NEW ROLLER-PROPELLED MOWER JOINS HAYTER'S PROFESSIONAL RANGE

A new roller-propelled cylinder lawn mower was launched by Hayter's Ltd. of Spellbrook, Bishop's Stortford, Herts, at The Institute of Groundsmanship Exhibition '71 at Motspur Park, New Malden, Surrey, from September 14-16, 1971.

An addition to the Hayter range of specialist mowers designed for public authorities, the new Condor roller-propelled mower is a 5-bladed 30 inch cylinder unit equipped with a large capacity grass box.

Cutting from 112 cuts per yard in 1st gear to 50 cuts per yard in 3rd gear, at heights ranging from  $\frac{3}{8}$  inch to  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inch, the machine provides a good finish and is especially suitable for parks, recreation grounds, football and cricket fields and large gardens and estates.

A reverse gear with fail-safe device gives extra manoeuvrability in confined areas. In fact, the exceptional control and manoeuvrability plus the availability of either wheeled or roller type upholstered trailer seats are claimed by Hayters to ensure less operator fatigue—resulting in increased work output.

Moreover, through the option of a readily interchangeable 30 inch twin cutterhead rotary mower attachment in place of the 30 inch cylinder unit, the Hayter Condor offers a bonus which permits areas of run-away growth to be quickly brought under control. With this attachment, a single lever gives a range of cutting heights from  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch to 2 inch.

The mower is powered by a 258cc MAG 4-stroke petrol engine, developing 6.2 hp at its governed speed of 3,000 rpm. Fuel consumption is about  $2\frac{1}{4}$  pints per hour and fuel tank capacity is 7 pints. A recoil starter is fitted.

Transmission is by V-belt drive from the engine via a bevel transfer box to the cutting unit and 3 speed and reverse
