lights in Riverside Park.

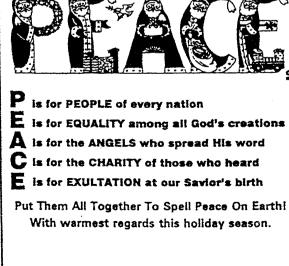

'I'm bored?" "There's nothing to do?" As you can see, there's plenty to do in our area during the holidays; just pile your kids in the car and go!

The Christmas Tree Story

Few things in life are more Christmas tree was introduced into beautiful or exciting to us than the sight of a Christmas tree; presents underneath, twinkling with lights, shiny ornaments, and strung with tinsel. What can compare with the joy of gathering together on Christmas Eve in a room lit only by Christmas Tree light?

But the Christmas tree hasn't always been exactly the way we know it.

The Beginning of the Tradition

The tradition of cutting an evergreen tree (once the symbol of eternal life) and bringing it inside the home at Christmas began several hundred years ago in medieval Germany. In those days a "Paradise Tree" was put up on December 24, the feast day of Adam and Eve. Instead of lights, ornaments and tinsel, though, the tree was decorated only with communion wafers.

Soon however, the feast of Adam and Eve an the observance of Christ's birth on December 25 were combined into one holiday -Christmas. The Paradise Tree became a Christmas Tree.

Shortly after, people started decorating their Christmas trees with cookies and, occasionally, candles. It was now approximately 1500 A.D.

The Tradition Spreads

By 1600 A.D., the practice of decorating evergreen trees at Christmas time had become widespread throughout Germany, and within another century was deep rooted in the German culture.

Then in the mid-1800s, the

The Story of the Candy Cane

Of all the beautiful traditions of Christmas, few are so ancient in meaning and so rich in symbolism as the Candy Cane.

From the beginning of the tradition of the Christmas tree, it was customary to decorate the tree with symbols of the newborn Christ. Candles represented the Light of the World, the star recalled that first Christmas night, and the shepherd's crook symbolized the humble shepherds in the fields near Bethlehem who were first to receive the news, "Unto you is born a Savior."

Christmas tree decorations in Europe, from which our tradition comes, were customarily made of food, principally cookies and candy. This symbolically expresses thanks for "our daily bread" as well as providing a Christmas treat for the children. Thus, the shepherd's crook became the candy cane.

As time went on, many ornaments took on a more permanent nature but the Candy Cane retains the original use and meaning of Christmas Tree ornaments.

Candy Canes on the Christmas Tree symbolize the Shepherds in the fields on that first Christmas night, shepherds who heard the angel chorus and came to worship at the crib of the newborn King. They are also a sign of our thanks to God for the food he has given us all during the year, and not least of all, they are an inexpensive and delightful Christmas treat for the family.

England with the help of Queen Victoria's German husband, Albert. In no time, putting up Christmas trees became a British tradition.

The "Victorian" Christmas tree was decorated with nativity figurines, candles, ribbons, candies, paper chains and small cakes.

The Christmas Tree in America

But the Christmas tree had already been brought over to America in the 1600s by settlers, and was a tradition here even before it was in England!

Early Americans developed a preference for certain kinds of plentiful native evergreens. That's why we generally use the balsam, fir, or pine tree.

Today, a Christmas tree standing tall and sturdy, decorated with loving care, is a thrilling sight to children and adults alike. It brings sights and fragrances into the home that are experienced only at this time of year.

What nicer way to symbolize the magic and mystery of Christ-
