A Special Week Awaits

Eight years after feeling the heat of the media spotlight and the wrath of a few players, Carnoustie Links Superintendent John Philp and his team are gearing up for another Open Championship this month.

The narrow fairways, severe rough and high scores brought about a renaming of the course in some newspapers to “Carnasty” last time around and took away from the great work John and his team had done on the areas he describes “as the areas the players were supposed to be playing from”.

This time round John has already had to face the media again as they looked back at the last Open and quizzed him on his preparations. He handled himself well when faced with a barrage or questioning and took the wind from the sails of one journalist who, hoping to highlight John’s lack of knowledge of the game, asked if he played golf and, if so, of what handicap? John was able to say that, while he doesn’t play so much now, he did once play off 1.

I was lucky enough to catch up with him a few weeks later to talk about the preparations in a more detailed and measured manner and can honestly say that a couple of hours in John’s company is as refreshing as it is exhausting. I came away with my head buzzing full of the ideas and philosophies of a man whose passion and knowledge for turf management. It’s a genuine privilege to spend time in his company.

This time around the rough won’t be as penal – the weather conditions over the last 12 months or so have seen to that while the fairways are a little wider so hopefully more players will appreciate the work that has gone into giving those who play golf as it should be played – finding the short grass from the tee then the green – every chance to control their golf ball.

Those of us who were at Carnoustie in ‘99, and had the unforgettable experience of cheering home a home grown winner in Paul Lawrie from the side of the 18th green, would have been staggered to learn that between then and our return to the Angus town there would have been no British winner, not to mention European winner of a Major Championship. While the Ryder Cups have proved easy meat over the last few years, 31 Majors have passed with a series of American, South African, Australian, New Zealand, even Fijian winners.

That run will come to an end sometime but, if truth be told, there is no-one exactly holding up their hand and declaring themselves a contender. But the beauty of golf is that you never know and a new hero is likely to burst from the dark shadows at any time.

Let’s hope so, just as we hope John Philp and his team have a wonderful week full of praise for a magnificent links in magnificent condition.

TONY JACKLIN DESIGNS MAJOR NEW GOLF DEVELOPMENT

Tony Jacklin, the most successful European Ryder Cup Captain, has been contracted to design a new golf course development in Cyprus.

The man regarded as ‘Europe’s first golf superstar’ is also in discussion with golf course developers in the Middle East, continental Europe and the Caribbean – all of which follow his recent collaboration with Jack Nicklaus on the vaunted new ‘The Concession’ course in Florida, USA.

Tony, aged 62, has made a conscious decision to concentrate on golf course design, and is looking forward to taking a unique, hands-on approach with his projects – which will bear all the hallmarks of The Open and US Open champion.

He said: “I have decided only to take on a limited number of design contracts at any one time, as this gives me the opportunity to get personally and deeply involved in each of the projects.

“I hope that my signature design courses will be my legacy in Europe, where I learned the game, made many friends and enjoyed many of my finest moments in the sport.”

By becoming personally involved in each project – from the very first preliminary design meetings, right through to the official opening – Tony hopes to forge an enduring link with the golfing community. And he is determined that each and every one of his Tony Jacklin Signature designed golf courses will be a very special place for golfers to learn the game, play and most of all enjoy their golf.

GENTLEMAN DON: 1938 - 2007

It's with great sadness that a true friend to greenkeepers all over the West Country passed away suddenly on Monday, May 14, 2007.

I first met Don when I was a young lad starting on my career path at Saunton GC in North Devon. Don at the time had his own Company based at Bovey Tracey in Devon making and selling topdressing across the South West, his Company also sold fertilisers and course sundries.

First and foremost Don was a family man who loved his wife and daughters and later on his grandchildren. West Country greenkeepers and groundsman both young and old were an extension of Don's family, he always had time to have a chat and always asked about the family before turning to the topical sports story of the day.

