

ON THE COURSE

Peter Jones, Course Manager at Collingtree Golf & Country Club explains how the storm water drains in the catchment areas are designed to work.

earlier look good enough for play already. The mixture - 20 per cent Frida chewings, 25 per cent Checker chewings, 20 per cent Boreal creeping red fescue, 10 per cent Logro slender creeping red fescue, 10 per cent Highland bent and 5 per cent Julia smooth stalked meadowgrass.

All the Surrey heathland courses are popular venues for golf enthusiasts, particularly Wentworth where the completion of the new South Course to add a third course to the complex is a significant landmark in the history of this famous Club.

This is no ordinary layout - par 72, 7,100 yards - it is planned to present a real test of championship golf amid heath, heather and tree lined surroundings - a golfer's dream. The construction work was undertaken by Golf Landscapes to a design specification by John Jacobs Associates. With the contractors work completed the important phase of grooming and getting the course ready for play is a priority for Michael Hunter, clerk of works and the greenkeeping staff who are looking forward to the task they have ahead. It is anticipated the new course will be open for play in the spring of 1990.

The above average size greens have been laid with turf from Inturf Ltd on a sand base to a specification by the Sports Turf Research Institute. British Seed Houses A12 fairway mixture has been used on the fairways which along with the greens are already looking in good shape. The amount of growth and density of cover should provide an ideal playing surface to cope with all the wear and tear of play.
