Library board mulls over new building plan

By Marsha Johnson Chartrand
 Special Writer

At a recent Village Council meeting the council discussed publicly the potential purchase of the Uniloy Milacron building on City Road. Following visits to the building and the appropriation of $10,000 to investigate the purchase, the consensus of the council was that the building would be eminently suitable for village and DPW offices. Additional space, however, is available for other entities.

It is important to lease that available space to an entity that can help defray the large costs entailed in this purchase. The council said it needs to partner with another community organization to utilize empty space, and the obvious choice would be the library.

To that end, the Manchester Township Library board was invited to participate in the public discussion section of the council meeting. Five of the six library board members were in attendance along with librarian Dorothy Davies and members of the district library planning committee.

THE LIBRARY has been consulting with an architect for about three years now. It has been obvious for quite some time that the library has outgrown the space in the old Lynch house on Main Street. The architect has toured the Uniloy facility and made some recommendations about how the library might participate with the village in a cooperative venture to acquire the building. Currently, the library is housed in a building that is rent-free. So their current budget does not provide funds for rent or lease and any plans to include them in a package would have to take financing into consideration.

At a library board meeting immediately following their participation in the village council meeting, the Manchester Township Library board voted favorably to begin negotiations with the village for the amount of space that would be appropriate for the future of the Manchester Library.

As plans progress toward the future prospects of a district library for the Manchester community, the funding seems a less remote possibility.

"WHEN YOU walk in the building you can see it being a library - all or part of it," says Charlotte Major, president. LIBRARY — Page 8-A

Church fall festival scheduled

The annual St. Thomas Lutheran Church Fall Festival is being held beginning at 5:30 p.m., Oct. 29 at 9440 Spies Road. Some of the activities include games, hayride, straw maze, and food. The event is sponsored by the St. Thomas Lutheran Church Youth Group.

Trick-or-treat hours set

Trick or Treaters should make their rounds in the Village on Halloween night, Sunday, Oct. 31 from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The following Halloween safety tips are recommended by the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department:

- Wear a costume that makes it easy for you to walk, and be seen.
- If you must go out at night, make certain that your costume is light in color.
- Carry a flashlight so you can see and be seen easily.
- Use reflective tape on your costume so drivers can see you.
- A face-mask may obstruct your vision. Try to use make-up instead. When crossing the street either pull up or take off completely.
- Have a parent, older brother, or sister go trick or treating with you.
- Plan your trick or treat route ahead of time. Pick streets that are well lighted. (Tell a parent when leaving and when returning home)
- Cross only at corners. Never cross the street between parked cars in the middle of the block.
- If there is no sidewalk, walk facing traffic.
- Wait until you get home to sort, check and eat your treats.
- Don't go inside a residence. Let them hand you the treats from inside their residence or come out to you.
- Be careful about homemade items. (i.e.- cookies, popcorn, apples)

Church luncheon this week

St. Mary's will hold its Chicken and Biscuit Luncheon from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Church Parish center on Wednesday Oct. 27.

Church supper will benefit scholarship fund

On Friday evening, Nov. 12, from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m., Bethel United Church of Christ at 10425 Bethel Church Road will be serving a sauerkraut supper to honor the late Elvira Vogel. Proceeds from the supper will be placed in the United Church of Christ

Noise trouble plagues local homeowners

By Marsha Johnson Chartrand
 Special Writer

Mark and Carol Pomilio moved to Manchester five years ago. They were enchanted by the large brick home they purchased on Ann Arbor Hill, backing up to the picturesque River Raisin. They looked forward to raising their three children in this lovely, quiet community after living in the suburbs of a large Pennsylvania city.

As this "lovely, quiet community" has grown, so has the noise level. It's now to the point where the Pomilios feel like it's time to take action. Mark Pomilio attended the Village Council meeting presenting a letter outlining the many concerns he and his wife have about noise level, and safety issues for their children.

There are some noises that just are part of living along a state highway. The Michigan Department of Transportation more commonly knows Ann Arbor Hill as M-52. As a state highway, the village has no authority over the traffic that travels the road.

LARGE SEMI-trucks which must halt at the corner of Main Street, will frequently need to use their loud "Jake brakes" to make the stop. And if one of them happens to be stopping at the bottom of the hill at 2 a.m., it will likely wake up someone in the Pomilio household - or in any other home along that street. And there is not much that anyone in Manchester can do about it.

The loud and lengthy fire siren from the village hall, as well as the sirens on the trucks heading northbound on Ann Arbor Hill, were also addressed by the Pomilios in their letter. Councilman Herb Mahony, who is also a law enforcement officer, explained to Pomilio that by law, fire trucks must offer an audible signal if they are exceeding the speed limit at any time - regardless of the hour of the day or night. So there is no way to avoid the sirens that will erupt at unpredictable wee hours of the morning.

Former fire chief Gary Wiedmayer also noted that although the volunteer fire fighters all carry pagers, they don't always work. Sometimes, the siren is what wakes them up, too, in order for them to get out and do their duty. It is inconvenient for most village residents to be awakened by the fire sirens, but it is also reassuring to know that our volunteer fire department is available to assist anyone, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

"It's like living in New York City. It's not what we moved to a small town for."

— Carol Pomilio
 Manchester resident

WHILE POMILIO was discouraged to find out that there was not much to be done about two very exasperating sources of disruption in their family's life, it was somewhat encouraging to learn that there is one thing that can be done.

His third complaint addressed during the meeting was the fact that quite often garbage trucks empty the dumpsters along Main Street at very unusual hours of the morning. Frequently the Pomilios have reported hearing garbage trucks crashing a dumpster back onto its pallet at 3:30 a.m. Other residents along both sides of Main Street have been similarly awakened at such early hours.

"It's like living in New York City," said Carol Pomilio. "It's not what we moved to a small town for."

Councilman Joe Marshall, as a Main Street business owner, volunteered to look into this concern on behalf of council.

"It's one of those things that

Career spans 33 years on village DPW crew

By Marsha Johnson Chartrand
 Special Writer

A lot has changed in over thirty-three years around the village of Manchester, and Ed Townsend has seen it all. Townsend recently retired after 33-1/2 years of working for the Manchester Village Department of Public Works.

Back in 1966, Bruce Daniels was the supervisor of the DPW crew. "I've seen a lot of folks come and go, on the crew and in the office," says Townsend. "But the job is all right. I've had no complaints. This has been a great group of guys to work with."

Townsend's co-workers return the compliment. DPW Supervisor Gary Wiedmayer says, "I will miss that Ed has always been there when I call. I've learned a lot from him over the years and it will be hard to replace him."

Before working at the DPW, Townsend was a farm worker. His family lived and worked on a thousand-acre farm that stretched along Ann Arbor-Saline Road from Pleasant Lake to Textile. The farm was sold in the early 1960s and the site now houses hundreds of families in several subdivisions.

AFTER HE married his wife Peggy in 1959, they moved to Manchester, where they raised three children, all of whom are grown and moved out of state.

They celebrated their fortieth anniversary this month while on an extended trip to Florida and California to visit relatives and see the sights.

After being busy for so many years, Townsend figures he will have to come and harass the village crew every once in a while - and just maybe he will enjoy watching while they do all the work.

"I'll have to find something to do. I may substitute on the crew if they need extra help and if they want me to."

But he also looks forward to taking it easy and doing what he wants to do. He has a list of his own to attend to at home, including working on an old tractor he purchased recently.

"I'll find something to do, and if I don't, my wife'll find something for me."

He figures that he'll continue to wake up each morning at 5:30 a.m., out of force of habit. After doing that for so many years, it's hard to get out of the routine.

"I still get up at that time on weekends, now," he says.

BESIDES THE many faces that have come and gone on the work crew since Townsend began working for the village, there have been changes in the DPW as well.

"We didn't have a building for our equipment when I first started. Of course, at that time all we had was one pickup, one dump truck, a back hoe and a couple of tractors. All of them sat outside, there was no place to put them."

"Changing blades on the snow plow in the winter, you'd have to lay down in the snow. It sure was a blessing when they built that big building to store the equipment in."

There was also a much larger crew back then.

"We had six or seven guys - on the crew when I started - one worked at the treatment plant and the street guys took turns on weekends. That was before they got all this new modern equipment that no one could figure out."

"Now they have more equipment and less people."

"When I started, we worked 44 hours per week - including Saturday mornings from 6 to 10. We did a lot of our work by hand - swept streets, cleaned catch basins, and even did our own paving for a while. That's when

Local student attends math and science workshop at university

Marie Beaudoin of Manchester attended the University of Michigan science and engineering camp for area middle school students this summer.

Keeping girls in the "math and science pipeline" was the focus of this summer's "Future Science: Future Engineering" program sponsored by the University of Michigan's Women in Science and Engineering Program (WISE).

Cinda Sue Davis, director of WISE campus programs, said the purpose of the two week-long camps is to encourage middle school girls to be interested in science, engineering and math. "Statistically," she said, "middle school girls become discouraged and drop out of math and science by the time high school comes, and we try to keep them in the pipe line."

The 60 students in each session chose an area of focus from among engineering (material science), the Human Genome Project, chemistry, physics or space science.

The young women filled their mornings with lessons and hands-on activities in their "field." After lunch groups worked on animated Web pages as a computer project, attended career workshops, and toured University science labs. One day a week the students were treated to a meal in the residence halls, "to see what college life is like." They even made their own dessert: liquid nitrogen ice cream.

According to Davis, U-M will host another summer camp next year, the 11th year of programming. Applications will be available in February in schools and through local Girl Scout Councils. Cost per student is $275 for the week, and there is some financial assistance available for qualifying students.

Website promotes farm markets in Michigan

Michigan Department of Agriculture Dan Wyant today announced that Michigan residents will now be able to locate the farm market, cider mill, winery or pumpkin patch of their choice by searching the MDA web site (www.mda.state.mi.us). The department has for the first time posted the searchable directory on its home page.

