

SPREADING IT THIN

Mrs. Ray Davis, wife of our esteemed president, is in a mad rush with the PTA activities again. The PTA puts on a Sunday dinner of ham, sausage, and all the trimmings once a year and November is the month. Mrs. Davis, as treasurer, buys the makings and handles the money and has quite a time of it. Dinners sell for $1.50 and last year the PTA served over 500 people.

With the closing of this belated Indian Summer, the byword is "When are you leaving?" Just about everybody is going to Florida this year. Join the National, it won't cost much and you get to do everything.

Mrs. Bert Rost plans to go fishing again as usual while in Florida. Last winter, or maybe the winter before that, she caught a pelican. She hopes the pelicans leave her alone this year and she gets a big fish. Mrs. Rost complained about the story that appeared in this column about Bert's plan to stock the new lake with fish. "He wouldn't dare do that", she protested, "he might want to stop and fish himself sometime."

Forbes Leith of Calumet Country Club has a daughter who is married to the captain of the University of Illinois football team, Bob Lenzini. Forbes hopes the Illini go to the Rose Bowl so he and Mrs. Leith can make the trip. (The Mole hopes so too.)

Don Gerber, son of Ray of Glen Oak, is an old married man by now. After going along for many years, he got himself a wife and is honeymooning in the deep South. Jo and Ray now have an empty bed room. The mole expects them to start traveling a lot now.

Quote from the magazine "Boats", "However, as the gull said when he left his signature on the power cruiser's windshield, there is much to be seen on both sides"

A number of hardy golfers played at the November meeting at Glendale and were mightily put out that the Committee failed to provide prizes.

Bill Krafft's daughter had her tonsils out in Oct.

The Mole is advised that the Joe Jemsek Enterprises are now operating the Fairlawn Golf Club at 22nd and Wolf Road.

President Davis, pounding the table "We got a motion coming up."

The last meeting at Glendale was full of surprises to many. Some found that they had been serving on committees all season and learned about it for the first time. It seems like the Chairmen do all the work and the rest of the committees are more or less honorary.

The Glendale meeting was a regular old-fashioned one, such as we have not had for quite awhile. Everybody got to say something, which is good.

Don Strand and Bob Williams attended the Plains States Conference at Manhattan, Kansas in October. Bob was on the program. On the way they stopped at Excelsior Springs, Missouri, where they found that the water really did do what it was supposed to do. The Mole was along and found that out for himself.

Bob did a good job on the panel. Don helped out from the floor and it was a real good meeting. That red streak that was seen in northern Missouri going from west to east was Don in his new Olds 88 heading home after the conference.

Heard at the meeting at Manhattan, Prof. had a dream that he was lecturing before a room full of students. He woke up and found he was.

It was the intention of our Education Committee to have O. J. Noer at our December meeting to give his "Annual Report To The Superintendents" as he has done at our Annual Meeting for a number of years. Unfortunately, Dr. Noer had other commitments for that date and could not be with us. We are sorry that he can't for his talks are always very interesting.

Dr. Noer hit it on the head when he said that a poor greenkeeper made some of the best strains of bent look bad while a good greenkeeper made some of the so called inferior strains look better than they really should.

The curlers at Exmoor Country Club are going to be assured of curling ice this winter, cold weather or not. There is being installed there a complete artificial refrigerating system for the four curling rinks. They plan to start curling about the middle of Dec. and go right thru until April 1, at least. This is the first installation of its kind at a country club along the North Shore and other clubs will probably follow suit. There are now curling rinks at Indian Hill, Skokie, Glenview, North Shore and Oak Park, besides Exmoor.

It is rumored that there will be curling at several other well-known clubs in the district, also, within the near future.

Red Sellers says that he has completed his work on five new greens at North Shore and everything is in fine shape at his course.