Don lived life to the full with his positive attitude that rubbed off on everyone he met, he would always see the good points in people and encourage them with his positive manor.

During recent times Don has been working for Roffeys as their representative in the Devon & Cornwall area, he was also the Section's events organiser for Devon and Cornwall where he continued to drive the Section forward.

I'm sure Don would like us to remember him with a smile, many of you will have your own memories of gentleman Don, my most fondest memory has to be Don taking an order for materials on the back of a cigarette packet and losing it before he could place the order back at his desk.

BMW SUPPORT TEAM 2007

Once again a team of volunteer greenkeepers were on hand at The Wentworth Club for the BMW PGA Championship, held at the end of May.

Some of this year's BIGGA Support Team with Chris Kennedy and winner, Anders Hansen.

A small team were on stand-by duty on the Thursday and Friday of the event in case of bad weather. Fortunately the weather was kind on these two days, and glorious sunshine was experienced by all with only our Chairman, Billy McMillan, suffering with a touch of sunburn on his visit to the Course!

A rapid change in conditions meant that the full contingent of 40 volunteers were armed with squeegees as well as bunker rakes for the last two days of the Championship.

With the help of Chris Kennedy and his greenstaff, the West Course stood up well to a day of incessant, and at times, very heavy rain with no delays in play on the final day.

Once again this year competitors had to negotiate a few subtle changes and modifications to the Course instigated by Ernie Els and Chris.

The winner of this year's event was Anders Hansen who beat Justin Rose on the 1st extra hole of a play-off.

NEW EIGCA PRESIDENT

Scottish course designer Ken Moodie has been elected President of the European Institute of Golf Course Architects (EIGCA), succeeding Mark Adam, who has held the position for the last three years. David Krause has taken over as Vice-President. Moodie said: "During my presidency, I'm especially keen to work on strengthening our relationships with the other professional bodies in the field, such as the American Society of Golf Course Architects (ASGCA) and the Society of Australian Golf Course Architects (SAGCA). We are planning a joint world summit on golf course architecture in 2010, which will be a great opportunity to share our thoughts on the global development of the profession and the game of golf."

Education is a key part of EIGCA's remit, and Moodie is committed to strengthening the Institute's training programmes. "Our diploma course is continuing to grow, but we must keep improving it," he said. "We also plan to expand the areas of research we already support and carry out, including – learning more about the impact of club technology on course design – so that our members are better placed to design golf courses that will be playable long into the future."

Seven EIGCA members form the Council – the President, Ken Moodie, and six members, each of whom have responsibility for chairing a committee, as follows: David Krause, PR & Promotion; Thomas Himmel, Professional Development; Rainer Preissmann, Membership; Howard Swan, Education Board; Peter Fjallman, Finance; and Mike Wood, Environment.

ARCHITECTS EXPERIENCE GOLF THE OLD WAY

The men and women behind some of the newest golf courses in the world recently tried golf the way it was played a century ago. Members of the European Institute of Golf Course Architects (EIGCA) – who were gathered in Portmarnock, Ireland, for their annual general meeting – took the opportunity to play several holes of the Portmarnock Links golf course, built in the 1990s by architect Stan Eby and signature designer Bernhard Langer, using hickory-shafted clubs from the 1920s and earlier and reproduction vintage golf balls.

Gavin Bottrell of Timewarp Golf provided the hickory clubs. “I think the EIGCA members found it an interesting experience,” he said. “Different players react in different ways to vintage clubs – some find them very stiff, to others they are very whippy. I believe this is because all of these clubs were tailor-made for individual golfers. But I do try to match the clubs to the ability of each player.”

Bottrell reckons playing extensively with hickory clubs has helped him realise that, although the best golfers could hit the ball considerable distance with old equipment, the lack of forgiveness the clubs provide is the biggest difference. “Better players play well with hickories – I have seen professionals break par on difficult courses using them,” he said.