"October means Farm Market Month in Michigan and the beginning of our great fall traditions," Wyant said. "Agricultural tourism is increasingly important to our small-to medium-size family farms and at the same time provides fun, safe and informational activities for all ages."

"This addition to our web site will help families and individuals locate farm markets and u-pick operations they might have otherwise not known about," Wyant said.

Web visitors will be able to search the listings, which are drawn from MDA's 1998-99 Farm Market and U-Pick Directory, by region, city, farm name or crop type. The nearly 250 operations listed include phone numbers and addresses, directions, operational hours and the products and services available.

MDA is also currently recruiting additional farm markets and pick-your-own operations for the 2000-2001 directory. A listing in the directory, MDA's most popular publication, costs $50 and must be received by Dec. 15, 1999. For more information about being listed in the new directory call (517) 373-1104 or (800)292-3939.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture is the official state agency charged with serving, promoting and protecting the food, agriculture and agricultural economic interest of the people of the state of Michigan. MDA programs serve all sectors of agriculture, which is Michigan's second largest industry.

Village of Manchester child endangerment

A Brooklyn man was charged with child endangerment on Oct. 6 after he picked up his son from Klager school and staff members reported that he was visibly intoxicated.

Klager principal Brian Kissman called the WCSD to alert them to watch for the man's vehicle after he left the school with his son. Village deputies were unable to locate the suspect but at 3:38 p.m. a 911 caller reported an accident on Sharon Hollow, just south of Austin Road.

The suspect, who had been driving erratically, had left the village by way of Sharon Valley Road and then taken Sharon Hollow south. He crossed the centerline and allegedly hit another vehicle headed northbound.

The child was frightened but uninjured and was returned to his mother, who is the custodial parent.

Domestic violence

A domestic assault was reported on Oct. 7 in the village. A man reported that his wife punched him in the eye during an argument. He indicated that this was an ongoing problem. After talking to the police, the man refused medical attention.

The wife, who had been drinking, was arrested.

Larceny of bike

A Mongoose Sniper bicycle, valued at $340, was reported stolen from a residence on West Main Street on Oct. 8.

Drunk driver

A Bridgewater Township man was stopped after driving erratically through the village at 1:10 a.m. on Oct. 12. He was charged with unlawful blood alcohol level which tested at .192, nearly twice the legal limit.

Further investigation showed the man to be driving on a suspended license and subsequent charges were filed.

Compiled by Marsha Johnson Chartrand based on reports filed with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department.

Manchester Township Suicide Attempt

Sheriff's deputies and a sheriff's sergeant responded to a call of a suicide attempt by a 24-year-old man on Oct. 10. The man's ex-girlfriend, a 25-year-old Grand Rapids woman, reported the attempt. She said the man was despondent over their recent breakup.

He called her on a cellular phone on his way home from a party in Lansing to ask if they could still date. When she said no, he became more upset.

The officers went to the subject's home, owned by his former step-father, who allowed them in, saying he was not sure the subject was at home.

The officers found the man in a second-floor bedroom, lying on his back on a couch, holding a shotgun to his chin, with his finger on the trigger. The man stared at the officers with bloodshot eyes, and told them to leave him alone.

When the sergeant on the scene tried to speak with the man, the man moved the shotgun toward the sergeant. The sergeant grabbed the man's arm, and two deputies grabbed the shotgun.

In the ensuing struggle, the man pointed the shotgun barrel at the sergeant's chest. One of the deputies grabbed the barrel, and moved it away from the sergeant's chest.

The gun was then taken from the man, at which time it was discovered to be loaded, with the safety off, and ready to fire.

The man continued to fight with deputies, kicking and punching at them, and twisted his body to avoid restraint. Eventually, a deputy used a pressure point to subdue the man, in order to place handcuffs on him. He was taken to Chelsea Community Hospital for psychiatric evaluation.

Local girl wins national horse event

Manchester Township resident Chelsea Render won the national crown in the recent Haflinger horse team driving competition in Ohio.

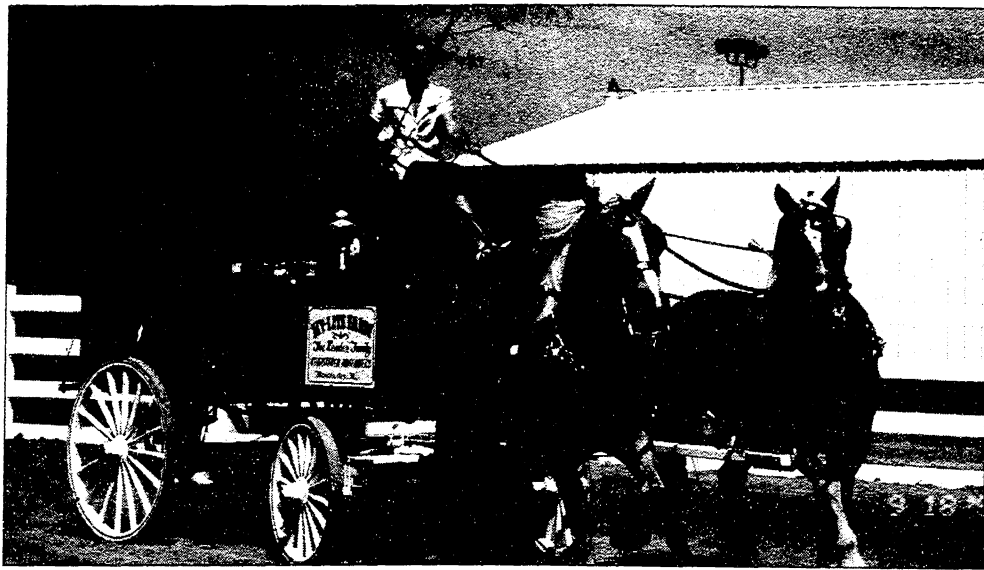

The 13 year-old is only in her second year of competing. Earlier this year, she also won the state competition for team driving at the Michigan State Fair.

Chelsea received the first-place honors for team driving (two horses) in the 17-and-under age group. The judges determine the winners based on how well team and driver work together, the equipment used and how much the horses are alike.

Chelsea's father, Dave Render, also won several national honors in the three-horse, four-horse and six-horse competitions in Ohio, although Chelsea was the only family member to win a first-place honor this year.

The father and daughter team competed in a total of 12 classes.

Local beagle club attracts dog lovers from all over

By M. S. Clinansmith
Special Writer

Lowline Netta stands somewhat patiently beside her owner, Paul Gonzales of Hastings, her four feet suspend her barely six inches above the grass and weeds of the mown pathway. Every once in a while, she lurches forward tugging at her leash, only to be brought back into place by a jerk from Gonzales. A yelp escapes as she settles back down. Her turn will come.

Netta is a beagle, known as hunters and one of America's favorite breeds of dog. During a recent weekend Netta and 100 other dogs and more than 100 other dogs and master combinations went through field trials at Sharon Township's Southern Michigan Beagle Club (SMBC) to see who would emerge as champion. To fulfill this goal, dog and trainer must accumulate three wins and 120 points based on field trials.

Friday morning dawned chilly (45 degrees) and bright, but soon became partially overcast. The trees, after a brief change of colors, were beginning to litter the ground.

Pickup trucks and automobiles were parked in the yard

Competition not for your average backyard hounds and in a corner were the mobile homes and travel vehicles bearing licenses from Ontario, Michigan, Georgia and Alabama. Along the south side of the lawn were two rows of kennel cages with over 100 beagles.

"These are not your average backyard beagles," said Jo MacRae, Secretary of the SMBC, "but well-trained trial dogs. They are all AKC (American Kennel Club) registered hounds."

MacRae outlined the field trial rules, saying that each class (four in all) were judged on "accuracy and training" for the brace. A brace is two beagles who exhibit their tracking skills together. There are two "series" each day roughly divided between morning and afternoon. A total of six to ten dogs compete to show their tracking abilities. Or as 35-year beagler Carl Clark of the Red Cedar Beagle Club said

"The dog that wins is the one that runs most like the rabbit runs."

At the end of each day's competition, five dogs are chosen and awarded points based on their performance.

"There is First, Second, Third and Fourth Place," MacRae said, "followed by the NBQ. That's 'Next Best Qualified.'"

She said that this meet is the twelfth such gathering in Michigan this year. "That's not much," she said. "Just to draw a comparison, Ohio has 32 meets per year." Suddenly, a lone rabbit jumps up and darts away from the beaters. "Tally-ho" cries a beater who has witnessed the direction in which the rabbit has moved. Judge Don Keith marks the spot and calls for the next brace to come forward.

Straining at their leashes, the new brace is led to the spot where the rabbit was last seen. The lead hound is brought forward to get the initial scent.

Suddenly, he starts howling uncontrollably. The second hound is brought forward and he joins the first hound's chorus. Together, they move cautiously into the weeds and underbrush. For the next ten minutes they sniff at the dead leaves, sending them about with their breath.

Bob Keating has come from San Angelo, Texas to compete, "mainly because we have nothing like this space in Texas," he said.

He said that he has been into beagling since the 1950s.

"It's kind of like a vacation to me," he said. "There are no such class meets near me. But most of all, I like the folks you find at these meets. They are real people."

On the side of the groups of onlookers, there are six tablets with the names of six champions buried on the hillside.

"These are the last resting place of six champions" said eighty-year-old beagler Garth Downs. "Argo Bobby (1960 - 1971) - there is a legend among legends."

For many in this gathering, beagling is a lifetime vocation. Linda Edwards of Milbury, Ohio, and her husband are celebrating their thirteenth wedding anniversary here. Last night at the welcoming dinner, her husband paid her a tribute as his "best friend." As she talks with Karen Phillips of Maidstone, Ontario, and Mary White of Columbiaville, Michigan, she says, "We are the backbone (of beagling). Behind every successful beagler is a beagle - ette."

Time passed rapidly as beaglers with jackets declaring "Canadian Beagles," "Paycheck Beagles" and "Mtn. State Beagle Club" are joined by their fellow enthusiasts with the traditional baseball cap, denim jeans and a variety of coats, sweaters and pullovers find the camaraderie of another day in the open.

