HOLLY

Identification is simple as the evergreen tree is easily recognisable as part of a hedge in oaks/beech woodland. If left to grow it can reach a height of 15 metres. The leaves are unmistakably dark glossy green, 6-8cm in size. They are heavily lobed with a sharp spine at the end of each lobe. The leaves become less prickly the higher up the tree you look.

Bright red berries are in evidence from September. Each berry has four seeds inside, these berries are eaten by thrushes and finches.

COFFEE BREAK TEASER

Take a look at the picture on the left and try to work out what leaf you think it might be.

The answer will be hidden somewhere in the Buyers' Guide section.
