

Swiss First

The Golf Environment Organisation has recognised Golfpark Nuolen, near Zurich, Switzerland, as the first GEO Certified golf club in Switzerland. With a proud record of environmental performance, achieving GEO's award is further confirmation that both the Golfpark and Superintendent, Steven Tierney, are at the forefront of sustainable golf course management. "It's important for modern greenkeepers to seek recognition for their management practices and publicly represent their social and environmental responsibility.

There are many awards and accolades available in the industry, but GEO

Certification is the most rigorous. standards and we're proud to have achieved this recognition," said Steven

A Wembley Experience

Wembley Stadium Turf Scholarship sponsors Toro and Lely UK recently presented current winner, Tom Peirce, with a plaque commemorating his achievement.

Collecting his plaque while visiting Harrogate Week, the 19-year-old from Dunstable in Bedfordshire revealed that he is relishing his six-month scholarship at the stadium. As well as experiencing pitch maintenance and renovations throughout the football season, Tom is particularly enjoying preparations for the major rugby and NFL matches also held at Wembley.

Presenting Tom with his plaque, Lely's Toro General Manager, Peter Mansfield, added, "I'm thrilled to present this plaque to Tom in recognition of his achievement. As with previous winners, Tom's time spent working at one of the world's most famous stadiums will stand him in very good stead for the future."

NIA JOINS HEADLAND

Nia Frost has joined Headland Amenity as Sales Manager for central and southern England and Technical Support Manager, assisting Headland staff working in the field.

Nia brings a wealth of experience to this dual role having followed a degree in Environmental Biology at Bath University with over 13 years in the industry working not only in sales but also product development, an area which she is looking forward to continuing, alongside Mark Hunt, Headland's Technical Director. "I want to utilise my existing experience as well as develop new skills and working with Mark gives me the ideal opportunity to do this," she says. "Headland has a very good name in the industry."

Andy Russell, Commercial Director for the company is delighted. "Nia has just the right background and technical ability to help drive Headland forward," he said.

Shuttle Role

When 2,500 world leaders met for the World Economic Forum Annual Meeting in Davos, Switzerland recently, E-Z-GO Shuttles were there to transport the delegates around the convention facilities

David Withers, Managing Director of Ransomes Jacobsen commented:

"The E-Z-GO Shuttle is the ideal people mover for an event such as this. It's emission-free at the point of use, quiet and has excellent carrying capacity. The theme of the meeting - Rethink, Redesign, Rebuild - sums up the design principles when E-Z-GO set about producing a new golf car, some three years ago.

"The RXV was a redesign from the ground up, with new technology incorporated in a package that has changed the way people look at this type of vehicle. We're obviously delighted with our involvement with such a high-profile, world event."

BIGGA SUPPORT TEAM BMW PGA CHAMPIONSHIP WENTWORTH, MAY 20, 21, 22 23

A few volunteers still required to help Chris Kennedy and his team at The Wentworth Club on the above dates. All or any one day would be greatly appreciated.

A great chance to see the at close hand the recent extensive changes that have been made to the even more formidable West Course over the past year.

Oaklands proves to be a Winner

Over 160 attended the BIGGA London Section and Oaklands College Educational Day held at Oaklands College.

The day was opened by the Vice Principle of the college who spoke about the staff they have at Oaklands and how proud they are of them. Then there were four main speakers, including Greg Evans, from Ealing Golf Club, who spoke about his greenkeeping practices at Ealing and carried out role plays for and against cutting at 2mm. He then answered questions from the floor.

Next up was Ruth Mann, from the STRI, who gave a great overview of the latest research on sports turf diseases including Irrigation, Nozzle use and turf management. After lunch was Jayne Leyland, from Barenbrug UK, who talked about new grass types in development, heights of cut and disease and drought resistant species.

To finish the day we had Frank Newberry who in his usual way gave a colourful talk on how to be a powerful persuader. We then finished with all of our speakers taking to the stage to answer any questions. The cost of the education day which included lunch was only £10. This was great value and allowed for all levels to attend.

Tripping the Light Fantastic

Newark Golf Club Course Manager, Graeme Macdonald, is as comfortable on the dance floor as he is on the golf course having recently won the Senior UK Dance Modern Jive Championships the UK Team Championships with Nottingham at the Winter Gardens, in Western Super Mare.

"I have had a good year picking up lots of medals and trophies and I knew I was coming close to the big one when we came runners-up at the Tower Ballroom Blackpool," said Graeme.

"My dance partner and I went through quite a few rounds until we got to the final, where we danced in front of hundreds of spectators.

"I have been dancing over 12 years and regularly teach the beginners who attend at my local venues in Nottinghamshire.

"I have no intention of retiring just yet, I would like to defend them all again in 2010!" said Graeme.

EWGA to merge with the EGU

The English Women's Golf Association (EWGA) and the English Golf Union (EGU) have agreed to take the next steps towards a potential merger which would let the country's amateur golfers speak with one voice.

The joint steering group from the two organisations has agreed five initial proposals and working groups have been set up to look in detail at key areas.

The decision on a merger will be made by the voting members of both organisations after they have received and considered the final proposal and following a period of consultation involving all members. It is hoped the vote will take place before the end of 2010.

The benefits of merger could include: the opportunity to promote golf as one game for all and to make strategic plans for the future of the sport; greater commercial power to attract sponsorship; more effective use of resources and reduced running costs.

The five proposals agreed so far are:

- A single National Governing Body for amateur golf in England. EWGA would join the EGU under a modified structure. EGU Ltd would be expanded to incorporate the activities and assets of both existing companies with a new management structure reflected in a revised Memorandum and Articles of Association. A trading name, yet to be finalised, would be adopted with the single company being styled "X" is the trading name of EGU Ltd incorporated with the EWGA.