Suddenly, the barking stops. The judges call for another brace and the small talk continues among the owners, trainers and handlers of the would-be champions.

"These are not your average backyard beagles, but well-trained trial dogs. They are all AKC (American Kennel Club) registered hounds."

FIVE WAYS TO DIE ON THE GOLF COURSE:

Surprisingly, one million new cases of skin cancer are detected every year. One person an hour in the U.S. dies from melanoma, the deadliest form of skin cancer. If you spend a lot of time in the sun, you should protect yourself. One out of five Americans develops skin cancer during their lifetime. Don't be one of them. Stay out of the midday sun. Cover up. Wear a hat. Seek shade. And use sunscreen. For more information on how to protect yourself from skin cancer, call 1-866-462-DEEM or visit www.aad.org.

AMERICAN ACADEMY OF DERMATOLOGY

New treatment gives hope to heart patients

Doctors in the University of Michigan Health System are exploring a revolutionary new treatment for people with cardiovascular disease and other related ailments that may eliminate the need for surgery in some cases.

They're studying whether medications that help the human body grow new blood vessels can be used to treat people with certain vascular diseases and avoid the need for invasive surgery.

The process of growing new blood vessels is called angiogenesis, and investigators in the U-M Therapeutic Angiogenesis Program have launched several human trials to study certain genetically engineered proteins. They hope to determine if these proteins, which promote new blood vessel growth, can provide a non-surgical alternative for millions of Americans with coronary artery disease and a related arterial disease called claudication that causes severe leg pain.

Current treatments for cardiovascular disease — the No. 1 killer in the United States — include surgery to bypass clogged arteries, or angioplasty, which widens blocked arteries by inflating a balloon in the narrowed section. In most angioplasty procedures, a stent is inserted to keep the clogged artery open. Because blockages can return, patients must often undergo these procedures several times. Additionally, these treatments don't work for everybody.

Science center program shows animal haunts

Animal haunts — a Halloween walk will take place on Saturday, Oct. 30, from 6-9 p.m.

Visitors can take a dark walk in the woods and chat with many mysterious costumed animals along the trail. Guided tours start every five minutes and last approximately 45 minutes.

Children are treated to outdoor Halloween games, a try at the hay jump, face painting, popcorn, and "swamp muck." Afterward, enjoy storytelling

"The problem is that there are many patients who can't be treated satisfactorily with catheters, medications or with surgery," says Dr. Robert Lederman, an interventional cardiologist in the U-M Health System.

"Therapeutic angiogenesis is an attempt to treat these patients with drugs that promote the growth of new blood vessels to naturally bypass the blockages in their arteries, either to the heart or the legs. I think this is an exciting new frontier in cardiology."

In the largest of several trials in the U-M Therapeutic Angiogenesis Program, Lederman and his colleagues injected growth proteins directly into the coronary arteries of patients with angina — severe chest pain that is a result of coronary artery disease. The trial just wrapped up and investigators will now determine whether the protein caused the heart to grow tiny new blood vessels — essentially growing a bypass to clogged arteries.

Patients are followed for six months after treatment to measure quality of life and changes in ability to exercise on a treadmill. Changes in blood flow also are monitored using various imaging techniques.

Preliminary results from various trials are promising.

"Some patients are feeling a lot better and performing a lot better on the treadmill, or showing different walls of their heart getting improved blood flow," says Lederman.

But he cautions, "All these studies are very preliminary and it's too early to conclude that these are effective treatments. That's why we're studying them so intensively here at U-M and at other leading medical centers."

Lederman and his colleague, Dr. Sanjay Rajagopalan, co-directors of the U-M Therapeutic Angiogenesis Program, have just launched a study to determine the effects of the same growth protein — called fibroblast growth factor — on certain patients with claudication. These patients have severe leg pain from blockages in their peripheral arteries that makes walking very difficult. Eligible patients will have the medication injected in their leg muscles and will be followed in much the same way as patients in the heart disease study. Lederman is one of two lead investigators on this study, which is being conducted at several U.S. medical centers. This trial is still enrolling patients.

Because of concerns associated with growing new blood vessels, people looking to enroll in these studies will undergo a rigorous screening process. One concern is that angiogenesis will accelerate an early stage cancer or cause a new cancer by growing new blood vessels that could supply tumors. Another concern is that angiogenesis may lead to the growth of blood vessels apart from the heart or legs where they're intended — for example, in the eyes of diabetic patients or in the kidneys of patients with renal disease. To date, none of these concerns have been borne out.

Lederman says the best treatment for coronary artery disease is prevention — controlling risk factors by exercising, lowering cholesterol through diet and medication, and by not smoking. However for people who do develop coronary artery or peripheral artery disease, the hope is that angiogenesis may prove to be a successful and fairly non-invasive treatment option.

"In these early studies at the U-M, we're examining therapeutic angiogenesis only in the most desperate patients who are not candidates for conventional treatment," says Lederman. "We hope in the future this might either be an alternative to invasive treatment such as angioplasty or surgery, or possibly used in addition to both treatments for patients who had previously not been helped enough."

ENGAGEMENTS

Widmayer-Penney

Gary and Corrine Widmayer of Manchester, announced the engagement of their daughter, Casey Elizabeth Widmayer, to Brian D. Penney.

The future bridegroom is the son of David and Virginia Penney of Coldwater. He is a 1997 graduate of Adrian High School and is currently employed by Gokoh of Coldwater.

The future bride is a 1994 graduate of Lenawee Christian School, and a 1999 graduate of Jackson Community College. She is currently attending the Evangel University in Springfield, Missouri where she is earning a social work degree.

The couple is planning a December wedding.

Down on the farm

The Manchester Brownie Troop 728, along with the Ann Arbor Brownie Troop 728 was recently treated to a tour of the Horning Dairy Farm in Freedom Township. The girls learned about dairy operating facilities, and got to see cows being milked. They also sampled several dairy products while earning a scouting badge.

STUDENT COLUMN

Students enjoy homecoming week

How is the Homecoming King, Queen, and Court decided? This year voting took place during lunches at the high school. Each class votes for members of their specific class to act as representatives on the Homecoming Court.

Freshmen, sophomores, and juniors vote for three boys and three girls. After these votes are tallied, freshmen, sophomores and juniors vote for one guy and one girl from their top three. The entire school votes for six senior gals and six senior guys. In other words, those top six senior girls and guys are "school representatives."

How is the final choice made? An interview panel of three decides the number one and number two candidates. The interview panels this year included Kristine Moffitt, Bill Chizmar, Jim Roberts, Tom George, Debra Elliott, and Cindy Maggetti. Choosing the finalists is always a difficult chore. Ask anyone who has served as a guest interviewer!

Leadership class would like to congratulate all of the finalists and thank all of our judges.

This year's Homecoming theme was "The Millennium."

Each class decorated their halls. They were judged on Wednesday morning. The hall placements are: fourth place, the junior class. In third place was the sophomore class. In second place was the freshman class. And in first place was the Senior Class.

At Pandemonium, classes played games against one another. The Pandemonium placements are: fourth place, the sophomore class. In third place was the freshman class. In second place was the senior class. And in first place was the junior class.

Each day of Homecoming week students were asked to dress-up according to different themes. The placings are: fourth place, the freshman class. In third place was the junior class. In second place was the senior class. And in first place was the sophomore class.

Volunteers load farm products to share with needy

I am hoarse! Spoken words come out of my mouth sounding like Andy DeVine's "Hi Ya, Buck." Thank goodness, it happens infrequently as I do enjoy singing in choir. It is frustrating to reach for a note and it just is not there. Off to the doctor I go.

My stepfather's niece and husband, Vernon and Carol Sloan, are very special folks down at Stryker, Ohio who are featured with this byline: "Volunteers load corn on Sloan Farm going to Africa to feed the hungry." About 75 people from throughout the Defiance (Ohio) District's Methodists came to the farm to help bag shelled hillysine corn in preparation for it to be sent to the African nation of Angola. A total of four semi-loads of corn was bagged, sewn and placed on pallets and taken by truck to Baltimore port, where they will be loaded onto a ship and be taken across the Atlantic Ocean to Luanda, Angola, Africa, arriving in about a month. The United Methodist Bishop of Angola will personally see that the corn is distributed properly to several camps of 1.6 million displaced Angolans and an orphanage. Families there are existing in a community of huts on non-fertile land in the sub-Saharan region of Africa.

TV LUDWICK
SENIOR CITIZENS NEWS

The maize is ground into cornmeal, and soy flour is added (if available). To this, water is added and the porridge is cooked over a wood fire until thickened. If vegetables, meat, or fish are accessible, they are added to the porridge and served. The corn being sent from Stryker will be enough to feed approximately 210,000 people for one day. This is the fourth year the Corn Project has been done on the Sloan Farm. In 1996, the corn was shipped to Haiti; in 1997 to Liberia; last year three loads were sent to Honduras after Hurricane Mitch destroyed so much of the nation and one load went to North Korea. Thousands of people in the world have been fed by locally-raised corn. As individuals we may think we can't make a difference in the world hunger situation. But, as the old gospel song is titled, "Little Is Much When God Is In It." (Thanks to the Advance-Reporter for this story ... wonder how many other similar stories are out there?)

Thursday, Oct. 21: Pork chops and kraut is a favorite with us lucky seniors who are treated to these senior dinners by cook, Sue Miller. You must come and try these meals by first calling in your reservation to Kelly at 428-8359 (ahead), or to Sue at 428-7630 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. on meal days. You may enjoy bingo at the Center at 12:30 p.m. This is also the date of the senior-sponsored public card party at Freedom Township Hall beginning at 7:30 p.m. (bus pick-up begins at 6 p.m., call Marion Ahrens for your ride).

Friday, Oct. 22 is the deadline for the Turkeyville Christmas Show! Give Marion a ring to go along on Dec. 6.

Monday, Oct. 25: You will leave the Center at 9:30 a.m. for shopping at K-Mart and Meijer's in Ann Arbor, call Marion first.