EIGCA member Tom Mackenzie echoes Bottrell’s view. For Mackenzie, the day after he won the Institute’s President’s Cup golf tournament, it was his first experience of vintage equipment, although he felt having grown up before the era of big-headed drivers and forgiving irons gave him some inkling as to how the clubs would feel. “I really enjoyed playing with the hickories, but you have to swing the clubs completely differently,” he said. “You can’t be so eager to get at the ball. For some of the young guys who play the modern game of just swinging as hard as possible then it was a much bigger culture shock.”

“I typically carry the ball between 185-190 yards with a hickory driver,” said Gavin Bottrell. “But the ball flies much lower, and when the ground is firm – as it was at Portmarnock – then the extra roll you get means a good shot can travel quite a long way.” Mackenzie agrees, but is quick to point out the other side of the coin. “Poor shots go absolutely nowhere!” he said.

AWARD WINNER

Manor House & Ashbury hotels, Duchy College and the greenkeeping sector are celebrating a significant success after winning an award at the South West Skills Awards recently. The Award, presented by Jason Gardener MBE, Olympic gold medal sprinter, celebrates the achievements of apprentices, learners and employers who have excelled in the region.

The Manor House & Ashbury hotels are a privately owned, family business specialising in Sports, Craft and Golf holidays. The company employs 300 members of staff and the company have worked hard to ensure that every one of their team members has access to training.

Manor House Hotel based in Okehampton won the Large Employer of the Year Award; judges were looking for employers that could clearly show the benefits they had gained from a commitment to training their workforce through apprenticeships.

The achievement of this award is a major one both for the Manor House & Ashbury hotel and for the greenkeeping sector within Devon and Cornwall. The greenkeeping sector has, over a number of years, raised the standard of vocational training through national initiatives led by the British and International Golf and Greenkeepers Association (BIGGA), and through the Greenkeeping Training Committee (GTC). Clubs and head greenkeepers throughout Devon and Cornwall have committed to such training. There has been a further significant element of support in the region from the Devon and Cornwall Section of BIGGA.

Pete Gross, Deputy Course Manager, said; "Before the training programme began, all staff including juniors would complete the task set for them, but now they are much more engaged in what they are doing, the reasons behind doing certain things and the benefits that the different methods will achieve."

Steve Harris, Course Manager, stated, "We are currently building another 30 golf holes, 19 of which opened in March this year, 7 to open in April 08 and the last 4 to open in April 09. On completion we will have 512 courses to maintain to an equal standard. As a company we believe in doing most things in-house; we find that this improves everyone's interest in all aspects of greenkeeping from constructing a golf green to finally presenting and cutting the finished green. We have trained greenkeepers to drive diggers, dumpers and even new methods of installing our new irrigation system. Training in our department is without doubt the best way to help our greenkeepers improve their understanding, knowledge and enjoyment of their job."

"If we look at our greenkeeping department, we have 40 staff members working in this important area, some have already achieved their NVQs, 16 have just achieved specialist NVQs and we have nine ready to start their qualification. There has been a measurable improvement in the standard of work being undertaken and we have worked closely with Duchy College to achieve this." He went on to say, "We hope to follow these training methods by putting two of our Head Greenkeepers through the A1 Assessors course."

Duchy College and, Manor House and Ashbury hotels worked together in a unique way to achieve the greenkeeping qualifications for a significant number of employees. The training and instruction were delivered by Pete Gross (Deputy Course Manager). This took place totally in the work place, with no college attendance by the candidates, a very unusual system for when a college and a club work together. The college were represented by Bill Pile (retired Head Greenkeeper and life BIGGA Member) who supported Pete in the delivery and assessment process through weekly visits to the workplace. Bill Pile said, "It was very hard work over a concentrated period of time but I was pleased to be able to use my experience to help the individual candidates, Pete Gross and Manor House and Ashbury hotel to raise their greenkeeping standards".

