KNOT WEED AND CLOVER CONTROL

Banvel D, continues to give excellent results in the Chicago area. We have now been using this product for one year in the Midwest. To date there have been no known bad effects reported. However, in the East there have been isolated reports of tree damage. When this product was sprayed on watered fairways where tree roots were near the surface it was felt that some damage occurred to the trees.

When reading the label you will note this mentioned. Avoid using the material around shallow rooted trees or where it might come in contact with tree roots. As stated this is only being suspicioned as being the cause for loss of some trees. Be extra careful! Perhaps it would be wise to root-prune the trees along the fairways before applying this product.

MCPP

The Chipman Chemical Company is producing a good Clover and Chickweed Control. Many good reports are being made about this product for complete clover and chickweed control on bent fairways. Ask your Chipman salesman about it.