Tuesday, Oct. 26: Yoga class begins at 9:30 a.m. at the Fitness Center behind the High School for all who are 65 or older (sponsored by Washtenaw Community College). They are most accommodating there and furnished mats for our use in the class. We do appreciate it, thank you! Meanwhile, back at Emanuel at noon, Sue has baked Italian chicken awaiting us. At 5 p.m., pick-up begins for the travelogue entitled "Holland," if you have tickets.

Wednesday, Oct. 27 is the rain date for last week's Memorial Sanctuary trip (just in case).

Thursday, Oct. 28: Blood pressures will be taken by our volunteer nurse, Mae Sellers, beginning at 11 a.m. in Emanuel's Fellowship Hall. Beef stroganoff will be enjoyed by all hungry senior citizens, we invite you to join us. Now, where did October go?

Youths help out in community

Youth in the Manchester area have pulled together once again this year to put on the second-annual Make a Difference Day 5K race and 1.5 mile poker walk. The poker walk is a new twist in this event; walkers will pass five stations along the way, picking up a card at each stop. The walkers who return with the best hands get the best prizes.

Last year there were approximately 100 people in attendance and over one thousand dollars was raised.

The money was donated to Manchester Family Services and used to provide warm blankets and winter supplies for many families in the area.

Part of the incentive to get people involved in the race is to provide refreshments for all involved and award prizes; some of which include free pizza from Ollie's, $50 worth of flowers from the Flower Garden, Gift Certificates from Calamity Jane's, Dinner at Dan's River Grill, A gift box from Great Harvest Bread Co.,

Movie Passes, and cash.

The event will be held Oct. 23, starting at Carr Park. Registration starts at 8:30 a.m., and the run/walk kicks off at 10:30 a.m. Afterwards will be the award ceremony, prizes, and entertainment.

If you would like to be a part of this event, you could pick up a registration form in any store in town sporting one of the large "We Support Our Community" signs, or you can send a check, (payable to Manchester Family Services) along with your name, age, and whether you want to be in the race to walk to: PO Box 133, Manchester, 48158.

Registration cost is $10 per person or $35 for family.

If you can't be there, but would still like to support the cause, you could sign up as a "ghost runner," send a donation and still be entered in a prize drawing.

Law to aid vocational programs

The Senate recently approved legislation amending the state real estate transfer tax to include student home-building programs in its public entity exemptions.

"I am pleased to see the progress of this reform," said State Rep. Gene DeRossett (R-Manchester). "It is a commonsense measure that removes an obstacle to vital job-training programs."

Student home building programs are staffed by public schools, count for academic credit and are key components of many districts' vocational programs.

Most home building programs are separately incorporated non-profit corporations and don't qualify for the current exemption. The new law eliminates the tax liability hardships these programs often experience.

About 3,700 students participate statewide, constructing one new home each academic year. The finished homes are sold to the public and proceeds are returned to the program for funding the next year.

"This is grass roots legislation," DeRossett said. "It originated at the local level and will have a profound impact across that state."

"These programs teach young people practical skills that put them directly into the work force. That's definitely worthy of our support."

The legislation now goes before Gov. John Engler for his approval.

Street Talk

By Marsha Johnson-Chartrand

Are you concerned about Y2K? Why or why not?

"Not really - I think it's just a lot of hoopla."
— Kurt Brauns

"Absolutely not - the world's not gonna fall apart just yet."
— John Korican

"No. I guess I'm too old to worry. I think the utilities will be pretty well covered, and I'm not worried about the bank."
— Elaine Hanson

"No. I know some people are - they're even buying rations. But I don't think it's something to worry about."
— Gigi Voegeding

"No, because I don't think it will happen."
— Joanne Eversole

Relationships are the important 'stuff' of life

A couple of weeks ago I wrote about being ruthless in getting rid of "stuff." And I've been reflecting on that for a bit and come to the conclusion that it is never easy to get rid of stuff - be it your own or someone else's.

Last summer, I spent a few days helping relatives clean out their parents' home. It was a difficult time for them. The house had been in the family for over eighty years. Although these were two adult women, who lived hundreds of miles away, this house had been "home" to them for a lifetime.

Now, there would be no more to come home to. They have to take back some remnant, to their own home, to remind them of what used to be.

AND IT WAS interesting to see what they took. Things I would not value - things that I would personally find it easy to be ruthless with - were those things they prized most highly.

A battered soup ladle. Pieces of fabric. A sofa pillow. Hand-crafted tools. These are the things that reminded them of home, and these are what they want to take back, and remember and share the special meanings these items represent to them.

A U-Haul, a station wagon, a truck and a sedan, all jam-packed with memories, left home one day last summer. And some of the memories were left behind.

I'm wondering how much soup is being made and served with that ladle this fall. I hope that old ladle will see a few more kettles of soup in its lifetime, hopefully with plenty of family and friends surrounding the table.

Last week, a friend experienced the near-tragedy of a house fire. I say a near-tragedy because the entire family, including pets, escaped safely. But the "stuff" that meant a great deal to them doesn't exist any more.

MARSHA JOHNSON-CHARTRAND

I have often thought, in moods where I am totally disgusted with the condition of my house, that it would be tempting to burn it down and start over. I don't think I'll say that any more, not even to myself. A morning spent sifting through the ashes and the soot has completely changed my outlook.

IT'S EASY to laugh as you toss out a roll of 100 plastic trash bags that is reduced to the size of a soup can. But discarding cherished possessions, like what's left of a little girl's china doll collection, isn't so simple. Instead of laughter, it puts a lump in your throat.

My friend keeps saying, "It's only stuff..." but it's their stuff. Like the battered soup ladle or the hand-crafted tools, the stuff is what their memories are made of. And now it's disappeared.

One piece out of an entire set of her grandmother's china survived the blaze. Her daughter's wedding dress, hanging in the bedroom closet, is gone. A beautiful home, in which the entire family took such pride as they built it from the ground up, is reduced to soggy carpeting, blackened stud walls and melted vinyl siding.

She tells me she knows she is really lucky. And she is. But that doesn't stop the grieving for what used to be.

Ultimately, it just brings us face to face with the fact that the stuff of life that is most important is the relationships we take with us. There may be some tangible things that represent those relationships - our grandmother's china or the family Bible or the pictures of the kids - but what is really important is the people.

"PEOPLE BEFORE things" - it's a motto I have held before myself often over the years. But it takes a loss of those things to make one realize how true that really is. It encourages me to reevaluate what is really important to me. What do I really need, and what would I do if I actually lost it all?

When the stuff is gone, that's what we have left - the relationships. So I need to remember to take care of those aspects of my life before I start worrying about all the "stuff."

Sharon Township facing many zoning questions

By M.S. Clinansmith

Special Writer

During the last month, Sharon Township has been rocked by two events.

First, a mobile home builder and park developer has filed suit in Washtenaw County Circuit Court to force the township to grant permission for the rezoning to allow a 693-unit trailer park on 178 acres on the northern end of Sharon.

Second, a local gravel pit owner has requested that the state Department of Environmental Quality grant it permission to construct a road into its property to allow it to take up cattle ranching on the site.

Here are some observations about the facts behind the news stories.

Landon Holdings Incorporated, a part of Landon Corporation, a Southfield-based manufacturer home builder and mobile home community developer, filed suit in Washtenaw Circuit Court to have its request for a variance granted. This was on September 7, 1999. This was after both the Sharon Township and Washtenaw County planning commissions denied the request citing environmental and social factors that would cause more problems than it would solve.

Landon Corporation's request to build what we used to call a trailer park comes on the heels of several other failed efforts and other pending cases in other Michigan townships. There is the case of a similar project in Monroe County and in China Township in St. Clair County. Landon itself has a pending case in Ottawa Lake.

Just 20 miles east of us, Superior Township (north of Ypsilanti and east of Ann Arbor) has likewise been notified that it is being sued for the same type of project.

The facts are that the current Governor, John Engler, is a willing tool of these developers. Before you accuse me of blatant partisanship, let me point out these facts:

First, in 1976, several liberal Democrats, among them the late Perry Bullard, and then-state representatives David Bonior, Lynn Jondahl and David Hollister, convinced the state legislature and the then-Governor, Democrat James Blanchard, to pass a law outlawing the denial of space in Michigan townships to erect trailer parks. The purpose was clear: to build more reasonably priced homes for Michiganders. As part of the package, however, the Michigan Manufactured Home Housing Commission (MHHC) was added with a requirement that manufactured home builders and trailer park owners be represented.

The scheme worked well, too well. The industry members were named, but not those to represent the public and local government interests. To this day, this remains a sore point between the builders/developers and the townships and state Legislature.

Currently, the state Legislature is trying to revise the law to allow a more balanced approach. This is mandated, because the MHHC has shown its real goals by consistently coming down on the developers' side to the total exclusion of those who are concerned about the environment and wish to protect local prerogatives. In essence, they have become a "Court of Last Resort" to which the developers have taken their rejected plans.

Again, the MHHC has overruled both the local units of government and the courts in ordering the implementation of the flawed plans.

Today, the case of Landon Holdings Inc. v. Sharon Township is at the initial complaint stage. Case number 99-10919-CZ is a small file available through the Circuit Court Clerk's Office in Ann Arbor. It costs 25 cents per page to copy, anyone has access to it as a public document, and it makes interesting reading.

It is obvious what Landon Holdings is doing. In the face of two staggering defeats on the township and county levels, it seeks to reverse the findings of two planning commission reviews and decisions by either making it difficult for Sharon Township to fight an expensive legal battle or putting legal and political pressures to bear within a very partisan (both Democratic and Republican) state governmental structure.

The gravel pit operator which I mentioned in the introduction is Farmer Brothers Sand and Gravel, a Northville-based concern which operated a pit at 6901 M-52 between Peckins Road and Grass Lake Road. They have long been a resident business in Sharon Township. They have been allowed to mine the naturally-occurring gravel reef at that site without interference by the township for a number of years. That ended this year.