Steve Evans (Devon and Cornwall BIGGA Section Chairman) said, "This is fantastic news for Manor House and Ashbury hotels and a tremendous example to Golf Clubs in Devon and Cornwall. Duchy College are repaying our support for them in this region as this is the second significant award they have achieved for our industry in the last six months. In January Michael Wannell (Greenkeeper at Bovey Castle) achieved The South West Student of the Year Award from the Institute of Groundsmanship. Well done to all".

TRAINING PROGRAMME

John Deere and Brooksby Melton College have launched the industry's first specialist training programme for aspiring parts apprentices.

The new Parts Tech programme will be run on similar lines to the award winning John Deere Ag Tech and Turf Tech apprentice engineering technician programmes, delivered in partnership with Brooksby Melton College of Brooksby, near Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire.

The 18-month training programme is based on the existing City & Guilds NVQ course in Vehicle Parts Operations, Levels 2 & 3. It has been tailored to include specific parts training on John Deere business systems, as well as industry training requirements such as forklift truck operation and more generic skills such as merchandising and desktop publishing. Completion of the course will lead to the award of the John Deere Parts Tech certificate and City & Guilds NVQ Level 2.

Further details are available from local John Deere dealers or from Brooksby Melton College, tel: 01664 850850 or 855444.

CHELSEA FLOWER SHOW 2007

The Writtle College exhibit 'How Green is my Garden', which features in the Lifelong Learning in the Garden Section of the Chelsea Flower Show, has been awarded a Silver Lindley Medal.

The exhibit is an environmentally friendly garden centering upon issues such as recycling, water use, sustainable practices and 'garden miles', which determine how far the contents of the garden are physically transported and at what cost. The aim of the exhibit is to educate gardeners about what they can do to improve their environmental credentials. The team used as many recycled products as they could in order to reduce the environmental impact of their own efforts.

Mick Lavelle, Senior Lecturer and team leader for show preparations, said: "I'm really pleased that the exhibit received a Silver Lindley. The students involved were all first year degree students and receiving this accolade is testament to their hard work. This will be the last Chelsea for me, and it's great to bow out with one last medal".

PRESTIGIOUS GARDENS

Rolawn is once again celebrating being the first choice for some of the country's top garden designers at this year's RHS Chelsea Flower Show.

Leeds City Council: Scent of a Roman

Rolawn's famous Medallion turf and Blended Loam (a premium topsoil) have been incorporated into some of the show's most prestigious gardens and medal winning exhibitors, such as: The Fortnum & Mason Garden, Leeds City Council: Scent of a Roman, Marshalls: The Marshalls Sustainability Garden and The Children's Society: Lust for Life, to name but a few

LAWN SOCIETY AWARDS MEDALS

Mike Seaton, Founder of the Lawn Society

The Lawn Society has awarded its first medals for lawns and grassed areas exhibited at the Chelsea Flower Show.

Brian Alabaster received "Gold," The Fortnum and Mason show garden has been awarded "Silver-Gilt," Illusionesques "Silver" and Notcutts, "Bronze" for the use of grass in the company's display in the Grand Pavilion.

Mike Seaton, a fellow of the Institute of Groundsmanship (IOG) and founder of the Society, said that the medals were awarded according to the quality of the sward and the suitability of the grass within the overall design. "Brian Alabaster showed not only grass of a very high quality, but the display made full use of the sloping site and the bronze sculptures of children sitting on a grassy bank had been designed to fit perfectly," he said. "The Fortnum and Mason garden showed an effective and imaginative use of small lawn areas – squares of grass broken by stone - within a formal design, and Illusionesqueus with its grass sculptures showed what could be achieved when grass is used as an art form. The Notcutts Group use of good quality grass under a classical arched walkway of yellow climbers created a contrast adding an interesting dimension for the viewer."

The Society, which was formed to offer expert independent lawn care advice and act as a forum for lawn lovers, can be contacted at www.lawnsociety.org.uk