- The headquarters would initially be at the National Golf Centre at Woodhall Spa, with EWGA's offices in Birmingham remaining in operation for use by staff from both organisations until at least the break clause in the current lease contract in October 2012. After this the new board would review the accommodation needs of the organisation.

- The board of the single organisation would develop the strategy for the new body.

- The EGU/EWGA steering group would consider options regarding the staff organisational structure needed to deliver that strategy. It would appoint where possible from existing members of staff from both organisations.

- The new body would have one main board with executive and non-executive directors. While the final composition and role of this board will be decided by the steering group looking at the structure, voting and governance issues, it would initially have a non-executive gender balance of 6:4 men to women. The main committees would have at least two men and two women members.

The working groups have been set up to consider such key areas as legal and financial issues, golf, marketing, sponsorship and communications.

They will report back to the steering group by mid-April and the results of their work will help to shape the final proposal for a potential merger. This is expected to be published at the end of July and will be followed by roadshows in every county.

The roadshows will be open to all members of both organisations and will provide an opportunity to discuss the final proposal in detail and to ask questions.

The decision on a merger will be made by the voting members of both organisations at general meetings held on the same day, towards the end of 2010.

Trump International Plans Proceed

Following the Scottish Government's decision to grant outline planning permission, Trump International – Scotland has submitted its detailed masterplan for the entire site and designs for its championship golf course to Aberdeenshire Council.

The first phase of the development is the championship golf course, designed by Dr Martin Hawtree.

"The golf course follows a classic pattern of two out-and-back loops of nine holes. All 18 holes thread their way engagingly through the dunes, rising here to find views of the sea and coastline, plunging there into secluded valleys, offering a sequence of superlative topographies, landscapes, alternating between spaciousness and enclosure, then panoramic views, and the whole time a rich texture of vegetation and wild-life habitats surrounding the golf holes," said Martin.

"The golf course will lack for nothing. It will produce simply the most dramatic, stimulating, invigorating stretch of golf anywhere I have seen in my career."

The application will be determined by Formartine Area Committee later in the year.

The construction contract has been won by SOL Golf Course Construction Limited. SOL has worked on many of the world's best golf courses and is currently working on various Open Championship courses on behalf of the R&A including Royal Liverpool, Royal Lytham & St Annes, Muirfield and Royal Birkdale.

Trump International work undertaken since December 2008 includes:

- Masterplan for the whole development
- Full details of siting, design, external appearance and landscaping for the championship golf course, including a driving range, a short game area, a putting green, turf nursery and access to the championship golf course
- Construction plans for the championship golf course
- Topographical surveys
- Plans for roads, footpaths and cycleways
- Detailed environmental assessments and an environmental management plan
- Details of all landscaping, planting and screening works
- Appointment and establishment of Ecological Clerks of Works
- Appointment and establishment of MEMAG (Menie Environmental Management Advisory Group)
- Tree surveys and plans
- Otter, badger and goose management plans
- Habitat management and enhancement plan incorporating mitigation and compensatory measures for birds, bats, invertebrates and plants
- Site water management plan
- Details of sustainable urban drainage systems for championship course
- Details of championship course landscaping works
- Archaeology scheme
- Construction method statement for the championship golf course

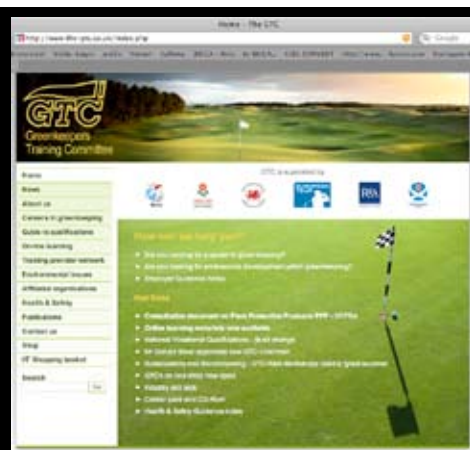

On-line Learning Now Available from the GTC

The GTC, in association with the Virtual College, is to offer the first in what is hoped is a series of on-line learning programmes.

David Golding, the GTC's Education Director, explains how the GTC is looking to promote best practice through modern technology and we hope individuals and greenkeeping students and turf staff at our Approved Centres enjoy the new Maintain the Health of Sports Turf on-line learning option.

David added that the GTC has developed learning materials which both individuals and GTC Approved Centres can access through hard copy and CD format and clearly to make these available on-line is the way forward as they can be accessed world-wide.

All the training materials can be accessed through the GTC's website www.the-gtc.co.uk or for further information call 01347 838640

CMAE Heads to Spain

The CMAE has moved its AGM into the continent of Europe for the first time, and partnering with Club Managers Spain, will be jointly staging the International Club Management Congress at the Villaitana Wellness Golf & Business Sun Resort, Benidorm, Spain from April 14-17.

This move reflects the growing number of CMAE members outside the UK and Ireland, and the feedback that we have received from members asking us to consider staging our business conferences in attractive tourism destinations. The CMAE wish to encourage club managers, suppliers, owners and operators to gather in Benidorm two weeks after Easter to discuss issues affecting our industry and share solutions and ideas to allow clubs to grow and prosper.

The conference theme is "Lead your Club into the Future" and already some keynote presentations have been confirmed:

- Gregg Patterson – General Manager of the Beach Club, Santa Monica, California and inspiring educator and presenter

- Jim Singerling – CEO of the Club Managers Association of America
- Peter Walton – CEO of the International Association of Golf Tour Operators
- Gary Firkins – PR and Media Specialist for the golf industry

For full details of the event and to register, please visit www.cmaeurope.org and follow the links to the International Congress website.