As part of its efforts to recoup costs associated with road maintenance, Sharon Township instituted a Mineral Licensing Ordinance and named members to its governing board. Now, gravel pit operators who fall under the ordinance's provisions must purchase a Mineral License issued by the township.

Beginning last year, Farmer Brothers started building a road opposite Peckins Road on M-52 and announced its intention to open up a gravel extraction operation on the west side of M-52 opposite its current operations site. Amidst a storm of protest and pressure from the township, Farmer Brothers abandoned the project. The partially begun roadway still exists but piles of fill dirt block access to the area.

Flash forward to September 2, 1999, and the township board meeting.

Aware of Farmer Brothers' court challenge to the township's Mineral Licensing Ordinance and the inordinate amount of time and money it has already taken, Supervisor Gary Blades recommends that the Farmer Brothers' tentative application and bond (in lieu of a fee) be rejected. He cites failure of a Farmer Brothers representative to sign the application, the partial payment of the required fee and Farmer Brothers' court case. Also important is a statute that requires that any decision on licensing must be completed within 95 days of the initial application. With less than five days left before the time limit runs out, the Sharon board followed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Manchester school district needs to adapt to the times

An open letter to the community:

My name is Mary Ann Fielder. If you have had a student in Manchester Middle School in the past 27 years, you have probably met me. You may have also heard that I am planning to retire in June. I would like to share with you some of my reasons for retiring early and also share some of my concerns about the Manchester Community Schools.

For most of my 27 years here in Manchester I truly enjoyed my job. I have loved working with your children and have made lifelong friends among the other staff members and among the members of the community. I still greatly enjoy working with my students. They are not the reason I have chosen early retirement. The atmosphere outside my classroom door has caused this decision. I am tired of fighting tooth and nail for everything from textbooks for the students to a competitive salary for the teachers.

If you haven't looked at your students' books lately, you should. For the 1998-99 school year, the Middle School replaced their math books for the first time in almost 10 years. I was on the committee that selected the texts and had to practically beg for the new books. This year, the seventh- and eighth-grade science books were replaced but the fifth and sixth grades have to wait another year. Talk about obsolete! These books imply that "someday computers may be small enough to be hand held, and that "AIDS may turn out to be a fatal disease." I don't know the status at Klager and the High School, but I am sure some of their texts are outdated too. Yes, I am very aware that textbooks are expensive but if a schedule had been set up so that each subject area was reviewed for textbook replacement every five years and was adhered to, perhaps we wouldn't be in such a sorry situation now.

I have been very active in many areas besides classroom teaching during my years here. I have taken almost 20 years worth of eighth graders on trips to Washington D.C. and Toronto and was the Middle School cheerleading coach for many years. I have also been a leader in our union, the Manchester Education Association, for nearly all of my years in Manchester. I have been on numerous bargaining teams and various committees. Because I have been so involved, I have personally heard many different boards of education tell me that money is tight this year but next year will be better. I am still waiting for "next year" and have finally gotten the board's message that it will never be "next year" when it comes to the salaries of the Manchester teachers. We are told over and over that we are valued by our administration and board but never seem to be valued much in a monetary sense. We continue to be among the lowest paid in Washtenaw County just as we have been for all of my 27 years here. We are not asking to "catch up" to the other districts, just to stay in the game.

This brings me back to the beginning of my letter - why I am retiring and why I fear so many others may leave too. Manchester's experienced teachers are tired of the poor treatment they traditionally receive from the board's negotiator at the bargaining table and our younger staff can easily see "greener pastures" without looking too far. The districts that appear to have "greener pastures" don't just offer greater salary incentives but seem to be able to negotiate in a reasonable manner year after year without constant threats from the board's side of the table. Some people may think that the continual loss of both experienced and new teachers is a good thing financially because new teachers cost less in terms of salary but I hate to think what type of district we would be educationally if there were no experienced teachers with a commitment to the children of Manchester to offer guidance to the newer staff.

I would like to thank the members of the community of Manchester for their generous support over the past 27 years. I have always felt grateful for your concern and caring attitude toward the schools and staff. I hope you will continue to give that same support in the months and years to come so that the Manchester Community Schools can be an organization we can be proud of and one that can continue to provide a quality education to the children of our town.

—Mary Ann Fielder

dent of the Manchester Township Library Board. "In our present budget there is no money available for either rent or purchase of a building. Yet there is a committee which is also putting together plans to look at a district library in the coming months. So we are looking at the issue with dreams in our head and reality in our faces.

"We know we have to do something more than just say 'yes,'" continued Major. "I will be attending the Manchester Township Board meeting, to discuss our decision with them, and then the District Library Planning Committee will meet so we can all participate in the planning process.

"Funding is the real issue here."

MAJOR IS excited about the prospect of the library finding a spot to call its own, with room to grow. "It's so positive it's energizing," she said. "This building is a jewel; all we need to do is put it in the setting that will best complement its beauty.

"I hope that the public will see that here are two government entities who are working really hard to get the loose ends together.

"Now let's see how we can make it work. It will be a very positive reflection on the community."

has to be," says Marshall. "The trash has to be collected, and my best guess is that they service the downtown area at these hours so that they don't inconvenience the business owners or their customers.

"EACH BUSINESS owner contracts with its own trash remover, and pays for that service. I have been surveying the Main Street businesses, and so far everyone has been very agreeable, to ask their refuse companies to try picking up a little later in the mornings."

While Marshall has not contacted every business owner, he intends to so he can make a report back to the village.

"We may end up asking the midnight deputies to request the trash haulers to come back later in the morning, if it remains a problem," he said.

"We're asking people to help, and usually asking in a spirit of cooperation will be received positively."

Carol Pomilio is glad the village is doing what they can to alleviate their problems, and noticed that the garbage trucks did hold off until about 6:30 a.m. this week.

"I guess this is the best we could hope for," she said. "We just hope we can help to make a change."

we started buying a lot of equipment - dump trucks, a paver, a roller, and our first street sweeper."

ALTHOUGH THE girls in the Village Office swear that they don't tell tales on their fellow employees, Treasurer Sue Koebbe shared a funny story that she says she'll always remember.

"Ed came walking into the office one afternoon several years ago, while they were chipping branches. He was carrying just the bow of his glasses and said he thought he had a little problem.

"He wanted to know if I could fix his glasses. I asked him where was the rest of them, and he said, 'In the chipper.'"

"The next Christmas I bought him an eyeglass repair kit.

"The camaraderie on the job is something Townsend will probably miss. Then there are the occasions he looks forward to relinquishing. Getting up at 2 a.m. to do snow removal is one of those things. Helping to fix water main breaks in the freezing cold is another.

"I've done that on Christmas Eve a few times."

VILLAGE MANAGER Jeff Wallace praised Townsend's dedication to his job over the years.

"Working for over 33 years as an employee in the public service industry is a record that doesn't happen every day - and particularly not these days. Ed's dependability and his willingness to do odd jobs wherever he is needed, is great. He's literally on call 24/7. That's a work ethic that's largely disappeared over the years.

"Ed's dedication is a credit to him and to his family - I know over the years they've had to give him up on more than one holiday or birthday celebration so he could get out and do the job. He's truly made a contribution to the village and it is greatly appreciated."

Varsity Football Still Needs Your Support

Even with the loss to East Jackson on Friday night, there is a slim chance that Manchester can make the playoffs. Any team playing nine games has a chance to make the playoffs if they have five wins. Manchester's record is 4-4.

The playoff field will be 256 teams. Any team with six wins will qualify. But in the history of MHSAA, never have 256 teams had six wins. If there are less than 256 teams with six wins, teams with five wins will be considered.

Playoff points will be used to complete the field. The MHSAA will try to have equal representation from classes A, B, C, and D. So come out this Friday and bring your friends and family. The Flying Dutchmen need your support.

 In six games, 15 receptions for 291 yards for a 19.4 average.
 His longest was against Minnesota, an 81-yard touchdown pass.

81 yards - Length of Nick Davis' TD catch from Brooks Bollinger at Minnesota. It was the third-longest pass play in school history. Davis has Wisconsin's longest reception (81), punt (76) and kickoff (77) return for the Badgers in 1999.

Season Highlights

He caught an 81-yard TD pass in win at Minnesota ... averaging team-high 19.4 yards per reception ... named co-Big Ten offensive player of the week (Sept. 12) ... has scored on a reception, punt return and kickoff return in '99 ... last Badger to score three different ways in one season was Ira Matthews ('78) ... four career kick returns for TDs (three punt, one kickoff) ... Davis has 732 all-purpose yards, second only to Ron Dayne ... Davis needs 1 punt return for a TD to tie the UW career record for punt return touchdowns.

Perfection!

Team dominated opposition, defense allowed only 25 points

By Colleen O'Neill

It was total domination. Not just Thursday night's game. The entire season.

The Manchester junior varsity football team won on Thursday. Once again they posted a high score and held the opponent to very low score.

Manchester defeated East Jackson 26-7 to finish the season a perfect 8-0.

Jeremy Forner carried the ball 12 times for 109 yards with three rushing touchdowns. Karl Schaible also carried 12 times and racked up 71 yards and one two-point conversion.

Josh McCalla threw six times for two completions, 60 yards and a touchdown.

Jacob Sawyer caught the two passes for the 60 yards and the touchdown.

Ryan Maggetti led the defense. He had fourteen assists and a fumble recovery that led to a touchdown.

Forner had 10 assists and one fumble recovery.

Chris Roberts had an interception.

CHRIS MALY, Russ Cruz, Seth LaRock and Casey Preuninger all had a great game.

"The down linemen did a good job up front, had key sacks and one knocked-down pass," Head Coach Jim Fielder said.

"They did a very good job for us."

"They've done a good job all season."

"I'm just very proud of these kids," Fielder said. "Everything I asked them to do they tried to do with zest and enthusiasm."

That zest and enthusiasm translated into domination throughout the season.

The team scored 272 points. The team gave up only 25 points.

They scored 62 points in one game.

Over the course of the season they had four shutouts and 33 takeaways while giving up only 12 turnovers.

FIELDER SAID that any time a team has a positive turnover ratio, good things will happen.

In this case, great things happened.

This team played outstanding football and deserves all the praise they can get.

Fielder only has ten freshmen returning next year. The rest of the team will be moving up to varsity.

"I wish them the very best," Fielder said of his departing players.

Varsity girls on a roll in conference play

Warriors and Pirates latest victims

The Manchester varsity basketball team boosted their record both overall and in the conference with two Cascades Conference victories last week.

On Tuesday they defeated Napoleon at home by a score of 53-45.

"I thought we played really well," said Head Coach John Wilkins. "Napoleon is a solid team, and we were actually down two points at half-time."

But the Lady Dutch started the second half with a 10-2 run to take the lead.

Napoleon fought back to take a one point lead but the Manchester girls went on another 6-0 run to jump to a five point lead in the fourth quarter.

"We made some free throws near the end to secure the win," Wilkins said.

ABRA WISE led the team with a solid all around game with 17 points, eight rebounds, four assists, and three steals.

"Erin Wiley had her high point-scoring game for the year with 12 points and seven rebounds," Wilkins said.

Brandy Aiken had 11 points, seven rebounds and five assists. Nicole Leverett had four points, six assists and five steals. Rachel Lillenthal had six points, six rebounds and three steals.

"Overall, we did a very good job of moving the ball," Wilkins said.

"Out of 21 baskets we had assists on 18; that tells us we were moving the ball and finding the open person."

On Thursday the Lady Dutch continued their conference streak by beating Grass Lake 57-48.

"This was a game where we got a pretty good lead early and were able to play a lot of people," Wilkins said. "We were up 17 points going into the fourth quarter and we kind of let them narrow the score down a bit but the game was never really in danger."

Wise led the team again with 17 points, three assists and three steals.

"NICOLE LEVERETT had another good game," Wilkins said. "She scored her season high in points with 14 and led us in assists with six."

Erin Wiley had seven points, seven rebounds and three steals, and Lillenthal had seven points and five rebounds.

"With so many people getting playing time, we had scoring from nine out of our 13 players," Wilkins said.

Manchester has completed the first round of the conference play. Wilkins said they have to play each team again. At this point they are tied for third place in the conference.

Michigan Center is still undefeated and leads the division. Addison has only one loss and East Jackson is tied with East Jackson has never defeated Manchester since Manchester joined the conference. They also have never made it into the playoffs.

Add those two factors together and you have a team with a lot of motivation.

"It looked to me like a team with a mission," said Head Coach Wes Gall.

"Are we capable of beating that team? Yes, we are. We didn't play with the heart that we played with the last three weeks."

East Jackson won the game 27-0.

"We just did not tackle. We did not get up field. The defensive line did not get up field. We had a lot of arm tackles, we didn't get off blocks. We didn't come from the proper direction."

Gall explained that the wide people are supposed to come from outside to force the ball inside.

"WE DIDN'T do that," Gall said. "They got outside and because of that they got five or six more yards."

Gall also said they knew what East Jackson was going to do. They knew they would run it up the middle a little and go outside a lot.

"People were not reading their keys," Gall said. "This was definitely a learning situation but the way they played the last three weeks I thought they had learned this."

"We needed to play with heart," Gall said. "Especially like we played against Addison."

Even with the loss, there were some positive signs. "Jason Flint had a fantastic night with 119 yards receiving," Gall said. "He caught nine balls and had an excellent night. I wish I could have gotten him the ball more often."

TYLER BREILEIN had a 63-percent completion percentage going 12 for 19 for 119 yards. Jeff Panches completed six passes for 71 yards. Each quarterback had one picked.

Dutch 8th grade shuts out Addison

Coach commends defensive players in 22-0 win

By Colleen O'Neill

Special Writer
 The Manchester eighth grade football team played Addison on Wednesday.
 "We won 22-0 on a wet and muddy night," said Head Coach Curt Fielder.
 The team started off scoring in the first quarter when Mike Coval carried a touchdown in from three yards out. Jordan Tallman completed a pass to Jason Lindemann for the two-point conversion.

 Manchester held Addison on the next series. When they got the ball back they were looking at third and a long eight when Tallman connected with Lindemann again. He threw the ball 20 yards in the air and Lindemann ran another 30 yards for a 50-yard touchdown. The score was 14-0 when the Dutch missed the two-point conversion.
 In the fourth quarter the Dutchmen scored for the third and final time.
 Josh Knouase carried the ball in from two yards out and Jason Young ran in the extra point to round out the score at 22-0.
 Fielder was particularly pleased with the defensive play, specifically the play of defensive end Matt Callaway. Todd Canter from his defensive tackle position. Austin Scott at tackle and David Schneider at the linebacker position.

 "The whole team contributed in many ways," Fielder said. "Everyone saw plenty of action. Again, it was a joyous ride home."
 The win was the last away game for the Dutchmen. They will end their season with two home games. The first will be against Napoleon and they will host Vandercook Lake for the last game.
 Their record stands at 3-1.

passes for 21 yards.
 Jason Flint also caught the ball three times for 19 yards.
 David Zielinski and Todd Crampton each had a reception.
 "We had 190 yards passing," Gall said. "Our running game was basically shut down."
 Pat DuRussel carried the ball nine times for 20 yards.
 "Nolan Ahrens had one big 38 yard burst, but we couldn't sustain blocks or we weren't blocking the right people at the point of attack," Gall said.
 Gall was philosophical about the disappointment.
 "That's part of high school sports," Gall said. "You have to live with those things and do the things you need to do to assure your side a victory. We didn't do those things."
FOR THE Big 8 Crossover game, the Flying Dutchmen will host Union City on Friday at 7 p.m.
 Right now their record is 4-4. With five wins the team still has a chance to make it into the playoffs.

Picking the right spot key to hunter success

If you were to ask me what I felt was the most important factor to consider when preparing to hunt deer, I would have to say that it was picking the right spot to make your stand.

And I'm not referring to building a stand, I mean choosing the spot that you want to be in when daylight breaks and the deer start to move.

There are other important things to consider, such as, making sure your weapon of choice is capable of doing the job you are using it for, dressing warm enough to be comfortable for the complete period of time you intend to be in the woods or field, and making sure there are deer in the area you intend to hunt. These are all things to be considered, but if you choose the wrong spot to sit in the other things will matter.

JERRY D. POSEY

ABOUT THE OUTDOORS

Picking the right spot is not something that is done on opening day, after walking a short distance from the car in the dark. Your choice of spots should be made long before the season opens.

I spend a lot of time in the outdoors, at all times of the year and this gives me an advantage over some folks that only see their favorite hunting area for a few days each year, during the two week firearms deer hunting season.

Don't get me wrong, I realize some of these fellows score on a nice deer every now and then, some of them even take a deer on opening day. But let's face it, "Even a blind pig finds an acorn now and then."

The best way to keep from having to depend on luck to get your deer is to spend a little time studying the movements of the deer in the area you plan to hunt. Starting a year in advance, is not too soon.

Hunting an area one season and trying several different spots can give you a chance to look an area over and get to know it better. Then spending a few weekends in the late summer or early fall just walking around, looking for bedding areas and well used trails, may help you to decide on a location for your ambush.

There is no one ideal spot that is just right for everyone and guaranteed to produce a 10-point buck every year. Everyone has a few things they insist on when picking their spot and may feel that certain other things are not so important.

Everyone's idea of the perfect spot may differ and this is good since it could get pretty crowded if we all picked the same spot.

I like to find a spot located between a recently used bedding area and a likely looking feeding plot. That's because I know that is where the deer will be at daylight — moving from the food supply to the spots where they feel safe — and they will spend most of the day bedded down, if they are not disturbed.

The spot you choose should be mostly free from obstructive brush and limbs that may interfere with a clean shot if the opportunity arises. That's why I like to choose my spot long before the season opens. I make a weekend trip to the area and clear out any unnecessary brush and obstacles, clean out the spot where I will be sitting and maybe strategically place some brush around the spot to provide cover later in the fall.

Making drastic changes may alert the deer to your presence and should be done long before opening day. A lot of valuable hunting time can be wasted while you sit in a blind along a trail that the deer no longer use. So you must keep up to date regarding which corn fields have been picked and which have not, which potholes are full of water and how good the acorn crop was this year.

Deer will often change their choice of places to eat and trails to travel, using one set in the summer and a different set after the corn has been picked.

The depth of snow can also help a deer to decide where to hang out or where to feed and these things all must be considered when picking the one spot you can cover on a given day.

You must also keep in mind, the constantly changing wind direction when choosing where to sit. It wouldn't make much sense to sit directly up-wind of a trail you expect to be used by deer. It can be very disappointing to have a nice buck pick up your scent just about the time you are drawing a bead on him.

It never hurts to have a plan "B", or a secondary spot picked out just in case you arrive at your No. 1 spot and find that the wind is blowing in the wrong direction.

One fact a lot of hunters don't seem to realize is that the well-worn trails are usually traveled by the does and the young deer. The rutting buck will often not use the established trails, he will creep through the woods, parallel to the trail but about 20 yards to the side, usually to the downwind side, where he can pick up the scent of any does that may be using the trail.

Many times the hunter will be concentrating on watching the trail and out of the corner of his eye he may pick up the movement of the buck that almost wasn't seen.

A spot along the edge of a woods or fence row that borders a picked corn field sometimes pays off early in the morning if the deer happen to keep feeding in the field for a while after daybreak. And it may also be a good place to be in the evening, just before dark when they may start to move out of the thick stuff to feed — if they have not been harassed during the day by other hunters. This seldom happens after the first few days of heavy hunting, at this time they seem to feed only under the protection of darkness.

That brings up my second choice of favorite spots to sit or stand.

When the deer are not moving, except when pushed by other hunters, I like to be the one still sitting. Hopefully I am sitting along one of the escape routes the deer choose to use when they are roused from their daytime hiding areas.

There are some trails that show little signs of use and these are sometimes emergency escape routes that lead into the thick, brushy swamp areas that few hunters pass through during the season.

When looking at the shape of the deer you may notice that it looks like they were designed to be able to travel through the brush with ease, whether moving fast or slow. The pointed head, the long neck and the wedge shaped body. The brush literally parts as the deer passes through and not much of a trail is really needed. Now look at the shape of an upright hunter, working his way through the brush, just the opposite, right?

Whether you choose to hunt from an elevated tree stand during the archery season or relax in a comfortable enclosed and carpeted ground blind, or even if you spend the morning all hunkered down in the corner of a fence row on opening day, the spot you pick may have a lot to do with your chances of getting a deer this year.

Manchester at 4-3 in the conference going into second half of the season.

"WE HAVE a tough conference this year," Wilkins said. "Michigan Center is pretty much in the driver's seat. Addison is playing really well. There is no one we can overlook in the second half of the season."

The teams are improving and Wilkins says his team just needs to take care of what they do and concentrate on one game at a time.

"Hopefully we'll get some breaks from some other teams and move up in the standings a little bit," Wilkins said.

lowed Blades' request and rejected the license application and returned the bond to Farmer Brothers.

What the Sharon board and Supervisor Blades did not realize is that on Aug. 12, 1999, Farmer Brothers had filed a request to have the DEQ permit them to build a road 400 feet long with a median width of 32 feet and a M-52 entrance 75 feet wide. Ironically, the road would be at the site of the current partially begun access road once proposed to service the proposed second Farmers Brothers gravel pit.

The application states quite clearly that Farmer Brothers are not going to use the road to begin a second pit, but to go into cattle ranching.

The question remains: why the DEQ? Clearly, in the DEQ they are hoping to find a more sympathetic audience for their plans.

For most of the recent past, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has been the guardian of the Michigan outdoors environment. To call the DNR "zealous" would be considered an understatement.

Unfortunately, a zealous DNR offended one too many development firms and Governor John Engler, under his existing constitutional powers, stripped the DNR of most of its powers except those to stock fish and establish the various hunting seasons.

In place of the DNR, the Governor mandated a new Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) to control access to the environment. Most environmentally-minded observers believe that the DEQ has shifted the balance in favor of development at the expense of the environment.

With the filing by Farmer Brothers with the DEQ, they hope to accomplish the same thing as if they were allowed to build their access road six months ago and open another gravel pit on the west side of M-52 opposite their current operations.

Am I being unjust? Once the road is built, what do you think is the likelihood that Farmer Brothers will rethink their stated intention of going into cattle ranching and use the road, given a court decision in their favor, to return to their original business?

Finally, for those of you who think I may be paranoid on this issue, I offer the following:

"Inside Michigan Politics," the journal of the Michigan political scene, recently published an article entitled "Mobile Home Parks: Oh Brother." It was reprinted in the August issue of "Planning and Zoning News." The gist of the story is that Nester Township, in remote Roscommon County, recently denied permission for the construction of a 477-acre mobile home park. The applicant was Broadway Community Housing, a development firm owned by Jim Engler. Does the name sound familiar? You guessed it: Jim Engler is the 48-year old brother of John Mathias Engler, Governor of Michigan.

A resident of Mount Pleasant, Jim Engler has placed his brother in the unenviable position of appearing to blatantly, through his familial ties, be endorsing development at the expense of the environment. The only difference is that, unlike Landon Corporation, Engler has not yet appealed to the MHHC and, unlike Farmer Brothers, he has not come up with an alternate plan to hide his true intentions.

of a 1999 sports-utility vehicle traveling 72 miles per hour in a 55 mph zone.

The vehicle contained two adults and three young children. Neither of the adults could produce registration, proof of insurance, or other paperwork for the car.

The deputy contacted the dealership, which said that the man had wanted the car, but could not provide any credit or homeowner information. Eventually, another man bought the car. The sales manager at the dealership characterized both men as "gypsies."

The deputy then talked separately with the man and woman in the car. The 30-year-old man, who listed his home as Wichita, Kan., claimed to be a house-painter finishing a job in the area, and looking for more work. The 26-year-old woman, listing her home as Dayton Beach, Fla., provided a conflicting story.

After some questioning, the two admitted they were gypsies, looking for work in the area.

The man said he was "an honest gypsy...only trying to make a living the only way I know how."

Both said they were staying at the Ann Arbor Inn with two other couples, who were relatives. The man said a second group of gypsies, from North or South Carolina, were also working in the area.

FREEDOM TOWNSHIP PROPOSED SYNOPSIS OCTOBER 12, 1999

The meeting was called to order, 8:00 p.m., at the Freedom Township Hall, with Board members Little, Rybarsky, Schaible, Uphaus and Weidmayer present. The minutes of the September 14, 1999 Regular Meeting were read and approved with minor corrections. The Treasurer's report was read and accepted.

Dale Behnke presented the board with information regarding a proposed interlocal agreement for building code administration.

Various communications including fire runs, newsletters, educational opportunities, and meeting dates, minutes, and agendas were received. Supervisor Little reported that 130 loads were taken at the Clean-Up Day. He thanked everyone who helped. Little also reported denying a request for extended operating hours from Bridgewater Sand and Gravel.

The Planning Commission reported that the Sprint Tower application had been delayed on Sprint's request. The review process for the zoning ordinance is complete and a rough draft should be available at their November meeting.

Reports were also accepted from the Z.B.A., the Ordinance Enforcement Officer, the Zoning Inspector, and the District Library Delegate.

Old Business: The Board tabled discussion of township legal counsel to the November meeting.

New Business: The Board discussed the practice of refunding fees when an application is withdrawn before a hearing is set. Board policy states that no refunds will be made. The policy will be printed on the application forms.

Bill #5560 through #5581 were reviewed and paid as presented.

There being no further business, Little adjourned the meeting at 10:00 p.m.

Approved by Robert Little, Supervisor

SYNOPSIS OF SHARON TOWNSHIP BOARD MEETING - SEPT. 2, 1999

Supervisor Blades called the meeting to order at 8:05 P.M. with board members: Aiuto, Blumenauer, Dunny and Feldkamp present. There were ten attendees. The Clerk distributed a copy of the 8/12/99 minutes to all the Board members prior to the meeting. The minutes were amended and approved.

Treasurer's report was approved. The Clerk presented bills for payment totaling $6,648.60. Board approved payment.

There were a few public comments and questions.

Blades reported on the status of the Farmer Bros. lawsuit. Blades stated that Farmer Bros. needed to pay the $500.00 for the annual license fee and sign the license but their attorney recommended that they not pay the fee or sign the license pending the Court of Appeals decision. Blades recommended to the Board that a decision needed to be made regarding the license due to the 60 day limitation in the ordinance. Motion by Blades, supported by Aiuto to deny Farmer Bros. license based on the pending court action, unpaid fees and Farmer Bros. decision not to agree to the license at this time. Yeas: Aiuto, Blades and Blumenauer. Nays: Dunny and Feldkamp. Motion carried.

Motion by Dunny, supported by Blumenauer to sign the BS&A support agreement for the assessing package. Motion carried.

Motion by Aiuto, supported by Dunny to purchase the Windows 2000 software to update the Township's computers so they are Y2K compatible. Motion carried.

Motion by Dunny, supported by Blumenauer to deny the rezoning of the 86+/- acres on Pleasant Lake Road from A-1 to R-2 zoning. Yeas: all. Motion carried.

Motion made by Feldkamp, supported by Blumenauer to donate the Township's voting machines to Manchester schools. Motion carried.

Motion was made by Dunny, supported by Blumenauer to continue to have a recycling day and a recycling program for the Township and funded by Washtenaw County. Motion carried.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:54 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners and the Regents of the University of Michigan are seeking individuals interested in appointment to the Washtenaw Community Health Organization Board. These appointments are scheduled to be made by each of the respective bodies in November, 1999. These appointments will become effective on January 1, 2000.

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners is scheduled to make six appointments to the Washtenaw Community Health Organization on November 17, 1999.

The Regent of the University of Michigan is scheduled to make six appointments to the Washtenaw Community Health Organization by December 31, 1999.

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners and the Regents of the University of Michigan have approved the creation of a Washtenaw Community Health Organization. The Washtenaw Community Health Organization was established to provide an integrated health care delivery system to provide mental health, substance abuse and primary and specialty health care to Medicaid, low income and indigent consumers as defined by the Mental Code and Medicaid Eligibility Guidelines.

In compliance with the Urban Cooperation Agreement Act, MCLA 124.501, the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners and the Regents of the University of Michigan shall appoint a 12 member Board of Directors. Each of these bodies shall appoint six members. These appointments will be made for three years, staggered for implementation, commencing on April 1 of each year. Each agency shall appoint at least one primary and one secondary consumer to this Board.

A primary consumer is an individual who has received or is receiving services from the Department of Community Health or a community health services program or services from the private sector equivalent to those offered by the Department of Community Health or a Community Mental Health Program.

A secondary consumer is the family member of an individual receiving services from either Washtenaw County or the University of Michigan.

The Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners and the University of Michigan are seeking primary consumers, secondary consumers and individuals with prior Mental Health Board experience and/or understanding of community mental health service delivery policies.

The Washtenaw Community Health Organization Board shall perform all functions granted to it by the Washtenaw County Board of Commissioners and the Regents of the University of Michigan. The Community Health Organization Board shall meet at least monthly.

Individuals interested in appointment to the Washtenaw Community Health Organization should submit a letter of interest and resume to one of the following agencies by November 1, 1999.

PROPOSED SYNOPSIS - MANCHESTER TOWNSHIP BOARD, OCTOBER 11, 1999

PROPOSED SYNOPSIS of a regular meeting of the Manchester Township Board, held Monday, October 11, 1999.

Supervisor Mann called the meeting to order at 8:02 p.m. with Board members Macomber, Turk, Mann and Hakes present. Member Widmayer was absent. Bill Scully, Jeff Mann, Paul Siano, Char Major, Dorothy Davies and Dale Behnke were also present. The Board approved the minutes of their regular meeting of 9/13/99. The treasurer's report was accepted. Approval was given for bills that have been paid since last meeting and for outstanding bills.

Fire Department activity for the month included 4 fires, 9 medical, 10 personal injuries, 3 miscellaneous and 2 mutual aids, for a total of 28 runs. Chief Scully reported on public relations and educational activities and current training activity.

The Board accepted reports from the Zoning Inspector, Planning Commission, and Supervisor Paul Siano vice-chair of the Planning Commission, suggested that the Township Board consider adding an alternate to the Board of Appeals, and explore creating a zoning commission to handle issues related to zoning. The Board will look into it, and encouraged the Planning Commission to do the same. The Board granted a refund of a second fee paid by Juli Trolz for a conditional use request because there were no major changes in the re-application that would necessitate a second public hearing.

A resolution was adopted approving an agreement to form the Western Washtenaw Construction Authority with the Village of Manchester and Bridgewater, Freedom and Manchester Townships. A second resolution was adopted regarding legal services for the interlocal authority.

Under new business, Char Major, President of the Library Board, and Dorothy Davies, Director, informed the Board of options being explored for relocating, including the possibility of space in the "old Ford plant."

Clerk Hakes notified the Board that it is necessary for the township to divide into two voting precincts in order to comply with Michigan Election law, and informed them of additional costs that will be incurred.

Correspondence required no action from the Board. There being no further business to come before the Board, the meeting adjourned at 10:46 p.m.; the next regular meeting of the Manchester Township Board is Monday, November 8, 1999 at 8:00 p.m.

A complete copy of these minutes may be obtained during office hours, which are Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Looking Back

On this day in...

Oct. 19, 1899. The old advice is the best advice. I've heard that before. I'm also starting to think that the old wisdom is the best too. For instance, the first two items in this column reprinted from the Enterprise, although probably carrying little news value, are extremely pertinent to modern life.

Also appearing in the Enterprise 100 years ago was an article relating the outcry that arose when a pastor and some other church members attended a professional wrestling match. I wonder what those parishioners would have to say about Minnesota Governor Jesse "The Body" Ventura.

Have any of you ever noticed the proliferation of personal advertisements by people seeking mates? I always thought this was a recent phenomenon, but apparently this sort of thing went on 100 years ago as well. Newspapers and other publications have a great value in society, but I have always been suspect that they can also fill the role of match-maker with any success. The article in the historic Enterprise, anyway, seems to confirm this point of view.

In Brief

Almost anyone, when he can't think of anything else to do, eats something.

All old bachelor says the penalty of a stolen kiss is often life-long bondage.

IN OUR GREAT STATE. The Happenings in Michigan Briefly Related.

Had Two Stomachs.

Seth Stratton, of Calhoun County, is a physiological marvel. He has two perfect stomachs, something never before known to the medical fraternity. He has suffered excruciating pains from his stomach trouble all his life, and recently went to Chicago to undergo a surgical operation. An examination led to the discovery that he had two stomachs, and notwithstanding this, was in a starving condition, through inability to assimilate food. The result of the operation is not a complete cure, but the patient is very much improved.

Female Prosecuting Attorney Ousted.

Mrs. Merrie Hoover Abbott, prosecuting attorney of Ogemaw County, by an opinion handed down by the supreme court on the 17th, cannot hold the office. The constitution of this state does not express constitutional or statutory authority which would make a woman eligible to hold this office, hence the judgment of ouster against Mrs. Abbott is ordered. Only electors can be chosen for this office.

A Cadillac Farmer Has Tough Luck.

Charles Olson, who has a 50-acre farm at Cadillac, advertised for a wife. Lottie Summers, of Boyne City, answered the advertisement, and the two began corresponding in February. Three weeks ago they met and Miss Summers agreed to marry Mr. Olson on condition that he give her $500 with which to start in the millinery business. He agreed, and the two went to Chicago and stopped at separate hotels. Olsen says he gave her $500, representing all his savings, and the two agreed that they should be married on the 11th, but Miss Summers disappeared the night before, and no trace of her can be found.

News Items

Mrs. E. H. —, aged 80 and a recently returned resident of Niles, recently returned to her home after a brief visit in Detroit, a raving maniac. No hopes are entertained for her recovery.

While plowing, S. P. Henning, of Bedford, found a wedding ring lost by his grandmother, 70 years ago.

Samuel Richardson, of Rock Falls, Huron County, threshed 816 bushels of oats in four hours and 10 minutes.

For 20 years Mrs. Elizabeth Cromie, of Owosso, never heard from her husband after he went out west, but the other day he telegraphed her that he was coming home.

Lawrence — went into Menominee from the woods and got crazy drunk. He broke into several houses and pulled men, women and children out of bed. He did hundreds of dollars' worth of damage before he was overpowered.

R. G. Hutchins of Arlington Township, Van Buren County, lost a watch while plowing a field two years ago. He has just recovered the timepiece, it coming to the surface while he was preparing the field for sowing wheat. It is apparently in good condition.

The chairman of the committee on ordinances of the Traverse City council forgot all about the ordinance which prohibits the riding of bicycles on certain streets of that city, and was notified by a constable who saw him in the act of violating the law to appear in court next morning, which he did, and was fined.

The Indians at the Indian village on Burt Lake, in Cheboygan County, have been ousted from the lands they have occupied for many years. The lands were sold for state taxes, and the Indians were beaten in circuit court a year ago. They apparently did not realize what the decision meant, as they made no effort to redeem the lands.

The congregation of a certain church at Mt. Pleasant is all worked up over the fact that the pastor, two of the trustees and one of the leading pillars of the church attended a recent wrestling match in that city.

Wm. Wood, of Port Huron, wanted some meat, so he stole a heifer. He will dine on sabbelly at the Detroit house of corrections for the next 90 days.

INSURANCE SUICIDES. Life Policies Encourage Self-Destruction.

Men end their days for the benefit of their families —

There is a difference of opinion on the subject — Increase in number yearly.

The Missouri decision that the insurance company must pay the full value of the policy of a suicide unless it can show that self-murder was contemplated at the time that the policy was taken out will open up the question as to whether the insurance of lives encourages suicide. High officers in various companies have from time to time argued that it does not, but statistics would seem to point to a different conclusion. In 1889 the suicide rate of insured was 12.7 per 100,000, while in 1898 it had risen to 17 per 100,000. Where insurance companies declare that they will not contest any suicide claims they may be putting a premium on self destruction. Some years ago, when the accident insurance boom was at its height in England, a commission was appointed to investigate the matter. It found that in cases where the premium on the loss of an eye was greater than the premium on the loss of a leg the company making the offer had more "eye claims" to pay than anything else. Where the right hand was rated at the highest figure, more right hands than any other portion of the body were lost. This matter of self mutilation for an insurance reward was clearly demonstrated by the testimony secured by the commission. It also brought to light another interesting fact. The greatest number of injuries was reported by that class known as the "genteel poor." As the members of this class follow clerical or professional careers rather than mechanical or arduous ones, the number of accidents among them, as compared with those who follow hazardous businesses, was remarkable. It was fairly well demonstrated that when they were hard up for a few pounds they would take out an accident policy for the amount needed and go, to come home with a crushed leg or hand as the case might warrant. In the matter of suicide, the man who is in financial or other trouble is far more apt to solve it by ending his life, if his life insurance will surely be paid to his heirs, than he would if a reasonable doubt were raised as to the legality of the claims of his heirs to such a payment. The insurance companies frequently pay suicide claims, although they feel morally sure that there was fraud intended when the policy was taken out, but when they do this, rather than suffer the odium that attaches to a disrupted claim, they encourage self-destruction.

THE LAST MAN. Fates That May Overtake the Survivor of the Human Race.

Astronomers tell us that the day must come when the earth will, like the moon, wheel through the heavens like a dead and barren ball of matter, airless, waterless and lifeless. But long, long before that time man will be extinct, and will have disappeared so utterly that not so much as the bleached skeleton of a human being will be visible on all the millions of square miles of the surface of this planet. Unless by some huge and universal cataclysm the whole race is swept at once into eternity, it is but reasonable to suppose that man, like any other race of animals, will disappear slowly and that eventually there will be but a single human being left — some old, old man, gray-headed and bearded and left to wander alone in a solitude that may be imagined but not described. How will he die, this last relic of the teeming millions that once transformed the globe and ruled undisputed master of every living thing? There are many fates that may befall him. He may go mad with the horror of loneliness and himself end his miserable existence. He may be eaten by the vast reptiles or giant insects which will then probably infest the solitudes. But his fate may be far weirder and more dreadful.

Scientists say that as we burn the coal and timber we are so richly supplied with we let loose into the atmosphere an ever-increasing volume of carbonic-acid gas. Much of this is taken up by plants, but not all. It must increase and eventually poison the breathable air, filling the valleys and mountains slowly to the hilltops, where the last remains of animal life are striving for existence. The last man will climb higher and higher, but eventually the suffocating, invisible fluid will reach and drown him.

The Looking Back column is a feature reprinting articles from historic copies of the Manchester Enterprise, appearing through the kind cooperation of the Manchester Township Library.

Senior is named Optimists Club October's student of the month

Kyle Harris has been selected as the October "Student of the Month" by the Manchester Optimist Club. Kyle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris.

Kyle is a senior at Manchester High School with a 4.0 grade point average. He has been on the honor roll throughout high school and has been awarded the MHS Academic Award for three years.

He has been a member of the National Honor Society all four years and also a member of Future Farmers of America, where he received third place in the State FFA Agriculture Mechanics contest. He was a team member of Equations during his ninth- and tenth-grade years.

This is Kyle's fourth year as a member of the Cross Country team. He was a three time state qualifier, and a two time all-region winner. He was also a member of the track team at the high school being a three-year state qualifier in the 3200 meter run, and a regional champion in the 3200 meter run.

Kyle plans to attend Western Michigan University and study mechanical or electrical engineering.
